

The Book Of Bomb

Matt Christman CushVlog Listening Reference

The Book Of Bomb
Matt Christman CushVlog Listening Reference

Maintained by Jackson Jacker

August 24, 2021

---

Grill Pilled

Matt Christman is my friend.

Transcendence is when he realizes he's not coming to us for himself any longer.

Please enjoy,

-J

Cover image: Sophia by Jackson Jacker - Jan 2021

The Book Of Bomb listening reference is a study tool for the popular audiovisual CushVlog series by Matt Christman.

TBOB is a project hosted on cushbomb.com

This book is made using free and open tools - GNU Linux, youtube-dlc, LaTeX, Python, BASH, Gimp, Git, ect...

---

Contents

Contents	3
1 O Captain, My Captain	13
2 The Rant Zone	27
3 Third Eye Unblind	40
4 Mid Force - Omega Squadron	46
5 Game Theory - Reckoning	57
6 PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH	72
7 Operation Realness	85
8 CushBunker	98
9 CushSlats	111
10 Better Call Saul More Like Worse Write, Paul	126
11 Bro Time feat. Felix	141
12 BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS	157
13 MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER	173
14 Hangin' With Mr. Christman	191
15 Homeboy in Inner Space	205

16	Shack Chuds 2 The Legend of Mungo Fuck	221
17	Grillpill - Explained	240
18	Grimace Jr. Speaks	257
19	Playing the game...of Life	272
20	MaxGettingHeadroom	288
21	Let's Hope This Works!	302
22	Remember Farmville Is that still a thing	320
23	Around the Horn	334
24	Mattz Cut-up Corner	351
25	LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION	365
26	Perspectives with Lionel Osbourne	377
27	More like CHADlai Stevenson	391
28	Olympus is Triggered	406
29	To Build a Fire	425
30	So...THAT happened.	439
31	Much Too Think	452
32	Looking Backward	467
33	Triumph of the Grill	483
34	Sumer Time	496
35	Zoomer Biohacked Operator Cyberturtles	506
36	Nermal is a Cop	523

37	Uncles Without Borders	534
38	Assassination of Mayor McCheese Under Direction of The Grimace	548
39	More like Statue of Puberty	559
40	Troll 2 II - It's Animated This Time	575
41	Demiurge Overkill	588
42	Demiurge to Demimurge	604
43	NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO	618
44	The Muppets Take Ayahuasca	634
45	Vibes at Midnight	650
46	Grill Stream Two - Smmmmmmmmokin!	668
47	Chiefing Cheeto Lol 420	683
48	RIP the Moon	700
49	Forever Streaming	715
50	CGI - Miami	731
51	It's What Walt Would Want : CushVlog 07.27.20 : Chapo Trap House	748
52	RIP Louis Gogurt	749
53	Hangin' With Mr. Milton William Cooper	766
54	I'm on the Sea Peoples Diet. I see peoples, I eat peoples.	784
55	And The Wind Cried Mario	797
56	Balderdash	813

57	What's a Prez to a God What's a God to a Biden	827
58	Parklife!	828
59	Wet Ass Party	847
60	Top Ten Vice Presidential Betrayals	860
61	Too Many Karens!	875
62	Mind Realm - Zortex Protocol	894
63	The Mod That Failed	911
64	Keebler MILVES	924
65	Gremlins 3 - The Nude Batch	941
66	JFK JR JR	955
67	The Chiving Will Continue Until Morale Improves	956
68	Whimsy On Demand	973
69	Tubalcain in the Membrane	990
70	Ballistic - ALF vs Noid	1005
71	CALL OF DUTY - BLACK OPS - JAKARTA OPTION	1024
72	Listen Yankee. Listen, Marxist. Listen, Liberal. Listen, Jack!	1045
73	TAKEN 4 - RETURNED	1061
74	Office Bodies and Office Spaces	1080
75	Nermal World	1097
76	Sic Transit Fuddruckers	1113
77	Apres Moi de McRib	1125

78	7 11 Truth	1140
79	Let Slip the Dogs Out	1155
80	Dracula Time	1171
81	The Boys on the Bang Bus	1185
82	Watercooler Hijinks	1200
83	Two, Three, Many Dolezals!	1201
84	RIP Notorious Roy G Biv	1216
85	empty	1217
86	If...	1218
87	Edging Towards Debate Night	1230
88	Millions for Hootin, not one penny for Hollerin'	1242
89	The Flesh Screams for Those Who Hear It	1254
90	Dahmer is Dead	1270
91	There is No Swag in Gilead	1285
92	I Feel Great!	1302
93	The State It Me!	1318
94	Burger King in the Mountain	1332
95	CushBi, like Quibi for Cushbomb	1346
96	Return to Normiecy	1354
97	Feelin' Like White Alfred E. Neuman	1371
98	Pantsless Zoom Goofs and Spoofs Vol. 1	1385

99 Rudy Can't Fail	1401
100 Zero Hour in the Bunker	1418
101 RBG+ACB=WTF!	1432
102 One Hundred Years of Vlogitude	1449
103 The Great Shart Hunt	1464
104 That's a Yikes.	1476
105 Are You Ready for Some VOTEBALL!	1486
106 Oh, did a Voteball Happen	1501
107 November Rain	1534
108 VOTEBALL - REQUIEM	1546
109 VOTEBALL - Origins	1572
110 Low-fi stream to study	1573
111 The hand that mocked them, and the ham that burgled	1589
112 The Stuff That Happens In Movies and Tv Is Serious And We Cant Joke About It	1590
113 Moloch n' Me	1606
114 Widening Gyro	1619
115 Friday Vibestream (No Politics)	1637
116 Obungler and Drumpf Fistfight in Heaven	1652
117 Yum! Brands-Pfizer Vaccinachos Grande at Taco Bell	1668
118 See the TURTLE of enormous mirth!	1683

119 The Defenestration of Prog	1701
120 They Came to Burgle Carnegie Hall	1717
121 Gluten-Free Officers Movement	1731
122 Gambo Thrones - The Return	1748
123 SOLVING THE LAMENT CONFIGURATION ON STREAM LETS GOOOOOOO!	1762
124 The Road to Carcosa	1778
125 Cyberpunk 2069	1792
126 Christmas with the Baseball Cranks	1808
127 CozyCore - Omega Squadron	1822
128 Croods III - Crood, Where's My Wooly Mammoth	1838
129 Ice Station Libra	1851
130 Snowtime at the Apollo	1867
131 Return of the Snacc	1880
132 Flossing Towards Bethlehem	1894
133 2021 - The Year We Watched 'Contact'	1911
134 The Andy Capp Putsch	1926
135 Coup Let the Dogs Out	1941
136 The Vulgar Boatmen	1956
137 No-Growth Zone	1974
138 Impeach my Bush	1990
139 For Sale - Bevis, Never Scored	2009

140 National Corn Pop Day	2023
141 Hail to the Chimp II - Still Chimpin'	2038
142 r/watchpeopledie stock pick of the week!	2051
143 Beautiful Boaters Against the Current	2066
144 Power to the Player Haters	2082
145 VOTEBALL - GENERATIONS	2101
146 VOTEBALL - DELENDA EST	2117
147 Friday Vibestream - Alpha Sanction	2130
148 Reconstruction Junction	2145
149 Reconstruction Junction II - Legend of Abe's Gold	2158
150 Reconstruction Junction III - More Like Andrew Johnsuck	2171
151 RJ IV - A New Hope	2187
152 RecJunk 5 - Reloaded	2204
153 Reconstruction Junction VI - Revenge of the Libs	2217
154 Suez Canal Simulator 2021	2237
155 Reconstruction Junction VII - Endgame	2249
156 Non-Fungible Tokin'	2267
157 Tuesday Takes	2279
158 Gleaming the Time Cube	2294
159 Plant-Based Streaming Content	2305
160 Noid Pasaran	2317

161 Beyond Belief - Face or Fiction	2329
162 Phenomenology of the Diet Sprite	2342
163 Johnny Memenonic	2358
164 Disco Demolition Night	2372
165 Weimar I barely know her!	2386
166 You don't suck the future, the future sucks you.	2405
167 FutureSuck II	2421
168 A Polycule for Leibowitz	2444
169 wha happened	2468
170 Material Boy	2485
171 Book Club Requests	2504
172 Solved Mysteries	2520
173 Dank Socialist Night Court Memes	2532
174 Black Jacobins 1	2547
175 A Farce that Gives Us Meaning	2561
176 Monday Mattivations	2575
177 BlackJac2	2590
178 Grand Theft Auto - Virtue City	2607
179 Nude Dorker	2625
180 BlackJac3	2644
181 The Supersuccture	2663

182 BlackJac For Real This Time	2682
183 Friday the 13th - Jason Takes Wellbutrin	2700
184 Speak, Memory. Listen, Fat.	2717

CushVlog 1

---

O Captain, My Captain

4.8.20

ah **Music playing** the Cadillacs a vine house in the yank favor **Music playing** 0:1:3 our IP - a real one I think I could say that with full earnestness alright he drools maybe the realest one we've ever seen **Music playing** so obviously Bertie topped 0:2:5 out today the eternal recurrence it's a real ***** ***** annoying me chickens nailed that so well ***** ***** syphilitic misogynist weirdo totally damaged there's no question that we live in them turtle the Kurds that is our ate a lot of people are asking where do we open here fantastic Lancer I do not know the question all right that's question did that the answer to all I can say about that is that the one good thing for people especially considering the real you know stressful crisis moment we're in for everyone is that now you don't have to worry there's one less thing to you don't worry about the presidential election anymore like you can tote it out you don't have to pay attention there's no requirement for you to care about any of this stuff night 0:3:6 and that honestly after it's one thousand four years or so of like like investing yourself of the ship isn't that kind of a treat that in the midst of this ***** you can just sort of like read a book chill out like try to pretend an expert on coronavirus or some ***** and you don't have to care about the presidency you don't have to care about the selection it means nothing it is the payment you can be put finally and definitively on the pay no mind list we don't have to pay it any mind and that's really nice I'm looking forward to that I'm looking forward to what we're gonna do on the show now that we don't have to talk about this topic which honestly at this point I'm pretty sick up I mean what else is to be said about the ***** you know this this mummy this undead mummy murdering people sacrificing like as a proof to their their faith of the Democratic Party I mean what the hell else do you need to say about what's happening that it's more damning than what they're actually doing so pay no mind 0:4:7 so yeah beyond that I don't know what people talk about general strikes it's like with who you know what army like if you don't have the people hopefully with the Cabrera campaign was to get some numbers to get some numbers behind this whole thing we get some like some support it's a critical mass and now that's pretty much off the table so now what to do next becomes a question but I think people who

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

are like alright now we can do that direct democracy now we can do other things like well we didn't have enough people before this we don't have a cup people now so maybe we need to stop and think about that I don't know the answers I still have no idea **Music playing** ***** I forgot something I'll be right back **Applause** so I don't know what's happening put the pig on I listen I listen people say put the 0:5:51 thing on it but the payoff like what kills me and makes me sad about this is that for myself personally the reason I thought it was worthwhile to invest fully in the Bernie campaign is because I recognized the chief problem of the left in this country was saying was numbers was people was people who were invested and willing to do willing to beat activists and whatever way to make it way that man and to you know do the work or whatever that meant nobody knew because they'd never been an issue we never had it you know we never had the numbers haven't had him for decades Bernie was about getting the numbers and Oh almost fell off that would have been 0:6:55 epic fail ah it was to get people on board and because there's gonna be a crisis in capitalism you know it's like I didn't really know what burning was gonna be able to accomplish this president I honestly didn't think that much I wasn't really that I mean I he had a lot of levers he could crash but like he wasn't good at shape he wasn't gonna make revolution or anything like that now what he was gonna do was what he was gonna do was great movement create a creative get an army get people ready to go ahead of time and as capitalism came closer to crisis I mean what's killing me right now with this whole ***** coronavirus Larry it's just imagine if Bernie had 0:7:59 been president right now while this ***** was as the Paris to what's happening now which is we're getting the 2008 bailout on steroids we're getting we're getting another massive corporate handout we're getting a situation where what this ends if we still have an intact government in institutions then there that's going to be we literally will use the federal treasury to keep hold the people who will just buy out everything that everybody lost during the course of this thing and that wouldn't I mean I don't know what Bernie presidency would have meant but this happening under Bernie president would not admit that I can say that for sure and if it hadn't been a virus if it had been one of the endogenous crises that are endemic to capitalism finally 0:9:1
coming forward again which he was on the verge of happening I mean the ***** bond markets and ***** were going wild even before around the virus and there who knows if they're and they know people would have there would have been like a coherent response to this there would have been a coherent notion of like a capitalist like an alternative to a capitalist restructuring that we're gonna get instead and that would have been true with a Bernie presidency or post Bernie moment when the crisis came and now the crisis is here and it's just too ***** early it's just too ***** early and that's too bad so the past is still the same that it was without before Bernie but now without Bernie the question becomes what replaces Bernie as the mechanism 0:10:5 for recruitment and mobilization and I don't know it's way too early to say we'll talk about it people have ideas stays Ling I know you don't I don't know I know I think it's too early I think anybody love you buddy anybody who's claiming to know is ***** selling something but yeah like one way or another they keep the fact is is that is that we're not prepared for this moment and Bernie represented the best chance to get people prepared for a moment like as for what break could have done differently 0:11:6 I think anybody arguing for any kind of specific like oh you should have done XYZ it's really just arguing from their own like personal crossing where they're like oh this is what I always wanted him to do and coincidentally that's what he should why would you need to engage with Biden supporters the Republican the the the the presidential election is no longer a zone of contention it's no longer a contest it's no longer a place to put energy why care who gives a ***** cuz Bernie's gonna endorse Biden and he sure as ***** don't want to be in a situation where you feel you need to honor that when it happens you need to have already put this in your rear-view mirror you've already need to put up the pay no mind sign so that when Bernie 0:12:7 does endorse lighting and they start banging on you to vote for him you can just say not my problem look what they did to make this happen look at the norms they violated look at the lives they literally lost and kill look at the people they literally killed to do this it's it's it's an illegitimate process from start to finish not one you're obligated to ***** acknowledge there is also in anyway so pay no mind just forget about it you don't have to care about the presidential election anymore fill that hole with like scrimshaw or collecting jazz records or just doing more drugs whatever you don't have to care about the presidency anymore so that's fun uh uh yeah like Bernie there's certainly versions of the Bernie campaign that would have been more fun to watch and participate in but I don't know if they would have been any more effective 0:13:10 because because a of the degree to which Democratic polity the Democratic Party be the degree to which non voters are committed to not voting and see the degree to which Democratic Party voters are high are in the thrall of mainstream media and the party itself which they are so that means like people say Bernie should have been harder on Biden and should have gone harder on bite well yeah but that also would have been treated like all of his mild attacks on Biden were as him trying to undermine the Democrats on behalf of Trump because for Democratic voters things are all 0 some things either benefit Republican Democrats in an attack on a Democrat is something is Republicans that's just the way they think so there's no guarantee that that would have worked and especially when the media was willing to take - to give everything the benefit of Joe Biden's spin on it as like the assumed thing to do 0:14:13 whereas like the actual reality like they just were like whatever the Biden campaign

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

spin on this is is the one that we're giving prima facie credence to and birdie has the benefit asked to do the he has to match some burden of proof to get his point of view across I mean that's a fundamental difference in the way that they were treated by the media that was going to make it impossible for him to get enough of the Democratic electorate who watched TV and believed that ***** to follow along unless they stayed separated which they did until Obama made two phone calls and brought them all together which is them together unprecedented intervention in the process that was done on the specific purpose to defeat one candidate then you have what they did during this ***** primary in these all these these these primaries that they from Iowa on even before the coronavirus think they've been illegitimate but the parties still accepted them as my as legitimate all of these like five polling places 0:15:15 in Milwaukee there during a ***** pandemic those delegates are gonna get certified what difference I mean there was no way they were gonna let it happen the period end of sentence nobody else wants to do an emergency chappo today they want to think some more they want to get their thoughts fresh they want to get their toss like in order but now I just want to shoot off the hip cuz what the ***** Yolo right I just want to go off the hip asks for like well who to support in this thing like Holly Hawkins ***** PSL I'm sorry but third party politics are a vanity ***** third party politics for the presidential level is is a cookies for cranks it's for cranks I've said this before but it's still ***** true it's for cranks third party presidential races are for burning light not have been a crank because of his position I'd run third party he could have been viable but like these guys no one knows Jill Stein Gloria Leu la Riva it's crank ***** the point was she could have had Bernie on the top of the ticket 0:16:16 in the two-party system that would have been unprecedented and huge as a third party some ***** nobody knows it's just it's just a ***** pastime for people who ride recumbent bikes so who gives a ***** vote forever you want I'm not voting for Biden I don't frankly I don't I don't know if I'll ever respect anyone who does vote providing them honestly so vote would just as a personal thing of like you know how it wouldn't respect somebody who you know likes pineapples on pizza or something just like a thing that's personally it's repulsive to me so yeah voting for him is a sign of a weak character I guess that's what I would say so do what you want I'll probably bite it Bernie if you want to write an e that'd be funny if you could get like if you could get like a percentage or not like not a person si realistic but if you get me like a half a percent or no like a fraction of a percent that'd be pretty funny I don't know 0:17:17 whatever doesn't matter not our problem not my problem who care as the great Dave King Dave said Big Dave himself says who care doesn't matter that's a mem that's a so that's one thing you have to worry about so the cast of the Bernie campaign now still has to be done which is organizing people the thing that's going to help that in this moment is that politics is about to stop being a spectator sport for the booj wha and start being things that regular people have to contend with every day of their lives but man it really kills me to think like all right so you're in the situation now where you have these where you have these wildcat labor actions to try to resist you know literally having their lives put on the line by their employers like like the Amazon warehouse is in instacart well it's like you guys aren't giving us protection 0:18:18 and we don't we're not making enough money to risk our ***** lives imagine how I mean right now like people are excited for it but like what has happened you know Amazon fired one of the guys who was organizing their walkout in Staten Island and said that it was because he violated the social distancing rules which is just hilarious and like it seems like a lot of them are not happening because people are ***** scared and well it should be because they know that they're ***** if they're know they were ***** if it doesn't work and it probably won't work imagine if people were in this situation if people were at these vital bottlenecks for like the resources that we need to keep this ***** society from collapsing overnight in the ***** road warrior had Bernie ***** Sanders as president imagine what that would do to their their lay their leverage against their bosses it's I mean if that's if we didn't see mass nationalization so honestly I don't think they're even out of the table off the table in a situation like this and more importantly than that you would have met millions millions of people 0:19:20 would voted for this who endorsed it who had some sort of investment in its success as a project so that's what's really big that's what pains me is to think about what we could have had and now yeah we got people trying to exert leverage in a situation where if they get fired they're going to be cast into a reserve army of labor that now numbers 30% of the population it's tough it's very difficult which is why I see people saying okay Bernie's go on time for the general strike okay Bernie's gone it's like time for the revolution it's like if there weren't the numbers in America in the in the facts the fat happy heart of the world Empire if you didn't have enough people willing to just go and vote for Social Democrat Bernie Sanders in this country you really think you have the numbers to ***** take up arms in a mass struggle or like simultaneously take their labor out of the ***** like out of the out of the economy you really think that that that the numbers exist that's why the chief thing is the 0:20:22 question like Bernie went loose Bernie losing or whatever and does not change this to such a challenge which is getting people getting people on your side and beyond that getting people willing to act that's it that's it that's the only that's the only thing all other questions strategies tactics they need to be subordinated to the question of that what does that annoys me right now is I don't ***** know I know there's a lot of people with theories I have not been convinced by any of them doesn't mean any of them are wrong does it just means that I don't really feel confident I just know

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

that that's got to be the goal and I definitely know the presidential politics at this point are not gonna get it done without Bernie they're trying to get people to write in Orono get people to vote for Gloria reliever or get the ***** Green Party to 3% 0:21:23 or something that is just a waste of time because you're not you're not expanding anything there you are pitching to the same gallery of disaffected cranks who always are looking for a third party to vote for as opposed to the mass and mass mass mass of people who don't vote only hope is there and only hope is with the means people say a third part of new party to discipline the Democrats which of course is that's more promising than the idea of them competing with the Democrats it would have 0:22:25 to be a complete overnight collapse like the wigs wigs are the model here calmness as the wigs have specific historical context that made that happen and that is the main one is the split that happened that destroyed the wigs was was regional which meant that when the wigs broke up over slavery basically the entirety of the northern wig electorate everyone who's voted wig in the north was already we're all already pre organized to join the party that would embody wig principles and be anti-slavery and that was the Republicans in fact it was the emergence of the Republicans and their success early in Fremont that made the wig collapse happen because people saw an alternative but the thing was it was it was self-organizing and instantly coherent 0:23:26 along state lines if you lived in a northern state and wear a wig you were probably anti-slavery because the Democrats basically were the party of the doughface party of collaboration with the southern slave power for the most part before the Civil War the the northern if you were against slavery in the north the Democratic Party was not really for you that's why there were like things like the Liberty Party and the Free Soil party the eventually the Republicans was because of that non-existent Democratic home for people who were in favor which meant that basically every wig in the North was ready to vote for the party that would basically be wigs - slavery which was the Republicans if this were to happen now the split is ideological and it's it's it's not as clean and it's not state-based it's not like they instantly were able to take over not only half of the Whig party but the the half that was in states where 0:24:29 they could run the table which they did that's not the same thing here so whether it's party politics or not I don't know once another another thing that I that I don't and yeah the other big differences is that if this did this split half this split that happen to the Whig party you're not really there's not really a conflict at the top there because you're you're all capitalist the question is whether you're a capitalist who think that we should accommodate slavery is a component of the supply chain that's it this is what would be a capitalist party and like it's anti capitalist wing breaking on and that would make it the enemy of the entire establishment which did not exist with so all I can say is that right now I am a shrugging emoji guy on all 0:25:38

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

questions of tactics policy what to do next not the least of all because we're in the middle of an unprecedented pandemic and economic collapse two things that have never happened and certainly never happened during an election year I mean this is people say well you've been living in interesting times my god this 20th century 21st century has been absurd and specifically the last year Jesus like just Trump got in it really has been someone put a cinder block on the ***** gas tank gas pail and now we're in totally uncharted territory so that's another reason why I hesitate to say X Y or Z is the next path forward because we don't even know what the state of play is going to be in what even six months from now six months four months two months who knows they're even real election in 2020 that's a ***** open question to me that no one has really asked answered to history is turning wheel of history is turning 0:26:46 something's gonna do something something we've got to give that's no there's no question about that what what that thing will be is don't ask me I'm just a girl honestly the most realistic left formation to emerge really like from the American context we have like imagining the different types of revolutions we have left-wing revolutions we could have in this country let's rank them by likelihood of actually happening I would say least likely the the sucked em fantasy of a like electoral reform 0:27:48 because we know obviously before you get anywhere close to the real engine house of power the state comes in the apparatus first and foremost the capitalist class I mean the intelligence community them like the Mafia version that could break the rules because even if you're winning by even if you're winning with within the rules they can always decide that the rules don't exist with the help of institutions like the intelligence community so that makes that very much it just happens take through honestly less not maybe a little more likely but still wildly unlikely is the idea of any kind of Maoist like peasant or or or m/l like style Bolshevik coup just wildly improbable to me given the Commission's in this country I mean we might be neo peasants right like I've said that the American like lump in person in this country is basically it's basically a medieval peasant with in terms of their relationship to to 0:28:49 each other in media and things like that like they are not they're not the industrial subjects that Marx imagined having a revolution but they don't live like peasants they don't live on the land they live disconnected completely from the land that's why I said instead of potatoes in a sack they're Pringles in a tube they've been processed they've been chopped up they've been fried they've been put inside a carton they're totally disconnected from their natural context so therefore they can't fend for themselves that makes them vulnerable and makes them incapable of the type of action where we're talking about that a peasant a like army could like those landless Hakka tribesmen of southern China who made up the bulk of anti-imperial insurgencies all through China's history we don't have those people they don't not

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

where you gonna go you're gonna go out you're gonna let you're gonna go camp out in like what the green belt behind your ***** subdivision you know you're gonna 0:29:51 take it you're gonna do a defense in depth of the ***** of the of the houses yes in Bushwick so that's also unlikely honestly still very unlikely but more likely than either of those is some sort of middle level three officer to within the military like like Egypt had with Nasser or like the carnation revolution in Portugal that's more likely than any of them is those those those icky troops like some some mid-level radicalized officers sort of like chopping off the head of the snake and and instituting some sort of like barracks socialism in in during of course during a moment of oh 0:30:53 it wouldn't be a soft - I think a soft it would be like just the suspension of like the forms of democratic government which they modestly might do to Trump I'm not leaving that out they might not like it's claimed that they might have already done bowls an arrow if they haven't been at the Trump yet they might and if they do he would be really relieved honestly you don't think Trump would be relieved at this moment yeah I think he's terrified of being president right now you don't think that he would love the chance to not have this responsibility and have the military of his beautiful soldiers my beautiful soldiers look at him like a man some generals they want to take over the same I could take it back the same think of it yes president Davis have just talked about how like the only model we have for any kind of social organism that like I talked about Institute's the notion of a social self instead of erratically individualized neoliberal self is the military it's the only institution now if it adds to that like fascistic ship and like a call to violence and death of worship and 0:31:54 imperialism and all that stuff but it also has the idea of like an esprit de corps I'd like of a collective project which note which we do not have in which is one of the chief obstacles to try to organize among people because they don't think that way I know I don't I know I struggle to like build that notion in my head because it's just not something I've built into so yeah man the free officers are there free officers do we have any free officers of the house are there any free officers you might want to consider like doing like a Smedley Butler type deal you know not the business plot but when he exposed the business plot I mean if sadly I don't really think so honestly I think I'll be like anti-war like all the socialist troops are like podcasters you know I think 0:32:55 that's the height like the highest ranking an tight like genuinely likes socialist troop in the army is probably yeah like that ***** Lance Corporal with like a podcast or something but who knows who the ***** knows I think they might be switching their love to Newsome from Cuomo just because the fiction of Cuomo being doing such a great job is just becoming harder and harder maintain in the face of the continued disastrous New York response and horrifying death rates that's why it's like cuz it's like they didn't pick Cuomo because like they necessarily wanted him they ***** put

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

Cuomo there as a backstop as a last resort as an in case of in case of trouble break last situation because he had a buy-in with the media because people saw him as 0:33:57 this decisive figure thanks to his press conferences it was like they were looking for any port in a storm and he was looking good now though couple weeks later and the failure of New York to see the bend the curve bend at all he's not looking so good meanwhile the curve does seem to be bending in California and so Newsom's looking good and so how it's gonna be him he's gonna be the backup but that's just shows you it's like they have an overriding desire to have a backup to Biden because they know he can't he can't hack it but like who it is specifically is contingent on public response and on facts on the ground there's only so much that can be massaged like you can take a like a genuine phenomenon like 1200 frances they've got people like feeling good got people feeling like will reassured after watching the president just get sweaty and start freaking out and my like speaking in tongues that was a real 0:35:1 thing if so they they tried to have dry rot away their treasures they all good good good we got this but then he just he'd get ***** up and then he ***** did insist on ***** cutting Medicaid well the bodies keep piling up while it's still the highest in the country meanwhile you got another Democrat across the country who is seems to have whatever maybe probably through luck more than anything has actually dumping although apparently he's also like San Francisco two things very seriously unlike New York and that wasn't just Cuomo that was de bungler oh let's not forget our own two bungler to bungle the ***** out of this thing he was telling people like two weeks after we knew for a fact that asymptomatic carriers could transmit it that if you were feelings weren't feeling sick you couldn't transmit it and so you should go out EPIK just one of our greatest bunglers honestly more of a bundler than warm 0:36:4 of unliving a bundler actually because at least the old Butler got to be president for two terms welcome the bums are all got two terms as mayor and then to bungled the ***** out of the presidential race uh D Butler do I see a place for a propaganda of the deed in a post burning left I'm not sure officer I'm not sure if I want to commit right now to endorsing criminal acts on a public space of a recording that literally NSA could be watching right now I know this is separate this is uh oh this I have a medical exemption I have to do this to prescribe this to have for having a podcast whose hip and this helps me so please officer I've just I'm just going about my day sir please please sir yeah what about doing I don't know about propaganda of the 0:37:10 deed but I can tell you about propaganda what about sudden strikes ceasing means first of all I love that as a tongue-twister sudden strike ceasing means but how does that not beg the question of where do you get the people to do the sudden strikes like once again people are talking about tactical questions and you're all assuming a can opener you can opener you're assuming is a organized critical mass of radicals

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

who are gonna all do the same thing at the same time that is the can opener that all questions of tactics assume and so I'm saying you can't assume the can opener and you have to start asking that question before you ask any others you'll ask how do we get people anybody any anybody asking any other questions has skipped a step and they're assuming what about sudden strike ceasing means **Music playing** Sun strikes teasing means strengths like seasoning setting strike seasonings a quick brown fox jumped over the lazy dog yeah what bell rang much to the pay I'm doing another Spanish read I'm enjoying the Spanish Reds lately fine spends their bold is a thing and they've got a nice mineral taste to them I know this looks like it's a ganache a tooth of a now the mixture good give you a reason to be happy at all sir that is beyond my paygrade happiness comes from within I cannot make one happy charlie **Music playing** I don't know watch the little feet documentary now how big of a tool is david axelrod his name is literally two tools an axle and iran those are both tools his name is two tools how did you know happiness is right action happiness is knowing that you're on the path of the beam that's it happiness is feeling a Concord between I mean maybe yeah maybe do some goo thing baby boo baby boo fit up shine a light on me oh don't know where Virgil is don't care he submitted something for us to show put on the show and we didn't do it because it's like he's not talking to us so why would we do it so sorry I'm not gonna bother with him how are we this all of a sudden finding the ***** Orson Welles commercial that things are classic but things that thing's been a wreck literally I think I represent the critic in 1994 how are you people all finding the ***** out every two weeks I guess it's a new group of young people finding something I hate being reminded there's a new group of young people there's always a new group of young people every day the Republican Party becoming the Left now the left body the Republicans will not be the left party because then they wouldn't be the Republicans it's like a ship of theseus thing like the right the right exists to the Republican Party exists to actually exercise power on behalf of capital as oppose the Democratic Party which exists to provide a formal sort of ritual the Democratic Party is there to perform like a ritual consecration of that action like a literally like manufactured consent for what capital wants to do that's why the Democrats exist so the Republican Party literally is job is to function as capitalism's civil manifestation how could it be the Left Party regardless of what like people are trying to gamify with like Tucker Carlson or or like are intellectually talking about or trying to Brandes whatever what's gonna change that function reality maybe if you're in a situation where capitalism is so dire that like there has to be some sort of crisis a crisis accommodation made with the people right and like they'll be like all right it'll be like Bismarck it'll be like how bismarck instituted social welfare in in late 1800s Germany to forestall the Socialists

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

and say say they do that like even though this is an expression of the state it's like we're willing to what live with this just forestall losing it's gonna happen regardless 0:43:29 because it's going to be in capitalist interest to do it it's not going to be based on game a fight ***** and memes and like people watching Tucker Carlson or like Josh Hawley doing like a town hall meeting it's gonna happen because capitalism is in a dire enough crisis point and it mayn't if you the thing is is the reason I think it's meaningless is that if we get to the point of that deep of a crisis I don't think capitalism is going to be interested enough in maintaining the the the need for the need for a a mask of consent to matter it'll just rule directly the whole ask we'll drop and then that's what I'm talking about I'm talking about like a direct military dictatorship or some sort of like civil some sort of like corporate like basically like a Masai legged the question is like will the US military like nationalized Amazon or does Amazon by the US military whichever way the mechanism goes the same result the result is the same profit extraction of the barrel of a gun by a corporate military 0:44:30 dictatorship and that's gonna be the trick that's going to be the abbey of abolition of politics and that means that all these like left-right distinctions mean nothing so that's why I don't think that's the thing Singapore is a good example yes Singapore is a very good example that's per Singapore's perfect example love real politics is gonna start and that's the thing to be excited about it's the thing to be scared up too because nobody knows what to do it we aren't as far along frankly as I thought we needed to be that's just the fact I thought the whole point of the Bernie thing was to get us on track to be in the best possible position for the crisis that was what 0:45:33 I really thought being in the best with the best hand with the best organization the best mobilization to bet the best control of institutions when the moment came and now the moment is here too early but I don't think it's necessarily fatally too early it's just it's it's it's just it's just a simple fact that it's not as far along as I would have liked or thought necessary that's it but I don't know I was just guessing we're all just ***** guessing man none of us know nobody else ***** we know ***** nobody knows a ***** ***** about ***** it's not I skepticism about mutual aid is that it has to scale up and I don't know how it does scaling up is the key because it's like people say well we can use mutual aid to get a critical mass of people but you're still talking 0:46:34 about uncoordinated activity by people spontaneously and hoping it accumulates to something and historically that hasn't worked in this country I don't know where it has honestly but a sure ***** hasn't worked here **Music playing** you guys know that Lundrigan was hard to imagine that it could be a real threat to capitalism or an alternative to it if it was allowed to exist under Franco so now my good news for 0:47:41 the day is guys you don't have to worry about presidential politics anymore that's my take away so you gotta have a take away if his name feel like bad feeling owned

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

hate-filled and honestly more than anything don't you feel owned don't you feel like all those globe emoji ***** and ***** frauds and and and and hacks and idiots and concerned trolls don't you hate that they're ***** like gloating right now and that they're posting memes at you they're posting the gun at dancing funeral guy means that you they're doing it you know they're doing it right now we're all taking a break from having the goddamn Ghana me and God given to us by ***** globe emojis and never Bernie housewife's it's happening and that sucks but at least you don't have to care from now on and you can watch the amazing amazing transcendently great i really hope we get him i the main thing that reason i want them to be an election in november is because i want them to be debates i need two dates and i want a bunch of debates and i don't want just want three debates and I want them 0:48:43 all be different I want like five or six debates and they all have to have different like obstacles like in the five obstructions like there'd be a debate where where they get all their medication taken from them and they can't take their medication for the 24 hours before then they do one where they get double the regular medication they do one ***** if they do one like standing in a pool of water and of course we would be the sons debate instead of the VP debate obviously and that would be so much fun and you know what I mean I watched those debates with Bernie with my heart my chest screaming thundering I'm gonna take Chinese research chemicals and like ***** I'm gonna take acid and ***** MDMA and a ***** I'm gonna like invent a new way to get high off of ***** air conditioning freon and I'm going to watch those debates and just make my brain turn like gets peel it like a potato and just let the raw ***** nerves just allow fighting versus Trump to overlay onto my sizzling 0:49:45 ***** cortex oh one where they swap medications that's great see you guys they're all coming up with look we're collaborating right now guys I love it I love you guys oh yeah we will definitely be streaming those debates those I hope I honestly will break quarantine if it's we're still in quarantine and we're not dead I won't break quarantine to go with my homies and watch those debates while my brain is just being annihilated by high-level hallucinogens in large doses yeah I'll take the Hydra chlorine ***** I know I 100 versus Eric and Don jr. they should be able to tag team and they'll still both get annihilated I want it because that's the perfect way to just 0:50:46 show how superior he is to that is if he's better he could be both of them with one hand tied behind his back and the other hand what would I say if Matt Iglesias was here oh boy redacted redacted parody parody redacted parody the one thing I like about Matt Iglesias and this is an honest fact is that I obviously have a deep strong powerful hatred in my heart for very many people at DC specifically the media class scumbags most specifically the media connect scumbags I grew up watching and like observing from the sidelines during the blog era like Klein Iglesias these guys this is

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

these little Craven little worms who just went from supporting the Iraq war to to 0:51:47 just becoming these just how old man is hollow stuff meant and so I abused them all a lot on the internet but the thing like Josh barro guys like that but the thing is I don't know to what degree they care like like Josh barro blopps me as I've said I know you see me but I don't know what his attitude is like Eli Lake of course obviously people make fun of him because of his way he's like oh the trolls lol oh you guys I love your passion oh I love your passion and you can kind of like be like oh I bet you really are annoyed by this but honestly I don't know if he is I don't know if he like actually cares he might he might honestly think it's all funny cuz he's one of these guys who just doesn't give a ***** about anything but a Glacia SRIA Lee really values his own sense of his intelligence and his liberal credentials and he like he really does believe in this ***** about himself and that's why I know that that he has seen everything I've ever said about him and that he hates me and that makes 0:52:51 me feel good I'm glad he hates me I'm glad I elicits that feeling for him and I know he can say it's not true but I'll never believe him I mean maybe that's difference doesn't matter that but honestly I just I like I'm a little bit and so I have about kind of a I have sort of a fondness for him just my version of the fact that I from hell's heart I stab at thee for hates sake I Spit my last breath at thee uh some guy there's this guy on Twitter who just started a new account and I think it's called iglesias takes and this guy is going around and he's finding old doc tweets that people have done about the Glacia Slyke jokes at his expense and stuff like that uh and so he's been like retweeting a bunch of my old tweets about him that I've totally forgotten 0:53:52 about and I just wanted to read some cuz cuz they're pretty good man I do that not a lot of these that are that good I'm still looking for the this was what I did in like 2015 that I thought was just very it wasn't really a joke it's just an observation that it's a hundred percent true man Iglesias is haunted by the knowledge that there are one a hundred thousand wonkish Ivy grads with his exact voice and skill set and that I think is the reason that he has got a chip on his shoulder and hotend so 0:54:54 hostile is because he is aware of the fact that he is a ***** uh that he's the ***** mediocrity and that he is 100% a case of nepotism his dad went to Harvard and then he went to Harvard it's that simple like that that explains 99% of his success and he knows it and it haunts him that he's an interchangeable that he's literally another just another egg ***** in Washington for Christmas Matt Iglesias God has made a coupon book good for hundreds of dollars of savings at her favorite local restaurants I forgot my balance I thought I was somewhere in suburban Virginia Matt Iglesias 0:55:57 is browbeating an Applebee's waitress into accepting an expired one time I would absolutely ham on him and and borrow because they were joking about how Brown was a lesser IV because they both went to Harvard but both of them were legacies in fact barrows dad was like in the Harvard economics department when he was going there like think 1,000,000% nepotism cases and these ways are chortling about how Brown is a lesser ivy and I just lost it I was like you are such sniveling scumbags you little ***** manor born Habsburg John ***** ***** if you were like nineteenth-century Spaniard she'd be hunting peasants for sport and that would be more ***** honest than whatever this concern trolli like civil society ***** is given how much you deeply can have content for people who you have absolutely no superiority to because of the ***** if actual work was and value like was the right like your if your monetary of your job related to your competence you'd be ***** folding shirts at the gap if you were ***** lucky like you were interchangeable cog Merrill black me for that it has not unblocked me a sense lacy has blocked me for a little bit but then I think people made fun of him for it and like root said hey what the hell don't you like you know ideas and then like as a show of generosity he got black me which I love because it means he's seen it he's see that everything I've ever said about one of them I really like was this is based on that movie the box with Cameron Diaz 0:56:58 have anyone seen and it's a guy oh ***** I'm almost all right all right well I guess making fun of Iglesias will be the end of this but the last joke was the guy from that movie the box goes to Iglesias press this button and he will get a million dollars but someone somewhere that you don't know will duck and then he just presses a button and he goes wow that was really fast all right guys I gotta go tot it the clock is up so listen I hope you feel better about a bad day and ready to do whatever needs to be done as the conditions change and as as we realized what's happening around us and resolved to do what's necessary to liberate the human race whether it's shackles of oppression let's do it let's get that bread guys let's get that 0:57:59

CUSHVLOG 1. O CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN

CushVlog 2

---

The Rant Zone

4.16.20

hi Kate how's Texas have they actually buttoned up in Texas are they just like thinking that they could shoot it shoot the virus has it affected the deliciousness of Texas Hill Country briskets god damn I'm hungry I'm eatin these pockets we're having at two fates nights I think that's gonna be tasty right now I'm just eating some pockys which I think it's delightful a very convenient snack well they're like little chocolate corn dogs I said we're having a to fade Mon Ami I believe we're gonna have a little ball that brulee you guys aware that the that the whole Cajun 0:1:6 thing like those people the the French Louisianans that they're there because of a massive act of ethnic cleansing after the French and Indian War there is this group of like people who were descended from the early French traders to who had essentially intermingled with local Indian tribes and created like a separate Creole ethnicity called Acadians for the Acadian Mountains in the northern by Quebec and in Maine and ever there and after the British beat the French in the Seven Years War our French and Indian War they said you guys are basically on a syllable in a syllable a table into this trade empire were creating you gotta go and so they were transported to the nearest still held French territory in North America which was French Louisiana there you go I know this person saying I've heard of that I know 0:2:9 not everyone has though not everyone knows the history of this country ***** like that definitely doesn't get talked about too much population transfers tend to get under talked about I have to say victors of communism putting all Kovac deaths on the other communist I'll it's pretty good it also puts all of our mocks tests and like auxiliary militias that carried out the Holocaust they're all in the black book of communism all right I realize I can press this button and see these questions so now I can look at these spill some tsys whose tea should I be spilling silly we just 0:3:10 recorded an episode of the show with Liz and grace from Troodon it was really good and very happy about it another reason I'm feeling better as I feel like you had a good show here we go Walmart bad yeah okay so this is interesting the question of us balkanization i've been thinking about this now obviously it's very facetious when gavin newsom talks about like you know doing all the ***** as a as a sovereign or 0:4:12

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

whatever it's all media ***** he's trying to raise himself in satyr to a president so they use a viable candidate either for VP or maybe president next year or next time or president this time there's a lot of fluidity in this situation and he could but the reality is is that the degree to which this crisis leads to long term that's worrying to say the least how do we maintain these I mean we are already largely vulcanized politically how do how do we like maintain these these social networks and this like nation system when with competing like agendas competing cultures and with no scent like if there is nobody in the middle to like pay the bills like that's the real thing there's nobody at the center paying the bills and and keeping the infrastructure tact if we really do see a collapse of a supply chain that I could see that honestly no joke being like the best-case scenario like the US breaking up is probably preferable to it staying together under any kind of like hyper it would have to be some sort of like hyper authoritarian construction or but the thing is the breakup could very easily just start into like private and more likely turning like private corporate fiefdom so like Snow Crash not good folks folks we love it we love well I just said I just spilled 0:5:13 the tea on authentic Neapolitan pizza now I think it's ***** but it's not the worst type of pizza um it's probably that st. Louis garbage I like thin crust but the fact that the cheese isn't really cheese to me it's like a deal-breaker I would like actual cheese on my pizza I mean I'm a kooky I mean if you're gonna not have cheese on the pizza I have it something interesting like a tomato pie or New Haven style not this gross like string cheese processed ***** get it out of here currently faux kyliel oh there you guys go I love tavern style honestly I'm debating whether I want to make one later I got one little skinny one thin frozen pizza hi bad Whataburger water 0:6:33 boogers pretty good I like New Haven wah all right new heaven I love Chicago tavern style New York slices are good but I'd say it like inferior to both of those and I like Detroit if you want a thicker crust Detroit is the way are you guys ready to have a McKinsey algorithm determined that your life is worth enough to risk going out 0:7:34 in public in order to secure like liquid assets of a certain percentage of investment income in the ***** market over a will say that the blonde products are great the beyond sausage is a phenomenal beyond burgers are great I have the beyond ground beef and I'm gonna use it for like the tomato sauce or something soon and I'll see you then everyone's that hat is so good and the Carl's jr. beyond further they had is really the best fast-food non meat a product I can think oh god dammit I'm getting hungry yeah an algorithm is gonna say whether or not like because like I think the reason that they're really really brought they're really wait they're really considering 0:8:35 this whole reopen thing is it's gonna lead to a lot of deaths but they're seeing who's dying and it's people they can live without like they're seeing even in New York like high-income areas the infection rates aren't that high even at the spike and all that so they figure well we can you know if we can get them to keep going out and spending and keeping the economy going we can say where we are will be safe people who die will be first responders a ***** groceries grocery people bartenders waiters people who can always be replaced of course it'll also affect people like doctors nurses and professionals who have irreplaceable knowledge and skills that will undermine the ability of the actual state to to function and that is of course the inevitable result of capitalism eating its own eating its fats until it's literally eating itself to death eating the muscle eating them eating the Oregon all - to sustain a profit margin that is no longer rep in in this new system with this unprecedented demand drop and with no no slack in the line to recreate a new hegemony we the way we did effort World War two so yeah they're gonna send us back and then we'll put us back after too many of us died and it gets too overwhelming go home for a few more months then go back and the people who will die will be acceptable losses life insurance that's interesting yeah because that must be blowing their actuarial models right now how the hell they're gonna if they survive in the future they're probably gonna not cover uh they're not going to cover coke coronavirus that's the way that homeowner insurance doesn't cover floods or whatever and this is the kind of thing you think would make people mad you know it kills me there right now talking in public about how many of you there one sacrifice the ***** cow God Moloch they're ***** their their prophet God the they're making calculations on your life in front of you and what are people willing to go out in the streets and protest about so that they could stuff their ***** faces at ***** Fuddruckers I can't go okay dude while my fat ass the Old Country Buffet this is tyranny that is the freedom that they're fighting flora that's the only freedom that anyone is mobilized to defend in this ***** country the freedom to stuff your ***** face hog people I know you're not supposed to talk like this but come on it's there no I'm not it's less me disappointed in the people who don't fight because they are the scared estándar than those who lose which is why it's hardest for them the people who are doing this are doing it because they feel invincible because they are that Boomer cohort covered in gold protected by the golden sheen of the post-war American cargo called the last vestiges of that money are just draping them like gossamer of gossamer cloaks so they can go out there and stop their feet for their ***** awesome blossoms and ***** unlimited steak Ruby ***** Tuesday's it's like you either have been pacified by by the state it depending on like basically the accident of your birth the state the economy exists to discipline you or to indulge you the print and the degree to which it is is the degree to which you are invested within the system as opposed to a burden to the system as a post-war consumer your precious baby we swaddle you we indulge you and so you become a giant baby and you make have tensions about going back to the fun Rutgers you have tantrum

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

about guns you're never gonna take that gun insurance company charges you 20 grand after your ***** wife dies because of like a and and and you still have to pay that you're not gonna shoot anybody over that that guy in ***** Philadelphia who bought the Hanneman hospital downtown turn into condos and then they wanted to reopen it for kovin patients and he said yeah for a million dollars you're you love 0:14:51 your ***** guns and nobody shot that ***** so the gun is just a big pacifier no I have my gun so I'm free the fact that I have the gun means I'm free no matter what degree of my life being totally constrained by the feckless decisions of the sons of sons of privileged dunder pates sorry I went off there going off there a little bit but that's because of course they're fighting to have the guns of course you can give those people guns they're not a threat they love the system they benefit from the system you can give all the guns they want you can mundos him you can give them all the starches and you can give all the things they want because whether they're they're invested but the people who aren't the people who you need the people you 0:15:52 need to be a reserved army of the unemployed the people you need to do the grunt work that you're not willing or able to ***** motor automate yet the people you actually need but the people whose interests are not served by the arrangement the people aren't benefiting ***** you can't let them have anything other than fear and terror all their every day of their lives that's all you can ever ***** half can't give him any hope that anything can be different so when a time like this happens the people who are being literally fed into the maw of the jaws of a diminution of a ***** cannibal monster have no ability to speak for themselves woman who died a 27 year old woman who had to go to work at a ***** grocery store where she wasn't provided she's not only was she not provided a mask were gloves they didn't even have ***** Purell and she died at 27 in her last check was $20.67 it's Brett it's monstrous but like who can look up long enough to even think about a way to to stand against it 0:16:54 meanwhile these ***** are willing to go up there in ***** Guy Fawkes masks and stamp their feet about how they can't go they can't go to build-a-bear because civil rights exist for them of course as always death to America I'm sorry I went off on a rant there one of my classic rants I gotta say after a moment like that I realized yeah there's probably reason that people say that you know what somebody suggested a 0:17:57 song and it is so perfect to the moment so perfect to the moment that I'm gonna have to play it even if I get like that little exclamation point next to my story I don't think that mean I think that means you can still watch it so I'm not too worried about it besides I got off I already got off my good rants but this is the song that everyone hears at every part of their mind and the reason that Obama never heard Trump Bernie ah anybody have any suggestions for ***** those old ***** I think 0:19:4 everybody who signed that thing at the nation which I haven't read and won't all

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

I need to know is that basically everybody in there has a ***** tenure everyone in there is a tenured professor somewhere someone that every single person there has a ***** signature and a prostate the size of a watermelon and they can ***** jump up my ***** especially since what were they to talk like they're saying look this failure proves you were wrong don't your entire life's record of nothing but failure do a better job I mean we have a longer record to look at and you're just huge ***** losers good day sir you ***** self-important little toads you guys succeeded because you like everyone else in your generation just grab that fat that was falling off the corpse of the post-war economy and just grab your little hunk of it you're a little rotted hunk 0:20:5 of real cheap real estate with a ***** GI Bill parents or the ***** subdivision you can the house that they bought for a nickel scumbags only in the position you are in in in in in dinosaur legacy institutions only haven't been dissolved by the ferocious ma of private equity because they have some sort of sentimental connection with this written ah I'm getting all riled it does anyone I actually have one actually this is perfect I was resisting doing this because it's got a little bit of um there's parts 0:21:7 that could be clipped and used against me I would say basically like somebody could very epic ly make a joke like Twitter meme out of it but it's also perfect especially since we were talking about the awful indulgent ***** Boomer ***** ex radicals who read the nation then the other fact the fact that it's like an open letter to the new left in the nation it's like it's not if you're literally directing it only to yourself only the selfs only the other self-satisfied smug tenured ***** to all cost it yourself and your knowledge that you did the best thing at every point and you deserve your ***** marble countertops and your ***** without $25,000 pizza stone and you deserve the house in the ***** country you deserve your kids having even though your kids are ***** dull-eyed ***** who you know don't deserve better than like a job and a ***** of like folding shirts of the gap or something they absolutely should follow you into higher education and take your ***** spot because Wyatt look cuz 0:22:9 no you understand they have a this is from the paddy Chayefsky paddy chef ski was a a great screenwriter he started in 50s on the TV shows like Peyton Place and uh requiem for a heavyweight no no that was Rod Steiger anyway Rod Serling he he wrote Network he wouldn't an Oscar for network what are the greatest screenplays ever a great movie incredibly prescient and he also made a movie about the medical field he did the he did his media with network and that he did a movie called the 0:23:11 hospital to start George C Scott as a hospital administrator where someone's like doing murders like patients are being killed and they don't know who it is and any place that's beleaguered and and it's all about just like the cynicism and failure of the medical thing about a few like how it's a business how it doesn't care about health how it's like like so crushingly bureaucratic how it doesn't cure it only seeks to you know this it doesn't seek to cure and then he at one point after you know towards the end of the movie there's a big Rand and churchy Scott is like you know he's a classic Greatest Generation like Don Draper type he's like a Don Draper for hospital that's actually kind of a good at comparison he is like the Don Draper of hospital administration and he's got but like a little older so I Greatest Generation instead of Korean War or World War 2 instead of Korea anyway and he has that he has a young hippie son somehow the hospital George here this you're wasting your 0:24:13 time I've been impotent for years what the hell is wrong with being impotent kids are more hung up on sex with me Victorians I got a son 23 years old I threw him out of the house just ah box all right all right sir over you're wasting your time I've been interviewed in three years what the hell is wrong with being impotent kids are more hung up on sex and the Victorians I got a son 23 years old I threw him out of the house last year pietistic little humbug he preached universal love and he despised everyone had a blanket contempt for the middle class even its decencies he detested my mother because my mother because she had a petit bourgeois pride at her son the doctor I got tell you how brutishly he ignored that rather good lady when she died he didn't even come to the funeral he felt the chapel service was a hypocrisy he 0:25:14 told me his generation didn't live with lies I said listen everybody lives with lies I grabbed it by the pancha when I dragged him the length of our 7:00 room despicably affluent middle-class apartment and I flung him out I haven't seen him since you know what he said to me he's standing there in the landing you know on the verge of tears he shrieked me you won't think you can't even get it up anymore that was it you see that was his real revolution it wasn't racism the oppressed power of the war in Vietnam no the ultimate American social sickness wuzzlympic dingus my god if there is a more despised misunderstood minority in this country it is our poor impotent bastards well I'm in an impotent and I'm proud of it I don't mean merely limp disagreeable as it may see through a woman a man may lust for other things something a little less transient than an erection a sense of permanent worse that's what medicine was to me my reason for being you know miss Drummond when I 0:26:15 was 34 I presented a paper before the annual convention of the Society of Clinical Investigation that pioneered a whole goddamn field of immunology a breakthrough I'm in all the textbooks I happened to be an eminent man miss Drummond you know something else miss Drummond I don't give a goddamn when I say impotent I mean I've lost even my desire to work that's a hell of a lot that's a hell of a lot more private passion than sex I've lost my reason for being my purpose the only thing I've ever truly loved well it's all rubbish isn't it I mean transplants antibodies we manufactured genes we can produce births in we could birth we could produce birth echo genetically we could practically clone people like carrots and half the kids in the

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

ghetto haven't even been inoculated for polio we have established the most enormous medical entity of reconceived and people are sicker than ever we have cured nothing we heal nothing the whole goddamn wretched world is strangulating in front of our eyes there we go Oh George see Scott mad props to George see Scott he was a guy who always said he hated the Oscars he wouldn't go to the Oscars he didn't care about the Oscars he didn't think actors should do that he thought it was a craft he thought it was art and he didn't like them being brought out like show ponies to be like judged on the ha on the hoof and so when he got the Oscar for a patent he not only didn't show up he rejected it he said don't give it to me I don't want it respect the goddamn meat market man he ruled come on George see Scott bucked urges it ***** dr. Strangelove phenomenal one of the great characters in Kubrick I mean I'm not saying we wouldn't get our hair mussed also of course yes the hospital is great in ***** hardcore turn it off turn it off patent that he played patent as a psychopath and he became like worshipped by like like reactionaries that's so perfect that like Coppola and Scott saw patent as like a maniac and the whole movie was about how it was insane and guys like Nixon loved it Nixon used to watch it over and over again on the presidential yacht like fire himself up to bomb the V North Vietnamese because like you're like you're representing this insanity and if somebody shares that insanity it's like looking through a keyhole it's like oh my god this movie is speaks directly to me that's how you know it's a good movie honestly cuz it really does it's like actually exploring something it's not just like sterile E replicating it all right Peter Glatt Brian Dennehy a lot a legend and a pip he was good you know as a good movies an underrated movie best seller him and James Woods he plays like a Joseph Wambaugh ex-cop who writes fiction about I like fictionalized like journalism about like cops and James Woods approaches him he's an assassin and he a hitman and he wants to write his biography and then they go do crimes together alright Peter the real one Brian Dennehy best seller also FX with him and Brian Brian Brown that Australian guy which is really fun because he plays a cop and he teams up with a special effects guy a guy who does like movie special effects to like stop a drug dealer it was always drug dealer in the 80s it was always a drug dealer it was really funny it's got a lot of wacky gags and stunts yeah FX so you guys I've started to read by the big book of campaign of the century about Upton Sinclair and the 1934 race I gotta say I'm very excited the book is great it's actually a really I've never I've heard of it before it's a really well well-done piece of popular fiction I believe it won a number of like awards anyway it's like a day-by-day chronicling of the whole campaign and man like just the stuff that you could remember just reading a reading back through about about that election as nuts they really pulled out all the stops to kill that guy if I could stop that guy they really thought that he might like bring communism to

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

America and the funny thing is is he was a total fruitcake Upton Sinclair was not Bernie Sanders Upton Sinclair was Marianne Williamson on God he was a Puritan uh like classic 19th century like crank he was like oh he was like a sexually repressed 0:31:35 wasp who believed in like like fad dieting and speaking to the dead with like radios he wrote a book about talking to the dead and he almost ***** he brought this movement that they had to bring out all the stops to stop events like it's very fun story and it's got a lot of resonances with the toilet this campaign but it's so funny because like Upton Sinclair is basically the man posted cringe non-stop and like the question of Upton Sinclair is how do you weigh good intentions and honestly very successful attempts at political organizing I guess yes the the muckraker he ran for governor of California for three times twice as a socialist but then he almost oh it's 0:32:37
Richard Hoagland she's the natural law party guy I love the natural law party I have seen debates with like they're a national law party and I like what does that mean and they're like well we think that the basis for human law should be a natural law and I just has anyone know what that means I've never really found it out it just seems like sort of a magnet for stray cranks who can't fit into any other of the crank party mold I don't know like leftover crank like prank trimmings like what they make McNuggets and McRib out of that's where you get the ***** natural law party guys I don't know I'm starting the book about I have the book on my computer the book about the carnation revolution oh I'll be reading it shortly I hope after I do the signal theft in Sinclair but yeah I wanna I wanna I want to talk about carnation revolution because like like I was saying that military it's more than its it's a it's an X Factor just to put at least to this flowing quickly flowing situation did you have any idea 0:33:39 what natural wah party meant did you know what that of course marianne williamson coasted crinch come on it was adorable but it was definitely cringe I remember when she said that this was the time when America was gonna slam it and slam it hard but 0:34:41 all of Hollywood conspired to defeat upton sinclair all the studio heads were mega reactionaries and they wanted to make sure that their precious monopolies didn't get ***** with because claire actually proposed using public funds to create public studios like public art that would compete directly with the studio phillips basically declared war on the movie colony and they fought back then you really see where hegemony comes in handy oh no he farted in public dick Ranchi Oh John Hagelin I knew it would that's what I knew I was close John Hagelin I remember seeing him in a debate when I had a kid on a c-span or something and I just never knew what the ***** natural law party means anyone knows shoot me a line I think they're anti-abortion I don't know yeah cuz it sounds like that like the Nazis cuz like you 0:35:44 could describe if you like cuz that's like fascism is notoriously fluid ideologically it's like postmodern in that way but but if you had to like find forever say oh yeah if you can find like any kind of like justifying ideology philosophically like base it's the idea that like it's the idea that strike might versus right that's basically where it all Springs from like it's all life is competition between groups the most the the worthy estroux p- will win or that is what must happen because of the natural order and that like the race and all that stuff is all just an expression a social expression of 0:36:46 that underlying reality so that does sound like the natural like natural law party would be a good another name for the further nazis so but what the hell are they did not the Jewish studio has had no solidarity with European jewelry at all really grotesque stuff those are some of the worst guys those studio has ah are there any 0:38:2 contemporary fascist leaders okay that's interesting right that's interesting that's an interesting question I would say in a meaningful sense not in the United States I would say the closest you're gonna stop the closest I would say and there's still argument I can't even say to finit of lis I would say you could put them on the table to like look at further and I honestly don't know because I feel like it's such a fluid concept and it's like applicability to the moment is to me very fluid I don't I don't know if things are changing so fast that like the conditions that created fascism might arrive again but without the precondition of mass politics I don't know what that means I don't know if that's what you would even call fascism so it's very hard for me to get specific so what I would say is in the basket of those guys you would have a guy like Modi muffin ro and or bond I don't think Trump's in that basket 0:39:6 necessarily maybe he is leaning in that basket range is like learn like one to ask him for discussion he's in the next most like in a Bayesian thing like he's in the second most likely situation but that's it and then we'd be on that I don't know I I I was talking her I had a little rant earlier you might well when missus over you should watch it I had a little rant about those Michigan protesters and their privileges last lives and how pathetic they are and how they're they show that the the idea of like freedom because like there's human freedom right the human freedom promised by communism but human Freeman promised by transcending scarcity right the the end state of capital communism right there's that if you can't have that what you 0:40:7 can have is material comforts consumption choices like a sublimated desire for for human autonomy that's expressed through consumption and so those are them so what all you get from from America all you get from American freedom is that second thing you don't get the real freedom you don't get real freedom and I'm not saying that something like North Korea is real freedom I'm saying that it's worth striving towards that instead of force wearing it for something that at the end leaves you bitter and an empty and that eventually destroys itself that's the worst part it's not 0:41:9 even sustainable it's all gonna eat itself we're eating this like the system is eating its flesh it's eating its it's it's reserved fat it's feeding its organs it's gonna eat its bones

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

it's just hollowing out like it can't respond to this happening because everything's been sold off everything's been auctioned off I keep entering the rant zone I'm sorry and nobody knows what to do because these guys never had that be asked to do anything before like they have to just say just seriously consider the reality of the state reclaiming sovereignty from capital in the face of a crisis that's what the actual job right now of a political figure should be the kirok you leonis a chat of mess up the massiveness of that undertaking is so beyond the capacity of people who were never this must be stressed never asked to do any real choices no executive no governor no Prime Minister no president in this country in this world has to actually make real decisions let the real guiding decisions are made by bound traders by the Federal Reserve buy stocks buy buy the market in all of its expressions your job is to manage the outcome of those market relationships and that's easy that's just basically what line of ***** do you feed people to mask the mechanical nature of their now they have to make a real choice human lives or keeping the economy strong in the short term preventing a drop in stocks or something one of them would require like the reason they're there still one of the big reasons they're forfeiting authority to the market isn't just that they're bought for not just that they're bought it's if they don't want the authority because they don't know how to do it because they were never asked to make these decisions and they want to forfeit it they want to give the gun away they were like no go give it to me because they can't handle it because they were never asked to do that that was never the job and now having them do this they're just they will sacrifice all of us so that they don't have to intervene because we could intervene we could but it would break the compact it would destroy it would break the spell essentially of capitalism and they can't let that happen because they don't know they'll ever be able to reverse it it is an existential threat and like I said even if it causes huge breakdown to society and you end up with like little militarized fiefdom and like disconnected states but you maintain hierarchies within them then like the ***** architects said the matrix there are levels of survival we're willing to accept it's not ideal but they'll take it over giving over power yeah very depressing I went on rant mode big time guys I've been ranting up this is good this is a good one I feel like some of these have been pretty good rants I might pump I might pick my rent I might actually go on Twitter and say hey check we're gonna get all the death we're gonna get all the death associated with just letting this go when we reopen haphazardly and then have to close again and all that all those people died didn't have to if we just manage the economy in a stopgap way until instead man is really slim pickings in world leaders everyone really sucks man just think of the awful but foods in charge like these like bloodless bureaucrats or absolute clouds literally bosun ro Trump these are clowns and not even in the sense of like wise clowns like

0:42:10

0:43:12

0:44:15

0:45:17

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

like Lear clowns like buffoons like empty caricatures that just floated to the top of just absolutely a moral and political process like when all the power and authority of a seeped out of government it became a hollow show and of course these most entertaining puffins just pop to the top of it because that's what its values it's what it's what it shows hey and then who's the good guys who's the good guys angle a ***** Merkel woman who bathes in Greek blood every night oh you got like ***** guys I'm sorry but like Putin no thank you I don't think that guy's got anybody's best interests or heart running erawan ***** Benjamin Netanyahu wildly criminal crooked ***** ***** getting reelected over and over again under indictment and getting indicted running this is absurd crooked ***** settler colonial state I'm sorry the Chinese dot it's like they really haven't seen to care about ideology or moving left or like liberating people they seem really more about making that making that ***** chatter I mean the record please pretty clear unless they're doing some sort of elaborate rope it up where there's gonna like wait until we've like lowered our guard because we they out like capitalism must and then they like spring into action say AHA we were actually gonna do communism the whole time it looks more like they're doing what everybody's doing which is trying to grab the resources that are left while we can that's why they're in Africa that's why they're pushing out around their territorial waters to get out gasps to get to get trade routes ***** mountain road salmon Russia's doing what they're doing in the Middle East or in Ukraine to maintain these areas where they can have enough when these global supply chains break down it's just a scramble by the top one percent in every country to use the it's basically you know it is the global boudoir right imagine them up here or the global pack not bushwa the global like ruling class every other every society every social formation they're up here they know the things falling apart there's a big pile of money the big pile of resources the big pile of remaining like commodities that can like power a society with us with and generate generate surpluses because if it doesn't generate surpluses then you're back to ***** the stone Age's and you're back to equality honestly you're back to social equality also instead you need you need to maintain a hierarchy you need to maintain inequality and you need to maintain surpluses so that means you need those resources so they're getting those resources to like build on and then the thing between them is like state structures like countries by corporations but then through corporations nation states and formations like NATO or whatever the funders and then those ***** arms coming down our graphing the ***** pull it off the table like Hungry Hungry Hippos that's what we're in that's what that's the global situation we're looking at right now it's grim it's a grim situation but it's like every country every country you look at what they're doing you try to examine what like the what what frame makes sense for these at decisions the answer is always preserving and expanding access to resources surpluses if you want to make just as blunt as possible just abstract it as possible just so you think of it in purely economic terms that is it ideology has nothing to do with it and if some countries aren't able to stand up for themselves and they just become subsidiaries they become another passive thing they become a colony a subtle colony and then you have local comprador elites who get that join in with the other ones they get kind of picked out like that mat is a whole social class but like as individuals 0:50:31 within a social order like them like the new rich in Angola like that the world's first youngest woman billionaire the the the daughter of the former dictator of Angola because she's got a jillion dollars in oil wealth that doesn't trickle down in any way to the actual citizens they're like Nigeria which has tons of oil and has also seen Dutch Shell hire mercenary armies to shoot protesters who are trying to resist their ***** habitats being poisoned by ***** extraction that's the real that's the real ***** we just dropped some real ***** tonight I like that I feel unburdened unpacking and the thing is some social orders though have a better claim like I'm running for 0:51:32 Cuba I'm ready for Cuba I'm rooting for Maduro as Venezuela I'm I'm rooting for Nicaragua to get their share in the scramble because I know it's going to be used somewhat more equitably and justly than the other stuff that's gonna get looted so yeah I have countries I root for but it doesn't change the fact that like this is not an ideological struggle and ideology will not be what determines the outcome I was a little half-hearted I think I think that's I think people's enthusiasm for the hollow gesture there's a is waning the work someone asked me about a below and I have to 0:52:33 say the only thing I have to say about mo is to quote the old the old wildly dictator of Mexico Porfirio Diaz PD Mexico so far from God yeah I know yeah those those all those like friendly like like his there's these people who want to claim that the Chinese intervention economic development in in Africa is some sort of goodwill gesture or like or ironically they act like it's like the Peace Corps or something in reality it's like an attempt by China to essentially buy their way the critical infrastructure areas and an incredibly resource rich region that's gonna be more and more a place for 0:53:35 exploitation is gonna happen I mean live with liking there's a lot of unexplored oil and ***** in Africa because they haven't had the infrastructure to exploit it and you know is it's it's it's a real ***** and now of course they're feeling hey we're you're ripping us off and the resistance is kicking in I don't know who's gonna win the Chinese certainly look like they have the upper hand if they bottled up coronavirus the way they claim to have or honestly it doesn't matter I'm thinking either they bottled it up that well or they have such a control over their ***** like information streams outside and inside the country that it doesn't effectively matter if they have because people don't know except for in their very specific regions affected they're

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

CUSHVLOG 2. THE RANT ZONE

pretty impressively ready to expand the only question is can they handle the massive drop in export demand that's gonna come that's happening now because there's still an export-based economy that's the real that's the real question I'm certainly rooting for Evo Morales and mas mas mas we've Abbas I like it Virgil is a little as real as he is in your hearts Virgil belittle exists if you believe in him if you believe in Virgil clap your hands you believe in virtual clap your hands Lazaro Cardenas was pretty good Cardenas is good I have a soft spot for Cardenas I mean I really like Zapata a lot I ***** love Pancho via ***** Carranza I hate that ***** mr. Leon so carrenza pit Carranza ah the fact that he got shot in his ass good good riddance the hey Carranza and Maduro is such a perfect live Maduro is the perfect ***** live like accommodating to the right and cutting off all connections to the popular base so that they could turn on you and destroy you it's like textbook and they keep doing oh thank you you're the man I did a couple years that I on an unfinished m.a in American history post-war as my specialty I never finished my final because I have I knew I wasn't gonna do anything with a degree cuz I know I wasn't gonna go like go to get a PhD so I was like do I really want to do I kind of like a sub cost thing of like do I want to go through the pain of writing this whole thing that I'm never gonna use for anything for a degree that's not gonna help me do anything if then so yeah I just I just did song cause I only even died did the first year and I hated it and I only did the second year because I was accepted to Duke I was accepted as a as a TA so I got instead of having to pay I got instead of having to pay I got got paid so it made sense as a job just to do it so ITA for a year but then I never really finished I never wrote my final paper because it was like what this I'm not gonna use it so I'm a lazy ***** that's the thing about me no one should ever listen to anything I am a uh I'm a large I'm a large a mondo tool all right guys looks like we're counting down well this is a fun one I'm having a good time we'll see if this lasts or it's back down in the bare ***** Bay of the best we'll see I do listen alright alright guys peace in the chicken grease in the Middle East keep

0:54:43

0:55:50

0:56:51

0:57:56

CushVlog 3

---

Third Eye Unblind

4.17.20

uh probably not gonna stay on too long a night probably not gonna do the whole hour I would do some other stuff and I'm honestly not feeling that good today yesterday felt better today not so good isn't that the way of the worlds during the quarantine feeling all right it feels like you can take everything on you're feeling like you could take on the black of chance and then you wake up the next day and you're like oh right this is all still this situation and nothing's gonna change for the foreseeable future and you start wondering how are you gonna make it so today's that day not feeling great guys but whatever happy to take questions to avoid feeling thinking about how I feel favorite Attitude Era wrestler uh I actually watched I don't watch it anymore I'm not one of those ***** people who watches wrestling from the Johnny is good tweet here's welcome to Twitter here's a copy of a communist manifesto and also a season pass to what WrestleMania I'm not one of those people but I did watch it the Attitude Era and uh yes stone cold I mean the guy knew his weight the guy if you want to give a noxious about it I'm honestly surprised that there hasn't been like a painfully cringe-inducing jacket an article about how like Steven Steve Stone Cold Steve Austin's like a model for workers because of how confrontational he was towards his boss you know like you should be willing to go into the Stone Cold Stunner your boss and that you will be able to do that under socialism or something I think that was pretty good but I liked uh mankind - and the rock was really good like if you saw him wrestle it's not very surprising that he became a huge star it was very very charismatic my all-time favorite wrestler is from what the old WWF superstars days Rowdy Roddy Piper none will defeat him in my heart doesn't hurt that he also starred in the John Carpenter classic they live also the less classic but still pretty fun hell comes to Frogtown r.i.p to but the thing is all right that's actually an interesting question the question about ***** revisionism because like when does the revisionism stop because as many have pointed out like if you are a Soviet apologist like basically for the Soviet Union post the death of Stalin then you're a revisionist and honestly if you want to get really buck wild with it social is the one in one country was also revisionism from what the Bolsheviks thought when they actually seized power so where the hell are you supposed to go back to the find the non revisionist ***** I mean you could say having a revolution in a country made up of ***** peasants with a ***** pen was was pretty significant revision so where the hell is this pure Marxism supposed to be that you're revising from the book itself the books the works themselves sorry that doesn't that doesn't cut it cuz that's just 0:4:34 uh now you're literally talking like Bible ***** I'm talking about like now you're you're like a fundamentalist for the for like what Capitol pretty dumb so yeah that's 0:5:41 actually an interesting question the Steep from I understand the consensus among Paulista political scientists is that he would have won without parole because parole would have table took more from Republicans than from him and I think there's probably I don't know red pill that's another thing I don't know what that is either I don't know racists is that what red pill means misogynist only the Coen brothers don't get enough flak for how many duds they have they have basically like one dud and that's even that one you could argue about idiot well I mean obviously every 0:6:42 term has value from like an epistemological perspective but I mean in practical terms I don't know what anyone means when they say you're revisionist oh oh okay so it's anti-semitic no no that's dumb anything that tries to claim that there's some sort of class other than capitalists running things is stupid just it's not like its Jews that run ***** it's rich Jews in collection in collaboration with rich everyone else so like where do you say I know this is oh ***** Culver's is doing a menu items ***** like what 0:7:50 poutine I wouldn't be surprised if they did don't think it's gonna be worn for VP just because like I obviously she did her job for the party and she helped me cap Bernie and you know she's looking for something for that but I mean I don't think they trust her just because they've had trouble with her in the past like a lot of reasons that like a lot of reasons that people who should have known better sort of gave Warren the benefit of the doubt I mean it some of it was cynical but I honestly feel someone who was earnest is because of her antagonistic position towards Obama during the bailouts and I feel like that's not gonna be forgotten not when you have options and not what you don't have to give it to her I mean what's her what's her what's her leverage right now she's already endorsed Warren she has no leverage so I'd say it's 0:8:57 probably somebody that they have there's been like they're more confident of like warlike Harris possibly I guess maybe it comes down to how scared they are Bernie people sitting out although the idea of them trying to mollify Bernie people by giving it to ***** Warren is pretty ***** hilarious I'm gonna have an uber inebriated past hopefully within two weeks about Upton Sinclair 1934 I like that Whitmer is trying for it by like turning Michigan into a police state I think that's pretty funny you guys ever notice that when you if you want to see something I'm Netflix or whatever it's 0:9:59 not there and then when you do want to see it it or what you don't want to see it it is shut up cold war movies well I've said that if you're doing a cold war project you should show two movies back to back to illustrate where the two countries the two main protagonists of the Cold War psychologically and were after it so you watch to show America you watch Kelly's heroes bunch of dudes going on a fun adventure in Europe where they come back with a bunch of gold and come and see where the Dirlewanger Brigade does ***** genocide and the village of Belarus and some poor kid has to like I hope I'm honest least as entertaining as a stupid cat well doctor I mean obviously doctor ***** Strangelove is genius film and probably my favorite of the of Kubrick's films am i okay good question how ***** oh I don't ***** know man Bobby Kennedy is very interesting to me because the forensics of that case are very odd and also the the history of Sirhan Sirhan is very interesting as well he literally was treated for a for a head injury that he suffered falling from a horse because he was a jockey at a hospital that was received again scale MKULTRA funding and then you look at the automatic writing in his diary which is very much different than like something from say Arthur Bremer or some other mentally ill assassin where it's like you know instead of it being disordered thinking it's not thinking at all it's just like reciting words over and over again almost like trigger words and then you have the fact that you know stippling to the back of the head and the claim that the fight shot was fired from in front Haney Jean Caesar and his 22 caliber Iver Johnson pistol that uh that he claimed he sold before the assassination and then when they finally found Doug found the guy he sold it to who had a receipt for after the assassination very interesting but anything like that I've kind of decided that knowing the doing yes or no is sort of pointless because it doesn't change anything and it doesn't even necessarily change your now there's no way to know so I just gotta do shrug emojis I do like reading about it and stuff like that and I was find it very interesting might do a Southland Tales episode I was thinking I don't know man doing something about the Whitlam government in Australia I mean it's Australia for God's sakes how seriously should anyone take anything what happens they're not a real I haven't actually found any really great books about typing I found a recent book that I read that was okay but it was like for the point of view of like American diplomat or from a diplomatic history because his beat his thesis basically was one that the Taiping rebellion failed because Western powers after arguing which one to pick sided with the king the Qing Dynasty - that they should not have done that and that the Taiping were better than the king and that's interesting but it doesn't really give you the whole thing in it definitely focus to something like this last half and it's not really for the point of view of you know the people within it so it's hard and then there's a couple others I've read that kind of focus a little bit too much on like the specifics of the theology which is kind of boring so I have not heard of anything great yeah it's a

CUSHVLOG 3. THIRD EYE UNBLIND

CUSHVLOG 3. THIRD EYE UNBLIND

CUSHVLOG 3. THIRD EYE UNBLIND

fascinating topic and a wildly under studied and under written about and under note about considering that it killed like thirty ***** million people I mean my god the American Civil War didn't even crack a everybody knows about that ***** yes well 0:15:27 thank you I asked about the natural law party and a number of people let me know that it was all about like TM like Transcendental Meditation and like westernized Hindu ***** like the Vedas who you into the English Civil War and Oliver Cromwell baby who isn't who isn't into that shit's great levelers the diggers the ***** grand remonstrance from Parliament ***** a long Parliament the bare-bones Parliament ***** Marston more the ***** raising the royal standard at ***** Oxford hell yeah seizure bristol digger yeah come on Jared win Stanley ***** John little burn ***** Prince Rupert of the Rhine what's not to love ***** pike pike and uh ya ain't feelin 0:16:29 England perfect ah the tumbledown dick Cromwell come on if the southern one is Civil War the CSA would have joined the axis that very theory is postulated in the Harry Turtledove how if you remain books which partially southland Civil War the US and the the the the treaty system that went under World War one with the u.s. being part of the the triple I believe on top of a no-no Triple Alliance it's so pressuring 0:17:31 they're both its turbulent on the Triple Alliance but the triple alliance with Germany and those guys austria-hungary and the and the Confederacy joining with England and France because those are the guys who gave them their independence and so there's trench warfare in the u.s. like long Virginia it's like the Somme and the US and Germany austria-hungary and the Ottomans win in this version they impose an auto respond England and France in the US and so then a Hitler like figure emerges in interwar America socialists rise to power in the US and world war two happens with the axis with with the CSA being in the axis but in this one instead of the axis being Germany in Italy in Japan the axis is the Confederacy France and England because they were the ones who lost the theory being that that's what led to fascism was basically losing World War two we're losing World War one in Germany anyway 0:18:32 Italy it's a little more complicated anyway so yes that's a long way around to say this CSA would definitely have better the axis and subversion of the axis if shut up it's cool there's like 11 books and I read them all although not really because the thing about Turtledove is that he's very repetitious so you can kind of like skim I basically skimmed them for plot developments baseball is of course the best American sport come on I actually know in the books its president uh Eugene Debs never becomes president sadly but it's like Upton Sinclair now nuts Upton Sinclair Sinclair Lewis is 0:19:33 the first socialist president of the United States and then like one of the will Follett's and then Al Smith is the socialist president when the war starts Chomsky is an old man who what's your name who's your daddy is here is like look I did not prefer I 0:20:39 like red wine I got I accidentally bought a bottle of white wine cuz I wasn't looking

CUSHVLOG 3. THIRD EYE UNBLIND

so I'm stuck with it I would prefer a red any any port in a of course you know to speak of these of course to speak of these Instagram life deep performance of an ego transcending itself into language of course we see we see within this the the the the failed recapitulation of the self expressed through the commodity Merlot is good if it's bold and I like a big bold wine and a big sassy wine I don't understand why everyone wants me to wear a different jacket do you guys not wear the same jacket every day like you guys have 50 well winter jackets Oh someone says I look unhealthy that's not good in what way like I'm gonna die I don't have the road I don't think are there any doctors in the chat if they could like remote diagnosed me with anything and I okay am I gonna die oh god oh boy oh man that's I would really like to read something where Protestantism doesn't exist because man it's it's very easy to blame Protestantism for a lot of bad ***** there's no question about that but at the same time it seems like the like you know those forces are not like the forces that create Protestantism are not are not ideological or spiritual they are material you know like the emergence of capitalism well I think would have happened in the absence of Protestant system so it would have been interesting to see how how Catholicism could have absorbed that kind of disruption to its traditional relationship to like the land and to labor it's interesting I have no idea you could argue maybe that the Protestant that the Reformation would have had to have happened maybe not then and there but with eventually maybe it happened differently maybe it would have been more peaceful or more violent but I think it would have been inevitable because if capitalism is going to come when modernity is going to come and you can't really have Western modernity without Protestantism you know it's like the it's the it's the 11th urban spice and I would really like to talk about how by the time Protestantism gets the United States it's not even Christianity anymore it is legitimately not Christianity it is a pagan like cult of like a quiz acquisitiveness it's literally a material cult it is Moloch worship I mean it is it's it's the great stone owl it's it's Mammon it's everything it's everything evil and then that's the ultimate expression of American Protestantism is of course Mormonism which at this point is essentially just a marquee market multi-level marketing scheme they have the highest participation of multi-level marketing schemes in the world Utah all they do is go to each other's giant unfinished basements and sit around with all their children who have 15 wise in their name and exchange and sell each other different MLM products like it's a part it's like a barter economy but exchanging uh like yoga pants and Tupperware and sex toys and that's not that's that's what Christianity is or that's what American Christianity is because it fuses with capital at some point and it fuses with capital at the point of diffuses with capital at the point the acquisition of the United States that is boundless it is material it is a pee really causative ability

CUSHVLOG 3. THIRD EYE UNBLIND

beyond bound as in an entire continent that could be swallowed up by anyone who will take it that is a that demands its own religion totally done Lord from the from the the bombs like the socially bonded nature of European Christianity it's just not it's like it reaches an escape velocity and pull off because it has to accommodate the speed Catholicism couldn't accommodate the speed and even European Christian Protestantism couldn't new religion needed to be created a new religion needed to be created that would be a cult of the individual and specifically the cult of the the enrichment of the individual that's why this Felix Gilman's books are so good the way they talk about like it's it's kind of steampunky but it's it sees the the development of like the West as like basically the merit of the human psyche being like turned into material reality like mature like literally the earth being brought into the mind the space created by the people who colonized alright guys I gotta get off I think so oh there yes so I'll see you guys soon buh-bye

0:25:50

0:26:56

CushVlog 4

---

Mid Force - Omega Squadron

4.18.20

hey guys I'm sorry to interrupt that ***** weird thing that's supposed to be on where everyone's singing from their bedrooms or whatever it really looks like a bunch of people just having independent nervous breakdowns kind of seems like a bummer kind of feels like the world's ending honestly watching it it's like you know all those benefit concerts after a big all those benefit concerts after a big disaster are reassuring because they're ruled you know we know oh there's a oh look there's a guy on stage look it's John Mellencamp be singing and now we've got these people like dressing up in costumes in their starkly undecorated living rooms and just singing and crying it's 0:1:1 just it's disturbing it's not good so if everybody going to protest to get back to curse or whatever the ***** I talked about that the other day but I feel like I forgot to point out another thing about those protests which is that they literally are they're ***** they're they're funded by like cokes and like they're made up of small business owners I mean it is an economically motivated thing like get the business back going up get get things back going so I can make money again if I get the virus anyway my 0:2:5 family gets a virus I'll probably be alright if somebody else gets sick I don't know those ***** ***** them so it's not even like they're saying I want to die they're what they want other people to die so that people will go to their stores or the thing is until these people start dying in any kind of significant numbers they're gonna keep thinking it's fake and maybe I mean we'll find out either way right we'll find out one way or another uh hey they didn't invite me on Iran I'm doing my own thing uh uh 0:3:8 no one bad is gonna die I've said this before and i 100% believe it no one bad will die of this because god likes and human suffering God might not be evil but he loves human evil and you can even imagine like save your gob you created the universe and I especially if there is some sort of eternal afterlife for every spirit in the universe then what any human being does in life is it really doesn't matter you know you only have a few years if you're lucky you're thrown into circumstances beyond your control like you know you're probably gonna do more bad than good just you know out of out of just because of statistical likelihood so if that's the case and everyone eventually is redeemed through you know like being put through the rock tumbler of

