

Olympicpedia

AforAthlete.wikia.com

Day camp
11 am to 1 pm

June &
July 2008

CyberConXion
1710 Murray Ave., Level II,
Squirrel Hill

In advance of the Beijing games, gather with us (experts, adults and kids ages 10 and older) to research, write, illustrate and code multi-lingual alphabet books on Olympic sports.

We'll discuss world-wide current events with a focus on sports and languages. Together, with the direction of coach and publisher, Mark Rauterkus, let's "Create Literate Olympians Here."

Email: Mark@Rauterkus.com

Call: 412 298 3432

Cost: $10 for annual 4H registration + $6 per day

Begins June 16. Ends July 31. Meets M-F 11 am to 1 pm.

Volunteers, drop-in guests, world travelers and others are welcome to help in this open-source process of collaboration.

Participants get ownership in a venture that deploys concepts detailed in a leading business book: Wikinomics.

Billions of connected individuals can now actively participate in innovation, wealth creation, and social developments in ways we once only dreamed of. Mass collaboration across borders, disciplines and cultures is at once economical and enjoyable.