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

reincarnation or like spiritual scouring and the afterlife or whatever either way then god you're gonna have a lot of fun watching humans be evil to one another and why would you intervene to stop that why would you intervene to stop human evil from happening when it's so ***** funny I mean it's way funnier than people being nice 0:4:11 what in most movies make up our movies and entertainment and films and books are they made up of people being good no because that's boring why wouldn't it be boring to God so nobody good will die or don't be good will let me battle that it doesn't wanna but if you know about them and you know they're evil then they're doing way much the way that's like canceling a little sparks that's like canceling sweeps week that's like canceling your top show for cheap suit especially since things are gonna get real weird real fast hey Connor how you doing I think we're gonna get insanely weird very very quickly why wouldn't you want as many evil people around as possible to just get nutty with I will probably be doing at some time in the next week because I've got it on board but not yet I gotta have to wait for the weather 0:5:13 to die so that's for sure yeah they didn't invite me on their stream they can ***** off why do I care what they're doing the real heads are in here with me see this is a really interesting this is sort of like how the stories about how the stories about how like it you know at the politburo or whatever they would start clapping stalin and it would just keep going we just nobody wanted to be the first one to be seen stopping so these people are all they don't want to be the last one to stop this here the last one will stop then woody what can you not respect our first responders a Oh God people 0:6:14 are singing now someone saw some video from Italy and now they're getting inspired much clapping their cheeks oh boy we've seen new york new york by sinatra the boy oh boy oh boy definitely getting weird that's only gonna get weirder I thought they were gonna slowly like taper down over the weeks but instead it's gotten more but the 0:7:21 really clapping board is that there's still supply lines what they're really clapping for us if they could still turn the lights on their side they'll flip a switch in the light turns on and that's the Internet and if they flush the toilet at the ship goes away that's their clapping that they don't have to go out there and try to find their own food you know none of them would be able to I include myself in that number that thing that there's still the TV still works you know I mean and the thing is that's worth noting about because the alternative is not something you want to think about too much if you're this vulnerable if you're this far from any self-sustaining lifestyle Oh 0:8:25 any more questions here prediction for Abidin cabinets I'd say clover cars probably the clubhouse leader to be VP uh because I really do think that they believe that ***** like oh she's from the Midwest they like her that we didn't lose we lost the Midwest so we need one of them which of course ignores the fact that the Midwest is America's Balkans and all of them hate each other over very very small disagreements

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

and differences most mostly around sports teams Wisconsin I hate Minnesota and have no interest in their ***** their political figures and in fact if someone's from Minnesota will probably say the other thing honestly just out of spite okay people from Illinois as well Michiganders of course eight people from Ohio in place versa everyone hates Indiana everyone and for good reason there's no there's no solidarity there at the state beyond the state level so she oh she's all she's gonna do is help you win a state you already won last time with Hillary by slightly more congratulations morons how am I supposed to get to some exactly how is that supposed to work - cold - and it gets warm I'll just be back here baking my brain probably after ah which state is the worst Iowa's in Indiana is in the running Indiana's like basically has no redeeming features to it and the funny thing is is amber for example who live grew up there would agree with me there's no question about that Wisconsin I honestly feel like since since Walker got in Wisconsin might have been doomed Wisconsin might have been ruined root as I say in the dark hour series and I have to say that Minnesota as much as I hate it and have a visceral hatred for my childhood fraud and because it's I resent their hegemonic Lutheranism not spiced in with any fun party Bavarians and and Irish or pole locks but goddamn it they're doing better so I gotta have I put Minnesota above Wisconsin as much as I hate to say it but those two and then Minnesota has the Coens but Wisconsin has arson wells and who pray tell is the is the Minnesota Liberace prints I don't want the Rona man someone telling me not to get it buddy who are you talking to I've not been licking light bulbs light poles I've been trying to avoid it there's a chance I had an asymptomatic case earlier this year because we were in Venice we were in California during the height of the outbreak and we're almost positive we'll had it after the end of the tour and we were together that whole same time very hard to imagine that we didn't both get it so I could be a lucky asymptomatic guy but I'm not gonna find out like by randomly getting getting nutty with it perish the thought all right guys before I'm not just some more questions with some more questions you know I just looked in here what we got but first I'm gonna do another reading from blood meridian this I was inspired to read this by David David Brooks who told us the other day that the age of coddling is over then all of you well coddled swaddled millennial children are finally going to be have to confront reality and all of its Horrors with all of its sharp fangs and teeth and claws which of course coming from a absolutely soft-boiled egg of a man a ***** vanilla souffle with a comb-over a man who has never had that work at Davis life that any meaningful job a man who has never produced a man who has never worked by the sweat of his brow for a moment a man who is wildly overcompensated to flatter the the egos of the wealthiest people in this country is essentially a court jester for concentrated wealth that's all he is someone who had died in the ***** woods if they were left there overnight and just the thought that he is are like calm he is our judge holdin a very good wrestler so just imagine David Brooks is saying this instead of the judge in fact maybe I'll remember to say that instead they grew caught it in like under the white sons of those days and they're hollow burned out eyes were the like those of not not ambulance surprised by day knocked ambulance a ***** general okay they grew gone to did lank under the white sons of those days and they're hollow burned out eyes were like those of neck ambulance surprised by day crouched under their hats they seemed fugitives on some grander scale like beings of whom this for whom the Sun hungered even David Brooks grew silence thank you he'd spoken 0:14:41 up urging oneself of those things but lay claim to a man that body receiving his remarks counted themselves well done with any claims at all they wrote on and the wind drove the fine great dust before them and they wrote an army of gray beards gray man gray horses the whole mountains to the north Leafs unwise and corrugated folds and the days were cool and the nights were cold and they sat about the fire each in his round of darkness in that round dark while the idiot watched from his cage at the edge of the light David Brooks cracked with the back of an axe the shin bone of an antelope and the hot marrow dripped smoking on the stones they watched him the subject was war the Good Book says that he lives by the sword shall perish by the sword said the black David Brooks my love his face shining with grease what right man would have it any other way he said the Good Book does indeed count war war and evil said Irving yet there's many a bloody tale of war inside it it makes 0:15:43 no difference what men think of war said David Brooks war doors as well ask men what they think of stone war was always here before man war waited for him the ultimate trade awaiting its ultimate practitioner that is the way it was and will be that way and not some other way he turned to brown from whom he'd heard some whispered slur or demurrer ah Davy he said it's your own trade we honor here why not rather take a small bow let each acknowledge each my trade certainly what is my trade war worries your trade is it not and eight yours mine too very much so what about all the notebooks and bows and stuff all other trades are contained in that of war isn't that why war indoors no your doors because young men love it and old men love it in them those that fought those that did not that's your notion David Brooks smile men are born for games nothing else every child knows that play is 0:16:46 nobler than work he knows too that the words their merit of a game is not inherent in the game itself but read the value of that which is put at hazard games of chance require our wager have any meaning at all games of sport involve the skill and the strength of the opponent's and the humiliation of defeat and the pride of victory are in themselves sufficient stake because they inherent the worth of the principle to define them but trial of chance of trial of worth all games aspire to the condition of war for here that which is wagered swallows up game player all suppose two minute cards with nothing to wager save their lives who has not heard such a tale a turn of the card the whole universe for such a player has labored clanking to this moment which will tell if he is to die or that man's hand or that man and his what more certain validation of a man's worth could there be this enhancements enhancement of the game to its ultimate state that means no argument concerning the notion of 0:17:48 eight the selection of one man over another is a preference absolute and irrevocable and it is a dull man indeed who can reckon so profound a decision without agency or significance either one in such games as have for their stake the annihilation of the defeat of the decisions are quite clear this man holding this particular arrangement of cards in his hand is thereby removed from existence this is the nature of war whose stake is at once the game and the authority and the justification seem so or is the truest form of divination it is the testing of one's will and the will of another within that larger will which because it binds them is therefore forced to select more is the ultimate game because war is at last a forcing of the unity of existence Wars God Brown study the judge you're crazy Holden crazy at last yeah I have read that in a 0:18:54 while that's pretty good McCarthy's pretty good you gotta give it so it's a bummer I'll never get the Nobel once they gave it to Dylan there was no way I was gonna go to another white male American in the next like 30 years yep there's a real powerful point there where he says work will never be as noble as play and what that really gets at is the notion of human labor and activity put to one's own end or to the ends of an employer like alienated labor and free existence like that is like one of those like end-stage Marxist concepts that you don't hear in a lot of talk about because it's very speculative metaphysical almost but there really is a notion in Marx's of 0:19:55 that once you have removed the need to exploit labor away from one's own ends to maintain life through the socialization of the means of production and the sharing of the surplus a result of that that anything you do is not like any lot anything you've ever done it's not like anything we do because everything we do is induced induced by coercion and that induced coercion poisons every action we take and alienates is from them and slowly poisons us against them and then marks the end state of Marxism it was this one in which that does is replaced by pure action devoid of coercion purely self-expression and the closest thing we do have in life to that is play is games where we are doing it of our own free will and within the game's rules we are able to thrive and do what we want and do something to try to achieve victory like 0:20:56 that is really the gate the goal the goal of communism is to make that the rule rather than a very very rare so there you go drop some theory on you guys boom didn't mean to do that didn't mean to drop my theory on you guys I should have said some more about that with the debate with Virgil obviously because gaming culture really

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

does poison something that really should be powerful like the idea of play games is like the end state the most noble state and you can argue that a lot of these neat gamers have achieved something similar to that in that they are gaming with their time and they're not induced to do but it's a cruel parody of it because it's bound up an exploitation and it makes it impossible to gain basically this simulacra of gaining this cruel mockery of gaming gives us only a haunting wisp of what could be gaming 0:21:58 and only instead reifies exploitation and within the industry than the creation of the commodity for gaming as commodity so there you go boom theory all right let's see what questions we got these are some good ones I just say that somebody says was the funniest person who died of the virus obviously Trump the funniest answer that answer to anything of like who's the funniest is strong which is why it might happen **Music playing** scrawling like a HO bag here I can't find anything this is 0:23:0 an interesting one if the u.s. loses power the world with other countries step in and do the same ah that's a really interesting question because I honestly don't know if it's possible and it really doesn't make me feel like a lot of oh oh ***** alright so right now we have a situation where the u.s. is like long-term strategic posture is all about defending keeping America's pre-eminent interests preeminent basically like making America's interest still interests of world institutions right like that's the long-term goal and that's what of like the containing China is for and all that 0:24:1 stuff but the US will such a unique role militarily that I don't know if anyone has the capacity to take it back like we talked about the Chinese military the Chinese military even though it might have more people than us in it it might have like a larger number of troops in terms of it's like weapons systems and ***** it's ***** fraction we have 11 aircraft I think China has China has - I was right we have an 0:25:2 we and we won the currency and the thing is is if China isn't in a position to be us cuz this because B being obviously there's some there's huge benefits to being like the world currency like the u.s. is but one thing that it makes the US is it makes it the consumer of last resort them you're the reserve currency at the end of the day it's up to you to consume everything like the the runoff from everyone's like bilateral interactions like trade interactions and the thing is is that what that does over time is is it undermines America's like internal chain of internal my ability is like a producer like that's why you have deindustrialization that's why the big reasons we had the because we have to be the consumer unless trade jobs for cheapness he 0:26:4 does once because you can only maintain like the story of like the story of every country that has like become a developed economy starts with protectionism right but everyone agrees with that but thou you have economists to say like well yeah maybe that's that was true then but now it isn't and so new countries don't get to do that and and countries that do do it should really stop but as soon as you get rid

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

of that protectionism and here the ***** buyer and last resort that's the end of your ***** bill I mean that's why we're so horribly exposed now because so much stuff doesn't even come out of here stuff stuff doesn't get built here because that's not what we're here for we're here to consume it we're not here to make it and that is in the long-term bad so whatever anyway it's left us with is this massive military that still has to take a role and like I think the worst thing maybe worst is that like China basically joins in and gets to code aside this ***** like instead of the US dictating China gets to like Kove dictate and maybe even lift America's like American when maintaining the figurehead position something like that but with China like a place at the table I think that's more realistic because they don't want the job that we have no they wouldn't want to have to blow that much of the GDP on ***** useless trinkets like we do they like to just use ours like the Saudis do so we're still gonna have a role it's just we're going to be less less sexual to the decision making process so there you go that's why I think would happen it would be more like a unipolar thing like guys like Matt Stoller are terrified of the Chinese taking over but like I'm sorry the interests are trans their interests are the interests of their ruling elite in both countries those interests are intersecting regardless of anything you have to say about Asian states and like how we need a new Cold War or any of this ***** the interest of those two groups are consonant they're coming together you see the way that like the Peter Till's of the world are uniting like Chinese style social media surveillance mechanisms bringing them to the US even though they're supposed to be a libertarians because they don't maintaining private property is going to require more and more coercive measures against the population to keep them from trying to take their ***** because they're gonna have all of it now there's gonna be some point where people realize there's more of us than there are of them now that's why these libertarians need these very coercive state institutions and technologies to keep them away from it and that's that's true whether you're a high you're a bigwig in the Chinese Communist Party or you're ***** one of the Koch brothers or you're Robert Mercer or you're ***** Queen of England it's all the same ***** interests all the same interests home boys and girls well hell yeah tonight guys let put this one out on YouTube people are watching these on YouTube let's see that I'm really my hair is looking really really ***** just ***** egghead absolute egghead so get this guy's I was joking about how I was starting to think about cut shaving my head just out of out of quarantine boredom and the thing is is that I didn't realize that I had had a hair home haircutting kit like you know cutting it yourself cuz it's more I just hate having to go to the hair cutter II and I it's like oh man I'm just gonna shave my head but then I realized oh no I I lost it in the move from the last place to this place damn oh I guess I want you to buy it and then while we were rearranging stuff

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

in this house we found a box from somebody from like before we lived here where had been like misdelivered and this is like years later and it opened it and it was a ***** home clipper that's kid that's calm and I I mean I am on the wheel of car I must often serve the beam so I think at some point I'm gonna get I'm gonna get suited and I'm going to kiss ate my head so steer ready for that very disturbing and I guarantee you unpleasant sight but I can already kind of see what it would look like and it looks like ***** oh it looks bad I'm gonna have to get a hat at the same time that I do it because I'm gonna need a how're you guys living how's everybody doing it's trumped the last US president at this point I would say maybe there's a 10 to 15 percent chance that yes that's the case if I was Nate Scylla back we got some real centrifugal forces operating right now that looked like they could genuinely destabilize a lot of long-standing institutions that might be a lot more brittle than we think they are because they were never meant to see this kind of stress I see compounded crises I feel the likelihood of a military takeover being realistic and the idea of that creating fracture in opposition to it you know sort of a late medieval you know like crisis of the third century type deal I don't think it's outside the realms the question then becomes like do we have a Diocletian does Diocletian show up or does it just spin out into nothing much laughter talking about that somebody wants to know what about the argument about voting blue for the Supreme Court that's just adorable that people think those are the stakes of the moment are we gonna lose five four or six three Oh God are they gonna close the one abortion clinic still open in the below the mason-dixon line oh my god this is like these are the questions of the moment not will our ***** systems be able to sustain the pressure on their that they're on the right now and whether there's any alternative we could proper to just terminal decline which is not out to have the possibility it's happened before what do you secure societies the thought they had the world by the balls from themselves very quickly disabused of that ***** notion it just feels impossible because everything that's going so static our whole lives and it's like one of those movies where the kid has nightmares about like zombies or something and he keeps being keeps waking up and be like oh god I thought that was real as a dream and then finally the dream is real that's what this feels like this feels like we're bringing a ticket we brought this out upon ourselves with our own we made a collective death wish out of hitting like the cold sack of human possibility like we topped out at like Nietzsche's last man it's like we worked in escape velocity whatever version of humanity there's going to be others others on this planet others on other planets and other dimensions there will be others to get it right but we ***** the dog we topped out at like Nietzsche's last man didn't get beyond that and then spiritually and destroyed oh well there you go maybe that day then we gave it our shot right we tried we tried but either way

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

I don't think the so it's possible that this is the last he is the last president yet the 0:35:20 last recognize president don't probably be presidents but they won't be it'll be like Pope's and anti-popes and it won't be in till way later than any of them get officially designated as having been official there will be no universally recognized president after Trump it's a real possibility because I can see them canceling the election in November I can see the military stepping in if that happens I could see I could see a disputed ballot I could see Trump dying I could see a lot of side could see Biden time the one thing I just want is give me a debate I want to watch it debate I want to see the debate I'm not going to get too cocky and say give me the sons debate because I'm not none of us could ever deserve that in this life that's too perfect that's too much of a gift I mean my god oh but just give me a regular debate couple of them just the old-timer is dying around on stage both of them absolutely like suited to the gills like Trump obviously of like a first base lines worth of adderall before going up 0:36:24 there like he does during all debates and I don't know what we do cocktail they've gotta fight back some sort of like medieval poultice that they shove up his ass or like something like some sort of like candy flip like psychedelic thing that activated is like MKULTRA fruit conditioning so you could like you turned into or like a perfect wind-up doll I don't know either way let me see it let me see it yeah doesn't it look like I literally are being enlightened like don't you guys just feel the enlightenment vibrating and wafting off yeah they come out with both of them with the adrenalin needle from pulp fiction just sticking out of their chests they don't even notice it the whole debate but sadly there probably won't be a debate because this is a dark 0:37:25 timeline in not necessarily the darkest but one of the darker ones one of the darker toast settings that's for sure oh boy definitely like on the bottom half of the Pluto setting dial you know you know I generally like it a little lighter than that personally this is a little too Carboni I'm not a fan like just click click click give you just a few more a hair hair little like golden brown oh boy all right here's a good one following up a previous question if the u.s. ever gets balkanized what Yuri did what do you want to live in and why okay well there are strategic and political considerations to go into here California looks very promising to a lot of people because it looks like they have effective governance that it looks like they have a guy whose thing 0:38:27 even if you think he's a creep or Patrick Bateman wannabe he's competent they have like same political party in charge they have systems that generally work they have like they have very similar governments in power in the areas near by them so they don't have to worry about hostility for them in fact they could join into a Cascadia type deal with with Washington or Oregon but then you think things like well where's the water where you get the water from they're very vulnerable on that score especially Southern California and then you've got the fact that the people who

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

are gonna want that water are gonna be the heavily armed psychos of Arizona they're gonna need that water too and they're going to be in probably a stronger defense posture than the California militia if by Kurt Schlichter reading is correct anyway that could be bad the Midwest it's gonna fall kanai's instantly because as I said it's the Balkans of America oh I could see somewhere around the Great Lakes because 0:39:28 there you got water and there are things that are not totally crazy I kind of hate to say like where I grew up the problem is is that Wisconsin would immediately develop into a race war there would be a genocide a race war unless Wisconsin that would be genuinely horrifying and I would not want to have I would not want to involve myself in I would not want to go there to kill peak black people which is what would happen in Wisconsin so that's not good I think maybe once again maybe Minnesota V Minnesota ***** because they got the mid-late they got to Mississippi even if they don't have the leg and they do have a lake up top so alright Minnesota again damn it's Minnesota might just be the best country in that state and goddamn it yeah maybe they feel it's the the Imperium or if we could get Felix is like one of the tetrarch's in this new crisis of the third century I'd be happy to I would be happy to tell them the the tow the fields in his domain absolutely he would have my axe I 0:40:32 I would he would have my sword I would be his vassal hopefully I could get like a nice fiefdom out of it little fiefdom ass like maybe in the North Woods of Wisconsin which is really cool this little fiefdom when I get out somebody like you know the local peasants they bring me you know a Game Boy they bring me maybe you know just like some pizzas a certain number of like big wheels of cheese smoked hams that kind of ***** old timey you know it's just like a little feudal lord guy so he do that please Felix that's I may be asked if I have to go to war we have to go to war with Wisconsin or fend off Canadians then yes we will have to join your militia of course and provide a motion of the form certainly I would never pick in the north east in any way good lord nightmare region awful just the instant die-off would be terrifying 0:41:33 oh I don't think I'm like thinking about it we love our folks we love to work at the Olive Garden and they'd give the money to the boss loved it they loved it they loved working at the Olive Garden I own will I be doing these rants live at the FEMA can I certainly hope so presumably if these guys are smart if these guys are smart they're gonna give you like a room for fake dissent so that you could be mollified which is always a like that's what the Chinese need to learn from us and they will when this cooperation happens it's gonna thin both ways like we're gonna get more 0:42:35 authoritarian but the Chinese are gonna loosen up because they're gonna see first hand as they cooperate with us oh my god this First Amendment ***** like letting them talk bet on the internet and like complain about you and make up conspiracies and ***** it poses no threat it's a it's a total it's a steam vent for all their anger and

CUSHVLOG 4. MID FORCE - OMEGA SQUADRON

I'll gets pissed away into nothing and then they start building little totally arbitrary factions and start fighting each other then they don't even notice you're there it's the best and that's whether there have been gonna be the final resolution of that dialectic it's gonna be like soon Oh American corporatism so that's my prediction so no American corporatism brought to you by Amazon and Alibaba all right guys I thought that was pretty good I think I'm gonna get what Chris to put this one up because this was fun I feel like if you got just an interesting metaphysical questions 0:43:37 and stuff we don't always get the opportunities I feeling a few invited okay with vital I don't want to right now why don't write something but thank you guys for hanging out with me I might hang out for a little bit more the food's already having fried chicken alright guys sleep well get ready to work labor I'm for the glory of the American Republic and the Chinese Communist Party for which it stands buh-bye

CushVlog 5

---

Game Theory - Reckoning

4.19.20

gonna start today with a reading right off the bat see if anybody how long it takes somebody to guess figure out what I'm reading here oh I might cat Matt carp I do it I'll pop on please be my guest give me back my broken knight my mirrored room 0:1:10 my secret life it's lonely here there's no one left to torture give me absolute control over every living soul and lie beside me baby that's an order give me crackin anal sex take the only tree that's left and step it up the hole of your culture give me back the Berlin wall can be Stalin in st. Paul I've seen the future brother it is murder things are going to slide slide in all directions won't be nothing nothing you could measure anymore the blizzard the blizzard of the world has crossed the threshold and it has overturned the order of the soul when they say repent repent I wonder what they meant when they said repent repent wonder what they meant you don't know me from the wind you never will you never did I'm the little Jew who wrote the Bible I've seen the nation's rise and fall I've heard the stories heard them all but love is the only engine of survival your servant hear he has been told to say it clearer say it 0:2:12 cold it's over it ain't going any further and now the wheels of heavens stop you feel the have devils riding-crop get ready for the there'll be the breaking of the ancient Western code your private life will suddenly explode they'll be phantoms they'll be fighters on the road and the white man dancing you'll see a woman hanging upside down her features covered by her falling down and all the lousy little poets coming around trying to sound like Charlie Manson and the white man dancing give me back the Berlin Wall give me Stalin and st. Paul give me Christ forgive me Hiroshima destroy another fetus now we don't like children anyhow I've seen the future baby it is murder things are going to slide slide in all directions won't be nothing nothing you can measure anymore the blizzard the blizzard of the world has crossed the threshold and it has overturned the order of the soul when they said repent repent I wonder what ah I'm not drunk you're drunk are you guys doing let's see if the questions are 0:3:16 uh man I haven't seen the new Biden ad someone asked if I've seen the new Biden ad and holy mackerel holy ***** it's pretty funny I mean yes racist and that is bad but uh man the thing it really indicates is that they're going to campaign by taking all of

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

trumps principles and saying we're gonna take all of trumps like basic campaigning talking points and frames and say no because they can't offer an alternative they can't offer an alternative right now we're seeing this ***** recovery this this this crisis economy being a giveaway exactly like it was the 2008 giveaway to the richest people in the country we've got a ***** small business we got a small business a slush fund basically that's being raided by any corporate big corporation with a ***** with a halfway competent attorney or a County Department people are gonna be completely left out that's so well no no unemployment no no rent uh no rent Jubilee no debt no debt Jubilee you still owe everything you'll see what you can get maybe some Cobra limb Cobra and the thing about the Cobra is you don't get it any cheaper they just get paid more and what is the alternative the alternative is Trump said that he would did a good job with the Chinese but actually no he did a bad job with the Chinese oh ***** really okay so one way or another we are all in agreement that this is about child much of it is China's fault and who's gonna be a do a better job of confronting them over it that's it that's that's the solution not anything not anything that could allow people to ***** survive this or have any hope of coming out of it anything other than absolute penury you ***** bleaches and scumbags ***** pot-bellied subs got ten million dollars it's a complete ***** giveaway at every level its corporate looting like we haven't seen since so late and there's no alternative to it at least Obama pretended when he was running that he was against that ***** and then he was gonna do something different of course surprise surprise he did he was lying the whole time but you could be excused I hope he can't cuz I survived on it that he was envisioning something different Biden is explicitly saying no we are on the same page with this minimal ***** outlay of means-tested short-term benefits meanwhile and that is basically what falls off of the wheelbarrow that we're just delivering to the ***** rapacious Moz of all the ***** corporate raiders who always end up benefiting from all of this and guess what when all those small businesses that are supposed to be helped by that loan when they are never able to get back in business all those ***** restaurants then we all love those little guys those are all getting bought out at least the ones that are economically viable I gotta get bought out by chains by Amazon is gonna get into the restaurant business I can't ***** you to you and like the big the big the big chefs and the big like agribusiness come now I won't be surprised with Monsanto besides get vertically integrated and open their own chain of ***** restaurants where like you pick like the hybrid chicken cauliflower you pull it screaming off of the off of its like mutant hybrid freak umbilical cord / root and just like cook it right in front of you itself cooking actually it has a little button on it you press it and it plumps while it stares at you so like that's gonna be the end of it like this is this whole thing is gonna

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

be benefit to the ruling class if they can maintain stability if they can make it to the money so mean something that at the end of it they're gonna be in a position to just buy out the economy basically out of ***** fire sale prices and that's like that's what that's why they need to get home now because you saw what happened with the ***** thing collapse you see remember when the stock market went down remember biggest drop in human history well the reason that stopped and now that it's going back up it's cuz statement signals in the short term they are going to be made whole in the short term they're not gonna they're debts aren't going to be called in their profit streams are not going to dry up they still get to maintain viability as corporations and that means that they could still make and that means at the end of this if they're able to like keep suckers going out there and risking their lives for minimum wage to keep this thing going long because the the money that they're getting is supposed to have some worth because there's a because there's a government with actual like ability to function that like stands behind the debt that is implied by the note then they're gonna come out of this winners because like there was a crisis in capitalism has been since live Indies and certainly one that has anticipated our only intensified since Oh 8 and this is kind of a way out of it in a lot of ways this could be a way out of it because the only way out of the situation like that is to reduce competition which is what they've been doing but maybe not fast enough to keep them self make them so keep themselves viable now they get a chance where they could just buy out you know you know in a with the blink of the eye and nobody and they're gonna be made whole and then and everyone is they're gonna be in the reserve army of the unemployed and there's gonna be a ubi as some sort of part of this by the way that's inevitable if this system maintains itself ubi it's going to happen but it's going to most likely happen on their terms and this is going to be the thing that normalizes the ubi and it normalizes the corporate overthrow of like even the middle bushwa that's what and I say that I think about it I don't think I'm wrong I don't think I'm lost because to stop it there would be some sort there has to be some countervailing force at the table somebody to force their will and for these guys to be scared of and there just isn't Bernie has been defeated his his his his movement is in turmoil and it never wasn't it wasn't even big enough when it was at its zenith before it started going down like the whole point of the Bernie thing in my mind like long term like photos because I'm putting on my plate long term sort of Spangler ask decline of the West Doomer hat and I kind of always believed even though I was like you know strategic or like tactically I might be up on something but at the long-term I was always thinking none of this is gonna actually work in any meaningful sense all its going to do is push a process forward when so that or the inevitable crisis of capitalism comes like the the apocalypse of capitalism comes that

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

the left is in the strongest possible position to vie for power in that situation that was always my hope and dream like that's what I thought Bernie was for at the end of the day like short-term you can talk yes building building socialism or building an idea of socialism in people's minds giving them an idea that company can help them providing them with things that make them feel empowered in their own workplaces so that they can organize as workers and gain class consciousness that is the road 0:11:31 but man like I didn't think it was gonna result in anything real I didn't think we were gonna get Medicare for all I don't think Bernie was gonna succeed I thought the ball was gonna keep moving so when the crisis came the left was in a position to win and now I feel like this really does feel like it could be the crisis and if it is I despair basically for where we are it doesn't feel like it's enough but I don't know I so that's me so that's me guys that's where I am right now how are you guys doing I mean it says not the crisis yet but we don't know what this is the beginning of we certainly know what we don't know if the long-term effects of the second thing aren't colliding especially colliding with climate change and like the co and the independent fact that there's a ***** fossil fuel economy crisis that no one is saw coming we're 0:12:33 like the fossil fuel economy the entire carbon economy the petro dollar is collapsing how about that you put on this to shift together yes the capitalism is very durable and it certainly has institutions that are built now to do its bidding in this situation but I gotta say this is a real challenge it's a real challenge I think we could at least accept that at least I all right I'm looking for another good question have the pod jobs ever gotten no may have ***** that pod towns have never acknowledged any of us other doesn't say we suck and to tell us to I don't know if you should quit your 0:13:38 hospital job I don't know what it is I don't know how supported you feel I what states are the caucuses Oh Appalachia that's easy no no yeah that's that's that's a no-brainer Midwest of the Balkans and the caucuses Dagestan Chechnya and all that ***** yeah that's Appalachia for sure West Virginia and Kentucky I'll bow the way through it it was Missouri yep yeah we're the Americans the work where they each Lawrence's American spirit lives the hard desolate killer the scotch-irish border Reaver yeah those guys are the most like Chechens honorbound a warlike religiously 0:14:41 ecstatic come on it's it's very good it's it's it's it's cance I don't know about the other ones like I don't know what uh like I don't know what I know I think Ohio Pennsylvania I think uh huh that's kind of I feel like all right New England is England right right New England is just England or like the UK and Ireland the British Isles right the British Isles is New England right that seems correct and then does that make the mid-atlantic and like the East Coast like continental Europe like France or for Italy maybe just because now the devil's about to be a permanent minority party 0:15:44 ah it's interesting uh I don't know I think that there's this argument being made

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

that they're like trying to become the new natural ruling party of capital they're like trying to usurp the role for the Republicans that's why there's this rightward shift is because they're making a play to be the real cook thing of capital and to like reify like social liberalism as as like the backbone of the legitimacy of the lip of life the neoliberal state you know like like locusts becomes like the Divine Right of Kings what whis becomes the reason for the legitimacy of the sovereign like the it's not it doesn't derive from God it derives from the fact that they they observe certain forms about about like cultural diversity and but the problem is is that they have this crisis and Democrats are bad in crisis when when they are forced to promise 0:16:45 things they know they're not meeting a hard-boiled egg it's really a yes hi recruiting that is really that's what Biden would feel like to me you I've eating an egg at least trying times I only brought one egg out because I thought I'm gonna have dinner soon but damn it I want another egg they're really good you know what somebody 0:17:47 asks an interesting question I said should you be rooting for Trump over Biden now a lot of people have accused us of like being closeted aunt writers or like trumpets or something trump has become so polarizing a figure on my racial and gender lines that saying that you should vote for Trump or saying like objectively that like a Trump win would be better than a Biden won it is better to adopt a Buddhist posture it is better to point out one doesn't matter who you vote for at a personal level it's Lib ***** to think that that is meaningful like the indication of your worth as a person you're symbolic like people think that they think that the vote is them and that's silly it's just an act just a booze wah honestly if we look at it culturally it's a Jewish one ritual aspect ation that's what voting is so who gives a ***** if you do it or 0:18:50 not or what you do when you do it let the election pass through you like gamma radiation now that burning isn't there we are the record producer in Boogie Nights this is a wipey not an MP so that's my attitude just to not get battle back because I see people like they're already getting riled up about oh I'm gonna have to fight these Biden people for the next six months it's like you've been fighting these Hillary people over the same point for the last four years do you see an end to this do you see this ever meaning anything do you see this ever resolving do you see this anything other than just permanent self-inflicted hysteria like a self-inflicted neuroses let it go let it go let's go it's my advice people got what about the Biden what about dust 0:19:51 in the wind we are shadows and dust maximus shadows and dust sands through the hourglass those are the votes of our lives who gives a ***** blue schwa affectation like neckties at work that's what voting is it's a thing you watch your social betters do little curtsies court courtesies that look like legitimize them each other in their ritual performance of power well most people observe non-plus from the sidelines that's what voting is oh yes we need to cotillion with it with the Margrave of Liechtenstein 0:20:53

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

that's it it's a debutante ball it can be useful because of its cultural power as an organizing tool this is what we try to do with Bernie but that part whatever future use elections have and they do have some I'm not saying ***** electoral ISM I think that you need elections you need to work with those systems every Lenin did that everyone understands the necessity of that it's all neurotic ***** to say no to that but I'm just saying that the your interest in this election is over so you're not going to be doing anything for it right you're not gonna be donating time or money for this ***** guy that's a given you're not gonna keep giving him any of your time or attention meaningfully so what are you gonna do spend this time arguing with Biden supporters who are not operating in good faith or do you just start grilling do you get grill pilled do you just embrace the Jimmy Buffett lifestyle do you just waste away in Margaritaville search it for that lost shaker of salt let's do it that's 0:21:55 what I'm planning to do guys so let's get grilling let's get it grilling hashtag let's let's get grilling no maybe not I don't know something grilling related let's think of a grilling related hashtag grill pill I don't know whatever so that's the that's the argument that's to tell people about ***** voting in this election because I can see people already just like even though this is a crucial moment in history and we really have to figure out what to do next pronto people are wasting time arguing with Biden voters about this point we need to focus this is like our response now could determine the fate of humanity I mean I'm not being hyperbolic there if we could seize this chance I mean I'm not saying it's likely but if it's possible it requires focus right now and talking to bite and supporters about this ***** head on a pin ***** 0:22:56 about who's actually you know that's actually privileged of you to say that you can vote well no it's actually privileged of you to say that because most people who are not privileged over the Western know Grill on that ***** get to the real thing we have to figure out we have to figure out how to respond to this I mean a lot of people say things like mutual aid or ***** taking the Bernie campaign and turning it into a thing for local races any of it it has to happen very quickly the structures have to be in place so if the pressure gets put on them they can take the weight they don't just disperse and then the great big power is just roll everything up into one great god so my god let's get to that business right now so I'm not hearing any more ***** about the Biden campaign don't care in fact I'm gonna try to like stop myself from even tweeting about it I do love making fun of all that ***** but from now on I'm not gonna talk about the race I will make fun of something Biden or Trump says but 0:23:57 not in the context of which ones you should vote for or anything all right maybe I won't even do that maybe I else totally boycott it I think maybe just like as though as a as a piece of self-discipline I should enforce on myself no you're not gonna say anything about either of them no matter how funny they are and trumpet Biden or -

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

the funniest people on earth and guess what I can't say I won't watch the debates of course I will and I might have to stream them because I'm gonna be on a lot of drugs but that because it is such a perfect culmination of everything I've ever believed in I have to give myself that but other than that I'm ignoring this campaign talking about everything else oh we got a lot to talk about there's a lot stock I can't wait to talk about it but this specific campaign we're not talking about at least I am we might talk about on the show you know because it is the news of the week thing but I'm going to remind everyone during that that you don't have but something in the video the other do psyops is a future competition with China is if oh I talked yesterday about China and I'm kind of skeptical that there's gonna be any kind of apocalyptic conflict just because our economies are so interdependent and the elites are so intertwined and their interests are so interlocked it's like there's really nothing other than just sort of pathetic like nation-state shadowboxing to require this system to have this much grit in it would they make the stuff we purchase it it's symbiotic it works both ways it's like think they get to build a domestic economy through export we get to cheap goods at the expense of our agro streak or of course in the long run it's destabilizing because it's that it's you know second law of thermodynamics the system eventually starts eating itself and then it ***** destabilizes but the interest at the top are the same so I really think that this is all going to end up being some sort of sin Oh American hegemony I think that's the most it's just unless unless the caste Theory really asks bhagavata ban and it could have I mean Trump being president is not something most people would have predicted even using like the most you know loose definitions of probability back before it would have been happening and this guy does have the power I mean he is a actual actor in history which is insane to think that Donald Trump is one of those guys like Napoleon you know who literally has history in his hands he is history but in the art behind a Tonka truck wheel it's breathtaking to think that and it's just an indictment of the system that it's come to this I mean this is the ultimate repudiation of every system that we live under capitalism liberalism anything oh the ***** enlightenment for God's sakes the Industrial Revolution technology at all like it could turn you to and completely die for God's sakes but it's the reality we're in that's crazy and it's horrifying to think of but we got to think of something to do in this con boy whoo feeling it guys how you guys do it how you living I say something else but ooh Dark Tower Buddhism okay all right strap in guys so the long and short of it is is that I a while ago had a few rough Christian religious style revelations that pointed me in the direction of Buddhism is the closest repository on earth of like eternal truth or wisdom of any kind and as but the problem is is I I have a very hard time acting on those beliefs through things like meditation and you know rigorous abstemious this or anything

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

really and part of that is that the it's like the cultural vocabulary of Buddhism is very very alien to me doesn't really resonate you know I mean and all the ideas like you know people you know like a Shinto like a trot a shrine was like the ball like sitting there like that stupid music with the flute you know I don't like that music and I know that they obviously it's not monolithic culture I'm just talking about what my precondition brain stamp relates to it you know what I mean like I have I only know Buddhism to the degree that I know anything which is through cultural context and then means I get like an association of images mostly from television like a literal stereotype so that's what I'm operating off of because I don't have a deeper cultural awareness of it because of where I grew up so that's like a barrier but then I've realized that the dark tower world of Stephen King books I have read at a young age so we're like integrated into my Mitel landscape a very early year period absolutely contain a lot of the same elements ideas of you know eternal recurrence that the idea of like evolution towards a higher plane of enlightenment through and turtle the turtle seems like the paternal who's back the earth is on oh he's like Buddhist like I don't like that guy but I like the turtle so I guess they give the I did watch the SNL zoom a party it was really terrible really really bad made me my tummy hurt a little bit it really sucked sucked a lot it really reminds you how much they're pushing that audience to get the jokes if they didn't have a live audience that show would never have made it past a year because thing is the thing obviously the real secret of SNL is that it was never good there is never a time when SNL wasn't any objective or meaningful so that's good there are just times that are remembered more fondly by people because of the placement in their lives you usually see because it's an eternal thing you see SNL when you're a little kid and that version of the show it's so formative to your like sense of humor and and like cultural context that you give it this outsized place at your heart and then you remember the best parts and forget the worst and that's true of every era of SNL no matter how much we love it now Will Ferrell era which I love of course and a lot of people of in this chat I get the best love has a lot of ***** speakers now I do think as someone who's watched it my whole adult life that there isn't been a notable drop off in the last couple years I will say it's a little worse than it's ever been but the thing is it was never as good as the people who compared the bad new ones to was but you know there's no there's gonna be a couple of decent sketches in every season and but no but like it needs to feel social and needs to have everyone laughing he needs to like keep pumping everything up that way and just having them just on those zooms every one of these zoom based shows they had that fundraiser yesterday which god bless them they raised a bunch of money but watching these people in there these musicians get into their cast and dance in front of featureless walls it's

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

just a bunch of people it's a bunch of people out shat ChatterBait like live streaming their mental breakdowns it was very it's like oh this is not reassuring at all this is terrifying it just reminds you how wildly isolated we are and that's the thing that's most disheartening to me about the future is that this is a moment where solidarity is more important than it's ever been and social solidarity has been rendered basically impossible unless you've got an ar-15 and own an Arby's franchise and really want to get that money going because you got boat payments you basically are not in a public context what you were either working dodging coronavirus not to keep your family alive or your home neither of those allow for any kind of solidarity any kind of like public demonstrations of anything workplaces lose our an all-time low for leverage in most businesses because of how many people are unemployed now Amazon's hiring a hundred thousand people because a lot of the people they have are sick and/or are staying home because they don't want to get sick and so there's posture being played spots are being taken by people who are more desperate who are more willing to work in those conditions because they're in a more desperate monetary position than the people who just recently had those jobs that no longer can afford in their own minds to go to work that's terrifying that's terrifying to contemplate so that's the big question and I don't that's why I think that's so hard to formulate answers to the what is to be done question because so much of it depends on obsolete it's looking like social forms you know like the public person like the Pope the public human was like our only entrepot into solidarity and empathy and all the things that build a social order now we're retreating to just a situation where we've completely abolished the social there's no social component at all and now how are we supposed to fight in this terrain that's entirely created as a superstructure of capitalism like we're fully super structural now we've completely like a huge chunk Sasa flocking detection to the actual mode of production it's wild ***** people and I don't know what to say it's my party and so anyway I hope everybody be thinking of questions and I hope everybody tries to think of answers to these questions but don't spare any brainpower you don't need to ah the ***** presidential election that's my only request to you for both of our sakes for all of our sakes just pay it no mind gone fishing you know the the the military coup might take us a little bit left hilariously military coup partially because of the fact that the military is actually the most diverse institution in America at its base like the people would make it up but also just out of the fact that like there will be an a political need to like distribute social goods it's such a way to maintain order that will supersede a lot of the the gunk in the system that's built up by the the reality of like a political culture like having Democrats and Republicans and creating ideologies around them and then people investing them to one degree or another with validity and then you know reifying

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

them through law that creates a gunk that like breaks between it makes it hard to like fully exploit so that means that they would like have they would in an a political way just like distribute stuff so yeah it might actually be sort of a populist military coup 0:36:43
I mean I'm not I don't not nearly as ideological or as left-wing is like the carnation revolution certainly not but honestly maybe a it might be I hate cruel it could be the thing that saves us ultimately depending on how things were to fall out it could be this thing that saved people from fascism by by by cutting off mass politics before because become fully realized and fully captured by nativism you know but that's only like in worst case scenario of course I think I don't think we have to go to that I think we could we can create social durable social orders that can take some responsibility and get some power and leverage in this coming negotiations about like the reorder that's to come so yeah American bath ISM I mean oh boy yeah yeah 0:37:45 tragic Jameson's been on this for a long time it's it's certainly that the argument is not wrong like there is a there's like the VA is the only actual socialized medical care in the American system it is it is not single-payer it is owned by the state VA doctors worked for the US government that's like the ***** NHS that's the domestic NHS that was my favorite thing for my in our interview with Josie stack as we asked him about what do you think about universal health care and he said well I think we should experiment and I feel like we should try some Medicare for all is a good idea but also and I was assuming he was setting me up to say the thing that like all those people said which is it well we'll give a well basically a way to say a public option you know wills will do competition between the private and the public sectors needs 0:38:46 public option even if you call it Medicare for all but instead he said we should have Medicare for all and then have a in competition with the VA and expand the VA and I was like that's just direct provision you're talking about so I was like damn Joe go off I mean like I said if if Josie stack could be our horthy I think there are worse outcomes of this crisis I'll tell you that but anyway like in there's a social culture if there's an actual Spri decor there's chain of command and their social provision for everything food to medical care to housing I don't know probably not going to happen I don't think we've got me see stats in here anymore I think they're all bunch of time serving ***** I think there are a bunch of just lizard people I mean honestly 0:39:48 kind of the fact that they have a food Trump yet kind of sells me that they don't have any heart that they don't have the balls to do it or they're like they've been conditioned there I mean there's this new book by this guy there's this new book by a guy who's like a 40 year tenured professor at West Point who is doing a book that just exposes the institution says the entire time I've been there all this institution has done penetrated is is created a bunch of mediocre yes-men ***** zombies who just stumble into one failing campaign after another losing to one collection of like

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

shoeless insurgents after another because they all I do is replicate like the worst herd instinct idiocy of the US military culture and I think yeah that's that's now who's in charge they don't even have the ***** balls or even an imagination to conceive of themselves like like I bet they even think that things like well we couldn't coup the president that would be against the Constitution but they actually think that 0:40:50 you know they believe like they actually in their hearts would think that and that would stop them from doing it that's the kind of imagine it like imagination lists just doltze guys who could not think outside of any box don't even know that there is a box just pissing in the corners of the boxes and not even staying to one pissing in all the quarters and not even like making a piss on this so it's less bad in the I don't know the name of the book I'm sorry I guess I can look it up I haven't read it I just read an interview with the author but it certainly makes sense I mean those guys have not won a war in 30 years seriously these ***** are like oh and fifty right 0:41:52 now in like in since the 20th century ended what was the last war they want well that's where they want what bombing Kosovo where they buy it the way it didn't even prevent any of the atrocities the worst atrocities all were committed after the bombing started so they didn't even stop it but so they created costume oh that was the last big W for the US military fought to an absolute draw by the Taliban for 20 years if we do get out of this thing and I hope we do it'll be with the Taliban going to take over as surely as the North was gonna take over South Vietnam as soon as we left that means that's a loss that's an L Taliban was the government we replaced so that's an al that's not even you like some people could say like oh you know we technically know this is a al Iraq I mean what was the point of that I mean if you take the actual mission it was like one of those it's a brainteaser it's like did we win the war in Iraq or lose it it's like well the reason we were supposed 0:42:55 to go there doesn't exist so like the thing we were there for it isn't a real thing and now that we know that there was no justification which means there's no way to say whether it was a victory or defeat it literally nullifies it because you're not judging it by a criterion anymore cuz it's like well we stopped the weapons but there weren't no weapons it defeats the question that's how bad it was that's how bad and disastrous a war it was and now the country is much more influenced by Iran than us which wouldn't be a problem if we were smarter and decided to just flip sides in the Middle East and join up with Iran against Saudi Arabia in Israel has anyone thought of that by the way can we just do that couldn't we just do a plate a face 0:44:2 turn like in the WWF mmm a bunch of losers losers they have no imagination like the smartest one of them the guy who was like the genius of the whole generation let's ***** David Petraeus who's big genius idea was hey let's just give those guys money so they stopped shooting at us and it only worked as long as they had the money directly in front of them and as soon as we left they just became al-qaeda or big they became Isis oops ***** oh no who would have thunk it so he literally just like did a temporary cheat to get out of like a bad press it was really just to get out of a bad press era it was basically to provide the surge existed to get what Nixon and Kissinger are always looking for when they were doing the Paris peace negotiations which was a reasonable interval because they had accepted as a fan accompli that the South would fall they just wanted it to not fall like the day after we left they wanted there to be what it was called reasonable interval and that's all the the surge providers so that was his big genius innovation was to do that and then so that that 0:45:6 was it and then he went home and he gave all of this classified information to the journalists that he was having sex with and it would only found out because his real housewife from Tampa threw a ***** a glass of chardonnay and someone's face because they were spending too much time with the general I mean come on that is their guy that's their suleimani that's their that's their Wallenstein give me a ***** break that's their Francisco Sforza hmm bitter Lake is an Adam Curtis documentary about the Saudi Western alliance which was forged after World War one very bad idea for everyone involved oh all right I'm looking up that book look at that look 0:46:8 West Point it should be called like dis so what Wes disappointed that I never lied okay it's called the cost of loyalty dishonesty hubris and failure in the US military by Tim bakit apparently this guy kind of has a house this is kind of a crank because he had their like fight you had to go to court to get tenure because they like denied it to him or something and he was able to claim that it was unfounded and they 0:47:10 had to give him a job back so he's got a axe to grind but everything you said make sense to me I mean look at the record we suck I will go on place and listen stream if they wanted me to I don't know I don't know I don't know if I don't think their I don't think you I don't invite myself so I don't know if they are if that's if you're if you're not speaking for them I working nine to five what a way to make oh boy 0:48:14 I'm in the stable of the horses yes I'm a horseman your father's people make fun of him I think he's a nerd but like I honestly feel like he's onto something via visa via lightly cuz obviously a lot of leftists are very down on European institutions well they should they're awful international institutions they are dog ***** they're awful they perpetuate capitalist re they're they're they're bad but the thing is is that like I really feel that the crises were certainly sake were certainly worth seeing and that was talking about this long before ***** coronavirus mainly I believe climate change I'm an issue of climate change alone and now we have ***** coronavirus where it's 0:49:16 only even more underscored that international cooperation is going to be listen so important because none of these things can be dealt with on a nation state level the ***** virus can go around borders leaves and you cannot have an international

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

policy on climate with the rest of the world not signed on because it's gonna happen it's gonna get going elsewhere so that has to be cooperation what it looks like is the question and I think that but so like I think you know anti-eu leftists you know I brag sukira leftist I sympathize with those ideas but I think a lot of them are focused on the idea like we got to undermine these institutions but I don't think enough question has been enough enough has been put into the question of what do you replace them with cuz I feel like if you just fall back on the nation-state it's just gonna be make it harder it's gonna make it harder to turn to do any kind of the organizing we're gonna need and I will say the devera focuses theory of like get in these institutions take them over I mean obviously ironic it would be funny for me to say I don't think 0:50:17 that's a good idea when they say oh isn't that what you were doing with Bernie it's like well fair enough I think maybe like the other question is just like the degree to which it's a viable option I mean his election results indicate it might not be very viable but I would give him credit just because he's asking the question he's like what are we gonna do about these international if we just break them up and replace them with nothing I don't think that's good what if I'm fine if somebody is got an idea for alternatives but I need to know what those would be we need to start talking about them it's trying to move towards making them possible or what are we gonna do with these ones that exist so I'm I I don't know enough about the EU to say definitively whether I think it's a good idea or whether it's a waste of energy but I can just say that I appreciate that anyone is looking to answer that question of how to do left internationalism because I agree that what has been have failed but it has to be replaced with something I think people more people need to be talking about what that is so that's god I'm gonna cave that this I might do it on stream one of 0:51:21 these nights if I go late you catch me on the right time I might do this alright on the street and it'll be the most terrifying and traumatic experience any of you will ever have it will make the art but Dwyer footage like an episode to Captain Kangaroo man I loved RC Cola it's got real sugar delicious Upton Sinclair's 34 book title well he had the first one the one he wrote to run for governor was aye-aye governor and how I ended poverty and then he wrote one called how I got licked which I loved 0:52:22 the title of yeah expect that episode sometime in the next two weeks I think I'm already about halfway through this book I read it for it and disagree it's not only is it really just a fascinating story there are so many historical residences I'm not even gonna lecture I'm going to try to be as subtle as possible with these I'm going to try to make them clear without underlining them too much but I really feel like they're gonna pop the historical residences the rhyming of history the tragedy and farce of the whole damn thing so that it should be fun I think I'm going to call it epic fail if you know anything about us and Claire I do like the mountain goats John

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

Darnielle however hella Tunes me all I know my Frank Lloyd Wright is that as a 0:53:23 Balkan Midwesterners have to have be in competition with the other states in the area and so Frank Lloyd Wright is with Scott tonight first and foremost which means what realistic guys from Wisconsin guys and women from Wisconsin who are cool and it had like good ***** I can be like right number one in architecture what do you got Minnesota where's your mark Frank Lloyd Wright you don't get I hope I hope Senegal so this did she did she win do they have the election yet I don't think they had I'm rooting for her certainly I don't know if it happened or not I'm certainly rooting for even though she was a little too Warren Warren's curious for my liking 0:54:25 you know hey who didn't say I wasn't magnanimous look out damn magnanimous I am give me a lawyer man I want bill no McConnell will never lose in Kentucky now is there forever brings home the bacon he brings on the bacon and the snow I have read DeLillo hop dare you read the Lilla I'll read eared a little help ***** told me to read the Lillo uh-oh if you mean on the stream yes never mind that's a good idea I actually might oh I'm sorry I'm sorry for that now that I think about it yes 0:55:29 little ole would be good something about the Airborne Toxic the movie for my tenor Twitter banner is blue nights it's the scene where Derek and Derek and Brock go to get the tapes that they've been recording the fire tapes of the fire sessions of the sizing according and the record producer will give them because they haven't paid their studio time now they're saying you've got to give us the tapes we're gonna sell them they're gonna see huge and you know they're great Reed Reed Rothschild yes and the guy goes that so that that's not an MP that's a YP your problem and they 0:56:30 go these MPs white bees I don't know these industry terms please that's it so that is my embodiment my best self during the soul campaign we'll be saying that and thinking it whenever anyone is trying to get my dander up about the Biden versus drop contest that is why my favorite little thing to be replying to anybody whining about this ***** to me any Democrat whining and caterwauling to me about my choice to vote or not vote for their candidate it will be met with the still image of the record producer played by Robert Downey senior director of Putney Swope and father of Robert Downey jr. just cross the arms just that's a YP not an MP that's it it's a YP baby organised elections boycotts are not see that's an interesting question 0:57:37 I have heard several people say that it would be better if there is going to be a mass abstention from Biden it makes sense for it to be self conscious and try to expand itself so that there could be a noted and pointable cost to doing what the Democrats did to Bernie and I think there's something to this this I actually think I'll ***** I'm almost out of time dammit actually you know what tomorrow I'll start by talking about that so tune in and I will I'll be you know what I'll spend the time cuz I haven't been thinking about it I don't want to go off the top of the head now that I think about it cuz I think this is a real big question really is the degree to which you can create a quantifiable cost for doing what the Democrats did because let's not forget what they did was they killed people and they threatened to kill more people and they intervened in every level of the process from the tallying to having voting open certain areas of closing and opening election polling sites of course the collusion with the media which if we got some WikiLeaks again the holy ***** it would just blow the doors off everything I care about you all these things came together and they need to be some sort of like consequence for that and if we could say this is the number that could have been yours instead of speculating that that might mean something of course you have to know that you're gonna make a make it big enough bike to show strength and not do the opposite you don't to remind them that you're you can be ignored that would suck so I don't know I'll think about it anyway nice talking guys over I think I'll put this one on YouTube 0:58:38

CUSHVLOG 5. GAME THEORY - RECKONING

CushVlog 6

---

PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

4.20.20

born too AM radio man I really could do this ***** all day never had the chance partially because obviously my kind of politics would not be allowed on the radio because I'm too ***** real but I certainly do enjoy just talking my ass off extemporaneously for a long time it's a lot of fun soothing how are you guys doing how's the guys doing out there just last time somebody asked me at the end about everyone like boycotting the election and I thought about it and as much as I liked it I don't see any way to make that work like make it a thing without it just becoming a meme and boy not really high on memes right now but I certainly don't pooh-pooh anybody who wants to do anything right now because Who am I to say it's not the right move because goddammit nothing feels right right about now everything feels very questionable so how're you guys doing out there in in the lands with the peoples how are you guys up how are you what are you guys up to jump I'm not talking about Joe Biden tonight guys remember that's a YP and it doesn't have to be your problem leave it to Neera nearest problem is getting that ***** elected you don't have to do anything about it one way or the other we just have to survive and that's gonna become a more and more pointed question as ***** gets worse and worse I mean we saw the collapse of the petro dollar today didn't expect to see that just month oil literally worthless you would have to pay someone to take oil off of your hands white gold Texas tea is now no better than ***** over produce beanie babies so you gotta like pay the store can you think of Ken but can you believe that I don't know what nick has been saying about kovat but I'm assuming he's saying it's not real which I think the thing people really need the process is you don't know and more importantly what difference does it make you feel you was true like what if you found out tomorrow that what if what if you found out confirmation tomorrow yeah it's all made up it's all a conspiracy to get you I don't know what the hell the point of this is supposed to be why you would destroy I guess to consolidate capital or like Institute a police state that they already had already basically fixed that that's thing I don't get it's like they don't need an excuse to do to do a police state ***** they do police station anyway people just to see to anything because the

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

ones who are most likely to get newer ones that are most paying attention I already have guns so they feel mollified by having guns so what difference does it make they still run your ***** and tell you what to do and we don't have any mechanism to stop them so how about we talk about that how will we it seems to be more vital my point right now than whether or not it's happened since there's no way to know and you're just guessing but I don't know what he's saying like I said I haven't been listening I don't know what anyone's saying all I know is oil is now free so go 0:4:8 grab all the oil you want if you've ever wanted some oil go get some I would love to get some oil if you guys just go go to town on big big old batch oil they can give us money for the oil and then we just put the oil and I don't know like maybe a big bathtub swimming pool I only put the put it in the swimming pool yeah so I don't know what this means I've never really been very knowledgeable what I like that petrol petrol economy ***** like the deep structural money stuff boil stuff I certainly don't think this is what anyone wants so if it keeps some ***** shale oil on the ground that's good but cheap oil does have a bad impact on renewables because it makes dirty energy the cheapest option and with the economy collapsing as it is 0:5:9 cheapest options gonna look pretty good so who knows how long this lasts the the contracts for June are decent I mean it's still very there's some sort of assumption going on in some levels of the market that things are gonna get back to normal and basically they want to like hold on the o the glut of oil through May so they could sell it later I don't know and so they're basically paying people the way you would pay yeah like somebody who had a a one of those places that a store ***** storage locker but it is so funny I mean I remember being a kid and thinking about peak oil was where the apocalypse was gonna come they're like we're running out of oil and it's gonna be this bad scramble for it Syria it's running out and most what's 0:6:10 left is in the Middle East a great movie but in retrospect hilarious if you'd asked me in 2002 I was a kid and I was getting into this ***** hey what do you think what do you think oil is gonna cost in 2020 I would have said 50 dollars a gallon I don't know it's like some new horrible world where like the majority of cost this is oil and everything else people are living in trailers I don't know $20 a gallon ten it wouldn't I thought I would have assumed it was more expensive that's for ***** sure I sure as ***** would never assumed it was cheaper than it would have been even in real dollars at that time why did it happen another thing I thought that caught that knowledgeable about I know that Russia and Saudi Arabia have been in a pissing contest the kind of thing that OPEC is actually designed to stop but this 0:7:11 is geopolitical and these guys really want to go down on each other and Saudis are basically one of the things that cost a big drop last month is the Saudis refused to cut production even with the glut because they want to ***** with Russia which is a huge oil exporter and which needs oil to have a certain value but the thing is Saudi Arabia it's not like they have anything else going on they need to be able to sell oil so so I would expect at this point that's gonna force the hands and there's gonna be a huge cutback in production I mean mine and they're stopped they stopped at the oil patch I hope would be that they would just you know like they're talking the ***** Kenny is talking about some bailout package for Canadian oil companies and it's like yeah there's a lot of employers and there's an economy in the West the Canada that is based on oil but how about you just pay people to not ***** drill it right now the way that you pay **Music playing** farmers not to grow certain 0:8:12 crops but not obviously for the executives they can ***** off for the workers and stuff like a workers bailout and then you just take that money and you don't create in world-ending fossil fuels that now don't even make money but who knows I don't know I don't know is this the end of the petrodollar it is the man the US military really is our last thing it's like everything else is basically like the ***** they sell in the front of the bodega that's really all about like dealing weed like that's just subdue ste cold cuts the real shit's behind the counter in the form of uh you know a world-spanning military empire with more more money and equipment in the next 12 countries combined the I've heard that out Kim jong-un is apparently in critical al 0:9:13 Sue's to know if that's true or not could be propaganda Big Ups to the boy one way or the other the big large boy who is a big who is a big boy that we all love people keep asking about out the 90s like paranoia episode I talked a little bit about the conspiracy theories episode I did but it might be fun to delve in it more specifically I don't know I've got a number of things I've got a number of solo shows coming up hopefully in the next month or so but I'll put that one yeah I mean like the oil dollar is the undercurrent of like that's why we get to do what we want really that's why we get to do all the deficit spending in the world is because everybody's buying the thing that keeps the lights off get our money but the thing is it's still gonna take the lights on right now no matter how much it costs yeah I was thinking of doing 0:10:25 a reading from that sink Upton Sinclair book since I'm researching the an episode about epic and the 34 campaign and he wrote the book without oil that ended up well I mean this is a good time for less - just like nationalize the entire energy sector I mean this this is really kind of frustrating man like we're in a situation where this ***** could all be had for pennies on the dollar or we could just nationalize it but there's nobody in the room and making these decisions who's a human being they're all lizards they're lizards okay folks they're ***** lizard people you only be one of those rooms are goblins well all they care about is maintaining profit a big butt a goblin Bobbitt touching goblins kissing goblins the bed will got one that's it that's 0:11:27 the only I don't know I'm still them yeah I love those guys protesting because like if people don't want to go out you can't make them you know that's just like there's always so much you could do against hegemonic media like as much as people don't trust the media they still believe in general what they get told and they think there's a virus out there they're not going to come and hang out **Music playing** we'll 0:12:41 buy have have you heard of the mortal error theory of the Kennedy assassination in which he got shot in the head by the ar-15 of a hungover Secret Service agent in the seat behind in the car behind Kennedy which some people claim fits the the scenario fits the forensics better than any of the other ones to be there the solo shooter or the grassy knoll ***** and you know what in combination with the Don DeLillo sort of like false flag shooting theory that kind of works doesn't it like if the whole thing was faked if it was an attempted assassination to make Kennedy like take the Cuban threat more seriously and double down on like Zr rifle and Mongoose or do another 0:13:42 invasion by like setting up this Kenneth this Castro kid this Castro fan kid is that as the Patsy and they're they've like oh it works except one guy stood up a dumb acid leap and his finger on the trigger and ***** put a bullet in the president's head and blew the entire ***** situation I mean it's uh it would certainly be as someone said the Coen brothers solution and there's something to now ever wanting to rule out the most absurd outcome because I mean at the end of the day Kennedy I just don't buy him as I've often said as the danger that these guys thought would have had to have thought he was to authorize an assassination and but I do think that like there are a lot of very sinister actors intersecting there in the 1960s in such a way that it seems kind of unrealistic to think that they weren't involved so how especially considering all the weird ***** surrounding the assassination itself so I think the way this resolved that my mind is you know no they don't think this guy's 0:14:45 going to dismantle the Cold War and like turn you know create a era of universal brotherhood that's gonna sink defense stocks they're like this ***** dumbass doesn't get what we're dealing with here maybe maybe show up maybe have some guy put a bullet next to your ear I don't know like I said I'm agnostic on a lot of stuff because I don't know there's no way to know so I kind of just pick whichever one is more artistically and intellectually satisfying like for example I know a lot of people who are very into the paddock conspiracy like our friends on true and on who I respect very much aren't very much they know a lot of stuff about paddock and his weird life and the odd things that happened on that day and and then the fact that yeah the matter that you have this like millionaire real estate guy in his 60s it just decides to 0:15:47 shoot everyone on earth and there's questions are like whether he could have got all those shots off with the guns he had it you know when he killed himself and there's stuff about timeline and there's a Saudi royal family of course and there's the fact that paddock was claiming that he was being controlled and that his mind was not

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

his own but the fact is any version that's the conspiracy is something that fits into some like greater scheme puzzle in a way that that is pretty cut-and-dried like oh you know it's like either a part of a the whole thing to get people to do gun control although that none of them have worked so it seems like a waste of time to do gun control false-flag since nobody is moving on any subject no matter what I'm gonna waste a time or it's something with like the Saudis and there was like a gun deal that went wrong I don't know why you'd have to shoot everybody whatever it is to my mind none of that is as interesting none of those explanations are interesting as the official story a wealthy Western boy made good who turned like a who turned life is like a middle-class driver into millions through 90s real-estate speculation in Vegas which is a common thing I mean that was the gold rush after they started rebuilding those and then he just becomes this rich totally besotted dude like this guy he's got millions of dollars and it's just boring he can get sushi comped he's got like huge he's got the girls on speed dial for any number of high-end call girls here yes he can do whatever he wants and it's just it means nothing and then just like how every one of his pursuits and all of his life it's like whittling him down to this like just raw nerve of narcissism like this one individual review and it just took and that money and especially in Vegas every other person becomes someone who is abstracted away from humanity because your only relation with them relationship with them is transactional you only have transactional relationships and pretty soon people would just turn into you know numbers on the ***** slot machine just can I get the biggest number you know like hitting the jackpot like can I shoot like oh that gay Muslim guy killed 50 people could I hit more can I get the top scorer of all time could I ring get all the bells ringing in all the casinos and then can I get all the ***** one-armed bandits shooting out all the ***** coins and then just doing it just doing it that's like just a vulgar almost ritualistic kind of a ritualistic confirmation and like consecration of one's salep system of like the idea that what they're the oh you're the only person on earth which is what capitalism and American capitalism and an American culture teaches that you are the only consciousness that matters that you are an individual omona and the end result of that is Steven panic and I think that's what I'm more interesting than any conspiracy theory and I honestly do like I have a long-term ambition to make a movie about the panic brothers him and the child molesting guy and the coked up cokehead although I'm hearing a reports that the child molestation charges paddocks brother had been fleeing for years before the shooting he was arrested like a month after the shooting and someone said those charges have been dropped which I did not know I would need to look more into it but the panic is really more interesting to me just if it really happened the way they said so I just choose to believe it because there's no way I'm gonna know on either

0:16:49

0:17:52

0:18:53

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

way no I don't know he look the main thing to remember about Stephen panic is 0:19:57 that he was cool he could get sushi comped I'm sorry that not everybody works in a Taco Bell we're very successful I know it was a little tall but to be Giamatti but man I don't really think Giamatti could have done a good job of panic maybe like some force perspective or something to make him ah this is an interesting question it's Chacko spoken on the connection between the CIA and modern art in the 50s 0:20:58 and 60s I don't think we've ever spoken about it directly on the show but it is true a lot of the stuff that we the critical stew that like educated Americans women in terms of like what is expected to be quality literature quality art like what are the qualities of art that we value a lot of that was created by modern art schools in both painting and literature were funded by the CIA with the express purpose of providing a aesthetic focused alternative to the social realism of the Eastern Bloc which was all about pointing out material conditions and you know inspiring the masses towards revolution and recognition of their class situation well they don't want people thinking about the class situation in their art no thank you better to think about I think you know oh the the wistful travails and pains of a like impotent 0:22:2 ad executive in a suburban Connecticut backyard you know small domestic dramas that don't intersect with politics in any meaningful way and then in art abstraction you know don't show me degradation don't show me like a Diego Rivera ***** mural that contrasts the decadence of the rich with the penury and misery of the poor show me a ***** bunch of us a ***** on the wall it could be anything and then you thought you tell me what it is so that is true like the Iowa Writers Workshop was CIA funded partisan review a Paris review a lot of the organs of like middle and higher brow culture were funded by the CIA and there were funds and grants for artists like Pollock Jackson Pollock for the express purpose of creating a political vocabulary for artistic birth and the thing is we still live with that we still live with 0:23:4 that and it really is challenging to sometimes think do I really value these elements of art because I think that they have that there is some objective or even even to me subjective morality do it or am I just bowing to essentially deep state propaganda created to keep me from thinking critically and keeping me from it's a very good question now that's why I like you can say like what people say oh you know modern art postmodern whatever this these things were created by the CIA see that's different that's a different claim and it's incorrect these movements existed already these movements would have existed these movements were products of the of the reality they were products of the material conditions I mean you're talking about post-war America it's a land of plenty it's a land of all we honestly of a culture of is that all there is because we've reached the top of Maslow's hierarchy we've reached 0:24:5
the top of the pyramid at least most of us in consumed culture in any kind of way

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

in America the middle class post-war era of course we're gonna make art that's self interested in narcissistic and there's a care about politics of course we're going to make that kind of art it's just as the CIA encouraged intentionally and raised up the profile two places maybe it wouldn't have gotten so they reached a level of hegemonic understanding as rightness in the Academy it might not have got otherwise so it helped her over the line but it didn't create it of course I'm the same same time the CIA was doing that the CIA was also doing operation Mockingbird which was gaining a literal influence over America's America's newspapers America's media direct provision like through blackmail and through bribery and some more nation 0:25:7 to turn reporters into agents of the state putting out CIA propoganda for domestic consumption like literal manufacturing consent like not even through a propoganda model there through just literally writing checks and presumably doing blackmail like a lot of the top political consultants and stuff back then and guys were black highly black available there was a guy I think his name was Drew Pearson who was like the Dean of the DC press corps who was also gay and was heavily rumored to have been photographed either by the KGB or the CIA or both in flagrante delicto and as a result you know he was basically captured by intelligence same thing happened with other guys and also others they paid and then at the same time is that they were doing MKULTRA which is so you've got these pursuits meant to create a mol- 0:26:11 lified public perception like a massage and controlled perception for the public both aesthetic in the in the in the Pollux in the in the in the modernism stuff like factual like like epistemological with the news media and now literally psychologically with MKULTRA like they want to control it was really a full-spectrum attempt in the heady post-war days to control the human mind in every respect control what it the the world had encountered conceptually and controlled the actual chemical processes going on within it and the degree to which they were successful is honestly one that we'll never know because think of it this way alright so we have a narrative that yeah all this stuff happened but we found out about it the 70s the Church Committee and all that and then you know there was some flare-ups in the year since like iran-contra 0:27:13 and stuff but for the most part the CIA is like power is diminished they're sort of like the Mafia which is very similar very fitting since they do the same function of somavia and they cooperate with the Mafia a lot of stuff but like they're on a decline their influence is waning like now there's just a bunch of Schmucks who can't stop 9/11 and or predict that the Berlin Wall is gonna fall but isn't that what we would think of it if all those things have been successful if all those experiments have been successful and they really were able to create some sort of a broad spectrum propa- ganda model that combines airwaves and literal chemical brain conditioning to to essentially massage the human mind besides the will of the people towards tractable

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

ends keep guardrails basically wouldn't we remember that as being like oh yeah and 0:28:14 then then they just went away instead of oh yeah they took over everything no we wouldn't know that that would defeat the whole purpose if they needed to do that if they if they didn't have to do this stuff to our brain then they would live in a world where they could just be out and say hey we control you but they can't do that so they have to do what would they would do is they would make us think that they went away well actually controlling everything I'm not saying that's true in fact I think it probably isn't but the disturbing thing for me is it seems like the world we live in and the degree of manipulation that it's just carried out in full view of everyone never changing anything makes me feel like there is some mechanisms that actually worked some combination of persuasion and and perception massage massaging and and chemical rearrangement I don't know this stream I'm gonna put 0:29:18 this one on YouTube I'm not gonna put all these on YouTube I'm only gonna put the ones I think they're decent but yeah this is definitely feeling very 4:20 I'm feeling I mean the everything is true like the writ like the post Epstein moment when I was like yeah give me every conspiracy I believe it on just because someone like we live in a world where it's essentially a quantum realm if something could be imagined it happened so if there's a conspiracy then there it's real yeah yeah man this wild ***** it's a wild life we got here that's a WoW and of course I say this is someone who has been accused multiple times of being a CIA operative either knowing or unknowing I had been accused of taking money I'm being handled by the CIA it's 0:30:20 part of an a propaganda operation and the funny thing is is that there's evidence to that at least not about me is about my co-workers that would be acceptable in certain circumstances if you really are already motivated to believe it so it's like how many things do I believe that are just as wrong as other people thinking that I'm in the CIA is so that makes me think maybe none of it's true maybe all of us are projecting onto it because that's the danger of conspiracy thinking is that you have to project into the holes and if you do that how much of it is you and how much of it is real yeah it's very hard to tell and like quantify that so I don't know man I don't know anything everything will be true nothing is true or more likely a mixture but I don't know the percentage like it's like is it like a is that like ground beef like it's like ninety ten I don't know is it well-marbled is the well and don't know guys I do not 0:31:26 know how do you know I'm not CIA exactly you don't I know I'm not like I'm deep unless unless that MKULTRA ***** works even better than they say and like there's hours of the day that are blacked out and I'm actually doing their bidding when I hear my trigger word unless that's the case I'm no I'm not but nobody else can say that with since it means everyone dies while I was that's the other thing brace is a guy his biography raises eyebrows so I see why people have a real belief that he

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

is but I know he's not but that doesn't go farther than me that doesn't convince anybody who's not my life so how are we supposed to make sense of this knowing that knowing that there are people who have perfectly decent reasons to suspect my CIA connections I am NOT but that doesn't change the fact that people have to make sense of the world and they have to choose what to believe and the fact is I really don't know where the hook you can put the hooks I don't know where you can like what is load-bearing in this I like to think that maderia dialectical materialism is I really do think that I mean like I believe that the dialectic I think I really think that that is the wheel of history like I think that's how it works you know in a deep level like that is the thing I'm confident of but how how much am I understanding the actual world like to what degree am I held captive to the Demiurge you know the the Demiurge of like the techno society where I'm only getting this like these these these crafted bits of information sent to me in in the overwhelming geyser that I could never be able to sift through for a moment how are we supposed I mean regimes of the past it was difficult to resist them because people didn't run able to get enough information even know it was going on now there's too much information to make sense of any of it you need a heuristic and every eristic is tainted every years tick is tainted because it where does it come from it comes from rationality but there has to be an empirical basis there has to be an empirical basis and how can we trust any of our empirical inputs how could we trust any of our Imperial inputs I know yes people say pin Shawn yeah Spencer would be perfect but like that is uh you know what give me a minute I know what I'm gonna read I'll be right back **Music playing** hi guys hello so what I'm gonna read is Thomas Pynchon's against the day which the early modern the birth of like the modern America basically and there's a thing here that is one of the most skillful beautiful here it is it's a description of the Chicago stockyards and it's from the point of view of a crew of like sort of Jules Verne II adventurers on a hot on a hot-air balloon going to the World's Fair Columbian Exposition in Chicago as they came in low over the stockyards the smell found them the smell and the uproar flesh learning its mortality like the dark conjugate of some day lit fiction that they had flown here as appeared increasingly likely to help promote somewhere down there was the White City promised in the Columbian Exposition brochures somewhere among the tall smokestacks unceasingly vomiting black grease smoke the effluvia of Boucherie unremitting into which the buildings of the league's of City lying downwind retreated like children into sleep which brightest not reprieve from the day with bringeth not reprieve from the day in the stockyards workers coming off shift overwhelmingly of the Roman faith able to detach from earth and blood for a few precious seconds looked up at the airship and wonder imagining a detachment of not necessarily helpful angels beneath the rubbernecking chums of

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

chance wheeled streets and alleyways in a Cartesian grid seppia mile on mile the great bovine city of the world breed lindsay in wanzer indeed the backs of cattle far outnumber the tops of human hats from this height it was as if the chums who as who out on adventures past had often witnessed the vast herds of cattle adrift in ever-changing cloud like patterns across the western plains here saw that unshaped freedom being rationalized into movement only in straight lines and at right angles and a progressive reduction of choices until the final terms of the final gate that led to the killing floor hello is that's how I stuck with me doo doo doo doo doo Wow 0:38:11 somebody really wants me to do a what's your fav Twitter moment I mean I don't think I have different ones than most people who didn't love the wife email one of the best wifey I was so funny angel and strawberry was really funny there was also a day when we did a bunch of Simpsons memes about a tweet from someone where they said sucking dick well my man's plays 2k oh you thought I said my man's dick faux and we did a bunch of Simpsons things about that that was really funny ted 0:39:13 cruz porn was good the take the faves you could put your hat into water and fill up with fee just anything you reference any reference just blew up people were nuts and you could take any old meme and slap that in there and you'd give you just a ***** limitless mo to just John wick through the ***** Twitter beautiful beautiful ah talk to me of cabbages and kings and all that ***** yeah so well do we is our minds our own a question that has been asked often and I don't think has ever been answered our minds our own I don't know I mean they aren't in any real sense but are they I guess is there some connective tissue between the self and that social understanding 0:40:16 or is it severed and replaced by the ideology that is now dominated our brains there's no way of knowing it's got to throw your hands up in the air and go like the guy the shrugging gentleman from our we love emojis don't we folks ah does anyone have a movie recommendation for tonight I don't know if Kim Oh Sheldon is dead I don't have his phone number I can't get him down the beeper I don't know why you think I would have that information but that's flattering I guess to think that you believe me to have connections in the North Korean inner circles I do not I am in your 0:41:18 fellow-traveller with the Juche AI deal honestly I feel like everybody should get on the good side of Josh a because I kind of feel like it might be the dominant ideology in the human history that like when if humans existed like propagating through the galaxy and become like a dune dune like Empire of systems and systems and trillions and trillions of people it'll be under an underlying Juche a ideology because as far as I could see and this was true before the before the ***** virus came that North Korea was well situated to survive more well intact than other social-political polities in the occasion of a genuine crisis caused by global warming I guess it's up there it's in the North you know it's not gonna get too hot all of a sudden it's gonna be able to 0:42:20

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

sustain a local ecology and they're also gonna have more social cohesion than most of the surrounding places so what if there have relatively defensible borders what if they hold out and great and become like the only coherent body politic in like the post collapse world and everything else is you know reverted to reverted to you know the ***** Peloponnese before the rise of the city-states you know prehistory jiuji-ang will have an advantage and the flag of GA will ride over the world and recently refound civilization along juicy ideals and then it is jus che that harness is the atom to its full power and the carpets the galaxies in a in a human panspermia Oh with the idea that the Kim's RA fine like God Emperor type thing like when it was by the time I guess the space it would essentially be like doing or Warhammer where 0:43:21 the god Emperor would be the Kim's like the lizard the the ***** sensed the sand snake or the sand worm headed God Emperor is is the Kim like passed down through all like the same the consciousness passed from every generation starting with Kim Jong or kim il-song so that'd be cool what if that happens that'd be funny so get on the right side of Juche a folks it might end up being the winner in the history books dune isn't really very good as a book I finally I only read it recently I rate it as a kid the way that well and Felix had but it's brutally put badly written the guy is a bad writer and it's all the only thing that people like about it is it's truly interesting 0:44:23 world building I mean people talk about the the actual ***** I do but that's really kind of just a ripoff of like Lawrence of Arabia it's just classic Orientalism with some space voodoo thrown on there the interesting thing is like the idea of a human of a space human society which thousands of years ago have seen an ideological rejection of like computers and so you have space travel and ***** but it's all due to the human brain being essentially harnessed for like unnatural uses that's cool but Larry and jihad that's cool the spice melange it must flow the spice must flow what Nightcrawler with Jake Gyllenhaal also very poorly paced too like the end of that 0:45:29 book has Paul Atreides army nuking the ***** paddy shower empire or whatever and then it just it all happens on like three paragraphs like oh and then they did the nukes and then they I guess you're trying to convey like it's inevitable at that point but man it's very it doesn't feel very entertaining and I'm sure that the fill-in wave movie will be very fun to watch and I will see it I will see it because I didn't see Blade Runner because I don't give a ***** about Blade Runner and all I don't like the war I don't care about the world I don't care about the movie I don't care about the replicants they can all suck me so I didn't care I am interested because having read dune and thinking it's a cool concept I do have interest in seeing it depicted by villain laughs but I have a feeling it's gonna be kind of stick up its ass and boring 0:46:33 society violence plagues us as a society oh man Boogie Nights that's a good movie yeah right it's the Shakespearean way of ending a battle but that's like in a *****

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

play when you have a stage and a bunch of flea-bitten guys with leprosy and that's all you can put together when you have ***** the boundless imagination **Music playing** I am Jaffa now or will be I'm always a good one I'm a good boy I'm a good boy yes ubi is inevitable now oh can you hear me I'm not doing it anymore I hate ubi can you hear guys can you hear me now all right can you hear me okay ubi yes inevitable we're gonna get inevitable EB I saw that the other day it's just it's gonna be on the terms of the bosses and it's just gonna be a way to keep you from like totally dying in the streets this is it's just a just to maintain minimal social cohesion to allow for markets to continue their magic how's everybody doing 420 blaze of I am a Minnesota hot dish I'm in Wisconsin hot dish I never really had hot dish thank God we weren't we didn't we weren't Scandinavians so I didn't have to endure the hot dish because that looked like real ***** and I'm glad we didn't have it very often is there a Oh should Quebec secede sure why not everyone should secede I know I was saying the other day that we need international institutions but in the absence of that break all of them into such small units that they're not economically viable and maybe that will like slow down the world economy enough to give us some time to deal with climate change so sure let's just break up all the ***** countries into the smallest possible units let's get micro national with it and then we can rebuild like the ***** t1000 after it gets shot when it's covered in liquid nitrogen in t2 how about that I don't know if we're gonna polka dies we'll see I don't know if we're gonna balkanize or if we're gonna vulcanize I hope we do vulcanize honestly the US could do city-states considering how radical the cultural and economic schisms are between suburban and urban air and I'm sorry rural and I didn't have to all asleep shut up I just was I was more morphing my body yes let's do megacities I think that all of these micronations it's like none of them are gonna be good it's all gonna be it's all going to be state of emergency ***** it's all going to be command economy and like a maintenance of hierarchies you know like if California succeeds the ***** the Silicon Valley Dracula's and the the movie moguls and ***** they're still in charge did you see that ***** remember very early on in this when they were first prep first started banning things they first started banning like large groups and ***** like that Newsom said we're banning all places where people with more than 10 people concrete or whatever except Disneyland Disneyland is exempt because ***** Odysseus the largest corporation on one of those one of the largest corporations in the world and and it's headquartered in California and it was honestly they'd the same day we're like actually now it's fine we'll close like they didn't even need it they didn't even just they were so instinctively deferential to them so it's like they'd still be a charge you need a place where you don't have like entrenched powerful elites and that's really it's hard to think of places like maybe in the big square areas I don't know maybe in the deep south where they're very little in the way of like functional 0:52:47 infrastructure anyway who knows maybe you could get actual cooperative farming or something all I know is I hope that I will be allowed to be the court jester for some warlord somewhere just please I don't know if I'll be very useful as a warrior or even as a honestly as a peasant I've got a I've got a legitimate disability I don't know if I have the spoons to to labor and your vineyards so if you could just keep 0:53:48 me on as a jester who could maybe like make fun of and perhaps gently roast some in your entourage as a form of amusement or rile up your troops to send them off to fight and claim the lands of another warlord something like that just you know keep just please just yeah I could be Bob Hope I could do like I could do performances for the troops before they go on like a hunter-killer raid of the nearby territories you guys go you guys bring back some ear necklaces folks were bringing back the kids 0:54:58 we're gonna get it back oh I went to our bar that place was good I'm bar India in Cincinnati delicious Indian food but I've been to the number Enver Airport but I haven't noticed any of the good ***** I need to spend some time there and absorb all their weird a cult ***** stop it I'm just trying to breathe people why do you keep talking about how hard I'm breathing leave me alone what think it might be Italian 0:56:0 I think that's what my heart says yeah I could definitely go for a plate of some sort of pasta right now although Chinese has a good claim to Szechuan anyway mmm Wow all right you guys got me all hungry goddamn but I had pizza rolls for dinner and now I'm hungry again curse you all curse you you curse the little gremlins all right guys I'm going I'll talk to you guys on the flippity-flop peace

CUSHVLOG 6. PARALLAX VIEW 2 - ASSIGNMENT MIAMI BEACH

CushVlog 7

---

Operation Realness

04.21.20

the strong shall devour the week's reward and the strong shall devour the week's reward and the strong shall drop out of the reef reward and the strong shall devour the week's reward and the strong shall devour the weak sword and the strong shall devour the week's reward and the strong shall devour the week's reward and the strong shall devour the Meeks reward and the strong shall devour the Meeks reward hi guys you know what I've decided that opinions are really pointless to have 0:1:2
I mean what does it matter you know if you believed what they happened versus another if you have some version of reality you know like what difference does it make what difference does it make it was a great American once said it's all just you know personality traits like who you think killed Kennedy doesn't say anything about who killed Kennedy it says everything about you it says everything about the person you are the type of books you've read or haven't read your attitude towards power blah blah blah that's all all these opinions were spouting do they just give purpose and shape to your personality so we're all trapped like rats during this thing either with a gun to her head to work or cooped up at the order of just 0:2:5
mad incompetent God's just the worst people the most people any society has ever produced in charge and complete and unchallenged control and that's just the fact of it and that's not something that people can really handle I can't handle it and so we cultivate personalities and oppose in opposition to our the dread fate that we fear politics is a big part of that and that's a big reason that young people don't vote and poorer people don't vote this is voting and politics this is higher up on that Maslow's hierarchy it's the ***** that you can worry about once your Maslow needs have been taken care of which really suggests that it's not a vital field for you know 0:3:9 human destiny but rather an entertainment I mean and I'm not just talking about not just talking with voting I'm talking about politics as a thing to care about as a thing to have opinions about so I mean that means including everybody who has never voted and that would never vote but who has spent hours and hours and hours and hours determining exactly what flavor of like non revisionist Marxist Leninist

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

they are it's like dying I don't know I mean I don't want to call myself a ho gist but at the same time I really appreciate OSHA's understanding of the need for autarky like ***** you that's as much of a ***** a bobble as somebody who's decided that they're gonna like single-handedly get Biden elected or so opinions man they're like 0:4:10 ***** everyone's got them but I just want a grill ah man yeah it would be funny if the hunks left the Oscars because nothing else gets released of 2000 2020 because there's a rule that there has to be a limited amount of theatrical release for any movie to count like so that's why Netflix bought these theaters these things like one screen theaters that are basically gone and they're keeping them alive to show like for a weekend they're offering so they technically count as award fare well unless they change those bylaws there's gonna be like six movies to choose from to win Best Picture and I certainly got my fingers crossed for trolls world tour I saw the birds in Texas I saw the birds yeah the vibe wasn't great seeing all those psychotic 0:5:12 animals freak out and they say it's electromagnetics that's why that happens they say that the navigation is bait so they get interfered with by electromagnets maybe it's 5g what if there's no what if the danger of 5 G's that it kills all the birds and then because it kills all the birds it destroys the cycle for like pollination and stuff and so we have a huge drop in the production so there you go 5g don't we love it 0:6:14 folks you can see the people who really react poorly to questions about 5g well I just want to say like oh you're a ***** Luddite euro a ridiculous person you might as well be queuing up is that they're really ***** addicted to the Internet man through I mean at the end of the day we all are but like they are in the thrall of their disease they're there in the full thrall of their sickness because they're like no keep get me a bigger get me a bigger spike to put my vein give me more of it and my right folks that's why they call dumb phones in my opinion that's why I call them we love the 5g tell me folks we have enough 5g it's the most cheese they'd ever have 3G pathetic pathetic get it out of here orgy ah this might not even have a phone but 0:7:18 IG oh we love it don't we and the whirlwind is in the thorn tree the Virgin's are trimming their wicks the Virgin's are all trimming their wicks on 4chan am I right folks the Virgin's are all stripping their drop the ***** mic you just got roasted in a way that you guys will never all right so people are saying I did it Adam Alex Jones impression yesterday I'm kind of worried I don't remember doing it about Alex Jones impersonations was I just like on one to such a degree that I just sounded like him or did I actually but him be lighter still let him be filthy still oh I did do an 0:8:24 out shows the pressure no good I'll have to go watch it back okay folks here we go we're talking about five T it's gonna be the end of straight Birds folks every bird will be gay the birds are gonna start ***** and sucking each other all the eggs will go on hatched okay folks every bird will be gay summer born because I remember

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

last night I also talked about how like it's possible that the CIA perfected public mind control and also individual mind control in the 60s and we're all living in like a because I feel like that could technically you know qualify as something similar to what Alex doe could say because I gotta say that does sound I honestly check out the subreddit basically exclusively just to check out the the episode descriptions and it is because I want to know how we did and I want to know how people thought about it I like I actually care about what people thought of the show and I want to make it better I don't want to necessarily pandered anybody but I want to know like what are consistent issues and the thing is is that it is a bad group of ***** posters I mean I don't know who they are as people but man their posts are bad their point of view is ***** they're actual attempts that memes and ***** that make up the rest of that subreddit are so that's why I check it out but like I can't read any of the other stuff it's like god damn I get it there's like a fairy it's just like a warehouse at this point for every like left-winger on reddit and i understand why that's why there's a need for community there but man it's just I wish they were less so maybe less like I guess they were less insecure and their identity I guess I would say but like they're young people so that's impossible so I guess that's but no that's why I don't want to interact with it and I don't go on there sometimes I'm tempted to respond to really annoying stuff but I realized that there that way lies madness I don't hate the fans honestly most of the people who post on our subreddit don't like the show and they they're proud of it and they like brag about I don't like the show and like they won't even ***** like the reason I go to that stupid website is to check out the the thread for the episode and half the time it's not pinned because they like have no interest in the actual show which is like damn I know we were early adopters so that's why we're kind of an umbrella thing Mohammed ***** just a little bit of mods on the ***** thing who hate us mods hate us and the show so it's a it's a disaster if I could have my way I would do it Dave Anthony style Stalin asked iron-fisted control know you say anything I don't like your and immediately I think that would honestly have make it more interesting a lot of people are fighting an ideological battle against our show in the ***** subreddit like we're trying to push some version of politics onto us or like make us disobey and I'm not interested in any of that so I just ignore it and I just try to find out what people think of the show people who what are my thoughts on Hunter Thompson I was a huge hunter Thompson head as a kid I loved Hunter Thompson okay this is a good question the best type of Protestant there are a few decent Protestant varietals I would say that no one is relatively culturally stultifying that you can't really argue with the social output that was accommodated by Scandinavian Lutheranism so Scandinavia skandos get a pass even though it's a little austere for me but of course the Society of Friends

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

absolutely the ***** Quakers are a fantastic tradition and I would say that any of the like religious you know cloistered communities that still exist like Mennonites and Amish I respect the hell out of them too but everything else can go to hell and as I have said before American Protestantism isn't even the same thing and remember the Quakers started in England so they don't technically count American Protestantism it's just not not Christianity it's its that's a good one who doesn't love the calf hours folks don't we love the the most beautiful American States hard to be California annoyingly enough I have to say I'm sorry it's hard for me to keep a split lip on a lit spliff I'm distracted by this whole rigmarole yeah oh God Captain America Catholicism is just kept it's just it's just prostitute it's been consumed it's been I mean there's there's a remnant there and Catholicism because it's not it didn't like Holi we towards itself on the new land the way that Protestantism did so there's still some like uh socially useful tradition since Catholicism which is why I would say I pick it over Protestantism and even in America it's not quite as bad or at least doesn't have that I mean at least for one thing they read you know like that's one thing that I guess I'm a bit of a snob about because I do look down on American Protestantism it's just like proud anti intellectual tradition just like absolutely like hayseeds or like proud of it and it's just infuriating and you can see that in the fact that there are no Protestants on the Supreme Court it's all Catholics and Jews because the only reactionary Americans like like social and economic reactionary Americans who have read done any of the reading from the Bible and then like going through to college and like attending institutions of like Jesuit learning actually have any kind of ability to speak in the terms of like the Supreme Court you know so like you get a Catholic like intelligentsia leading this this ***** potato sack of Protestant rubes so that's why I got to respect the Catholics you know even though them being the brains makes them even more dangerous there's just I can at least respect that they do the reading so there you go I don't think I've read a book in five years I can't read anymore the internet has destroyed my brain swear to mercy no I mean I'm reading now you know it's just I don't feel like I read as much as I used to it's disappointing the internet really does Sun is out storms earlier but sadly there was a tornado warning in New York City yeah like it's not already feeling apocalyptic you got the goddamn birds falling out of the sky we've got rivers and seas boiling 30 years of blood earthquakes tornadoes the dead rising from the grave human sacrifice dogs and cats living together mass hysteria yeah I know my worldview is pieced together mostly from sugar packets I think Biden waving will be very funny and I honestly think it might be the funniest outcome and that's why I'm worried it's gonna happen because I really don't know if I think that's the right thing to happen but what my opinion in doesn't matter remember we talked about this but our opinions of mouth

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

too are meaningless our actions are determined right now you know and we'll either act on our beliefs or we won't and if we don't then they weren't real just on the real if we don't act on them now then we didn't really have them there weren't really beliefs there were boy but yeah because Biden is so visibly decaying in a way the Trump amazingly isn't like Trump seems pretty on the ball I mean he had a big decline like his first year in office and then he kind of plateaued and so now he is obviously still prone to ranting and interrupting himself and trailing off and doing wild insane tangents he still has a basic function he can still like say words in a row Brighton cannot do it he's as tias of idling my Model T he is I know they say it's the stutter 0:19:51 but it means that he can't like that thing of him on Anderson Cooper where he could not get out of sentence he was trying to talk about the wartime like production or or something and all I could do is go and you know there was a fact there was a time it was Roosevelt you know during you know during the war during World War Two there was a thing and it was oh god this is not this is way it cannot communicate swing it cannot communicate that's wild ***** this is wild ***** and like that's unprecedented you know like Reagan tennis was a manage decline that happened after he kept office but for the most part this is ah this is like late term Reagan like like the last year after he'd already been president for seven years that's what he's starting at on Inauguration Day who had lured the comic potential is amazing it's like when Lloyd it's like with Lloyd Bridges was the president in hotshots part two he 0:20:52 was tug Benson he was like the goofy Admiral and he became president and he was like falling off ***** or like at Leslie Nielsen was the president in a scary movie for whatever cuz Trump we already kind of know we're getting this is a whole new level like a guy who has to talk every day has to communicate to the people every day has to be seen places every day just slowly melting in front of our eyes unprecedented and as like a stand-in for America's like is a very very heavy-handed metaphor for the American Republic that we're in and the Empire that it's the center it's like god who is writing the season it's way too hacky but this is on the nose ***** this is there's no subtlety here because like to have that guy be the figurehead during a massive catastrophe collapse economic social health oh really the petro dollar collapse guys that's why we don't have a plate that's why America like that's why MNT is true 0:21:53 in America is because of ***** oil because oil is priced in dollars and that's what allows us to push off inflation and that's it that's why we have our absurdly huge oversized share of the GDP of the world that's why we have more consumption per capita than anybody in the world that's why all of our horrible messy hypermarket eyes institutions are built in was so much built in graft because of the need for profit that there's no functionality underneath them to get any but anyway yeah so so like the ride might be over in terms of America even being able to sustain its position

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

as like consumer of last resort as you know a world monetary power because like what is a world where fossil fuels are still needed everywhere but there is no way to get use the cash incentive to get people to move them there I don't know how that kind of a radical disjunction gets solved besides the mass nationalization of these goddamn oil companies which is what we should do but sadly there is no one within sniffing distance of power who would ever come anywhere close to having the vision to do that and to have the popular support to back up that kind of move just doesn't exist so we're left with this attempt to ***** prop this thing up but anyway to put a visibly senile man in charge of that and then watch him just fail everyday to live up to who he was the day before that's an artistic level yeah that's like art doesn't exist anymore at that point I think like Artie yeah art Winx yeah there's somewhere art arts gone but I like our shows gone all art is gone because art is reality because yeah hmm damn they should think who but man the one thing I'm hoping to get out of it is the debates guys is the debates it's really those two old ships in the night these these decrepit hulks bobbing next to each other in the harbor just to sundowning and Meg lemonade maniacs clanging against there they're like the words totally or ***** all trumped absolutely roasting Ivan for being senile Biden getting feisty and like challenging him to physical violence let's do it and of course it sounds debate which I love that would be even be better I think and more emblematic because as Felix has said we've we are living in the reign of the sons you know the horrible inevitable result of a meritocratic social order where the merit somehow is becomes inherited genetically all you're doing is inculcating the worst habits of the dullest people on earth put these numbskulls in charge with a mandate to never change anything in a substantial way it's like hey you have to deal with this unprecedented social and economic crisis but you can't do it in such a way that the thing you do makes a permanent change to any status quo or condition that's an impossible ask that cannot happen so something's gonna have to break here there's either gonna have to be some sort of like internal coup or the the political faction of capital actually like takes over either through military means or something or the state essentially collapses and we have like privatized chieftains that's it those yeah that's all I can see waking up is possible and that would be part of that second option oh I'm gonna be on every drug I have for that to be I'm going to be candy flipping at least for that debate that's gonna be one of the high points of my life and then I hope I don't have to be here for it I hope I get to be with my friends oh oh oh just let the oh I understand it's gonna be rolling situation is gonna be remit and relax or am it over the next two years little Jesus but just let us be out in October so they can have the debates and they can go and hang out with my fellow guys and stream watching the debates well blitzed out of my goddamn mind just give me that

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

and then the oceans can claim us we could be the last Atlantean generation that's fine we weren't doing that great we were down in the count if you really think about it even before this with ***** global warming we were down in the count we were like in there it's like that honestly it's like 1 ; 2 it's a bad count so it's like if you gotta get hit by a pitch that's fine that's a better result than keeping swinging well anyway there's me getting all glue lean again I'm sorry guys I just it's like I feel like I'm conducting electricity like builds up over the course of the day like one of those one of those like electric generators and then I fill up with like electrostatic power 0:28:4 and then Zork I have to shoot it out and that's what these are those are me just morphing about and I'm sorry if you have to hear them but you know at this point I think you know you're getting into so I think you know you can be understood that this is like hashtag real talk this is like me getting down and gritty this might be the end of the house of saud which obviously that would be I mean too much to hope for it probably does you gotta figure that they're gonna have to wrap up the Yemen work pretty soon like they're just that's not a luxury they can afford any more ***** around in the oven with the the Houthis who they just cannot beat all they do is get sudanese child soldiers worked that's all they're doing my welcome to by the way I don't know what come towns take out Protestantism is but I do think it's funny that on that show guess what there is not one of a ***** Protestant Catholic Jew ***** Eastern Orthodox some books do you how to have some books you ***** unlettered cretins you hillbillies you gotta have some ***** books so I don't know what episode do they talk about Protestantism because I'm a few behind I've been listening religiously but I've been backed up since the quarantine so I want to hear 0:30:14 what their specific take is because it is like that pet hobby of mine is like thinking about the cultural like the shape of American Protestantism and how it you kind of like you know how you get a blood clot in like your lung and it creates a situation where you get a scab in the shape of your lung like the brac Ally like you know all the tendrils and stuff that like your the airwaves are that get filled with blood and then hardens and it coughs up and it's the shape of the inside of the law right you're like that's what Protestantism is in America like it is the super structural thing that accumulates all the ***** all the garbage all the worst cultural runoff of a settler colonial slave Empire so it's fascinating the subject to study and I do have an idea to do a new braided past about American Protestantism I want to do a little more 0:31:16 reading before I started though because it is a lot of my stuff is very off-the-cuff and I don't want to go way too out on the limb I want to have a little bit more odd or scholarly graph backing before I go off but I do want to go off that spams fascinating religious tradition well there's lb on seed which is a good book about the specific religious and cultural traditions of the people who came to America from England

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

and the another book about like intergenerational traditions of violence is all God's children all they get some more it's getting chilly out here is rain today Supreme Court God people really do care about the Supreme Court I think it's just because it's something stark and understandable and it's like points on a scoreboard and so people can get it get their head around it in a way that like policy stuff is more abstract I don't saw these questions I wanted to put I can't find ya the Supreme Court it's like come on you know that nothing that's gonna save or doom humanity is gonna be decided in a court of law certainly not by nine not dumb ***** in the Supreme Court if you go through those channels it just won't happen it's just gonna be bye-bye bye-bye whole thing's gonna shatter just doesn't it's like any any regime that doesn't have enough give in it I mean that's what defines a regimes long term longevity we are incredibly brittle we've created a situation where we've hollowed out all of our institutions from within in a way that I don't think they were meant to withstand this kind what do I think of acceleration ISM I'll tell you what I think of acceleration ISM we all better ***** hope that are right that's it what whether it's morally correct posture whether it's accurate I don't know but given the situation we're in right now you better ***** hope that the acceleration estar right because this is if this is an accelerated then I don't think I want to see accelerating I think if you're accelerated to that speed it's where like your skin starts pulling off your face and you just get peeled like a banana so don't thank you I would rather not sign up for that sir good day I said good day so yeah we better ***** hope it's correct no we're not it's not a gamble it's not that we aren't every choice of the matter we're accelerated we have to acknowledge the reality we don't get to make reality fit our theory of it we don't credit that it's like well in my theory that we're not accelerating and I don't think we should accelerate so no it's not accelerate okay it doesn't matter what you think it's happening we're accelerated the theory about like the point where crisis conditions come to the and and people are forced to make a choice and certain delusions are exposed that's now that's now oh boy oh boy yeah so yeah I have no idea everything is everything is ***** up I think I can say that with more confidence than I can say most anything else shit's ***** up I don't think we've only beginning to see the beginning it's gonna get I think it might go way beyond what a lot of us think is possible maybe we thought of it theoretically but we sort of dismissed it it's just not being commensurate with the reality as we understood it and the thing is it wouldn't be it would be a tectonic shift it would be the kind of change that really doesn't happen the kind of over the night instant overnight instance phase shift like that doesn't really happen in history and we're oh boy yeah shit's ***** up that's the Warren Zevon song that he wrote after he got diagnosed with terminal lung cancer with yeah everything's very exciting they say we live in interesting times

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

and I think we can all say even though right now that's pretty ***** boring for a lot of us it's still interesting I certainly would not want to get owned by Corona right now and die that would be really annoying that's see what happens not seeing what happens after having like this this idea like not specifically this but like something in the shape or posing just out of view in my mind like a ***** like a rake like Banco at the wedding or Banco de at the feast at the just the shadow haunting me and now it's here and then I'm not gonna just get old right away and I want to be the guy at the beginning in the zombie movie he just gets bit what are you like hey what's going on out here I want to at least get home to turn the TV on and see like the eyepatch guy going we need to nuke the let's we'll see something what it is I I'd do that no sir **Music playing** I don't think it matters who's gonna be President next I don't know if these institutions have the elasticity there's we follow the grated powered power **Music playing** we might be teetering on the brink of it abyss that none of us have ever even come close to imagining but damn it we've cookies I have not been drinking today sir I am a teetotaler this is a spindrift sparkling water sir I'm just high on life **Music playing** yeah that that Avenue by the last episode of that Avenue five show I was just like Oh what I have not dropped acid yet I'm gonna do it soon though I want to get nice and liddy waiting for a I mean I'm like that's the thing like if I cut my hair am I ever gonna have anything as interesting as what has happening right now because as this thing is like my front for true birds here is sort of like dying it's giving me these really honestly poignant little architectural wonders feel like a damn whoo the thing is the one thing that would make me shave the whole thing I'm God because if this went away and I ended up with the ***** sides and because as much as I love Lex G and I love the idea of sides there are sides gods who I respect it is a look that gets me nauseous even thinking about being on my head where it's just the couch you know like the Mao or whatever or more than George Costanza that's not that's not happening if it ever gets that bad it's all gone because that's or I'll like just rub some stem cells on it like that's hopefully by then there'll be some sort of Oryx and Crake style genetic stem cell based lubricant cream that like fuses with your DNA and gives you back luscious locks I would love to get Lex G on the pod I would love to get Lex on the pod I would I would do I would do what's wanna feeding him and me I would want to rap but I don't think he would do it sadly also I don't know if it would I don't know if the audience would like it that's for sure man's eye he's got hotcakes he does not sugar p-goon yes exactly oh wow ISM hell yeah peasants let's go let's go get some of those Hakka peasants lying around you know where we got any of those any of those like generationally landless transients peasant farmers that lived in over cramped conditions as tenants in southern land holdings where they were sort of second-class citizens had powered

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

Chinese revolutions for generations before that we got any of oh boy oh boy people are Bella they're hooting and hollering now in addition to clapping see this thing it's too bit up I was saying about how to have to keep clapping so they really care like show that their penance Wow clapping enough you gotta work it out they're gonna be doing the wolf howls and like Cucaracha dances that's gonna go off there's gonna be fireworks eventually this thing goes long enough they're gonna be like shooting a cave in the air like it's Saddam's wedding that'd be so funny everybody's got like a ***** something they've got it like a like a Sicario gilded a que that they got I like Etsy sometimes I wonder what would happen if the Taiping rebellion had been successful that's a real I think an under I think an under pondered counterfactual of history as if the Taiping rebellion had been successful in China because it really came very very close the Ching were on a real knife's edge there for a while and it was the Western intervention that really pushed him over they could have very well fallen the other way and a lot of the Western powers were initially sympathetic to the Taiping because they profess to be Christians it's just that the guy was such a weirdo that eventually they were like oh ok you're on some other ***** never mind **Music playing** yes yes you deserve to have another seamless delivery you earned it you've earned not having to be ruined for people with masks trying to save lives or deliver food or do anything useful I'm okay that I know now we're all ***** absolute parasites well it's pretty clear the parasitic nature of this whole economic arrangement like the people with the least social standing the least control over their jobs and the lowest pay are the people who actually need to be working like how has that not how is that revelation not just destroy the foundations of everything we think about politics or ***** I'd love to go to Colorado where would I and that's why I fear that like they're gonna open up again and they're going to slowly but surely normalize these deaths and normalize this threat that having these jobs is like well that's part of the job it becomes like hey you signed up for it and even if then maybe they'll be a little better paid like to incentivize but considering how many people are out of work if they're not gonna have to give much they're gonna have huge incentive to get people to do it to risk their life and then it's gonna get normalized none of the people and then we'll slowly just sort of accept a certain number of casualties and a certain degree of care or certain triaging of care that allows us to function while still having these numbers overwhelm what should be the yes I don't really see an alternative if we're not giving up the markets we're not giving up capitalist we're not giving up the profits then we are giving we have to we have to change our definition of acceptable human losses then we just have to factor a new thing in another thing is it's not the first time like look what happened with cars showed up cars showed up in cars started killing people immediately people who got splattered

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

all over the road people have no idea what they were doing they were murdering children they were destroying whole neighborhoods and what do we do we invented the crime of jaywalking actually no you're wrong for stepping into the street that you can always have stepped in from time immemorial since the beginning of time no this newfangled device should come and be able to mow you over and it's your fault and we normalized with the deaths around traffic traffic fatality still tens of thousands of people here it's a monstrously dangerous thing to do to just let that happen and we accept that because of what what how crucial automobiles we can to the economy and like the way that they interacted with our settler you know geography of a free but so they'll just factor this in the way that was and it's just going to be a process 0:50:57 there'll be a couple of these like go out come back in but eventually we're gonna be out less time as we just except like create more bumpers for accepting deaths just like I don't really because like there isn't hurting anything like if these new studies have show that like upwards of like that their estimates of how many cases are there are down by like factors of 10 the in places that have officially maybe 15,000 cases made in factual ality have something like two or three hundred thousand cases like and that's what there was a Stanford survey that suggested that I don't know they said that that was like falsified or something but there is another report from the UCLA or USC that says the same thing about Southern California which is that there's vastly more people who have this then we thought which means that the fatality rate is much lower now because it's so much more communicable that's still killing 0:51:58 a ton of people and it's not acceptable but you could argue hey there's some herd immunity possible there and the thing is you can go forward with that that is your argument and even if it isn't true I don't know if it's true you know oh well it didn't work but then you just keep going because we have to keep the ***** economy going we will do anything to keep it going there is no level they won't go to to maintain these systems that keep them at the top of the ***** Hiroki and will feed us all into the grinder the thing is like these are these numbers of deaths are not absolutely these are these aren't black death numbers these aren't you know even these aren't a bowler numbers in terms of fatality rate or anything this is a number of people who we've lost before el Spanish flu killed more people even if it kills many people's the Spanish flu it wouldn't be a big deal if we just normalized it and honestly you know if you create some slack the economy and now if you buy out some industries 0:53:0 we can consolidate further which is going to be a nice bonus of this it's a none of these small businesses are gonna be able to come back up afterwards people who had money beforehand they're gonna have hoarded it and they're gonna be able to buy up everybody's stuff for pennies on the dollar so it's gonna be like ***** demolition man all restaurants will be Taco Bell though the Amazon presents I don't know what

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

these people are what if 9/11 ever happened Wow that's a real one isn't it because that is such a contingent act a lot of times that could have been stopped I don't know I've long I've always been a skeptic of the truth ISM but you know since I've seen I've kind of widen my credulity my turn I still have a fundamental problem with a whole idea of an inside job 9/11 and that is a government apparatus that had that degree of control over an operation that size I don't think would have to do it to get a war in the Middle East but maybe they did all that maybe the RAND Corporation did a bunch of regressions and they realize no the only is the only guaranteed way to get this to happen is with this nothing else will work was like anything more than a anything less than like a 25 percent failure rate who knows I don't know what the main thing is if it happened one way or the other doesn't matter same people are in charge say that the way to dislodge them is the same it's just really their capacity to control things that's different and honestly I don't know how you can embrace the real like hard truth or theory I mean stuff about like them knowing beforehand that's a whole different question and I think that's really significant like there's all this weird stuff about insider trading happening right before 9/11 like stock the shorting of airline stocks a guy's got arrested for like doing insider trading off 9/11 information so the idea that this um it was known about at some level and was allowed to happen I could buy that but like controlled demolition and all that ***** it just seems like you're working backward but I'd say either way well they're still in charge same people if they have the same motives and the way to beat them is sadly the same organizing and goddamn it that's the hard part because all the other theorizing is a lot more fun talking about like who killed who blew up the ***** towers is way more fun trying to push the goddamn wheel of pain up the see the finally thing about tower seven I never got was why would you need to blow it up and the only answer anyone's ever given me is like it had the files or something it's like they knew what they were like they had the whole like months leading up to it to plan everything which means they could have planned to remove the stuff from the place before they did it unless they forgot and they had like fire missile at it to just knock it down I don't understand yeah and I obviously another thing about the Pentagon this is like that seems like such a bad target you know since its I mean you go to the trouble of knocking now the Twin Towers for their propaganda value why just crashing into the thickest building on earth that's gonna barely show any scars it's like wow because the part that got blown up is like the accounting department that's like isn't there another way to get they presumably they know where this stuff is and they can get it and like get it out of there if they could plan that I don't know that's all like I said I am agnostic on all this stuff having an opinion is nice but at the end of the day it doesn't prove anything and there's no way to know so

CUSHVLOG 7. OPERATION REALNESS

who gives a ***** I'm just gonna be grilling back here and my little grill spot catch me grilling boys and girls I'm all about that grill life you feel me I know you could all right guys I'm going I'll see you guys tomorrow having fun these have been fun lately and putting them all on YouTube so uh let anyone know if they missed this and they don't wanna go on Instagram it should be on YouTube

CushVlog 8

---

CushBunker

04.24.20

**** damn I got knocked off that's too bad then make it **** I might not be able to post that one later because I don't know if it's gonna get saved it just kicked me off I don't know what happened damn it I gotta remember that somebody remember that somebody watch that the first one please remember that cuz now I'm gonna forget **** god dammit I was gonna watch that again I thought I had something **** now you're gonna twitch I gotta **** we gotta figure out how to get on Twitch that makes so much more sense than this **** **** I think I lost that whole recording 0:1:2 **** **** dammit just kick me off 37 minutes in like less than that oh god damn it oh that's a bummer I'm very bummed now I'm just sad hopefully I'll remember that again to talk about the future but I thought I had something they're talking about a the futures before us the eliminationism or or I guess I was trying to think about the singularity yeah that's right singularity and how that happens how like you turn humans into just like feedback like little plug and play devices like pure appetite and an satiation like pure a be like stripped them of all of all identifying traits like the kind of things that you get from having a life that is yours a life that is the dream of communism instead like pure mechanistic life that replicates the market structure and the market transaction that works and that turns you just into a feeding machine 0:2:4 feeding a producing machine and then like if you're needed to feed you feed if you need to work you work at the the hessed of this algorithm this totally alienated algorithm I mean it might have people who serve it and are better off than you like there's so hierarchy and that's what keeps people in line but they're still like serving this thing that's alienated from humanity that's a that's what the singularity is the singularity is when they're brought together and they're and humans become part of the machine like they become part of the the binary code like human interactions are just part of the code it's part of the **** computer doing it it's computations it literally becomes the hardware it literally becomes the hardware it's like the matrix that's it and that's where we're gonna go if we let them do this to us or I mean I guess it's more likely it's just one more step down the road because you get this you've got climate apocalypse coming up there's gonna it's gonna be a thing about 0:3:5

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

winnowing down populations and keeping the people populations we do have require fully a God what's what's the Fuko term disciplined fully surveil I don't know like fully dominated like just fully at every level surveilled and it's and and your actions curtail so that's what they're trying to get us to have that's what they're hoping to get us with they're hoping to get us in to become the ***** network they can become the ***** wetware of the algorithm that is capital of capitalism biopower isn't that one cuoco talks about maybe he wasn't totally full of ***** just mostly Oh what 0:4:8
what epoch because this arrow remind me most of this is a good question well well one thing I would have to have is a crisis of leadership I mean and I know that sounds idealistic and non-marxist but I got to tell you man there is something that is very end stage just like as an identifying marker not necessarily cause there's nothing that indicates an end stage power structure then it's control my actual incompetence that is where the flaws in this in that it like the flaws that are sort of written into the code of something like monarchism or democracy democracy or capitalism capitalist 0:5:10 democracy or whatever or or soviet communism for example or Chinese communism or whatever like the end stages of them all have that in common that the leadership is genuinely decrepit it has been rendered so by either literal inbreeding like the old Monarchs of Europe or in our case they've a false meritocracy replicating itself where you have these you have this meritocratic class who engineer things so that just by coincidence their next generation of Merida crafts are what's this they're kids what's the code what a coincidence so they replicate essentially a arista a literal blood aristocracy but through this market mechanism and this like this this justification this is like justification that replaces like the divine right of the old aristocracy cuz nobody believes in God anymore so you can't say it's mine by right but God they 0:6:13 say it's mine by right of Justice because we've been inculcated like Razi and justice is a social norm even though what they mean by justice because they have these things are technically obey Allah and some people do rise up but they replicate their own privilege and their kids are like the children of the most elite powerful everywhere almost universally shitty scummy pieces of ***** scum ***** who don't understand anything about the world who are psychotically self-obsessed who are basically sociopaths rendered so by their class position and like their their absolute distance from anything resembling like real human life and suffering and then they they take over and it's like it's a medicine run by product of capitalism specifically capitalism's Democratic loss how does how does capitalism deal with the fact that in order to maintain its legitimacy culturally it has to have a democratic race but also if democracy was real people could literally just vote themselves to communism which was the theory of revisionist Marxism and the like Bernstein and Kowski and it 0:7:18 looked like it was working and then a bunch of things were invented by the very very

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

capable and improvisational ISM one being fascism of course a way to replicate mass politics on the right and also about circumscribing politics and one way to subscribe politics is to make it elite and you make an elite by putting barriers up that are related to social standing that is hypothetically neutral but in reality replicates a class privilege it's just it's it's a secular sanitation of aristocracy that's what the meritocracy is and so these people are just as much a clueless dollars as the court of Louis Couture or ah yes indeed so anyway that makes me think what's one of them it's got to be about a declining Empire that's the first and most important like fundamental feature it has to be an actual Empire now not a regular state has to be a Empire either formal or informal that is collapsing that doesn't mean that the state will necessarily collapse after all the British Empire a hundred years ago it was the most powerful force on earth to control something like a third of the world's population or and a huge chunk of its territory that's where the Sun literally never set on it because there was part of it everywhere in the world their empire is gone but their state still exists they've latched on to us as little barnacles will we latch on to somebody else could we latch on to China and get a deal but like yeah we lower the standard of living but not all at once and an in contention with you know getting the ability to come to you come over there I don't know or like piggyback down your ship I don't know so that you could do more formal you can do more you can lay off some of the like we would lay off some of that military might like all that defense spending we'd lay some off on China in exchange for gearing able to do more domestic spending which is what like the declining European powers did with us after what works out so anyway so that's another thing so it doesn't necessarily mean the stable class but the Empire is at a terminal point the economic collapse that's usually a part of the line of Empires the ***** plague is what's kept Gillett tripping me up because like we literally have a plague that is a hell of a wild card obviously the the capitalism was very shaky right they're going up and they like this Corona thing kind of gave him an alibi for her collapse it was going to come but I don't think even even the most line go down hardcore believer will do agree that this is going to be worse than it would have been maybe you don't agree with that but I really do think that this is going to make it much worse that it would have benefited then a sort of natural outgrowth of a cyclical downturn and not only got to plead off pleat it off on ***** Dorota what's maybe were Britain maybe were Britain in the interwar period and this is World War two we may be we are Britain in the interwar period I always talk about then in the war and the war like 9/11 in the war on terror is like the interwar period and the win World War two and then this is a clap this is like the climax this is the blow up and then they never came back from it but they also didn't go into you know turmoil they didn't become big and

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

got shattered I honestly wonder if the thing that will save us is our complacency and laziness as a people like will be just movie at the end of the day find it too much work to come to blows in the Civil War is that what will happen like at the end of the day it'll just be like oh man really getting the get my militia together like go into the state line and like doing expeditions to the nearby towns really it sounds like a lot of work well you won't if you do it that'd be cool I support you I'll put the ***** thing on my bumper of my car but man that sounds like a ***** pain in my ass there were more than a hundred thousand truckers we're gonna block every part every road going in and out of DC until bumbler crumb bow was deposed and executed on the White House lawn how many people showed up I think it was BJ in the Bear get that reference guys EJ and the bear BJ in the pear folks the other thing I was saying on the other stream that I hope I don't forget was about the possibility we have to do real automation of plant like planning a lot economic planning the idea that we could plan economic transactions with with computing power to replace the price mechanism of capitals I really think we have the ability I think that their the strike the the the the strides forward we've seen from what the Soviets did in the 50s read plenty by by Francis Beaufort is a great book about that I recommend anyone very fun to and very well read in addition to be very interesting and and enter and educational ah and to Chile and I end a I'm how he tried to go against America's economic war that preceded the coup by creating a system for planning the economy which was destroyed by the ***** ***** army when they did the coup so that was the 70s man and now we've got computers that has been pointed out a million times we have the computing power at pockets to go to the moon I guarantee you that we have more ***** pager probably has more computing power than all those banks of terminals that got machine gun by Pinochet's goons in 1973 what can we do with that and what are we already doing in terms of planning economies Amazon which is this a state within a state within a state which has all the appearances of a state in terms of inputs and outputs and capital physical plants and that its internal decisions are not made by the market and price points it's made by central planning and it works so if we could just strip the bark of capitalism off the ***** thing it could be an actual mechanism for fulfilling ***** human needs in a time of crisis can you imagine that it's a thing no you can't imagine it because if we did it then at the end of this they would never we would never let them take it away that would be a red line for every human on earth that would be a thing that would never so yeah I'm thinking I'm back hi guys how's everyone doing there's anyone drinking cheap Lambrusco and looking at the giancarlo hills overlooking rome oh yeah that'll be funny if this is on TV example of me going mad uh what was that questions what is the end game I mean it's I hate to be cliché but it is socialism or

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

barbarism isn't it it is it is a cut it is a Commonwealth of mankind it is that is that provides a stable basis for human flourishing that will not eventually destroy itself as all other systems will inevitably do or we will do what classes have done since time immemorial mark says it in the manifesto the hitter to the history of man is the history of class conflict and that conflict is between either slaves masters of peasants 0:16:33 a few feudal lords or whatever and that when the read that the conflict is one by one which advances humanity or both are destroyed common ruin of the contending classes and that will be the outcome the crisis of profit the inability to provide for human needs will create a savage return to barbarism maybe a techni barbarism but one that is never allows human life to flourish again unless it fuses with the it fuses with technology unless the singularity happens that's the alternative that's the real like if you really want to really put on your NIC land like pineal gland Hat the choice really is yes a steady-state human flourishing of capitalism something that ends up like with the the Kim Stanley Robinson series like that kind of world or bored or the matrix basically or we become one with the algorithm of capitalism we 0:17:36 become the biological mechanisms of it that's that's our options so we will be man or machine are people are asking like what's gonna happen in terms of will there be food shortages will there be crud riots will there be fights those things require a knowledge of like the macro situation that I cannot I cannot claim I'm sorry it's 0:18:37 it's beyond my my skill set or pay grade to be able to divide at the micro level the transactions that are occurring at like this the biological and the ecological and the economic and the social to tell you so yeah I don't all I know is what what what what the long-term the wrongdoing will mean and I know where the crisis points will come but I don't know which way the wind is headed yet like there's a sick part of me that thinks the most likely outcome is that everything's kind of the same but ***** Ian's like after this huge is this massive shift that like everything feels like the rails are crawling off everything is unprecedented we're in a nightmare tunnel we're live a literal nightmare tunnel and we come out of the other end of it and it's like oh yeah that's basically the same kind of shittier you know more people don't have jobs uh you know standards of living are going down a little bit more people have lived 0:19:38 with more debt but things are basically the same only worse which is what Felix is been talking about for the entire show's history and I feel like he was right about Biden we were all zipping and zapping and going up and down on the roller coaster with Bernie and Felix was we kind of almost tried to talk him out of it but uh he was right the whole time and he's also been saying the same thing about this well even I mean maybe he would say differently now that we're in the middle of this but I gotta say if something feels right something feels darkly awfully right about it'll be the same except slightly shittier because that big collapse the destruction it's like

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

even if you die in it it will still feel like judgement it will still feel like climax it will still feel like something meant something like you you witnessed something you were part of something you are part of the end of something and you'll know that even as you die the worse is now I don't know I'm not part of the end of anything I'm the part of the middle of sub-goal ***** that will go continuing on beyond my death into just this awful grace Eddy state of steady decline into inhumanity that's a bummer that's a bummer so honestly yeah like the more dramatic more Doomer scenarios are the ones that are actually more in a narrative sense happy endings more satisfying you know I mean cuz if you're gonna go down either way whether in 30 years or look maybe you're gonna be the one trou knee and your own ***** fluids because you had to work at Kroger shift so they wouldn't repossess your Kia you're still gonna be out would you rather be out in a blaze of idiot glory like to live in a Bosch painting to live in a to see judgment to hear a voice the depths of uncaring space a single voice a single voice of judgment to render meaning and shape to what has until now been a pointless futile painful confusing existence instead of just knowing that one of these days it's gonna be like this and one of these days is just not gonna wake up which would you rather have and I gotta say and that's what makes me think the reality is gonna be we get off the ride and it's Oh everything's just kind of shitty here I have less money I live in a worse place I have worse health more of my friends are dying of coronavirus until you're one of them so you get claim to but slowly through entropy through just the examination of the spirit into complete enemy and ennui or go down with the bucket ship you go down with the ***** ship you get to go down into the depths of the ocean lash to the back of the great white whale himself to the last I grapple with thee from hell's heart I stab thee for a hates sake I Spit my last breath at thee you get to have that you get that little bit you know you all know that that was the happiest moment in Ahab's life right that's I think that unassuming am i right if anyone else is i it's been a while since I've read Moby Dick if there's any other like English majors here who could contradict me that's the happiest moment in Ahab's life right this is the moment before he is sucked into the bottom of the ocean because he's there because he's on the whale as opposed to just dying of scurvy well ***** ***** around in the middle of the Spanish mane oh boy no thank you No thank you mister yeah I think someone said that one of the reasons that everyone likes dr. Strangelove so much is that how could you not love a movie with such a happy ending because that's the genius of Strangelove is to render apocalypse ironically like the the nukes at the end are orgasms the beginning of the movie is this is the intimus the beginning of the intercourse there's the first shots of the movie are our footage of in of midair refueling of like the of the of the Missile Command like b-52s that like flew up perimeters of Russians all in nukes so it starts with the set like literally the impregnation then it ends with no we meet again everyone going in at once I've talked about this before in the show and I'll play the song again I'll play the time layer song which is some other thing you want and it's the beauty of that of the nuke one is it was it promises basically painless death like Oh will die but it'll be you know you're gonna be a ***** shadow on a wall probably or you'll be dead within a few months it's not gonna be that bad but you'll know everyone else has gone too so you know you're the F you've you've rendered youyou life has been rendered meaningful even with a slower decline like if 0:25:50 we come out of this in a real crisis like the u.s. breaks up I'm sorry to know that you were that you were there for the reign of the last president that you know that whatever comes back is not going to be what was your the last American you were it's like being somebody it's like it's like think about thinking about people like think about somebody who is there for the SAP of Rome you know or like when the ***** Crusaders took Jerusalem I mean these are epochal moments so yes that's why I think like for your short term if you especially if you have young people in your life if you have kids or you have vulnerable people in your life good the short-term good but also I think that's why it's most likely because it's the most most depressing the most spiritually deadening possibility so that's why I think it's most likely to be true 0:26:52 so good news good but yeah it's like I could say that now he would be as horrible as anything I okay the fall of Constantinople that how about that oh yeah one of those people who smashed the Berlin Wall with the ***** sledgehammer I mean there's a reason people still have those rocks hanging around but of course that was one that didn't kill everybody thank you for saying you died for me I'm gonna need a few of you too because otherwise I'm absolutely gonna get out 100% I mean and I Pro 0:28:5 read our technology well I think I could tell you that if I know that we're either the matrix or if we're uh communist if we're communism cool we technology got us there if it's the matrix that I gotta have to say Monday Morning Quarterback comes out so I guess I'd have to say since right now I would argue in my gut I feel like oh right isn't it Anzac Day this is the guy you guys how come is it is it just like Australia's personality like inferiority complex vs IV Britain is that why they celebrate getting their asses kicked because I was talking am i doing it right about this and mighty points out that it's not like you can't really point to any other Australian successes 0:29:6 that could try up so that you could remember I mean yeah they didn't have a great record in World War two while still getting captured by the Japanese and going into Vietnam with us and going in Afghanistan with us those were big bundles I mean what would you you know they're all bad but like at the end of the world of the world war wide it was Australians that helped punch through the final German lines and end the war you know instead they want to commemorate getting like zipped up by a bunch of ***** Ottoman teenagers what just got a fresh lead greased Maxim done because because they get to like make the British feel guilty I guess like hey remember that insect right yeah this was bloody Churchill just say this into the ***** this would cheer just see the city the blimey Bunga shoot and it's the bloody Bunga shoot Mike it's a it's a black eye if you send us into the blade and bang Bashir 0:30:9 might right yes at Churchill he put us in the bloody Bubba sheep you put us in the body boom boom boom badoo boom yeah they also lost the all right that's a good question actually if we are going to be serfs in a Neos neo feudal order who should we feel swear our fealty to which of the great Lords which is the Great Houses would you want to work with I mean like if you think about Game of Thrones you know they're definitely worried it was all futile ISM you were being exploited but there are definitely places you'd rather have been like you definitely if you were you know even 0:31:10 a mere stable boy or or a or a groom or a milkmaid you'd much rather swear fealty to House Stark then house Bolton that's not a contest I mean you sure as hell would rather than a serf to like I don't know like Elizabeth then we're now one of the one of the relatively confident English kings I don't know then like Elizabeth bathra I was just gonna say so yeah who do you want these Oh seems like a absolute monster everything I've heard about him about his weight runs his company his company's practices he seems to be a self-consciously evil person she is a guy who I think even in his own mind is the bad guy and he relishes that fact he's sick he's twisted he's Joe defied so I would definitely not want to pledge fealty to a house house Bezos who 0:32:11 else man Zuckerberg I would say I'm surface how Zuckerberg seems like it would be better but how Zuckerberg feels kind of like a blue burg situation where it's like hey this is all fine and dandy but you know don't open this door because that's where you know you have 500,000 like permanently traumatized people getting paid pennies an hour and like the Philippines to watch snuff videos and like gang rapes and the people that they have to filter off of Facebook that's like the ***** room full of wipes heads so thank you for Facebook so now thank you mr. Zuckerberg house Zuckerberg how skates the guy is a foreskin heating ghoul he's an Epstein guy you want a Sears clearly Epstein people's waffle I know that's hard there are a lot of non Epstein powers I guess but I don't Disney obviously guy ah I'm an entertainer 0:33:12 right I could do so I face ok had the new viral movies out ah I've seen all those pieces yet I'm like compelled to watch them uh so yes I'll look I'll do it unboxing youtube series where I unbox ***** pops about ***** up Doctor Strange 3 which is on well house mask is like it's like a guy who like making his like a Egyptian pharaoh burying his servants with him he's taking you to Mars to like live in the foundation of his giant necropolis no thank you I don't think I get I get seems like 0:34:13 a like a kind of a laid back dude I can do from a soy face I'm gonna write pretend

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

that this is a this is a pretend this is a Martian Manhunter or now ain't it that's DC dammit what's a really stupid Marvel superhero there's a uh-oh no I ant-man Blue Knight is good well that's good yes all right pretender this is like a moon night action figure from like guardians of the galaxy six how's I've been to Brazil I asked 0:35:46 if I've been in the Latin America I've been in Brazil once that's about it it's pretty cool this is before Boston arrow this is till the end near the end of Dilma's rule every middle middle class person we met was wildly hated Dilma and they were they were really like American tea cots like a guy told us about how yeah they had free health care in Brazil but it was bad because people were like getting AIDS on purpose or something so that they could go to the doctor or like because they didn't care about care of the doctor or something because they'd get it for free but yeah one of our guys we knew was a he was he owned he was raising money with his boyfriend to start off CrossFit studio so I guarantee was they all loved balsam marrow but it's 0:36:48 beautiful it's beautiful we shouldn't people shouldn't live there probably we should leave those wart rainforest alone I have not been to Palestine I forget Asajj I don't know what I'm I don't know if I do I don't know what McConnell is comment gonna let the states go bankrupt I think it depends on what it that means I mean out at all I don't know if the conditions are gonna be I mean I think he would do whatever it took to stave off a complete collapse of the system to the point of like states no longer contributing to one another's you know infrastructure therefore breaking ties literal satirical force pushing America apart I think he would want that to avoid 0:37:51 that I know he wants to preside over the the dissolution of the United States but I don't know what the minimum action whatever the minimum action to prevent that will be is what he will do how about that I don't know if that's gonna be it might be that they bail out the states it might be that they figure out a way around doing that the way they like keeps creditors whole I know it if you want to be I watched formal it's very good it's very good because it reminds you of the possibility of limited hangouts the idea that that people can like organizations like the CIA can 0:38:54 admit to things that look very bad for them and that that that in the long term are things that they can handle running out that don't like destroy their foundation and that you serve the benefit to them of making them look forthright it looked like you know what's going on there and so like it was supposed to be a scandal for years that the CIA dosed Frank Wilson without his knowledge and that he dreamt out that window so they were willing to admit that they dosed their own guide to see what happened because it's like well that's ***** up but happening a number of years ago most of those guys are dead you know it seems like kind of like a party prank gone wrong awesome which disguises the massive massive size of MKULTRA the number of ***** prisons and colleges that got in couch' funding the number of places where the number of people hundreds and hundreds of students and prisoners like whitey bulger - Ted Kaczynski being exposed to massive amounts of LSD on a daily basis 0:39:56 without their consent or knowledge what they were what was happening but they turn it into like basically an animal house fly the real thing is they murdered him cuz he was gonna spill the beans about and the u.s. using ***** of biological weapons during the Korean War that's a spicy meatball that's closer to the bone and if you if you say the first thing you don't have to say the second thing cuz people stop looking I think we have to think a lot about that in terms of what we think we know and how much stuff is limited in its in its hangout but you can't go too far that way because that's I kind of gave up a better call Saul I found the hole as soon as they made it about Gus and M hey this is how Hector does a stroke as I give a ***** I know how all this ends and I know if it was this interesting it's all like let it be in 0:40:58 your head you don't need to know everything and the fact that it's been four seasons and he's still not ***** Salma Saul Goodman give me a ***** break this is prestige ***** I mean honestly as good as better call Saul has been the talent in front of the high the camera better utilize that they just said we're not doing prestige we're gonna do an old-fashioned TV show we're gonna do like the Rockford Files with a sleazy lawyer with the with with ***** Odenkirk and those guys imagine that show Rockford Files with a crooked lawyer instead it's like it's Breaking Bad jr. where you can't move it forward not any of those stories because it happens before so you're left with this these dead-end things that aren't going to lead anywhere they get drawn out anyway mini Breaking Bad Oh the only parts of breaking a bit of a better call Saul I like black and white parts the very beginning when he is a Cinnabon manager 0:42:0 you know because I don't know it's gonna happen because it still has some frisian there's still some tension was when he was waiting to get them to put his social security number in the Machine correctly you know what's gonna have ***** it pop better call Saul there I guess because it's it's it's creative missteps are the result of following a template of prestige television that I've hated for years and we literally have seen a perfectly good project destroyed by it I said it actually right I think I'm gonna type up that hot take after this and see everyone get mad at me but I'm gonna be no this is a crap shake sir so this is a correct take Matt rules that is also a correct tape I hope I rule Breaking Bad there's an example of the tragic lameness of 0:43:3 prestige elevator thank you good take 100% thank you adopt a cap to fellow cows or Oh I'm in a shed are you in some sort of hole it's not hole it's a space underneath a deck it's my backyard area so this humble little postage stamp of land that gives me a little bit of air and I like to smoke out here and and it's later so I put my light on so I don't have any other appear lights but I'm gonna get a grill it's gonna be nice gonna get a grill I'm gonna get nicer chairs I have pretty bad chairs out here chill

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

out chill gonna get a shades with all of you guys then I can actually practice what I've been preaching about grill pillow I haven't been able to grill yet after since I said I want to drill out and been able drill thrush ready I'm gonna start grilling guys hand to God on god I'll start grilling I least evil US president is obviously Lincoln there's no Comcast because if you look at evil and good as I look like a good play style point system Lincoln got all the bad points off that all American presidents of the 19th century got mostly related to Native American dispossession and genocide he did preside over the largest mass execution in American history of Sioux Indians in Minnesota after an uprising there in the middle of the Civil War he also instituted the Homestead Act which was just a giant pet settler free for all just to come to get come to get it buffet on a Native American land so but every other president in the 19th century had all those same points bought Lincoln has ending slavery so that means even if he's still in the red even if he doesn't go to heaven he is still relatively way higher up in the rankings of just like pure numbers I peer negative or positive numbers of you know sin points as any American president could ever come close to second I would say John Quincy Adams but he is a yeah that's it those are the three least evil I like I said I don't even know if they have positive or negative point numbers but they have way fewer of negative points grant was cool John Quincy Adams while he was there yeah I mean he was a one-termer so they had less time to do bad stuff he was a guy who promoted he did want a non-confrontational Indian policy I mean compared to a guy like Jackson or even Van Buren he was a **** pieced economic question he presided over a slave state country but he was against slavery and he fought against it afterwards as a congressman I mean he famously defended the Amistad Africans before the souls before the Supreme Court as depicted in the Dee Steven Spielberg film Amistad so ya know I would say oh and he uh you know he is well the visionaries of non-interventionist American foreign policy there's a reason that those does like that coke funded think a foreign policy think-tank that just don't know just call the John Quincy Adams Institute because he's like the guiding light of those kind of guys like the guy who warned against even in but it was still it's very early stages what American imperialism expansion is it would mean in terms of morale he was a clarion call like he knew it was gonna happen he knew what expanding westward was gonna do he was gonna just destroy the spirit in like the morality of any kind of project that was being done in America I was gonna just fundamentally rupture the social fabric and destroy the legitimacy of the state from a moral perspective so I give him a lot of credit on that and then grant you know presided over Indian massacres and stuff but also also did not want to do that I mean he did want to pursue a more more a less violent Indian policy but those around him were not interested doing it and he couldn't really ever assert control

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

it that way but he also effectively pursued reconstruction ***** broke up the clan from in its first iteration and and as soon as he laughed the whole thing fell ***** 0:48:20 part but like he flipped the food put his foot on the gas there and I give him respect for that so those are my top three of what your Wilson was a ***** maniac our only PhD president our only nerd president I mean yeah they're all nerds but this guy is a literal college professor he was the President of Princeton he has a PhD in political sucking theory or political science whatever they called it like that he wrote his thesis on like how Congress works actual nerd ass ***** well yeah it was racist he was he wasn't he was a wildly hypocritical anti-imperialist who loved using American intervention domestically and honestly his decision to go to war if you believe some of the more provocative thesis is about World War one that the US 0:49:22 was essentially brought into the war by by JP Morgan but due to the amount of money he'd lent the Allies and his fear that it would go unrepaid if they lost theirs there's it's not it's not a totally boundless deep thesis there's something to it I think so yeah and of course you know being hella racist pursuing segregation of federal office buildings you know invading Haiti invading Mexico I think invading Nicaragua and then of course they're awful absolutely being useless as a ***** tits on a bull at Versailles being a total oath who couldn't even get the u.s. to sign on with lean of Nations and then had a ***** stroke it had his ***** wife and his doctor running the country for the last year while they the upton sinclair book you mean the book 0:50:26 about the campaign that i've been reading it's called the campaign of the century i'll talk about it I'll definitely shout it out of the show because I'm getting a lot of really good details from it he it's fascinating because he does it's not a conventional history of the campaign it's a day-by-day recounting of everything that happened from the day Sinclair got the nomination in September of 1934 to November election just everyday and then filling in everything within the back as he's talking so yeah I've seen the attack as this the stuff that they put together against Sinclair is wild it 0:51:28 was like the entire media a riot a raid in one way and like even in the world even in the midst of the ***** Great Depression even with the New Deal like stalling people still saw that that that the entire array of capitalism song against the sky and instead of saying look what they're trying to do look look look what they're scared of look what we could do like why are they doing this why would they do this if they weren't scared it could work because if it doesn't work you just take over in fact and then here they've been disqualified forever and then they're out of power you never have to worry but yeah it's gonna be a good episode I'm gonna record it for next week I'll you know they basically invented negative campaigning against sick Claire they 0:52:29 invented it basically every concept that wasn't really done before yeah but not like I mean like independent expenditures you know Pat I basically have let it's super

CUSHVLOG 8. CUSHBUNKER

PACs super PACs Stav would be a great president president Stavros let's do it make it alright guys I'm gonna head off feeling uh feeling my energy levels dropping I feel 0:53:39 like I've uploaded my Oregon energy on to all of you so if you don't want to suck some of that up all over through the interwebs and be recharged and reborn I will see you on the flippity-flop I don't know if it'll be back here in the in like in the bunker

CushVlog 9

---

CushSlats

4.25.20

good evening mr. and mrs. America and today instead of coming from the bunker I come from the beautiful gorgeous apparently it's the only nice day we're gonna have tomorrow it's gonna be rainy again so want to get out here well the Sun was still out enjoy some of this beautiful nature look at all this stuff happening around trees and billowing bushes and such there's dainty toe in the white house there's a good idea sheet over the White House there's a worldwide pandemic economic collapse in a way that like the post like the post-keynesian economy world economy has never had to deal with kim de jong hoon might be dad and there's a goddamn cheeto in the white house how the hell are you supposed to make sense of it hi hi makes sense of a dead top Dan beyond everyday it's got a mound everything that Tom isn't the one thing not the one thing the evening redness of someone says ***** me for streaming right now why would I want to stream any other time look at this the Sun is literally in my face for dad's sake I don't know I hate edibles because you can never guarantee what you're gonna get or like how long it's gonna last I hate all that animals are for like when you go to a movie or something and unique and you you have to you know you're gonna be out of the house like edibles I don't understand the point of edibles in quarantine I guess like to get surprised by yourself like oh ***** I'm way higher than I thought it was I guess I don't know I've only been smoking but I'm Austin also have other things other than that other than acid or I'm sorry other than others leave that might be contributing I'm trying to like trying to crossfade I guess you thought I gotta say like drinking a lot less I used to like alcohol so you know if someone's my I don't know if my chrono sings the word how you guys doing man how you guys living in this year of the cheeto add new MMO cheeto nay would that be it had no cheat on a AC the year of the cheeto the year of the frito-lay cheeto product like we're in a goddamn David Foster Wallace book and the thing is that you make fun of Wallace all you want but he got it he knew it was coming more than anyone he knew was coming you saw it here the subsidized time I mean there's no figure in like creat like especially right around the turn of the millennium there's no figure in science fiction or literary fiction that heralded Trump more than Johnny gentle

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

famous crooner the the nonpartisan president of the onin Confederation that would rule near the thing about like people hating David Foster Wallace basically happened because like guys a guy's involved there's there's mom I hate the sound to read bill here but this is just the back is that like you know there are certain strategies were attracting women that certain men adopt and ones who aren't usually else we use 0:5:12 use their wiring their wits of ahem you there ***** basically I'm saying is that you you you you goof on the the jocks with like the art girls but eventually the jobs aren't there anymore it's just you and the art girls in Brooklyn so now what are you doing like you know none of you know how to play football none of you none of you could change a tire so who's the who's the jock who's the scary masculine guy that you can convince the more anxious of your female friends that you're not like well Hugh Pete's David Foster Wallace skiff gets pretty sad like then really that's like like when they're going out there making it being bro like to read a book that fifteen hundred page book then those those those terms don't mean anything if reading a 0:6:15 fifteen hundred page book makes you a ***** a bro then there isn't the bro doesn't mean anything it's a totally relative term that's just used as a way to distinguish yourself anyway infant jest he got what was coming he got what the speak out like the psychological interior aura t that late capitalism produced better than anybody in my opinion and you might say well that's cuz you're a white male and so yeah probably because he wants to and that's part of the reality of it like the part of the end part of that like maddening generalizable but then also so like neurotically and mmm and specifically individuated so that like I can think it's Martin totally my own and also feel exhale Universal because that's the way that that's that's relate that reflects the same facets of capitalism it's instant in math malleability and 0:7:16 customizability so that state of mind I think he gets that better than anyone but of course it's filtered through the mind of a white male dude bro so white male Duke bros read it and they get that I think more readily because they have fewer they don't have to translate it it's it's straight it's like reading something in its original language as opposed to a translation or having to do the translation to yourself from the second I think that is it oh yeah so uh DFW stamps are dudes ***** limit he wasn't genius about everything I like the fact that he wrote like that mathematics book and like all mathematics say no he was a ***** he had no idea what he's like but because it's mathematics and like that's the kind of thing that because that's the thing that made him a genius too because like the thing about people like me is the end of the day I think this is almost universally true gun to the head people 0:8:18 like me who like maybe know a little bit about history maybe have a little bit of a those ability to like synthesize concepts maybe they can recall ideas maybe they can you know be maybe they can bring a bit of insight into a text that maybe you

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

couldn't if you were reading it we all think and if there's anybody who is who thinks that they're like me and this disagrees you can ***** take it up with me because I won't I mean I don't know if I'll ever believe you I think you're lying who doesn't think that like hard science intelligence people with that are like smarter than they are and so the fact that he was this you know consonant indoor theater kid but also kind of a jock a little bit and then also a scientist a real smart person come on that's literally like creating himself as like the the the ideal version of the like late American male that synthesizes everything that came before like the dialectical embodiment of the late American white male like that's what he was and that math Matt but the thing is what I'm saying but the joke of that is that he wasn't actually very good at mathematics according to actual mathematicians and I have no way of judging what they say the people who are smart in math say no his math math was terrible and then like all of his books on hard math are riddled with errors of like that are very basic and I just like that's another thing like the panic shooting I don't know if that's true and I never will because I don't know how to count I can't count on my think you need my fingers to count not kidding like I literally got officer no I won't say that but I'm basically can't do math like beyond what's asked of my fingers so I have no idea if you know what he was talking about the people who know what they're talking about say he does didn't know what he was like but anyway that's why he was like he was the he was the full spectrum he was the embodied man you know he was the man in full hilariously like it's kind of funny that uh that Tom Wolfe wrote a book in that exact same time period that spouts the same phenomenon that he called a man in full but because of course he was writing it from the perspective of the ***** boomers it didn't capture it because you know he couldn't translate the moment but you could have called him that like a biography of him could have been combat incentive whatever the hell the name of that biography of him in it have become like a ghost story is a love story or people were talking smack about me and the Tom Pynchon subreddit what what because I read it because I read against the day I only said good things about pension I don't understand why they do that' me and i have not claimed a knowledge about pension that does above my station which is i'm sure what they really get mad about does anybody reference a pension doesn't understand that the level they do which of course you know that's up for them to decide I would never make that claim but I don't know so I never said anything bad about pension and I was and I read a part of against the day which is like an under read pension book I kind of think that I think is really good and like just a good piece of writing well what well that's what did I how did I offend the pension people or if someone would ask me I'm just curious they don't really care they're sucking the same you know it's basically like why is that why are the MLS mantenere where the ***** why are the anarcho-communism at me it's like it's all the same thing it's like being in the pension somebody just tell just book clubs they don't like me well ***** them suck my dick that's my answer you can read you can read pension and you can watch this ***** livestream which one are you doing which one of you ***** is reading gravity's rainbow right now instead of watching me and that's true even though there's a goddamn cheeto in the white house they don't like how I get twisted well I mean some people can't handle the twist of us I think John Collins my friend John Collins is a person I trust most to tell me what picture me and see seems like he lives it and incorporate on Twitter of course into those are my and Flores and uh yeah those guys are my constantly areas on kitchen oh no not the not the fash not the pipeline guys yeah why haven't you talked enough about the the chapo to the chapo to Pynchon pipeline because that's got to be a thing right at least one person has felt like they were required I know I know I literally being on the show the only reason I've ever read June I know dune is not as good as they think by pinching by a million years but it's almost as hard to read as pinching is because of how like just clunky and poorly put together it is his prose but I've read the ***** thing because I was sick of not getting the references that him and will were making Felix the world will keep just talking about shouldn't shut the ***** up about like do can't rabies in the sleeper being awakened I'm like alright this is what the ***** going on like I only knew from that awful ***** David Lynch movie that didn't even make sense so I read the whole ***** book don't like the first one I'm not gonna read the rest I'll just go to Wikipedia summaries from that one throws so sloggy but what I'm saying is literally just being on the show made me read that awful book so I got I believe at least one person is read pension because they've listened to the show which means that there is a if someone would say that if I could get one person to say yeah I I wanted to get a reference or something or some mid recommendation so I rent a pension book if someone says that and they could like even if you just have like a screenshot of a pension book that would be more of a real real pipeline than the chapo to fash pipeline which these people imagine exists and have never existed shown example I don't want I don't know dig this back up again because I mean obviously this was not a close contest this is a destruction that no need to be ungentlemanly about it but it is funny that if I had to I would it would have an eat I would have an easier time making an empirical argument for the existence of a chap there's certainly a chapel to Doon pipeline but that's sort of obvious and easy because like I said go back in time and kill any one person who would they be I mean you can't just say who obviously because you have to say when I mean we just talked about assassin 33 for that very reason killing Hitler or killing baby Jesus is way different than killing Jesus on the cross it's way different than killing

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

Jesus in the garden so the question is when and who it's hard to imagine any one person affecting anything enough to be landfill so it has to matter to you like not in the lingerie right because the fact is it's like if you go by the lingerie nobody is individual preference for anyone out come over and others should be privileged to test how could it stack up in the weight of time it has to be privileged by its present situation by the acuteness of it as a sensation right like that's it you know that's an that's a that's a utilitarian observation that can't be denied I mean I understand that you could have like a religious disinclination to believe that you know if you believe them ancestor worship or whatever but the reality is is that present feelings emotions are more real to us than both abstracted away from us so I don't know I can't talk about so it would have to be well basically this is my way of saying would have to be somebody in my very near timeline because I'm the launch could you really ask in the long stretch if you really pull to act pullback and exactly this moment in history the way that we most of us who aren't like very specific historians of specific moments the way we regard history but the same sweep the way that we view like say something the way what we freight with lists the words the Ottoman Empire where the Roman Empire for that matter how much time that word that that that phrase in our head what that means the amount of time in space the amount of human lives that that encompasses and then in that mental nugget imagine we're in that same nugget for someone else thinking about like you know who stopped Hitler from taking power or didn't stop Hitler or Battle of Tours or only Hitler has been killed wherever the ***** like any of it would matter in the long scheme no because those things are determined by forces the longer a periods are in our mind you create pyramids out of chaos longer a is the only reality or the only thing close it's the white whale it's it's its recognition of the other that's it that's the only reality that's the only real thing that's the thing that haunts all of our moments on earth and that's what's represented by Pacific Ocean by Moby Dick by Judge it's the only real thing everything else is just intellectualizing around that this building sediment around it oh boy how you guys doing see what's going on I don't know if I'm being very oh man these questions are so interesting because they go from such a ***** gamut from like very specific small-bore political questions to ***** like you know questions of essential nature and like like questions that ask you deeply to the record with who you are and then ***** like oh do you think fight was gonna follow through on his Medicare pledge or whatever the ***** oh boy there's a goddamn cheeto in the White House how are you supposed to deal with that why there were so many serial killers why would their serial killers from the 1980 or the 1890s why are there serial code is a victorian-era hinge points where the that's where the the hinges start moving things start rubbing against each other it's things to pop it see people assuming trump's gonna win hilarious to me he could absolutely loose in fact this Mike I would put money on they're losing I mean I wouldn't put a lot of money on it and I probably wouldn't get very good ads but I put money on they're losing I don't know maybe I get good on spending on how convinced people are that because of how obviously terrible Biden is the Trump must get reelected it's like I mean if this hadn't happened and we were still cruising and like you know the Fed was still weekend Bernie using the American economy across the finish line which you would want to do you know it's it's like having Trump as president it doesn't really see any why change horses in midstream for the point of view of capital that means that all the like the right level ders have been held and like you don't have to worry that they're gonna pull the rug out from every year the way that the Fed did against poor Richard Nixon in 1960 well the I mean you could say like the proximate reason Nixon lost in 60 is because the Fed refused to do short term interest rate ***** to stop the 1958 of 50 58 59 recession and he always like that was one of the other one of the Eastern establishments that conspired against him it was with their boy with a pretty boy JFK and that's why he was so free when he was in office to do whatever it took to ***** cook the books and was willing to go off the ***** gold standard for once at all and and the Bretton Woods system and float the currency but anyway what I'm saying is that those same Fed forces that that that has been keeping things going may be fine with Trump being president and so you know the Joe Biden we have sex predator a senile monster mama living mummy corrupt Dracula he would lose but this is an unprecedented situation and if people blame this ***** for what's happened and with him going out in public and telling people to inject ***** bleach into their bodies it's like you can say whatever you want about what he actually said you can say whatever you want about the media and how they are out to get him which is true but I'm sorry you watch the video of that and that is what's his indictment and I think that's one of the reasons and this actually punched I don't agree with Paul Krugman that this is the moment people turn our shop he's an idiot but what I think because what his followers think of him is I think beyond the can of anybody in New York and like presuming to say anything is fraudulent but what they could say I think because they're there they're easy they can understand Trump like a lot of these East Coast people I think the reason that they ***** up and talking about Trump and understanding Trump is because they second-guess themselves because they get Trump because they he's one of them but then the fact that he has all these regular Americans who they don't understand and are scared of but on his side it makes them second-guess themselves and then they start like both I don't know I don't know is he really what do you think no he is it's just because of this ***** idiot literal idiot box we put in front of people for ***** 20 hours a day the brains have been turned into ***** Velveeta you know it's if that's it you don't have to like try to send guess yourself but anyway what that means is that is that you could see in his face when he goes out there and says yeah put inject the chlorine put the bleach under your skin and then has to come out and say no I was kidding now he's now they're saying he's gonna not do the he was loving those things every day getting the bebop and scat that's his whole milieu that's the only 0:24:56 thing he likes about being president if the cameras on him and riffing everything else sucks he hates being meetings and signing hates but having the cameras on and him talking in front of especially the crowd groups lick lapping it all up he loves that and in the room he can't do that anymore he can't get like he can't get the crowds to give him back his mana so it's just this roomful of East Coast you know rootless Cosmopolitan's just giving him the old giving him the same Shaun decide they would have given him a you know across the table across the world across the floor at Sardis or whatever the ***** or like it at the Vanity Fair party they would give him the same like this because he's got those guys with him it's like I don't know it's like the ***** Hells Angel showed up but anyway this is all a way to say people might start blaming him for this if it's only response is drink bleach then people 0:25:59 are gonna be like even the mum raw man even the ***** the mummy man the rape mummy man at least he's got a party behind him that maybe will have more of an idea of what to do than the people who just let this ***** go on TV for four hours a day and say maybe drink bleach so that's why I say anybody says Trump's gonna win I think they're they've kind of allowed him to signa ties them a little bit but I mean it doesn't mean they're gonna lose either the people who out obviously that we assume I'm saying going the other way is also incorrect how can you say this election is gonna happen if it's gonna happen it's beyond my confidence I'm not gonna give money on whether the election happens let alone I will ready or reiterate somebody 0:27:3 asking about Jesse Ventura I'm gonna reiterate a little bit on the Misti Ventura and then I'll talk about the Kinze Jesse Ventura presidential election doesn't matter he is methadone I said this on the AC eighty the assassin 33 episode but I think we cut it so I want to say it here then and maybe I'll say it on the next episode of mine because I really want to get this across it's like yeah I was saying sure you know vote for Jesse Ventura people freaked out they're like well he's not a socialist and if you're gonna go through party well how Hallie Hawkins is a real trade unionist Florio relieved as part of a party you know so socialism liberation connected to you know real Marxist lenders it's like stop it that is the boot that's the nonsense talk of and crank idiocy that's the that's the organ grinders we monkey wheel of electoral politics it gets all of the that's all the most earnest minded cranks to get along with it if you've got ignore that sound like you have to be willing to not dance when the tune is played then clout on people that's hard because you want to move your hips so you want to get down there the Bernie was a possibility everyone was in the pit 0:28:5 they were going nuts because there's ***** walls but when he's out of there I'm sorry it's not worth dancing you should just do something else you honestly should do anything else including think about what the ***** we're gonna do about this because these elections aren't gonna have anything to do with it it's all gonna be us so maybe don't give a ***** about this at all this is literally the stretch so if you are going to have to like take some of that manna you were putting into the presidential election you can't just turn it off that's that's blue balls they have to be able to manage that declension you have to be able to manage the osmosis trance to just the trance to pure energy level transfer of that and if you want to do that a vessel to hold your excess or go and energy there could be Jesse Ventura because he's cool he's a pimp he was actually a kind of effective governor of the state of Minnesota he got a light rail through the Twin Cities which is way more than a gym Doyle could say in 0:29:9 Wisconsin that guy was the ***** he was a two-term Democratic governor before a walker uh and he didn't ***** get what light rail through in two terms he and what I think matters most is that like one of the reasons Bernie was a vehicle was because it was he was here with some media identity and you need to get people through their understanding of themselves in the world and I'm sorry it's the media we don't want that to be the case but it is the case we have to acknowledge the reality of media and so that means we have this phenomenon that we can deal with it's like that's why off third party ***** like well glory reliever Howard Hawkins like no these pick this is just for you this is not this is for you this is not for them it has to be for them and Bernie was for them and Jesse Ventura hypothetically not in this world but in another world tastes a little different Jesse Ventura could be absolutely justly power Schwarzenegger could have been if the ***** stupid Constitution had been written 0:30:11 differently don't you think Donald Trump beat Schwarzenegger he maybe beats him in a primary but seriously Schwarzenegger could have run as a Democrat in 2016 and I'm elated Trump you would have won nomination and he would have destroyed does anyone want to doubt any of that anyone I mean I know counterfactuals are stupid but come on if Schwartz Schwarzenegger changes legislation changes to Democrat runs against Hillary runs in the general destroys it and what I'm saying it's like that didn't happen and there's a lot of reasons that it not just the Constitution that that didn't happen and but things a little differently back adapt things a little differently Jessica tree could happen acting like any of this it's outside of reality is silly at this point but like I said this is just a fun brain thing to do to give yourself something to do that used to be concentrating on the presidential election it's not like you were trying to ***** to make a baby there like a little loool I don't know 0:31:13

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

whatever you wanted to call it we haven't found the name for yet maybe a little social so social democracy baby but other people are like actually no foolish sock tab in the inside this social democracy baby you think you're incubating is actually a workers were a working class baby who's going to from the inners of insufficient social democracy well first forth this new class mobilization baby and that will create communist whatever you thought you weren't gonna create something out of that this is sterile this is nothing into a sock and that's fine sometimes you gotta nun to a sock but that's it you're jacking off and that's what we should recognize all electoral posts Bernie politics paths and specifically whether or not you want to say for mean purposes and there's a blow off of steam that Jesse Ventura's epic and root for him because one those things are not in not non significant factors politics I think you 0:32:15 can't acknowledge not you could not deny now that those things have real power whatever material reality is generating them and determines them they have at like the the point at the at the point of like determining narrow outcomes they absolutely evangelist so like as a weight and and as a way to think about power as a way to think about the media and its relationship to politics the way it relates to yeah like the difference between a performer and a politician like understanding that difference and like utilizing different facets of celebrity for different political ends all of those things can be interrogated through the veg Steven sure for president concept which is why as a place for your excess enthusiasm as I guess they used to say in the 19th century have a little fun with Jesse I will be I have to do more than most because this is literally my job as absurd and ridiculous and short-lived as before anyone thinks 0:33:17 that means oh you're saying the chapo is going way it's like I mean who knows what's not going away it's not about the show it's about how like it only exists in a certain economic context that might not exist in the near future but either way that could be good like what if it is more war communism you know what if we do get like a ***** carnation revolution I would be happy to do that I would absolutely give this stupid life up go up to the ***** yep I mean I literally I'm disabled that's funny like I never pulled the card and it's not on my bio and I hate that politics of it but I literally I'm disabled if anyone has met me they know that I'm not physically able so I'm not gonna be able to you know hose many uh has many acres of potatoes as maybe somebody else but whatever you need me to do I would do and I'd be happy to do it if anyone had me it wanted to do anything that a so tonight physical ability I would do it I do not demand to be anime appraiser I swear to God and not the 0:34:19 man be anime appraiser I will do some actual physical labor but I think I absolutely answered this question about my favorite Ottoman Ottoman Sultan before but I'll do it again Celine the Grimm I feel like he gets widely underrated considering he doubled the size of this he doubled the size the Ottoman Empire in an eight-year

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

period that's I mean come on that's amazing and it was consolidated - it's not like with Trajan like yeah Trajan took the Roman Empire to its final ascent but they started trimming that immediately I mean Hadrian's Wall was put up after Trajan conquered Caledonia to be like all right yeah but we know realistically where our rip though same thing with the Middle East that didn't happen he held it he held North Africa until the mama loose rebelled like centuries later he held he helped the Caucasus for a while so yeah I gotta give it to Selene the Grimm even though not a lot of fun parties didn't last very long this is an interesting question somebody says was Charles Bronson the last the best actor to get pigeonholed in reactionary action of one it's a good question because I'm trying to think of other people who fit that description who else is like a reactionary movie star Charles Bronson definitely John Wayne yeah who else are there any other like Clint Eastwood I think yeah not like more thoughtfully obviously like he is uh like like Eastwood is clearly like a more progressive configure than Johnny Johnny Johnny John Wayne was well in every sense like I mean John Wayne was a it was a very hypocritical decency monger and Eastwood was much more of a like California guy like a swinging sixties dude ask Sondra Locke she'll tell you where she couldn't before she died but anyway but he was the same is the same values we just modified given like the dissolution of the social mores that had held under Wayne like recognizing the difference in culture but who else who else and then Bronson is sort of like the like the caveman version family Bronson is the unreconstructed chunk like if Eastwood is the alright this is interesting because they emerged on the same time as like stars seventies eighties death wish and Dirty Harry and Dirty Harry is the civilized Eastwood it's er I mean Wayne it's John Wayne's Americans civilized and a sin that that John Wayne's America Americans synthesizing modernity like that's what that's what that's what Eastwood was that's what Dirty Harry was Bronson Kersey was the was that slug was the reactionary slug the XS that had to get jettisoned to create Eastwood so that's what the Deathwish movies were and and then and and of course I mean then that follows too because Dirty Harry is a natural police officer and he never actually does anything in the movies it's illegal he's tough and of course like liberals and like tourney's and the elite types might say what he's doing is wrong but he doesn't break the law unless he very actually has to it always in the service of greater good Bronson is explicitly a vigilante who is not a cop does not abide by laws murders people with impunity like a guy who would a guy who was the villain in a Dirty Harry movie the bad guys in I believe it's Magnum force are cops Tim Matheson a young Tim Matheson buzz' ringleader who are killing bad guys secretly they murdered evil pimp and a pornographers and some oh and Dirty Harry kills them all he's like he's putting it back in the container you know it's like these are

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

these are the restraints that we need for a for a stable masculinity that can still persist at the top of the economic like that's totally accepted because we're not challenging that this is all about a cultural reconfiguration power will still be distributed as it always has money will still be distributed as always have excess surplus but in the most blunt terms surplus will be distributed as it always has so that's all taken care of the question is where do we fit on the on the stagecoach like where are we on the stagecoach and you know John Wayne he's got to be he's got to be in shotgun ***** you that's the only spot for him women women and like drunk Indians in the cap in in the actual stagecoach I'm up here with Chaka East looks like maybe on the back maybe give the girl a gun that's funny she's in bloomers and she's got a double-barrel lie got made well corncob pipe so it's not about like where you can like feel comfortable on the cart as it continues you know exploiting and export rating it and hyper exploiting and creating surpluses that are turned into these cultural curios and artifacts that you can value more or less based on your individual tastes which are of course all determined by the culture that produces them blah blah and so the synthesis that's like the the police state harbinger bye-bye Dirty Harry comes into being the the kharsa real-estate means we know as now the tough-on-crime war on war on drugs american police state and cars real estate to go along with it because you're arresting these people what could I be doing to you like that's the real thing it's like yes we're still keeping the lines of property and we're still enforcing them arbitrarily to the benefit of accumulated just heredity basically dressed up with different words but heredity total just something that is clearly wrong that cries out for for redress in the heart of any like a human being so it has to be command which is what culture is there to help do so yeah so that creates Harry Callahan and we civilize masculine dominance but that leaves the excess and that's Bernie Goetz and that's John he is the castoffs lug unreconstructed neanderthal white male masculinity that must be discarded if one is to create a synthesis now the problem is there's so much other ***** mcdeere's that that deal didn't work out as smoothly as anybody on any part of it thought it would and that means that all of the debt Judas does throw off the run off the stuff that's you know endemic to any kind of mechanism I mean it's you know grafting ***** builds up in the the pipes of a car engine saying what carbon and things so yeah Bronson he is really the he's the last like right-wing action star because I feel like for the most part like mainstream culture it agree that you're gonna get the benefit of a budget that's gonna get you talked about as in our understanding high of what like constitutes like a mass culture like at the level of a Seagal or something I think politics has been suppressed I think like we're seeing like Trump kind of represents this excess just like cultural caught the these tensions owns that are unresolved that are supposed to be resolved by by the market honestly

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

they're supposed to get paid off for it's must have bribed them into being those brides aren't happening anymore because there's not enough money to make the payoffs because the system isn't producing them this all started in the 70s with the state flashin crisis the energy crisis the the the profitability crisis of capitalism has been 0:43:37 in since that's the only way to understand the last 40 years of politics of 8-1 crisis that has been in persistence since then and in America and the short-term domestic politics sense the way that's been resolved the crisis of centers officer short-term bubbling inflation's defense industry in the 80s tech in the 90s but when that gets disrupted there's no more you know the money's got to come from somewhere and it came from working it came from the money that had to come from somewhere because the money in this case meaning profit it's like either reducing profit or we're getting it else from somewhere else me first obvious answer was from labor and so that's what they started doing and from labor in the cultural terms means the people who are supposed to be signing off on all these cultural arrangements and the thing that makes those those trade offs acceptable is that they are comedy they come with material races and circumstances that make those kind of cultural things matter less 0:44:40 because you're comfortable ***** like that matters more than agree to which and you know you're in general pain your life is generally constrained and and defined by lack and by fear and like all negative emotions like if you didn't read what your life is like determined by those is a very which like things like that matter because it's literally all you get it's like everything is in front of you and it's the only thing that matters you can feel more magnanimously the less the degree to which things more comfortable and so as those as that lubricant as the material lubricants went away it's like that process of them happening like all these like oh look at every single person who like doesn't mean where they shall look at how cool guys back then were they were on masculine and alpha she went back then older bad we're saying look at ***** look at these ***** ***** these guys you know literally do ancient Rome and 0:45:44 see that because it's an inherit process it's a civilizational process it is a partisan it's a dialect for ***** it's dialectical just if it was if you understand it is that it get Rob's a whole lot of it gets robbed a lot of the emotional stuff that makes it so hard honestly like that to sound I don't want to be like hey man get over it but like get dialectical and a lot of this stuff doesn't really I don't need I just how do you even care of course like yes this is all based on the back of hyper exploitation elsewhere it's just it was distributed among the top level more accurately and there's nothing virtuous about those things and this is the thing that needs to get understood and that people because the thing is this is all this all this all we're talking about all this language and our understanding of third world exploitation all those things are only consumed and metabolize by liberal subjects like people at the top of this *****

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

food chain so they have to they have to rationalize it so that's why if you think of 0:46:45 it dialectically man it's hard to get to why wrapped up in any of this ***** but then that's because you're comfortable but why I'm saying anyway this is all about how what I mean by that is that I give the people who are on the bottom if they were on the top they wouldn't be good by virtue of the fact that they used to be on the bottom it would still suck they'd be a baby's bad because they'd be exploiting the fact that they were suffering would not make them exploiting good and that is a fundamental misunderstanding that undergirds like 90% of of like a surface level understanding of things like identity politics and privilege theory it's all based on the idea that it would be better if someone who's was oppressed does an oppression I think that's wrong and I don't agree with that and I feel like if you don't accept that as the beginning principle it can undermine your entire approach to politics but anyway all this is just a mean is that the reason that these these things are thrown off 0:47:47 your Elliot Rogers is and your peppe's and your your little little creepy an anti donek little toad lit a class it's because you can't buy him off anymore because it's not you can't give like it's not because we change culturally it's because it's no longer invite you literally can't have a one family household you're gonna have two parents three kids I mean forget that forget all that you even forget like the mid-century you know consumer aspect of it even if you said no I know I don't even need a lawn I don't need all that ***** that was really all Madison Madison Avenue's brainwashing it was not actually part of any traditional life if you throw that away it's a I just want to be able to raise a family on an income you can do it it's impossible so it creates new things about that and one of them is is that actually women it's good it's not 0:48:48 only is it good to work or and I mean not only know you don't have to work actually it's great that you should work and it's empowering and it's the act not only is it empowering only place to get genuine work congratulations for the song because there was no more because they had to got it from labor because they couldn't get it from from the market anymore because things like the energy change the initially anyway so it was a defense of the night that Reagan and then there was the first bomb possible it happened before 9/11 which then coincidentally very happily for some people created a new sort of Keynesian military budget justification to do like an 80s defense build-up again on top of which you did a another speculative housing bubble and a speculative tech bubble both of course of course embedded in the spending created and then the network of companies and budgets and the created by the war 0:49:51 on terror and that yeah there you go whoo Wow I mean thing is none of this is really brained mind blowing or anything this is but it's also hard to put together man because they really don't want you to think of it all together they want you to think about all those discreet little questions and then you can do have discrete

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

good guys and bad guys and then you can have discreet personal investments and emotional attachments that can accrue to one or the other and then over time you can confuse your sympathy in a situation with some objective world stance or more importantly an objective like material insistence not same thing Bronson was a good actor I mean come on this is the last he was the last but anyway yeah so like a guy 0:50:54 like Bronson now couldn't be a movie star the guy like Bronson now would have to be you would have to be like YouTube guy or more realistic I mean realistically he wouldn't be as actor at all he'd be a ***** steel worker or he'd be an out-of-work still worker he'd be like he'd have he'd have like two kids with fentanyl addictions and he would you know be a part-time Walmart greeter with a ***** you know who's end-stage alcoholic that would be the reality of the mr. majestic Charles Bronson if he would like the version of him now there was a cultural version of it now it would be just like as an echo of him as like a crude puppet created by his met like his slightly better off suburban failed nephews and stuff like holding up these like literally like dead like day of the dead giant puppets like that's the that's their that's 0:51:55 that's the real you know like they're all there's their grandparents shirts filling up with what at the end of the day is just pure fantasy if something regurgitate that they are only building out of like it's it's a thing they're literally making a effort they're making an effigy of like their father's out of like the bonemeal spit out by the machine but they are whatever that would be whatever disgusting bonemeal and spit mummy would come out of that process it would be a YouTube guy or it would be a school shooter or I don't know it would be it would it would not be it would not have in for sure that's what that's what basically it would have to be unspoken uh I would have to be the subaltern and then would have to be destroyed but the thing is is that it's gonna keep conflict is never gonna end because source of the conflict is the increased friction you're not gonna unless you put unless you're gonna 0:52:58 grease up you gotta grease it up and there's no grease Spit on your hand there's nothing and so it's just gonna keep spraying unless you under you get you literally change the fundamental like Network problem is the way you get to do that is by organizing people who were all cast off shumphlett smade by this ***** machine in the first place it's tough hmmm-hmmm it's all stuff that makes you go honestly I love that Felix is doing and these I if you'd sold me when this all started all right what is quarantine Felix gonna get into because I I know he would do relatively well you know like you could like you can tell who you know who's doing better or worse and quarantine is largely the degree to which they were doing better or worse beforehand and the worst they were doing the better they're probably doing a quarantine and vice-versa and since you know Felix was always sort of in a crisis 0:54:0 stage just like kind of an ionic and the needing like short-term fixations to sort of

CUSHVLOG 9. CUSHSLATS

stimulate enough interest in him to keep like thinking life is like going through he's talked about this on the show yeah the dance between meaning and novelty and so it's always that's gonna spin on something you know I was like barstool sports or or twelve-year-old YouTube kids or whatever landing on NBC primetime shows didn't see that one coming but daddy's glad he hasn't know that he's having a good time like for me doing these to spend my thing and it's been very helpful because I was a couple weeks in I was starting to feel the flywheels coming off it this is like help because like I don't think I've done I literally lost track when I think of like how long I've been doing any one thing it just feels like I've been in a tunnel this entire time 0:55:2 it just feels like I'm it in a gigantic tunnel just like standing here this entire time is I am ***** like tiny places but I don't think I've stopped I missed one of these in I mean I might not have put them on YouTube but I don't think I'm just doing one for at least like half an hour at least half an hour for weeks and I hoping to do it for the rest of the quarantine time and maybe turn into something after that I don't know but short term what I want to do is put it on Twitch which I need a little bit more help with the computer ship to do but once we've got to figure it out this will be coming to twitch which will be great more interaction and stuff and it look like be easier to put on the youtubes because apparently it's kind of annoying that for Chris to get these off of here and put on YouTube I know I could be doing that but you yell at me I'm an old man I don't understand such things you get my ear you talk about the button and I can't download things I don't know people like I was taught complaining about how your computer hears you say you want to see a movie or it sees you type hey look hey you seen that in a while and then it goes in 0:56:3 to your streaming services and it removes them from from the queue so you'd have to purchase them or rent them 100 percent believe that's true and I've had enough people like say some things like that happen to them MacAlister yeah no they're doing it you're doing that to us the thing is there's no waste there's no escape that's like oh no don't go on Twitch like yeah but here I am on Instagram it's all just one giant sorry helping tunnel that we're all being fed into here is this that's always hello Lou let's see you alright guys see you tomorrow stay safe stay safe

Better Call Saul More Like Worse Write, Paul

4.26.20

if there's a spot I can make a desk or something here oh well I guess I'm gonna have to hold it I could put it in here maybe I don't know they got away hello hello everybody oh hello friends trying to get this a so yesterday I don't know if anybody watched the stream I did last night uh I was kind of tripping balls and at the end of it I had at the after I finished recording I sat in my little back area a little fenced in area and I looked up at the sky for a while and when you know it I ended up having one of those 0:1:1 legitimate like full-blown Satori moments actual enlightenment actual transcendence like one second one with the universe wherever you want to call it ego death bah bah bah I was there and then oh ***** just can't hear me can you guys hear me so so there's no sound okay I guess there's sound I don't know why people are trying to trying to guess like pork crush and trying to talk to you guys please so anyway I had a moment of complete identification oneness with the universe and then of course the second it was over I came back into my body it became reincarnated rebodied as me and of course I started falling away from that moment you know as the role the rock started rolling back down the hill and I was Sisyphus and I got to walk down it and 0:2:2 the thing about Sisyphus is Camus says you must imagine Sisyphus happy that's one of those things that just sounds like a Zen koan or something I understand it now because happy Sisyphus is one of gifts the top of the hill as often as possible because being on the top of the hill is fun and walking down the hill it's not as fun as being on the top of the hill but it's a lot more fun than pushing the goddamn rock up the hill so you just got to increase the the circuits you can't keep pushing the hill the Bull Boulder up one long gradient which is what most people do and what's recurse to do because of our material realities that constrain us and and and chain us so as I was coming back to my body and I was going down the hill and falling away the first word that came into my mind after because obviously in that time in space there's no words because language is obliterator that's not needed because you are one you 0:3:4 don't need to translate as soon as I come back to my body the first word it was it was a image in the sky of a crashing wave and the word yes and I realized that a lot of the like stuff I've been trying to get my head around in terms of like spirituality

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

and theology and questions of light body and mind and all these things that have been kind of I've been working on my head I feel like I'm making progress but I've been struggling with cut through the word yes cut through a lot of it and it created a symbolic order that allowed me to make sense of everything I've been trying to get my head around and so since of since my specific orientation as age race gender class background language culture all that stuff when I heard yes the first thing I 0:4:5 thought was the end of Ulysses and I got and all of a sudden I had one moment I'm thinking oh that's what it's like to have read Ulysses and then I was like oh wait a minute and then I thought oh great now I don't have to read Ulysses but then I realized I have to read Ulysses now even if it's bad even if it's a slow good even if it's whatever because it will remind me of that moment and doing it everyday will remind me of that moment and kick me living in a way that gets me there or gets me closer to it and it will inform my actions and it will inform my behavior towards the people around me and it will make them turn towards that sound so I'm gonna start reading Ulysses and I'm thinking I might do it maybe chapter by chapter on here like I said it doesn't matter if it's good or not but doesn't matter if it's worth it what matters is reading it see look this is what I'm thinking and this is the reason 0:5:6 that I'm thinking in these terms is I did a tweet that got a lot of people mad about better call Saul because I said better call Saul in my opinion suffers for trying to be a prestige show given the ingredients it has you've got you've got Saul Goodman here played by Bob Odenkirk a great character we all love and we've got these great people behind the cast the great cinematography and they but and they meant and it ended up being the show it is with its you know basically copying the rhythms of Breaking Bad and becoming a Breaking Bad of six Blissett prequel filling in all these gaps of well where'd Hector get his bail and things like that that's inevitable as soon as it had to fit the format of a prestige show and the thing is is that as a prestige show it probably is great I've watched enough of it yes it fits all of the terms that we discuss when we talk about prestige television yes it is as good you want to argue I 0:6:11 will say it's as good as Mad Men it's as good as break it's as good as Breaking Bad or even better it's as good as Sopranos whatever you want to say fine it's good but it's good in the context of a television show and the fact is and I've written about prestige TV and I've talked a lot about it and I just keep trying to act ikkyu late something that I've never actually been able to explicitly say in a way that felt to me like it even got what Mike I felt like I was even saying when I met let alone if other people understood it and what I realized after with this you know mental Ginsu now to chop everything up that I encounter is my problem a better call Saul is that it is a product of the Demiurge better call Saul like all prestige TV is a product of the Demiurge art is an attempt to reach the etheric plane art is always an attempt to strike at the heart of the universe is to strike God and become God every piece of 0:7:12 every attempt at art is that in some small way the way that the person making it can do or try to do its the urge to do it but then there's the reality the embodied reality of being a person being in a body that has needs and if there's no material needs that shape the world and limit us that's what the Gnostics talked about that's what uh that's what the Demiurge the evil God who creates this material world that's illusion below the the the spiritual realm like in this case if we're talking about art specifically in the context of art you know in an objective sense television is a more degraded form of art than literature by the very simple fact that it is more commercial and you might say well you know Stephen King makes a lot of money 0:8:13 and blah blah know what I mean by that is a book a the writing of a book and the publication of a book are relatively capital on intensive making a television show is kept much more by like attic by by exponential numbers more capital-intensive than a book which means that whatever art is in it has been constrained by being a product of a commercial enterprise and so that means that television will be it can be good every show could be fun every show you should enjoy every program you watch either stop watching it if you can't find yourself enjoying it or find something about it that speaks to you everything should be enjoyable artistically and if it isn't then you just don't you shouldn't find something that will something that you can work with it's because some things aren't gonna work because the the talent of the people involved the amount of resources put to it the amount of commercialism left 0:9:14 and within it that it's gonna hit you and it's gonna make it hard that is why I see I see better call Saul and I go look because it just reminds me that we're all praying to this like degraded version of art and the reason we are is because we have been immiseration like culturally thought capitalism has done that to us that's not a con it's not something you can argue like our tastes are more broad and people popped up it's like to say oh you're being a snob but I'm recognizing a goddamn reality here which is that there's a structural difference between art depending on how much there they are required to make money the degree to which a piece of art needs to make money to be worth the endeavor levin's its artistic per its individual artistic expression because it has to be translatable to the largest possible group and the art in translation gets lost and so that's fine you could find the sparks you can find the 0:10:17 things you like in anything including Breaking Bad but what happened is is because we have been we've lost free time we've lost energy we've what we've we've we've lost the ability to take a small moment and treasure something and really dig into it that we need our entertainments to be go down easier they have to be absorbable because we don't have the energy the mental or spiritual energy to sit with anything because of where we are because of how degraded our conditions are because of our

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

bodies essentially all these institutions capitalism feudalism before it was a slave labor every every class order created was created to to manage the issue of getting bodies keeping bodies alive basically and that creates our structures it creates our economic structures it creates our art its art creates our culture it creates our personalities it creates our religions it creates our ideologies it requires creates everything it creates this computer it creates this phone it creates this shirt and it creates the systems that create the exploitation a hyper exploitation that go into making this shirts and the-the-the-the gunpoint slave coltan mining that makes this this foam and those things are all necessary to the degree to which they allow for the body's human bodies to be restored but then there's the temptation to seek pleasure and pleasure always comes at the expense of someone else and pleasure also always comes at the expense of us always all pleasure is at the expense of others and at the expense of ourself karma and so these institutions get warped the Crowder The Crooked Timber of humanity no straight thing was ever made what that means is the crookedness is the fact that we have bodies and that's not a sin it's not bad you need to get the Christian the Christian thing is another a mother mistranslation from the initial uh from the initial true divining of like reality the material world gets in the way and it gets baffled and so Christianity gets muddled up with all this stuff and so when you say the but that like the body creates this world that's like well that's bad no it's not bad it's a national bullets and its inherent we have to deal with it we have to create a society that minimizes a suffering by spreading pleasure out as broadly as possible not concentrating on any individual because that doing so creates a situation where you cause misery to all the people whose exploitation goes into the pleasure of that one person and then that person's pleasure guess what it's fleeting it's going away they're gonna face the flames of judgement which is the coming of death there's no stopping it and so no one has gotten any kind of benefit out of that arrangement we've we have to have some suffering and pleasure just to keep the bodies going but it should be spread out that's where the dialect comes in and that is why like somebody said go back to Marxism I'm sorry but this moment made me realize that like these are nesting series of thoughts and ideologies and like structures and guess what nesting in here is dialectical materialism because that is how these this truth is like certain just like maybe Gnosticism or Buddhism or something or the Dark Tower or ***** I was talking about infant Jess the other day and maybe Ulysses those things help structure like your thoughts and make it make it easier for you to behave in a way that that reduces suffering but then you need structures within other people amongst people in the social realm of economic production political economy that need to serve those ends as well a dialectal materialism is the drive towards that it is the drive towards a world where everyone is free of the bodily a needs bodily

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

temptations and distractions is the word to reach full enlightenment and like when people talk about fully actually fully automated luxury space communism there's a lot wrong with that notion but the true thing it's reading with is that the only way for a universal human enlightenment which if enlightenment is the individual goal as it well should be then presumably it is the universal goal for all humans then you need some sort of taming and an instrumentalizing of technology toward the goal of human enlightenment as opposed to the dark singularity we're moving toward where the machine takes over and totally annihilates human spirituality completely and turns us into machines and so we don't want that and so how do we stop one or the other how do we get to this and now how do we push how do we push that yeah but you require zal a kit so you get to the top and you don't get there and stay there it's a process you go back you go back and you come back and you go back and you come back it's pushing the ***** boulder up the hill that's why it's compatible goddamn gotta get never mind but um so if we want that version where all Universal enlightenment then it requires in my view and I might be and the thing is I am wrong at some point in time in the future I am wrong I think I'm right now and I think I am right now I have enough history around me and I think I'm smart enough and compassionate enough together to figure out like broadly what's right more specifically as it gets drilled down I don't have the information or the intelligence to specifically answer questions of Technol technological like technological questions social questions whatever but broadly I think I'm right but I'm not right forever at some point my what I am at some point the future at some point space-time what everything I think is going to be wrong every single thing and that's true of you to every human being every single thing you have ever thought every decision you have ever made has been wrong and we are all in fact that the the the the sum total of our wrong choices so this is all the way of saying that you can enjoy better call Saul to enjoy better call Saul of course it makes doesn't make sense to watch it if you're not going to enjoy watching it to get mad at it you're getting pleasure somewhere else and at the end of the day the pleasures another's expense because what are you gonna do you're gonna go online like I have a million times and like kick people in the dick and say hi ***** you this shows stupid and you're dumb for liking it that's the pleasure I get out of it and that's it someone else's expense it's all pleasure is see what makes a decision right or wrong buddy exactly it's not defined until afterwards it's only retrospectively known because all time has already happened everything has already happened everything has already happened and when I say everything I mean not just in your life I mean the lives of all beings to exist or ever will exist but so you can enjoy better call Saul but you see the way people are defensive about the show and to see the way they get mad about it and

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

the way they write and even if they're not mad the way they insist on its greatness it's because they have decided that instead of acknowledging that lack at the heart of prestige TV is a concept instead of saying oh this is sad that now we have to get our real like artistic nourishment from something this just bond all eyes it's banal eyes it has to be because it's commercial it has to be banal eyes and I'm and I'm this is I have to squeeze I have to try so hard to squeeze meaning out of it not up for this not for my enjoyment show but to convince other people and myself that and that's 0:19:46 where that's why that's the sad that's why your love of if your say yeah bring bet it's like it's not necessarily bad it's not it's not going to doom you to like it in that way but it it implies a attachment to something that is degraded without acknowledging and recognizing the degradation and without the ability to recognize the degradation you cannot act in a way in your life to move away from degradation both in your interpersonal relationships in your preferences what you do with your time and what you think politics should be and how you should activate act on political beliefs if prestige TV is good enough then what out by do you need to change anything see here we go somebody says so the goodness of a every individuals relationship to a piece of art is completely individualized and it's in it's a result of translations because all artists translation all existence is translation your brain literally translating to 0:20:49 you through language what is happening to it first and symbols first and senses then in symbols then in words words to yourself and then words to others at every level the translation breaks down there is loss between every level of translation and by the time you're trying to express an idea through art you're way down here you're so degraded but there's still if you're talented enough and enough people see it and if you're collaborating with others and you make something together which because collaboration is that's what like that's depending on the art form helps in the project it helps signal boost like and in bring together a you know individual insights and individual talents and it creates something so there's something to it there's a spark to all art it's just either the talent was not there to to express it fully or or it was 0:21:51 a piece of cynical ***** but even the diss cynical talk ***** will have things in it that might be enjoyable you could watch piece of cynical ***** with the right frame of mind and enjoy it the danger is when you mistake the shadows for the figures and that is what prestige television does if we just accepted ya TV it's it's the idiot box the shows could be the same have the same stuff and and it would be fine but a a culture that requires television to be good is one that has not acknowledged its barriers exactly ya see like this is all this stuff like the Plato stuff I never really got 0:22:53 now I get it Gnosticism I never really got I feel like I get it and of course I get it less now than I did yesterday and I will get it less tomorrow than I do today my task is to get back is to remember that moment remember what I knew then and try to find it

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

again and the way to do that is by daily acts by the Eightfold Path by the path of the beam what that really means is not just I'm gonna say epic pact of the beam when I see like a ***** Stephen King reference it means doing my relationships with other people at my every action informed by the knowledge of what is there the imminence Beyond behind reality the real the real universe beyond the Demiurge achill one and then trying to get there and so that means I've got a that means these reading projects it's not about learning something it's about relearning something because you don't know anything you only have echoing clanging notions in your head a lot of them contradict each other and the only way to thread them together in a way to make them useful is to sit with them and that is not something that anything we do encourages not something anything in our culture encourages is sitting with these questions yes existential materialism whatever you want to call it Gnosticism well we're gonna put these if you've missed anything you can go back these these now update to my they don't go to the stories anymore I guess ask Instagram why but now they go to the time the grid I guess they're called so if you miss anything you can check that and all this while the cheeto in the right house what are the health because like Gnosticism says we this is a degraded Shadow Realm it is it's a greater chatter realm of material reality but we have to work with it how do we work with it how do we put how do we thread it how do we push it in a direction that leads towards the chance for Moore's as many people as possible to achieve transcendence and direct it back to themselves in the future and to everyone else who can hear them in their lives and people's around them it's by by the dialect it's by earth it's by by resolving contradiction because contradiction is at the heart of existence no and yes the universe the universe is yes and it's always there and it is outside of space and time the world is now and it is and we are all every person every being in the universe every memory photon every chain of chemicals every every anything those things are all knows those are different levels of rejecting and the thing is there aren't that many of them but there doesn't need to be because yes it exists outside of space and time it is the accumulation of knows over this endless pants they are accumulated in actual reality that in this world and you got to get back to yes and the thing is I say that and you hear it it's like what does that mean and for me these words getting back to yes they're freight 'add with my memory of this experience you are only hearing my words retell it which is fraudulence this nietzsche points out all language is a lie all I can do is use my talents that's such as existed they to such extent that they exist and and my will my morality to i intellect to to try to push in the direction of the good so that's better call Saul like I said I'm sure half of this is totally incoherent it makes sense to me but that's because I experienced it and my hope is is that by like trying to take this seriously as a practice of mind I will stay

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

close enough to this that I can occasionally get back there and when I come back hopefully I'll have an even better vocabulary because I've had these moments before they're all drug related because I'm a cheater because I'm a lazy ***** because I have bad morality I have I mean now bad morality see once again the judgmental I my my bad and good traits all my bad and good traits intellectually and morally whatever were fixed in time by the mistakes of others it is still my duty then to live with them and and proceed with them and try to use what I have that's good minimize what I have what's bad that is my task that is why both we are both totally determined all activities all all actions are fully determined physically absolutely and 0:28:18 yet you still have free will ya know I'm hoping to meditate more the sublime exactly that's what we're talking about and like people come at that from different ways like and different things contribute to your ability to get there and like my specific combination of abilities and and my character traits was positive and negative that had been fixed but by others got me a spot to see a couple these moments and every time I came back with a little more of it that made sense and then it would go away and the fact that I was only able to articulate it somewhat is part of what made it go away because I couldn't convince myself to keep trying because I couldn't even I couldn't even keep translating it to myself because I kept forgetting it because I was not in that present moment of mind and now that I have an even more like 0:29:24 coherent vocabulary for it that actually makes sense I'm hoping that I can express that everyday I can already feel it like right now it feels different but like I said it goes away with time and that's the thing remember nobody really believes all beliefs are acted upon and if you don't act on your beliefs you don't really believe them and like the thing is that doesn't just mean big lofty out like ideological blows like literally down to you know true/false like objective same as fact if you don't believe something you don't act on it and I need to believe this in order to act on it which means I have to keep in that mind space because in that mind space I know with full certainty that I am correct and the thing is it doesn't matter if I'm not because there is no there's no one to check it's my body it's my consciousness it's gonna end at some point I want it to end I want to be able to greet death with a smile by having at 0:30:28 least come close enough to the ineffable that maybe I can grab for the ring you know what I mean or get there whenever I want I mean obviously that's the Buddhist like end state which is very difficult to achieve why because you have to actually have ***** material conditions met like you have relationships with people you are meshed in a social network that has to be nourished so that means that it doesn't matter if I there is no right or wrong there is no there's no one's gonna check the score after I die no one is gonna look at my test results it's all about what happens in the interim between those two cosmic does mistakes my life my birth which is the result of the accumulated mistakes of everyone leading up to that moment and my death which will be caused by the accumulated mistakes of everyone else and myself but of course those mistakes were caused by other people's mistakes because as I said all acts are fully determined see this person saying oh you can do things without 0:31:32 thinking about your actions exactly exactly you're not thinking about your actions so you are carrying out a belief that's the actual belief the thing you think you don't really think you think you think it but you don't really think it if you really did you'd act that way it's not it's like I really believe it no you don't and it's like if it gets up at there like if you guys are talking about political stuff like Marxism or like socialism or something those are so huge and amorphous that like it's impossible to tie them to enough direct actions to say one way or the other but they trickle down into specific premises and if you do not really believe the premise you will not act on it it's unconscious but and the thing is is that people are so ***** afraid of being wrong and I think I realize is that you must always know how that you are wrong 0:32:33 you're wrong something deeply something that you believe in the soul is wrong it might not be wrong now you might live your entire life and that thing you believe is true but at some point it won't be true anymore every fact statement ever was true at some point there's a famous Bertrand Russell philosophical like proposition where he he's talking about like he's talking about language as like order how like a sentence that's that's correct without being correct in his presence and his example was the sentence the present King of France is bald right that was his that was his hip pocket example and of course that is the the words in that sentence makes sense they're in the right order and it gives you meaning but there is no present King of France so his hair were its non-existence is but the thing is there was a preppin bald 0:33:35 King of France the one of the Carolinians was ***** Charles the bald and every and and if you think outside of your life if you think outside of this world and think of the nested nested nested tests or acting expanding multiple versions of you multiple versions of Earth that exists then it's happened somewhere all that all of them have happened somewhere so every statement every belief is true at some point and it's your job in life to to in good faith seek truth knowing that you will fail knowing that you will fail knowing that the vast majority of us will 99.999% of us die in fear 0:34:37 and horror and and knowing that all you can do is try and see it like somebody said unfalsifiable how could you falsify anything you can't falsify I don't know man I build this pretty sure he said that yeah Bertrand Russell the present King of France why do you people gasp like me or are you like trying to make up I don't know I shouldn't care see this is the thing I need to remember it doesn't matter if it's correct or not doesn't matter if I'm right or not I just need to try to communicate to people and if I'm good enough at doing it and I try long enough and hard enough it's a real

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

important thing then hopefully somebody will get something out of it and it will help them and will help me exactly many don't try because they don't know how to and that's why this has to be divorced from judgment you do you have to divorce this from judgment like the person who is unable to choose due to like a child soldier in Liberia there they are fixed by others mistakes and others weaknesses a ***** Donald Trump jr. is fixed by the in Donald Trump himself the Hitler all fixed they still had a responsibility to to to seek truth and they failed but they failed because of specific limitations imposed on them from outside and so all we could do is try to live in accordance with beliefs as close to enlightenment as possible so that we can speak them and live them to others so that they can live them to others it's like a ***** multi-level marketing scheme it's it's a Ponzi scheme that ends with the world being universally enlightened and the universe winking out of existence because the Demiurge spoiler alert the evil god who created this material fake world guess what it's me spoiler alert it's also you every one of us is God and every one of us is the Demiurge and the Demiurge in material form is the accumulated bad decisions of every human being and then within us the damage is that which accepts that reality of face value so and see like I was thinking about this the other night like well I was thinking about I thought about Jordan Peterson and Jordan Peterson ***** about about like dragons of chaos like he is getting at real things real dialectical dialectical engagements real binaries but his premise is elsewhere are wrong so he reached his bad conclusions from an essentially based correct and then you get people who and the thing is like the most of people who get mad at Peterson have not gotten as deep as him they are treading in shallow water they are more trapped by the material restraints than him but they're there right there more right than him in other ways they have a understand like the implications and reality of like social structures and politics and economics better than him maybe so they are he is wrong and they are right even though he is right and they are wrong just at different times in two different places and it's about twisting all of these into an arrangement where all of the ***** Duncan and uh and blocks are gone and the light can shine through it's like imagine like your consciousness the universe it's like the Dark Tower it's like a spindle it's like a ***** finger trapper like one of those what the hell is that codex and there's all these different arrays these binaries these interlacing binaries and you have to get all the yeses on one side and all the nose on the but figuring that out is the work of life and it's a collaborative work and as you might be right down here in one part of the puzzle and you're wrong up here and guess what your ***** you're just as ***** to somebody who's wrong up here and right down there which is what you see with these awful just dispiriting battles between ID Paul people and and the outright Nazis or whatever and like TRADD cats versus you know sex workers

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

it's like they have all gotten something correct but there are things that they are accepting certain thesis that are wrong that are set expecting certain fundamental thesis they're accepting features of this superstructure of culture and expectation and value that are generated by capitalism at face value it's just different now the reason you behave morally is because if you ain't morally it other people respond to it that's why and if you maintain morality even if they don't you acknowledge and recognize why they aren't it's collaborative yes it's being mostly right but not just on a like there's that less wrong subreddit where they all want to ***** like put a USB cord in their dick or whatever they're thinking in terms entirely of intellect like we're going to split time and I'm gonna live forever and a robot body no you're not now you live for another ***** robot body and even if you did guess what there is not fine it there's a finite amount of energy in the universe so after what you get to be a floating robot body for what five million years how is your brain how is your buddy what is your life like what is your what is how is your heaven its hell its eternal hell until death congratulations but it's less wrong on the axis of intellect and rationality and insight but also in feeling and empathy and social coordination and because the end is coming either way the end of your life the end of the universe the end of lurve life on earth the end of everything it will come to an end and then it will start again it will start over again and you'll get it wrong again everyone will get it running in but slightly differently and then eventually somewhere and it's already happened to get it right which is why we even have consciousness was why this world even exists because at some point we closed I'm actually not on any drugs right now I'm not I haven't even smoked weed today having to add in the alcohol I gotta say I don't know I mean I'm probably the still gonna smoke weed once in a while as you know as as my weakness overwhelms me and as I fail as I will but right now I don't need it I'll need it in the future but the thing is and this is one thing that defeats so many people's attempts to seek enlightenment is that if they fail once in like I guess I didn't get it I guess I didn't do it but it's not you're never fixed you're you're you're you aren't you don't you aren't anything you aren't a Marxist you are an American you aren't a Christian you aren't any of that you are you are in a quantum state at all times until you act until your brain thinks a thought and then you act on it you're not anything and that is the mark of mistakes on the world how do you close the loop as I described universal consciousness and on a long enough timeline and with enough universes that will happen as all things will yes I do therefore I am because I remember reading at derekjjensen and he's like Ann Ann creme whatever but he made a good point about that at the time I thought was stupid he was talking about like the the awful list of Cartesian dualism and saying like to see Descartes say I think therefore I am and he wrote I want to go to Descartes say Rene do you not

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

also feel and I was like a 19 year old like I thought I was read it didn't exist but I would have been on it going like that's stupid but now I understand what that means you need both they are literally the same thing they are they are both they are both conditions of consciousness that operate independently and also between each other 0:44:6
it's not an action is flawed read about your delay shut up it doesn't matter if it's right or not it doesn't matter it cuz like of course I don't know the specifics I haven't done the reading I don't know how to do math complex math I can't even count on my ***** fingers does it matter what matters is whether it makes me act right and the reading gets you to act right you don't learn anything you don't become something by reading it the act of reading it and thinking it in flex your behavior right because no is the yeah I don't see how that contradicts what I said that yes 0:45:7 your but your your autonomic system acts before you but that's that's physiological and that's just the same translation system and there's a delay because of that but you still then something that comes into your mind and it's determined by what you've interacted with like what I'm saying is this is all determined it's but the thing is you you know you always recognize the other even if you say you don't you are of whether it's to to try to embrace or to destroy it's a recognition of the other no matter what like the other is not just like a minority or another claim the other is your ***** mom you know the other is literally every other conscious being that you encounter whose will reminds you of your subjectivity or your objectivity rather 0:46:8 because being an object and a subject is essentially contradiction and it freaks out your brain and we've been trying to like get back to to harmony it and it's very difficult because of the conditions that alright well it looks like everyone's mad at me I'm sorry they're just trying to work some stuff out I'm not gonna try to argue with anybody especially over the thing but especially like I said I'm probably describing a lot of this incorrectly because I'm not a genius I just know what I felt and I know what is the closest human words to what it felt like because I know it was right and it's like if I act on it and it results in people getting mad at me and every like a like as 0:47:10
Raylan Givens said you run into an ***** in the morning you ran into an ***** you run into an ***** all day you're the ***** and that's the thing it's totally subjective but it also confronts reality because you have to practice it and then what does it get you that's the question what does it get you and it's like oh yeah you could be a piece of ***** and acquire all this money and wealth oh yeah okay but you're still at base miserable you pleasures are fleeting and very few people can even and you're hoarding of pleasure means that others can't even are other people are denied basic pleasures like the ones that all humans require not not that baroque disgusting ones that our machinery of exploitation offer up to us in lieu of freedom the cat is being locked in here with me because she's causing too much shenanigans in the other room 0:48:11

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

there's nothing I can do there's I'm sorry all right I'm gonna try to get the cat over here so you should stop being so sad yeah see I wanted to be I wanted to pet the cat but the thing is I have I have I've taught the cat to treat me poorly by scorning him by by not being there in a moment and like acknowledging his needs and now he doesn't trust me and nor should he that's Karma that's literally what karma is good or bad so now he won't come over here maybe over time if I behave differently now he will come over to me but I have to earn it and he has to respond to my attempts to earn it and some people are compatible that way and some people aren't and there's no judging it you just have to acknowledge and understand that's what it is it's all understanding that is the task of all humans and I don't mean it's what you can't understand like not like like these these enlightenment says Oh understand your reason it's like that is insufficient we've seen what just a just tempering your blade of Reason gets you it gets you a planet that is dying it gets you a population that is miserable and eviscerated and sick and and and unfree everywhere no clue absolutely howling in the ***** cages like a bike like experimental rhesus monkeys that's what that's what pure but it's like you can't not have it because that's how you bill old capacity to allow material satiation of needs by industry by by technology by the application of human reason to the material world but by itself it gives you an isle ation it gives you the Holocaust exactly it gives you it gives you nuclear war it gives you climate change it needs it needs to be tempered and it's tempered by cooperation like like when I say morality and I say a moral sense when I say my virtues those are all produced by my relationship with other people they're entirely are not within me none of them are they're entirely outside intellect is interior you get information from outside you and then your intellect is basically the sum total of your experience of other people's information but but your morality is entirely the product of your interaction with other people and it's entirely since in—this of other people's treatment of you and your response to that and I don't gonna try to be nice through the cat the other night she was yowling and instead of getting mad at her I just said well what do you need usually she hasn't food water should I scoop the box and say oh yeah I scoop the box she went in there and now she's not meowing right now she wants to go in the other room sadly so and that's what Ralston Saul talks about with Voltaire's bastards is pure rationality instrumentalized as humans to the degree that human civilization is no longer viable because we're not people anymore were instruments and that's what we're headed towards doesn't have to be and we're all working on what way and some of us are right and some of us are wrong none of us no I'm sorry some of us are less wrong than others and if enough of the less wrong are able to cooperate they can make in the world the proof of their correctness in the world until it becomes it overtakes the structures that are all right so that felt nice I don't hope I don't sound completely insane because I don't want to because you know like this kind of as I said like I said I said I know it's right to me and it doesn't matter if it's not right to you well it does matter if it's not right to you if what I experience makes me go out and like you know take my dick out on the subway and stab people randomly or you know hit my neighbor or something then then that's that's dissociative then there's a break in me there is a physical emotional break caused by biology and by the behavior of others in my response to it that of course we're living in a simulation but it doesn't of course we're living a simulation the simulation is reality the simulation is our collective material attempt to reconstruct a world as individuals out of the undifferentiated universal consciousness we emerge from so like it doesn't need like that's that's that's that's another point of quite like the mechanistic de it's like the demo years talked about spirit well we killed God so it's not about there's no Demiurge because you can't convince anyone of that because we killed God so now oh it's machine that's the same thing is the same purpose it's it's recognizing the same fallen state of consciousness that was required to just live related to what we could be but now we give it a mechanical name rather than a spiritual one because we've killed the spirit and replaced it with Pure Reason which is what which is what decadence comes from that's where decadence comes from that's where all this like the trad casts the trad people aren't right in the sense that the things were using to fill the gap are alienating and poisoning as are all and pursuits of pleasure but they're not they're not inherently evil they are they are mechanisms of coping and which we can we can disconnect the machine the problem is is that we have this machinery that turns all of our worst all the worst elements of society Marx talked about this about like on the Jewish Question like capitalism creates all these dehumanizing conditions between people and then creates a structure that says actually those those those like broken relationships are good actually it's that's supposed that's supposed to be the way it is and in fact here here are X Y ; Z things you can buy or do or or jobs to take or whatever the ***** places you can be slotted in the honeycomb hierarchy of Industry to to I don't know specifically I don't know that I don't know enough about like neuroscience to say where thoughts come from but I just think the thing that generates thoughts and the thing that generated the universe is a fundamental contradiction and the contradiction is to be a feeling being that perceives itself as feeling that's where our thoughts come from and that's what separates humanity from all other being of course all other beings have they're all on the same they're all on levels of the tower they're all in different areas they're all different spokes of the wheel we consider ours higher but that is judgment that's just a judgment that is that is a Demiurge achill spook but it's different it's just different and that means we have we then that person that that

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

CUSHVLOG 10. BETTER CALL SAUL MORE LIKE WORSE WRITE, PAUL

blessing gives us the ability to shape this material world in a way that animals that don't have that ability can't and so we have to try to do it that is our mission and we fail that task that a degree to which we put our our our work or our bodies our 0:57:24 minds towards the towards satisfying physical indulgence and that doesn't just mean like eating a quarter-pounder or anything it means sqlite it's just it could mean us it means simply accumulating surplus value from surplus calories because to have surplus calories means someone is working more than someone else that's the that's where you get the division of labor that's where you get the Apple in the garden someone has to work more than someone else because if they don't there's no there's no surplus to allow and that is the task of society civilization and the hungry ghosts says no will I will make it I will turn the world and I will become God and I will I will be the only thing in the universe and the thing is if you are the only thing in the 0:58:26 universe then you are damned you are you are Satan you're at you're actually you're actually Lucifer Morningstar owned but if we collectively seek to better each other spread material suffering as thinly as possible increase everyone's capacity for play and and and present this and thought and and kindness and and all of those things then then we can restructure we can make this world differently I mean obviously that's not there's it's not like yeah and in your lifetime everyone's gonna try and send to the etheric plane of course not absurd I'm saying in some distant galaxy to thumb thousands of billions of whatever that might be happening here we're gonna 0:59:27 fail we will fail we will we will fall short of that it is without question how far short was the only difference between one version of reality and one life and another is how far short we fall and all we can do is push because there's nothing else to do there's nowhere else to go there is nowhere else to go you can the wicked flail or no none pursue earth there's nowhere else to go but inside the only

CushVlog 11

---

Bro Time feat. Felix

4.27.20

hi everybody the hooting and hollering just started the seven o'clock Putin holler everybody putting on everyone else everybody being thankful that the lights still works everybody being thankful that they can still order ground home under the gather the garbage is still getting taken out and that the internet hasn't stopped working hey everybody thank you guys that's nice today as it was the other day sadly it's been raining the last couple of days but it's good enough to question 0:1:2 already Wow can I suggest a film for Chapel to watch I mean like as a thing to talk about well there's a couple that we have a store and a couple ideas I've had I think we should probably do what about Southland Tales at some point we've talked about it a lot might as well and I wanna do an episode was will about Richard Jewell soon cuz I feel like that movie uh that apparently some stuff I said last night was part of Orthodox Sunni thought of course it is I mean it's a cliché to say this and it's like it sounds like a coexist bumper stickers but like oh all religious traditions start from a fundamental understanding of the same reality they are just translated differently 0:2:5 based on the cultural context in which they emerge don't groping towards the same thing we're all grabbing the same elephant and so it makes sense all this stuff for fraks through every other secular and religious belief system like I said like Marxist Marx was binding on these same frequencies the same way that Buddha Buddhist star and Sufis and ***** you know whatever whatever even some props do that not that many of course certainly very few in the United States because they think heaven is real like it's a city I gotta say I don't really know you can like communicate realistically to somebody who is convinced in the way that I am convinced of what I think is real that heaven is like a place like there's a street there's something with those 72 virgins like really that's your idea of eternity you know what eternity is it's 0:3:6 like yeah it's basically like South Padre Island come on shape up religions let's get out of here I'd address this but why say a preferred Abstract Expressionists isn't because it did not have a political valence because you look at a piece of abstract art and you're going to have an individual response to it it's not going to refer to material circumstance that other people can all that other people who see it can

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

all agree - it's totally individualized the response to it is entirely individualized and that's great then you guys could argue about what it means and none of you will be right and none of you will draw political implications from it because you are making totally subjective emotional reaction social realist ours that we can that is inextricably linked to the conditions that produce it and points towards those conditions that's a common vocabulary of a kind of set of problems that emerge from the work the people who all who see it all who expose themselves to it they can 0:4:8
all have that are all going to have the same vocabulary discussing it it's not going to be an individualized point of view and that is dangerous hypothetically I mean presumably a lot of those feelings will just get read pitch elated and reabsorbed as it always are but you know if there's too much excess if there's too much that can't be absorbed then you really have a problem Picasso was not an abstract expressionist of course cubism how will they underreport death counts with bodies keep piling up well for one thing they're already keeping death counts down by not testing people who have died of it who suspected to have died of it but died before they were tested and by calling things like heart attacks and strokes and yeah they were opportunities 0:5:15
I'm sorry I got I don't and that people value like the number of people who are dying of COPD and uh pneumonia are already shooting up and those aren't being counted as kovat deaths so we're already under coming to begin with and it's not even at that point gonna necessarily be any question under counting as a question of normalizing to the degree and now you might say well you know you could overwhelm the health care system not if we read not if we if we reorient like it'll be like oh you have it there just isn't any place for you or it's full or it'll be triage by like wait time or or ability to pay and if you can't get the care and time that will be as sad for you and for your 0:6:16 family but it will also be how things are now the same way that thousands of people getting shot by guns thousands and thousands and thousands of people being killed by cars tens of thousands of people dying hundreds of thousands of people dying for lack of health care people dying from surgical mistakes people buying from every element of capitalist corner-cutting and and and copper theft at a copper wire thing thievery that has made up the the morbidity Latino opiates look at how many people are dying of opiate addiction tens pet what is it my 80,000 people a year or something like that that's a stunningly high number compared to what it used to be even a few years ago and it's just a sad bummer it's a thing that happens yeah you normalizing the structural violence then you do that in every level like if you accept that like this stuff is a mixture of natural circumstance and and structural inevitabilities and yes it's violence and obesity to obesity to like yeah we're gonna keep everybody we're 0:7:19 gonna replace real food with corn paste we're gonna put pesticides and everything that we have no idea what they do to people and when we find out what they do to people we're gonna throw them away we're gonna ***** dump that information so you never even know yeah people have we have so much roundup in a piss that we could like write our names in the grass and it would stick there because it would kill all the ***** blaze and it kills people it's like gives you cancer but that's just the brakes and it's like there has to be a moment of absorbing and recapitulating and like rationalizing the phenomenon as it emerges which has happened with all the things I'm describing which means that this is just going to be like a more open and more dramatic and probably more contested I ***** hope more contested process and the degree to which that's going to be true or not is the degree to which they're going 0:8:21 to get away with it is a degree to which we left them I mean in broad sense like in descriptive sense not in it not in a judgemental sense like if we let them it's not that word makes it seem like it's our fault it's not because we don't have the tools and the question is whether we can build them and there's no certainty we will be able to they might be able to we might not but it will be our fault but it will be because we didn't stop them in like but that's what they're gonna try to do now that might not happen like one of the big reasons is they're gonna open up again state states are saying they're gonna open up right now what if I mean people people have to work but people don't have to be consumers they really don't they don't have to go to Chili's now a lot of the you know these yokels who show up with the shotguns and the ar-15s in front of state capitals to shoot someone I don't even know you know that's interesting that guns that those are really more interesting than the guns that 0:9:23 like the the rallies where they're trying to like because the guns have the the culture war rallies that have been before this and these guys are all copying the guns are they're presumably to protect them from the Anti Fog right I keep up empty spot but now when they were protesting this uh these coded closing there's only a key pop the any ***** kids they're all cuts their home they're actually Florentine so the only people there are the medical staff who once again aren't ordering people to do anything they're just trying to protect they're trying to save lives who are that are being lost by the actual existence of the virus and the police officers who are actually enforcing the law so once again what is the law for I mean what is the gun for what is the why do you have a gun dude why do you have a gun and the clinic I don't even know if they would answer because I think it's just because I'm doing a protest like 0:10:25 it's like you wouldn't ask somebody to protest while you're holding a sign you know I think that's it it's like they're expressing their they're expressing their latent their political power and their latent unspoken willingness to go beyond the ballot as a world but of course it's for most of them a bluff and yes it's a pacifier it's a binky like you they don't even know what they're what they're carrying it for because it's that people ingrained as a totem of strength that they don't actually possess but yeah

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

and technology is gonna be part of it they're gonna track the track and trace stuff that's like literally tracing people and then because I mean realistically these guys 0:11:27 are gonna I mean if the technology exists and it looks like it probably does if you can do like water scale testing and tracing which of course Trump resisted Trump resisted testing because he wanted to keep the numbers down because he doesn't he has a child's understanding of everything which means you know like he he understands at one level at one axis level he understands they like you and I like Trump and and any other president or any other person what understands a large number of people with the disease is bad to have we all understand this most people because that information is connected to a foundation of presumptions that lead to it and have been worked through know then that if the number high number of 10 of people with this is bad then the way to prevent the number from going up is to intervene some way to stop the spread Trump he understands the the mere idea that a guy 0:12:30 number is bad but because he has not done any thinking to get there and couldn't if he wanted I mean maybe if he really thought if you really concentrated you could get there but it would take him weeks to get to even one like banal statement of truth that's how unnn unnn reflected his life is that's how unnn unnn how little work he has done into examining any of the structures of thought that he under so he sees numbers bad and he thinks well don't okay well if you test people they're gonna come up with more numbers so don't test them and then the number won't go up so they told people don't text and that is it's like it's that's the difference between an idiot responding to a situation and somebody actually thought through what the situation means even though they could agree on like that that's why I'm so annoyed by the by they're getting annoyed with the binary way we discuss rightness and wrongness 0:13:31 about ideas because it leaves us to argue on the wrong term the wrong planes in the wrong terms like big number is bad is something that both Trump and you know say jay Inslee or you know somebody who's considered a confident response to they all know big number bad so they're both right about that it's just that they're the truck is wrong and how he got there his presumptions are wrong and so and so you have to pick like the level where the wrongness is to to get at where the mistake has been made the original branching off into into just premises that will lead you inevitably to the wrong thing but anyway I forgot what I was saying about that but yeah Trump wants the number to go down and that's why it resisted testing but now it's inevitable or you're good and you test it cuz that's the only way you could 0:14:32 possibly reopen things and the best way you could reopen things solve two problems you have solve two problems by reopening and they're only solving one right now and we'll see how much the effect there is that you can you can say things are open and your businesses can open and if you work at those businesses you got to go to work

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

because you had a $1,200 stimulus jacket nothing ***** all else web you probably lost your health care insurance health insurance and you so you so you will go to work but you can't make people go and patronize the businesses you can't make people go to the restaurants and go to the bars and go out if they think the thing is real and most people do they're gonna be worried about that and even if they go out it's going to be for the last time fewer they're going to spend less money it's like you have to make them feel comfortable about getting out too so I think what they're gonna find is the only way that they can square the circle like I've said the real way to fix this is to war communism the economy and create direct provision and like essentially suspend capitalism and and and you could you could do that don't ask me how but I guarantee you if I got enough people in a room we could figure it out since that's not gonna happen because it would undermine capitalism I gotta remind the markets we have to get back and Americans of consumer service industry economy we can't it's not like you can go oh we could leave her factories is the thing if these are factories then it would be no problem like if we had an industrial economy you could make them go back to the factories and then you're done you're producing the thing and you can send it out and they'll be sold somewhere but but this still doesn't follow the service industry not even where the service industry is a huge huge chunk of our economy maybe the demand any kind of significant demand shortfall will result in sustained and suppression and contraction and they don't have any intervention for that or they want one so they have to prevent it and if you have this deadly virus out there and then you're finding out oh yeah by the way you can be like totally healthy and it just can suddenly start curdling your blood and then you get a ***** stroke at like 35 I mean if that keeps happening and there's no reason to leave alone as the death toll rises of the number of people who get it rise people are gonna want to ***** do that I'm just saying if you work on it is in the economy you don't have a service industry you get rid of the ***** you're not doing it anymore you're getting rid of you're just it's it's it's supply chains replacing a the so to fix both ends of that equation to get the back of the work and to get people out of their houses to patronize the businesses they're gonna have to be they're going to have to who like they're going to have to take the suppression like all these basically if you if you if you stripped down to it and you ask all those people protesting at those state capitals if you were to like make them break down their belief system on what this is and you got to exclude the ones who think that it's not a real virus because that's that's an incommensurability beyond your ability to breach but if they believe the virus is real and it is as deadly as a disincentive so you got to start with those people and that is gonna be a subsection but if you've got them down and they admitted that then what they're basically arguing for is

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

this is slavery that we have to be kept in our homes freedom would be if people who are sick had to stay in their homes and I got to go out and that is a perfect capsule description of the American conception of freedom since the founding of the country that is what Liberty is it's a X amount of work has to be done X amount of surveillance must be maintained X amount of discipline must be enforced X amount of misery must be inflicted essentially to maintain this social structure it is unfair to me Liberty is being a puppet of being infringed freedom is being undermined the degree to which I must feel it and then the reason for that is because there are people who deserve to feel it and not more than me or in a binary sense they do and I doubt and of course that's where slavery you know the southern colonial mindset of like the justification is the difference between me and you that is what and it's in my head but it's what justifies the imposition of the social costs the externalities the external miseries created by building a social order and maintaining it on to you and that is freedom because I because I'm here don't deserve to have these things infringed imposed on me they did and that's where you know that's that's that's the basis for the **** anti-immigrant xenophobia stuff and so the next like group that's gonna enter into the pantheon of others who deserve to have this stuff happen to them will be people who are sick with porn with korben korben date-date bill Corbett know people who have it because if you can if you have robust testing which we could do we really put the **** pedal to the metal then you could get a better map of where it is and then innit when it did emerge you could get it quickly and then button it up and then if that went with tracing where those people are and enforcing through full legal means quarantined on them that would be freedom to the people doing the protesting that would be that would be Liberty now people talk about how authors know anybody's blah blah blah whatever not talked about we don't know any about that stuff and honestly it wouldn't matter because this is all about Corbin Bernsen this is all what what they have to do and like I say if even after then because of lack of antibodies there's still a higher mortality it will be incorporated it has to be I'm just talking about the general contours and so even though the the imposition of on the person like here we got a thing where there's a light load on everybody it's not that hard there's a light load on anybody I guess I would say this there's a light load on everyone who is under quarantine there's a heavy there's a light load at everyone reporting because we placed a heavier load on the people who still have to work in essential industries so we have like X amount of like general Liberty now we have less and it's been just that's been displaced on to essential workers but even that thin amount of liberty imposition on quarantine people with **** jobs but but a basement full of ar-15s is too much because it's a me basically and so their solution would be take this small amount that I have to feel and place it on to this larger

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

category of people suffering from kovat and they will have their freedoms restricted even more than the ***** essential workers had or certainly we all had collectively under quarantine now you are tracked and traced and can be arrested and I guarantee you in a situation like that the penalties would gets tougher would get more severe because the need to maintain order to maintain the system of individuals to say to him because these aren't just people under quarantine these are people who are positive they will amount to humanism look at John Cornyn saying like you know 50% of Kovach deaths there are bad underlying conditions like obesity and heart disease and it's like dude that's all of your constituents and everyone and it's like they all know they don't think of it that way because they're not gonna get it so like you see that you're like well how would a fat person who lives in Texas and it's not like their heart and he in likes cornyn how's it gonna read that he doesn't read that and say your life is matters less because you were overweight no because that ***** loser had core koban and I don't know it won't so yeah like that's what American liberty has always meant it isn't the extent to which I am free of the burdens required to perpetuate the circumstances and that's why and that's where these that's like it it is it like I think that out very little things are actually hypocritical I don't think autocracy is real honestly I feel like either one like hypocrisy of like I'm like believing in the thing in acting a different way I don't think that's hypocritical because as I said believing a thing doesn't mean anything it's you're acting out if the thing that you believe which means that like for example if you're a Christian fundamentalist who has an affair checks off that doesn't mean that's the none of that negates you being a Christian and being a Christian doesn't negate you having checked off or cheated so like the hypocrisy I don't I don't think that the idea there the underlying idea is that well if you are this you'll never do that and I don't think that that's realistic because the doing that is is everyday the thinking that is only afterwards and it's incorporated either way and in things like this like these kind of ideas like these ideological contradictions like oh you know you got a gun but you see black police lives matter it's like that's not hypocrisy because their definition of Liberty is such that Liberty is other people who deserve it bearing a burden of policing and authoritarianism and exploitation that I because they have it coming and some fun that went away if they've brought it about and so that's I mean you want to talk about Protestantism being like a key piece of software or a key piece right now one of the most important lines of code that went into the development of America is that is that really one of the only ways to make sense of that is if you believe that that you could know who deserves anything in this world and of course it's like racism is an easy way to do it visually because it just it carries a lot of ***** with it but before you even get to racism you get to fortune you get to who's happy who's losing

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

successful who is where they are if God controls all that those who are pleased those who sit in the positions of respect and and prosperity why why would God let them 0:25:54 be there if you didn't want them there that's if they were believers of ours and it's like you can argue about how that's not really what was in Calvinism and it wasn't but like you know their Buddhism like how many forms of Buddhism have like gods and like demigods I mean it's it's all syncretic own religion is syncretic so so like whatever pure strain theory that nerd Calvin was talking about with predestination and stuff whatever the hell that is the the the American settler was not operating on anything that refined they were operating on you shall know him by so that means if you've got kovat and I didn't that was I mean somebody made that happen if you're 0:26:56 black and I'm white somebody choose to put the Mark of Cain on you or the mark of ham on you so period if you live in to Guatemala and I live in the United States and you're the one that gets the death I did not get a haircut I might I might shave my head I don't know might do it why not people want to know if ALC sucks now once again I feel like these are the terms that we should not think yeah if somebody does something you don't like like ALC did a ***** periscope with hip warned today and it's like oh god the idea is like if you don't like that and that is it's like there's an amount you cannot like that that will like guarantee okay I have now brought this 0:27:58 person as bad this person's in the bad bin and that doesn't really help you in any way because they're still around and you still have to deal with them the question is always is aoc useful and that and that is an independent question of whether she's good or not she might be a celebrity liberal I think she probably is but I can't know we're all divining chicken bottles we're all looking at entrails and trying to figure out if we know these people we never can we can't even know ourselves how the ***** are we gonna know all these other people ah this person's actually a celebrity sir craving liberal this person is actually a real true believer you will never know you will never know you know them by their actions their clamor their collection of actions and that shouldn't make you have an idea of what they're what's inside of them it should give you an idea of what to expect from them and those are different things because what to expect from them imposes the idea that it's going to be contextualized that every given moment is going to have a context that will determine what the right thing 0:29:0 to do is that is different than saying bad what that means that no matter what's happening there's no situation where this person should ever be engaged with and that I think is I mean I'm not talking about it morally being wrong I think that it's just a long way to think about things I think it's a way it's too brittle it's tool two-dimensional I would say that I don't trust AOC because of her past actions I will continue to not trust her but I will acknowledge your reality of existence and deal with it and what that means doesn't mean a thinking she's a girl boss or saying that

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

she's never done anything wrong or that she's always gonna do everything wrong right nothing it doesn't imply anything other than that I'm going to have a certain like expectation I'm gonna consult when I'm like processing a given specific situation this Felix Enya didn't see that Felix was in here yeah what what up though 0:30:7
hey buddy somebody not bad what's going on just rapping why let me let me put in let me get my earbuds so I can have better audio for this I'm just I'm done with all my tasks for today I did them all how did you talk to that put these I own like three things and I ***** lose them all the time oh no no no I don't lose that I don't lose my baby anymore cause it's like yeah it was like bright orange like ***** look at this 0:31:9
***** well that was the problem with the jewel and that's like one of the reasons I don't use it anymore yeah got them like dude I went to I went to Duane Reade cuz I needed new headphones and there there was this woman in front of me in line who is like ***** basically screaming at the cashier for not having a mask and he was like tried to be nice and he was like yeah I told them we need masks and they don't like have clean ones for me and she was like she was like you what I could do you understand either that thing that people do is service employees were they're like oh you understand I don't think you understand and I was like in a bad mood because I was resetting my sleep cycle like it was the only reason I was in a ***** CVS it's 0:32:10
Duane rated it a.m. and I just like flipped out I was like he already ***** answered you like why are why are you ***** are you like Hector in this poor guy and she was like she's like scream my friends have Kovac and I just lied and I was like yeah Mike you I just ***** lied that's like the worst thing you can do is like just be awful to some ***** minimum-wage guy and be like oh it's cuz my friends have Co bid like ***** you she deserved for me to live to her yeah yeah yeah no they just like okay I found them I found them they were accent a coffee table a good place to put 0:33:12 them no yep I mean this is like no I'm not like anti locked out or anything but it is like I think like people are gonna read that it is alarming how quickly people could just use this like turn on other people or like just rat like lock into their pre-existing thing of screaming in service workers and normal people or whatever they're able to produce and get enough great thing going that they're going to just like are the next like people we hate are gonna be people with Tova's yes we're gonna get rid of the quarantine on everybody out and people with it are gonna get like you know gun to your head can't leave your house ***** and then it's gonna be yeah ***** that yeah ***** you it's like yeah it's I mean for a while there I mean like stupidly 0:34:13 optimist about some things and for like the first week or two weeks I was like yeah I mean like more people that I haven't talked to in a while or contact you mean like people seem to be talking to their families more and that's nice and like maybe this will make like a lot of people less awful insane and people are still doing that but I didn't realize how quickly we just become another awful thing another thing that you slide preexisting awful behaviors into yeah changing situations don't really change people you just apply your pre-existing shittiness to the situation yeah yeah yeah we always we assign like mystical qualities to both time and situation as if there were no there no like overriding characteristics prior to that we think that time is time and both trauma are forces that work for us for however we want them yeah that's 0:35:23 what that that's like so like if I've identified like one message of the Biden campaign it's like a minute when America comes together can accomplish anything and it's like I couldn't realize I didn't realize like quite why like that hit me on such like a ***** it grossed me out and she's for your table I think it was you remember that story from like a few weeks back about that like poor ***** woman who she just signed up to work at a grocery store she was young and she wanted to just like help people drink ovid and her she just died and her last paycheck was for like nine dollars ***** insulting and I realize why it like it hereit ated me so much it was because it's like well people are coming together and like a lot of people a lot of people who are like in very precarious economic spots or whatever like they're they're like yeah no I won't go out I won't ***** do any of this I will like risk homelessness I will or in the most extreme example like this one like I will literally risk death and I will 0:36:24 die to help people during this and it's like now people are doing that they just don't get ***** for it like that he doesn't incentivize her rewarded in the slightest without yeah you like you don't have to tell like ***** late working class people like ego you have to come together like they are but he's literally just literally just it's I figured out what he he means he means that like his suburban voters can be friends with their troubling uncle together yeah yeah everybody shakes hands over there over there barbecue with each other yeah yeah gets the stock fighting about Trump after all yeah it's such a ***** unbelievable cynical but but it's like I think that's like if 0:37:25 anything can only turn suburban people out it's that that's what they actually care about ya know that's the thing it's like people talk about things getting worse making people more possible of organizing it's like no people things are miserable but but the flip side is is yes things are getting worse but people are like by definition having to come closer together just survive because of how much worse thing forgetting and if there's anything good happens it's gonna be because of that yeah yeah absolutely I like yeah I don't know what changed it you know I have no idea yeah well we're hoping discover the value of you know less money and less ability to do anything and like he is gonna depend more on people helping you in ways that aren't ***** putting your hand in each other's pockets you're gonna actually have to like cooperate yeah 0:38:29 and I do want to sit like I don't want to just be pessimistic I've seen a lot of those seem like I don't know I've seen a lot of people like go out of their way including the

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

people I've never known to really do that but is I don't know it just it sucks that like the main political message of this year will be like let's stop fighting over Trump let's come on Jack it's all it ***** sucks and now even like even though even the phony meets you feminists have now realized they can't ignore the preponderance of evidence and so now they're like yeah I guess is a rapist but yeah what what can I do oh wow that's just you've like you've it sucks it ***** sucks and now even like even though even the phony Michu feminists have now realized they can't ignore 0:39:30 the preponderance of evidence and so now they're like yeah I guess is a rapist but damn what what can I do oh wow that's just you've like you've admitted that your entire like the thing you claim to be fighting for this whole time means nothing and now you're supposed to get people to actually engage with this process well that is I think that's like a silver lining of the Biden presidency and like if I was gonna try to sell it to someone that's it like that is gonna be the end of that type of media because like like no one reads it and like by didn't like you the body people don't have any ***** use for that like you're gonna tell like Biden's not gonna talk about bodies and spaces no yeah and it's like also the retreat of liberals from like any type of like cultural or political struggle because that that's just gonna like give people at least like 10 million people the permission to stop giving a ***** about any of 0:40:32 this no totally no I honestly could foresee I mean I mean first you have the reality of the virus but beyond that I could see just a jaw-dropping participation like we could bro we could go under 50% easily turn out easily and then like look when I see like Teen Vogue post ***** about okay I I mean that's the logical endpoint of all this that everything gets subsumed to go opted when I see Teen Vogue be like y'all we're doing it's like yeah that's they're gonna go back to what they were like three like two years from now if Biden wins because it's like you can't keep this up there won't be a market for that anymore people will go back to just posting about a ***** CW shows yeah yeah yep I mean I do think a Biden presidency would be hilarious like 0:41:33 I'm excited for it in that aspect it's gonna be really ***** funny oh honey it'd be so funny just and like what what's what's hunter gonna do oh god what if hunter smokes crack in us that would be amazing I would love that I would absolutely love that I mean like yeah he yes yes he's going to man that's gonna be hilarious that's also gonna be we're just never seeing the president will come here yeah I mean when that is so when I when I thought I was gonna lose and I got really into the idea of him and I got that idea for like goodbye a novel I did think of him as this like awful 0:42:34 person but tragic figure but and now like then it's like he became clear to be the nominee it was like how did that doesn't work anymore but I actually think it does now because like if he becomes president he will preside over the fall of the American and it would make sense and like yeah like your version of him makes most sense

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

and it's like the the gravedigger of empire yeah it's like they finally give him the job for seniority like sorry show's over this guy portrayed betrayed any good thing Indians get this and he finally got it at a point when his brain didn't work anymore and like that's that's ***** perfect like Twilight Zone ironic ending it's perfect it's 0:43:38 absolutely perfect exactly how so it's exactly how these things go yeah movies are gonna be good again though I think probably not kasa because I feel like there's both like the Trump obviously has massive economic crisis but if people blame it on China it won't matter you know yeah yeah like always been true that the economy's bad the president loser and that is the fact but no president ever had something that they could totally fix externalize the blame onto like the Great Depression the ***** crashing away there was no wait explanation of it that ex kept you out of it as like the party now yeah and it's it's like it's one of those rules that I don't think you have 0:44:39 to follow super close because it's like well nate silver loves these he's like a candidate South Carolina by X margin he's never lost the presidency but a little bit and it's like those you your sample size for that is like just the 20th century really and so like yeah what yeah what you just said about how like every previous example there are no externalities they could blame it on and also like hmm it's no it's not really comparable in scale but there was there was like a bit of downturn in 1970 or 1980 7 in 1988 and George HW Bush still ***** won yeah but yeah I mean I'd you so I think it's awesome to I I could see the ways in which Biden loses very clearly it's a little bit harder to see how he would win but just my non-scientific evaluation of it 0:45:41 where it's like it's the most funny and like sort of tragic and shitty outcome in some ways outcome and that has generally been the truest outcomes so far yeah I think it's a good it's a better rubric than anything else because the sample size is about it's the same yeah yeah oh I was just thinking so I the Biden's ***** it was good never mind my brain stop my brain is nothing that but yeah it's the sample size is so ***** small that you might as well just say the funniest thing should happen which would be but winning funniest thing happened with like Briggs it and Trump those from both like oh what if they actually like one was you're supposed to be 0:46:46 a referendum and David Cameron yeah fine whatever and that country is awesome because they are just like going down the ***** tubes and they're they just love it they love it they're so happy to it is like the board like love Boris about it sucked like their country sucks and it's like like he's a big sticky oh who like hates all Pete all poor people and they're like oh that adorable Rose it's because they have been bred to worship the most disgusting amongst them like that's what like that is in their blood yes yes I think I mean we're we're kind of I mean we got I think that's where we're liberals right now like I don't think that they there's yet position to openly 0:47:47 love Biden but I think in like a generation or even like 10 years like they're they're

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

working themselves up to it the worship of the Obama family is like has always been Donald Trump Joe Biden running for presidents all right the way he could win is if the suburbs have really turned on trumps away yes so far have appeared to because between the primary and 2018 the suburbs did a real hard swing and if that if that's sustained then it doesn't matter that the that I do believe that you will see a drop in voter turnout but it will be made up for for the Democrats by a big swing in them in this suburbs butts up oh I can't hear you I can't hear him okay sorry no I was saying I could definitely I could definitely see that like that's that's a great example how could how it could happen and like all their messaging and all their models seem to be geared towards that yeah because like they at the end of the day make you dislike that Trump is rude they do not like the stuff including fans like like yes they find it embarrassing they watch liberal media they are they are they are in the zoo of custom so much that they do find him embarrassing as president and then that makes them not trust him and that makes them think that he's doing a bad job it makes them more likely to believe that he's dumb you i its it is like the board like he loved no yeah yeah and like people the the praise of Biden from concert' like you know like Jennifer Rubin conservatives I mean I don't even know what the ***** to now ***** Boris Johnson Joe Biden Donald Trump drove I'm running for president all right the way he could win is if the suburbs have really turned on trumps away yes so far have appeared to because between the primary and 2018 the suburbs did a real hard swing and if that if that's sustained then it doesn't matter that the that I do believe that you will see a drop in voter turnout but it will be made up for for the Democrats by a big swing in them in this suburbs butts up oh I can't hear you I can't hear okay oh sorry no I was saying I could definitely I could definitely see that like that's that's a great example how could how it could happen and like all their messaging and all their models seem to be geared towards that yeah because like they at the end of the day they do dislike that Trump is rude they do not like including fans like like yes they find it embarrassing they watch liberal media they are they are they are in the stew of custom so much that they do find him embarrassing as president and then that makes them not trust him and that makes them think that he's doing a bad job it makes it more likely to believe that he's dumb and then he did something out of incompetence and so they are like this guy and and like Biden is obviously senile but he is not he's still he's still a politician in a way they recognize his politicians and now they realized after four years that they actually do care about that no yes Oh like deeper than I thought I actually care about this no yeah yeah and like people the the praise of Biden from concert' like you know a Jennifer Rubin conservatives I mean I don't even know what the ***** - I mean she is a good servant but you know what you would just call that believe he's sold

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

monarchist but yeah it is like there's this mass whenever Joe Biden does something that's like it's basically a form where he like wishes condolences or something they're like what if we had a president like this and it's like oh that's what all this is about yeah literally what this is about I mean talk about like you know yeah when I hate to relate the related Vista games but Metal Gear Solid 5 the phantom pain yes it's about a group of people who experience a incredibly convoluted plot they believe was engineered to betray them and they go so insane with a desire for revenge that they mere the actions of their opposing group but they just do to like cultural shift us and you know arbitrary reasons that people use they're like no it's good when we do it like in Chobani it's amazing how much he Mears Donald Trump way more than family self dealing in crookedness sex crimes now just pompous like not that smart trips over his own words senile and like huge history of racing in the 70s and it's like no yeah literally yeah no no none of this mattered none of the stuff that they try to hit Trump and the left with let's be honest in 2017 with they never believed in they just cared about the the few signifiers where they can tell themselves are not doing Trump ***** but it is like all things is Joe Biden even the victory is a tragedy yeah the end of things coming is because like this does feel like it could be the last president whoever it is is that both Trump invite in one of the ways one of the many ways they are very very similar is that they both perfectly embodied they the the content and history coming up to now of their propel political parties yes from is the history of the modern Republican Party you trace a straight line from Goldwater to Nixon - Reagan you thread it through George W Bush so you hook in for some Schwarzenegger you add some Sarah Palin and boom you're at Trump like like the movement like the creation of like white suburban base that is totally mediated and creates like a fight like a spectacle culture around itself that turns into you know by Fox News and Limbaugh and turns into a pure moment of you know agreement which has to be a body by a literal performer and famous person meanwhile Biden is the lead that he emerges in the moment that the Democratic Party starts turning away from the New Deal in the 70s he emerges is like the embodiment of the neoliberal term so he is the entire last 40 years of democratic party as neoliberalism has been says SAS everything of energy and vitality and slowly desiccated and turned into this flailing wheezing decrepit old man and he comes from a perfect place Delaware a land without really any characteristics or anything distinct literally just it's a tax haven it's American Switzerland he comes from the perfect eye I said this in the show we did today but it bears repeating you know those like awful breathless articles in 2016 by by a liberal media that were like Trump is the mirror of America he's the he's vein and race and it's like so is Biden he's a guy who sucks at everything his only made bad choices probably yeah probably it's a ***** sex creep and he just

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

gets the job because he showed up the most the right people liked him that guy who is sort of like the mirror Trump just in that he is the guy who manipulated the media enough to like skip the line but now he's been totally processed into that thing now like Obama's now as much of that established it as any of them and they're all like just carbon copies of each other different like skin like they've been reskin like Obama has like the Kaepernick skin that like pisses off white suburban ID and then 0:57:44 Biden has like this fake patty Irish skin that like makes them kind of like her more yes that's it and I always say I think it's very telling like I was thinking about how Warren liberals talked about Obama and they're like she way he inspired me to get into politics but I just I wish he I wish she you know he was stronger and it's like no he's stronger than anyone in that party but it's not for his beliefs it's for himself okay yeah he is he is a cutthroat ***** but for himself and they member the Warren people will never ***** get that even though like Warren fought that a minute like the the good thing she did were fighting that administration they still don't ***** get it yeah he's refusing to death he's he's like no if I'm president that's like grabbing Excalibur because no one forgets the president no as long as he wins and dies at 0:58:45 office he will have achieved immortality that could be the last thing he thinks is his ***** brain shuts down Obama like yeah it really sucks how well Obama's gonna make out of it because like if the Empire collapses people's memory will be like that was the last great present he will be he'll be the cult figure he'll be an icon they'll be like cults around him and it's like our fallen martyr it'll be very depressing even though he's the guy who's more responsible for it than anyone yeah the guy who saw this company coming and was like let's get Larry Summers on the case like just a complete operator a complete ***** selfish prick yeah and no yeah he gets I mean this is probably more than he even he even ever dreamed of that he gets to he gets to be a historical that's what people think 200 years from now the last great president 0:59:47 he could have saved the Empire yeah god that sucks it really ***** saw died Bernie will be like you know it'll be people some people think of him like a Deb's figure probably not you know bill but he'll never get the things he did to fight Obama that kept Obama from executing his worst acts of austerity and cynicism that won't be recorded they'll just be like he got a lot of Debs or like Upton Sinclair governor California and 1934 on basically like that a plan to abolish capitalism to fix the Great Depression yeah I'm doing I'm gonna record a solo on it this week oh that sounds 1:1:0 good no yeah that's it's unfortunate I mean none of it no one I mean this is a weird kind of think about because I don't think anyone's really gonna remember anything from this done I feel like we're this is a period it's probably the most well recorded 15 year stretch of history ever and yet know everything no one will remember really anyone for this time they'll remember very little art I'm almost because we haven't

CUSHVLOG 11. BRO TIME FEAT. FELIX

written anything down yes that's a good point in history when the people are trying to figure out what happened in retrospect there will be huge huge gaps because it will all have been destroyed yes yeah I do want to say someone in chat said what is this based on who can predict the future obviously no one yeah I'm just saying if things continue on this trend line that's what I feel will happen but I know I mean I we have no way of knowing and I'm a very big philip k dick guy and philip k dick his thing about the future was it is actually sort of futile to predict it because the things that will there's so much there's you won't even understand what the factors are gonna be no it's it's sort of futile to predict the future we do it anyway because it's fun even though like we say when we start thinking that it has any kind of real power no actions like we should not be acting anything will happen we have to act like in the moment we can't like assume Trump is gonna lose or by yes you've got to operate for much earlier assumptions than that because you can't know that yeah no I mean that I if I could make if I was a head of the Department of Education the two things I would make every child read the golden Man which is the best short story of original and Ecclesiastes golden man being about how you you cannot understand you

BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

4.28.20

'my father can you hear me you guys see me my out here god i feel older than I actually am which I didn't think was possible oh boy oh wait this looks like it's me hi guys sorry about that I'm here welcome everyone welcome we've struck a blow against the forces of Zuckerberg today because we have stolen the goose the mighty goose of content eyeball drawing that I've been doing for his His Dark Lord at Instagram which of course is on my facebook now I'm taking my talents to be zoast ohm I'm in the bezel stone which means that when the apocalypse comes I will be one of his court jesters on his floating garbage scow island that he will be living on sort of like Jabba's pleasure skiff but the size of Rhode Island and I will be on there I will be dancing and catering for his delight I see that it is not working I 0:1:2 guess the thing is we have like affiliates on and if we don't make sure they're knocked off we can't knock them off you got to get in the settings it's about getting in the settings and I don't know anything about settings I'm just a simple country boy I'm just a simple country Oregon Trail millennial who encountered him computers as a child in the form of a ***** cube shaped Mac Apple 2 and a floppy disk was a like those were things they were floppy they flopped when he held them so I don't understand this sit it controls my life and my destiny and it's fused to me in a psychic level like I'm spiritually fused to the machine in a way that will never be removed I mean like that is the basis of the arts acceleration ax stin site is that we are in a situation where we are fusing with technology capitalism is basically an algorithm rewriting us towards becoming robots I talked about this with Liz and brace for 0:2:4 true Anna and if we keep being pulled in that direction we will become machines we will be stripped of all sent species being and flattened to be mere reproducers or receivers and distributors of stimuli neural pathways basically for the great machine of capitalism that is its goal but the thing is and this is where dialectics come in your amp rims would say well that's why you got to cut off the machine you got to cut off the the tube connecting you but know at this point we are Siamese twins we are conjoined that there is a vital exchange happening there it is part of us in a way that is lethal we cannot sever it without losing all of the progressed like

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

upward progressive civilizational moves we've done as a species we can't cut off the computer we've got to though control it we've got to dominate it and that's how you get your fully automated luxury space from Ashville ISM which the reason I don't like that is because it isn't it is metaphysically dire it is as metaphysically nihilistic as the eternal expansionist fantasy of fashion of capitalism that leads to like the idea that you are the one consciousness persisting eternally in the form of a technological singularity that you imagine yourself to be in commando like when those guys imagine the singularity they do not imagine becoming in the some Borg they imagine being maintain their consciousness and separateness and identity as themselves but to do that you have to eventually you will be the only thing left in the universe thanks to their of our dynamics and the and the eventual dispersal of all energies you will eventually just be one voice in an eternity it won't be an eternity though it'll be it'll only feel like it'll be like the jaunt basically that's Stephen King story at the end of which when you're jabbering a screaming mad beast then you will die horribly in in fear as the last energy cycle ends and it starts back up again with the next big bang that comes immediately after that last one of course and then guess what you get to go through that all over again and over all over again and you are doomed to the eternal recurrence that Nietzsche and Alan Moore talked about congratulations you get to relive that you get to relive seven Millennia's millennia millennia as a was just like pea rattling around in a can the can being whatever like techno fantasy you imagine you're gonna be persisting in that's nihilistic but so is fully all ugh sharee it because that's hell that's an imagined hell where you think you're going to heaven but twist it's actually how but the other one fully automated luxury space communism that leads to a similar nihilistic sterility it leads to an idea that you could ever find pleasure meaningful sustained I mean I'm sorry meaning you could ever find the meaning to continue the meaning to find worth in yourself to continue living in mere physical pleasure that could be extended indefinitely that would become hell also you need to have as your goal transcendence there must be a transcendent and that is why those people say we live you need to have religion and in politics is correct because you need to have a transcendent and insight but the thing is that doesn't have to be religious it literally can you can believe in transcendence with every single belief system that you already have you do not need to rewire yourself to believe in it you don't need to negotiate through like the violence that happens in pluralistic religious societies or when one like modern cultural religious societies you know like where there's where other religions are illegal and stomped out it would be because the thing that matters is just the goal and the goal is everyone reducing their attachment to this material world to the degree that they can find communion with the eternal which exists outside the material world all right we're

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

getting we're getting esoteric again I was hoping not to do that I was gonna talk about Joe Biden and then we got all esoteric on you guys so let's see what guys are talking about now see what you guys are looking at hey guys yeah we're stuck in eminence until we escape it and we can and once one of us does we all will that's the beauty of it we all will but one of us has to do it and the beauty beauty part is one of us did because that's why we know that's why we're here because it goes backwards and forwards causality does not go in one direction causality goes in every direction simultaneously oh man I'm worrying now I think I've gone a little over the I'm worried you guys are gonna it's like you can't take together everyone who has had an insight into this greater reality they have had a peek past the veil basically or come close to the veil or glimpse down to the side of their eye past the veil you can get them together and because of their different cultural limitations and intellectual limitations and spiritual limitations which are all the same thing because they're all bound up in what others have done to you and your life because we're all our acts are totally determined and you end up seeing some of the veil it's gonna be different than everybody else's and then because you're gonna be translating it with a specific personal life personal experience that no one else can replicate and you have to find a translation and that translation loses as all transit transitions do as all energy transfers do it loses power as it is translated and so if it goes as it goes from the brain to the tongue in two words into the ear of someone else who has a totally different life and experiences it has already been degraded to a degree that you're only getting a bit of it and so everyone's getting different bits and collaboration and cooperation if they're the cornerstone of your social engine or if they're if there's like the the social engine of your society is cooperation that you will bring those things together to get a greater truth than any one of them would have been able to get or any group of people all revolving around one concept would have that's why materialism that's why materialism that's why the dialectical materialism that's why Marxism is part of that cuz Marx saw a part of it Sidharth of Gautama saw a part of it ***** marks Eugene V Debs Martin Luther King saw a big chunk and it's binding them together into a into a consciousness that it can encompass the human experience and what is that but God what is that but eternity all right I'm gonna chill out now we're gonna get more normal I'm going to kind of translate those thoughts down to the level of like more practical considerations that other people can relate to better because of their similar language and experiences so what are you guys talking about what's going on Joe Patton fell asleep today during his thing where Hillary talked to it he fell asleep and it made me realize how amazingly just tragically powerful it is that Joe Biden is a man who spent his entire life I mean remember this is a man who was elected to the Senate at age 29 before he could legally take the office he turned

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

30 between the election day and his swearing-in that is an ambition that is like a stellar fire so this is a man who clearly I guarantee you when he was taking that oath of office as much as he might have been feeling about his dead wife and dead children who had just been in that car accident he was also thinking that one day he would be president one day he would be president and that day would come pretty quickly I mean come on the youngest-ever senator that senate that's like one of the closest rungs to the presidency there is up there was governor those two really so he had every reason to believe he'd be the youngest president ever and even though he waited a little too long for that to be the case he did Ron in 1988 oh wait a minute no he would have been no yeah he would've been over 40 that's or he would have been older than JFK so he already but he was still different very young he had way less hair back then than he does now somehow I don't know how that happened and he had a disastrous a terrible presidential debate race where he was humiliated and his brain blew up he had two two strokes two brain hemorrhages rather that almost killed him that he went back and the whole time he's doing this he is operating from the absolute through from from a self motivation that is completely personal ambition like the only thing motivating Joseph Biden's political choices was personal ambition his a man be sure to be present in the United States and that meant that he saw the powers arrayed in the country and chose policies and causes that would make them like him give him shine enough to be talked about at their councils of State and their underground bunkers and it worked I mean a guy for a Delaware Senator making a plausible run for president that's impressive and then he became you know it was foreign foreign services chairman so he had a huge role in our foreign policy all of it bad he was in favor of because the thing is all of his actions from becoming a truck warrior to his hawkish this Isle of these were determined by what Capitol wanted in the aftermath of the 70s crisis what Capitol wanted was neoliberalism and what that meant in specifics was things like bankruptcy reform things like tough drug sentences things like high military budgets that is what they wanted and that's what he delivered them and so but and then he ran for president again and this time even though he had put in all the work and he had the resume yeah snuck up under by somebody who the parties social wing had basically pulled into existence and made him obsolete in a way but then he was rescued from from perinari by this very man because he had done that he hadn't done the work he had done the work to be president and then social situation had changed that he was no longer a viable president but he still retained cachet within the party within the media that he held a role that needed to be that could be he became he was still useful to them and so they put him in the VP spot and they rescued him from what would it be he'd be Chris Dodd right now if it hadn't been for that and then he he honestly blew it

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

by that running in 2016 but that's because Biden told Obama told him not to and 0:14:35 he was suckered into thinking that Obama was his buddy and his son had just died and he was off his game I bet I mean he was already kind of losing some of the plot but then he sees her lose in 2016 knows he would have won anyone if that's not I don't anyone wants to argue the Joe Biden wouldn't beat Trump they're wrong you could talk about how Trump is the accumulation of all these realities and how he was inevitable and all that's true but still in this specific situation of 2016 Biden would it be Trump handily and he knows and now he's just consumed as his brain is dying in his last moments he is consumed with the thought that he could have had it and so even though he is clearly the energy is draining for the moment he reaches out to grab it because it's his last chance and even as he's falling he's picked back up by the accumulated decisions of a party that had created these aggregations of voters who responded to x y ;z mostly the media who had x y ;z a social or personal 0:15:37 connections to the plug the Democratic Party as an institution and that saved him thus the party saved him again and of course but now if it happens and he becomes president he's made his the thing he wanted his whole life he will not know it he won't know he won't really know he will only have a dim suspicion of what being the president is and it will be in it will be to him indistinguishable from a nightmare can you just think about what a Twilight Zone episode that is and this is four years after Hillary Clinton who spent her entire life was the same merciless pursuit of power as Biden had was thwarted by a guy who didn't who wasn't trying to win it's the irony it's just the ironies are just stacking their pancakes which is what makes me think that Biden might win as much as he might look like he can't and that's why I give my eyebrow my peoples eyebrow to anybody who says that they say confidently that 0:16:39 Biden's gonna lose I'm sorry man I have no idea this shit's in the air it's in the air folks to sue the air that's exciting it's gonna be crazy so yeah there's gonna be a man in the White House who doesn't know he what he's there but once but once he wants to be he's because like I'll he'll have left is that it's like the the shadow of his personality and that will be wanting to be President but he'll be President but he won't be able to register that because all of his near-term memory will be gone so he will be wandering the White House still wishing he'd been president still regretting never getting there still imagining and torturing himself with thoughts of being president that worked thoughts of warrant fantasies it's actually him in the White House just think about that he's being he's in the White House but in his mind it's just a tormenting fantasy of what he never accomplished oh Jesus whoa 0:17:41 that's heavy he is literally he literally would have made a hell of heaven because of his sinful and wicked decision to forsake meaning and justice and any greater and any greater virtue than personal ambition and guess what it destroys you you were

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

destroyed by your ambition even as your half corpse is hoisted to actual power your spirit has been dissolved in acid and is no longer there and now I'm thinking it's like a Tales from the Crypt episode greetings our next Tara to you there is a tamp cheeto in the White House which is let's talk demon night great movie Bill Sadler Billy Zane Jada Pinkett before she was Smith I think Dick Miller Thomas Haden Church like I said somebody asked about Jessie picture as the greens I like it I like the idea of it it'll be fun like I said do not devote all your spiritual energy to it it should be a fun blow off while you're doing real work whatever that means to you I cannot judge it because everybody's situation is different the situation is fluid I am NOT making arguments work act from your heart is all I ask people what to do is up to you then it's not me that it's not me I swear to god that is not me sobbing it off on to someone else it's me being responsible because I don't trust anybody can have enough confidence in the moment to make big predictions I think the smaller the situation the more likely it is that your understanding of it right now it's correct and so what you think is the right thing to do is what you should do well you should follow that you should follow your heart you should follow you're just like trying to push against your fear by following your heart that's all I ask that's what I'm trying to do but like I'm saying as you're doing that if you want to blow off some steam and we're all gonna have to blow off scene anniversary of getting off Twitter or none of us are getting off watching our shows I'm not sure you're not stopping owning people it's how you get through the rest of it if you didn't do that you if you want to make that up anyone make it Jesse Ventura make it Jesse because land you get a decent chunk you could get three you think he couldn't get three Nader never got three I think he could get three didn't Gary Johnson get three Gary Johnson got three didn't mean yes he did yep I bet that's even sure I could get three at least in fact that should be the over-under no that's a little high I wouldn't get I wouldn't take money on that over-under is 2 and a half I would go to take the over I'll say that do you mean over-under Jesse Ventura at two and a half percent of the vote I will take you over and if it's anything lower than that then that's easy money if it's anything lower if there if anything lower the two and a half that's easy money at three is when we wonder maybe a little more maybe a little less but if it's anything less than three you take that bet he could get five I honestly think he could get five which the greens have never done I mean it see here's ago somebody says and this is why you need to treat it right this is why you need perspective they said it doesn't mean anything unless it's five it doesn't mean anything no matter what because if there is going to be some political formation that emerges electoral to defeat or to supplant the Democrats from the left that's not going to matter the Jesse Ventura getting five or six percent of the vote it's not going to be make that happen one way or the other it

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

won't make it happen and it will prevent it from happening other forces are going to be determinative that that is a specific moment for a specific thing to have oh man 0:22:50
bernie is the vp bernie is VP to a chess even share a ticket ooh now you've got me now you've got me you got me on the hook a little bit you're tempting me this is ooh this is naughty of you because right okay I need to know the specifics of this because one of the big reasons that Bernie could not run third party if you wanted to in this thing is the sore loser laws I don't know if you guys knows what those are but the vast majority of states have laws on the books that say if you run for either party's a primary and you don't win you cannot run in the in the general and you might say that's weird and the answer for that why that happens is because on issues of ballot access the Democratic Party and the Republican Party have identical interests which is maintaining a two-party system maintaining a cartel essentially system like they are essentially a cartel representing capitalist interests now they don't want to let anybody else into that space representing other interests and that's why they make it very hard to get off balance and so that's one of the ways that they make it hard to do to like try to attack try to take over a party and then try to supplant it if you fail they basically make it impossible either way we've saw how they made it impossible for Bernie to take it from inside and ballot access laws make it impossible for him to take him from outside it's very frustrating that's why the best the left electoral II has ever been able to do has been to pressure as a democratic party like the populist like the Prairie populist and Brian did in the 1890s like the progressives did in the 20s like the Communists kind of like the Socialists did you know that kind of thing at best that's what you're gonna get so but I don't know if it's on the law that you can't run as a vice president because she didn't run Bernie didn't run as vice president you know does the law do look sore loser laws pertain to the vice president because if they don't that Bernie should be Jesse Ventura's vice president because ***** that they could win ***** that I'll say it right now isn't that the perfect synthesis that we've been talking about somebody with Bernie's track record of being right about everything and it's obvious earnestness and his honest obvious compassion and care for every human being and then the smack-talking don't give a ***** trumpian in a good way as in a winning media strategy in an age of spectacle way famous ass governor ***** Jesse Ventura if you're talking those two versus a trump who let everyone what a hundred thousand people died because he didn't want the number to go down and it's like support though every day I think Trump is getting more and more of the blame which means he will be more and more ***** by the end of this but if it's between him and mum Ravi ever living the guy who fell asleep during his own Town Hall today the guy who cannot string a sentence together people make fun of Trump yes he told people to inject he said and there's the thing we could put 0:23:51 0:24:53 0:25:55

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

it out to the skin maybe and see it's like yeah that was pretty stupid what would Biden's version of that been it would have been the bleach you know there's you put it on and it's thing if you've got it the back end you know Rehoboth there's I go the Keith kitchen and there'd be the kitchen and and we come back with hotdogs and bleach that would have been his version of that of that inject bleached under your skin gaff there's just turn off turnout would collapse and the people who would vote would be the most glassy-eyed partisans of either side which would make it a toss-up that could lead to a literal like crisis of legitimacy as inevitably I could send electoral vote tie or there are multiple states that have like imagine if there's still if this is still around and we haven't figured out mail-in voting by no remember there are going to be states that are going to be as ***** up in there in there there a general election voting is like la Earth like Illinois and Wisconsin ordering the primary which means there will be no legitimacy to this election whatsoever no one will believe any of the numbers that could legitimately happen just holy ***** no see I disagree that that was a bad Biden impression felix's Biden impression is Biden from a month ago it's already a different guy now he is he is completely incoherent like it's not even it's like those senses Chomsky said were impossible because you know that were possible to construct because of our inborn grammar structures he's it's it's glossolalia a glossolalia so keep that in mind thank you so those two against each other yeah you could actually see a breakdown of legitimacy you could see you could like people talk about the United States splitting up that is the situation what because like the reason it won't is is because of the strength of our institutions like they are incredibly durable because of the amount of cultural Buy and they have like we really have propagandized Americans to an incredible extent to the extent that these things carry real meaning like the Constitution like we've joked I've talked about how it's insane that the Joint Chiefs is not basically cooed Trump it's it's just blows my mind it's like you guys know that this is dangerous and horrible and that we could this guy could get us all killed instead they listen to him and when he said don't test people they didn't test people like when he says you know don't give New York masks they don't do it and that undermines literally the health and security of the nation like all the stuff that those idiots think that they're supposed to uphold and they probably even if you probably get him to admit that they do think this is ***** up but if you said hey shouldn't you stop him they'd be like no he's the president it's like they'd have the guardrails are so hard that they haven't even thought that that's about the thing that could break that is that the thing the big mass ritual that legitimizes this entire thing that reifies every four years this entire thing is the massive extra-long blood and thunder carnival of the US presidential elections in fact you could argue that the reason that presidential election seasons are getting

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

longer and longer is because they have to occupy more and more emotional energy of the population so that they can justify more and more immiseration like things are getting worse and worse and democratic and the elections are getting less and less legitimate just because one party is fiddling with the knobs in such a way to depress the the reflection between voting intention and results so we've already seen two presidential elections where the loser became president because of an archaic and institution that no one can defend legibly everyone who makes every justification for the the electoral college is preposterous on its face it has reason backwards it is it is and and it is so wildly reason backwards that it's not even worth engaging with so that's already a little legitimacy many of gerrymandering and and interventions and the destruction of the Voting Rights Act we already have crisis and then on the other side that's how that's how Democrats get alienated from these democratic institutions Republicans get alienated from these democratic institutions because when they lose they don't have that excuse because there is no reason other than there weren't as popular and they don't want to accept that so oh no it was illegal immigrants cheating it was X Y ; Z it was it was dead people like in Chicago and we like point to real historical voting theft and it's like well I guess you're right about that but like it's all fantasy but they are just as just as invested in election emotionally in these things being rigged elections now that undermines their colluded intimacy but we need the legitimacy because only by the idea that like these things are coming from an institution that we built and that we rebuild every year and every day by caring about politics and then voting those guys are not there for any reason related to my well-being and then it whole thing breaks then it snaps in half and and I think that honestly could it could do it it's it's scary to think about but I really don't know how else you can see something like that happening if you have a kovat infected electorate or different states have different standards some states close almost all of their polling places some states do vote by mail some states do partial vote by mail or whatever a hodgepodge you could see all of that invested emotional energy that went into propping up these things break all of the degree to which you care about who the president is all the degree to which you care about owning the libs with manga if you're a conservative or how much you care about making the damn cheeto in chief get owned by watching The Daily Show for the Democrats all that emotional energy all that or goats just just evaporating like no longer propping up the system because you don't believe in the outcome you don't believe the investment has been an earnest it's not legitimate that's why as I was saying things get worse and worse every years we get continually immiseration and our votes don't change anything so the vote the election year has to get longer longer so that your emotional investment in the spectacle becomes more so that your

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

is because because the degree of your emotional investment in the spectacle of the presidential election is exactly the degree of emotional investment you have in the institutions that it creates like the presidency like the US government like the United States of America so it happened so that's a lot if you're if things are good that level of investment is very high because things are good and because you know that you can make them better by voting if that is gone and everything's bad you have to fill that gap and you fill the gap with spectacle and with the emotional ritual associated with investing the sim of politics with a hollow cultural meaning so that's why that head-to-head race is terrified but if you throw ***** if you throw Jesse and Bernie out there you know and like make everybody clear that like Bernie's is the brain of the operation that like whatever he's said in the past that like the last thirty years have shown Jesse that the answer to a lot of the questions he's always been asking is in socialism like think about the power of that because Jesse Ventura is a classic kind of dumb guy who means well like Joe Rogan and the thing about dumb guys that meanwhile the United States is because there's so little coherent leftist explanatory art that anyone can access but certainly a guy like that would want to access their left trying to big sense the world with right-wing agitprop and with frankly a left-wing online culture that is implicitly hostile to a guy who doesn't already come free equipped with the smart guy aka college education collection of social opinions that make you a decent and worthy human being according to bougie well social values as the blues wild liberal values and so there's the sense you're not getting anything from them and getting to yell that by them and the only thing you're seeing is the right you're like okay but light and in that things and you see the way that they bob and weave and you see that the way that like over time Trump becoming that and the enemy of these same tut-tutting liberal and leftists who scream at them having the same reaction to Trump makes them think well they a man maybe Trump's on to something imagine if you had a figure like that like vencie Ventura who tapped that same energy to become a much better than Trump is president governor of Minnesota and he said I've spent my whole life trying to make America better and and trying to make our lives of greater and I've seen you know I've expected the documents I've seen you know I've seen horrible things happen like 9/11 and and I've wondered like who is behind all this awfulness like what kind of evil hand is the puppeteer making this happen and people have accused me being anti-semitic or for or for being a racist or something or or for being whatever but I have found over the years that that puppet string or the puppet master has a name and it's capitalism I now see especially during this Covent crisis this is being monopolized and monetized and privatized I see capitalism is the hand behind everything that I have fought against and Bernie has been fighting against it the whole time come on you don't think that could win a three-way race I think it good of course that doesn't solve any problems because a Ventura Sanders White House is still doomed to succeed at doing anything it would want to because there's no way they would get any kind of electoral legislative majority they wouldn't get people in Congress supporting them they would have to deal with Republicans and Democrats who could unite against them the way that they united against Jesse when he was governor of Minnesota the question is whether that conflict can be productively used as a mobilization tool which was always the dream of a Bernie Sanders presidency even when he was running within the party can you use the conflict between a powerful but still constrained executive against a powerful but constrained Congress that does not represent your interests who do you support I mean that's how the Roman Empire fell that's that's basic I'm describing essentially the the conflict between the optimist and the popularise from the and the quick but the question is can it's not does this the does the office of the Senate or of the presidency do that it is does the conflict itself generate a mobilized working class that can take the advantages that it can through the powers that the presidency does possess and leverage them to greater and greater success elsewhere so what happens if the internet stops working oh boy wow that's a real scary question because what will we do man I mean I don't think anybody on any side of the spectrum has any plan B for not just communicating but just processing the world without the internet how the hell would you even begin to process the world without the internet right now like this is what I mean when I say you can't cut off the technology and survive the way that like the Kaczynski people want because at this point the internet has been fused socially to us in such a way that to have it immediately disrupted like that would be socially fatal which I mean if you want to go Fight Club about it you say sure that's great but if you think that would be a setback for Humanity in the long run and undiluted oh or at least doesn't help the dialect move at a speed that might be better for the people you know and love let's say like maybe it'd be better to grab this technology now and direct it well instead of having to wait another couple of cycles to get there but clearly it is terrifyingly incorporated into our see that's the thing it's like technology doesn't make people happy at this point technology just makes keeps people alive like that's what that's the ideal that's the ideal transaction capitalism it's not you want this thing and I give it to you it's you need this thing and I give it to you like what is fine and it want you after you start after you get rid of all the one level of needs that's when you have to start creating wants and wants are great but the ideal want turns into a need that's why the products that are the bestsellers are the ones that turn into needs like your pornography like your cigarettes and alcohol and the Internet is it okay to be a virgin of course I'm drinking a spindrift yes I'd have to say that one thing that I like about twitch now that I've moved from Instagram is it the Instagram videos are limited to an hour so sometimes I'll be getting like my win back and I have to stop I'm still gonna go keep them around an hour that's gonna be what I'm gonna shoot for unless I get kind of carried away with something but so just to let everybody know you'll still keep the length similar but I might add some at the end what is my opinion on twitch culture it's baffling and terrifying like all youth culture is the theme time I make no bones about the Zoomers frightening me feeling like they are further down the road towards dehumanization that technology is I am like the bearded guy you know what that is a huge compliment thank you 0:42:30 that's one of my foundational texts I've never seen they live that I was like seven of a PHP or something and they have these this guy that's all beer to do with glasses reading into TV about how they like the aliens are here they're trying to raise the temperature so that we can make the place more s pitiable to their race that's uh that's that's and I remember thinking that's a cool guy to be ok this guy's a Pam Peep all you guys got any questions I told you guys somebody said what happens to North Korea long term long term the joushi ideal becomes the pervading ideology 0:43:32 of the galaxy and then that it becomes the basis many many years later after many breakdowns and reformations becomes the basis for your fully auxiliaries and luxury space communism which then after many more breakdowns and collapses and then rebuild ease becomes the basis for the transcendence I can't really I don't really understand you Shay it's it's the special sauce kind of it's basically somebody took Stalinism that they inherited from the Russians who put them in power after World 0:44:36 War two ended the Kim's and they threw in some like dynastic and national like racial ***** basically they adapted Stalinist Marxist Leninist state that pervaded in a lot of places after the cold war from Ethiopia to Albania and they then added to it add mixtures over the years as it persisted and after it was you know tested by the massive trauma of World War of the Korean War which is like you want to talk about why North Korea is messed up a good answer is the trauma it endured when it was a baby basically like we kicked that we punted the ***** out of that infant we stopped the ***** mud hole in it and that and its status as a pariah state and it's very close-knit monarchical like leadership structure like maintaining stability by 0:45:37 just instituting monarchy which you know if you have a stable enough political class monarchy is the way to go like if your political classes stabilize monarchy is ideal because it provides sort of a neutral arbiter because it kind of draws from everyone equally it's only when you have a situation where monarchs are perceived to favor of factions that monarchy is undermined and that's why monarchy does so well in those like hegemonic social democracies in Scandinavia and also does well in really a really powerful totalitarian state so anyway so then they put those things together and gee

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

Shay is like it's basically aunt Arkell Marxist Leninist which I think raises like the status of soldiers to like worker like or like I think something to do with make like sort of raising soldiers like a category like up of working-class or something like that I'm not a hundred percent certain I'm not an expert but yeah it's it's it's a gumbo 0:46:38 it's an ideological stew made up of the post-war experience of North Korea which is true of all ideologies where is just like Maxwell I would love to know that lady is amazing how I thought she was dead but they keep coming up with statements of armor and I always thought that those were false flags and then I find out that she's suing the Jeffrey Epstein estate for the money she says she's old like it's ***** the Judge Joe Brown how could that possibly be that blows my mind that like that's a you know all right so the UFOs so these the new video I thought the new videos 0:47:42 aren't these videos that can already came out a couple of years ago they just like Declassified them and officially acknowledged that they were real isn't that what happened because I remember when they came out because of Tom DeLonge so I guess the I will say that the one in this one I watched it and it appeared to be much more disc shaped and I remember I remember I remember back when in 2018 thinking that it looked kind of like a tic-tac but this one like it kept the way it moved it looked like a ***** saucer does that Tripp did it did it did it look like a saucer to you guys what could it be guys what do you guys think is realistic what is you guys what's your money on what do you guys take it bets out here could it be a human tech 0:48:49 could it be human tech is the entire thing a PSYOP is this a PSYOP guys I wouldn't be surprised honestly if it was like that episode of The Simpsons where they find the angel and it's just because if you look at the guys who were involved in this stuff like Robert Bigelow the guy who owns skinwalker ranch and was friends with Harry Reid and is one of the big reasons that Harry Reid did although D classifications and works with Tom DeLonge and those guys I mean maybe the whole thing is a ***** gimmick you know maybe they're gonna open a theme park or they're gonna 0:49:54 fake alien invasion and then use it as an excuse to give us all like the mark of the beast in the emergency situation to follow I haven't started Ulysses yet I was kind of wondering if I was gonna try to do it on like a stream but everybody seems to be reading ***** not allowed and I can seems maybe a little indulgent but I know I have to read it out loud I know I'm not gonna read it if I read it in my head I need 0:50:56 to have I need to hear the words so I'm probably gonna have to like maybe a devote an hour in the evening late at night when it's just me other than living room I just read like a chapter or something it's work it's Soulcraft let's call it Soulcraft I have to remember my place the universe I have to remember I have to remember my path I have to remember how to continue walking the path that I can see that I could hear to hear the yes to hear the voice to hear the echo I have to hear I have to get back to the yes that's at the end of that book so I got to read I'm a gamer now I 0:51:58 hope to be we're gonna set up the guy we're trying to set up a office gaming rig and I would go there and I would play there if I could plug and play I would go there the thing is people have said I they would like to see me play those like old the strategy games and the thing is I would like to do that in the abstract but I'm very bad at them I feel like I wouldn't get a lot of value and you guys wouldn't get a value a lot of value out of my poor performance of the game and it would probably just be more confusing and irritating for everyone involved because I would be getting frustrated or trying to not be frustrated but still struggling with it and you guys would all be knowing what I was doing wrong it's like you'd be trying to watch me you know like what a puzzle together and you're like no no no no not that or what are you doing oh god oh Jesus so I don't think that would be fun so I need to think of something that is on the steep streets team or something as a PC game and that is very fun 0:53:1 and light and low stakes and easy to do somebody recommended Katamari Damacy which sounded like a fun one where you've got to roll up the ball but for what I understand that's only on a console and we're not gonna have one so disco Elysium is a cool game but it's not the kind of thing I would want to play it's uh I guess Katamari Damacy is on PC now if it's not stream if it's on Steam I okay I think I'll do that then I might I will never play for tonight I do not like it at all I played it once 0:54:13 in Maine when we were on tour at least streamed it and I just ran around and got bored and then I got shot it sucked thumbs down to that game No thank you real bummer and Crum crummy experience don't like shooting games in general not ones where that requires a lot of a lot of accuracy I guess because I'm not good I never had a good eye coordination hand-eye coordination that's why I never played games when after I was out of schools cuz I wasn't really good at him so it was always more frustrating and I will late I was a lazy little turd so I just sort of it was too hard I quit that was generally my experience I was I was a weak willed little snot I quit I quit a lot of things I create a karate class I quit playing with saxophone I I was in 0:55:14 Cub Scouts and I got the arrow of light and I was a wee below but then I quit Boy Scouts and I claimed it was because I was too busy but in reality it was they started making you do like calisthenics like they started making you do jumping jacks cry at climb ropes and I said ***** this I thought we were gonna just make caramel and use make orange and eat it with apple slices this sucks well it's getting dark out here alright it's getting dark and it's been an hour so I think I'll get off pretty soon so I think the guys are gonna start streaming at 9:00 so you guys come back come on come on back wait I took me longer than this to get on so I'll stay a little longer 0:56:20 and I remember now I I stayed on I stayed on less time because I had took me a while to get off but I'm kind of running out of steam too honestly this has been a

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

lot this is this took a little bit more out of me than the last couple of them have and also I didn't bring a anyway to like this out here so it's hard for me to I don't want to go in and bother so yeah so I'm gonna come off what's my opinion on the chapo to fight line once again I think it's great all right love it I'm glad it's a it's a real thing that isn't made up by frauds and professional anxiety cases I certainly not at all Donald views is one of the great posters we still have there aren't many left 0:57:26 but he's one of them and we should we should respect him for it and I think people should always respect on and if you have a problem with him you've got a problem with me sir he's one of the few remaining true artists of the web Tracht Rowling has basically a dead art except for him he's like somebody who speaks Aramaic Wow people are getting heated in the chat yelling at one another come on boys it's all love it's all love come on boys and girls let's krump and you guys like to krump you guys like krumping at all does anyone remember krumping or is that before your time are you children you never crumped there was a movie about krumping they 0:58:27 made a documentary about crumpet they used to dress like clowns and they did it it was called clown krumping I kind of liked it I liked it a lot it was a sort of I thought it was sort of an American version of the haka sort of a faster sort of latinas haka but then we stopped doing it I wish we'd go back can we get back to krumping in my administration I I swear that I shall put forth a new Donald krump oh man 0:59:33 can you imagine can [Laughter] if his name was Donald krump he's a Cheeto folks there's a damn cheeto on the White House there is a literal cheeto in this White House there is a cancer upon the presidency and there's a Cheeto she do in the white 1:0:37 house that I ratted out I cheat over the white house to do do cheedo in the white house cheeto in the white house guys I want to leave you guys with something from Pynchon I know that apparently the pension subreddit is mad at me somehow but I just wanted to read another thing from against the day from later in the book it's two characters who are basically roustabouts and hired guns who are now working in a among the many superstitions inside this mountain was a belief that the tunnel was neutral ground exempt not only from political jurisdictions but from time itself the 1:1:40 anarchists and socialists on the shift had their own mixed feelings about history they suffered from it and it was also to be their Liberator if they could somehow survive to see the day in the shower battles at the end of the shift the suffering could be read on each body as document written in insults to flesh and blood scars crookedness missing parts they knew each other as comfortable men in the steam rooms of hydro hydro Pathak's for instance would not a mature bullet removals and bone settings cauterization x' and brandings some souvenirs were public and could be compared others were private and less likely to be talked about one day reef happened to notice on floovio what looked like a rain railroad map executed in scar tissue what was that

CUSHVLOG 12. BRAIN RONIN - CYBER-GENIUS

from you walk in between a couple of bobcats ***** an encounter with a Tetzal worm said floovio tyrannic and a new one on me said reef it's a snake with pause at gearheart four legs and three toes on each paw and a big mouth full of very sharp teeth hibernates here in inside the mountain tries to but anybody who wakes it up god help them men have been known to quite quit work here claiming the potential worm was becoming enraged by all the drilling and explosions refigured it was some kind of routine they put the newcomers through this being the first tunnel job he'd run into it on some of Alpine Tommyknockers he figured till he began to notice long flowing shapes in unexpected places Tumblr's brought pistols into work and it took shots whenever they thought they saw Tetzal worm somewhat dynamite sticks and through them the creature only became bolder or maybe more indifferent to their his fate ain't exactly mine rats here in Europe speculated Philippe the mountains are much older than America whatever lives in them had more time to evolve toward or lethal perhaps less amiable sort of creature it's also a good argument for Hell added gearheart for some primordial plasma of hate and punishment at the center of the earth which takes out different forms the closer it can projected to the surface here under the Alps it happens to become visible as the Tetzal world it is comforting to imagine this as an outward and visible manifestation of something else chuckled one of the Austrians puffing on a cigar stub but sometimes the Tetzal worm is only a Tetzal worm the really disturbing thing Fabio would whisper is when you see one and it looks up and sees that you are watching it sometimes it will run but if it doesn't then prepare to be attacked it helps if you don't look at its face for long before the dark you will know where it is because it will be screaming a high whirling scream that's like the winter wood winter cold will creep in to occupy your bones what you have the cut encounter Gerhard agreed it is with you forever this is why I believe they are sent to us to some of us in particular for a purpose what's that reef said to tell us that we shouldn't be doing this tunneling putting railroads but we're not reef pointed out the people who are paying us are do they ever see the Tetzal worm it visits them in their dreams and it looks like us added floovio if that was a little still to this because it's too ***** dark back here I shouldn't have started that I'm sorry alright guys I'm going out I'll see you guys tomorrow I'll probably try to keep them around the same time maybe a little earlier so that I can get in here while it's still light out or get a goddamn light anyway

MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

4.29.30

Oh all right guys oh and all your nap here here boy it's been a very interesting day for me I haven't even left my apartment I've been really taking a lot a lot of stuff I feel I'm hoping to share some things to the user day that I'm really excited about but I'm also a little worried about I have my graph paper I'm gonna have to explain some stuff so first things first is that I don't know if you guys have noticed if you guys have been any of you have been watching my Instagram streams I used to do before switching to twitch here the last week or so I've had a bit of a a bit of a Satori moment a bit of a just sort of a bit of an all around mental reorganization egodeath to put it very bluntly and the result of it is that I've been gifted really with a and it's not out of the blue it's building on other insights that I've been struggling with my entire adult life but now they're finally crystallized into a truth and reality that I've honestly found to be basically if you ask me to put it bluntly if you ask me like what's the meaning of life I have an answer that it satisfies me that's all I can do I cannot satisfy anyone else because I can't translate the feeling to them so I have the meaning of life and of course you might say sure a lot of people say that and I bet most of them are telling the truth the problem is I have to try to communicate it to you guys and I will not succeed I will only get part of it out and the question is I'm trying to balance frankly guys I'm trying to balance getting this out in a way that inspires enough people to see something to it to talk to me about and maybe because the thing is I'm only gonna keep thinking this and only gonna know this truth if I keep acting it every day there's no such thing as unactive upon beliefs so if I gonna believe that this is true I have to act that way which means I efter not interact with the world that way and that means that if I interact with other people that way they will see the truth of it just through my actions and then they will reflect those to me and it will make it easier for me to live this because I will be making reality around me in the image of this knowledge because it's guiding my actions so that's that's the long and short of that I have to try to get this across to people that's the only way I'm going to keep it it's only we're gonna keep the fire but only when I'm keeping the fire in it's if I keep putting it out there and trying to explain it because

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

I'm explaining it to myself too because I'm using poor instruments words symbols to try to get it something that's beyond those but anyway I have to try to get it to enough people that people can like get it believe in it and we can all talk about it and it can redefine it or people think I'm a cult leading psychopath and stop paying attention to me and then I become someone on the street corner with a newspaper diaper trying to get people you know to accept that I am the Living God getting tased by the cops and put on YouTube I do not want that so that means that I have to be very very careful about how I try to communicate these ideas and so I'm not going to start at this level because it's just you can't get there the way to get there is by starting back here with the material here and now this space-time and that's where we are so we need to talk about concrete examples that people could get their head around so anyway this is all along steps way of saying that when I woke up this morning I had a realization about Twitter which is that it cannot be a a place 0:4:9 where fruitful conversations happen or at least not fruitful enough to be worth the effort of doing them now I always kind of believed that but one of the things that this whole revelation has given me is the knowledge that I didn't really know why I believed a lot of the things I believed and now that I have interrogated them I found that some of them I only thought I believed and don't really believe but some of them I did believe but just not for the full reason I wasn't all the way to the ground of why and I realize now the foundational fundamental reason the Twitter cannot be used as a constructive place for argumentation or persuasion or the pursuit of truth is that it is a undef of anti dialectical space that trying to pursue specifically socialism on Twitter is inherently impossible because it is because socialism like all intellectual traditions and all all political movements eventually starts as a dialectical 0:5:10 process and Twitter conversation defeats dialectical reasoning because even though everybody on the terrain of Twitter might have the the shared hope for creating socialism like give everybody benefit of good faith they actually do want socialism but they have to communicate that sense of wanting socialism on a space where their individual material incentives to act are not towards the sort of collaboration with other intelligences that would lead to an answer and a practice out of that answer praxis it leads you to competing with one another to try to be different than other people so that people will notice you because your ego is guiding the process which is what capititation seeks whereas cooperation is dissolving the ego to some degree to cooperate to us a facilitate cooperation so that means that we're all out there when we're taking on Twitter our goal is to be noticed and that notice can take 0:6:14 the form of everything from a like to a follow to becoming a podcaster to getting notice to having people take you seriously and the only way you can do that is if you stand if you point out your difference from somebody else this is also known

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

as leftist infighting now the thing is is that there are real conflicts these conflicts are not made up but the problem is they cannot be resolved now because to resolve them is to ruin your position in the hierarchy you've established you have no interest now in actually resolving the problem because then you're just part of the mass and you're not special anymore that is a genuine problem that the sets anyone trying to get any socialist idea across on Twitter and it doesn't mean we can't get to some truth we do it's just very very inefficient use of time it's like it's like trying to it's like cutting down a ***** Sequoia with like a hand axe you could do it with enough 0:7:17 time and enough people you could chop down a Sequoia with hand hand axes but no one would because it's be a wildly inefficient use of resources time energy and material and it's the same way you could get there on Twitter but my god it's about the least efficient way you can so don't so don't not be on Twitter because honestly what Twitter is it's not for politics it's for friendships as much as that is goofy to say and so much as you think no I go on Twitter to own people yeah but you own people so your friends notice and they like you more it's about friendship and politics is just one of the ways that we create the friendship and then that craftsmanship in the market turns into monetization and pair of social relationships and all that stuff but at the end of the day you are stuck in this relationship where you can't get to your incentives your direct material incentives which are gonna inform your actions 0:8:19 more than your theoretical belief of socialism because it's closer to your material reality and conditions means that you will socialism will lose every time in the battle between the ego and socialism it will lose because that's where your actions are that's where your beliefs are they're not at they're not your your practice is not at the level of socialism it's at the level of competing within this this friend network so go online to have friends and go online to listen to people who you think have something interesting to say and they will often point out what they have interesting to say by pressing it up against wrong things and you can make fun of the people who are wrong but know that it can only be that it can never give you any kind of real insight it's just about increasing social bonds the work the intellectual work is done with them within or off of Twitter and mostly through encounter with the real world in the form of doing things activism outside of the house out of the cyber realm the place where the rubber literally hits the road where friction accumulates 0:9:21 where the dialectical is manifested in in the material world it literally becomes the spirit of the machine okay wait a minute don't want to go off too far here don't want to get you guys thinking I'm insane again don't want to get it I don't get 5150 ***** all right so anyway this is all to say that the Twitter cannot do what you want it to do and that you to do what you want to do which is live as a socialist and feeling living in accordance with your with your beliefs which is closer to being a

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

fully actualized person than being the muhammed on who does you know like when they talk about a small sold bug men that isn't not that's talked about a real thing like instead of having instead of feeling real validation like you are because you feel like your actual izing yourself through the pursuit of socialism in your life you get to do a pseudo world where you watch netflix and you jack off and you eat compressed 0:10:23 soy and corn products and then you find those meet those transient joys you put fake meaning in them instead but that's not because of the peppe's aren't right of why that is that's because you're you're you're captured in a matrix of capitalism and you have a material need to solve your closest pain and so that's always gonna put you a conflict with the greater need to like push against it which is why you have to always be thinking about what you're why you're thinking what you're thinking putting yourself in place in time at all points being mindful to use a hippie term for it because then you can actually get motivated to do it because you know why you're doing it you need to know why you're doing anything like I Riley realized because I I finally realized I had noticed talking about Jordan Peterson I had noticed that Jordan Peterson got kids to pick up on a room when their parents telling them 0:11:24 couldn't and I used to think it was because they recognized Jordan Peterson from like the matrix of online and online was like their new parents and so they listened there more that was incorrect I was wrong about that now I understand the reason that they picked up the room and thought it was incredible to hear it from Sweden Peterson from compared to their parents is because Jordan Peterson told them why they should pick up their rooms he told them that it would make their lives better and it would give them more control over their lives and sense of destiny it would make them it would put him on a better path of action and in parents just tell you to do it you say why and it's cuz they're tired because they have other things they don't have the bandwidth they say because I said so and then it's just I'm doing something that is in the short-term unpleasant for no reason just for as a favor to my mom you have to be self motivated to do anything consistently and so that and so all we have are these petty self motivations of like you know pleasure which lead to hedonism and destruction but we can't cultivate anything deeper because we don't 0:12:28 have beliefs to motivate it we don't have beliefs to motivate behavior and and and Peterson gives beliefs to motivate the behavior of cleaning a room the way that your parents didn't and that's what I mean by levels of of like reality because like I was right at the level that you know there was a difference between I would I didn't know why people that worked before now I do like I'm now I know I'm writer than I used to be because I know different things because different things have happened to me oh boy all right I'm trying to reel this back in I feel like I keep floating off and I gotta like get the ***** Coast Guard to bring me back alright but yes someone says

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

it's socially motivated the sum total of our our self the sum total of free will is the interaction with other people that Oliver we're told so never mind so I address that just not now because it's gonna get me off on a thing and I don't really have the language for it but trust me I know what you're talking about and I understand what that objection is and it I could explain why oh my god I gotta get back to what I was gonna say I'm gonna get killed they're gonna ***** throw me off of twitch now and you guys are all gonna stop watching oh god ah I'm gonna worry here all right was I saying Twitter not good not a place to find any kind of meaningful conversation that's going to resolve towards truth you're only going to see people motivated to reify a the conflict and the way you know that by the way is that the the way that the mechanism of that is this like say you've got to our sides of an argument on any given issue like what is to the left of this or or this course of action or this this position be it like the ID paul superbowl any million arguments you can imagine if any person on one of the two sides is the first to acknowledge the premise the correct premise that the other person is acting on that arise from true observations of reality if the purse person to do that will then be pointed out as a heretic to maintain the other person's position because you need to always be in contrasting your left 'no switch somebody else's insufficient left Ness so the movement the dialectical movement that is needed to resolve these things is made impossible by the social nature of it because the incentives are towards individualizing and building a brand like we did like everyone online is trying to do consciously or subconsciously so that's why you can't do it on Twitter and so I pop on Twitter cuz I'm not gonna stop being on Twitter I have OPM's where I have a lot of friends I like to talk to I like to do jokes sometimes and have jokes with my friends that's what I try to do with Twitter that's what I've tried to do before and I'm just resolving to do it more now and then sure enough though the first thing I see is a ***** clip of Nathan Robinson saying it's not only saying that Karl Marx should never have been born and that things like class conflict and historical materialism are are not really convincing or like oh no oh God because it's not like I necessarily even and getting mad at him because part of this this new approach to reality is to accept everyone's historically contingent nature and that Nathan Robinson is not the way he is for any personal reason that goes beyond the accumulation of behaviors of activities and and and and situations that have led to him being like I just a product of mechanical unfolding of the universe I mean and he still asked that I just I have to treat him that way if they're sure or not I have to treat him that way in order for me to deal with him rationally and not just through anger so I tried not to be angry at him but I was still like I don't want I resolved not to argue on Twitter anymore in fact I deleted a tweet I was gonna do or I was gonna argue something with somebody and then I saw that I said this is so dangerously

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

wrong this attitude is so like up and now especially feeling what I feel I feel like this is so dangerously wrongheaded that someone needs to say something and so I went on Twitter and then as soon as I tried to compose this tweet all of the bad incentives that make Twitter a bad place for communications start kicking in the main one being is that every tweet is powered by some sort of insecurity a desire to perform something for others so that they will reintroduce that quality to you that you will you will feel that they feel your the way you want them to think you are and that's why you tweet and so I can't just say this is a dialect you know like these are foundational elements of like any kind of social movement that has any hope of conquering capitalism but that's just scolding and that's not fun and that's not you know that's not chapo brand so I say no I can't do that so I say if anybody wants to replace Marx with Robinson because the under the undercurrent of my critique is who do you think you are basically and so I say look at his peacock outfit because there's pictures of him in like a Mardi Gras outfit where he looks kind of goofy just honestly and of course he's known for his weird bizarre affected dress and accent and stuff it's like he's a self kind just character it's fine isn't he's Truman Capote of the American left whatever and so I just wanted a shortcut I didn't want to argue through it because that's not fun so I just wanted a semantic shortcut to check out this goofball he's a 30 year old weirdo why would he know more than Marx and of course that gets at a truth which is that I'm sorry Marx knows more than Raven Robinson because not Marx Marx's understanding of the dialect goes deeper than his does his understanding of material reality observed from empirical observation and his intellect and his empathy combining have rendered him more an accurate viewer of how the world is and so if people listen to Dathan Robinson instead of Karl Marx they're gonna it's gonna be harder for them to get the right conclusions because they're gonna start from the wrong premises and so I felt like I had to say something but I just said it in a snarky way and I'm sorry - Nathan honestly for insulting him it's like I'm not gonna do that anymore because it doesn't do anything because all it did was it told everybody who likes Nathan Robinson and like Haven invested liking Nathan Robinson as part of what makes them a good person and a good leftist a good leftist and therefore a good person and so to attack that is to attack their central their sense of being of course they're gonna fight back and it's never gonna be about the actual katraine of the argument they're defending a key component of their identity how is that ever gonna be able to be talked about rationally especially when you're talking about an online space where we neither one of us can guarantee the good faith of the other and it just exploded and I realized oh this was see I have made things worse the him just saying that would have been X about of unhelpful but me pointing it out has actually reified this anti dialect and

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

made things worse in the long run like I've actually affected the world for the worse I lost good place points if anyone seen that show and I'm like damn I can't do that anymore ***** so I've been trying since then before now to answer people who've responded to me in some of the comments with as open a heart as possible to try to get it what I was trying to say and just you know if I feel like I can answer a question confidently if I feel like I can I have enough of an understanding of like how this fits into my overall view of the world then I can say I'll answer and I happen and it's been it's been a good exercise it's making me like feel more confident myself and the thing is you're in the more confident you are your beliefs the less emotional you are about them the better you are about arguing at them so much of like the deep platforming mania that's on both sides of politics is essentially people reifying their insecurities in their beliefs like the they cannot comprehend the idea of debating or engaging with another idea is anathema because their belief is brittle enough and they fear that there is someone who understands things more than them and could make them not believe what they believe anymore but those beliefs are so deeply tied to their sense of identity that that that is terrifying and threatening but if they but the thing is what a group is right and one group is wrong you don't have to just say both sides know one sides right the other side is wrong but the side that's right in this case might not be right enough to recognize how right they are and therefore doesn't have the confidence and emotional endurance to really think so anyway so I said what I said and I've kind of boiled it down to a little drawing I want to put here so this is this is me trying to divorce my critique of Nathan Robinson's dismissal of Marx without any personal invective and without any any slant towards towards ad the wretched ad hominem or anything else this is purely trying to contextualize the dispute and I'm gonna use a piece of paper here to try to get it across because I will not like I said I really don't want to look like a crazy person and I know grant putting on a graph doesn't necessarily help you relieve your mind on that case but I'm just this is broad and these categories suppress other categories that are more complicated but they're not necessary you guys could see this all right so there's here's the world as it is this is the world we live in it sucks we hate it we recognize that it's bad because we're alienated from our time and our labor that makes things shitty that makes us wanna die but also afraid of dying got up here socialism let's say broadly construed because we're trying to do big tent we're gonna take good on good faith everybody's claimed that they are socialists when they say they are so Nathan Robinson I believe he's a socialist okay because he wants this I believe because why I can't how will I ever prove he isn't to anyone's satisfaction it'd be impossible you're asking me to like dissect his soul all we can say is does he act as though that he wants socialism and it seems as though he does but he lives down here

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

we all live down here and we all have to build a bridge first or thought then through action praxis that is then collectively endeavored towards the goal if you get enough people pushing in the same direction you can get here but they all have to be doing it together that's cooperation that's socialism that's communist and that's everything okay so that's what so the thing is how do you get it what's the engine what's the thought engine that drives this from is to should be okay I would say that Marx because he emerged at the moment that capitalism emerged that's not a coincidence he was historically contingent Marx emerged when he did because he was seeing the beginning of capitalism he grasped all of its contours and so that is why his analysis of capitalism is the single most important one it doesn't mean he was right about everything it doesn't even mean he was right on unbalance in some way every most things it means he was right on the most basic things that you build from because you can say well Marx didn't anticipate ecology and Marx didn't anticipate feminism or Marx didn't anticipate racism Marx didn't anticipate technological advancement Marx didn't anticipate like how far imperialism would extend capitalism's ability to expand market and an increase in puts yeah because he died in 1881 he could only observe he could create models and then observe them and play out reality only in front of them we have to add on but we add starting with the Marx and what Mason Robinson is saying essentially is replace Marx with me because if it's not Marx then who is it well it's got it the guy a guy tells you to discard Marx and here starting from scratch and trying to figure out how to get from here to here you have no roadmap who are you gonna trust more than the guy that just told you to give away the foundational guy of the whole thing the foundational set of ideas and I'm saying that because Nathan Robinson exists so far away from the big bang of capitalism that he is such a liberal subject as we all are he is so suffused with the liberalism that is redounded through the cultural superstructure over the last 200 years that his insights will not go as deep as Marx's were because he was there at the temporal beginning he wasn't captured by the ideology of capitalism yet cuz he hadn't grown up under it Nathan Robinson is captured as I am as everyone reading this is by the ideology of capitalism so we all have to come together and take everything that came before us and everything that we see around us to build enough to counteract that ideology and you start with something like Marx you cannot start with nothing because then you are in thin air you are a late capitalist subject trying to bootstrap yourself into a third put into a into an observational point of view of capitalism that you cannot have because you're inside of it it's Heisenberg's uncertainty principle you are in capitalism you're embedded in it you cannot be outside of it to see where you are but Marx could because he didn't grow up under it and that's why he is so disastrously wrong to say that we shouldn't have had Marx because that means

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

that those things still would have come up those insights would still be there people would still articulate them but they would have articulated them later which would have meant they would have articulated them with less specificity and it would have been harder to build on them it would be literally retarding progress because it retards the dialectic because Marxism emerges to come into conflict with the reality of capitalism and create new realities that's the dialectic history and it's like I didn't get it for a long time I assumed it was right because I assumed I agreed with other parts of Marx I was like I agree with all this stuff about Marx about like class struggle I see it's clearly true I'm not so sure about the dialectic so I will just say I agree with that part problem is that means I don't really believe in Marxism that much because I can't justify it beyond that level and that leaves me vulnerable that leaves me feeling insecure about it and when you reach that point there are two things to do you can either say well Marx is wrong or you can say I am going to try to figure it out why do I believe this why what principles does class struggle come from and that's where you get to the basic stuff like historical materialism and then on top of that dialectical materialism like first the observation the observation of the material conditions and then the notion that they are driven by conflict between ideas which is then turned at the higher level into class struggle there's class struggle they're all built on top of one another now we're stuck here because intervening tech not this is where Marx dies basically Marx dies here now we've got this time here we have intervening time we have new technology we have Empire we have the world wars we have all this stuff but we stop to get there and Marx can't help us anymore so now what do we do we build on top of this with other stuff stuff about ecology stuff about race stuff about gender stuff about Technology stuff about computers all that stuff you add it on top you add it on top of the base here now what Nathan Robinson is doing by rejecting this stuff because he didn't understand it and didn't either have the patience or brains to study it until he did rejects it and says it must not be true because I don't understand it no you don't understand it and to you therefore it isn't true if you understood it you could reject it and say no this entire premise is wrong but it flows to every other principle you're talking about it flows the dialectic flows all the way up from diet from the historical materialism to the dialectal materialism to the class struggle it all flows up towards a state of actual existing socialism for all humankind the actual end point of teleological Marxism if you say no to that what you're basing it on like you're basically basing it on liberal concepts of morality now if you're up here if you're Nathan Robinson you're going off and you know where this is you know what that or arrow is up there that arrow is liberal personal individualism because that's what that's what like anarchism is as Chomsky has admitted anarchist traditions and things of that

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

nature exist to try to get the socialism try to get the socialism without a basis of materialism and what they do instead is they say well we are morally required to create a just society because we all are individual beings with individual rights but that creates the only way that adjudicate the idea of us all being monads like that is through market transactions which necessitates capitalism so it creates liberal subjects and now liberal subjects if they're given enough time and resources might get to socialism but given the constraints of resources on a planet over time that will likely lead to destruction before it gets to socialism and guess what it'll eventually pass to the stage of COSO of understanding it'll eventually resolve to a point where it incorporates Marxism but it'll be way just started raining no I don't mean I don't mean markets I mean market transactions are the only transactions you can have if the basis for your understanding of material reality is along individual individual moral lines the idea that we're all individuals with individual morality like those things have endowed meaning that leads either to religious fundamentalism which has to be overcome which is another obstacle or it leads to total atomization which only reinforces capitalism at every level all right god damn it it's raining through the slats here I'm getting rained on I'm getting dapped on guys ***** I might have to go inside alright guys we're gonna be Oscar Mike here in a second watch watch your perimeter please don't all right guys thank you for bearing with me during the check there I'm still on it's raining out are you guys doing now now I can now all right so that was what I was trying to say I wanted to get that off my chest the Nathan Robinson thing so so anyway so the thing to say that about him is it means he's wrong but then people say well does like immediately when if you criticize him I saw people saying totally understandably you want to throw them out of the discourse you think he's a fraud you want to supplant him with your own identity it's like you were totally reasonable to worry about that because that's what you should have come to expect from other people on this platform because that's what behavior is rewarded so totally understand that I'm just saying so that's there's no way for me to like responsibly uh and successfully critique him on that platform without people taking it the wrong way because that's the only way that they've been trained to take things there so I am done this is a long way of saying that I am done dunking on anyone on Twitter other than evil like you know goblins I will not be I will not be talking on anyone's ideological disinclination or or like ideological failings I'll stick clearly to material goof-ups like people telling you about who to vote for and ***** like that because that is much more concrete that you can argue is bad around and it doesn't cause such deep semantic confusion as mucking around an important ***** feel that theoretical ***** and just turning it all into mush just turning it all into a bunch of mush so that nobody understands but everybody thinks they have to to maintain the ideologies and the identities that they have value now like instead of creating their own identities they've grabbed one off the rack in the form of socialism or whatever I'll write anything any kind of political identity online is a substitute for the identity that we can't create through like true use of our time because it's alienated so I'm done with all that I will be I'll be using the internet be trying to rededicate to myself to only using Twitter for funsies just having fun ah uh you guys 0:36:26 got any questions anybody got any questions man I gotta say it's kind of funny to imagine this many people listening to this I'm a little worried that I'm that I'm rendering myself a laughingstock of the of the new web intelligentsia with this I'm a little worried anything that Marc's got wrong he got wrong at a higher degree of abstraction from reality than everything else he got wrong the way that all good thinkers get wrong in one direction you you're building on a base all thought all belief all everything is built on a base it's and that's the engine and so the things he got wrong were at the edges like a question like the declining rate of profit that 0:37:28 really is something that he couldn't totally predict because a lot of it has to do with exigencies that he wouldn't have been able to conceive of because he didn't realize what technology was gonna do like he could and he couldn't have because he was he was fixed in the space time of the late 1700s so that's the thing that he might be wrong up now a lot of people crisis theory say no he's a hundred percent right of the creative laugh at all the the declining rate of profit the thing is I think that he is right in the broad sense that that will happen just due to the reality of I mean I don't understand how anyone can deny that the how do you deny the declining the the pendency of the rate of profit to decline over time and the second law of thermodynamics how can you believe how can you not believe both of those they're expressions of the same reality they're expressions of the same underlying function of matter over time which is to lose energy lose lose lose in translation and loose over 0:38:31 transmission so it's Banali true that so when people say he was wrong what they mean less it didn't happen on a time scale that he predicted well no ***** he was ***** guessing on what was going to happen he didn't realize the extent to which colonialism would extend the lifetime of the super profits of capitalism like s and then Lenin Lenin had to point that out because ***** Marx was dead he wasn't going to understand what technology was gonna do in terms of like destroying a lot of presumptions about like Malthusian limits those are all mistakes but they're just mistakes of not having enough information his basic methodological approach to reality was correct but now we have to refine it because things have happened since then and we were responding to a different reality a fundamental different reality than the one he was describing it's a different world and we don't think of it that way because we don't think of our place of ourselves as fixed in place in time in 0:39:38

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

relationship to other things all labor theory of value is another one of those that once we're declining rate of profit we're it's like that's so true it's Banali true it's it's it's implicit in existence labor is value they're they're the same thing labor and labor is value the same way the time is space they occupy the same they occupy the same space-time quadrant at any given moment well you cannot have one without the other in equal measure so what the ***** are you even talking about well that marginal every ship is at a higher level of abstraction that's gone off kilter because now you're trying to reinforce capitalism instead of move towards transcendence which is what we should be doing yeah see people are like God diamonds in the water dude rope 0:40:39 no no higher level of abstraction and a higher level of abstraction yeah you can't find value in things that aren't directly tied to labor but that's because they've been a strat abstracted away from the fundamental relationship Chomsky got lesson is a liberal and he says he is which is why I don't understand anarchists who get mad when you point that out anarchism is liberalism it is a higher stage of liberalism anarchism is like the highest stage you can get of liberalism towards justice before it breaks down due to its internal contradictions so it is more advanced than liberalism it is a form of liberalism that's the thing is that these categories are all gradients of one another they are not binary categories they are but then that then that dissolves over time so like through the accumulation of practice anarchism is a superior and 0:41:41 more progressive form of liberalism but it comes from liberalism and because of liberalism is now just a slur and a slander that you throw on people you don't like on Twitter to show that you're to the left like why this is everyone call everybody liberal because then they're not part of the left and that means you are and people should pay attention to you because you're not a liberal because everyone understands that a liberal is out of the club so instead of wrecks because like anarchists could that accept like oh Amaya liberal and maybe they'll find you know I actually have a liberal and then they're good I am a liberal anarchist but they insist on saying no I am I'm a ***** socialist and it just confuses everything because they have to be on the left they have to be liberal of socialists to be good because the reason all these political opinions matter so much to us is because of how little we use them because how much they are just in our hands if we live them every day we would they would be secure and we wouldn't have to reify them by having them reinforced 0:42:42 by going on Twitter and having people tell us that we're good socialists if we lived as good socialists we wouldn't need to be told so we wouldn't have to go online and be socialists and then we wouldn't have to be so touchy about who gets to call them that and we could actually examine the ***** questions on their merits instead of failing to understand because you need all of these people like people say oh you're saying you're not socialist that doesn't mean you're bad necessarily it means that

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

you're carrying out your role everyone is not going to just change these just alright I honestly think that the big fundamental problem here is that people who put their internet the underlying theory of activism that underlies you going online right and saying your opinions if you strip it of everything else and all self-dealing and all like 0:43:44 all the stuff about you know wanting to make friends or whatever or influence people and you just strip it to the actual original because there was at one point before it got muddled that there was a real desire to do good when you're seeing the shitty world and if you could strip it down to that what would it be it would be I want to go online to tell people what to do the idea is I will say this is what you should believe and I'm making people believe it then they're gonna do it but look what happens we say that and then what does it convince other people to do it convinces other people to do what we did which is just say what we are if you were out doing it and I'm saying I'm including myself in this oh my god do not think that I don't understand that i am more implicated by this than any single person on earth that i am more an example of this rotten failed system the more curse of the Demiurge 0:44:45 i understand that I absolutely do I don't know if I can do enough penance for it to gain credibility that I actually do believe that but trust me anyway anybody got any questions anybody these things move so fast it's hard for me to say yeah I kind of 0:45:49 I mean that's what I'm working towards it's like a unified field theory once again I don't want to sound insane but I'm gonna try to lay out here the basic principle this is like the thing that I would put on I would put on like a belt buckle or welcome mat or like have embroidered on a sampler just the thing to remember every day to help me like think better and you guys can tell me I'm crazy or not it's that the degree to which a being has consciousness because consciousness comes in degrees the degree to which beings have consciousness is the degree to which they can perceive time all right so that's all I'm gonna say about that now I'm gonna try to talk more about this stuff in the future yeah if I feel if you feel like I've gone around the bend please 0:46:51 let me know because I'm gonna just like kind of take the only way I can know how I'm doing is this in terms of getting it across I know I'm right but I don't know if I'm getting it across is if people come back and tell me dude you're doing good or dude you sound insane because then I need to know that I need to spend more time on refining mic translations so that they don't sound crazy okay someone says I a lot of people are so he got a lot of you got can we get it you sound insane in the in the in the Chad can you get a little you sound insane yeah that's the thing is I don't want to be the time cube guy cuz the time cube guy I don't think he was very happy I don't think he felt like he was getting it across maybe he was maybe the time cube guy was ultimately happy because he thought he had done enough 0:47:52 of a job and maybe it is because maybe that means that there's one person in the world who will read time cube and become instantly enlightened at the end of it that could happen and if he did it to one person he succeeded so that means time cube guy was right so tip of the half the time the implications of my theory are ABS absolutely universal but I can't predict what they are because they will only appear in the actual moment of use because that is when the dialect kicks in because that is because like that's what really hit me about the dialectic is that dialectical reasoning is the literal engine of all existence it's how the brain comes into consciousness and 0:48:55 how the literally the universe comes into consciousness of itself if this is asked of communism I mean I took acid before I thought it up and it still it's making me a much more much better more confident more nuanced communist I say yes I'll call it ask the Communist as well because I feel like I am finally for the first time confident that I could even call myself something like that before I assume Able's because I didn't even know what I believed I only know when I kind of thought was true and I never pursued it deeply enough and I have been because I didn't have a way to do so because you are not taught to think you are taught to react and those aren't the same things and because you're only taught to react and if you only react you will be an animal you will be a miserable creature too conscious of time to enjoy life in 0:49:57 like blissful unawareness of your own mortality but without any ability to enjoy it to enjoy yeah like I mean the reason I was on all about better call saw last week is that I remember trying to write a think piece about about prestige TV for a while it was like one of my opinions you know I'm like one of those little hip pocket things that was contrarian enough to gain notice and make you worth listening to because hey I'm saying something slightly different than what everyone else is saying this is on just like a cultural level rather than a political one but the same thing happens in politics and then I had to like back fill it in with and with what I had observed about prestige TV which was that it was like this weird set of genre expectations and I was 0:50:59 able to only get to like this thing about how well you know we like it because we're too tired to read books anymore but I couldn't like get to like why that is tactic that actually is tragic and now I actually get a standard it's not that the format it's not that the it's not that oh these shows aren't as good as The Sopranos it's that even The Sopranos was a degraded version of art that should not have been that universally beloved because it was on television because it was the product of a capitalist enterprise it was as tainted as the attempt to build socialism on Twitter is the artistic impulse the impulse towards morality those impulses are tainted by their association with the markets and I couldn't get to that root of it so I ended up being more a very superficial and the thing I wrote for current affairs hilariously when I wrote about prestige TV now I feel like I didn't really get across what I was trying to say because I didn't really know why I was saying it and now I get it because I 0:52:0

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

see here's the thing I can't do math so I can't do any of the math stuff I have to try to enrich my understanding of this in the symbolic languages that I am adept at which are words and then symbols related to words I have one of the most bifurcated minds on in human history like the way I see it math is the symbolic language of the material world the intellect and words are the symbolic representation of the spiritual the emotional the empathic and I'm very good at those but I'm very very bad with math and you can prove things in both ways but I can only be persuaded by ones that I can understand and I cannot understand math based proofs so I have to try to like find other words symbolic regimens semiotics to build my confidence in this one because I'm only gonna keep believing this and having this informed my behavior for the better if I keep believing it and that's only gonna happen if other people reflect it back to me otherwise known as Karma this is also basically Buddhism by the way the salat just like I'm trying to speak of Buddhism in a materialistic sense but yeah like you step one Mac and this is Buddhism so spoiler alert and the thing is you know it's also mystic Christianity you know whatever it all ends up with a communion with the Godhead which is time which is conception of time it's just different vocabularies different levels of of cultural historical space-time fixedness yes everything is caused by everything else there is total determinism of our acts in the universe but we all you know in the moment are fully free to do anything and the funny thing is is like a lot of this stuff people say like I assure or whatever or Schopenhauer these are all things that I have never read I'll admit it because honestly the main reason I never read any of the really like heavy Theory stuff is that the level of dialogue I would have with my friends and with people online was never deep enough to require it so there was never a motivation on my part to actually deep deep dig into it because there was no suggestion that there was anything deeper and now I feel like I understand the use and I understand like where these things fit and I feel like for first that makes me think oh no now I never have to read them so what it really means is now I have to read them all because reading them reinforces them both in my mind and then in my actions which then reverberate out to everybody else and then they bring them back to me I don't know anything about math that's yeah and the first book that came along that made me think of that was Ulysses I felt like oh I feel like Ulysses as a part of that as an attempt to build a consciousness out of words to use symbol the symbols of language so finally that you have rendered a mind so yeah let's try that I'll try girdle Allen watt apparently I would love to read some love to read some Christian mysticism now now that I feel like I could totally grapple with all religious traditions and of course Buddhism yeah because bags essentialism is like part of this like this is an edifice of different things driven through different periods of time that reflect that reflects certain truths that we can

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

then build up and I think existentialism points towards that Judaism points towards it Gnosticism before them they all got at different points of the root of the of the change just like all we're trying to do here is trying to figure out how to convince ourselves to do things we know are right that's what practice is it's the furnace of the south because doing things right is putting off pleasure for yourself for other people why would you ever do that it doesn't make rational sense you have to put it off one of the things UNS help you put it off is empathy for others because that gives you an investment in their their happiness because it makes you happy but the other is knowledge that it will do good for you too then it's not just altruism like that's why I like libertarianism like an Rand is half of it but the thing is if you follow eine Rand you die in the desert because there's nobody else and nobody you don't even have a language to understand yourself as you die because it denies the social but it understands that there is an individual will that has an individual desire but it must be tied to a collective will that leads towards a collective happiness because if you have intellect and empathy in equal measures or in unequal measures depending on your person what your personal like admixture so that means that you have so you have an individual will and you need to may have a reason to want to do things not just for other people because that will get exhausting eventually you'll get sick of it you have to want to do it because it's good for you too if you just do things that are good for you you become a loan and then miserable but the way to square that is to you need to be doing things that make both things true make things good for others and good for yourself and that means you have to both see things be done good to others and also know that you're making yourself better so you have to believe it you have to it has to be convincing so that is why you have to every day believe things and that is perceiving time that will make you do things that make you do it more and that will make you do it more and it will allow you to get to the top of Sisyphus mountain which is ego death which is a oneness with the universe which is also if we do it right going to heaven when you die as opposed to going to hell when you die which is the fear and terror as darkness descends on you because you don't recognize any all right so what do you guys think what is I don't I realize as I said do I sound crazy then once again I'm screwing up a symbolic order if I want to get good at feedback I can't ask binary questions these are all on gradients so if you guys could give me a percentage sort of like you know you can go to the you go to the grocery store and you get the 90/10 of a lean to fat ground beef and then you can get like if it's a little richer you get like the 85/15 and you can get the right the really little lean like the 90/10 what percentage of non insane am i sounding like how how marbled with alright I'm getting a lot of numbers here some very low ones a couple of pretty good ones see the thing is I don't know which ones of you is joking I don't know which ones are you are giving me the business so I can't really take these as true I gotta say very surprised that help you said 69 there it is nice nice all right that's okay well like I said I'm gonna try to live it every day and have it come back to 1:1:15 me in the form of a greater understanding of it that I can make it easier to articulate but like I said if it stops making sense you know I'm gonna have to confront that and I'm gonna have to confront where I went wrong because I went wrong somewhere maybe not yet but I will in the future it's inevitable I will go wrong somewhere if I haven't already and if I have I gotta find it it's my duty to myself and everyone else because it's the same there's no conflict I have more viewers than Sasha Grey that's very funny what is she doing whose gaming thank you for the subscription hey so you guys so I don't really do a lot twitch thing a lot this is what I'm new to it this is only my second one on the on here what is that so you guys when you buy it when 1:2:16 you subscribe that gives you the ability to do some cool what do you call it emotes right so well how many guys I guess this is just an indulgence for me since I haven't asked before I haven't been down here before what how many remotes are there for me how many a Moute how many cushion boats are there okay I got a sleepy guy with my hat on when when I got really drunk it looks like there's just one they don't have a joker one that's too bad are there any erotic emotes got any horny well alright oh yeah it's about it's been about an hour and I'm trying to keep it around there because I don't know when the boys want to start streaming again so but I'll take it probably a few questions before I hang am I still Joker fide I have now transcended 1:3:17 chakra fication Joker vacation was a stage I have transcended the Joker stage I have emerged from my Joker pupa first I was Riddler fide I might be penguin fide right now I suspect on penguin five can I get a penguin five in the chat Terry Eagleton I have read he's very good I think I really wish we had more nuclear energy really really wish the furture noble it hadn't happened we really went off that we really 1:4:20 ***** up by not doing more nuclear energy I don't know if it's too late or not though to do it at this because like it's so labor intensive and it's so capital intensive to make nuclear plants now it's like even though it is a green technology and it's definitely worth it is it gonna be worth the opportunity cost up to four resources you could have used elsewhere I'm not sure what the balance is I just know it would be a lot easier if we had a lot more working nuclear plants right now I was out on the North Fork of Long Island last a couple years ago and I drove by what looked like a 60s style nuclear reactor and I went over and I like I took a picture of it and I found it online and yeah there's a snoo clear reactor that was put that was built on the North Fork of Long Island in the 80s and it was gonna power that area and then 1:5:24 ***** Three Mile Island happened while they were still trying to put it together and the local officials in all the towns got together and said that they weren't gonna sign

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

CUSHVLOG 13. MIND FORCE - FIBONACCI SNIPER

off on a necessary disaster plan to deal with the potential for a problem and so he never put it online they think lost billions of dollars and it's just sitting there and it's just god damn it's such a little missed opportunity mainly because the people who needed know how direly dangerous carbon emissions were gonna be more aware yet you know it's not so most the people who knew we're ***** employed by the goddamn oil companies all right I gotta go guys this has been a lot of fun we'll do it tomorrow once again let me know how I'm doing I need to keep I need to stay above 50 50 I know that that's my goal 55 and above that'll be my slogan 55 it

CushVlog 14

---

Hangin' With Mr. Christman

4.30.20

ah hello hello Webber dots bonfire welcome to another journey on the SS Kush into the depths of consciousness no I'm kidding uh so just so everyone knows I have not 0:1:1
obviously I'm still vibrating at a very high frequency I have been for a while now and I plan on just pursuing this as far as it'll go I'm very excited I honestly feel at peace in a way I never have felt in my life I genuinely do feel centered goodness that has escaped me my entire existence and I'm going to try to keep moving towards it moving towards this light but I'm also going to try to keep you guys from writing me off as a lunatic so I'm going to try to keep I'm going to kind of reduce my volume my complexity of metaphor a little bit to talk more like I was on subjects I was talking about before my little incidents but in a way that will hopefully be clearer because it will be informed by this greater understanding but before I do that I kind of want 0:2:2
to make one last gasp of explaining a concept that is a little more abstract but that I think could really help people if I could get it across and it's related to something I said on the last stream the stream I made about Nathan Robinson and about the reality about about Marxism and things like that and about like you know the value of things like historical materialism and dialectic materialism and I also spoke about how Twitter cannot allow real dialog and I I think I made a good I think I made a decent case for that but I wanted to do one concrete example of this dynamic because I think I have it closed I think I have it sketched out clearly enough that it can make sense I think to anybody so I'm gonna see if I can make this make sense 0:3:6
no I messed it up already damn never mind let me see what you guys are talking about I might not be able to make this make sense why you guys keep I'm guess I'm just curious how do you know I haven't been I'm just curious how you know it's not clean I mean I haven't been washing it but part mostly that's because we haven't had a good washing machine situation here which will be changing now so I will wash it I'm just curious why you assume it hasn't been washed the Michigan State House has been seized by gunmen is that true or is that just someone being very hysterical about like a reopen Michigan rally where some Hillbillies showed up 0:4:8
with machine guns it's protestors okay see people need to be more specific in their

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

language or else their people don't know how to it sounds like a bunch of people are very mad that they can't go to the sizzler anymore I understand because they have defined freedom in such a tawdry way because they have accepted their unfreedom everywhere else they have accepted at a site a huge psychic cost how unfree they are and compensated for that unfreedom by indulgence indulgence in things like guns indulgences and things like the bloomin onion at Outback Steakhouse and if they can't indulge that all they have is that sense of unfreedom which drives them to basically have a tantrum because they can't resolve their feelings because they haven't confronted just how unfree they are and what they could really do about it because they have they have they are happy for their chains because they think that the economic exploitation that under guards their life and that makes them unhappy is actually necessary so poor guys they're never gonna be happy doing what they're doing they're just gonna keep grabbing that gun until their fingers turn their knuckles turn ***** white whiter than their pasty faces and then they're gonna have a rage stroke on the toilet or something and they're gonna die and their last thoughts will be tormented thoughts about all of the things they so yeah I'm trying to draw a little chart here because at some point I honestly want to in to get the help of some sort of animation specialist because I feel like the best way that I understand what I think is in symbols it's in models but there are 3d models and then I try to turn those models into speech and it's okay but it's already a translation and it's losing things in translation it would be closer if it was a if it was a 3d model but I don't know how to do that kind of thing I don't know how to do code so I'm kind of stuck I'm gonna need like when anything I'm gonna need to reach out to other people people who have those skills and hopefully if I apply myself to explaining things to them long enough they'll get what I'm saying and be able to express it visually so I'm not going to be repeating myself with any other stuff I've said on the show because I feel like that's only gonna make me more confused I definitely make everyone else more confused I feel what I'm gonna keep doing is I'm just going to keep applying applying the reasoning to specific questions and then it will be revealed in pieces and then that's the only way we ever understand anything claymation would be cool I like claymation I have not played disco Elysium I feel like now I could now I could do anything I could play ball and cup I could play disco Elysium I could play Katamari Damacy I could even play a violent strategy game or a confusing map game because I wouldn't get frustrated because I would not feel the need to be anywhere else but right there playing the game so I honestly feel like I could play any game now it's only a question of set of us setting up the the gaming computer at our office which I cannot replicate here because I do not have gaming equipment and I think that the technical obstacle of me trying to learn how to figure out that stuff would overwhelm

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

any value added by convenience it basically it would take too long for me to get it we're pretty close right now felix is working on it and if we could get it going I'm gonna play any game anyone wants now I could play any game I could even trudge around playing playing what's it called fortnight until I get shot 50 times that's fine there's a parable in that but it could certainly be interesting to ruminate on and I can even play a really big complicated board game the question is whether it would be too boring to watch me play it you might not want to watch me play and have a hard time getting the hang of some of these games because I do have intellectual in problems that make it harder for me to game like I have limitations as a gamer that will make it harder for me to really play in a way that you're gonna want to watch so 0:9:18 that's just a warning ***** I would love to be a pawn champ Universal Universalis seems interesting but once again I would need a wait find a way to do all those very micro decisions quickly and I don't know if that would be fun to watch I uh humor Sark's was able to understand capital because of his own historical perspective how 0:10:19 do we build on what Marx was doing while existing within capital how do we know when we're making the right moves that's a very good question the answer is we have to have an accurate reflection of what are basically we have to remove from our thinking all clouded clouding elements all prejudices and our reflexive thinking that make it harder for us to actually figure out what is happening around us to perceive things more clearly and this is me this is what mindfulness means in the actual praxis concept if you are observing a reality with clear enough of a head you can figure out what is the closest thing to the right action in any given moment but you have to have clarity of mind to perceive it and so that means you act on a certain thing like we have we have Marxism as a guide it only guides us so far because Marx died at before he could know certain things we're acting and so in a sense we're all 0:11:20 experimenting well when we act things happen as a result of the action if we are perceiving that response correctly we know if we did the right thing or not and we know how we should adjust it we can respond to the stimuli positively or negatively if we perceive it accurately if we're not clouded by prejudice if we're not clouded by instantaneous emotional response and the only way to do that is to rigorously apply that logic to your actions and then to the way you process reactions it's the only way that you could do it and then you wheat your ideas against the stone of reality your spirit is is is is honed by exposure to reality to the material world and the material world is then shaped by your mind it's a perfect symmetrical relationship so that means you have to operate off of your best good faith understanding of your own 0:12:21 urges if you really want socialism and you feel at your deepest level aligned with that goal then whatever you want to do is the right decision and if it isn't to the extent the thing is I should amend that anything you want to do that aligns and a deepest

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

level with your understanding with your will and then you do that it will be correct to the extent that it isn't essentially at some point it's wrong and you have to figure out where that is and so you have to do it to find out how far the rightness goes because at some point it will be wrong and it will throw off a new thing that's the dialect and then you keep moving forward that through pressing those relationships and that dynamic once again we're getting too abstract I feel worried on losing people but that's the answer to that question is that you X you if you really pleased 0:13:23 that you are operating in good faith then you're going to be making to some degree the right decision and then it's your job to see the result of that decision and then boy I'm sorry I don't want to freak everybody out I don't know I'm trying to keep this concrete so people don't tune out so I'm gonna try to not read like high three questions I'm trying to get more grounded I don't want people with okay this is an entry question after a corona is brought under control will people's awareness of essential work last well I mean that's that the answer to that will be to degree to which we resolve these are core the degree to which our coping mechanisms can hold right so there's psychic coping mechanisms so there's we brought if we cut people 0:14:26 broadly the two groups of people there's essential workers and non-essential workers right the essential workers are out there actively work threat risking their lives to keep society functioning the non-essential workers her home cooped up and doing their part by denying themselves pleasures so both of them are unhappy in some ways with this situation some of them are having to do too much some of them can't do enough and of course there's a wild asymmetry in their material compensation people doing as such a work some of them are compensated very well like doctors some are less like nurses and that people like delivery people and factory of meat processing workers and grocery workers are wildly under compensated and over exploited some combination of exploited in terms of force to do things and under compensated with money and and so their experience of being of like doing their job is made more miserable by that reality their lives are miserable because they are being forced to 0:15:27 do what they don't want what they don't think is safe for not enough compensation but but that's a material condition that's the way we were raid to give them that's the way we have decided to do this we're not drafting people to be essential workers and make and paying them in scrip which we could do we could do something like that or work with a universal basic income with like a work requirement or like a new WPA we could do all of that but we choose because we have dominant light we have the dominant paradigm of capitalism we choose to use let the market induce and not us collectively will ourselves to make a decision and what the market is going to do is it's going to exploit and undervalue the labor that is most necessary because it has to maintain power over labor if that labor gains can understanding of its influence

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

guess what that's a class working on its own before itself and that's a class able to act in its own self-interest and that's the exact antithesis of what capitalism wants so it'll never be allowed to happen so those workers will remain exploited and underpaid but they still have to work if they want to continue having a society which they do as much as it pains them so what do they get instead they get our to get our hair weave they get our thanks they get our claps at seven o'clock that's what they get they get the sense of people giving them credit this is just a new reversion of what we gave to another generation of people who have had the same situation happened which is our troops in the field after seeing what happened in Vietnam with the mass mass movement or with with draft and with everyone facing potential violence and with like the accompanying disgust with the military because we know the military is us and so we feel disgust for our actions and so we have discuss for the military we created as a separate caste so we don't feel those things and so we can't we have no way of judging and so we instead worship but it's all because we have offloaded our pain on to them and then we give them our thanks for their service to make up for the gap so to the degree to which they can put up with that to the degree to which the thanks for the service is enough to make up is the degree to which they'll put up with it simultaneously you have the people buttoned up inside if they have a different ache it's not about threat being threatened with coronavirus and it's not about being underpaid or something and we're being forced to do work that although they don't think is safe it's about not having any purpose in this literally being honest enchilada the process of keeping society going being a parasite and there's no way to act to change that in the current system because they can't be drafted into the workforce because we're not doing that because since they don't need you can't go volunteer at Kroger you know you could go to a food bank in something that people do that but there cannot be like a social room you can't no one is replacing their alienated social work time at you know whatever fake job they have at home with like a drafted shifted Kroger so they're not part of the cup they're not part of that collective effort to keep things going so what they have is a lack of meaning and the way they fill that gap because they have material comfort and they have things like that is by doing things like clapping the clapping serves two purposes the clapping fills the gap in esteem Social Credit basically for the workers and the clapping fills the material gap of feeling like you've contributed to society's continuation for the people who are doing the clapping the China thing is a very interesting question the China question is very interesting one I've talked to pain about how intertwined the Chinese and American economies are but that does not guarantee I'm now I now realize I was wrong it does not guarantee that they won't come into conflict because if they come into a conflict in a different level of material specificity they're

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

deeper ties won't matter but I would say that there is no long-term goal with most of this I feel like the only people who really want to rearrange our relationship with China in the highest echelons of government are people around Trump and they do it because he wants it and he only wants it for fuzzy reasons he doesn't really understand and even that not really that hard there's a few Krank there are a few cranks around here the core of American capital wants good relationship with China but in this short-term right now the continued persistence of the bipartisan political class not just Democrats but Democrats depends on China being a scapegoat to some extent because the thing is the Democrats say Oh Trump is is down play is under 0:20:35 playing is putting too much on China he's scapegoating China it's like yes Trump is scapegoating China but only a little bit more than Democrats are scapegoating China because Democrats at a certain point at a certain point they blend China then at a certain point past that they blame Trump at no point do they blame the system that produced the outcomes of trumping president and presiding over a destroyed and obliterated ***** health sector that is not able to respond to the crisis so they will offload onto Trump and offload scapegoat on to China to the extent necessary to protect that understanding Trump has an interest a short-term political interest that's a little more to the surface and so he needs to blame Trump he needs to scapegoat China more and take no blame on himself because it's an essential question for his rule for the Democrats it's a different question and they need to offload it all onto Trump but it's the same dynamic they're both protecting at different levels the the foundational capitalist relationships that created a system that has given us 0:21:38 more Cova deaths than the rest of the world what well by huge numbers and and and and no hope of being able to sustain the economic crisis this has created like this was all capitalism is doing Trump is the Democrats are escape coating onto Trump to the extent that they can't State go on to China without blaming Trump not enough like look at their first ad their first ad was about our Trump is too light on China because it's an edifice of distraction from the real cause of capitalism and once you confront that you've undermined the entire ***** structure of the argument these guys are having and you realize how insufficient it is and you don't care that there's a Cheeto in the White House or the Joe Biden has hair plugs or whatever else weird culture war signifier you've cobbled together to replace meaning and where you don't have understanding so the thing is is that even though there's deeper bonds 0:22:40 between China and the in the United States our leadership could get so bound up in offloading the anger and and and and rage of the population that's gonna accrue because of all the misery unnecessary misery the codes gonna cause if they get to a point where it becomes either they offload they stop offloading on to China or this country changes fundamentally they will go to war with China they will they will risk war with China to keep that balance I just don't know where we are on that level I don't think we're at that level yet but I think it's a process that can be interrupted at any time but right now it's a process that unless it's interrupted with is going to lead towards a greater intensification of misery caused by kovin and a greater need by the political class of both parties to offload responsibility on China which creates a feedback loop that leads to short-term conflicts that can there is 0:23:51 a dang cheeto a Spectre there's a cheeto haunting the White House the cheeto of Trump or no there's a specter haunting the White House the specter of a cheeto can any of this be solved through electoral ISM of course to some extent the question is to what extent that's why electoral ISM like all of these is not a binary question it's how much electoral ISM do you do with it which boils down to which elections do you do these things for and those are questions that have to be answered by the specific material conditions of the moment that they're posed they are not eternal answers they can only be specific so now that oralism will solve it too it agreed to be determined by our engagement with it and the world not in our mind right now 0:24:52 not by me arguing with you on the frictionless of the internet I'm trying to find my I would love to be if Jesse runs and he needs a press secretary I would god I honestly feel now like honestly real kapparino now I'm gonna be now that I'm in the new mode and I feel like a lot of my a lot of my burdens are off of me I will tell the real reason that I did not pursue running for president when we joked about it earlier this year there were things I've clung to like it would probably if they probably would have changed the rules to not allow me which is true but my basic reason is I was afraid to go up there and look and look like an idiot I was afraid to go up there and somehow look bad it was too high of stakes from my degree of confidence in what I 0:25:54 believed and my ability to express what I believe now I would absolutely have done that and if I if I could have gotten even close I would have loved it so if I could get back in the ring now in a position like Secretary of Ventura's press guy where I can get out there just a chance to be heard by a yeah I think we're seeing the degree with with what the what's happening with me too and the what the Democrats are willing to do with it I think we're seeing that we're willing to go down on the bite and ship regardless of what it means electoral II they don't they don't have enough confidence in the process to do a switcheroo in a way that would guarantee them continued control so they're just gonna ride this out even if it means they have no 0:26:56 chance of winning I think that's where I am now I think we're stuck with Biden which means hey fingers crossed we get those debates and they will bring him out well uh anybody old enough remembers in 2004 there was this conspiracy theory among libs that George Bush had some sort of wire during his debate with John Kerry that fed him answers so he didn't sound like the idiot we all knew he was and it was all based on weird ripples on the backpack and stuff uh like this weird device that they claimed was it was a was a recording instrument or a wireless mic I swear to god Joe Biden would come out there with a big lumpy suit and it would be because they'd have a car battery strapped to him and every time he got asked the question may be hitting the frickin red thread just have him jumping but yeah I don't think the Democrats it's so it was such a close call to get byte and over Bernie and Biden isn't what they 0:27:57 wanted at all they wanted somebody who was more credible with different demos he was the last ditch effort he was the one that they reluctantly had to go around so they're not comfortable enough I think and nothing has changed in the intervening time on Biden's part to make them confident enough in their control of the process to pull off a switcheroo that would leave them in charge so they're gonna stick this out that's my claim this is my claim I claim of course that yes we will find indeed that they will see that he will be black he will be back it will be bi unless he dies unless he actually dies and they can't weekend Bernie sim or do CGI he will be the nominee which is just amazing amazing the stock market continues to rise because all it's responding to is is the signal from the government that it will continue to 0:28:58 intervene on its behalf that's it they're like oh good we're gonna keep they're gonna keep pumping money in because we know that the money goes in the top and that means it's gonna catch pretty much all of it and that means it doesn't matter if the rest of us get soaked because they have gotten all of the all the cash others perish and that means that they could liquify it and turn it into if we do really do like snap the rigging here of our civilization which is not an impossibility that they will be in a position to grasp enough liquid capital that will have value for a very short period of time to position themselves to survive the coming collapse in New Zealand in an underground bunker on the hi guys all right I have here I have a piece I have a piece 0:30:17 of paper I'm trying to work out another graph tomato maybe explain something art is dead man yeah I guess art is dead to the extent that you are frozen in time and can't like just break out of that I think I mean art is dead to the degree there's a crisis of self-confidence among artists the degree to which you can break through your self-awareness you have to break through self-awareness and you know what I think it is okay here's where it is we say art is dead I think what's actually happening is that more and more people thanks to the illusionary nature of the Internet like we think of ourselves as artists a lot of us do a lot more people than maybe ever in history think of themselves as artists right now crafts people posters think they're 0:31:18 artists at some level everybody who is caught on a like Twitter or twitch has some as a commentator as a commenter as a reply guy as a podcaster as anything you believe yourself to be an artist but the conditions of producing art are incredibly poor all we have is the the the awareness that we want to be and that paralyzes us

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

so people still do art it's just way more people are aware that they get can do art and just our frozen and can't do it because they can't conceive of it or their art is poisoned by Commerce because they're trying to do it in the in the capitalism or or it's so the same so the same spirits are being called by art the same attempts to hear 0:32:20 the voice of you know eternity are being done by art it's just more people are trying more people are aware and so there's more agony associated with war there's more ox there's more a sense of failure more people consider themselves failed artists and so the whole concept is tainted the whole concept is poison to even want to consume and I think if people either to made the choice to stop considering themselves artist and release their need for that to be part of their identity to like oh it doesn't matter if I'm an artist or not just the same way it doesn't matter if I could play tennis well or not it's just an irrelevant quality in my life you can either do that or if you think it's relevant to your life really work at it so that's the challenge everyone should ask themselves is it worth it to you and you really like settle in and like like ask deeply 0:33:22 to just and do you really care about this idea or can you find meaning somewhere else or no this is a key component of my identity I need to work on it one or the other but you should ask yourself the question again as clear ahead as possible try to feel as much as possible and try to answer that question oh man I feel like I could do a Southland Tales episode now that would be fantastic Adham Friedland is a very good painter I have to say the fact that it's also like a self-conscious copying it's he basically treats george w bush as if george w bush were a like founder of a artistic school and he paints in the style of him like like he was he's Picasso and 0:34:23 like he was a cubist and he's doing in cuba speices he's doing pieces in the style of art of george w alright guys I'm gonna try to explain one thing it might take a half an hour here I'm very worried about this I'm very worried about looking bad so you guys need to like alright I got an idea we need to agree upon basically a safe word here for you guys a emoticon cuz I know you guys got these emoticons right the ones of yours who are who are subscribed when I get to a point when I'm saying something and it sounds like it's not really legible or it's hard to get or that I'm losing specificity of meaning let me know and then I can pull back and either stop 0:35:26 for a minute or figure out a more effective way of communicating so what would be a good like bright clear sign to see in the chat that I should I should whatever I'm doing isn't working what is that green one parody pizza maybe pizza because Pizza reminds me of course of the vile pizza gates and its associated crackpot conspiracy that is mostly true alright good so if you guys put the pizza and load up it means that I am off the rails so if I see a lot of Pizza I will know that I should stop alright so last time when we were talking about Nathan Robinson and I talked about how Twitter makes don't start already Twitter may come on guys give me a give me 0:36:27

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

a business does do me the business how inner makes it impossible to communicate because it's anti dialectical it reifies two distinct arguments instead of bringing them together which is how you get truth and then action and I wanted to give you guys a concrete example of that that will make it even clearer and hopefully will help you in your engagement with the world both real and the world around you and also virtual in your head so we've got here you can see this like yesterday we have the the space-time area we're trying to traverse his people right this is the world as it is ie the shitty capitalist world this is the world we embody this is where our bodies and our minds are up here is where we're trying to get that's the my place of spirit that's 0:37:31 the place of minimal physical pain we're trying to get to the point where we are able to live frictionlessly we can live without any intervening friction from material reality that's when we are one with God that's the same thing as heaven it's the same thing as Nirvana it's space-time communion it's the oneness of the universe it's every cliché there is four four the end state of the human spirit okay whatever that is is defined by your culture that's what this is and we are we're trapped in this material realm and we're trying to get to this we have to traverse through space-time to get there now the other day I I poo poed full automated luxury communism I did not mean that I was wrong and how I put that out fully oxygenated communism is an inevitable and necessary step to collective enlightenment because you cannot get it to 0:38:33 a point where people could focus their minds to achieve oneness without a frictionless physical state which means putting off all human related misery and interaction with materials onto computers ie the full subjugation of machines to human spirit that's this and you need that before you can get there but so there will be a period though that's still working its way towards that point even after you get fully luxury luxury space communism I am saying fully luxury automated space automated communism is a stage it's a stage to spit to oneness okay does this make some sense and so that means we're trying to traverse levels here and this is where we have the different relationships you got down here master slave from then you've got feudalism now where we are is capitalism right here is capitalism the big seed this guy he's bad he 0:39:39 does bad things and he but he pokey peasant an energy that pulls you away from moving he getting here on the lid on the level on the on the material level see down here you've got like feudalism and the slave societies and we've moved through them we're moving through them over time so here we are work subjects who are stuck here and now we're interacting with communism or with the reality of capitalism it's making our live shitty in specific ways and then they form relationships of opposition to shittiness that are restrained in those certain ways so stay right here we have a conglomeration of people who collectively share the same point of identification with 0:40:43 their misery okay and we can define this grouping whatever it is as let's call this

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

at the level of abstraction we will call this identity politics so there's the dynamic politics well dialectically that is going to create something else that's gonna butt off of it and now in the more specific milieu of the internet now you've got another thing stupid paul oops we've just generated a new thesis is generated an antithesis so they have to resolve themselves right dialectically this ID Paul and stupid Paul have to 0:41:46 resolve themselves now they would resolve themselves at the level of action in the real world over time through a dialectical process it's not a problem it's done by virtue of the of the friction created by applying the dialect to reality here this is all online it's frictionless basically so there's no force with any of the argument it's purely intellectual it's purely spiritual and so that means that instead of interrogating the material realities that let these things into being you end up interrogating the worst faith version of the other thing so that is why I D Paul people think that the stupid Paul folks are all Nazis who are secretly want to make everyone racist no some of them are and they are referring to those people most of them are just people responding 0:42:47 to the material conditions of being a white male on the Internet X Y Z the same way that the identity politics people emerge from being of different ethnicities different gender combinations on the Internet at the same time they're all contextualized by a material reality that you have to address and instead of addressing the material reality you can dress these versions on either side you address these versions so for the I D Paul person the their subject their imagined stupid Paul person is a Nazi and like I said some are but not all and the ones who aren't need to be addressed at the level of their material conditions same thing on stupid-stupid Paul people look at the ID Paul people and see these people are liberal climbers who either because they're ideologically confused or because they have their hands out are deforming 0:43:48 this socialist movement towards liberalism and they are but not all of them and the ones who art need to have their material conditions addressed and that process of recognizing each other's material conditions moves you towards synthesis but online because there's no movement forward no actual material engagement to make you do that it's pure spiritual argument that you can Europe and in that case you are disciplined by everyone else on your side who has a neoliberal interest in standing out as more on that side than anyone else so people will pay attention to that alright I didn't see that many pizzas so I hope that made sense did that make any sense all right I gotta say I was really worried that once I started drawing a ***** that I 0:44:49 was gonna get a lot more pizzas but I didn't get that many pizzas yeah alright that felt like walking on a tightrope I'm not telling you this is very ***** I'm honestly a little more worried doing these than I am like when we do when we would go on tour because I feel like I could fall from a great height at any moment and it's not like I will feel like I'm wrong at that point I will just feel like maybe I will have lost your I will have lost your faith and that would have made me sad because I like interacting with you guys and it makes me feel like I'm doing better at living my values by talking to you so that's why I would be sad because I would miss you because III hope you I just I just hope I still have some buy-in with you guys and you don't you don't think I don't completely I'm not completely out to lunch that's all I want because I want I want company in this journey because it'll make it easier for all of us and I am NOT going to start a cult I'm not Jordin Peterson I am NOT oh god I'm not stefan molyneux but for the love of criminy yeah thank you I'm happy to hear that any of this makes sense to anybody so if you guys honestly if you guys so I like I said someone asked if I could repeat something I'm not going to try to repeat specific points but I think what you can do is if there's something you don't understand about anything I've said if you could grasp the specific thing that you didn't understand and like re capitulated to me ask it to me in a different way so that it's not like asking me to repeat the same symbolic logic step-by-step I I will probably be able to answer it I mean I will answer to the best of my but like otherwise yeah if in the moment you don't get it maybe go back and read it they're not all this is gonna go on YouTube what do I think of musk calling California shutdowns fascist well I mean it's the same thing as always he it is in his close interest his close term interest to see business big business done and he is one person he can only die once it's highly likely unlikely he will be the one to die of this it's good odds to him to see business open because it will keep his short-term physical all right see this is where I have to some people like a lot of people are asking me lately about books and here's why I have to make another admission I am not terribly well-read I like many people have investigated ideas to the extent that I am asked to like think about them and since that extent isn't very deep in most web culture I have not done a lot of the reading that a lot of people assume I have but I definitely feel like I could read any of the you know great books of illiterate and have reading them be useful because I will be able to engage with it and produce from the engagement which is really all you need like when people say can I read a book will it be too boring it's really a question of will you find it worthwhile to express the energy necessary to understand it because that's the thing it all is understandable with sufficient energy and concentration placed on the act of understanding it some things it's not worth it it's the thing you have to make choices and uh I think I would find worth in a lot of things so honestly at this point I'm asking for book wrecks things that people want to throw at me that I could maybe use to hone because I feel like I don't have enough experience with a lot of these books I feel like I have an intuitive understanding now of their premises but I would need to read them to really get it and so I wouldn't want to recommend books I would want like the first one I'm gonna try to read

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

Ulysses because that a book that I about was the first book I thought of that was the first symbol that occurred to me like the first artistic symbol that occurred to me after I had my experience so I'm still committed to reading that first and I had to finish some research for a project I was doing I'm doing in inebriated past about Upton Sinclair in the 1934 California Senate race so once that's done though I'm getting into Ulysses and after that we'll see that's why I'll be taking suggestions all right guys I'm not okay I'm gonna be on for about five more minutes this has been pretty good I feel like I actually got something across and then I didn't hear Napoleon of the xvi they're coming to take me away fill the fill the air around me so that's good I feel like I still have buy-in for most of you so I'll feel good about that maybe paying a the really I realize that the key to understanding any piece of literature or history or philosophy is I think we all approach any discrete object seeking our belief intellectually as we have it to make it it has to convince us like we have to look at a book we have to look at an idea we have to look at a movie or whatever any an expression of culture but in the end then and then an ideology that's coming from that we look at those things and we look at them to convince us from a state of not believing them to believing them and I think it's easier if you imagine the fact the reality just acknowledge the reality that all things are true and false every proposition every concept is true or false and false at some time in place and if you say if you think that way what it means is when you approach a book or an idea or a concept you assume that it's right and then you try to convince yourself it's not so you meet it at the beginning and you and eventually you will fail or you will succeed but you should start from yeah I just feel this sense like I feel vibrant right now I feel like I'm really touching more of the elephant than I ever have before it really just feel like a different everything feels different nothing I'm not scared anymore I realized what fear as any jardine is very humorous at this point I I find bad people funny that's the only way to do it you've got because if you can't carry resentment so you have to transfer even evil into a good to you so it's got to be funny but it's you still work against it but she is very she is wacky that lady man it is amazing I am very interested to see how how feminism responds to the destruction of me to like the absolute death of me too this is a thing that I don't think anyone can recognize can say no to like I think a lot of the reason that a lot of the high-level media feminists felt of course after Bernie dropped out not before that they could say this sucks this is awful it's because they realized that there they've lost a powerful tool they've lost the rhetorical cudgel they've lost a disciplining device it was more than that to other people but to them that's what it was and they've lost it now and then and they had to give it up to for the greater good for the in their mind of stopping Sanders but it was the trade-off and they have to accept that just like the party apparatus who would love to be in this in a cabinet or you know the chief of staff are gonna have to realize that they're probably gonna lose and they're not gonna get that but that's the price they pay - they get they they have to pay the price of not getting those jobs but it's - what they're willing to give up rather than roll the dice like a lot of those people think about this everybody it resisted Sanders could have just taken him in they could have just dropped their swords and said 0:55:5 Bernie we love you what would he have done how would he have fought them and then that they gave him the nomination by acclamation they could have done that it would have been a little hard they would have had to work against the propaganda they didn't call cated into their own their own voters but they could have done it the reason they didn't do that is because they were didn't have the confidence that they would have been able to hold on to power in that arrangement so Bernie had to be defeated with Bernie defeated they have complete control of the organization so that means that it doesn't matter if they win or lose and if you're part if you're invested if you're a feminist who's invested enough in the Democratic Party if you're welded to it at a deep enough root point then you have to go along with that there's nowhere else to go you have been you've been lashed to the whale I'm sorry I didn't law of institutions exactly of course I've been to the Wisconsin Dells Tommie Bartlet's thrill 0:56:6 zone and explored robot world in Exploratorium Wisconsin at the the will there be an armed conflict in the next 20 years I would say there could be obviously with any possibility that's all there's always a percentage likelihood it could happen I would say that there is a larger than larger than you would I would say more than I'd say 25% chance and that chance could go up or down depending on what happens in the future and I don't know yet there's still too many fracture points coming a big one's gonna be whether Trump or Bernie went up Biden wins because I gotta say 0:57:7 man I've been thinking about I'm gonna say this on the stream about I gotta go I gotta go in a minute but I'm gonna say this I'm gonna I'm gonna elaborate on this a little bit of my Upton Sinclair thing but I've sort of refined my understanding of the diet of the dynamic that led the Republican Party to become reactionary and racist and the Democratic Department Democratic Party to be anti-racist and the question of whether or not the Republican Party can become like a a racist social democracy party or whether the forces are behind it will allow that I think I know the answer and so something like who's gonna win the election is gonna determine that so I don't know we'll see we'll see it's worth thinking about though all right guys I see a peace and

CUSHVLOG 14. HANGIN' WITH MR. CHRISTMAN

Homeboy in Inner Space

5.1.20

*Music playing** hey guys this work it's a flip I guess not I guess I'm stuck with this so I'm I'm out here doing Instagram live one more time because it's the one day strike at Amazon and other places and I know that there is no ethical consumption under capitalism which is such a banal and true fact I don't hi Lana hi John I do not let anybody by the way if you know me and you want to come on cuz pop on give me a request and I'll say hi if you don't know I mean I need a little bit more I think I 0:1:2
need a little bit more degree of comfort with you before I make that move at least one trying to formalize this stuff anyway so there's no let's look at suffering capitalism it's fine to do whatever you think you need to do but for me given my degree of I do not have any need to be on to be streaming on Twitter and resign right now so I'm not going to I feel like if that's the attitude you should take like every time there's a strike especially for companies like this that are about convenience there's someone who gets really mad and says well what if you need what and they create these these imaginary situations where someone would need to use the service and it's like well then they should use it but you're not in that situation you're usually need to know what your own situation is how much do you depend on this thing how much would it cost you not to utilize it when other people who are of good faith are 0:2:4
doing something that you agree with and so if they tell me that I'm gonna just do it you don't have to no one else has to do but to me that is how I align my greater belief in the rightness of the strikers cause with my life I would feel if I was on I could be doing this on Instagram I could be doing this on twitch right now and I would feel nothing but a very little bit of job of guilt but it would still be a little bit of guilt that I would have to deal with instead of trying to figure out the world by instead of applying my mind to what's in front of me the way I've been doing now for the last almost week part of my mind would be distracted by the Magon guilt that I was on twitch now I can stream to you guys directly don't feel guilty and also by thinking about that and thinking about my relationship to twitch and my relationship to boycotts in general I understand my own motivations even better than I did so the whole thing for me good and hopefully it'll have an impact that I am less 0:3:6

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

certain of but I certainly ***** hope that we can get together some degree of social coordination to counteract the terrifying or collapse accumulated capital of guys like these O's it's like yikes it's very scary stuff and anyone who wants to fight them and I know we're on twitch and that is that's an even smaller hypocrisy that I deal with that one I think I can justify just out of its it's a good way to get out to people an idea that they might find useful and then I can justify but considering that there are other options available and people specifically said don't access this site on this day I'm just gonna do it like I said if you make a different conclusion it's because you have different material circumstances to deal with and so I'm not going to claim to know you that is why you can be totally judgmental of other people's actions but not 0:4:7 judge them for them if you're aware that they were all brought about by conditions outside of every individuals control but that when you're in that superposition of being aware of that then you have to choose so how are you guys doing unless I got a really tasty well see how do we counteract businesses like warm are shutting down stores to avoid unionizing draft see that is where that's what suggests that in a retail service economy like the one we have we actually have to bring together the boycott and the strike to bring together the power of the consumer and the worker because in a way that wasn't the case under large-scale and isn't the case under large-scale manufacturing the customer truly is the consumer I mean the the the worker truly is the consumer in the retail in the retail context so like as a consumer you 0:5:11 have a relationship to Walmart that is more akin to a worker than that's something manager and so the key to effective action against mega corporations like Amazon and Walmart is not consumer boycott and it's not individual I mean it could start with but it can't be sufficient to do individual strikes with an individual area is because as you see they could just shut them down you need a coordination inside and outside between customers and employees a revoking labor in the form of a strike and then revoking patronage in the form of a boycott they may go together that's the only way to actually it punish them that's the only way to stop them from closing a Walmart is if it will have repercussions outside of that Walmart and that's 0:6:12 only if people respond with their role as in their role as a consumer they have a they have a role as a consumer if to the degree to which it's coordinated with work of the of the of the labor of the workers like boycotts get rightfully poo-pooed by a lot of people because they are imagined to happen isolation and in isolation boycotts don't work I just said that as you typed it boycotts don't work in isolation but as we are seeing in a post-industrial landscape strikes they work better than boycotts but they aren't 100% effective and that a strike would be made could be made more effective if it was in conjunction with a boycott in the context of retail like big-box stores and stuff like that but once again it's not an on/off switch it's not a works

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

good enough to fix it or it doesn't work at all and as a failure it will work to a degree 0:7:14 and then other things happen and then you gather up the reactions to those new material conditions and you move from there and it's maybe it's no longer a boycott and strike maybe it's something else but you move on depending on your recognition of the changed material circumstances having made a by the way I'm sure most of you know the story of the of the Haymarket bombing the Haymarket martyrs Albert Parsons August B's those brave martyrs the bomb thrown at the Haymarket rally the dead cops cops shooting in the crowd the frenzied Red Scare the crackdown on the city of Chicago ever since the ginnet up trial which led to the unjust executions of what I believe it's seven and Haymarket martyrs one of them no the yeah I'm 0:8:16 already off uh one of them Lois Lane the German bomb maker he was scheduled to be executed but he had I wonder I wonder I want to look this up so I have the correct quote it's an amazing quote he had he was able he had smuggled into his cell by one of his visitors a blasting cap in his mouth and he bit down on it and essentially blew his face off pretty gruesome botched execution similar to Wolfe Tone the famous Irish Republican revolutionary who similarly botched cutting his own neck also rope spear box shooting himself blasted his job anyway Louis Lange as he lay dying on the floor 0:9:19 of his cell wrote in his own blood while his face was blown up he wrote hurray for anarchy in his own blood on the floor of a cell after blowing his face off that's pretty hurray for don't get used to the IG if the strikers if that if the strike is off tomorrow I'll be back on twitch but as long as their employees are calling a strike I'll be not on twitch so yeah though the Haymarket martyrs who's led to the creation of Mayday they weren't all anarchists and they were all part they were all believers in one degree or another to the to the notion of the propaganda of the deed and to the industrial 0:10:21 syndicalism which were the chief practices of anarchism basically assassinating people and trying to organize workers into revolutionary unions not ones interested in things like well or conditions of the pension but that was the incident that led to Mayday becoming the international labor day that was not to be it was it was it was the inciting incident for making it into a International Day to honor labour and it was used as a way to agitate towards socialist ads of course that's why we created Labor Day as a deep politicized Americanized day where we can study labor not as a process of exploitation or we could celebrate labor not in the context of it being you know an unjust exploitation of someone's species being which is what it was under Mayday 0:11:23 now hey you got a job it's a way to celebrate oh they changed made a to law day during the Red Scare but guess what it's still there you could still call it Mayday you can still I'm sure the anarchists in Seattle who like to go crazy around this time are not happy with their inability to do it maybe they're gonna like kick out their own front windows I don't know they're under warranty but this is actually a good segue

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

to something I wanted to talk about referring or earlier and that is that we're talking about Chomsky and we're talking about anarchism libertarianism and I said that champs Chomsky is a liberal and people got justifiably defensive about that people who respect Chauncey's views people who find liberal to be an epithet and not a descriptor people who you know feel a lot of value in the anarchists tradition which 0:12:25 is totally understandable and now you know I thought about it a little more and I realized that I misspoke that I think the basic principle I was arguing is correct but I did not elaborate clearly enough on why so my basic argument there was so some leftists like Mehdi Hassan and are dragging out as Democrats do every four years the increasingly aged Noam Chomsky they wind him up like a ***** teddy ruxpin and they ask him should you vote for the Democrat and he says yes and then people like maybe asan safe see Chomsky says vote for Biden yeah you're not to the left of Chomsky so that means the left position is to vote for Biden and now may be a sign I think probably has bad faith in that but I don't think that Chomsky has bad faith I think a lot of like you see people talk about how when this comes up they'll say oh you know is there MIT all those years and defense contracts and I mean the bulk 0:13:28 of his work of the volkl that worked on life belies that being real I mean he clearly says what he believes he has paid the price for sending what he believes his whole life and and the way I know that he bears Brice is because he answers every email he receives which means he is clearly at some level seeking truth no one would do that if they worked so I believe Chomsky what he said when he says that his reason gets him to vote he provide this is where liberalism comes in because I think you can listen to me and that Chomsky's liberalism is why he I think he's wrong first of all about voting for Biden and I think he is liberalism to just not just to say he's wrong in isolation but you've only ever explained something if you've explained why look a lot of ***** that happens on the Internet is people describing a condition and then calling that an argument no one made an argument until you've added the why so I 0:14:30 will make the proposition first of all will take me as as assumed proposition among us that yeah you don't have to vote for Biden that's silly you don't agree with them now let's figure out why we disagree with them on this this is once again how I have reasoned it out you can tell me how you think I'm wrong if you do and the reason I make that people said Noam Chomsky is a liberal and that came up is because they had an intuitive understanding that that was tied to his wrongness in this case and a lot of people took that the wrong way and they're like oh do you mean it like he's too stupid or he doesn't get it or he's too because when you say someone's a liberal you mean there's some combination of stupid and greedy there's some combination of too dumb to get the point or materially positioned where they don't want socialism so they're either drum dumb or greedy if they're liberal like that's what liberal is

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

it's it's some combination of those two things and the thing is we all are to some extent and how much we are depends on our fixed position in space-time and the life we've lived so when I say that Chomsky is a liberal guess what Karl Marx was also a liberal to different extents now to the extent that Chomsky as a liberal is the extent that he has explicitly said that his vision of the world his vision of politics his vision of practice all comes from enlightenment thinking he has said that a million times he even points to a specific relatively obscure German humanist as influence I'm gonna find the guy's name I keep forgetting it Chomsky enlightenment some crowd influence one of my people one square-headed ***** uh goddamnit now I feel like I'm losing you guys because I can't find the name anyway I'll find it at some point in the meantime what matters is is that he fixes himself in the liberal tradition of personhood so when he says you know I want to do X Y ; Z because after the liberal tradition what he means is he he believes in socialism is a moral proposition flowing from the inviolability of the individual that's where the liberalism concept he believes that the individual is an unmoved place of meaning an essence that there is that a soul exists it's not necessarily spiritual but there is a individual human consciousness that is unmoved and that moves upon others that's the liberal conception of the self it arose as the economy in Western Europe became more complicated became more abstracted and required a greater degree of abstracted thinking in order to process it and that created a more abstract notion of the self than the more immediate motion notion of the Renaissance era or certainly the medieval era where everyone believes in God so thus that version of the self that emerges to compensate for this new more complicated this this new more complex economic arrangement and social system that you're in makes you into that liberal subject so he carries that with him and he said that and so that means that he's approaching I'm sorry so that's why he is a liberal when he approaches the question of should you vote for Biden now Marx start also as a liberal subject because he was born in the early 1800s in in south western Germany a region that was one of the on one of the areas near the Ruhr Valley that was one of the original hotbeds of industrial capitalism now Dutch real capitalism was still in its infancy but he saw it and his life took place in tandem with the arriving of industrial capitalism witnessing that in his life and witnessing its it's impression on the world around him made him think differently and it made him take the dialectical processes that lead but he noticed lead through economic development like what powered us from slave states to feudalism to capitalism it was a dialectical conflict of forces within the society slave Freeman serf master a serf Lord worker owner that's a badess how society comes into recognition of itself as a society is through conflict within it he applied that as heigl did Hegel did to the self now they say that they do it at different sides but that comes back to the same thing the

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

self is a series of resolved contradictions it is not an individual monad that moves up its own volition it is always being made by what's around it and that means that when we examine a political question we have to examine it in time and space so that is why Chomsky looks at the question of vote for bidding two dimensionally here's the Democratic Party here's the Republican Party the Democratic Party is less evil it's less bad its platform is not as bad the people who make it up are better people in the sense that they have more agreed-upon stated values that accord with what we so anyway so that's the Democrats are on that axis better than Republicans and so Chomsky says I want what's best for everybody the Democrats want more of what's best for people's and Republicans do therefore I have to go for Democrats and the thing is that's correct he reasoned that out right he's right but only on that mirror level he is not interposed the context on top of it in the context of Chomsky misses because he's not applying dielectric reasoning to the question is the role that the Democratic Party plays in making the Republican Party worse over time they drive each other the degree to which the presently construed Democratic Party is allowed to maintain its structure the people in charge of it and it's a material base as in who contributes money to maintaining it that will continue to as it has drive the Republicans back to the right even more reactionary so the rule is even worse and that means that when they take power they only intensify a process that's that's going to happen either way like take for example if Biden is president during a world defining economic collapse following because like okay say we get the virus under control when we let back up there is no return to normal there is a huge demand gap that will have to be filled and filling it is will be a bigger challenge than the Great Depression if the Democrats are in charge of that process the way the Republicans were during the early days of the depression they will be the party associated with austerity because they will be doing the bidding of actual capital and in a situation like that austerity is demanded so they will be the cap reactionary party which means that the Republicans they're not going to get less racist they're getting it maybe a little rest racist they're gonna get more redistributed and maybe it'll be enough to get them into power at which point you have a cyst you have like a mild social a few mild social democratic trappings to a system that is mostly dedicated to like an ethnos you flipped it over you could have had the other thing so whatever that is that dimension is absent from Chomsky's analysis of the situation and so it's wrong and the reason he gets it wrong is because he comes from a liberal conception of the self he thinks that the Democratic Party and the Republican Party are distinct things that move of their own volition based on what the people within them want that's not the case they are brought into being in conflict one another with one another always at the personal end system and intellectual level so that is why

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

Chomsky is wrong and it comes from him being a liberal like I said Marx was also oh here's here's the here's the kicker Marx also growing up in the early 1800s had a liberal conception of the self that he interposed on top of dialectical materialism so he accepts personhood to the level that shops he does of all humans are worthy of respect that the golden rule applies to all recognizable humans depending on how we define that but then he puts dialectical materialism on top of it Chomsky doesn't and so that can run off in all kinds of wrong directions when it comes in contact with a place that has a fault beyond the conditions that produce to all right that made sense I felt better about that one I gotta say like this is why the key to all like thought and right action and all those notions are never really understood for Buddhism and Christianity and Islam and and from socialism is a practice the need to do them every moment and so like I felt kind of crippled by how people were gonna think I was crazy when I started explaining things a few of the episodes ago now by repetition to keep doing it and from hearing back from people who hurt me I have more confidence that fear is gone so I'm able dwara to concentrate I'm getting across the ideas and I'm better able to to get the ideas across I am able to concentrate more perfectly because I'm less worried about appearing crazy because I got feedback in the form of you guys talking to me saying I wasn't that's it that is encapsulants a process and that is what the liberal conception of the self cannot absorb and that is why anarchism even if it has the right goals will go about go about achieving them less efficiently like it could still get there over enough space and time but compared to other approaches given the limits of our lives and the limits of matter in the universe there are more effective ways to go about it so once again I am asking for all all feedback and basically the way I approach all this stuff is if you say something what I realized is is that when I was a teak Smith when my job was just piping off takes the way that I would respond if I got to a level of understanding of an issue that I did not fully grasp I would have an emotional response usually it would be some sort of panic and shame that I didn't know that panicking shame would have to be transformed into over over compensation elsewhere form of dropping a big name of someone whose book I probably hadn't read you know saying something loud and obnoxious or performing my anger because that distracted from the fact that I didn't hit bottom on a point and that left me ruthless I don't know where to go if I don't know why I think what I think and dialectical reasoning which is something I had seen written about and talked about never understood now thanks to absolute luck I'm in a position where I can explain it to myself enough to convince myself to do it and that makes me better at it it's literally gross and it comes because but it only and the thing is it happens no matter what but if we recognize the process if we recognize that it is through resolution of conflicts then we recognize the need for

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

action at all times the need for acting on our through our and then people say yes but what about the crippling postmodern condition the crippling quotation marks on everything that endless recursion to self-consciousness well once again if you add another dimension if you had time to the dimension that problem goes away so I believe simultaneously this is a little up there and I won't go too far the fact I could well but I simultaneously in equal measure believe that all actions up to including my decision to lift up this spindrift grapefruits reckon water and taking a sip from it are fully and completely physically determined I had no say in the matter if viewed from outside the process if viewed from God's eye if viewed outside of space-time it is its billiards it's direct causality there's nowhere you can get down to a level and find something that wasn't caused directly by something else but there comes an inflection point if you are aware enough of time and time as it occupies the space that you occupy you can recognize your position you can recognize the determined position of everyone else you can understand why everything is the way it is why you are where you are why the person you're talking to is in their position to you why they're mad at you either happy to see you why anything why that garbage truck is barreling towards you why anything why there's a recession why the TV show isn't good anymore why you have a ***** answer and if you have an answer you can act from full confidence and that means it doesn't matter that technically your actions were determined in the moment you see every option and you have the confidence to do the leap of faith the character guard speaks up the leap of faith comes from having confidence in your decision the decision gets confidence from your degree of perception that when you are making a decision to do something you are confident that you are perceiving correctly and if you're only perceiving space or only in a little bit of time you will be wracked with doubt and it will paralyze you but if you have enough consciousness of time as a dimension on top of space then you can act with full freewill and the thing is is that you always aren't acting on freewill it's just at a different level like when you jack off instead of cleaning a room you're acting a free will what it boils down to is you want to jack off to distract yourself from the fact that you are not doing a thing that is in accord with what will get you to a conscious and a kind of sensation of time and you don't want to clean your room because it's boring and it's boring to me because our physical activity involves you know some degree of mental mental output the more mental output it takes up the less space is left for the questions that's where ennui comes from that's where like existential acts comes from it's from that the degree to which you're not directly engaged which is why people seek things like drugs sex jacking off war they're seeking the heightening to non they're seeking the heightening of symbolic reality beyond words that's what they're looking for and so if you're gonna clean your room the only way that's gonna

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

get you to not feel that way is to literally keep thinking while you're picking things up keep thinking about picking things up thinking about what's going on around you how long is that gonna take it's gonna suck you have to the amount of like present potential pleasure that you have to give up to keep doing that eventually if you don't believe in it if you don't believe it doing it to get there you're gonna try something else like jacking off so there is no such thing as a contradiction in though such thing as a hypocrisy everything you do or don't do is because of what you truly believe and becoming conscious of time aka mindful aka is the degree to which you can actually put faith behind action all right that's what I got I don't know if it made sense I don't know if I'm there's problems with me as I'm talking though like now a little bit of the worries going back but it's now it's after not during which makes me feel better about it you guys want to hear me talk a little bit about fascism because I realized I've talked a lot on to shows and I've thought a lot over the years about fascism and I realized I was missing some significant parts about it significantly the question is really powerful and really on people's minds now because we see how insufficient our institutions are dealing with the current crisis what if fascism comes back what's gonna bring fascism back and that has led to further splits down at different levels of meaning different levels of semantic translation that have resulted in now there's a big fight on the left about is fascism a real threat the fash is there a chapo to fash hype line do we have to worry about fashion the streets should we be daxing peppe's because if we don't they're going to march like like the essay to Nuremberg and I think that there's been a lot of heat expended on this topic I know that I have generally been skeptical of the looming threat of fascism but I haven't been able to express it then I feel like now I'm a little closer to understanding it and so I want to just get it out there and see if you guys make sense of it so my main objection to people wanting to label things in the current moment is fascism is my knowledge how about that historically fixed fascism was in terms of its heart it's impossible to imagine fascism outside of the post-world War one context of Europe like the cultural ingredients were very specific but also you want to have a word for you know nationalist authoritarianism when it shows up but once again that was because I wasn't thinking dialectically I was thinking only along the planes of binaries and not the binary the nesting binaries so now I really not what I realized if you guys can't tell me if I'm wrong is that the root of my objection there that fascism has like a fixed interwar context really does lead you to a further insight that tells you really what the threat is in the moment in my opinion so first of all we have to understand what fascism is now it's one thing to say fascism is capitalism in crisis that's true the thing is it's capitalism in a specific type of crisis it is in a crisis of it isn't a material crisis it is in a crisis where you have the the built up industrial capacity but you don't have the inputs there is a demand shortfall otherwise known as a depression now modern democracy was even newer so in the caldron of these things came this thing that solved a lot of questions about mass politics and about crisis of capitalism but in the wrong way they've solved a lot of the problems of maintaining a system but at the expense of you know the soul of the people living under it so if we think of there being two types of inputs to cap into cat into capitalism or any economic system if we think of them as human labor obnoxiously put by and more generally a bio power the term that that Foucault invented there refer to just human inputs 0:36:15 into into human systems like intellectual and literal like seniors the supply of power and technology that is the balance of all economic orders that have been risen to this complexity of having tools so it was it's so it was this was a bio crisis this is not a crisis of technology it was a crisis of inputs and fascism solutions fascism specific pollution solution to a crisis of inputs in capitalism is to solve that by grabbing inputs from outside first by building up military report forces that had to be used because military resources are the kind of things that if they're not used they literally take up space and undermine your ability to maintain economic regularity but take then use their military to literally take from outside it was it's like capitalism is dying 0:37:18 it's a fish on the beach flopping and its last attempts to get some oxygen came in the form of bursting outward to grab and hold and of course because that is gonna bring counter responses in the form of everyone else standing together against you you're probably going to die but you wouldn't necessarily I think that fill kid dick made a very good point in his observation of the plot of the land of high castles so even if the Nazis and the Japanese had won World War two and become the new Cold War their fascist regimes were structured for that environment they were structured for the skipper the frantic grab for resources in the scarcity moment of a significant capitalist crisis in capitalism they're not built for scared plenty they're not built for growth and so for no reason at all they're gonna end up nuking each other because fascism is not built for those conditions but the impulse the impulses 0:38:23 all like alright so now we're gonna have another crisis like the Great Depression the impulse within capitalism to solve that problem through hyper exploitation of bio power basically like that's what that's what I meant by expanding we're using your the hyper exploiting bio power to build up the capacity to literally enslave the forces of others in the form of the slobs who were to be literally turned into a slave race so that's that problem in capitalism still exists of how to how to solve the bio power technology issue now there's a technology there is a potential technology solution to that which is you know oh we get a free energy or you know 3d printing or a number of people were talking about in Wired magazine five years ago but if that doesn't happen it doesn't look like it is because honestly a lot of these a lot of these

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

currents end up looking like scans to get VC money retro actively so so the problem 0:39:24 is still there there's still a technological prop like barrier so the if we're going to keep capitalism basically and we can't solve the problem technologically which was true under in German in Europe after World War World War one they had a economic problem that an economic crisis that could not be solved technologically they had to enslave and exploit bio power like the the other solution to that would have been to communal eyes to share the like to share more evenly the surplus and reduce the pain and the accompanying social crisis caused by the pain from hyper exploitation now some countries did that to some different degrees like dumbass Jonah Goldberg says that the New Deal is Nazism because it had Public Works no the New Deal had the same features some of the same features as Nazism to do to socialize surplus for productively Nazism dips socialize surplus productively but that's not all it didn't 0:40:25 do that's not all it did it also built up this military safe that had to be used if you if you would agree to which you draw surplus down and use that to alleviate disruption and pain caused by crust crisis this is which capitalism is contained basically the way FDR came to it in the United States that's one way to go and you could go farther like if things had gone differently if the Tai Qing sticks had fallen differently we would have built socialism in America or something much closer to it out of the New Deal things intervened later to stop that from happening but we were on a trajectory thanks to a general tendency in America because of its specific outlay to move things in that direction Germany because of its specific outlay of material conditions went towards solving it with hyper exploitation and destruction of bio power we are in the same boat now we're going to be anyway I mean we're already there a lot of 0:41:27 us already there more of us are going to be in the boat as things continue to get bad and we're gonna have the same crisis of capitalism there's gonna be the same technological limit on on increasing surplus that way that means there's gonna have to be hyper exploitation of bio power which of course is why one of the things I have pointed out earlier about fascism in a different episode I mean inebriated past was that one that feature of fascism is that it brings colonial practices into the Metropole now if we see colonialism as capitalism reaching out in its like in the death throes of its productive state within a country to gain more resources and markets that would cease to sustain itself and then you have a crisis of capitalism in which you know because first that there's a weird there's a weird dynamic with with empires where at first they're enriched and then over time as like the networks solidify the extent of Empire actually becomes a burden on the middle State but it's okay because it could 0:42:28 be afforded eventually there's a crisis those things starts those beams start cracking and all of a sudden the bio power you need to hyper exploit isn't on the periphery anymore it's in your home country and you have to and you have these tools you've

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

used on those natives to use on your people so what you're seeing is the response to a input crisis by hyper exploitation and and destruction of biopharm and that is a possibility now but here's the thing and here's why I hesitate to use the word fascism to describe what I think is the danger we they're still gonna hit a technological limit on how much they can increase surplus or whatever absent exploitation and hyper exploitation and destruction of biopharm but that level is way higher than it was in the twenties way higher so we have much more technological so there's much more technological undergirding of society and our political order now what that means is there's much less there's much less of a bio power aspect of political power back in the twentieth political power that bodies in the streets over time as capitalism got more complicated that as middle-class grew and a symbol symbolic language got more complicated language fled to the actual like boardrooms of onion the executive suites of power only and then it was just a symbol for people to respond to because they no longer had their hands on the real wheels of power anymore now we have such a technologically advanced society and the biomechanism of politics is so impoverished that if they decided that they needed to execute like the fascist playbook in terms of hyper exploitation to resuscitate surpluses they don't need the mass movement that Nazism represented they don't need people in the streets they don't need brown shirts or proud boys they have invested power in alienated machine out machine tools surveillance CCTV computers GPS drones whatever the degree to which that is accumulated to capital and to the capitalist state to sense the 20s the degree to which that is accumulated is the degree to which the need to have a mass right-wing movement of any kind falls away because you don't need them you don't need the bodies you don't need the beat boys in the streets with guns you don't need Gavin McGinnis you have the state arrayed with a technological advantage over regular people that is undefeatable you don't need to further bolster Authority with with popular legitimacy because that's what fascism was it was an attempt to give give capitalism the be the popular legitimacy necessary for it to continue now in order for those people to believe in capitalism they needed to give them scapegoats for why things weren't getting better enough and that's what that's the engine that leads to the Holocaust we didn't need to do it that they felt they did because they convinced themselves it was necessary because it was an underlying fundamental lie that they told to keep capitalism going because there was such a mass there was such a huge role of people in the in creating state power state power I mean my god the brick the German state almost got overthrown like three times in the 20s my Sparta sis or whatever and a botched general strikes that was a environment in which popular legitimacy needed to adhere to any regime that was going to continue to exist it would be ripped up up otherwise and fascism was a way to do that I don't think that need in the system exists anymore I think it is a byproduct of the system and you see deformed smaller versions of it but because we have such an impoverished political 0:46:40 bio terrain they're not relevant to the struggle because they're not at the point of four the point of force is in a ***** in a trailer an air-conditioned trailer Nevada with a joystick he's in a gamers chair he's got like ***** candy necklace around himself he's twitch streaming and he's annihilating uh the ***** wedding in Yemen he just as easily be annihilating a militia gathering in Montana and if things go in one way he will be but it will not require a mass political woman to do it it will require new ID a lot ideologies but they will have to apply to fewer and fewer people because they'll need fewer and fewer people to push the buttons and the people who aren't pushing the buttons can literally at that point of crisis be exterminated **Music playing** he's dabbing on us folks oh yeah booyah what we call right-wing populism 0:47:42 is a vestige and an echo of that but in a new context in which the political realm is deeply tecnológica technologized and dehumanized it all takes place on screens politics takes place on screens and then what rallies which are literally like going to a concert you know it's like watching TV and then go to the movies that constitutes like the act of watching TV and going to the movies the actual act of it sitting in a chair looking at the screen in your house going outside sitting in a chair and looking at something else we're going to the theater or whatever those two acts constitute the sum total of most people including me political activities that is different than when you have thousands of people in streets punching each other and fighting and occupying factories and doing direct combat conflict with the state over its resources distribution and in that situation you don't really not only do not need men in the 0:48:44 streets you couldn't get them if you wanted to like those guys the black the brown shirts were willing to die and they did die a large number is the horse less light which was the song which was the theme song of the the stomach might long the brown shirt was about them were martyred young si officer who was killed by a communist even though in reality it was like some sort of fight over a sex worker he was a pamper but like that was part of it it was like living or dying were part of it now it is it's a cathartic theater all those jackass like everyone's ***** their pants about those absolute lumps hanging around the Michigan courthouse they're allowed to do that because they're not a threat to any power structure and see that's different in other 0:49:46 countries like I would be much more comfortable saying that whatever is going on in India shares those features because the technological balance is so much different because there's three I've read her fascism I like Paxton's book on fascism a lot because contextualize it and like actions as opposed to ideology because honestly I feel like anybody who wants to talk about fascism and their sources are like thinkers even if it's guys like Ebola or meniscus mold bug or any of these guys you're missing

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

the plane smash ISM was a praxis it was a it was a attempt to channel popular support and popular mobilization away from socialism down the easier road of a co-opted populism because the Nazis had a much easier road to take power than the Soviet the Communists did even though they had similarly huge followings similarly mobilized street bands it was because the state wasn't stepping on the necks of the Nazis so it's a cynical recognition that you can skip the steps like Mussolini looks and sees hey I can use this rhetoric in these ideas to get people in the streets to give me power and I don't have to worry about landlord hiring some mob dude to blow my brains out with a shotgun sometime when I'm taking a ***** I don't have to worry about the ***** getting arrested because the people in power need me just to to channel some of that away and to it's purely cynical ooh the person who makes that move in that decision has no values so anybody who made the pivot to because you could talk all you want about socialists inspired Nazism or fascism but at them at that moment of choice like I said you're only those guys were destined to be Nazis by their conditions if you look through it every decision was predetermined but in the moment they chose to be a Nazi and the moment they chose to say you know what this whole working-class thing is too tough there's too many obstacles I can use some of these other elements and some of these other critiques without getting the stake down my back now that should tell me something the fact that the state doesn't want me doesn't want to stop me should tell me that they're not interested in ending the exploitation that is the cause of all of this if they were they wouldn't let me take power so I should think about that and if you don't if you ignore that because you're too greedy or you're too dumb then you're not a socialist anymore you're you've you've gone off on another tangent you're in another you you've stepped off into another parallel dimension bye-bye because that's a moral choice it's a moral choice and an intellectual choice it's a test and you failed it both ways because look at the fascists that there was not a stable basis for a society you ***** up like sorry the German state the German people could not do what you thought they could do Adolf objectively you were wrong like Adolf was one of the few gods who can know definitively that he liked lost he basically hit the Hitler basically knows more than any other hurt one of the few human beings on earth who knows what Satan felt like in Paradise Lost because he was God he was remaking the world with his voice basically on a principle that he believed as deeply as I believed in life but the thing is that outcome would have been it was determined in the react real he was because he couldn't wait he needed to have it now which means he needed to see it happen in front of him which means that he took a bunch of shortcuts that got him ***** over so even by his own rule even by his own law he was found wanting like in the bunker when when the Soviets were invading he famously was like ***** the Germans they

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

failed me but then of course he also failed them and he knew that as he blew his brains out he knew that so no one went to hell harder then no one was cast into hell with greater ***** alacrity yes become a communist and start organizing essential workers I agree with that the problem is I don't have sufficient confidence in a specific set of actions that will get me there yet and that's the thing one of the things that defeats growth is you label yourself as having certain capacities and then you just never try again if you don't judge yourself and say I have insufficients to dispatch now I might not later you'll find that you can do things a lot easier I love Oh someone asks about Wilhelm Reich I only know about the Oregon box and I love the concept of Oregon I think it's a very good metaphysical like well I somebody says our office workers management or labor they are like most things a degree they are to a degree like burgers and they're to a degree management and their relationship to management and labor is contingent on the specific moment you're talking about census much details I can get into and that's one of the reasons it's hard to talk anywhere let alone online is because you end up making shortcuts linguistically and symbolically that reduce the actual content of what you're trying to get across and then people don't fully get what you're trying to say so like if I tried to get more specific there I would start using words wrong because because I don't have the granular knowledge of the situation down to the level of like almost pure visuals simple so no Dualla to let's see that's the thing dualism is a trap if you think that there's only dualism the binaries are trapped if you think there are only binaries but there are the universe is made up of binaries binary opposites trying to occupy the same space at the same time and being cast out by that action but there are so many of them happening at so many different levels but also everything is purely relative to its two other things everything is purely relevant but also everything is objectively one way or the other but not at the same time until you notice at the same time until you open shorteners box and then they collapse into one moment where certain positions obtain where there is a binary being discussed where you are not talking that's why I think the fast pipeline stuff is very funny because like I am foundationally opposed like I can tell you I I think I can tell you I feel more confident I guess I'll say it this way the aura I got it maintain you know even keel I feel more confident I feel that I could more confidently this quick describe not why Nazis are wrong than the people who put most effort into defeating them online and the reason for that is because or the reason that they fight so hard against the Nazis online is because they know they're bad and they're right that they're bad but they're not fully aware of why they're bad they only know some of the reasons and instead of pursuing them further for other specific reasons and specific influences they flee from the question and that is why they have to no platform and that's why they have to abolish the idea of anyone else not create categories of unthinkable thought because that's the only way that they can deal with the unresolved trauma of not having thought through what they believe because they're right that Nazis are categorically bad but they've got to that reasoning insufficiently and so that leaves them with a lot of excess emotional energy around the name and the word and the idea of Nazis that they unproductively direct 0:59:6 emotionally instead of where it would be more productively placed all right guys pretty fun I will be back on twitch tomorrow and yeah there's not the one-hour time limit on Twitch like there is on Instagram so I think that'll be a fun one probably gonna go a little long I might do some more graphs we'll see how I'm feeling but talk to you guys tomorrow should be should try it trying to keep these around 6 o'clock unless things are intervening with the fym boys or I have something else to do but I'll always I was trying to do one everyday I'm gonna this is part of my daily practice so if you're gonna still be here I will still be talking and like I said please give me back any questions you have that's the only way I'm gonna keep on this on the path of the beam here bye-bye you

CUSHVLOG 15. HOMEBOY IN INNER SPACE

Shack Chuds 2 The Legend of Mungo Fuck

5.3.20

there we go hello I have exited hosts mode whatever that means hi everybody hey there's some friendly little Matt smiling without the lights god I see why people say I'm like save hide but they aren't there are only a few like heads you could have you know if they like a white male of a certain age there's only so many heads you can have because you either get fatter with age or you get cadaverous and that affects whether or not you get a beard and that also affects whether or not your hair falls out it's like you only get a couple of options and then whether or not your eyes go bad you know you're a little trapped within structures and so there's only so many variations on the theme I've only got the one red tracksuit I look like a mad person this person's British hello top of the mornin top of the barn India sure I would talk eh Lian's with you and we'll I don't know when you guys are recording but if you want me on I'll do it now I don't think I'm friends I think I've reached a point of acceptance with everything if it goes it'll go because it's a distraction or something not because I need to make some sort of statement besides I like this little quaff thing that happens but the last dying embers of this drama Tory like Klingon bird-of-prey of hair that's slowly being weathered by the blasts of the USS enterprise's photon torpedoes Star Trek reference for you guys you haven't sure if he's gonna do it have fun with it but like I said put more of that energy closer to your life don't put too much of it the presidency because it matters a lot less than it used to although we have to temper that knowledge with the fact that I've been thinking more about the Democratic Party and its structural integrity is incredibly weak it is exemplified by Biden I mean in a certain looked at a certain way every presidential candidate ends up being like the avatar of the party that it represents depending on how you know who won in the battle to make it up and so like Trump is now the Republican Party yes he was as soon as he was nominated and now he's synonymous with it in all of its like electoral strengths and weaknesses and it's like political mind it's it's it's it's its value system it's abstraction level it's all there that Bible is the same way and the proof of that is in the fact that the under the pressure of Bernie's threat to them they weren't able to coalesce around a a agreed upon alternative that would because they

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

always have the numbers within the Democratic coalition but what they didn't have was hello Alana well they did not have was a coherent cultural bloc that could express that preference like in a coordinated fashion like they liked who they liked because they were parts of like distinct demographic slices of the pie and that put them in conflict with other ones so they were never gonna group around anybody and Biden 00:04:03 was the worst of them you know in long-term sense because of how vulnerable he was how alien athma he was to the left how genuinely you know mentally degenerated he is and how many skeletons he's got his closet but the thing is he was he was the guy that the largest subgroup of Democratic voters had invested in because basically what had happened that the the electorate the Obama coalition shattered right after Obama was a horrible president and then all the component parts of the coalition started to like reassemble in different relationships to one another as the party moved on in the aftermath of the you know the the the first the nervous breakdown of the of the Sanders Clinton battle and then fight and then they just 00:05:01 stunning defeat of Hillary that just not everyone off of their Ken and their idea of what the world was and so the result of that shot both thus though the slow term material reality of Obama's recovery being a sham that mostly made people's lives worse if they weren't very wealthy and then the symbolic trauma that once at a moment symbolic trauma of all of it being pierced by Trump becoming president it shattered the coalition and then it reassembled along certain accesses and the white segments basically who respond to different you know at symbolic level a different Smollett level than like black voters due to these things because their emotional ties are lighter because like Republicans Democrats is literally life or death for black people because that is how in their lifetimes the parties have played out it's not as life and death for white people so they can take or leave things which is why when 00:06:00 it came down to it and because of this specific fact that you know Obama was the first black president when it came back to like reassemble this coalition to defeat Bernie a big chunk of that had gone to Bernie and was now being assembled a pieces he already had and new pieces that could have overwhelmed them they had to get everyone back on board but the only grouping that had not been fatally alienated from the Obama era Democratic Party and needed to be like massage back in were like black voters in the south older black voters in the south like the boomers the black boomers basically who had a different emotional connection a different level of adverse emotional the Democratic Party then the white electorate did and as a result they had to go to that level and I it's Biden or Bernie and everyone knew that Bernie wasn't an option and so that just displays they had to get think of how many levels of symbolic like moral justification for the Democratic Party as it exists did 00:07:03 they jettison to pick by they've just incinerated their entire conception of themselves

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

as a party of feminism and of the party of me - of the party of women who've been aggrieved by by men in the workplace and in a marketplace because of course you know what happens at home is not our purview because we've identified all the stuff only along the axis of its relationship to the market now they destroy that 40 years of work down the drain I mean - younger black voters who are more aware of Biden's actual record they've alienated them - Latinos who connect Biden to the Obama era and the massive deportation at least you know the Latinos who consider those salient issues they alienated from them - like when this this reassembling of the Democrats is going to be smaller and more fragile than any democratic electoral coalition since 00:08:02 in terms of fragility maybe like 1980 or something like I don't know 88 like before the final fracture of like the shattering of the solid south it's an incredibly weak candidate but but the thing is is his candidacy shows that the party at a level of like identification with it as an institution is also incredibly weak and the right pressures could destroy it and so there might be an electoral path among other paths don't everyone shouldn't take it but people in a position to do good in it should take it that could genuinely see the Democratic Party shatter wig style in the relatively near future and and that like the proof of that in like one capsule form is their candidate a strong party would not have that candidate because we know what degree of control the Democratic Party has over the process from the DNC rulebook to the way they 00:09:02 do the caucuses and elections to their control of a entire news networks line that is a degree of power that should have been enough and was enough to keep people off a Bernie side but it was not enough to keep anyone signal idea of what the Democratic Party was alive in the minds of enough people of different demographic subgroups to to defeat Bernie they had to discard all of it drop a bunch of levels of symbolic meaning which means that they have alienated the party like women are a lot of these liberals I'm telling you people allow these liberals who are pretending to be mad about Ida now are being disingenuous sure because they want to make sure Bernie doesn't get back in there but they're not going to be happy to vote I mean 00:10:02 the ones who cash a check don't care either way but the ones who are like having to go vote they're not happy about voting for Pike and the thing is it's like that process of alienation from the party has happened to everyone it's just it happens at a different rate depending on your material conditions if you start as a totally identified with the Democratic Party as like a left party or the party of decency or morality you will over time see that dedication reduced by their actual performance but the friction comes from their failure to perform and your material conditions if you start off pretty high you're relatively alienated if you start off low like most Millennials and young people do because they never even got any of this lucre that their parents or grandparents did then it starts very low and it just gets lower and so that was

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

the two battles the battle between the demographic battle of the 2016 election was basically between two groups of people who had an instinctive identification as the Democrats as the good guys the moral party the one whose policies would lead to something better than the other party in a two-party system which is the one we have but their faith in that it like their faith and it's this institution is legitimate their their their emotional investment in turn is an institution here's the Millennials and the younger here's the older and like a plan I'm sure black one black black older voters is theirs is lower because their material conditions are generally lower but it's still higher than black anger was so it was negotiating this gap that was always a problem for Bernie because they control those people are because these people they are invested enough in the Democrats that that investment in it goes to extend a good will to all democratic office holders including liars and also goodwill to a good faith to the entire network that Peretz the democratic party line so this is not this is already a system in under pressure internally and then also pressure from material conditions changing and material conditions are getting even worse you know the drastic sense which means the pressure of legitimacy is only going to compound so like these liberals the ones who are up here right one of the reasons they're up here is because of stuff like the Democrats were the ones who were outraged about sexual assault during the Kavanaugh hearing well now they don't get to think of that that's not I mean they can reason about why it's okay it's different this time Russia Russia Russia but they're just offloading their sense of something's wrong there's just offloading their anxiety created by that cognitive dissonance they're offloading it to Russia or Bernie Bros or Fox News or whatever but it's still there that are not thinking about it consciously it's there in the form of they're just slowed steady loss of faith and enchantment with the Democratic Party so now it's even lower and the pressure is gonna get greater and there's gonna that means that like this is a moment where fractures really a possibility but the problem is something has to fracture it and there isn't anything yet but I think that this is meant getting me towards the idea that like what workers party might be something worth talking about in the more than just theoretical sense in the actual medium-term reality now beyond that I would have to get closer to the shores of like causality to the concept to feel confident right now I'm saying I'm thinking a lot like oh this is just my process of thought and this is led me here I'm gonna challenge that notion from other directions we'll see but this is an emerging thesis that's coming out of my conversation with myself basically about the party and about Biden and about Biden's unique frailty and how it reflects a uniquely frail political party because it's not it's it's a conflict isn't it the party's strong enough to drag this guy's corpse over the finish line but the fact that he's a corpse means that at a deeper level they're weak and this gets to something that was the big the big Twitter owned of the day right that's the big thing that like every day obviously Twitter's a hornet's nest and every day somebody in the morning she comes along and kicks it and then that starts the whole thing off today is Hornets kick was somebody saying that they missed George Bush and wish she was president and then some libs saying oh me too and then people calling you can you believe it he killed a million people and then the lips say excuse me but he cared about about rules and he was respectful and he was more competent and once again this is because they're arguing an absolute position between two things that occupy different contexts remember I talked about even among liberals their faith in the Democratic Party has been slowly weakened as its ability to offset the accumulated effects of the neoliberal crisis moment keeps going down right well here it was during the Bush years right and by the way when I say they're their political investment the legitimacy of the Democratic Party that of course is a in miniature version a more deeply felt version of their greater faith in the legitimacy of all American political institutions so like if you have faith in political institutions unlike a symbolic level anytime your your guy loses it causes cognitive dissonance how can this country have produced this result it's the country I love it's doing something I don't agree with now you can say Russia and you can say like like the Trump voters or the McCain voters do Republicans voter fraud but and you can think you mean that but that anxiety is still there and it has to go somewhere that anxiety about the state and it goes into hostility to the institution's it goes into the hostility towards the institution's so they have so like as this is going down on their their faith of the Democratic Party it's also going down on their faith in the entire institution of the American government so ignite that 2020 2020 the tooth election does a big big bit of damage to their cuz like first you have less legitimacy government cuz you don't think Bush was elected legitimately and then you have less faith even if you won't admit it you have less faith in the Democratic Party because the Democratic Party let it happen and then they also went along with the Iraq war which most people I think even liberals who said they were for it had misgivings about so the numbers going down for group for both these things Bush being in office he's stressful it's awful in the moment he's the worst person in the universe but here's the thing you're at this level of you know you're a liberal with this level of faith in America's institutions right up here now Trump's president your fate your faith level your your mana points in these institutions is way the down here so when you wish for Bush what you're really wishing for is to be in a moment in time when you had more faith that America's government was gonna do what it promised to do from turn make sure the lights go on to make sure you don't get dirty bombed to making sure if you're a liberal that homeless people have homes if you're a conservative that homeless people have

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

cages whatever it is whatever your conception of the good is you have faith the government will carry it out and that goes down as the bad happens and then it goes up in institutions that respond well to it or that you perceive is responding well to it that's why the democratic party went from being kind of the party of crooks and like the the Democratic Party in the twenty is like the party of Ku Klux Klan members and like Irish ward healing criminals those are the only that was it was all a handout there was no ideology behind it the Great Depression made the Democratic Party synonymous with morality for a large chunk of people and then it went down over time as material conditions degraded because we never solved the capital as a problem that was making things bad we only ameliorated it in the short term so that process is going down now they want more they want to go back to their their Bush era faith in these institutions but if Bush was here because he'd be ruling in the same way he ruled badly then with the same interests in mind he would rule as badly now as Trump it wouldn't be as publicly disagreeing because now you're in a situation where because you have given up on you the democratic party or the government making justice happen in the world you've made it demand that it has it on the symbolic level and the symbolic level is a president who acts like a president having a president who is a debauched monster and insulting people especially during a crisis that is uh you're you're reducing my institutional faith because that's not what a leader does in my mind now for conservatives it's not entirely flipped they have the same situation and that even though they're doing well they're not doing as well as they used to and they know it their neighbors aren't doing as well as they used to and their children are not doing as well as they expected them to and so that as that creates anxiety but they like the Republicans much more the Democrats and like the Democrats they offload most of their anger on to the other party to excuse why this institution allowed this to happen but they're still sublimating a lot of anxiety and anger but because liberals are coming from an era where America's institutions were more liberal were considered more liberal like more aaron sorkin ii JFK style those cultural totems that liberals love because they give institutional legitimacy conservatives hate because they think that because they think that all that being politically correct business being like you're supposed to be is reified liberalism so when Bush is noxious and awful and insulting and unbecoming of the office they love it and it increases their faith in the Republican Party and in American institutions even as their conditions are getting worse and worse even as they're being locked in their homes for months at a time because of a botched response to a quarantine but that's okay because they've offloaded all their anxiety about that on to their governor and the Chinese but they still know deep down that there's a disk consonance between the world they live in and what they what they think they want how can Trump be

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

president and this be happening and they need to put that they need to take that 00:21:01 excess feeling that doubt they need to turn that emotion of doubt into love and they turn that emotion to doubt into love into Donald Trump as a person and what he does liberals they turn that doubt about the fact that they live in a country that has X values in their heart but this Y is what's happening into hatred for his antics and awfulness because then they're able to direct it at that level of abstraction away from the level where they have not resolved the contradiction between what they think of their country and what your country does and so it's two groups of people who have unresolved who have not resolved if not confronted the basic cognitive dissonance of living in a country with certain institutions that they believe in that is not giving them the results that those in that belief should be doing and then they deal with that anxiety by turning it into an expressed either love or hate for some 00:22:00 scapegoat and so that is a real fight binary and there is no way to participate in and that will be productive you have it has to be interrupted the process has to be interrupted orthogonal e or diagonally or acutely whatever you cannot keep building that anti dialectical parallel barrier you can't do it you can't do it anything about Trump anything you do that's about Trump's appearance about what he says what he does that is about his personality reifies it reifies it in either direction whether you're a chi khat going trump's owning the libs or the lib going look at this awful post there's and there's no way to do anything even joke about be ironic about it that doesn't read it so as much as we love making fun of Trump because he is objectively a hilarious figure if you're trying to like I mean obviously this doesn't apply when you're blowing off steam among friends but if you're trying to engage constructively in a dialogue on that level the level of Trump will only reify this phantom spectacle 00:23:01 where secretly disordered and questioning liberals and conservatives express their unresolved conflict so that's a thing don't talk about that I've decided the clapping is okay now I'm not mad about the clapping anymore I understand that it is like basically celebrating that the lights are still on I certainly understand that it's an attempt to offload anxiety about being useless during this like this is a physical act you can do to stand in symbolically for what you're not doing which is you know working in a grocery store or being nurse or something but you accept it on that level maybe it becomes a basis for something else if you're if you don't come at it angry if you don't come at it judgmentally doesn't necessarily but either way it's 00:24:00 gonna be fine and you can deal with the results whether that clap or not it's how I respond to the condition of their being clapping [Music] but man there is some part of me that thinks that the Democratic Party is uniquely stressed and uniquely fragile the symbols the symbolic order that under rides like investment in the Democrats is completely under stress in a way I don't think I've ever seen it and oh man Jesse

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

Ventura's just seems like such a perfect synthesis of Trump and Bernie the head in the heart the understanding of like the spectacular level and value of politics and then the actual moral code to drive it if it's turned into Bernie's moral code of course oh so frustrating to think that's a possibility and probably what happened but like I said 00:25:00 it happens in some version of the world and that version of the world rules somebody asked was born apart good or bad for Europe relative to other likely outcomes of the revolution no historical ah no historical trend is good or bad historical incident or trend either advances progress in some it no I'm sorry all historical events advance historical progress because even if it's just a period of pure like flat non development you know like where you have a sort of a civilizational plateau or collapse that's still a that's still a that is still a that's still progress in that it is part of the process of using up the matter in the closed system that is the world economy so it's still progress 00:26:01 like you're you're emptying the jug over it so even if it's not getting can't caught in like a cup you know holder it's not getting caught and somewhere else to be directed into a use it's just flowing out you're still reducing the amount of water in the jug even if it's not getting caught so I guess the question is when you look at you trying to judge a political or judge a historical incident that word has two connotations morale and the peer achill I judge it based on its dimensions and size and qualities or base it on its morality and when you're talking about what anyone else does in the here-and-now in the future or in the past or not in the future but in the year now and in the past then they everything is fully fixed and there's no room for a moral judgement so when you're talking you ought to historic listen she's talking about 00:27:00 Bonaparte taking over control in Paris in France and you're saying as it could have bad well it was a little bit good like all of us you mean did it help get the jug of water you know the amount of the amount of mass in history in history into the other jug of like a a civilization that is self sustainable because of his it is cooperatively utilized resources to create a technological infrastructure that's sophisticated enough to create like a steady state of energy inputs which is possible but requires a degree of technological advancement that can only be achieved through collaboration as a species so history is the process of that jug the jug that starts off is just the matter of the earth thirteen million billion years ago and this other jug which is gonna 00:28:01 be much much smaller where the where where the fully automated luxury space communism is where the end state of communism is however you imagine that Kim Stanley Robinson's colony books whatever and you're pouring history is pouring the one chug into the other and what what what the active mind what with the activated like moral political soul does and then what the activated political class nation and people until the entirety of humanity does is try to direct the one receptacle into the other as it changes shape without getting as little of them without well catching

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

as much as possible to keep the system as efficient as possible because whatever you can't get from energy you'd have to get from human power which means at some level suffering and exploitation which have to be equally shared to be to share like the brain power equally of everyone who can contribute so let's take nepoleon 00:29:00 that all sounds like a that's all sounds like a begging the question right but no I just use that to address the question of was Napoleon good for Europe compared to other outcomes of the Revolution what that means is was Napoleon positive what was Napoleon how much water did Napoleon get help keeping the jug compared to something else happening and we can say definitively that he is absolutely more progressive than most of the likely outcomes that would have happened if he hadn't intervened because you had in the directory and absolutely unviable and unstable government that's ability to can to govern was entirely dependent on its ability to exact tribute in its new Imperial state which by the way it wouldn't even have been able to do without Napoleon Bonaparte singular military genius in the first place to help almost sink to single-handedly win the first the were the first coalition almost 00:30:00 which gave them a huge amount of foreign currency and and capital to just take back to France so that was doomed their inputs were going down and they had no popular legitimacy because they were the they were the acknowledged cynical minority they were the cynical remnant of the people from the earlier battles that were originally ideological and stayed at the level of you know pure political science and then and virtue like the Shah the jacobins and Girondins and whatnot and slowly over time resolved whittled down to this group around the guy the engine of the motive of the revolution were all of the actual like morale in the moral sense of the sense of moral urgency entirely concentrated in a smaller and smaller group of people until it was basically just the community of the Committee of Public Safety everybody else was either being executed or being alienated from the project and when you're alienated from a project at a moral level you'd have to find a material justification so the only people left after they killed Robespierre with the Thermidor interaction were the ones who had accommodated themselves to the regime through basically being crooked being corrupt the main reason they overthrew Robespierre is because they all thought they were gonna be the next worst person get guillotine for profiteering which they were all doing everybody who had any principles either lost to the jacobins and got their heads cut off or were the jacobins and then got their heads cut off the only ones left because everyone was morality everyone who is driven by morality by the French Revolution as it got bloodier they had to keep making choices as to whether 00:32:00 it was worth supporting and if you thought no it's worth supporting but it's going in the wrong direction then you had to oppose Robespierre that meant death if you think now it's worth supporting but I'm gonna give up these principles it's because

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

you're getting other justification in the form of kickback some people were getting some combination of both like Danton was both morally opposed to the course of the revolution and getting his beak wet but I would say with Danton he was more morally opposed because he if he had been more corrupt he would have stayed in the back and just made money like the rest of those creeps who then killed Robespierre so the directory is just this rump of disgusting self seekers with no morality at all all the morality had been squeezed out of the revolution by the process of the terror all you had were the office seekers in the crook which is by the way the same thing to happen in Stalinist Russia the exact same promise process happened you either got turned away from the regime by what it was doing and exiled or executed or you 00:33:01 accommodated yourself and became crooked and lost morality it happens in every system like that it happens in every system where government's ability to extract surplus value is challenged by some sort of input disruption and it to the degree that it puts it that it agreed a response to that crisis with authoritarian control of people is the degree to which you will alienate people from believing in it unless they are being material rewarded if they're the ones getting the bread then they believe in the regime more if they're having the bread taken from them they believe in it less and eventually they'll believe in it so little there you're gonna have to do something about it so what this meant was that the directory was doomed the only people left were of the revolutionary generation totally useless guys like Paul bara bara was like the Ark 00:34:01 he was the ark he was the one man embodiment of the thermidorian reaction and the directory because he was a man of no principle he was an absolutely empty Bell who was able to survive the whole horror of the of those terror by staying hidden Abby's is a guy who was too much of an incompetent oaf to be Vaughn to be even much enough of a enough of a like threat to power to even bother killing during the fight there during the reign of terror Cius got to sit the whole thing out because at that point he was so irrelevant to the process that even frickin Rob's Peter couldn't even remember - Kenneth cut his head off those were the people that was the triumvirate that Napoleon joint Napoleon not part of that generation young vigorous part of that group of young of ambitious minor Nobles for peripheral areas whose ability 00:35:00 to engage with the world and their talents was blown up by the French Revolution now if they were no longer constrained by like a class system that would have made it harder for them to have their talents be expressed now oh my god they get - uh now guys like Napoleon gets you unleashed a full flower of their talents so they love the revolution from the outside because it's given in this and that means that they approach the question of continuing it with energy and vigor whereas the guys like Barack and as I say yes are are empty our Gutter doubt in fact you could argue that those three people literally the triumph roots themselves provide a miniaturized

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

model for the synthesis that Napoleon's government takes takes planes government carries out so CS was one of the guys who got the revolution started in the first place 00:36:02 by his pamphlet about the Third Estate you know what is the Third Estate nothing what does it ask for everything that was the tree - core of the revolution but because of his particular blend of personality traits he lost influence very quickly he couldn't get in on it Marat could get in on it get in on the ground floor but by the end of the process of revolution and recount a revolution and resolving towards synthesis and blood and justice the exhaustion you had these two guys who had helped bring the revolution about and then helped send it in the direction it went into at crucial moments both of whom are now for separate reasons completely extinguished a bias I asked the guy who was the who had who is one of the founders of the revolution and 00:37:01 that he gave it ideas he turned it's it's in Kohei yearnings into a vocabulary people could understand like the spirit the Geist of the revolution extinguished that he got bara not an intellectual not a guy who thought up these ideas but a guy who caught up in the wood in the spring of history grab some of them to use them to make action to become part of it and in the process is grounding this into into moral powder by the need to stay alive by his attachment to the material world but he is also exhausted his abilities and his credibility more importantly and who comes now a man forged by both of them a man who only arose out of a revolution that they had made who understands it at a level they never could because he approached it at a different point in his life and used it to different ends he comes in it could really have been no other way nor should it have been and then you had another now it could have been that was like destined to happen but the thing about history is things are destined 00:38:01 to happen until something intervenes which is what history is it is everything that happened in history you can look at retrospectively and see a direct line of causation and argue that it could not have happened any other way but the thing is there are thwarted versions of that littering history there are mirrored realities that happen because some specific thing went the other way and one of them is saint napoleon dies at the at the at the pedal of toulouse gets the heat that that that bayonet that windows crotch goes a little harder closer cuts is from oral artery bleeds out then the forces that breathe directory to bear certainly don't change the directory is probably less in doors less because Napoleon isn't there to win the first Italian war or the first the first can tell you campaign in the War of the first coalition but even if it is it will probably be attempt before it collapses from below there will be some attempt at the 00:39:00 top levels of power to redirect it to their ends and whoever they called up whoever they decide to pull off the bench to be the next guy would probably have been inferior to Napoleon would have had less resources to draw from and therefore would have been less successful militarily which means that maybe the revolution ends with the restoration a decade earlier that would have been bad in the sense that would have been inefficient because you have this engine of history making in this form of the Grand Army and the Napoleon behind it history and force back leading an army of history with guns and they marched through Europe and they swept funeral remnants aside the white the blue coats of the French army in the early early 18th century France or an early empty century Europe were identical in their function to the blue coats of the Union Army marching into the South in the 1860s it's signaled liberation liberation for peasants liberation for Jews and degrees of liberation for everyone from townsman to gild to to labourers to everybody and less power for lords and in hereditary rulers even with all the deaths that came from that it's hard to imagine that death wouldn't have come in a reverse in some bloody counter-revolutionary series of battles between the the powers of Europe that were gonna try to carve up Frances corpse if it had failed so either way you have thousands dead in in wars that engulf the continent one of them leaves models of Liberal governance and liberal relationships between subjects that could be built on through capitalism and then through communism all of them interdicting with each other that process is gonna happen if Napoleon isn't there but it'll happen more slowly more water is gonna fall out during the exchange so yes 51 it using the the everything is yes everything else yes or no question but it's only yes or no to a percentage of a degree that's the way that that's the way to stop being frozen by questions because nobody wants to say yes or no they want to justify it and the fact is that's true of every SNL question and you can make the call if you're just able to say yes because it's 51% one at least and 49% of the other that's the degree of specificity you need and then that allows you to make the statement and if somebody disagrees with you you can challenge the premise and if it turns out they're right guess what that was part of the 49% that you missed now your understanding of the principle that you were even arguing about is increased I hope this is making sense now see that he says that Bavarian ancestors didn't take too kindly to the frogs marching across the islands no they didn't forget what happened is that the nationalism the liberalism inculcated in Napoleonic France was mirrored in every state that they beat because everyone had the thought of why couldn't we win why did this regime beat ours and the question and the answer to that question is always it was superior to the task you animal ask why anybody beat anybody in the war over the long term it's because their particular arrangement of resources and skills was superior to the task and so the Germans and the Italians asked themselves among others Hungarians the Czechs everywhere that army marched ask themselves why did they win and the answer is because they had they were more prepared for the times and so then they say well what was the thing and the first like seeing it just as an army marching as an as an enemy is nationalism

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

it's a nation they've got a flag they fly under it and they'll die for it we don't have that I live in the prince-bishopric of baden-baden you know the Holy Roman Emperor 00:43:00 is some syphilitic weirdo in Vienna the only power I see is like my local syphilis riddled like barrister asking for a kickback to smuggle some cork into the harbor or whatever the but if we hadn't flag to fight die under like the French do we could beat them and voila within a couple generations of Napoleon or within a generation of Napoleon's defeat you have fully blown nationalist movements all throughout Europe that within another generat with another generation unify polities that had gone on unified for millennia napoleon who single-handedly ended the thous 2,000 combined year-long reign of the holy roman emperor the Knights of st. John in Malta and the doshas of the Republic of Venice that's right the serene Republic itself that is that is sweeping the deck and allowing for new growth that will be more productive even 00:44:01 if it's just as horrible because its history and all history is horrible as his defeat or non-existence because of happenstance would have been Napoleon wasn't even their first choice you know the triumphs the guy they wanted was too high-minded he wouldn't do it he believed too much in the revolution because his ambition was not as overweening as Napoleon's was because his talent wasn't as high as Napoleon's was they both believed in the revolution the reason I believe was harsh points that sees that question says no is because he still believes in the revolution to a higher degree that Napoleon does why because his talent level is lower simple as that because he could see less value to himself in not he sees less value in him to himself in changing 00:45:02 the situation Napoleon's knowledge of his own talents was such that he was able to say yeah revolution good thing but I mean come on look at all the blood death come on and also I know what I'm doing boom that's why it was in now there's you go the guy they wanted that said no if he'd said yes if that guy had said yes they probably would have done worse because he wasn't as good as Napoleon would have come in conflict with Napoleon and then like either napoleon winning that conflict or losing it sets back the cause you know the cause of progress and France either way so it's not good but that guy had less talent than Napoleon he was less focused on the task of military power which was the most important task at hand in France that moment because it was fighting for its survival and he wasn't as good and so you say but the thing is and here's the here's the fundamental paradox and this one 00:46:01 might be a little crazy you might not buy it tell me if it doesn't make sense if he had said yes he would have done better because he would have been more talented so that is how you have a situation where that the historical question is totally up to one guy's mind but the forces of history of elided so that it could not have gone any other way that is how you get radical subjectivity and radical freewill at the level of Geist and you have total clockwork determinism at the level of matter and space

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

and observing reality around you and people around you I'd like to go back on on his show now thinking about Napoleon I mean the guy you know think about him with the Roman Empire I was just trying to get to him Warners says the American Civil War army would crush the French and German armies oppression armies of austria-hungary yeah of course they would because they fought the Civil War I mean there's no greater a Wheatstone to grind your axe against than someone the one of the largest conflagrations in the Western world at that point I mean it's very funny that the Taiping rebellion is happening in the Qing China at that time and killing 30 million people and very few of us even know about it but in the West you don't get a bigger play pen for developing lethal skills if the Grand Army of republic in 1865 had needed to and been able to summon the popular support to march like get in 00:48:00 boats and march on Calais it would have been hard to Saba I mean they would have kicked in the rotten door of of decadent Second Empire France that's why one of the more intriguing counterfactuals in history once again not something that could have happened in our world but with a few things go differently could have happened in a world like ours and what if I think led to progress faster we would be in temporal time right now 2020 we would be farther along progressively is if Napoleon instead of not recognizing Tucson Levitt or as the actual power the actual authority in Haiti if he'd recognize the reality of that instead of trying to put toothpaste back in the tube in a way that a man of history like himself should not have tried to do because if Napoleon was a little less egotistical he could have directed some of his brilliant 00:49:00 insight to the fact that Toussaint Leavitt or was him Joe Salvatore was the Napoleon of Haiti in that he was presiding over the same situation and demonstrating the same brilliance and carrying the same popular legitimacy because of that brilliance and so that means there's no way to overturn that coke bottle the Coke machine especially with the intervening reality yellow fever that was never gonna work if he'd recognize that reality and he couldn't partially because wife Josephine was from a family of planters on Santa Mon who wanted their plantations back and then like the racism that emanated from those economic relationships if he'd been able to recognize Tucson for who he was he would have made him a general and he would have put guns in the hands of every man who wanted to in Haiti and he would have put him in boats and he would have sent him to French Camp French Louisiana and it would have marched him through the deep south a military with that combination 00:50:01 of motivation and leadership and basically never been seen in the American context since the European invasion like you literally could have had a like a a Franco F afro Frank Franco African like Caribbean hegemony there I mean obviously things have to fall right a million ways for that to happen but that is something that the Givens layout of materials situated the material reality could have allowed that to happen

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

so that's when we say if a counterfactual like that will that's why cut people say counterfactual is history is tricky but it really isn't if you just remember one thing when you're doing it you're not asking could this have happened to this world you're asking could this array of things if everything had frozen like everybody's where they are Toussaint's in France artists onsen Haiti Napoleon's and France hit a stopwatch and you could basically incept into Napoleon the idea hey give give Tucson some GATS and then that's history start again would it have worked the answer is it could have you could pursue it anyway other things could have intervened and stopped it a real a bad counterfactual is one where there is no way that even if you did change people's individual minds basically the number of people's minds you would have to change for it to win would have to get bigger and bigger like that's the degree to what you're counterfactual is valid one guy if something is possible if one guy's mind is changed or one woman's mind has changed then that is a very narrow hinge point on history if it requires like an entire civilization to have a different point of view on like a different value system related to the world around them and that's not a realistic or or for them to have you know a step where they actually have jungle that's not a real car factual so basically counterfactual history is it's a fewest a number of people you would have to in cept if you had like a space-time freezing machine to make it happen because of course part of dialectical reasoning is understanding that when you say could this have happened you were implying and in fact insisting that somewhere at some time it did and will so that thing I just said that happened there is a history where that happened and then there are histories branching off of that where it succeeded or failed to different degrees I am reading cycles new book in fact titles new book I've been the kind of like I mean now I think I'll be you get to a point where I can read better right now I'm a little too distracted to read anything really for that long I'm trying to get Moby Dick so I can kind of like hit the you know get some traction but uh I was reading Nigel's book before this and I gotta say man I honestly think that if I had had that experience that preceded this whole like reorientation without being in the middle of that book I might not have had the moment I had because shadows theory of like of environmental determinism which is what it is no historian wants to be a determinist because then you discount free will but of course we know that all historians are determinists if they understand their task under story who understands his task is they determinist if you don't it's because you're allowing a subjective realm to enter into your conception of history your biased so we know that all historians are historical whole history is deterministic and which title says is that the determining thing is because like the biggest broadest argument in in history is is something determined by environment or by the culture within the environment and of course it's both it's the cycle it's the its base superstructure

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

it's the it's the biomechanical fusion it's the Dynamo of all life but one starts it one starts the process one material space confluence starts the process and Cheryl argues incredibly persuasively and escape from Roman I'm only about halfway done with it that it's environment like he basically posits that the reason that the Industrial Revolution happened in Europe is because of inner party competition between small states in the post Roman context and then you say well why did that happen and the answer is extracted all the way down you could build a million levels of meaning on top of it but extracted to the bottom it's that Europe was too far from the step to be constantly threatened by by nomadic warriors the presence the closest Ament to two nomadic warriors makes a society more cohesive over a larger bond because it feels more threat so that's why huge empires like the the empires that have ruled China throughout 2,000 years of history in an area that's like three times the size of Europe even under air even in their conditions of much lower technology than we would then then exist now it's because there were always either though some variety of Mongol or a model of no man either Mongols or the Manchu later who would Harry you until you lost power and then they would take over until they lost power and then he kicked him out and and you would the cycles of decay would happen but they were all being all of these dialects are being fired by the presence of steppe nomads no steppe nomads in Europe the closest thing to a step is the Hungarian the Magyar plane or whatever where until the hundred foot hung around but it's just not enough land to sustain the number of horses you would have to to wage that kind of war and be that kind of society and so that left Europe to become this petri dish of little microstates growing and shrinking in competition with each other and that led to a flowering of the need to compete technologically with one another a stable Imperial model doesn't like technological innovation that it can't control and it can't control it if it's gonna do everything it could do it has to be in the hands of as many people as possible to find as many uses for it meanwhile the Chinese emperors were banning ships with too many smashed because they might go too far and upset the balance of power in China anyway that's his book and that to me is a greatly important observation that is like the base because like ideas are useful to the degree that you can explain that or ideas are useful and true to varying degrees and one axis of of truth is to which degree you can explain it that's the degree to which you believe in it and that's either ineffable like people who are ecstatic religious believers they're having nonverbal experiences and then there are people who reason their way to religion through written word they're both getting there in the same in the same way others are getting the same way in the same direction was I think oh that's so like you've got the dialect right and dialectical materialism is great but what set the conditions that's another recursion and I didn't really know I hadn't

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

done enough of the reading having read SH Nidal and seeing how persuasive this and getting it is like he'd the way he lays up level he reasons dialectically is one of the reasons that book is so successful at convincing me because he starts at every level with like not saying that any ideas are in conflict with one another that they're true to greater less degrees and since that's the way he reasons through the book he never leaves you hanging you're always with him you're believing every level of the argument which means that I now have that it's like an intact base now and then I can put the dialectical historical materialism on that environmental base and the thing is is that the suggestion goes both ways of course a historically determined a series of events it's gonna come from a base of literal matter of the actual environment where else is it going to come from it's the prime mover and and that really like help that's set another level of like symbolic meaning and understanding so that when I had my experience I didn't have to build that it was already there and that reminds me this is something I thought of today it's like an analogy about the difference between dialectical reasoning and the way that we are taught to think about things in schools and the way we teach each other to refer to each other over all interactions personal ideological political religious social you're doing out your film think of every conversation think of every conversation you remember every every conversation you have is basically a translation between two people right you're translating some sentiment between one person to another and you're using symbols to do it simple sentiments require simple symbols how you do it fine like a guy acknowledge you that's that's this many symbols as needs but if you get more specific it requires more detailed translation and that can either be specific like description of something if you're talking about like helping somebody change a tire or fix a fixer radiator but it can become very complicated but it becomes complicated along an axis of like symbolic abstraction when you're talking about ideas so think of discussing trying to argue somebody like you have one question one you have one view on a question an issue somebody else has what seems to be a direct ly conflicting issue now you're gonna translate across that gap my attempt make communicate to you is basically handing you a crossword puzzle that I made and the complexity of the crossword puzzle correlates to the complexity of the thought I'm trying to get across to you and I'm the one who builds a thing so I'm doing my best to make these questions gettable the way that they connect I'm not trying to be hard that's bad faith I'm trying to be legible but if it takes a lot of spaces I'm gonna have to think of a lot of clues and I gotta try my best to make the clue easy as possible because I want you I should want you to get it if I don't want you to get it that's bad faith interaction that's trying to make it harder so you have to assume good faith for all this to work that's the first thing you have to do so you get the crossword puzzle for me now you

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

try to your brain is now trying at like an instantaneous level it's trying to work out this crossword puzzle now say you're making it down the crossword puzzle and you got two spaces left that you can't figure out and you just look at them and you can't you start getting mad you start getting annoyed you start getting bored because this interaction no longer is revealing anything to you you're no longer you're not understanding or explaining anything anymore you're just staring at two meaningless crossed circuit spaces you have lost this all spirit that are purely interacting with mere matter you have disenchanted the exchange now you can dispel that by reapplying yourself to the question now the first thought you know there's two ways to do that 01:02:00 the way that we are taught is erase every answer on the board you didn't get the last two so none of this is right start over and now you're starting over with a self-doubt so that even though these are all the same they were right the first time you have to say some are wrong you end up writing some that are wrong even though you kind of suspect they're they're wrong because what has to be different somewhere because it got me to the wrong thing and that means you're making your compounding mistakes over here and you're not even getting any Clark close to the thing that you did you were so closer in dialectical reasoning says once you reached that point a break where you can't get meaning like semantics and spiritual from this thing then you have to step back as close as possible you've got all this right what is the nearest thing that could be wrong if you do that you're gonna get the question answered you're gonna 01:03:00 solve the puzzle much quicker that means you're gonna be less emotionally invested in it because you're gonna be feeling less bored and less anxious less annoyed less patronize to whatever whatever bundle of interactions you brought to the bundle of emotions you brought to the interaction because of who you think you're talking to and that means that at every level of bad faith compounds the mistake in translation that initiated the disagreement okay I've been going for a while whatever we of that which we cannot speak we must pass over in silence it's true and I think the reason people just sort of take that phrase for granted sometimes is because they think that just means well duh I mean if I just don't say when I know things then I'm gonna 01:04:01 be dumb so I bet I can never say anything no it means both you don't have to speak of things that you don't know but it also means you don't have to speak of things that you do already know that you can whittle down your interactions to the most salient points and then grind those and that increases clarity increases your ability to interact with other people increases the collective increase meant increase in our knowledge of each other and the world around us that we get from interacting all right so how's that does that make any sense once again I don't really know ya know we can sign is right about that definitions are useful but not in motion and thought is in motion the definitions are useful in a fixed state and you need them for that 01:05:00

CUSHVLOG 16. SHACK CHUDS 2 THE LEGEND OF MUNGO FUCK

go pick up that hammer but when you're moving them around in your head you should abolish them as to the greatest degree you can that's a little tip alright okay someone says it's more grounded good I think that I'm finding a way to talk about this stuff with specific examples which is the way people are gonna understand it it's like kind of I blew up the top of my head and I'm just slowly over the course of this week trying to catch things in a bucket basically it's just as it's all of these and that's another thing you have to understand is that all these processes are direct and exact mirrored copies of one another there is no remainders there are no remainders in the universe everything is part of an equation that is resolved completely there is the remainder of the negations but those then get negated and then when that then when that final bit is resolved you have total oneness between space and time ie the end of the world the end of the universe the end of your life and also the beginning alright guys bye bye see you tomorrow 01:06:00

Grillpill - Explained

05.04.20

oh there hi guys sorry about that took me in a second to get the old internet could foo bling so hi everyone so today is actually a fortuitous day for the stream because I've gotten some feedback recently from trusted friends who say that they think what i'm doing here is interesting but that I'm not as legible as maybe I need to be for a general audience who's that good faith can't be assumed at every level hey Alex how you doing and then I kind of need to reel in a little bit because you know bad faith actors could take things said in the heat of a discussion out of context and then you know becomes part of the arsenal of weaponry against Chapo and I 0:1:3 respect and love my co-workers very much and I don't want to see them threatened in any way so I'm taking that into consideration and one of the pieces of advice I got which I understood sort of as I see a lot you know as a theoretical point but which was hard to really commit to on the stream because I get excited didn't kind of fly off is to ground things in specific examples like I think the talk about Napoleon we did yesterday where we talk about Napoleon and what he did visa V you know directory and Haiti I thought that wasn't it that was good I feel like I made some I made some good points relatively and it and more importantly it felt like it was in a vocabulary that was communicable across planes of understanding to people and large enough percentage to be worth pursuing so I'm keeping that in mind and fortuitously as I'm getting this feedback this is also the day when I realize a lot of people are saying Matz what is the grill pill match Grill pail D what does this mean 0:2:5 and I've realized now oh this is a perfect example this is a perfect opportunity to take a concrete issue and drill down on it and if every level staying applied to the material focus and not getting spinned off spun off into into the ideological realm so let's talk grilling now I started calling myself grill pilled a couple months ago basically as the campaign for Sanders fell apart at as the mummified remains of Imperia tour Joseph Robinette Biden were strapped to a chariot and led through the forum and it was my attempt to express my you know pretty much instantaneous disenchantment from the democratic election election because my reasoning in supporting Sanders 0:3:6 was that a political campaign of that size of magnitude was the sort of short basic

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

shortcut through the cultural firmament that we needed to get to a discussion of actual material conditions in this country and I feel like progress was made on that course the Bernie Sanders campaign and its proximate goals was yes a failure but I feel like it progressed the ball down the court now did it progress the golf on the field long enough to be meaningful in in the coming crisis point wherever that comes that's a separate question and that's up to us but in the moment I knew that the danger there and I could see it happening as soon as Biden became the nominee is it a lot of people who had that how I Alanna who had that energy and had basically offloaded their sense of political purpose in life onto that campaign and the more and the more actual work they did for the campaign maybe the less like unmoored their emotions regarding it would be like people who were on the campaign volunteer 0:4:8 for the campaign because they had put so much of themselves into it I feel like they probably were a little bit more you know reasonable about what was happening but people who were just rooting for it online and investing all their energies in it and we were basically the cheerleaders like that was our job like amber was doing real work but I know me I know Felix I know we'll at Virtua we were we were cheerleaders and I think like that's good like cheerleaders have a purpose I mean they they they improve the morale of your side and that's not unnecessary I think I mean whatever but when you have all that energy and it's all at the struck at the symbolic level of the presidential campaign and it doesn't relate to your action the danger is you're gonna want to replace that energy at a similar level of abstraction and spectacle 0:5:9 and there's nothing comparable to the presidential Electress so I could already feel my bye center of gravity and I could see it happening to others pulled towards let's argue with Biden supporters until the election about why he's not worth voting for and get called 'russian bots for the next six months and I just saw it all happening I just thought this is that would be honestly a perverse and monstrous results of the Sanders campaign if people who were you know relatively attuned to like the material breakdown of this country basically ignored the biggest crisis that had ever seen in order to invest in owning people who like Biden online and I started doing it immediately even as I was grill filling like I grew I said I'm drill filled it's not my problem but that was partially a weapon to be used against Biden supporters to say you're gonna lose now because we're not voting with your guy and suck it it was your fault it was just a way to own them in a different I use I was owning them by winning by it by my guy winning primaries but then that that could work anymore there were no more primaries to win so now I'm loaning guys virtually by reminding 0:6:11 them that in the future they're gonna be owned like yeah you owe me now in this primary but it's November you're gonna be owned by me and that's why I would just post the picture of Robert Downey senior from bull unites at every complaining

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

liberal who was talking already preparing themselves to blame the Bernie bros that would be like that's not my problem that's not a problem of course the fact that I felt compelled to post this everyone I saw I actually at one point went hunting for buying supporters to post the guy at obviously I think it's my problem and I know it's my problem because a Biden presidency very well might be the end of the American political the American political experiment like in Syria in real terms I mean by a trump a trump second term might be too but both of them are in a real I could not think of two parties and two people representing two parties less able to deal with the coming situation whatever it turns out to be so it's obviously 0:7:15 it's my problem but the psychic cost of being sad that bite losses that's not my problem but obviously I still have anxiety about what's gonna happen because now I needed a posted Biden supporters to own them and that's when I realize no I have to actually take that and so the grill pill was ironic you know you guys know the meme of the guy flipping the burgers and he says Klansmen racism politics I just want to grow for God's sakes of course that was an ironic or appropriation because there's nothing I cared not nobody nobody talking about that cares more about what they're talking about that somebody who posts the the grill guy because you're trying to cover up for the knowledge that you are in fact mad and red and nude and owned and all those things that you spend your life terrified for other people to find out about rushing in with you my tongue okay and but it's like I honestly feel like the quarantine helped sort of break my rhythm obviously and made me sort of have to reassert where I was finding value where I was finding like enjoyment and I realized 0:8:17 that grill pill is really an approach to the internet more than anything and as a as something like as a in general but specifically for younger people who find their politics and hone their politics online and the the essence of grill pill is to log off and grill instead and the grilling can be whatever it is that's actually in your life that gives you a sense of satisfaction because all that energy you were expending and I was expending caring about the presidential election which like I said two terrible options like I said things might change if Burton if Jesse Ventura runs and gets some get some get some gas gets a little bit of tread in the tire and things keep getting worse pop but barring that that is a sterile investment you're not going to get anything out anything in your nothing in your life is going to get better by focusing on the 0:9:19 presidential election so grill instead and by that I mean focus on something in your life that brings meaning to it but that goes beyond the inner that goes beyond just caring about the presidential election it goes broader to caring about politics insofar as you're caring about politics is expressed by going online to talk about them to people and spend more likely to argue with people about them or to make fun of people about them and obviously this is in herre little areas coming from me because

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

I'm one of the Pied Pipers that brought people onto these platforms now I think in retrospect I feel pretty I feel relatively proud of my position because I honestly do feel like chapo was the opposite of a bash pipeline it was a pipeline away from alienated young white men from the the lure of the genuinely genuinely transgressive web right because when you're alienated and you're online and one group of people tells you that you're too stupid piece of ***** who should cut your dick off for being a white male and another group is saying we're gonna make fun of these people who think you suck your commitments at that point which aren't very strong because you're just getting online they harden very quickly they harden very quickly and we were an alternative to that it's like you can still have fun you can still do jokes you can you don't have to be like obviously all of those are those rad libs that people hate they were getting the same joy out of the internet too but their's was in policing their joy was in suppressing ideas they thought they were doing a good thing by by making other people miserable those people being the white male assists gamergaters but of course for the white male 6 camera Gators their enjoyment come from annoying those people and that starts is just a desire to antagonize but over times it gets rolled up with a bunch of other beliefs because you're in contact with people who are all similarly alived generally in terms of background and racial identification and gender and things like that and those gonna solidify arguments and that's what happened with arguments within the left and between the left and the right online it was it was this sterile contest and it continues to be and it can only be a sterile contest and the grill pill idea of that I'm coming into understanding is that when you log online to talk about the Internet to press your political opinions to do what you're doing basically is you're displacing your material and spiritual alienation from the society you find yourself in and sending it out onto the Internet to get resolved and everyone has some some percentage of material and spiritual alienation and they are absolutely inverse to each other so like the chapo fan or alt right neat is a classic example who somebody who's not really materially is materially is genuinely materially deprived in that they can't really expect to own a home or start a family even if they wanted to work or new people to do it with but they have home because they live with their parents or something so they're wildly alienated from the situation mainly in the forest even though they have free time way more free time that somebody who works a lot a lot of hours they have all of their free time is alienated from Haley because they are judging themselves and hating themselves for being idle at some level they believe themselves to be useless because they've internalized the notion of work as worth and that uselessness has to get set plinth set somewhere and if some level you identify it as a political problem if you do some people a lot of people don't most people don't I mean all those people screaming about Jerry dunk headphones

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

on Facebook have the same alienation in different degrees and they're expressing a Jerry tongue for stealing and sense phones instead of the president because their relative lack of alienated free time makes them less likely to abstract away their concerns into the political realm they're more likely to for them to be concrete so you have people who have this perfect combination of alienation they go online and they express their opinions and they think and they have some subconscious idea that by doing that they will alleviate their suffering in some way there they don't necessarily think that out loud and in fact they might even tell you to your face and believe it actually no I know I'm not doing anything I'm nya list but they're not 0:14:31

there's no such thing as a nihilist the only nihilists are in the graveyard they have some sort of belief and if they're engaging politically if they have a politically even like black pill people who don't say they want politics and thinks that like voting is a cope they are still gaining satisfaction from antagonizing a group of people who are who in their mind are political opponents and so that's what good that's what internet political or that's what internet political dialogue to be exact is the thing is it is inevitable and in fact necessary first step because that's how change happens in a society a court according to or that's how change generally happens in in in the capitalist modernist context is that you get an overflow of alienated alienated 0:15:32

free time among like the lower bourgeois in a society and then that alienated free time gets directed towards the purpose of making the political situation that made them alienated change the material conditions change which allows them to reach more people who now are because say they all lost their jobs they're not haven't they don't have as much materially they don't have as much alienated labor time now they have more alienated free time and because in addition to that they have less resources because they're getting paid for fewer hours they are more alienated in general and so the that time that the labor alienated are sorry um the time that the leisure alienated middle class they build up answers they bounce off ideas about what's wrong with the society so when more people are ready to listen they're there to hand it off to them that's basically like since since the basic sets the fresh revolution that's how social change has moved not always in a revolutionary sense sometimes 0:16:33

gradually accommodated by the system but that's the move so this is a necessary first step it wasn't necessary for stuff the internet left was inevitable because those were that's where the people they used to stand on street corners and here you guys yell in Hyde Park then the economy got more abstracted a communication and symbols got more abstracted and they listened to guys on the radio they wrote they handed out pamphlets and newspapers now they're on the Internet and it's all because they are trying to work out for themselves why they don't feel good even though their lives are compared to others even in their own country City neighborhood okay cheerily

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

thing is is that they have nothing productive to do because the economy is only based on profit and Psyche I'm sorry we have nothing for you to do you can just hang around even though we've created a structure of incentives and values within this society that means that you basically mean nothing and now you just have to sit with meaning nothing well if you sit with me nothing long enough in front of a computer you're gonna put that out there Hyde Park and I'll in London speakers corner so that's that was inevitably gonna happen and then ideas got refined out of that that's where you had like you know the rose emoji guy you know like that was a type of person who put computer in a political energy into a computer and then it like affected their behavior they started going to meetings at ESA maybe they knocked for for Bernie and that and that was them trying to act more closely to their actual physical situation because that's what the feedback loop is you start off with a vague sense of alienation you put it out in the world and try to make sense of it other people talk to you about it you refine either through conversation or public media or social media which is the latest stage you refine it into a belief system that convinces you enough to change your behavior now you're ready to knock on doors now you're ready to do the the Bernie Tyler now you're ready to to actually just and and guarantee you that everybody who did that felt better about themselves while they were doing it than they did on the computer and now bernie is gone and people don't know where to put the energy especially since most a lot of them are either working 80 hours a week at jobs there could kill them or kill their family members or their buttoned-up with nowhere to talk to and nowhere to put anything but the internet and so my advice to everybody who's feeling that like dislocation of okay now I got to find meaning again but the thing is now that thing that gave them their meaning it's all been it's all frozen now it's all reified these categories are completely fragile and I mean these these categories are completely they're fragile if they're hitting a certain way but they're completely fixed so there's no more dialogue to do all you can do is bang your head against the wall make other people feel bad and then feel for a second slightly good about making them feel bad and then that and but it'll get worse it'll get less and less effective over time and you'll feel more and more misery and you'll have to put more and more of that physically into the internet and that'll get you less in return the hedonic treadmill you're doomed but the thing is there is still something for you to do you fled to the internet the first time because you didn't know what it was and now you're going back to the internet now you went to the Internet the last time and found it I know I did or something closer to it now now going back with the same conditions nothing's really changed everything's been hardened there is no more growth there there's only slow decay of your interest in politics like at the end of that hedonic treadmill you are black belt because it's like I don't get anything else out of this I don't get anything else out of caring about politics and the only way you're gonna fight but the thing is is that when you hear get off the internet it's terrifying because you still don't know what to do and so what am I gonna do sit here with my thoughts oh my god I'm gonna go insane well that is where the grill part comes in I don't mean grill like in the sense necessarily of a Weber or or whatever I mean look around you find something that you are good at in some combination of talented at but also willing to keep trying and without willing to keep trying is is the closer something is to you the easier it is to get you to do it like somebody says hand me a pencil you don't even think about it somebody says help me move you have to think about it for a while because physical exertion 0:21:43 physical existence in space-time is wearing it wears on you if you are not centered basically and yet the way you center yourself is do something that you want to do like it's easier to move than it is to help someone move because it's your apartment and it's easier to move the pace and the guys getting paid to move you it's harder for him because he's not doing what he wants to do you got a move it's your place so that is less alienated time and it's all about getting closer to your actual conditions so you might be terrified that you have nowhere to put all that political energy that that sense of identity you've got from being a person with politics that were expressed on the Internet if I can't express them on the internet I don't have these politics well even when you were expressing them on the Internet you really only had those politics to the degree that you acted on them off the internet and so what you do is 0:22:46 you take that energy and you essentially have to depoliticize it you have to recognize it as a drive to be to feel useful to yourself not to society and not to your boss or anything which is like the micro propaganda version of the need to create to yourself first and so find something that is enjoyable to do but takes concentration and do it they could be group it could be grilling delicious meats whatever it could be I saw a guy today is building he's rebuilding a ***** a arcade cabinet from the 80s whatever it is it needs to be something that you can put you can focus your attention on completely in the here and now and get better at or complete something Gaming is the opposite of that Gaming is just more on the Internet Gaming is more offloading 0:23:48 your need to be directly addressing your needs that are in front of you into a psychic realm where they could only ever fall down the hygienic treadmill like your belief in politics did now gaming can't be done in the right frame of mind to be useful to be you know practice but it cannot be like the fact gaming existed is a place for people to put their that alienation is one of the most counter-revolutionary things about American society like in broad structure just the fact that there with the internet and with computers and with gaming there's so much place to dump your excess and unexamined alienation that it really undermines your need to address the alienation

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

fundamentally by asking what do I do and so you start by focusing on the here and now and if you're still have political views and you still believe in them then they're soaked embers a reason you believe in them and now that you were closer to the bone and you're not purely trying to work back because what you're doing by going on the internet to find out what to do next is you're trying to work back from in symbolic levels back to reality from abstraction there's only so far you can go before you're going to get knocked off course by intervening events in this case the very structure of dialogue and political communication on the Internet it's gonna push you off course you might get there eventually but it's way too inefficient and in the meantime you're just getting older you're getting more alienated you're getting more aware of death you're getting and it's harder and harder to focus the only way to do it is if you're working in both directions that is what creates the signal that brings like you can still throw stuff out there on the internet and like think out loud but only if you have a day-to-day in-your-face practice of not even abstract political belief but belief that doing this thing will make me not happy in a distracted way that like masturbation and gaming does but in a genuinely constructive sense that you feel like you are building something now I guess that could be gaming but I would just say most people do not approach gaming that way I would say that if you get mad gaming you don't approach gaming in a way that would make gaming a construct basically it has to be a thing you can do that doesn't make you upset or that makes you upset in a way that just read that that could be read channeled into the project like I've seen too many videos of guys to get their computer turned off and throw the remote into the screen to think it that is a that is a regulated emotional distribution so but once again like you could through if you're if you're true to yourself basically if you aren't lying about what you want gaming can be it and the key there is that if you do something and you don't like it don't stop doing it just stop doing it and certainly don't try to see like well I'll do something else too and split your attention don't do either of those things say why is this upsetting me why is this irritating me what should I do in this moment to make this project this activity meaningful and like you might have been struggling with an issue related to like I don't know learning to play the guitar or sculpt and you got frustrated because you weren't willing to push past your confusion and that's because you didn't need to there was somewhere else to get your put your energy into temporarily but it's always gonna grind away the only thing that's sustaining is focused attention on a project in front of you now while you're doing that while you're learning what you care about you're learning what you value and how you much you value it and what activities you're going to most easily be able to maintain that sense of being on the beam of being where you should be of actually doing what you want to do in a deeper way than

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

that makes it way easier to figure out what to do to express your politics because you're focused on the here and now right in front of you so all of a sudden maybe like a ***** uh if you really like like people say electoral politics is done ***** birdie alright Bernie lost electoral politics is done well no no no nothing is done until it's no longer part of the political structure you know like elections are there people are gonna put their energy into them you just because you say they're irrelevant doesn't mean everyone else is going to agree with you but don't do electoral stuff if doing things like calling people's houses knocking on doors if that is too hard for you to find meaning in don't say actually electoral is ***** really say that isn't what I should be doing to make things better if you do it like do that stuff if you worked on the Bernie campaign and that stuff gave you a sense of purpose and you found that you enjoyed it time flew fast it wasn't a scary thing you thought it would be well then find a campaign closer to you closer to your concerns closer to your actual literal physical area all politics is local as old Tip O'Neill sent but like I said maybe you don't like electoral politics specific and it's like you might have a theoretical reason you don't like electoral politics but you also have to examine yourself how much of your hatred of internal politics or of electoral politics comes from the fact that you don't want to knock on doors the fact that you don't want to call strangers and talk to them and if and if and if that's it then you're like well I have to re-examine my my priors if that's not it though you still have to reaffirm that by testing theories out in the real world and seeing what brings back to you a sense of purpose and so while people are I mean I'm assuming if you're watching me on Twitch at six o'clock in the afternoon you're probably not an essential worker and if you're not take your time take this idle time and be bored for a minute don't do two things once that's the big one because the real tip to getting off Twitter is actually Twitter is actually very easy to get off of and it's very simple don't do anything else don't have Twitter scrolling while you're watching a movie don't have Twitter open with a bunch of other tabs just scroll Twitter guess what will happen it'll get boring pretty quickly I mean they're very short little things there's very little content to them how many really great tweets do you read in a day even and you'll get bored and the thing is is that maybe in the past you hit that boredom and then you just got mad and decided to troll someone put put some epic memes out there to get people mad now you're now you're interested again now you have new songs coming back to you from the computer or you turn the TV on or you do something else to leaven the sort of deadening monotony of these little dumbass things coming in so when that happens try it the next time you're on Twitter just focus on Twitter and when you get bored ask yourself why what is it boring about this and I think you're gonna come to realizations yourself about the limitedness of that platform and of course the thing

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

is you these are things that you've told yourself a million times Twitter is a waste of time Twitter is stupid Twitter doesn't matter but you're still on it so clearly at a deeper level you believe it does matter because it seems serves a deeper emotional purpose for you it gives you validity that's that stuff about it not mattering that is psychological cover to allow you to be vulnerable there to be potentially observed in your own state which is of course our nightmare so that we say to ourselves it doesn't matter this is stupid it's actually a stump so that we can protect ourselves from the thing we need because we're so vulnerable with the need so if you would like ponder Twitter after sitting with it sitting with the boredom of it you'll realize oh that stuff I used to have mouth about it being a waste of time that's not just ***** that's literally true in the sense that if I keep doing this I'm just gonna keep getting anxious and bored and I'm not going to be able to be too leaven that anxiety by expressing it elsewhere it with different distractions so you put it down instead of just instead of trying to multitask now what do you do well what do you want to do what do you really want to do and if the answer is something like what you know you know it's like it can be anything I want to eat a bagel go for it but eventually like keep it keep it like that like well I want to eat a bagel I want to read this book I want to watch a movie don't go for it just do that just do that but of course eventually the alienation is gonna creep back in you're gonna just the alienation of the fact that you're off ***** game show host rapist president and his incompetent staff of cronies and buffoons have doomed you to an indefinite detention in personal self-imposed jail that's pretty ***** up and he's running for re-election against the senile Lummi who promises to do all of the same things but uh Trump is running on a 911s worth of people dying every day until Election Day and Biden's uh amber said this on the show we recorded today it was very funny a-and but Biden's Titans bid what do you call it finds raise that that bid is how about 9/11 every other name that's a nun that is a horrifying situation an unconscionable situation and so you want to fix it what to - you're gonna want to run to the computer don't do it sit with that discomfort sit with that alienation that this world this country is barreling towards apocalypse no one has any conception of how to stop it at all but people are gonna have to be there to pick up the pieces and what are you gonna do to make that possible and you're not gonna have an answer is the thing you are not gonna have an answer and that uncertainty is what used to send you off to the computer it's what send me off to the computer but if you put if you just say like if you just basically take that feeling and incorporate it into whatever meaningful task that you have invested attention in you will eventually start to realize the political contours of the world around you and what you can do about them in a positive direction and I can't tell you what that is and you can't tell you what that is now you're only gonna be able to tell you that yourself that weeks from now maybe if you truly refuse to give in to the lure of the spectacle of online politics if you choose to grill basically now for people who are off of off there who are listening to this who are actually essential workers I I mean I genuinely am thankful for you although I understand that the real motivation is not it's not some sort of a hollow notion of patriotism which is the same scam we pull on the troops it's it's so you don't lose your job it's so you don't lose your house so you can't eat you know someone says grilling cost money don't it doesn't have to involve anything it could be learning to draw it can be learning to to like to hacky sack it could be doing slack lighting the content doesn't matter the content doesn't matter but what matters is the practice of focusing on what's in front of you in order to ground your political beliefs and make your action towards them more effective and the more effective it is the more you'll want to keep doing it and the enemy of all that is just offloading your your your sense of alienation onto the Internet letting it dissipate there but then the thing is it all curdles back into more self-loathing it all comes back as self-loathing because you just kind of displaced the feeling for a few minutes or a few hours and now it's back and now you got to sit with it again well if you're sitting with it and doing nothing that's what I felt for years and years I was absolutely paralyzed because I didn't know what to do with myself because I was thinking at a level of abstraction if I removed from my in my actual life I distracted myself from the question of what to do by jacking off by going on the internet by wasting my time like in a literal sense and being miserable for long than I needed to be and I look back on it and it's like Jesus Christ is an alienation just oppression it's a facet of depression it's alien a depression is a facet of that degree of spiritual alienation that comes from your degree of idleness that you do not value like leisure Paula fiers talks about this guesswork leisure without the constructs of a wage based society is a blessing but the thing is we don't have that we have a little bit of it you know the weekend and stuff where you can you can relax and not feel guilty about it but if you're not contributing generally to the economy you're gonna feel guilty about it and that guilt turns into paralysis and the paralysis leaves you totally focused on what's in front of you like that's the thing depression is like I said only seeing the first foot in front of you but the thing is that's only depression is only seeing the foot it's not invested in where the foot is going and what the foot is doing or the hand or anything you have to invest your surroundings with meaning through action and doing that will make it easier for you to channel that rising anxiety that oh I don't know if I'm gonna be able to live in this country for much longer I don't know who's gonna be able to live in this country for much longer and connect it to an a useful practice and the thing is how do I know it's useful it's very simple it's useful if it doesn't make you feel bad and when

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

I say that it's not doesn't mean that like negative emotions won't be related to it it means that the negative emotions are external to the practice like if somebody yells at you while knocking on doors that's gonna make you feel bad for a second but that's from someone else if it still makes it feel feels right for you to knock on the doors it's right and you might say well yeah but you might be what you might have reasoned wrong in like what politics to support that's true but you're not gonna find out they're like the idea that you're going to reason your way to it is a trap that you can't reason your way to it reasons part of it but you reason down while acting up well-well-well doing things up and then they meet in the middle at some point 0:39:21 and then you were actually huh you're on the beam alright so does that does that sound less levan with with like translation errors and feedback all right good thanks I'll take some questions time is it I don't know how long I kind of get in his own I hope he shift it's been 45 minutes see I literally felt like five minutes because I was completely focused I was completely focused on this task because I think getting this out here is consonant with my political beliefs and I feel like doing this in the moment trying to express this to you guys at this format is the closest thing I can do right now to my political beliefs and you might say oh that's easy for you you're a hotshot podcaster that's true but that's just because I happen to be in a position 0:40:23 where I can bring in consonance politics and behavior most people because their jobs aren't political don't have that level of of like material connection to politics to descend from and that makes it a harder task that makes it a harder task but no more no less necessary a task basically because people get mad and say you're in a better situation in you it's not fair that you're closer to this than I am that's like no nothing is fair we're trying to make a fair society we're trying to make a society where material conditions don't determine your degree of alienation and misery but that's the only gonna happen if we all work towards I would somebody has said who's better cinephiles or bibliophiles I think that's a pretty funny way of putting it I would say that the distinction between them is the level of abstraction involved 0:41:24 in the art that they prefer and that means which like basically which world it's from like the written word in novel form is not really a 21st century American art you can still do it but you know it's like there are still people who perform classical music and there are people who still perform jazz they are curios they're there they're there essentially in amber because the social forces that created them have been expended and that's true of literature the social forces have created that bringing together the idea of literature are gone doesn't mean books are gone doesn't mean novels are gone it means that they are in a certain sense sterilized our film is on its way to being there honestly film is on the cusp of becoming irrelevant but it's certainly a more relevant to late 21st century America political economy than the novel both of them 0:42:28

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

are worth exploring and useful to the degree that you approach them in good faith which I would say is the one problem with the cinephile because cinema is captured more by late capitalist discourse I hate to use the word discourse but it's really it's useful in some ways sometimes I hope I didn't lose anybody by saying that awful word it means that people it means that and because it is more capital-intensive like film is film is less suffused with individual artistic insight by definition because more people go into it and that can make things better cooperation increases in on some axis cooperation increases outputs but that capital that means that it's now a market product to a greater degree than a novel could be because there's more capital invested in it which means it has to appeal to more people and the thing is something 0:43:31 that appeals to everybody and actually appeal to everybody that's a great work of art but it appeals to them at a lower level at a lower resonance level than something that appeals to a smaller group of people because it's more concentrated and less suffused with capital in its production they could both be equally good you know like if you were gonna get outside of them and describe them but it's different because the situation is different because the capital the capital base for the construction of the art part of the superstructure is different and the problem is is that film is sort of artistically attenuated in that way it still can bring you to great heights but it's just harder to focus and get to those heights because so much in a film is about audience expectations and not and that's fine if it's part of I guess I would say a balanced diet of artistic endeavors where your chew your reading things your watching things your 0:44:33 chill basically what it comes down to is you're challenging yourself like when I said like you say I say put the computer down what should you do what do you what do you feel like doing I'm gonna read a book okay if it's a turn your mind off book you're gonna get bored too eventually but the thing is you also get bored if you read a challenging book for different reasons at both at both points you basically have stopped being able to make to make looking at this interesting anymore in the case of simple stuff it's because there's really nowhere to dig anymore and you're just like you're it's all just it's what it is it's like looking at a at a dinette set or it's too hard and when you're reading a book that's difficult and hard to understand most people 0:45:34 close them because you're - because I mean before a quarantine put us all up in here like chickens and COO you're - you were you most people were significantly material alienated in terms of their labor time - other than like fail sons and needs like your ***** it to exhaustion or you've to distracted if you are somebody who spends all day distracting yourself on the internet because I know they made it hard for me to read books what it boils down to is you hit a level of legibility and then you just fly off that you bounce off of it I'm saying just try to understand it because the thing is there is something to understand there there is some truth to be mined from

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

every piece of art but you have to check you have to meet it up on its own terms and be willing to keep pushing if it pushes back and the thing is is that only really works have concentrated genius push back films can push back but for the most part they don't because if they push back people wouldn't want to people wouldn't like watching them because they're not they're not watching them for that reason they're watching them for entertainment which we have horrifyingly split from the craft of you know engaging with art in a way that makes our our understanding of the world whole we've totally said nope because now because of the concentration of capital and the abstraction and and you know the commodification of all discourse now it has to make money if that means films are less likely to fight back but people don't read because of the internet and because they're tired they're not gonna read a book to challenges them what they're gonna do is watch a movie and that movies not going to challenge them but that's gonna create boredom and they have to deal with that part of some how and the way they deal with it is by investing in motion their own sense of identity into the work of art and that is why people get so mad if you say the movies they like are good that's the real reason because in essential level when you say someone's stuff that they have invested their identity in Star Wars Star Trek better call Saul I certainly heard that you're saying that they're not good because they have invested their personal identity in the film because there's because they have to put it somewhere and they're not getting it from the car in the text itself because it's not supposed to do that it's supposed to keep them watching and keeping them watching means not challenging them means yes anding them into an abyss and that's the problem with prestige TV thank you for someone referencing that and this is the thing I didn't really understand my objection to prestige TV I knew there was something off with the concept I knew it kind of grossed me out the whole discourse of it and I wrote an article and I never really got to the best and I talked about this last week and I still don't think I got to it and now I feel like I kind of understand greater the degree to which television can't be what prestige television claims it is even the good ones even Deadwood I'm gonna say it I'm sorry even Deadwood even Sopranos even the wire shows I love have seen multiple times and think are great but their greatness is attenuated it degree to which it can challenge you is attenuated by the profit motive that's locked up in television production which is more and it makes sense the TV came after movies because of every level they get more capitally intensive art get art forms get more capital-intensive and their artistic input gets attenuated by the input of capital and then and and the way and specifically the way the capital operates with it like with a movie you can challenge people a little bit maybe at the end sneak people sneak around and get people because because you know you buy the ticket if you don't like the movie you're probably not getting

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

your money's back most people don't get a refund if they don't like the movie if they get that they're like taking a risk and so you know bad word of mouth hurts it but you could still get a decent chunk and if TV show does work that way people keep to have to keep watching people have to keep watching and the thing is an ideal art project at some point confuses you or bores you which is just another version of the same feeling and then you have to push through it TV has all the incentives of television are the other direction to bring you in challenge you a little bit but only enough so that you can get it immediately and make yourself feel smart ah see that's a symbol that's symbolism now I'm smart I'm a good person I don't have to read that book that I can't concentrate on because I've destroyed my brain on the internet so prestige TV once again if you want to watch it that's fine but you should be reading 0:50:40 and doing other things too but people aren't they're too tired they're too alienated TVs right there the episodes keep going as soon as they end you don't even have to press a button so we have to invest emotional energy instead to make up for that lack and so entire the entire rhetoric of prestige television which is of course reinforced by another subsidiary market because it created the so you had the cultural product of like better television informs the Sopranos it creates its own new market of jobs telling people these shows are actually really good and you should keep watching them like although remember the Golden Age of recaps nobody was like cracking the code some deep level they were pointing out the stuff that everyone else saw and you read along and nod see like I got that I got that once in a while you won't get something and you're like oh I didn't get that and then you think that the writer is smart and you're gonna keep reading their reviews but then guess what but the thing is the thing they got the only reason you didn't get it is because you were on your 0:51:41 phone and so that's all prestige television and of course because these things are all reproductions of its they're all reproductions of each other like even if the content is different basically all prestige shows are The Sopranos at like the DNA level you can say anything you want about the content they are in terms of like shows like The Sopranos set the standard for what we're looking for it I'm not talking about quality cuz that's subjective I mean tone I mean look I mean camera styles and if you watch any of these shows that the way that they have similar general senses of character development cinematography and editing it's because they're all copying each other and they're all copying the model of flattering the audience enough to keep them flattering the audience giving them a left curve once in a while to just keep them 0:52:43 interested enough to keep watching but not challenge them too hard that's not a knock on the shows they can't be any different they are constrained by the structure and the profit motive and the business model of television except that and then when these shows leave you wanting more don't go online to defend your love of them and

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

defend your the time you spent watching them do something else read something watch something that does challenge you like I realize like I for my whole life said I don't like David Lynch and the reason is baylard very simple i watch the David Lynch movie at some point it gets confusing and boring and I stop paying attention well there you go because I realized today thinking about The Sopranos and how the Sopranos really is like the model for these shows and how they didn't ever like The Sopranos use of dream sequences and I always thought they were a narrative cheat you're trying to get inside the head of a character who you otherwise don't know what they're thinking because it's a show and not a book and that and the dream sequences are basically an attempt to smuggle in the narrative complexity and like reproduction of stream of consciousness that novels do through the but through very obvious and empty symbolism that anyone that like sub Freud levels symbolism that anyone could do and I realized that's true for The Sopranos that's what those are there for but you take a guy like Lynch's home movies or dream sequences the difference is is that the dream sequences in a soprano show in a pianos episode are the dreams of Tony Soprano made by a room full of writers to character to keep like to basically let the audience know certain things about his character as he through the progression of the plot David Lynch movies are also are basically just giant dream sequences but for the most part the dreams are his now they're collaborative at every level but they are more singular than and and have different profit motives because the David Lynch movie doesn't have to make a lot of money HBO demands that it shows that they spend millions dollars on our long-term investments and so it's not snobbery to recognize the material constraints of a certain art form which is what the prestige TV people the pop Thomas in general say and all that pop team ism is their excess personal emotional investment in this these limited these commercially limited art forms that they refuse to reproduce somewhere else by so that is the answer I hope to the question of byblos versus cinephiles also I kind of got off on a track talking about the essential workers being sent out because they're gonna start clapping soon sent out to their deaths if you are one of those people I I mean solidarity obviously to this pathetic degree that I could offer any and there's a good example like I think about other people out there working jobs and I think that's disgusting Here I am talking to my phone and they're out there risking their lives for minimum wage what can I do about it well I could go I could there's a bunch of things I could do that I know I'm not going to do because they're too scary or just uncomfortable or or more importantly I don't think they would do any good like you could go out there and set yourself on fire a Grand Army Plaza if you thought it would do any good or you know you would totally released your ego and you were a Buddhist monk or something but as long as you still have ego attachment to this

CUSHVLOG 17. GRILLPILL - EXPLAINED

planet you're not gonna do something self-destructive or even unpleasant unless you think it's gonna do good and the thing is all the things I can think of to do to help this horrible situation right now right now would not actually help anyone and so I'm can't motivate myself to do them out of anything other than guilt so that's what this is this is the small thing people can do the problem is a lot of them use it to replace that feeling can cut suppress that feeling completely like they do this and then they suppress that feeling or they turn it into you know watching Matthau or putting up refugees welcome here sign a further apartment or whatever this has to be the beginning of a practice and like I said I am still at the stage where I don't know what mine is partially because I'm living in this frictionless cube world where I'm literally not supposed to leave my house like I'm not supposed to like I think it's technically illegal for me to be out of my home and around other people I but I do say thank you to you guys and I want to make I want to make in a world where you don't have to do that and we're we don't have to sit here like ***** chickens oh ***** my friends are uh but I'm gonna have to work towards it and I have to have faith that my actions day to day will help me know and alright thank you guys round of applause for everyone watching I hope you had a good time gonna watch this I'll be back here tomorrow probably around the same time I think should be thanks for listening this all those are gonna get you uploaded to YouTube Chris has a little bit of a backlog because he's got real jobs to do but if you want to watch any of the ones that are on YouTube but I've recorded already they're on Twitch they're all they're all um archived there for now so check those out if they're not on YouTube yet but they'll be on YouTube that's all this bye bye we love it don't we folks we love it we love the twitch we love to

CushVlog 18

---

Grimace Jr. Speaks

05.05.20

soy facing uh here we go there we are there are the faces smiling faces smiling faces sometimes they don't tell the truth smiling faces smiling faces sometimes so don't 0:1:4 really have anything planned for today i don't have any graphs don't worry about that just uh just having a chill uh wind down day hanging out what do you guys th uh what's that what's going on i haven't really been online uh what's been the big news other than the hilarious mercenary mishaps of our uh of our friends in the deep state from the goof ups that everyone's having down in venezuela with the uh the danny mcbride characters who tried to grab nicholas maduro with a cartoon butterfly net we're going to do a crossover with the q uh the q anon anonymous podcast not not the uh not the patriots who decode the proofs has there been a cue proof in a while it seems like the whole um it's kind of funny because you'd think that the that the uh um the covet 19 thing would really go to their benefit they'd be 0:2:7 like oh great we can you know this is this is it but they had the problem that won you know i'm not sure how much uh q talked about in any kind of legible way he didn't really talk about those things he didn't talk about um there being a bunch a virus or anything so it's like hey if uh q is so smart what the ***** uh and then there's the fact that even though trump's president you'd think a time like a massive uh illness outbreak like this would be perfect opportunity to round up the sickos and they're not doing it they're not rounding up the sickos so they must be very confused 0:3:8 so i'm looking forward to talking to those guys about what the latest uh what the latest uh attempts at uh i think that for epstein's stuff i think for anything any of the fun conspiracy stuff uh you should treat conspiracy ***** the way that you treat uh like one of your favorite food indulgences you know you shouldn't give up things that you really enjoy to eat but you should eat them in moderation and certainly as part of a balanced diet that's you can apply that to media in all ways but you can certainly apply it to the way that you construct like political reality in your head and the great thing about conspiracy stuff is that it's just even if it's not true it's the shadow of what's really happened you know like uh nothing that uh oliver stone says about the the military-industrial complex taking over the government after the

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

kennedy assassination is wrong it's just a question of whether or not kennedy was actually killed by them um same thing with cia mind control i mean what the hell do you call this massive digital infrastructure that controls every element of our uh of our like symbolic language uh and which is basically at the beck and call only of corporate titans and uh the deep state intelligence agencies how isn't that just how isn't the ***** how do you not think of the internet it's just like a giant ml mk ultra experiment you know and it's like none of that has to be literally true but if you recognize the contours you can apply them to your real life and it makes you realize things like oh this is not a democracy oh these institutions are not legitimized by who is who votes for who you get that truth and the like the lighter you hold and the less you indulge in like your conspiracy stuff needing to be technically true the more it can help you contextualize information and new things that happen to you but like the cranks the conspiracy cranks are the people who insist no no no this isn't just something we can speculate about this is something that we can not only can the not then uh we know exactly what happened but i am the one who actually knows what happened and those people uh have become too brittle in their thinking to accommodate anything else like take a guy like grover fur anybody know grover fur groverford is the king of the uh stalin apologists uh apologist um academic tradition he right he's he's he's at a university in new jersey and he writes these books about how the entire cruise of secret speech was a lie that everybody who died in the um in uh the great purges was killed by yazov uh without stalin knowing it and um uh that the ukrainian famines basically didn't happen or were were grossly exaggerated uh and at the extent that they killed people stalin didn't know about it now of course he's trying to do that to justify stalin right like he's trying to get people to think stalin was a good guy but he's acknowledging that all this bad stuff happened well if stalin was a good leader and a good good guy to guide the uh the great ship of state uh the great helmsman why the hell was all that bad ***** happening like how how and it starts from but the thing is he starts from a good premise he starts from the premise of i'm going to defend stalin against the the uh the robert service uh robert conquest neocon slander of the soviet union and the entire uh uh bolshevik project and you should and stalin needs to be contextualized i mean my god i would start by pointing out you want to cry for the holodormo how about the fact that the fat piece of ***** who was uh supposed to be like the epic win bacon member of the big three winston churchill uh allowed three million people to die in bengal of starvation and yucked it up the entire time but i mean contextualize it that's where you like try to uh extract the truth and like remove the sting of the slander but grover got so fixated on the question of stalin's personal virtue as if that matters that he just like rearranged his entire project to not not even be about that anymore because he

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

didn't because he wasn't he didn't hold the truth loosely enough is in his hand and that's the same thing with conspiracy stuff so like yeah i believe the epstein stuff represents some degree of a real network of real rich pedophiles who really ritually abuse children where they do it how often they do it which ones do it i don't know and neither does anybody else who speculates you can build up like you know the artifice of your uh of your uh instinctive faith in it through the accumulation of like meaningful details i mean epstein is really the gift that keeps on giving in that respect it's it's he's been dead from almost what a year almost a year now and or nine months and uh there's still stuff happening that's that's spilling out about his insane connections to every element of the of the of uh of the of the uh what you 0:8:16 got from the deep state you've got silicon valley uh you've got the uh the ngo para governments of the gates's that's also tied in with the corona virus vaccine it's it's just a rich onion and worth up but like the whole time you don't have to you don't have to ***** say no because if it's not true i'm wasting my time it's only wasting your time if it matters whether it's true or not and then since you're trying to build an ideology and that's not like you're not serving on a jury just kind of let it hang and just find what really is convincing so you can let the stuff that you believe because of motivated reasoning fall away because then you're not convincing yourself it's true all the time to fill in the gaps of your how would you start a mercenary company that's a good question i i should probably get one huh that's funny rojava is a 0:9:18 model for uh post-american vulcanization i mean that is obviously one of the better case scenarios if that were to happen um i was thinking about the the whole like coalescing doomer wave now as we really look into the face that the government and the and and corporations are and the state is willing to just normalize 911 every day to maintain a market economy and not even like to get to permanently overthrow it and have themselves executed no they could still manage the transition they're just too incompetent and too brittle in their uh power to risk letting that happen letting it out of there letting letting it show be shown to people for even what a year that you can manage the economy without market signals so they're gonna just let everyone die they're gonna fadom snap everybody because that's the thando snap sandos is the ultimate neoliberal because he's got the thanos glove and he could do 0:10:21 anything but he is so conditioned by neoliberalism that he's like yeah i know there's too many people not enough resources got to kill them all when you could reach for any number of changes to the material circumstances that would make it more uh more and that's what we're not that's where we all are i mean they weren't ***** around with their there's no alternative uh and like we're looking honestly what we're looking at more than anything is at the ***** enormity of our powerlessness in the face of this that's really what is freaking people out it's just how ***** powerless

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

people are and how we're going to let it happen and we're going to end up blaming each other we're going to end up feeling guilty and going to be mad at others to some degree and going to put almost none of that energy towards like resting power from these draculas and that's not any of our faults because coronavirus is like just 0:11:23 breathtakingly symbolic creature i mean not it comes out it attacks this system this late capitalist system and it basically replicates every uh uh fault line it presses on every fault line to push things in a bad direction so like at the material level it comes to an economy the united states that's first of all run by a corrupt cabal of uh of incompetent criminals and i'm not even talking about the trump administration i'm talking about the the permanent bureaucracy and the basically semi-permanent party uh operatics who make up both hard parties of congress both both sides of the aisle obviously uh all the way through all three branches of guberman just topped with a little cherry of the ridiculous orange cheeto man uh so you have that and then you on top of that a ***** uh uh a a gig based ***** economy of people working uh uh like people working tenuous precarious service industry jobs uh to just make up for the deficit in in or make up for the need for consumption that americans 0:12:25 are required for by the rest of the world uh to be as the consumer of last resort we got to keep eating uh if it piles up too much the economy falls apart you keep eating hogs keep eating uh well boom now at the at the material level you can't get service you can't go out you can't go to the to the uh uncle pete's pop uh you can't go down to uh going out of the pizza gorge and of course that just makes people who are wildly alienated and basically get only their almost all of their pleasure in life from direct physical sensation of fat carbohydrates uh and alcohol that's not a good combination and they have to stay home and the economy has a huge demand cycle and then you say great this is the material conditions that should lead to a revolution right like that was the hopeful that was the hopeful pill when this started people aren't going to put up for that but look at what the effect of the disease is 0:13:27 just as it affects the material conditions along its weakest fault line which is the fact that it's a service economy it attacks our political culture at its weakest fault line which is that it's wildly atomized like one of the big reasons that bernie failed is because the citizens do not uh have the uh motor connection between uh people who are have enough free time uh and enough alienation to you know form a political opposition to capitalism that's coherent enough to be effective and the people who are uh in the communication flow to even hear that hear that uh or like at the level and have the level of like good faith investment in strangers on the internet uh or the government to invest any more any of their will towards it and now we're literally in a situation where we've created a ***** caste system of people who are too busy running around i.e two materially alienate too uh labor alienated too busy running 0:14:28

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

around uh risking their life to survive and everybody else stuck in their houses like uh veal calves to with uh with this vast amount of alienated um leisure time and it's they're literally pressed against like out from each other they are socially virological effect of corona and so now you've got two forces pushing the economy into greater uh distress but also pushing the ability to fight back against it uh is dissipated by the pressure against people physically from even being able to talk to one another because as we've discussed internet isn't gonna do it we've discussed that's done it 0:15:29 has to move to the real world and just as the real world reasserts itself everybody is literally behind their doors and unable to talk to each other and more and more and more invested in symbols i mean my god they're now making like snl saturday night live a ***** so a zoom show do you think that's going back it's not going all the way back none of this is going all the way back uh so that's why there's a lot of room for despair but like something's gonna shift something's gonna shift there's going to be a big old shift happening here uh in the coming years and the thing is because everything is so brittle and because our political system in particular is so brittle and because we spent so much time of our emotional investment in politics around those symbols that are most fragile like the united states and all that as a concept uh we forget that there's another representation of like the fragility of america and 0:16:30 it's the size of its economy like the raw size of the american economy and the simple fact is that even with corona and even with uh thousands dead even with a huge demand shortfall even with great depression too with just pure neoliberalism there is a there's like an entropic rate that that economy can like lose power unless there's some massive intervention like regret like the coronavirus turns into the black plague or you know we get nuked or something to destroy a bunch of capital instantly the capital has to go there go out into the rest of the world at a certain rate so america's decline from this point is clearly and obviously uh it's not even a question of whether it's going to happen if we're in the decline phase we are on a we are on one of those plinko board zigzaggy decline phases the thing is this is going to 0:17:34 bring another decline phase but at any one of those the conditions can shift enough that all of a sudden there's political friction again and you can do something so the assumption that because everything looks so brittle now uh even with even with bad things happening that those bad things have to be the end that those bad things mean there's no way to arrest decay that is incorrect also and of course it's a liberal excuse to disengage from politics completely and uh let the world go to hell while you luxuries uh adam curtis a few years ago described how any compelling vision of it for a new world would require somebody something that could marry subjective mystery and scientific reality back together again agree disagree wow you know the 0:18:35 funny thing is is i would have read i would i didn't see that movie uh i'm not sure

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

which one that is uh but um yeah i know the pandemic's gonna be just the same only worse but the thing is is that the worse is gonna cause a new alignment that might bring out a different crisis and that's the thing uh you gotta you gotta remember because like there still has to be a function that makes the worst happen and that is like you know the the punctuation uh oh he was interviewing russell brandt um i would have read that a few years ago and i would have been like that's absolutely true but then i would have just been like yeah but how and then it would have been like yeah well somebody better figure that out oh well i'm off to epically own ross douthit but uh now i'm like oh god yeah of course that's literally what i've been thinking through this whole time but the problem is is that at that level of abstraction there's nothing to do about it so you end up being paralyzed you have to start from the grill you have to start from from the table in front of you and deciding what you're but 0:19:37

the thing is is that you say you need to put and this is the problem like you got trad caps will say yeah you need to put religion back into the material world but the way they want to do that is they want to take the material reality of like the the brittle and disgusting uh institution of the catholic church and just bash people over the head with it well that's not gonna work that you're just gonna you're just gonna end up like being another arm of disciplinary capitalism uh you know they're just gonna sell rosaries instead of flashlights it's just it's not it doesn't change anything because people's relationship to the religion hasn't changed uh organically which can only occur over time when they have an opportunity when people have an opportunity to reflect the only thing when we're this alienated uh materially uh globally and how and and is is gonna be to reduce material alienation so nobody's going to be able 0:20:38 to go back to church and uh have kids again like these chad cast want if the ***** boot isn't taken off the neck of people in this country and around the world and then then you can have like a a genuine piety and sense of of purpose and social cohesion emerge but that means you someone has to move first and the person has to move first is the person who has to who has the foot on the neck and that is i'm sorry it's not it's not the the happy uh it's not the happy merchant it's not uh it's not hollywood degeneracy it's not cultural marxists which is all just begging the question it's capitalism along that axis of who is making it harder for people to be spiritual it is capitalism so any of these trad caps who want to marry anything to the idea that no we can do this through markets uh or through basically through supporting market politics uh it and and advancing market politics uh is absurdly wrong so it's like a spirit all spiritual problems have a material base and vice versa and the spiritual problem is spiritual emptiness the uh the solution is material is 0:21:39 reduction of material alienation and and but the ques it's like well that's both things yeah but who but where is the plane the plane is material so you start with material

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

so anybody who's tradcathing on the internet is just larping along with every other tanky with the ***** stalin avatar or anybody else they're all just playing pretend none of them really believe in that because they're not acting in a way that would bring it about they're acting in a way that will perpetuate and suspend if it were like this is where the cat comes in i hate to say this but if everyone reacted that way if everybody decided to fight for traditional catholicism online or bring back the soviet union online uh guess what it would if and and their practice for doing that was fighting on the computer over it like if everybody had your beliefs but their beliefs were fighting over the computer about it guess what you'd still live in neoliberal hell think about that everybody who's like a political practice is yelling at other people on the computer to sharpen their identity if everyone did that not everyone believed what you believed but everybody believed you believed and acted on it in the same way like if they were just snapped into a place it's the same world as ours so it's not like the material conditions have changed but now everyone believes you believe everyone's a trad cath congratulations but they also have your ingrained need to to establish trad cathery uh through the internet or through or uh uh epic uh uh mao's third worldism or anything and guess what neoliberalism that you snapped back into would persist it would change a little bit see i don't i don't understand how that's supposed to say be disagreement suicide rates decreased during times of war because people felt their suffering served a greater purpose exactly they were less spiritually alienated by because they were more materially invested work is not labor is not necessarily spirit deadening dead labor is spirit deadening dead labor with your fighting if you're fighting again a war that you believe in or believing to the extent that you want to see your family live through uh that's because you believe what you're doing and so even if you are immaterial hardship your degree of alienation is less so yeah and it's generated at the material level i don't know i got all peppery there guys i'm sorry i'm trying to yell less in general i'm trying to like i'm trying to let things flow through me but i'm a little i'm a little off kilter today for a few reasons sorry hoping to get back on to the uh on to is liberalism still a useful term of what we're going to see following the pandemic is a refreshment toward globalism for globalism towards protectionism and uh yeah it'll just be uh it'll the the plan will be different uh like neoliberalism doesn't treat everybody the same obviously that's gonna ask anyone from a ***** uh you know an african country uh or india you know the global south ask anybody who got killed in the bangladeshi ***** uh sweatshop that matt iglesias defended doesn't the uh it doesn't under these conditions it doesn't treat anybody everybody without it pretends to but these and uh but it doesn't actually uh and so if if the global market breaks into regional markets that aren't able to connect to each other anymore because of some sort

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

of massive breakdown if if global warming and the pandemic have that degree of dissolution of uh of structural uh legitimacy then that's just gonna reproduce itself in that group which is why uh the white nationalists are idiots if you still have capitalism as the driver of your economy you're just going to find a new group of people look at what john cornyn did in texas this guy he tells everybody uh he says hey if you're a ***** uh if you're fat or you have a heart attack and you die of covid you didn't really die of covid but you died of your own sinful behaviors but he's referring to his own texas constituents because a greater threat to profit exists that same phenomenon is going to exist in your white havens so neoliberalism is still going to be the or at that point it's just capitalism because neoliberalism the the neoliberal uh element of that is the is the dream of it becoming global like the globe really is the symbol of neoliberalism because that is the dream is is yes markets obviously like it's always been yes markets obviously since the beginning of of history but yes markets obviously given these restraints yes markets obviously but like all these things keynesianism whatever it's all yes markets obviously but what about the real world we live in neoliberalism no no markets we have the whole world see the globe so if that broke up you would just have smaller subunits since they were aware that other places still existed it couldn't be neoliberalism anymore because those places are you know contributing in some way uh because they'd be interacting presumably to undermine like the establishment of a market so like neoliberalism is a totalized state or a dream of a totalized state uh that wouldn't persist in like some fractured thing but the pers but but cap but uh the logic the extractive logic of that hyper cap hyper developed state of capitalism where it's been honed to a ***** hanzo steel edge that cuts through everything uh that's going to uh still be there and it's going to cut up every one of these societies is going to chop up all those uh hungarians who think that uh orban has their best interests at heart it's going to chop up all the brexit all the gammons all the brexit gammons if they fall out of the purview of capitalism as it emerges if they are not needed um as consumers and then they'll just find a new axis of of a of back back justified uh differentiation to justify why they see that's the problem is that like obviously the end state of communism is is global communism as it has to be i mean if neoliberalism is the dream is the nightmare of a globe reduced by markets to destruction uh and desiccation the the dream is the totalized uh a communal state that harmonizes flow of resources and protects the uh the homeostasis between uh species and and humans and and right now the one where it breaks down and shatters down into smaller and smaller units until we establish we go basically we went from it's like a ride on uh it's like the the american eagle at six flags it's like early early slave uh agricultural empires uh feudalism capitalism crisis point crisis of of of of inputs basically crisis of of profit

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

the need for profit in the system is essentially the point where the need for profit in the system of capitalism collapses against the degree of entropy in that system i.e the exhaustion of resources the alienation of of of human spirit and and uh and material you know condition and when that happens what has happened in the past the next stage hypothetically the one we're all hoping for is is a move towards the capitalism now or towards some sort of socialism now that if that flow is if that if the if the momentum in the direction up is insufficient it's going to fall back down and it's not going to go into something we don't recognize it's going to be a new version of feudalism a synthesized techno feudalism that has uh the social characteristics of 0:30:59 feudalism but now with the uh the economic efficiency and symbolic efficiency and material deadness frankly of uh of capitalism which is essentially the worst possible state you can't think of a worse state than this because you've got a situation where people are as cowed and a and uh confused and unable to organize effectively against power as they are in as they uh more than they ever were under capitalism when it became hegemonic at the mercy of a uh of a governing ideology that has at its disposal uh a a refined version of the hoe and the uh uh and the mountain bailey castle that is purely digital purely synthetic operated the press of a button and essentially guarantees that human conditions will be at that point reduced down to the status of uh slavery again slave empires which this is see by the way that is the 0:32:1 singularity that the ***** dope ass uh uh uh um like accelerationist nick land types that's what they're praying for uh basically they're they're betting that that's not just one result but the inevitable result and so they're basically coping with that like that's what nicklandshit is it's the ultimate like fake cope it's like yeah sure we're all gonna be one with a demonic uh uh robot lizard god but that's cool that's fine i like it actually but obviously this is a absurd ridiculousness because we're too early in the process way too early in the process to say oh yeah nah now this is the moment when it turns there are so many different variables because so many different things can happen uh and there's so many different directions that that developmental curve can take that yeah it's just at the end of the day the black pill is a failure of imagination it's a failure of uh of having the spiritual will to pursue 0:33:2 the question uh to the to its fullest extent at which point you'll realize any any uh non-communist teleological approach uh to human uh history is faulty because it doesn't take contingency and the dialectical driver of history and to attend into uh into account it does not accommodate space-time so throw it in the garbage throw it in if you got a teleology in there and it isn't towards if it isn't guided towards fully automated communism whatever that might be not in the near term not the idea that's going to happen in your lifetime that's absurd but that it is a potential end state for human existence and if nick land nick land by saying no it's going to be the tech hell uh uh singularity well i'm sorry dude then there is a potential 0:34:3 if there's a potential tekkel singularity for the to the exact same extent there is a potential tech heaven singularity sorry there is and you might say oh not really at the level of abstraction we're talking about how many thousands like what hundreds of years i know the timeline is going to be much faster than it got to get here because we've compounded time into these uh technological innovations that like basically concentrate time into a weapon like that's what technology often is um but even with with hundreds of years the idea that no we're in the world where this all falls apart uh it's cope you're giving up you're giving up you're giving up on the problem and uh and why because you trigger the libs you gave up on the problem the real rigor of this problem uh because it was more fun to trigger the libs online isn't that it nick and that's why they made the wrong call that's why all these guys want the wrong code because they were too invested in mechanical truth to see the push 0:35:4 and pull between spirit and matter oh boy i'm getting over the top here but yes so that's that's me saying uh no doom pill uh because you're always in a contingent hit moment of history because everybody else look at look back at all history and you'll find the contingency in it at some level and you just have to know where you where that is for you to put your shoulder against the wheel because you're why are you triggering the libs because you cannot get full satisfaction from a moment of uh of of of labor of pressing against something of actually getting friction you prefer the fake sterile friction of going on the internet uh actually there is no somebody asked what's the difference between grill pill and cleaning of your room there isn't it's i'm 0:36:5 attempting to this is essentially gonna uh uh be provide some i hope for some people this is providing like a uh a a a challenge a dialectical challenge to the peterson stuff which we didn't do last time i'll admit it because i wasn't thinking that way uh i was just thinking of his greater threat because everyone's beliefs were so brittle on the internet it's like oh no uh the the the the essential insight that jordan peterson had was that you can't tell someone to do something they have to want to do it themselves that's it and that's and that and the way you the the only way to prove that to someone is to ask them to do something small and then see it develop in their own life and so they convinced themselves and it wasn't you that's the central insight of clean your room and nobody talked about it like that because to give him any credit was to say that yes actually women are chaos lizards who need to be kept in cages or whatever the ***** um but the reality is is that if you don't start from 0:37:8 that you're ***** and like i guarantee you 99 and the thing is is that mine's better mine's better because like i guarantee you the majority of those ***** uh um clean your room guys they ended up just as miserable if not more so because what was jordan peters peterson's ultimate explanation for their misery it wasn't that they

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

live in misery because they're incarnated flesh and that their duty in life is to reduce the amount of suffering in the world no it's that there's a demonic cabal of marxist college professors telling girls that they shouldn't date them no amount of cleaning a room is going to get you to a point where you can uh satisfactorily press against that truth unless you fill up a gym bag with tech nines and go to a ***** college 0:38:9 campus because it's abstract because it's wrong because it's faulty it's just a faulty thing and because it's faulty what do they end up doing if they don't grab a gun and go shoot people they go and try to take down those marxist professors online because jordan peterson only told them one part one poll of this wiggling truth nugget thing that you're trying to grip together he was saying he was saying yes you need to be self-motivated but you need to be self-motivated to go on the computer and tell these ***** feminists to shut up and to tell them to read my book boom you're right back on the computer and everything i've talked about about reifying all the ***** banging your head against the wall seeing your degree of investment in any level dissipate and be replaced with nothing but i'm saying we live in we live we are bound we are bound materially we are bound materially and that means that we can and that's why cleaning your room even though it starts from the same 0:39:12 premise as a grill pill is fraudulent and mine like i said you can find out for yourself i'm not trying to tell anybody anything other than if they want to be less miserable try to find something that they can do yeah dbt is a part of it for sure whatever like thing in your head that can act as a uh as a bridge to legibility is something that you should incorporate i mean i'm yeah a current affair yeah the mcribs back guy i mean that guy really should have may cause people to be more introspective i mean either way that's disturbing right like if you're not gonna think about it too much you're still going to have to wonder how many of my fellow rosamosi comrades are 0:40:13 just like on the edge of some sort of snap some sort of break how can i trust their owns how can i trust their uh their cool how can i trust that their memes aren't counterfeit uh or at least to think like damn doing all that posting online really did not help this guy at all develop better political opinions because usually uh your politics should not include including your your uh sister for my god's sakes or no i'm sorry i'm sorry i think uh this is trans uh you're forgetting you've got to assume 0:41:14 all these uh i'm sorry someone asked a question about uh the thing about energy and resources you have to imagine at some point that all systems are closed and that even that includes economic systems and at this point you can assume that the economic system is closed as for now the economic system is a closed system except for like uh photosynthesis you know at that level of like of like the sun energy being brought brought in and like the the uh the cur the uh magnetic poles it's a closed system it's a global economic system for them i mean the exceptions are negligible

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

enough to be i might end up living in the woods i have no idea the thing is is that you can't really plan too far ahead and that's scary at times like this when everything 0:42:15 feels so liquid and it's like it doesn't change things you planning and fretting about a future that you can't directly trying to bring about will not change the urgency of your feelings about it right because you got to remember it's like yeah we still have photosynthesis and and uh and uh and sun coming in but we also have greenhouse gases literally cutting off and and uh like reflecting the heat back so it's like unless we are able i mean unless somebody wants to to uh replace the carbon economy with like a wildly more efficient solar energy grab we're going to have a crisis point because because consumption just because consumption is how authority is yeah see 0:43:21 everyone's offering me this uh everyone's saying i'm wrong it's like yeah people i am wrong because i don't know that much about science you can chat i don't know but i just know that that is that is the mental picture to help you bring down to the size of things like the economy the specifics of it i don't know because i'm not a and people are and any any objection anybody wants to talk about it's a category because you see the way that systems rise and fall and collapse they're all mirrors of each other oh boy i'm getting crazy never mind again two in the weeds ah delete all of this i gotta stop looking at the i gotta stop looking at the thing i get the chat i but the thing is the problem with degrowth people say we need to degrowth well 0:44:23 what is the political valence of that you got to get people on your side to have less of a consumer experience when the consumer experience is the whole total of their commitment to the system that they live in that's a challenge and saying degrowth is one thing making to growth something that is politically palatable is different there has to be a reduction of uh of consumption in the west just by virtue of people won't want to do it as much it's not going to be like people like oh it's uh you need a and the thing is it's under neoliberalism yeah like degrowth in the west it would be uh soylent and uh and those roach from snow piercer neoliberal degrowth is yeah genocidal like neoliberal anything is going to be genocidal as resource constraints and and distribu uh and climate change uh instability ratchets up but a socialist 0:45:26 degrowth would just happen naturally because people wouldn't need as much stuff because they wouldn't their their alienated spirit so the way to talk about it is to talk about like the first step like so don't talk about degrowth because now you're arguing about whether degrowth is good or not oh good this is useful work from d growth to politics and then start over again work from anything and it's like no you need more tech yes you need more tech and the tech needs to be socialized work from there to politics don't argue on this on the abstract i'm just saying that that's not going to be productive as a conversation with somebody else if you want to think about those things in abstract terms go for it but if you're going to talk to somebody else

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

you're going to just end up arguing about semantics i swear to god because at the 0:46:28 end you have to reduce everything down to what is the material condition but most importantly what is the direct act we can do in the present moment to advance it in the good direction and those are two different that's a different question than where we're so those are two arguments that should be had but they should not determine present action and i feel like people have substituted arguing for like which brand of communism what flavor what type of uh socialism will work and the thing is you can only refine that so much online eventually it has to turn into action and if you're taking the action at that abstract level to now you're going to get frustrated and give up again and go back to the computer because it's not applicable it's a level of abstraction that's for that is not related to your daily life so you've got to work back 0:47:30 from your conclusions the growth is a correct conclusion under some circumstances uh a green like an industrial a job guarantee and like a new industrial revolution is also true and necessary to an extent you have to bring them back down to the level of politics to move forward enough to know what the mix will be when the moment comes that it becomes something to enact right when and where and that is going to be determined in the future so we have to determine in the now how to create a space where the left is as strong as possible how to get to a point where people are willing to act on their belief in some is boiled down to a coalition of humans willing 0:48:34 to take action we are both we are waiting for the moment at the symbolic level but we're acting to bring it about at the material level and the thing is is that we're moving towards the goal but we're moving foot it's like we got a carrot on a stick in front of us we got to watch our feet though you want to look at the carrot once in a while to make sure that it's still there and it didn't fall off the stick or get blown off by wind or a bird took it but you have to keep your if you're on a treacherous terrain which we are you gotta keep your eyes on the feet on your feet see everyone's asking me how can we do it i don't know because it's not at that level yet we're not at the abstract level the left isn't at a level of power to consider degrowth anything people couldn't even degrowth the mole i couldn't even go the mold in my own damn bathroom am i right folks left is in a position to do nothing to act in no way because 0:49:35 it doesn't have power so it must build power that answer to that question is too close and too close at hand to the people who need to do it to be answered so yeah i'm basically uh i'm kicking the can down the road because this is just such an unstable moment it feels wildly unstable but the thing is there are spontaneous reactions you know like the 1905 russian revolution obviously not comparable in a lot of different ways to our current situation at every level all of the political parties that have been trying to agitate against zardom were completely shocked when it broke out it was all through spontaneous action they had helped bring it about through their agitation

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

partially but they were all surprised by it and then they had to change to adapt to the new situation situation for the north sea fleet to go around uh africa ah i do not do fat dabs i've never done a dab i mean i've i've hit the dab of course as we all have whom amongst us doesn't enjoy hitting the dab when do i think restaurants will be back that's an interesting one that's really interesting because uh obviously they want everyone to go back to eat immediately uh but people don't want to die but the good news for them is that if people do really start dying now in big numbers the way they're predicting people will get more used to it and that will drive them basically to go you know distract themselves more from that horror by going back to the restaurants but uh there's gonna be such a huge gap uh in demand there that i don't know how uh on their way to iceland i've been to iceland it's beer beautiful but it's also a volcano remember that thing blew up i think cities are gonna stay closed for obviously will the usps die i mean the trajectory is it will be taken over to some degree by and replaced by something like amazon right i mean that just seems to be unless something intervenes and it could yeah the thing is is that one thing that might honestly happen that we honest that we are underestimating the possibility of is that there is just they do just go hog that even even these like uh you know neoliberal wahhabists in charge they just open the spigot uh and you know instead of just doing the the the direct transfers to corporations they've done actually start putting money out there uh just to keep the lights on uh and then and they would do that to the least extent they would have feel like they would have to to keep the situation stable and that would be something i guess like finally instituting at long last and ubi just to get enough demand in the economy but that depends on a lot of things including how bad climate change gets and like the if oil continues to not make be worth anything that's an x factor too that i have no idea how you yeah i mean it would have to be like i don't think it would be a monthly thing that would that would be terrified that that would turn into a like social security checks but i could see them like cutting like twelve hundred dollar checks every like two or three months on an ad hoc basis classic kick the can down the road because that's all they can do like that's late late stage capitalism is just kicking the can down the road until something happens what you're really intervening for if you have an interest in an investment in like the government what you're really intervening waiting for is another technological like uh inflection point that solves a lot of your underlying problems and again gets and that puts profit back into the system but if that's not coming and man i don't know if it doesn't sure doesn't look like it uh then they're gonna just keep kicking the kant on the road oh yes kelly rouble hitler's niece i you probably killed her i mean he was adolf hitler right i mean he's adolf hitler some is his his niece who had a very weird relationship mysteriously commit suicide during his rise to power i'm not going to suspect my first suspect isn't going to be adolf hitler like the worst guy ever yeah i'm just going to make a bayesian inference that it might have been hitler they clapped it's just they left it's losing a little energy it's like anything you know like you kind of get used to you kind of like clap it up and then it gets less novel and then you kind of and then you either peter it out or you know at some point you give it a little bit more and it takes back up that's very nice of you to give hitler all right i'm going to i think i've realized what's happened is 0:57:0 that when i get to the level of like politics abstract politics and prescriptive stuff uh it gets dicey because one it's so far away from the reality uh and two i feel so sort of unmoored still a little bit you know i'm still coming into my daily understanding of myself so i think tomorrow uh if you anybody who's tuning in tomorrow who's watching uh i would like to do some history questions i had a lot of fun talking about napoleon a couple days ago so let's uh let's talk some uh some movies maybe and uh and history would be fun tomorrow uh the witch videos are a few days behind being up on youtube but they're well that's just it this person says if i'm not well 0:58:7 read how the hell are you learn about wallenstein well that's just it you learn about wallenstein you don't have to read them boom because it's not like anybody's going to really challenge you on your knowledge of them because nobody else is reading that nobody else has read them either which means the people who have read him aren't going to get other people to really get it and so they don't talk about it at a very uh advanced level and so nobody feels the need to like that's how like the incentive system of of talking about politics and history and stuff on the internet is to learn less i know that happened to me taiping ooh that's a good one all right i got some stuff to think about for next week or for tomorrow taiping is very good and the thing is is the discourse is all cliff notes and like that's inevitable it has to be but it's what are in the notes we picked the bad things we picked ah the german peasant war 0:59:9 that's a good one too that was that one's very interesting to talk about in context of uh protestantism i they're also doing a rob ford movie with uh with damien uh lewis as rob ford like in a fat suit all right i'll talk to you guys uh tomorrow bye

CUSHVLOG 18. GRIMACE JR. SPEAKS

Playing the game...of Life

05.06.20

it's time to soy face folks we're so facing are you guys on let me check always got check the twitch to make sure you're streaming correctly it looks like it's time looks like it's happening oh there we go hi everybody I'm in my name my living room because it is kind of crummy out little blow cold a little chilly hanging out on the couch I'm sewing it up on the couch trying to keep my knees out of you I don't want to distract everyone with my erotic energies I don't want everyone to get all riled up when they see my scabs knobby toddler a sneeze this is actually not a hot couch at all it's a very comfortable cool couch it's not today I figured we were gonna take the take the pedal off the metal a little bit and just groove just gonna have a groovy chat sesh no real agenda today yeah I said yesterday if anyone's got any cool questions about history or maybe popular culture we could chop them up a little bit trying to stay trying to stay grounded trying to knock that wood oh this is a better angle anyway perfectly kismet gaming is grilling if you don't if the gaming is grilling if you don't get angry while you're doing it I guess or bored yeah because think about it like if you're gaming if you're not bored you're emotionally invested to a degree of anger right if you're just zoned out that can't be good but you should be building some sort of skill set is the idea you should be actually producing something that's the whole point presumably I mean I think gaming could like kind of give you a 'but sub mind but you're gonna have to actually build something you're gonna have to have contribute to the world even if it's just that the thing of scrimshaw like serving a little wooden man at first whatever it is I don't know I don't know what the kids do whatever it is it has to be three-dimensional and then eventually you can get so good at like putting putting like meaning into action that you can go back to gaming and it can be part of your practice but the problem at the beginning is it's too frictionless Gaming is too frictionless it's just like it's just like yelling on the Internet it's frictionless there has to be friction and that and I mean that a literal sense like an item like crafting an item or preparing an item anything but yeah so if you guys have any let's let's chop it up on some I'm some fun miss Teresa history and and history stuff and whatnot I got to find out why those little why

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

those little guys exist I'm assuming those microstates all exist because somebody made some blood oath to the Pope in the Middle Ages or something or they like decided to help to hide the Holy Grail I I don't know enough about art to say well my favorite painter is I'd have to think about it I was one of those dorks in high school whose favorite painting was Nighthawks because I didn't I didn't I people that's the the I would like to talk a little bit about this the 1619 project thing I I will admit that I haven't read it so I'm not going to talk about what it specifically says I will just make an if-then statement if the conclusions of that or if the drive and point of the 1969 teen project are to claim that the conditions of American capitalism at the in the present moment are inextricably linked to to racism at the point of leverage that I don't think that that's very helpful and I think it's wrong and it explains why it got you know all these awards from the Ford Foundation and you know corporate America because if the if the point you're trying to make is that racism and capitalism are inextricably linked at the point of fusion then each one is as fixable as the other right the degree to which you fight defeat racism a concept that doesn't have a material form is the degree to which you defeat capitalism but that doesn't work because racism is in the ideal realm you can only fight the things that generate racism which are material material like significant concentrated racially coded material distribution disadvantages that's the only way that you reduce the racism end they they are inextricably bound they are like a DNA helix but one came first one was generative one is built on top which and one can be moved and that's always the case with any of these issues and the one that can be moved his capital because it's actually material and you can move it you cannot move racism because it doesn't exist anywhere but in the minds of men and women and in the reified structures that they create so you have to unreal fie the structures to get rid of the feelings so I say about 1916 as if that's the point it's making and a lot of people seem to think it is if they are right then I gotta give it the old push mom thumbs down now of course it's hard to make that argument because all the people who hate it the most are conservatives who just hate it because it applies America isn't good as this as though that were a concept that made sense in the first place a country being good that's not possible it's it's it's it's equality that cannot be imbued on that level of definition any more than a channel structures aren't made up of people but they aren't people so they should not be judged morally and so that's why they hate it it's like no you're getting rid of my beautiful myth of America and of course the beauty of that is if America is perfect or good and there's this concentrated disadvantage in resources for black people then I guess it's not the fault of the country is it does a good country wouldn't let that happen I wonder whose fault it is it's literally just that's also deflecting from the material world both of them are ricocheting backwards

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

but like I said I don't know if that's what's in there I have to say the fact that the one of the authors of the thing is on Twitter right now doing like meltdown threads about 10,000 follower like semi anonymous accounts for people who aren't even check marked that indicates like I've said before a lack of confidence in the foundations of your intellectual underpinning you should not be doing that if you really believe in what you're saying I mean if you think that there's if somebody is being disingenuous you can point out a line of reasoning but like that kind of dragging indicates that at a certain point you're not really you're not really sure of what you're not really sure what you're so I have people are asking me specific stuff as I have no idea I just know that that there is a cut that things can be intertwined intertwined at the basic level but there's still a causal relationship between the two there's a base and superstructure relationship even if they're fused the only thing that breaks them is the change in material conditions no matter what now that material condition change might because might become because things change enough in the firmament to push them but that's always started with the material change always it's like it seems like a lot of these people who want to incorporate you know the new length the new the new scholarship on American slavery the challenges the notion that it was somehow in conflict with capitalism they want to take that as an excuse to reify racism into a social material force which you will never be and that confuses things it makes it harder to fight against the cause of racism Eric Foner's book is good I've heard yeah Shelby Foote like the guys he was a hell has there ever been an example of the social of a government stopping or preventing a socialist revolution without implementing some of their policies like yeah I mean countries have revolutions when the when this when the symmetry between providing needs for the people and being like perceived as the legitimate source of those needs become completely friction completely broken and so a socialist revolution is just pressure of material discontent material discontent must be addressed and he can call a social it can be socialist reforms but it will be addressed but through collapse and war which reduce the amount of capital and therefore redistributed or through a revolutionary or through revolution or through steadiest the global South is the mirror image of the global north in a lot of ways in that they are materially disadvantaged to such an extent that they can't grow the sort of mobilized base of people who have enough alienated leisure time to effectively push against capitalism the same way we have an insufficient a number of people who can connect that a number of people or we'd have an insufficient mechanism for connecting those people to everyone else I think people like Graham she to the degree that Graham sees insights about superstructure have been taken by people who have bad faith and people who are kind of mystified by being on the internet for too long that because that superstructure comes first and that's wrong and so people

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

get angry at Gramsci because they blame him for everyone taking his emphasis on simple structure and turning it around but it's not necessarily his fault it's just 0:12:41 that we now live in a symbolically rich era of cynical and pseudo ritualization of politics and so it's very easy to take the inside of Gramsci and just immediately frictionlessly move over to be like oh that means the superstructure comes first we should be arguing on the plane of ideas and that's where the real thing is no and we should be arguing about culture and Marvel movies do change the world no no he was describing a reality now you're living in it that's whatever happens that's the nightmare of history that we recorded the debt the history of all dead generations ways like a nightmare in the brains of the living what that means is that we are all living in the in the dreams and ideas of dead generations so like Gramsci observes the reality of superstructure the situation changes things shift now we live in us in a society where the economy has become so abstracted into simples and that 0:13:42 means that the culture has become so abstracted into symbols that now we have every reason to believe and we have to push against the presumption that politics is subpar and so we put we put Gramsci's name on that condition but it's he's not his fault he just pointed it out we're living in his nightmare the respect economy is as strong as ever thank God even in the even in the horrors of the corona Maelstrom the respect economy stays strong I still respect you guys you respect me the respect economy the flow continues we don't need any kind of stimulus over here it's a bull market well respect from Belfast everyone Sofia right accent that's Korea well that just sounded Scottish terrible sorry awful I realized now I've been terrible teased the 0:14:44 whole time you guys were all right I sucked there's still kind of funny sometimes but ya know terrible at accents it was absolutely self delusion that I thought it was doing well he's come town in cahoots with Sam tide to bring Nazism into America I highly doubt it that's as much as I could say about any anything outside of myself I highly doubt it oh right yeah everyone loves well I don't know what Jack sent you mean you mean the real one I think that's why I like doing accents even though I'm terrible at them is because I think I have one of the least appealing American accents the high nasal twang of the Upper Midwest just everything pushed through the top of the nose awful the Upton Sinclair episode I recorded on Sunday night and it should 0:15:47 be coming out I would say that the Byzantines are a good comparison for us slow steady decline in the face of expanding regional competition it gets close that my accent gets close to the Canadian accent but because we're not all Scottish we never got the about ***** unlike 90% of Anglo Canadians ***** McIntyre ass country just a plaid ass country just a bunch of Highlanders what am I gonna game I'm not sure maybe we can get the gaming rig going in the office and if we can't I'll do that but 0:16:48
I really don't have the capability in my place to do gaming at all I don't have a rig

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

or the system I don't have a I don't even have a thing and we have a really great gaming rig in the office I just really want to play but it's gonna be up to everyone else because I don't know the specs to set it up I don't know how I'm gonna play I've said that I thought that Katamari Damacy would be a good starting point because a game that is a low challenge level so that could be immersive without becoming upsetting allowing for conversation and you know I don't want to just like get too fixated I've heard of Duncan Trussell if he's good I never I don't listen to his oh 0:17:50 yeah somebody's asking about the potatoes I love talking about the potatoes I love talking about the pain is if the peasants are as Marx described a sack of potatoes how do you explain the hundreds of peasant revolts throughout history well it's not the act of the revolt it's the it's the it's the goal of the revolt I mean there been revolts in all socials for gibbous there's been revolts throughout every strata of social domination in every organized society in history revolts are only meaningful if they are effective they're only effective to which they're coordinated their only coordinated to the degree to which they represent a singular will which is the a class acting for itself on its own behalf and peasant revolts tended not to operate that way they were because the peasant life highly regionalised and they were usually based on the idea of complaining to the king about the excesses of local Lords or vice versa they were appealing to an authority that they had an inherent belief in if they if 0:18:51
there were bad Lords or a bad king they needed to be replaced by good Lords and a good king that is not a class that could overthrow a a class mode of production so that's the difference because when they get together they're just a bunch of people who are pissed off at something there are not people who are pissed off at specific exploiters of their labor because it's been because it isn't exploited directly and more importantly they don't communicate together a common experience and like peasant revolts are essentially free quakes of the crises that are going to break down futile futile ISM or any other social order they're like the the like you have the friction like you can cut it's like this isn't this isn't causally true but it is descriptively true that you can take a significant friction a breakpoint in history and you can see the ripples go forward and backward and so peasant society revolts our progressive forces 0:19:54 and that they're bringing contradictions to the top but they will not be the basis for a new order that will be anything other than transitional so that's that's the argument there I mean Maoism in the United States is hilarious because we are of course reaped s enticed we are we've been turned into peasants as I've said but instead of being potatoes in a sack we are now the Pringles because we are now essentially symbolized peasants we've been run through the capitalist machine spit out the other end as as as as symbolic peasantry which means that we still have the same degree of discombobulation and lack of ability to coordinate as medieval peasants but now we have been socially isolated so that we could we can't form the social bonds that make 0:20:56 peasant organization possible because what what the class process was according to Marx was a dynamo whereby the the notion of a social self that the peasant class has is pulled by the need for new sustenance to the cities that turns the people in the cities who work in industry into people who are aware of class become a class cow a class project and then take over because they're trying to impress that notion of a social self on to a capitalist system that doesn't allow for a social self they're trying to reassert those values but now we're so far from the peasant world we got press through the mandolin of you know settler colonialism and capitalism now we are physically spread so that we don't have a social baseline to try to get back to through organization we might want we might say we want Medicare for all we might 0:21:59 say we want to end cess the FASTA we might say that we want to you know break up the banks or or nationalize Amazon but to what social ends we don't have social ends because our social lives are so atomized we can only think in terms of capitalist capitalist value systems capitalist reward systems and so something has to intervene but medieval Catholic heresy oh there's a lot of good ones I'm trying to think the Cathars are obviously really fun everyone loves the Cathars I like the Lollards and you gotta love those Hussites cuz they were ***** geez those guys fought yon HUS 0:23:2 got his ass kicked but they were but his followers like no ***** you we're gonna keep fighting all heresies in the middle era are Catholic heresies all heresy before the establishment of Protestantism his Catholic heresy what is not having space for serial life and material grievance yes it is because you cannot have a spiritual life and left you unless you have enough unalienable and what this capitalist system is doing now the lay capitalist like late-stage eating the bone sucking the bone out of the marrow stealing the copper wiring stage is doing to everyone at every to at different 0:24:5 rates and to different people so like right now as I said we have the people inside and the people outside the people inside are having alienated time out the wazoo where they have nothing to do but worry about stuff that's out of their control and try to distract themselves with zum meetings and ***** Netflix and clapping and making banners or whatever people on the outside their alien their time is so alienated by the need to be working that they have no time to be able to be to work towards self in any way in it like any concordance of self with your moment in time in space of course so yes every spiritual grievance is a material grievance and you have to harness whatever degree combination of things you can to alleviate this the material basis for it I'm I'm calm dude kamar the right workweek varies depending 0:25:8 on how alienating the labor is there is no single one in an ideal social order people would work that a degree that it was rewarding to them and you might say oh that sounds stupid everyone's gonna loll around no they're not not if they are matched to

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

a task that fits them everyone has some combination of abilities and self motivation whatever you want to call it to look at a task and complete it without it feeling like too much work some tasks have high high tolerances for that you know that's why people are willing to eat ***** to go to academia because they're in their labor time is almost in time all most entirely on a lien a tit because they want to talk about literature or whatever the ***** shitty jobs those are wildly alienating jobs because even though you could hypothetically find pleasure in cleaning a toilet or something like that it's hard what that means is you could do it rewarding lis for 0:26:10 less time so a shitty job you should do for less of your time but more people you might say yeah but would but more people can do that more people together and a job that is that it's not that it's difficult to find rewarding can make that job easy and complete it well jobs that are more rewarding in other ways so that you could do them longer without becoming annoyed with the task you would have and that funny thing is it's like that's the social that's the central insight of like those kooky like twentieth-century like social credit people the recognition that not all labor is the same non-elect ivities are the same and therefore they should not be renew marae today in the same forms because like alienated labor that sucks physically it takes 0:27:12 a lot of money to make that worthwhile and just so happens to be the work that is rewarded the least materially that is a signal mismatch and like those goofy Social Credit people who like took over Alberta in the 30s I guess with their green shirts they recognize that but the problem is they didn't have any other part of the puzzle and so they ended up being cranks and that's what cranks really are like every crank movement is somebody who gets some truthful real ***** up thing about the social order that needs to be unkicked but they get fixated and they can't see the forest for the trees like that's every social prank from Lysander Spooner to to Henry George to the sort of the Oh somebody found a xanax while cleaning the room see the universe 0:28:14 rewards is there any so I saying is it better to have a weak Biden as president than Trump to fight them I don't know first of all I don't know how we're gonna fight them that's still to be determined secondly I don't know if you're fighting them at that point I feel like at this point I mean they're thrown their hands up did you guys see the single most amazing video of the trump presidency in my opinion the one that beats the hamburgers by a factor of a billion he's in a Honeywell plant pumping out n95 s and some guys a bald security guy or like executive total like a guy who looks like one of his flunkies he look like Keith Schiller is holding up this mask and he's like explaining just how wonderful it is and Trump is standing next to them looking about 500 pounds he looks like a refrigerator in a ***** Joseph a bank suit 0:29:15 and he's just looking worse than he's ever did he oh you can see the lines in the splits spray tan and he's just like pretending to pay attention this guy and pointing

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

at it like check out this guy and over the speaker is blaring the Guns N'Roses cover of Live and Let Die it's one of those sublime moments where you realize the totality of the moment you live in like you it's a crystallization of every every single factor that has brought us here and it's gonna bring us into the future they've given up on running anything or even pretending that they have the ability to stop people from dying like Trump for his whole presidency it's like I'm the guy who protects America I make America look at you America's great and just because of me now even he knows it's not gonna happen at some level he's like yeah ah you'd expect us to be able to solve anything no I was there to rile you up one way or the other I was able to keep your Oregon occupied by loving or hating me well the actual looting of the nation went on underneath my feet so that means that whichever one of these guys is gonna win like the forces that are controlling them are more willing than ever to just display their power naked Lee and give up the fig-leaf of democratic legitimacy and the the gamble they're gonna be making is that our social atomization has reached a tipping point that can't be recovered from regardless of whether material conditions get terrible enough regardless of how much they give up even attempting to channel our actual concerns and the thing is is that that is a real moment that is the thing like at some point we will reach a bright a break whereby after that we won't be able to assert any kind of opposition effective opposition to capital that will happen if things don't change the current trajectory that will happen whether we have reached that point or not I don't know and the only way we're gonna know is retroactive Lee when the next big break comes how we respond to it will answer the question and so our tasks as little drill pillars or whatever we're doing is to be as ready for that moment as possible when it comes to have developed a daily practice that's as close to the route of responding to that challenge when it appears what should an artist be doing to bring about socialism finding out a way to connect their their art or their abilities whatever they have I should never I would never say stop doing art even though the superstructure is meaningless because the fact is you're gonna try what's gonna realistically happen is you're gonna say Art's not important now you're gonna try something to do something else that you're not as good at and you're gonna get frustrated and stop you should stay in concordance with your like with where you are you should challenge yourself though and try to bring your art in alignment with your values to such a degree that you feel the least amount of conflict between them and that's not going to be a huge break it's this gradual progress process that over time leads to big breaks which is the way that all history works from the micro to the macro but you should but you need to be doing you need to be recognizing whether your art is having an effect like if you draw a spirograph doodles for example or make really stupid cheesy uh socialism for the wind buttons or pins for example and

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

you post them online and say look at the little drawing I did and you get two likes one of them from your mom even if that makes you feel good you probably need to add a little greater there you need a little throw a little grit into the works to see what maybe you could be doing that's a little more effective a little more reaches people a little more deeply but at every level you start with evaluating what you actually like and then seeing how far you can make that how much you can grind that pleasure against the Wheatstone of like grueling attention to detail yes like the only you have to be at this point I don't I don't think you're a serious analysis of the situation if you have not embraced the whole notion that we are in a terminal crisis but the problem is is that a lot of people don't want to say that because they think it's going to give people an excuse to stop trying and it will like all the black ***** is the excuse for people to give up and what that just means is give up on ever even trying to be happy with themselves on ever trying to be anything other than miserable every moment of their life until they die that is what they have given up and they want an excuse to do that because they don't know any other way to be and anything that says there's no alternative is giving them excuses just because America has entered a decline phase does not mean as I said the other day that that decline has to be fatally terminal to all institutions and all people it'll be fatal to some combination of institutions and people but it could be arrested and redirected in two different point paths at any point it can be intervened with by people acting together so there is no black pill no matter how much you might acknowledge the situation being in a in a crisis moment and so that's the thing that inhibits like that's a perfect example that like a mere fact that inhibits our understanding of the world because some people are gonna use it in bad faith bad faith to others and bad faith to themselves really and then you feel the need to deny that faith that fact no we're not in a decline because you don't want to give you into those bad faith actors but I'm coming around to the idea that you can only ever defeat bad faith with good faith over time not in a given moment you might get owned you might get owned by somebody who buys your logics you into oblivion you might lose an argument in some sense that more people think you were wrong than right but over time you will develop the belief in yourself to act with full concentration the military aggression question is a good one if America maintains its solvency as a country and this depression is as bad as it looks it might be and there is that much material sudden deprivation as there appears to already be oh boy that's the pressure is gonna have to go somewhere it's we're either gonna have to go towards our government for letting it happen or some other thing and the Chinese are right there I mean we're totally intertwined with them politically and economically but and technologically but man and they and all of the rare earth metals we use for our

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

missile systems come from them half of our high-tech but you know the European powers of 8 1914 we're uh worried economically interdependent to I don't know it depends on it depends on the reaction of the government it becomes on the degree to which they are there is a force requiring capital to redistribute if we redistribute us enough that force will be alleviated and and we won't have to go to war with China 0:37:30 or like Iran as a proxy for China but if that if there is if there is sudden massive deprivation of material conditions in this country there will either be a civil war when we turn that frustration on each other or a war with another country that is those are the only three options on the table there's no third there's no third option there's either dramatic redistribution of resources downward or some breakup of the of the of the political symbolic order at the at the level of the nation state or we all direct that energy on and I think that the set that the Civil War is the least likely because of just how how disparate disparate we are how frankly physically unhealthy we are we're not in a situation where any of us I mean my god people 0:38:32 are losing their ***** because they have to have their Buffalo Wild Wings delivered instead of going in to the place to watch eat them in person how are they going to handle you know it's funny like dual power I have kind of scorned dual power notions because it feels so in early to be talking that way considering you know the array of power going against us and to call any kind of mutual aid that usually gets tucked away in the category of charity as anything other than that I think it could be like categorically unuseful but I'm starting to think that anything that privileges action on the ground is worth supporting even if you might think it's gonna be misdirected I think people got to do what they think is right as long as it's so like electoral lists 0:39:34 stop getting mad at dual power people and let them do their dual power do a power as though stop yelling at electoral lists and calling them suck Thames mutual laying down of arms and do the thing that you think is right because you think it's right not because you want other people to think that you're the most left or you're the most correctly left anything that gets you working in the world is worth supporting now that means working in the world that like a lot of people think that to mean like demonstrations no demonstrations are just the first level of symbolic with politics and it's so fair it's like better like if it's if it's just the comparison if the comparison is just the Internet and a demonstration the demonstration is better just because it's less abstract and it requires more of your attention and focus but it's still inferior to anything else and still inferior to anything that's actually constructive that's why 0:40:35 you know things like extinction rebellion are not only dead ends they're probably entirely uh government controlled like there's absolute reason to be totally concerned about like demonstration politics as a model during a crisis like this but anything else that's like getting things to people and building connections is worth trying just

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

so you're in a better I read a bunch of derekjensen when I was in a when I was in like college and he blew my mind yeah no I read Iran I read a couple of his books and it's like goddamn this is us its stringent and the thing is is that he's right about a lot he's right about capitalism like the thing that they're jettison rights assumes 0:41:36 is that the current model will just will collapse and lead it to a new Dark Age and that's true and it's like there's no like oh yes but technology will intervene right but technology will also make things more savage and whom it will allow it will allow socially unstable non-viable arrangements to but he's also you know of the belief that that that would be preferable to stay there in some sort of barbaric situation and that's not sustainable like the antrum thing no it's just it's it's not just that it's wrong to seek it it's not going to happen people will get annoyed the human brain will will push against its barriers of ability to create its own environment so I mean that's one what that is in human nature and the way we know is that there's a ***** Society and they keep building them like everything else like they tell they tell you is human nature that's all horseshit it's imprinted but uh but having us 0:42:38 having the progress the progressive nature is and you're building on the buildings that were around when you were there you're building in the context of that of that which you existed when you were there means that unless you're gonna do some sort of ritualistic communal bring down and maybe you could imprint that at the social level where you like a but Larry but I mean if you had a widen if you like if you got enough people to believe at the level of spiritual that they should not build that they should not you know go beyond a certain level of development that would be great that'd be fine if it was if it was stable at that level that would be fine like a lot of systems are like that that's why there are still undiscovered tribes in the Amazon 0:43:39 because they have a social homeostasis the problem is that's not everybody so that's why it wouldn't work because you would not be able to keep that because you can say all right everybody at this level of social order we all have deeply embedded symbolic belief that we can't build stuff but over time even with that things are gonna change you're gonna have to move ground you're gonna have to give up one well and build a new one and something's gonna develop and time and space are both real and they're gonna imprint on on humans so might as well seek to synthesize technology at a level that can maintain a steady state at the highest point because it contains every energy in the system rather than at a low point which will inevitably lead to instability the accumulation somewhere see if people are asking about like if a job is 0:44:44 useful praxis if it's doing access useful praxis at that category no nothing is if you do it it's all about that question can't be answered it's whether you're doing it with the right mind now that doesn't apply to everything like if you're working for the bush light the Trump White House or ***** CIA or Monsanto there's no ethical way to be doing what you're doing you know but like at a certain level of abstraction you can say that about everything is you could say everything is evil but you get to a point where good outweighs evil like yeah you are by being a college professor you are perpetuating a lot of bad systems but you could if you apply yourself with whole harmonies spirit to the job you could do more good than harm that's impossible at a chop like working at a investment banker or working for the FBI working in any system of like direct control of corporate power because if you concentrate yourself on the job to the best of your abilities you're doing more evil you're just making the evil double of working the job so see if the job you have can possibly be positive in its so that answer is the answer of like canape praxis is is it possible to have praxis there in that in it given its position in the capital structure and can you get it out of it and those are what are the odds of an American NDL NDP or Labour Party I mean it depends on how bad it depends on how bad things get if Biden wins I think all that energy it goes to some sort of weird hair and folk Republican Party the big nightmare everyone's been scared of I think that's a real fear and I think it's more likely if Biden wins because unless we're able unless people are able to make them give us enough to prevent a real crisis the Republicans are gonna respond the only way they can if Trump wins yeah I think I think the Republic Democratic Party Splinter's in a significant fashion once again not sure that's still far away and things will intervene to change the dynamic but that's again if it's not changing but a trump win I think leads more likely to a splintered Democratic Party but a Biden win more likely to a repolarized realigned Republican Party which is I mean if you feel like your job is worthless then you shouldn't do it if you have the freedom not to I mean if you have to do it because that you don't have alternatives then I that's awful and that's the nightmare that we're all trying to avoid and so many of us are caught in and you know you should try your best to take the time you have that's free and like put it to use so that you can counterbalance the feeling of uselessness you have in your job but if you but I think that doing that will make it give you a better idea of what you could be doing elsewhere and that could be a blue collar job if you have a white collar one and the thing is you have to shed the inherent belief that that job is better because it's in an office yeah because I mean there probably a lot of people who are working office jobs that they would like less that blue collar jobs that they're doing because they think there's a social stigma to working with their hands and that shouldn't be just as there are people in blue collar jobs who didn't have the educational access to get white-collar jobs that they would find more satisfying than what they're doing protesting the DNC yes absolutely I mean what they did is worth protesting and protesting I know I just said protesting is symbolic politics but so is a political party in a real sense and so is a political convention I mean especially a convention my

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

god that is the most symbolic thing they don't even have to have them because it's all settled if they've become pure spectacle so of course you know contribute to the spectacle in any way you want I don't think that's anything wrong with that and if it's directed as at the Democratic Party I think that will be good because they have to be diligent amazed to against the coming crack-up because they're either going to lose to Trump for two straight elections which will cause a huge huge crisis for them I really think that's gonna happen unless everything gets better and we're not in the hell a second term of you know a Great Depression in under under the damn cheeto in chief no that's gonna cause complete breaks or Biden's gonna preside over a austerity he's gonna be the Bruning of America not Matt the German Chancellor who oversaw the austerity that led to the Nazis taking power either way they need to be dealing to my 'zed for their future D legitimization mean I you know I Bernie trapped out I know that it's good to kind of let this stuff go and I I think people freaked getting really excited about Bernie being put back on the ballot in New York it's a little sad it's like just give me this one thing and it's like that's all you're getting though and that's pretty it's it should be sad it should be a sad moment but I think we gotta like move past Bernie because he served his purpose he is marshaled certain forces he has gotten people arrayed along a certain politics and now that's them to move forward it's on us to take up Bernie's gotta watch the skies while we watch the neighborhood but I think that realistically the reason he dropped out is good they were gonna keep killing people at primaries I think they were gonna just be like we're gonna keep killing people at these primaries until you drop out and it's like we're not gonna let you win and he started to feel personally responsible like I'm gonna get these people killed but I keep by staying in because that's what the Democrats think like you might think how could these monsters allow this to happen they blame Bernie you can bring show them all the dead poor workers from Illinois and Florida and Arizona and say how did you let this happen and they say why didn't Bernie drop out why did he make us do that and they would have said that about all of it that's them that's the mind authoritarian mindset the Mathurin Aryans never take any credit for any violence they do because it's the fault of the victim or someone else why did you make this do that let's know that never their fault so Bernie's just like oh I don't want to be reciting what a few be up at night thinking about people dying because I I stayed in the race and that makes him a mensch and I think he is a mensch but that doesn't mean that we should be unrealistic about where we are Lisa V his chances of being president all right if someone's a NEET on quarantine what kind of job that should they do I'd say start at something start at whatever you think you could do and it's just shed of like ambition because that's how you defeat yourself it's like well something that you could get a job doing because like I can't

0:50:57

0:51:58

0:53:2

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

tell you you're not you have to be the specific NEET in question with the specific life experiences to give them certain interests and abilities to concentrate on certain tasks you should just try what looks like it could be okay but you have to shed the idea that it has to conform to like well it's not political enough I'm not changing the world enough by doing it or it's beneath my educational level or something like that which is what made me for years miserable and I know a lot of other people 0:54:3
you need to just start with something you think you might find something enjoyable about and that you could get a job doing and then you see how that treats you but you cannot dismiss things because you don't have it can't be anything that you can't if you just made the decision that you've got to get to work they're like all right I have to leave the house then you cannot make up conditions that require something else so if that's the conditions then the conditions are what you think you might like and what you can get ah Guns Germs and Steel obviously it's not got it's not everything it's not correct but I think it's got a lot of insights and I know that it's something that I've used to put together a lot of my worldview like having read Guns Germs and Steel the Walter Scheible book that I'm reading feels like you really they feel like overlapping like historical observations and they click together 0:55:4 even if details might be wrong in any level it's another like building block it's it's a good book it's worth it's worth engaging with Hobsbawm is great abs ones great but you know ya know he's good his south korea the future I mean maybe for some people you know may be on Elysium Wallenstein world systems you know now that I've now that I'm a like trying to apply you know these like these concepts to the dialectical concepts to history more world system Syria which used to kind of baffle me a little bit I kind of got the contours now seems very intuitive I want to read more 0:56:7 about it I have not heard of the game ultimate general civil war but that sounds cool socialism is always possible socialism is impossible until the last fire burns out because we still have agency the level of socialism will be determined by how much of our material environment has been deemed destroyed I mean socialism could be two people splitting the last can of Kroger beans or a dying fire the level that was up to us so when we say oh we're like yeah we at a certain level we can't challenge capitalism right now but there will always be a difference a change in circumstances that brings with it a change in our material position to power and that that's something we can we can strive to be ready for that's all we can do hone our blade and wait and hone 0:57:10 and wait and then strike socialism is the deep death of the universe yes socialism is it's likely vision of socialism as a social structure is the end state of like that this is this is the flash stage before total imminence before the total the moment when all space and time literally occupy the same area what makes something liberal is its presumption of the individual as an untouched prime mover I would say that's

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

the that's the best definition of liberalism is it started presumption humans as prime movers as rent as opposed to things that are acted upon that would be my definition of liberalism which is what's so funny about combat liberalism everyone's favorite mao text because everything in I want to get everybody and I only get people mad at me and there's only a few minutes left before I sign off but combat liberalism is liberal because it says he's not describing a specific thing a comrade does he's responding a type of thing that people do that can be applied to anybody in any situation if the reasoning is motivated it assumes people are operating from first position instead of in a dialectical relationship hate that hate to piss people off but combate liberalism is liberal because it assumes an unmoved mover it tells people stop doing this instead of changing the material conditions that makes them do the thing it is liberal combat and it's like there's a reason that Mao is so popular in college campuses because those people were the most liberal subjects to ever exist the Boomers they were the first most intensified liberal subjects and so of course Mao is gonna make more sense to them than Marx or Lenin I'm a liberal to some extent yes I'm a liberal and so at the social level of respecting that there are other people who have equal rights as I do but at that point I stop I don't take the next step to say that means that they choose their own decisions as I do know they're socially could texted as I am to them because that isn't that like the idea of being the idea of liberalism to the a that is a found that is before liberalism easily even that's literally to even have a social order that is beyond like a clannish like hive that that has strangers in it basically a social order in which you engage with strangers requires that degree of liberalism but beyond that it buds off into dialectical and individualist at least in the West so yeah combat liberalism is liberal black liberals are gonna get blackmailed pirate by conditions you're not gonna be able to convince them that that they're going to just use every evidence of awfulness to further their author their set ideas blaming it on Trump blaming it on Russia if Trump doesn't work now maybe even blending it on the Chinese some of the liberals are blending with Chinese only exchange in their material conditions and circumstances is going to change the way they apportion blame for their condition so that's another thing where like I can't you can't own your parents on Facebook or people on Twitter into becoming more black pilld because they're too comfortable right now and they're comfortable channeling their discontent that they do have that is mostly symbolic on to trump on to the Republicans they have to have so much more material conditions that they have and the thing is that doesn't mean that you then have to carry out things that make that happen because the worse it gets faster to heart the more likely people are going to react badly to the trauma that is why you can't bring about the collapse you have to work within the existing collapse alright guys I'm done for the day I think this was a good one had fun I'm sorry that the chat is lame as ***** but I have little control over that talk to you guys tomorrow peace and I'd like to talk about the Taiping rebellion maybe tomorrow it's British really interesting someone mentioned it but we forgot but anyway

CUSHVLOG 19. PLAYING THE GAME...OF LIFE

CushVlog 20

---

MaxGettingHeadroom

05.07.20

all right I'm good right oh boy I'm not looking to get top no it's a joke anybody remember hacks Headroom he was a guy hello hello I am speaking as he drove the man the floating head the floating head from your dreams the floating head that has floated in every head Matt Frewer remember them Matt Frewer he was Max Headroom iowa's was a big fan of Matt Matt Frewer I thought he was pretty good hello everyone what's going on with you folks what's going on with the fine I don't know enough about Alfred McCoy to speak one way or the other about it talk about the left 16 trot in the 1960 I've got a knee braided passed coming out today about Upton Sinclair in the 1934 New York governor's race which is genuinely an amazing sort of pre sequel to the harp or a harbinger to the Sanders campaign in a lot of ways and it should be fun to talk about we'll see what you guys think the left is a mess it's a mess folks and I can't believe it oh yeah you know what that's a good idea so I'll tell if people have questions about Sinclair the campaign that they want to talk about after the episode comes out so yeah by all means bring them here I'll be good to be like a reading a little reading serious or a little like a study group or whatever you want to call it so the degree you want to do that I'm vibing with it oh yeah Kierkegaard yeah he was a fellow traveler for sure yeah now the leap of faith I now understand is literally like the engine of all thought yeah no I'm vibing hard on mr. Kierkegaard well done Sauron somebody wants me to consider using a simple up voting system to solicit questions I don't know what that means I don't know I'm afraid I'm scared it's RBG dead or not I mean I probably I think she's probably been dead for a while I think that the DNC budget that hasn't been sent towards killing people in the primary has been spent keeping her alive in like an animatronic State I think she might be a puppet I feel like chicken tonight like chicken tonight oh no don't tell me I'm breathing heavily again don't tell me I'm dying I can't handle it I started thinking I'm Gandolfini in a ***** hotel room in row but I'm gonna pitch forward I mean I'd be okay with that but I'd rather I'd rather have a little bit more time so please dont trigger me that way if we run out of burgers man that's gonna be the real oh boy I've been thinking about this like the degree to which we have pulled back social tensions in this country by rapidly ratcheting down people's quality of life when that's the only thing we have to exchange for the rapidly alienated lives like we have spiritually and materially alienated everyone in this country to a monstrous degree the only thing that is compensated for it is a regime of absolute perfectly imagined convenience it might not be real you might not always have perfect convenience but there is a dream of fully realized convenience and and then people get some percentage of that and it makes them sort of okay with the system as it exists and there's a real chance that this flywheel might be broken and if that's the case there's not gonna be anything holding back just the snapping of these ***** tensions one after the other and it's gonna I predict I predict bad news just even if things stay stable and like a geopolitical sense and the economy technically still exists and you know it's like it's sort of like 2008 but worse but otherwise things are basically stable you're still gonna see things start snapping at the social level because things are gonna get coarser and coarser and one of the things that's going to make that happen is we're probably going to be habituated to be okay with thousands of people dying of coronavirus and us not really caring about it because if we care about it then we can't participate in the economy and then we're back into a collapse which means we're all gonna end up blaming ourselves to some degree for all this death which means we're gonna have to start just to not to think about that we're gonna de humanize the dead which means we're gonna do humanize everyone around us and I think that those those social bonds are gonna start snapping like ***** rigging in a in a sinking pirate ship and you're gonna see some uptick in violence and stuff it could be bad but the thing that might stop that from happening is that the u.s. still is the consumer of last resort for the world economy the u.s. the US economy is the only place where excess demand goes if excess demand doesn't have somewhere to go you have a buildup in the system and at this point it's a world economy and a bill demand that can't be expressed in the economy or a buildup of supply rather a buildup of supply in the economy that cannot be accommodated is genuinely catastrophic you're talking about a world depression so there's every interest in the world to see the US bailed out of this in the short term so they're gonna bail money into us like crazy but we're gonna be pumping blood out of an aorta and the question is at some point the body's gonna unless we patch up the wound the body is gonna start expiring but if it doesn't the good news is we have time I think because they're gonna start pumping in a lot to try to stabilize this thing in that time we can like organize as much as we can to resist it to resist the new lines is there word I don't want to get to do mer because I honestly feel like at every level we have agency we just have to be aware of where we are what we can do we just have to be conscious we just have to be conscious man it's really true and for conscious every Olaf Palme

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

assassination ooh that's an interesting one my gut is that it was boss and my gut it was the South African apartheid era government the ones that blew up Ruth first they were known for espionage they were known for extraterritorial assassinations sort of the African version of Condor and Palme was considered a threat to a lot of interest there but also in the Middle East I know that he was I know Israel but the thing is Israel in South Africa worked hand in glove in the 80s so that could have easily been the pipeline I the new inebriated past today today it will be released 0:9:33
it's about Upton Sinclair's 1934 run for California governor I think it's gonna uh-oh just dropped boo yeah yeah my single is dropping just dropped boom check out my my new smile I'm trying to crown things don't don't try to tell me to talk about Gnosticism because that's the kind of thing that'll get me off the beam I'm trying to stay grounded trying to ground everything and as close to a material observation as possible to stay connected this is all about translation so yeah let's ask things are a little less obscure than that please but I do oh no don't ***** the beam you 0:10:36 must seek the beam you must walk the beam that is your goal in life that whether you know it or not the goal of your life is to the beam is us but we must be aware of oh yes the type II rebellion the tight and rebellion really is really interesting this 0:11:38 is one of the biggest like modern Wars in terms of casualties and number of people involved in it since since the development of gunpowder in the West it was a huge massive conflict as well we're thirty million people died but it's almost never talked about outside of presumably China but I don't know how they even contextualize that presumably as some sort of like peasant precursor to the Chinese communist revolution and therefore they're the good guys in their version are the Taiping and the bad guys are the empire which i think is honestly kind of broadly true and i feel like it would have been better for china in the long run if the taipei and one i feel like the the the king should have ended then or however the hell you say it that was when they should have ended and honestly the reason they didn't end is because of Western intervention because the Western powers which at that moment were trying to carve up China and we're in the process of fighting the opium wars to export their their their surplus from their mouths from their trade in India to China 0:12:40 and the second India opium war happened in the middle of the ***** rebellion but they eventually provided direct aid to the the cause and that helped sort of push them into victory and I think I think that was a bungle Chiang the Ching ya know that that was but I really think that's another interesting thing about the so it's this incredibly powerful and important event in world history this hinge point and you could kind of think of it as a thing that happened that didn't because you kind of think of everything is determined but then you can stop back and like look at well what could Reason listicle II have happened here that didn't and you're like wow

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

there was a lot of there was a lot of given this we could be much farther along in like progress as a civilization but we could also be much worse case much worse shape you know we don't know but we can see how how the contours of things shape up and that is right one of those like you they almost knocked the Coke machine over and then it knocked back on his heels but then a couple more times and bang it was over but the whole thing started basically because a guy failed his SATs that is what caused the death of 30 million people in mid 19th century China a dude flunked his finals and I don't know there's something very endearing about that because in in that in among the like the peasant class in in in Ching China there was basically no social mobility outside the bureaucracy if you were a member of the landless peasant class especially the Hakka migrants in the south to migrated generations previously from northern climes that had never achieved any sort of claim to land the only way neither getting out of a pretty dreary peasant life is study for the damn Imperial exams to become a bureaucrat because they sure as ***** needed a lot of those so these kids studied and they studied that they studied they study they cram the hell out of it and it was mostly rote recitation of classic Confucian texts it wasn't even like logic problems or anything it was just cramming things directly into your face so that you could regurgitate them in the testing area it was an incredibly friendly rigorous thing it was like one percent pass rate and you could retake it but it cost money and it took a long time between tries and the dude who started the whole thing he gets lost he he failed too many times and he ***** wit he went he basically had a fever he broke into a fever he was in in the kind of a comat coma state for a while and when he came out having read a bunch of Christian pamphlets that had been left at his village by Western missionaries he decided that he had visited Jesus in heaven and discovered that he was his brother and so he launched this peasant rebellion that spread through central China and eventually almost overtook the entire empire and looked like it really honestly should have and then they just kind of made some mistakes they were trenched when they shouldn't have they wait there and then there was the but it's a very interesting story and it really does tell you you know you got to give kids a chance that they can't have to they can't all have to be that dirty you know you got a lot of skateboard and it's interesting because you could kind of evaluate the the process of the of the taipei rebellion and then map it then after the like you look at typing and then you look at what happened after culminating with a communist takeover it's sort of like a refracted version of itself sped up through by technology because what you had with the typing was a a stultified a situation where you had like an excess of landless peasants too many miles not enough land no efficient exchange things were all built up there was no legitimacy to the regime the fact that it was a conqueror regime didn't help certainly

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

that there wasn't Han Chinese who made it up and this a figure comes out using a Western concept this idea of like millenium or christianity to like create a state of urgency to create a people who demand change in the here and now because they're gonna make something spiritual like out of matter which they're getting directly from the West here in the form of important Christianity which then causes the whole thing to erupt and shatter and then like I said forces probably would have eventually resolved with the the Taiping at least taking over a huge chunk of China instead they were defeated with the help of the West and then that rickety old empire that che Empire eventually knocked over by the nationalist rebellion with sun yat-sen but then then basically breaking up into an empire into anarchy because you know you can't just take over that height of power and expect to hold on to it when everything underneath it is destroyed and then if you think about it that the Chinese Communist rebellion is then a sped-up a more successful technological replay of the type pain where you have the same situation you have mass numbers of peasants well more than there are land hugely exploited rural peasantry and then you have this Western idea of communism to rally them to which then turns them into an organized and self-motivated unit too just to attack the rotten status quo which they because it's not like mouse was the genius who thought hey let's get the peasantry involved I was just enough of a person removed from Dogma the dogmatism at the heart of like Soviet what Marxism which at that point was basically a religious dogma on par with like you know the Inquisition's Catholicism he was on he was uninvested enough in communism as a concept to think well so just recognize well we've just got our asses kicked in the cities there is no more working class to organize they've just got massacred by the Nationalists there is this big chunk of landless peasants so why don't we go to them it was just recognizing the reality of where the social pressures were and so then it's like it's Maoism if anything is it's about adaptability you know because it was itself an adaption to the conditions on the ground using Marxism is like the basis it was just a recognition of conditions and that's all we should ever be seeking for is to recognize conditions through the lens of our ideology but not determined entirely by our ideology hopefully by trying to honestly engage with the world somebody asks why is there a tendency towards Ella tree among subaltern resistance groups I honestly think what it is is like you start involving yourself in a left-wing movement you know in a in a in a resistance movement with the hope that you're going to immediately as possible overturn the conditions of your misery because that's what you want you want this thing that sucks to stop but the thing is is that that fight takes time and it might take longer than realistically you could invest in believing things will change and so that means that you either have to give up because you you either give up because you know that it's not worth the

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

additional pain of depriving yourself in the name of you know the revolution or you get more benefit you put all of your emotional investment in the cause itself and so all of your pop all of your emotional energy goes into imagining the pop the the the party the thing you're working towards the thing you're working through as like the the repository of all of your emotional energy and so that means that you get super super strident on details of like ideology because it doesn't attach the real world because the real world sucks in the real world you're doing nothing you're in misery you're eating soup in a safe house in your head though you're fighting it the most deep levels of like historical minutiae that have no connection to reality but that's where all of your emotional energy is because if it isn't I will definitely say that I have never I'll admit that I never really vibed with David Lynch but I should definitely give his films another look someone just said here that he is gril pill and uh even with my limited exposure to his work he is 100% gril fill he is clearly vibing at his own frequency moving with his little friction through the world as possible and I need to respect that by giving him worth more more about focus Yamma who cares if he voted for Reagan what difference does it make did he elect Ronald Reagan Ronald Reagan won in two giant landslides what did David Lynch's two votes for Donald Reagan Ronald Reagan in two elections do to make anyone's life worse how much did his films do to make people's lives better which one are you weighing more heavily where is your emotional energy in the real world or in a fantasy realm where you're sorting people into good and bad and then having them fight each other like your your your GI Joes your your PO gays Monde folks we have a Cheeto in the white house I don't know if you guys are aware of this but there is a god damned it cursed by God himself cursed to live in this world a human mind embodied physically in the crumbling corn starch and corn syrup creation known as a cheeto a disgusting orange globule sitting in our White House and the people's house itself defiled by cheeto dust cheeto dust thus the dust mites the size of frisbees my god we'll never get that color out it'll never be the white house again it will be the orange house it will always the way that it's only the white house because they burned it down in the war of 1812 and we've rebuilt it with white paint it's now that it's now going to be the orange house for all of history because the curse of cheeto resides there the cressid orchards cheeto he defiles my mind he's a damn cheeto folks and I'm those are jury toes by the way you people are putting Doritos in the shed he is not a Dorito I think that I think our Latino friends would say that's racist it's gonna be the orange house do you think we need a big grill a type you know that's what I've been thinking about is that the thing is that's why I was thinking about Jesse Ventura because I honestly don't know how you can like break up the the kind of ossified ideas around the parties anymore I feel like Democrats Bernie needed to run as a Democrat because that's

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

where like the the eyeballs were but like he needed enough people who just are never gonna tune into a democratic a race because they've rightly perceived the Democrats as a scum bag party of capital even if they don't think of it that way so a third party with somebody who is largely known and charismatic and had the importer of like the left but also a pop culture buy-in to get past people's dislike of politics which is what Trump used by the way cuz Trump remember red is a celebrity he didn't run as a rich guy he didn't run as a Republican he ran as a celebrity and you if you could take that energy that spectacle energy with and feed it into some goddamn like actual left.if political infrastructure and some ideology to like buffer it up into a real boy it could be something damn it but I don't know if we have anybody like that like even Jesse Ventura honestly isn't like the perfect vehicle but he's better than a lot of the alternatives and now sadly it doesn't look like we're even gonna get him so once again okay you're on off with the ball the presidential ***** because at the end of the day there's nothing you can do at that level anymore it's gonna be this disgusting nightmare display this these two zombies lashed to the mast of the sinking ship at this point all I want us to baits just give me debates please I want to watch the debates I want to get blitzed out of my mind and watch the debates that's all I want out of this world aliens can destroy the earth the day after the debates I don't care just let me see the dang into debates between sons debate to please for the love of God give me a sons debate that one seems like it might even happen because the thing is is that if a hunter is in any way under the sway of the party like if if Tom Perez has like a body man on him who's keeping him marked up and doped and you know under surveillance and not in trouble which I gotta hope they're trying to do because they got to know he's a wild card if he's under control that he was he's not gonna honestly debate Don Cheney but if he gets wild if he is like off the reservation and he just does a couple bumps or maybe smoke some crack and sees that and he might just on impulse agree to do it like let's do it tomorrow and then knowing Don jr. they're like yes do it on ***** periscope or something or take top before the DNC even knows he's doing it that's the only way it's gonna happen and it's a possibility and boy I don't know I think I've been good enough lately that I want to get it but also if it doesn't happen but it was not meant to be but somewhere just come for yourself knowing that in some universe the sons debate does happen and it's amazing a cursed cheeto gentleman invading our old White House the Oval Office orange the resolute desk buried under avalanche if people aren't gonna be able to get meat this shit's gonna get violent I think you I mean you know how meat fueled this country is that deaths got to go somewhere you eat all that death it's got to go somewhere and if it's like built up and you can't keep murdering with your mouth you're gonna murder with something else that's energies got to go all that pent up murder all that pent up aggression all that pent up social anima all that ***** organ is gonna have to go somewhere and if we can't eat burgers and chicky chicky fillets and pork rib sliders and oh boy man it is gonna be a vast expression of kinetic energy there's gonna be some kinetic scenarios I don't know when and I don't know where but Inlet if people don't get meat there's gonna be kinetic scenarios I don't think it's gonna get to that point I think that the Chinese are gonna help synthesize something if brings flows in to maintain America as that needed still and non-replaceable where else you gonna go where else you gonna go you can't impoverish Europe enough to fast enough to make them need all of the extra geegaws that we have to compensate for our alienated labor and everywhere else you don't have developed enough markets to absorb all of that we're the only place so they're gonna try to save us and that might move us along a little bit and stop us from having the worst possible outcome it's all in our hands that's why the grilling is for a reason you're honing your katana whatever it may be to go forward into battle when battle is joined and however that might and manifest itself and the thing is right now we're in one of the most liquid moments in history that I could recall experiencing I think it's got to be number one and so we had a way four points of friction to emerge and I'm waiting with you guys it's it's an incredibly suspenseful moment I feel I feel like it just suspended I feel like I'm in that thing in the remake of Total Recall and they go through the center of the earth and when you go around the middle just what they're floating I feel like we're in there we are grilling we are grilling and chilling you're chilling compound in Montreal I'm thinking about a compound one way or the other and I'll say that I don't know if anybody knows any way to secure perimeter and create some sort of self-sustaining mini ecology that can facilitate some like you know fractal level of a more ideal social coordination some sort of some sort of Walden 3 that's what I'm thinking of that's what I want to build walden 3 I'm kidding no I don't want to do that a medical leader to get out of there Kanye is probably everyone's best bet if you can't get in with Kanye or Jared Leto I think you're in trouble I think with Jared Leto if you're a young woman of a certain size and shape say I think you're probably gonna get a better pet with Leto I think Kanye might be open to a bigger variety of people you're gonna be able you're gonna have to vibe with them though so I hope you build I hope you really liked yeezus I hope you're not just say to your friends that you like Jesus cuz it's gonna be hard to get in if you don't really really show him your enthusiasm for his work and how uh Jared Leto's wall castle that would be pretty cool things move so fast on how would I be would I be Jesse Ventura's VP absolutely are you kidding me that would be the most fun thing to ever happen how how could I ever turn that down I mean that would be a ridiculous choice that it would never happened but of course I would take that that would be

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

amazing how would I even think twice about it I could not think of a more perfect vision more perfect symmetry of of like body and action and ability and enthusiasm I would be embodied fully in that task yes I will be Jesse Ventura's VP another green ticket but as I say I don't think that would be a smart move on their part but I would still say yes because I'm sorry it wouldn't really matter one way or the other I might as well have some fun how many thousands of pages is my manifest are going to be I've tried to keep it short throat no I'mnot there'll be no manifesto I think we're gonna try to write stuff though just to refine ideas like I know I've talked a lot about doing an episode about American Protestantism and sort of how it developed and you know its implications for America's political economy are and I've realized that a good test case to sort of see where at what level of abstraction I can kind of relate this stuff to I'm gonna try to write it out we're gonna try to actually write it instead of doing extemporaneously the way I've done all the other inebriated pasts this one I'm gonna try to write out like Mike Duncan or Patrick Lyman style and hopefully it's good and people find it compelling and if so I'll try probably be trying to write more but I do I think ubi is inevitable like I said if they decide if there is the will and ability to turn the spigot on the only way that that works is if you see a huge huge Keynesian fill priming of the pump like there and it can't be through Public Works and stuff like that because we wouldn't know where to put people because all of those arms are dead all those networks have died isn't it gone necrotic so that means pure dumped into the consumer economy through the through the inflationary vehicle of cash infusion and the thing is is that we've been doing that and that's generally how we but dope that's how we bumped out slowly dumped out of the Great Recession was but it was all at the level of quantitative easing it was all at the level of direct cash into the marketplace at the highest level which of course then gets captured at every level so that by the time it gets to the consumer it's a drizzle I mean it is a trickle down but it is a trickle it is a little piss stream compared to how much money you're talking about how much actual economic capacity of representing so they could just dump a bunch of money into our economy and get us spending again and that'll make it'll still be tough and it's still gonna lead to a lot of ***** unemployment and it's gonna lead to a lot of social disco heejun and like I said I would expect now the violent crime might rise in this context it might be a lagging indicator but I could see it kind of popping up through the social firmament and obviously also all that ***** political cultural tension that you see that's only getting worse for sure but also there could be a big infusion of cash at the level like just bypassing the ***** bank level direct provision that could like stave off the worst for now and leave us in a situation where you know we're talking about we could look back on this at ten years and be like that looked like a real that was a close one but we made it and then you know if we haven't really changed things we're actually gonna see the next big drop then but who's we can't know yet I don't know either it's a mystery it is mystery we are all still trapped in the in the wispy firmament of time and space in their you can't learn if you if coding 0:40:43 is something that makes sense to you that would be a very useful skill to use that could like help you live in this world and make the world a better place I mean like I said I think that we have the capacity with our understanding of computer science now to solve a lot of the computational problems that undergird that challenge the validity or the the feasibility rather of socialist central planning I mean trying to get past those those signal mistranslations in the economy that would obviate the need for the goddamn cash Nexus in the first place so you could lobotomize the beast but it's all has to be through the correct application of computer power and and and sorting and all that stuff nothing I understand because I've always hated that end of the Sunda stick I can't get those symbols the symbols of numbers the 0:41:44 symbols representing the material world I can't get it I'm at a much higher level of abstraction I have one of the most unbalanced brains in human history I'll actually tell you guys something this is an open truth moment this is no ***** I took the GRE which to get into graduate school I was gonna do not with nothing really else to do nothing to know what to do I decided I would go to history you know that's a lot of people in that in that questionable moment you know did it sit like okay we'll go to grad school so I took the GRE and that's it was divided into a math and a language section right and it's all percentiles of the people who took it so like if you get so in order percentile you get that is the high that is the percentage of people who you did better than who took the test and I think I was something like 96 or 97 0:42:45 percentile for the verbal portion which was good enough to get me into a middling graduate program but I swear to God I was something under I was like 10 percentile for math it was like 10 or 12 I mean I can't I mean I'm just saying this to say that I do not understand numbers I do not understand numbers in any way and so I don't understand how computers work but it really does feel like we could figure out a lot of these computing problems if people were if more people were doing that than ***** building apps that helped enslave people to gig economy jobs and just destroy existing job systems by by disrupting local regulatory regimes doing something that's 0:43:48 actually socially productive the thing is even if you have to work a real job you could still work towards that goal just don't uh don't give up too soon don't give up the boat don't give my brain is dumb I have a Brett I have a dumb brain I know I was I'm just telling you guys I'm telling you guys I'm being honest and open so people don't think I'm some sort of ***** because I I just wanted to let you guys know that I'm being honest with all this stuff and I I'm coming from a position of good faith yes my brain is bad it's like a gummed up it's like a gunned up this Oh dr. John Brinkley I referenced him today dr. John Brinkley is a fascinating American huckster he was a guy who he really was like to Nick Riviera of the American West he who is a fraudulent doctor because back then it was accreditation for a medical professional was so thin that you can basically write into a crackerjack box to get a thing that can get you paid to be a doctor somewhere which is pretty amazing when you think about it considering how tightly round in everything is now but so this guy Brinkley with his crackerjack diploma creates a miracle cure for impotence which involves the translation the surgical implantation of goat testes into the male human gonna del sack that's right a goon a ttle sack and that presumably this is what he would tell the hillbillies and plain folk who came to him yeah you're gonna get the in you're gonna get them animal power of that goat and it's gonna get you up now this probably had some sort of effect because obviously a lot of the erectile dysfunction is is psychosomatic so Shirl's number of people even after after that healed up they got hard and they were like damn thank you dr. brinkley but for the most part they would just get you know swollen balls a lot of the dive but anyway he became incredibly popular for this people came all over the world he had a you know he had a place in he had a place in Kansas I'm sorry sorry he had a place in Kansas and he and he where he was he would the balls on out of the people in Kansas I got out I got out you take the balls and he would put them in the sacks of the people and he became incredibly popular and and eventually he got stripped of his ability to do it because people kept dying and it was a wildly you know dangerous thing and then he ran for governor of Kansas and came pretty close he almost won it was really like mr. when mr. burns ran for governor you know because he wanted to stop having to pay taxes I was sort of the same thing he was gonna become governor then changed the rules so that he could practice medicine in Kansas again and he came pretty close but he didn't win and he ended up at a you know I'm having to go to to northern Mexico because they wouldn't allow him to operate the United States and he built a giant array a giant radio array that was so powerful that it reached all the way across the continental United States and people as far away as like Oklahoma from the border could hear it in barbed wire and bedsprings and ***** like that's how powerful it was and funnily enough that radio station became the place where the vast were most people in the country first heard country-western music which was like a regional phenomenon that got national exposure for the first time through his radio station yeah so there you go dr. John Brinkley he spread culture and also horrible horrible go needle infections by sowing goat testicles into human scrotums what are we gonna do with all these goat balls buddy if I knew I would tell you I'm sure we would all tell each other because that's what the world

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

economy's problem is gonna be pretty soon with this huge drop in a dam and in America they're gonna have a bunch of button orders for goat balls and nowhere to put them so that everyone is gonna be wondering where to put the goat balls which is why I think we might get a short-term ubi like a monthly cheque ***** just so that we keep buying the goat balls because I think there might just be enough slack left in the system at this point to stop like runaway collapse which I think I don't think anyone at the real top wants because you know I'm sure they'll be fine with living into their New Zealand bunkers but I think they would rather be able to go skiing and shod and you know going to if they're pretentious enough going to you know the Lincoln Center and seeing the the Opera you know yes if you yes if you've been 0:50:4 to Bangkok oh oh the Commodores feast it Lord Falcons palace is exquisite they like that stuff and they don't want it to go away so presumably that will prevent them from allowing just a free fall into oblivion and the only real way they can do that without empowering workers too much which they do not want at all is just dumping money into the system so yeah I think we might be seeing a sometimes you get too excited with the Alfred Korzybski is a guy that my friend Rob was helping me to today who I think I had heard about he's actually one of the foundational 0:51:7 minds behind neural and linguistic programming but a lot of his uh the stuff that he talked about is very similar to what I've been trying to explain so I feel like he's a useful person like if somebody is you know at the right you know confidence with material if they're trying to figure out what I'm talking about I think course if he gets a lot of it not all of it but he gets a good chunk and he should be I think reading core zimsky and Marx I think are very useful I think that reading or zimsky against Marx could be very useful in making the person doing both understand both of them better so I would say core zips key is an interesting figure that I want to engage with more in the future so shout oh it's John Titor the guy who claimed that he called he was a time traveler is that the guy who said who would write to a to 0:52:9 a forum and claim to be from the future and said that like the country yeah that's funny I never read enough of it but I respect to anybody who would go that deeply into a character that's a great bit and you know what at this point maybe he was real who knows I'm pretty much open to everything I'm kind of thinking time-travel could happen just not the looper type Cherryville or back to the future where like something happens to you in the future here and like your arm getting out ***** off that doesn't happen but you could have time travel sure why not as a treat we could and we just did laundry I've got plenty oh my god chef Ganon that's a blast from the 0:53:20 past I guarantee you what purse alright I'll just do a test no guests no bullshitting just like I'm honestly asking you don't look it up do you know who Jeff Gannon is do you does that ring a bell because I gotta believe most of these kids listening to this

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

or watching this who are a guy would believe it but it's like 20s have no idea Jeff I'm getting nothing nothing what kind of amazing mutant would be on here asking me about Jeff Gannon how old are you dude are you can't be as old as me that seems impossible but there's anyone older than me on here I feel like the oldest man in twitch history oh man Jeff Gannon was a guy who was in the White House press corps during the Bush administration w and he would give these softball questions about how like mr. Rumsfeld the truth America loves the troops more than ever how can they help them express their love to the Troops that kind of thing you know 0:54:22 Gallup polls show that America Bush is actually the smartest person to ever live how does he feel about being such a vision to everybody people eventually kind of said what is his deal and it turned out that he represented like a fake Mooney website and that he also had a side hustle as a male prostitute in DC specializing in like political figures there are some people who think that he was actually Johnny Gosch the Franklin credit ring abducted kid I have no idea if that's true or not it's a funny it's certainly an amusing idea but that's god that's such a blast in the past man just think of you kids think about all the stuff that's gonna blow your mind when you imagine kid kids aren't gonna know anything about including I mean if we make it this far Trump being president like the just the absurdity of that they're not gonna have no actual memory of how are you even gonna communicate it unless we've so far transcended it by then that it won't even be a meaningful thing but if that's 0:55:23 the case I don't think we're gonna be doing anything other than Cormac I'm glad somebody remembers Jeff Gannon I believe his real name was Jeff gukor trilling I saw tonight it's excellent beautiful apparently it's gonna be all stormy tomorrow so probably want to button up but real nice today well that I got to be outside a little bit experience this backyard happy to have a little patch even though it's basically just a little shack here yeah it gives me a little bit of a little Sun otherwise I would probably be vitamin D deficient if I'm not already I've had two doctors look at me when it's my shirt off and say okay I think you need oh yeah the gutter guy that 0:56:34
Jeff Gannon guy definitely was like an associate of Roger stone if you know what I mean you know people who associate with Roger stone like the people he would solicit in that personal ad with him and his wife looking for hyung studs but I love it you know he's better than the man afford mana for was a monster he was awful he was evil Pauly it looked like Roger stone was ethical Pauly this his wife seemed very much into it but he seems like kind of a jerk in other areas I would not be surprised if Roger stone had go testes who the black eagle trust the black halo Trust is a fun esoteric conspiracy theory they says that after World War 2 the u.s. took into its possession a massive amount of gold from the Japanese government or Japanese high officials or something and that it was never declared and it was used as like the basis 0:57:35

CUSHVLOG 20. MAXGETTINGHEADROOM

as a fund for to fund basically every like evil CIA plot that has gone on since World War two to me it's like fun but it also seems beside the point like they had plenty of ways to get money that didn't involve having to have Japanese gold for one thing there was the Nazi gold and the other thing is that there was the post-war drug trade which they immediately got and also there's the black funds that are never accounted for the trillions and trillions of dollars just in the Defense Department a budget alone that our unreconciled and and I'm reconcilable it's just never gonna be resolved it's money that's in a quantum state forever which really does tell you that this idea that we could like run out of money is absurd like the money just went into the when it went into a black hole it didn't even disappear they can't even account for it that's different it's like it's like a it's like a it's floating in space it's it's like it's like a giant the the Pentagon is like a giant Schrodinger a box filled with like twenty trillion Schrodinger bucks that both exist and don't exist at the same time a little bit of clapping I'm not looking at the flyover no thank you I don't even know where it would be I'm not near where the thing is flying I'm way up and I'm in the middle of Brooklyn so I don't think I would even see it so yeah there's plenty of money for them to go around they don't need China they don't need Japanese gold you know it's like who's so pissed how does that determine the outcome of events is what I don't understand so but it's fun they're all fun the gemstone files if anyone knows the gemstone files those are hilarious I got I got into that ***** in high school I got a like a print off on a dot matrix printer of the skeleton key to the gemstone files and I read that ***** about how aristotle onassis was like the global got crime kingpin who assassinated everybody in him and Howard Hughes basically ruled the entirety of the post-war Western economy and pulled the strings of everything using heart attack potions and ***** hearing the people like applauding it's like as long as people know that it's not enough you know as long as people use this moment to remember what their duties are to each other I think it's good you know and it's like it could be either for everyone and I think people end up fighting because they assume they can only be white one way but it's you know it's it's always a degree of both so it's worth tending to the good part rather than yelling at the bad part maybe I don't know perhaps perhaps Virgil's doing okay I talked to him about Rick and Morty I tweeted I texted to him he gave me he's apparently a big fan of the new episode so he's doing all right he can still appreciate good comedy he still has the reckless it IQ to appreciate Rick and Morty and all of its intricacies all right guys it's been an hour good to talk to you I'll see you guys tomorrow we'll delve into some more stuff maybe I'll have a few stuff prepared too we'll do a little less freeform maybe hide it out we'll talk see you guys all right

Let's Hope This Works!

5.10.20

whew Exeter's host mode finally volume off no thank you hello everyone back outdoors beautiful day day apparently it's snowed here yesterday good lord dismal time there was a polar vortex the polar vortex I say and then it ain't in a crazy world we live in without a sell tickets anyway it's much nicer today apparently it's gonna rain tomorrow but then hopefully tonight nicer later in the week which is good I'm 0:1:3 hoping we have at least one more good month or so to eventually just give up on our plea to stay indoors and say ***** it like everyone else is because I've really thought about it and I don't see any other way this goes somebody wanted I mean something could change you know we could have a huge rupture this in the circumstances but man the way it's looking now it really looks like they're just gonna say ***** it and they're not even gonna say it it's the things they're just gonna let it happen they're gonna go oh the doors are open oh you guys oh geez these these states that they're up and now oh well you know if you wanna I mean we're not gonna be doing anything just so you guys know there's no point to your quarantine and that's the real thing that's gonna kill it is eventually people are gonna realize that this whole stay indoors for everyone else you know London during the Blitz solidarity thing 0:2:5 we're doing clapping and all that it was all predicated on buying time to have a way to go back to normal that incorporated the risk of the disease and a way to keep it from spreading too far and that would have required doing something like what South Korea is doing or whatever and the thing is that we have done nothing they have done nothing but cover each other's asses because it's all bunch of absolute crook crooked incompetent offs it's the biggest collection of boasts we've ever had in a government true clown ours all of them are just trying to like and all those four cabinet meetings for Corona you know they're actually doing they're all selling each other multi-level marketing ***** like one of them is buying those those Mormon yoga pants and the other one is selling like timeshares or something it's absolute criminality everyone's got their hand out and nobody knows anything and most of them are genuinely loyal to Trump at least in the sense that they don't want to piss 0:3:6 him off because they know that he could turn on them at any moment which means

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

that even though they know he's a ***** when he says things like don't test people early on they do it because they don't him to get mad and now we're in a situation where there's we just ***** around the whole time all we did was dick around and then slowly and surely because everyone was miserable and there was nothing to do and we don't have any other way of expressing misery in this culture oh if you came a culture war issue and now staying in is for libs and Cox or slash responsible reality based community members and going outside is for you know Patriots slash cuts and that's that's the battle lines now so like today they're opening up some restaurant in Colorado and it's all full and people are high and people are mad at those people but I mean yes they're being very responsible they're very being very selfish but you're also they're also operating in a context where their sacrifice is just not supposed to mean anything where there is no part of a plan that it plays it's just delaying the inevitable so people are just eventually because they got to go to work or because they just can't stay inside they're gonna make the choice the selfish individual choice to come out and then more are and more are and what we're only thing we're gonna end up doing to deal with it is normalize dying of Corona as a thing that happens now as a thing that's just what are those things just one of those things that happens to you like a zombie apocalypse but like we get the zombies down to a level where you know there's like a five percent chance when you go out that the zombies gonna bite you so I think that's gonna be it and the only real question is gonna be whether the system can actually absorb all the sick people and whether people enough of them make the plunge to get the economy going again and those are questions I'm not quite sure of it a lot of it has to do with how the virus response to weather how how it mutates you know how it's when it starts hitting populations or you know haven't really experienced it yet I don't really have any kind of plan for it I don't know I have no idea but I would say that it is likely that we do some sort of we we scale up medical facilities in a very fast way not as fast as China of course but in a fast enough way to facilitate excess capacity from you know 911 every day worth of people dying from Corona and of course thousands and thousands more getting sick enough to know have to go to the hospital and so we have more facilities to an extent so it's not completely you know wrenches in the gears and it can't function anymore but then a lot of triage and we just actually have ***** death panels they just full-on Republicans of course the guys who called Obamacare death panels are now going to actually administer legit death panels Eric Trump is gonna be a member of a three-judge committee with two of his sorority fraternity brothers who buried a sex worker with in college they're going to decide whether your grandmother gets a ventilator or not or whether you get one actually depending on how much you contribute to society and there's gonna be all these wonderful metrics we can get from all these

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

tech companies that have been basically hoovering up every piece of data in our lives until now to use to determine who's naughty and who's nice and then that becomes another way to to condition people because now another reason to stay on the beam is to make sure you get access to health care because you could get sick at any minute now and of course most of our attention and anger is gonna go towards our fellow citizens like when this thing when the dam blows and weren't a new normal we're just like thousands of dad's death dead people is assumed you know we're not just gonna blow it off we're not just gonna completely normalize it we're gonna have a lot of excess alienation just horror that is gonna have to be expressed and it's gonna be expressed mostly who we blame and that's gonna be like the Chinese a lot of the Democratic governors are gonna get a lot of anger from conservatives and the libs are gonna be really really mad at Trump of course and the stupid idiot people who disobeyed orders to stay in and wouldn't wear masks and stuff and don't watch Colbert so they don't know what they're supposed to think about things and then that's where the energy is gonna go and that's why I think Biden winning could honestly man if this recovery is this if this depression is as bad as it seems and Biden is in there like I said James Buchanan and I think that becomes more and more true every day it feels like because that's gonna be a lot of social boxed that's gonna be a lot of anger that's gonna be a lot of confusion that's gonna be honestly literally just a corseting of the culture because we're gonna be that much closer to death around us it's gonna be less taboo we're gonna care less we got a lot of guns and the idea of this you know sanam Buhl n't mummy democrat presiding over you know a new normal of of just course and economically depressed society it's not good it's not fertile ground for just historically that hasn't been fertile whereas if trump's president and this is going on there's a it's basically gonna be a question of whether he's able to export enough blame to like china which he would require to basically go to war with china to really fulfill the amount of blame they'd have to take for this to avoid him or he would actually maybe get a point where he's alienated a significant chunk of people not necessarily his base who love him but people who don't think politically and now have politics in their face in the form of you know becoming a in surfing essential worker or kept in their homes or have loved ones die or be refused access to health care there's gonna be enough of a you know a trail of bloody v fingerprints that him in charge while this whole thing is the whole horror of this thing of sinking in it could really create like a a positive polarization and and well yeah i Biden in there is because I don't know how you get anything other than like some half-assed attempt at like a secession movement at least depending once again about how bad the bad the economy gets I did see whoa boy I saw Trump I saw Alec Baldwin drink the bleach and man I I said this on Twitter but you know I when I watch Saturday

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

Night Live people say how can you watch it it's because it's fine it's fun you know I'm gonna be doing so I'm gonna be on my phone anyway why not be on my phone and find out what my friends had said SNL are up to sometimes I'm surprised by a delightful sketch that I wouldn't have seen otherwise and then think when things are bad that are usually bad at an interesting or baroque way and you're like wow they really are ***** this up in a very specific fashion and you can find it tease it out it's fun you can engage with it never sad never made me sad because one it's a 40 year old show but also it was never that good to begin with it's a lot of it as people suffusing nostalgia for their childhood version of the show that's why they they always are so harsh on the neon the current program so you suck whatever but man these zoom ones the zoom ones are just sold destroyed just seeing what like we're willing to put up with already in terms of just cramming all of our anxiety into the most anodyne brain-dead packaging to just defuse all sense of urgency or even understanding of our own life conditions in just like this this tesseract of banality but to do that with everyone in their homes just drawing attention to how absurd this is it's like a ***** ionesco playing and it's very depressing it's actually sad as I said that like the earnest like kind of like like panic behind the eyes of the performers who are recording these in their homes and doing zoom calls you can see this glint and it really does feel like it's videos that somebody a terminally ill person would get make for their kids so that they'll remember them by I was like I hate kids I'm gonna do it for some funny sketches so you can remember me after I'm gone you know that's that's the kind of vibe as the kids say that these things have and it's brutally depressing kyle mooney stuff is still decent because he's a video guy originally but uh I mean I'm sure Sandburg also would have done well in this Pete Davidson reminding everyone that he is one of the most cosmically talentless creeps to ever appear on the show or in popular culture I mean I am just baffled that that I mean this is Marshall also brought on by that mind-blowing trailer for his movie that looks like No thank you I would rather watch the Collateral Murder video for 90 and he says and now his doing on the on the zoom SNL's as he's rapping he's doing like self written raps about having to stay home with his mom it's like that's the one where you do feel like things have gotten worse because you know there's like Davidson is the role that has in previous generations in the show but filled by Jimmy Fallon Adam Sandler sort of like the unique figure who has like a talent that's like orthogonal sort of to the SNL but also intersecting you know and usually has a has a guitar or some sort of musical part of their deal and so he's like in that tradition he's a more famous version because he's had famous girlfriends and he has like you know mental health freak outs in public but he's just like the net the latest one of those guys and of those guys he is the least talented I mean at least Fallon who is of course not nearly as talented

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

as Adam Sandler was at least Fallon has like a geniality even if it's grating Davidson just I wouldn't want to sit next to him on a bus a little watch him for 90 minutes Oh getting creep stop thinking about and yeah like Fallon also could play guitar you know his stuff wasn't as good as Sandler's cuz Sanders was the originator oh man can you imagine one trade man get ahold of coronavirus holy crap I mean I can't wait to see it's gonna be funny let's see what's gonna happen Stan's dad is gonna get really obsessed with like a I'm Hamming or something something about like being inside all the time and then Cartman of course is going to be a militant open reopen guy and then that'll be it it'll be funny I already I already wrote it it's done Kenny will drink bleach and die done yeah there you know Stan's dad hasn't only found something like that zoom messaging yeah you get it already apparently that's all that's in production in Hollywood right now is animated shows so if anybody's got a pitch for a sitcom or something they're turning it into an animated version of itself which means that the whole thing of animated shows becoming just more you know like literal-minded therapy sessions for the writers it's only gonna get more explicit so I'll get I do like cricket party though I'm saying it's a very clever show you have to be very intelligent to understand the jokes and I actually like solar opposites as well it's like diet Rick and Morty it's like Rick and Morty with half the calories yeah that's the other thing is that like Pete Davidson because he is like this is you know you know he's like he's basically SNL's version of a soundcloud rapper and his whole vibe is that like sand out nihilistic you know on the edge of mental a little hysteria at any moment thing I mean he got a ***** tattoo of Hillary Clinton for God's sakes it makes it hard it makes me feel bad for him but at the same time she is one of the most least appealing people they've ever had on the show I'm trying to think of who else is out there really young Robert Downey jr. Obama gay guys it's Obama gay man you guys remember when they were talking about how Obama ***** up the swine flu and how that was way bigger deal than this and how everyone needs to talk more about the swine flu and how that was the real bungle I don't hear that anymore they don't talk about that anymore which really makes you wonder how far ooh is there a possibility of someone like Caesar or Napoleon rising from the military especially in case they take over ooh boy that's interesting that's an interesting question uh I because I've thought a lot about this because I've thought a lot of what the real countervailing forces at play here are because obviously the working class is largely not a player in any of the scenes of global the global proletariat peasantry or global Thierry it has no real say on anything in the United States specifically you've got a political class that is largely incompetent placeholders who are there in the names of corporate interests some of which are domestic some international southern cotton yeah all of them in some degree of competition and conflict with one another but with one general you know interest they share a lot of the same interests as the ruling class in and they are looking to extract as much money for this thing as possible because they're riding the engine of capitalism as it just drills out the last bits of ***** from the center of the earth and turns it into beanie babies so they are riding this thing to the end that's it their main interest is whatever they can take from this and if the whole thing breaks apart that's fine because up to to not break apart would require undermining the the profit engine which is more important than 0:18:31 anything and that's when you hit the self-destruct button that's when you get what Marx called in the manifesto the common ruin of the contending classes which is the end of a unsuccessful class war but the thing is is that the United States also has a state structure you know politicians in it don't really have very much power or you know popular legitimacy but there are these function deep state functions that have significant like logistical and infrastructural power one of the biggest one is the US military I mean there is a direct connection between you know the impoverishment of the American welfare state relative in Europe and our military budget I mean those things are connected the reason that the Europeans built you know public housing and national healthcare services after World War - is that we were the ones who built all the bombs and all the nooks and and and and protected the free world they were kind of got they got off of that because they had to make sure that their 0:19:33 working class wasn't swayed by communism which was right there across the Erica we didn't have that and so instead we were the Arsenal we had we had military Keynesianism all stimulus basically through military spending and that is created in the world's largest like military infrastructure the largest military power the world has ever known and then even if you have like a real infrastructure and logistics networks they're pretty durable and networks within the US military that are gonna be able to withstand that and they have high-speed core unit cohesion all that stuff they have they have a task and purpose all that but the thing is they don't have anything like a a come out like a United commander like there's no there's nobody like because as I've talked about on this show before that has been a bunch of idiots like we did we've created a perfect mediocrity out of the fake meritocracy we have 0:20:35 because meritocracy and Chris Hayes of all people has talked about this well the whole twilit elites thing is that over time what meritocracy just reproduces inherited wealth because the meritocratic seed on their own merits then create conditions so that their kids can do as well or better than better than them which means that they because they get all the things you know all the all the edges smooth for them they do and but then they don't have the competence that their parents did because they didn't get there themselves and then they just do it to the next generation who has even less connection to actual competence and we're like four or five generations

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

deep into that I mean the Trump family is a great example you got the hardscrabble grandpa comes from Germany and becomes like a what he owned a bordello in the Yukon and then Kate got bought real estate in New York like a real like a 9r and here then the Sun takes advantage of you know a bunch of government programs to become a essentially a middleman between you know the New Deal state and the city of New York just a functionary essentially and that his son even less talented even less involved with directly with making the well and that's exact same thing has happened in the military because these guys rise our military goals are becoming have become over the year so confused listless contradictory and it's suffused with failure because every mission that they've given has been a failure I mean what is our record in the 21st century it's dog ***** and so West Point and the officer corps reproduces just institutional mediocrity so this guy's at the top there is I highly doubt that there is a Napoleon amongst them I highly doubt that I mean maybe at the mid level you'll have some like energetic officers which was the case you know with the Free Officers movements in the Middle East and in Africa the question is whether they would be able to coordinate and you know essentially behead two senior senior authority but one way or another when they start just really stripping down the social order of everything to take it private to create like a network of serves snow crash libertarian AOS Oasis's there will be an institutional interest by the US military separate from capitalism which it serves broadly to maintain that system and that will be the point where maybe all of these you know these these social or political structural things you know like Constitution and that ***** that's maybe when they finally get broken but I don't know but then of course there's always the more likely scenario seems to me given America's size is more of a spiral outward rather than a concentration in word but once again the big inputs that have to be put in here too haven't been put in yet are how bad the virus is how able are we able to maintain you know resilient supply chains how much are we able to get money into people's hands to restart the economic engine those are all questions that have yet to be answered it is as Shaun Moorhead on Twitter called it the time in history known generally as the cool zone if you have a crisis of democratic legitimacy economic viability and public health intersecting in a time of rapidly and exponentially increasingly changing climate that's the cool only cool things happen in times like that generally from the point of view of reading about them of course you know not necessarily living through but we'll see but the thing is like Napoleon you know it was able to rise through the military because the revolution happened you know there was an actual class-based rebellion against the HR regime he didn't act first he had to be like his path the power had to be legitimized by changes in you know values one of which replacing blood right with some kind of early version of meritocracy

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

which is the whole idea of bonapartism when a partisan reproduces the you know the hierarchical nature of monarchical government but instead of allowing it to be you know a fair inherited by the the oldest and you know most soft and unaccomplished people on earth it is a new and vigorous a new and vigorous hierarchy where the people have claimed those roles by their intelligence and ability but of course you can see even here the way that that never is what works because Napoleon the ***** avatar of liberal meritocracy the guy who basically invented the concept you know like the Napoleonic codes and his social Civic and social reforms were all about abolishing the the Society of orders and replacing it with a new hierarchy because it was not not in hierarchical but a new hierarchy based on talent this is this is the ideological underpinning of liberal democratic capitalism that's what he was he was but what did he do in terms of governance not only did he make himself emperor when he conquered other countries he made his relatives and high marshals their new monarchs as like a tribute system seeding a new royalty across Europe that would have that would then be meritocratic but the goal there but I believe Napoleon's thought is there yes you know we did we deserve it which means if we ever lose it it'll be our fault and I just didn't realize how fast and how dramatically that impact can be felt when you're living in an interconnected time well that moves at such speed as this one that requires such informational awareness and such speed of action and such such basically the opposite of everything we've allowed to accumulate in our gunked-up social and I am wondering what happens if RBG dies by November I kind of think she's might already be dead I would not be surprised if the the Google DNC has played a little weekend at Bader's here because you know it's a high-stake ***** and they know that I mean my god if she dies before November where is their stick to get anyone to vote for Biden you know because presumably that would be I mean if he nominated somebody it would be it would be approved almost immediately right like unless it was right before the election she'd be replaced almost instantly like they'd steamroller like McConnell would pull every lever he has to instantly do that and then wouldn't that kind of undercut the argument for why you need to vote for Biden because like even now Supreme Court gone goof gaiter Bader Ginsburg she is a damn goof I can't think of another a better example of liberal hubris than her conviction that she could hang around even though she was in her 80s and beset by maladies during Obama's term because Democrats we're never gonna lose the presidency again what difference does it make Wow Wow well that but as I've said things like the Supreme Court if we're gonna really change anything if we're really gonna like not let ourselves get turned into bezos you know bug creatures by the aftermath of this thing like just get plugged into an actual matrix of human exploitation where we were given the bare substance of Soyent and and a bare minimum of entertainment visa the kwibi shown directly on the inside of our eyelids then it's not gonna because somebody got became president and nominated a liberal justice to the Supreme Court or you want a Supreme Court case the Supreme Court is going to be quite secondary to any any situation like that but it's not necessarily means it's gonna be a legitimate process somehow it'll just be a conditions will not 0:29:52 allow like for this the maintenance of the system itself will not allow its constituent parts to maintain their current order that's a good point about the fundraising I think the art BG shed is really for the UH for the rooms who cut the checks man can you imagine giving money to the Democratic Party that ooh the most cooked thing imaginable do you think we ever passed Medicare for all see that's another one like the court thing where I think we might end up some version of an actual humane health care system I don't think it's gonna be because something passes the House and Senate is ratified by the President and then passes muster with a the Supreme Court I just don't see that happening but I also don't see that as an it as 0:30:55 a circumstance that will that's enviable I mean one thing that might ease it along is the fact that the ***** health care industry it's not this is Kovac thing is ***** with it I mean this is this it's not they're not just making money off of this thing it's actually it's in especially if we've just decided we're gonna let people die man that's gonna be a huge toll that I oh man a Nancy Pelosi so I've talked about out they ***** this bat so badly that we're all now in a situation where people have just shrugged their shoulders internally and accepted that they're just going to be okay 0:31:56 with a lot of people dying and then end up just you know venting all that feeling on each other you know in in in violence's and hostilities small and big the reason that's happening is because they'd ***** just ***** around for eight weeks instead of using the time people stayed home to change anything like create any kind of system for contact and trace or maybe create alternative systems for providing food or whatever suspending the economy that kind of stuff suspending rent doing things like that and obviously yeah Republicans very bad at everything but like and I'm not even saying Democrats because there were Democrats who actually had things that would have made a difference and could have been points of argument and points of differentiation with the Republicans and Nancy Pelosi intentionally refused to allow any of them to appear in any kind of bill that could be voted on up or down she 0:32:57 essentially refused to put anything out and allowed McConnell in the Senate to write the bills and pass them first and then she would send the already ratified version to the house I think her argument probably would be well since they're not gonna pass anything they don't want to and they have control then I it's wasting time to do anything other than pass what they've already passed because we're not gonna get it through any other way but of course that ignores the fact that there were real

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

differences out there that could have been a in some way exemplified and maybe pressure could have been a brought to bear and there was no pressure for anyone to get their act together because Nancy Pelosi wasn't applying it on purpose because she was too blinkered in her understanding of you know what the what the moment called for to actually grasp the what's what was going on and like the reason that there's no that if Trump does somehow lose this election or like loses the support of his of his diehards if the if the massive profundity of this failure that he and it is I mean it's jaw-dropping the number of people who he's directly responsible for killing is gonna be astronomical by the end of this he's gonna be in George W Bush territory maybe and maybe we will banish him but do you think Nancy Pelosi if you know she eats enough cord blood and adrenochrome if she keeps running for that seat do you think they'll ever turf her out in her wealthy enclave in San Francisco filled with very very high information voters you can't say that they don't know what's going on you can't say they're brainwashed by Fox News and the and what they're and they're signing off on it they think it's fine they think it's cool really why pretending that there is something to discuss okay so that's a good question if you guys know that everything is ***** and it's all just the oligarchs then why don't you just talk about that well that's another one of those things where you heighten the degree of abstraction from like your grasp to the point that it just creates more anxiety and it freaks you out more and worst of all it leaves you really with nothing to say because what are you supposed to say yes they're trying to try to grind us into the ***** paste they're using this they're using the excuse of this to guarantee that there is no socialist turn in toward it in the face of disaster which they generally has been traditionally the things in history that have led to long term and significant drops and inequality within and within cultures are massive wars significant weather events that lead to pandemics and disease I mean the Middle Ages were turned into the modern era essentially by the Black Death the Black Death is the engine of modernity that's where it started that's where the accumulated silt of the post-roman order was sort of flushed out of the carburetor and I think our global bourgeois is aware of that phenomenon and is dead set on using the fact that they have accumulated not only more capital than any other ruling class in history but more powerful capital in the terms of more abstracted and technological capital that can be that could that multiplies their actual force vastly beyond their number or even their and they're thinking we're gonna be the ones that did not do that we're gonna be the first ruling class to survive intact with it when the system collapses and of course that still be even if they fail at maintaining the system they will still in some instances succeed because you know the the the old the new aristocracy that rose and that rises slowly but surely out of all these great leveling events a lot of it has there a lot of them have their origins as powerful influential successful families before that so you know whatever is built from the ashes of what might fall there's going to be a heavy sprinkling of accumulated wealth from before that's gonna form the toppest let layer of sediment am i disheveled and I Emily tossed why we tossed 0:38:8

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

am i a storm tousled rogue bias term tousled rogue yes somebody's asking about like a Cromwell rather than a Napoleon considering the religion will be more prevalent as atomo as an motivator than they was in the last one that's a good point I mean half the guys in charge of the military who are up there are complete millenia nutjobs I mean they're they're all like that dude who got fired for mouthing off about how his god was bigger than you know the Muslim God and he was gonna go over there and do crusade against them and ***** so but the thing is that's not all half of them are like Petraeus and McChrystal like kind of like they're basically like military joe 0:39:10 scarborough's they're like worldly kind of economically conservative but mostly chill with social issues kind of guys who you know can convivial 'hey hang out with any group of sophisticated because they all they're all have graduate degrees you know like they're not they're not just they're not peasant levies you know there's a lot of them a lot of them go to Ivy League schools you know so there's this there's actually an internal divide within the leadership of the military that mirrors the educational and sophistic divide in America so that's that's a little bit farther down down the path I don't know but it's an interesting x-factor to think about what was the name of that guy wasn't name of that crazy general Boykins you know at the thing about 0:40:12 how James Comey became director of the FBI is an interesting question because he is such an AIF I mean you you you see what he how he talks about himself and it is like a cartoon Boy Scout and you think this has got to be a scam but then you look at what happened to him and how he perfectly botched everything and got owned out of government and then had to like become a become an inspirational poster a slogan writer that's a that's clearly he botched something you know that was not that makes you think it was from a real place that he really does think that way and so how does somebody like that become in charge of the organization that killed MLK for God's sakes and I think it's justice I think in situations like that you just have to assume that there is another guy or woman in the FBI hierarchy who's like the dark version of Comey who does makes the decisions that he doesn't even know have to be made I don't know who that guy is but he's probably he's definitely in there if Comey is the guy who appears to be he am i considered Chinese warlords for 0:41:16
America the warlord period it's a real i mean it's another one that makes sense as a potential historical comparison just because yeah like the idea of a unified hunt out coming out of the US military seems less likely than some sort of regional breakdown yes i mean when you consider that you know those bases are all spread all over the place you know a general jack d ripper situation at any place of a significant size guy in charge of pendleton decides to take over california he probably could so whoever's in charge of camp pendleton could just become like the visit the the Grand Mufti of California tomorrow if he wanted to like the Fort Bragg guy could do that to the Carolina coast and then you've got National Guard which is the X Factor because those guys have a lot of ***** guns and a lot of ***** and they could be nationalized obviously by the President and are and you are used like for military purposes and overseas but you know the Command Authority there's to the States ooh boy it's just a very once again I think the people who who this are right in that a lot of it is just sort of a kind of honestly bad taste wish wish casting for some kind of you know redemption from this arc of of just the worse but you know us never changing us allowing things to get worse but just slowly and slowly worse and never changing anything and just imagining someday there's gonna be a reckoning somehow so I'm gonna crack up and we're gonna get to see it you know there's a certain degree of that that's part of it and that's why you've got to remember that this is all dependent on the economy basically cratering to a degree that I just don't think is gonna happen I think that there is enough investment at the top level in maintaining for the near term some sort of legitimacy and popular government that they're gonna they're gonna bail us out to the extent they have to and on their own terms you know so we're all gonna be super surveilled we're all gonna have to watch a like 30-second ad before we can piss in our own bathrooms you know we're all gonna work in there tubes and ***** we're all gonna eat there whatever paste that they you know sell us without asking what it is and it'll be more the same but just more intensified and faster and worse and more brutalizing because we know the human cost that we are all involved with and are all participating in and that's the real gross part is that when people just start staggering back out pretty soon they're already doing it and the waves of bodies start piling up and we just normalize it we're all just gonna feel like it's our own fault and we're gonna blame each other the libs are gonna blame the the Conservatives who wanted to own everybody by going out in public the Conservatives will blame the Chinese so they'll probably be some sort of like a mini pogroms going on at like PF Changs and ***** in the suburbs and it's just because we have will have all this feeling of horror in order to put it because we just refused to not internalize that a personal or like I mean people talk about people talk about you know in terms of the military what about private contractors those guys are big deal it's gonna be significant for us but like right now I don't think there's a private contractor in the world who could stand toe-to-toe with like the military maybe I'm wrong about that there could be some capacities I'm unaware of it would not be surprised if that was the case but for the most part I think those I mean those guys

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

guys dude went into Venezuela were ***** were you know defense contractor they were private military contractors I keep doing this today I'm doing the finger quotes I remember the thing where Chris Farley he would do him so fast that he flew but it broke because he was fat it was a good one that's what he said he goes I'm fat I'm is everything worse 25 years worse than fighters ago is to just feel that way I think it honestly is just because we're 25 years closer to you know resource capacity hitting environmental feedback and all that you know and we have not really made a lot of progress except in a negative way becoming more socially atomized more alienated from each other and from labor and less though conscious of it and able to organize 0:46:24 against it which is what's not supposed to happen in Marxism that's the one thing that's not supposed to happen is that increased misery is supposed to directly lead to corresponding working class solidarity net and mobilizing and that is that doesn't happen because the Specht we've been we've been overly symbolized we got over symbols we created a level of abstraction in politics and in culture that just and we have a degree of wealth to distribute in to kind of buy off working-class anger and and put all of that see because the the opening of markets around the world gave like the Western proletariat an offer that the working-class wasn't supposed to get in traditional Marxism I think Marx can have understood this could happen but you know he didn't see it happen as much Lenin talked more about it you can provide 0:47:25 some planet some relinquishment of the of the conditions of pain and suffering by giving more money giving more recognition of the unions and more union control because you're able to pass off that exploitation to other workers elsewhere and that doesn't ***** with profit and as a result salt of that combat those twin motions the culture becoming abstracted and the and essentially diffusing Americans social consciousness you want to call it spirit whatever you want to call it like like that sense of emptiness that we all know to be the modern condition it accelerated with that that wealth that we have because of the free real estate because of the free refills because of the traditions just specific nature of what capital accumulation in America we're all external crises could be resolved through expansion and now 0:48:30 we've reached a point where those inputs are gone so now you know as I've stirred the garage is filling with carbon monoxide but we have not had but nothing has reversed the social trend in fact the social trend has only been vastly exacerbated by technology and by the internet and by the culture that it creates and now we have it replicated in the physical space by separation through quarantine it's it's like every every pathology is reinforcing in a different level and then pushing down and reinforcing on one another but as I said that pressure is gonna create change and we just have to be ready when change begins because this is the fluid motion right now we are yeah we're at that stage in an earthquake when the friction is so intense 0:49:33

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

that the ground actually liquefies it becomes essentially a liquid and that's where we and that is why because we don't know the source of our pain and stuff and because we have so thoroughly had that you know pain identified with quenching through consumption there's gonna be a lot of anger as people are not given those things as their degree of access to material pleasures is reduced and there's no spirit there's nothing spiritual to fill the vacuum there's no sense of meaning to fill the vacuum it's just purely hollowed out but that's our task I guess while we whatever we can find whatever way we can rebuild social ties I guess at any level so like if people asked like what's the next step of the drill pill after you know refocusing on the world around you I don't know the answer but the question should be what can I do to rebuild anything like a social network social a sense of social trust at the people around me how can we how could I refill that ***** hollowed-out chocolate Easter Bunny with creamy caramel meaning and and it starts with creating a sense of of communal benefit the idea that you get something by cooperating with your people other people that trusting people instead of approaching everyone with the hunched flinching snarl of the like the reactionary gun Toder actually has a benefit it makes you more relaxed it makes you feel like you have people who can help you in a prop and that only that sense is gonna get people able to check rise to the challenge they're gonna have to believe in it and I don't know what that means I'm sorry I can't say any more because everything is so wildly fluid but when the ground starts settling you got to look around you you're gonna have to we're all gonna have to start looking around ours around us and then agreed that we can do that now we should also do Oh God love yourself and everyone around you goddamnit I guess that's it now Jesus what a difference a couple of years make huh a couple of years failed presidential race global ***** pandemic that's gonna rearrange the face of civilization and some level even if so yes love yourself love everyone around you bite and dropping out I think might very well happen after the nomination because I looked it up and apparently if anybody withdraws after being nominated but before the election the DNC meets to replace them the way they replaced Terry Eagleton with Sargent Shriver in 1972 what that means is Biden the day after the hell the hour after the convention nomination he could say oh I'm sick or I want to spend time with dr. Joe Biden and then they can put in anyone they want they don't have to do any redo of any sorry votes from the convention delegates it's just DNC members or some grouping within there so yeah I think that's a very realistic way that could happen especially since as I've said it doesn't really matter with Biden wants here because he has no independent base of support in the party he is borrowing Obama's because Obama couldn't be on the ballot and that means that if Obama makes the same recognition of reality that he made before Super Tuesday which was if I don't get off my butt

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

we're gonna ***** eat ***** in something that we could win like if like I've said if Trump looked unbeatable if we were sitting still sitting at like one-and-a-half percent unemployment and and the media was all culture war horse ***** and then the the DNC just blew themselves up to nominate Biden I could see them saying ***** it let him take the fall so we're all hands clean and win the next one let it fundraise off Trump for four more years but they really see that they could get it this time but it's not gonna be with Biden but they can't do it now because it's too it's doing the error which the problem is it's a long-ass time till what August that's a long time 0:54:47 that's a lot that's a whole summer that they got to keep him not I mean they don't have to take him out much but they have to keep him in people's public eye he has to be an actual you know alternative to trump for people even if they hate Trump to want to go out and the most boring ending to the virus yes but also honestly I think in the medium term the most destabilizing because the most boring conclusion is is high six figures maybe millions dead and that being normalized and I don't think you can just metabolize that without any ill effect I think it will have significant social pressure especially as the recovery to this economic collapse that's still in the process will be will make 2008's recovery look like you know the recovery after Black 0:55:48 Friday or Black Monday or something in a situation like that all that death is gonna have an effect even if in the short term it's just oh yeah more the same but worse unless of course not as many people die as we're all thinking but considering how many are already dead I don't think that's realistic I mean we're almost we're almost the six figures already I don't think there's a way we're not talking about nearly a million so we're gonna have to really like look at each other and say what were what we're capable of allowing and whoever they replaced biting with is another question 0:56:49 though because that's person that has to have juice in the party because you can't just put in anybody there unless they don't have any unless they have no independent power basin and they're no threat so like a total a total empty suit then you have to have total trust wouldn't be able to actually exercise power I don't know who that would be maybe Cory Booker huh but not famous enough they've got to have mando name recognition and that is why the people who say Hillary Clinton hilariously are you know that's my that's the funny answer that is kind of isn't that honestly the funniest thing that could happen and so I honestly cuz who else is his famous to try to build up Cuomo but honestly man I don't know how you pull that one when he it's the epicenter of not only infections but deaths basically in the world Newsome I don't know if he's gonna be able to get famous enough in the next few months especially since there really is an East Coast bias in media and being in Cal- 0:57:50 ifornia does just doesn't give him the the attention that being an East Coast time does which is what gave Cuomo that pump in the first place even though he's went

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

one of the most incompetent idiots to even come close to this ***** thing one of the worst guys and he's in the high 80s maybe they will just do it maybe they'll overlook it maybe the fact that they're all that he killed all those people isn't gonna matter because - the same way that the mag of people will just say although that's because of China or because of the governors or because of Peter stroszek and the lovely lovely Nellie or and liberals will say it's because of Trump they'll say yeah oh yeah but he couldn't do anything differently could happen but even then I wonder about pomo he does seem like a Clinton he's in the Clinton orbit right so he's a little st. James Democrat as they call him I hope if there is a historical record of this period of American history that you know how there are different factions of different political parties in history there were the Bourbon Democrats were sort of the reactionary Southerners who couldn't who had to be Democrats because you know there was only one party there they could be the they could be the little Epstein they could be the little st. James Democrats Bernie was defeated in 2016 by a coalition of little st. James Democrats so if Cuomo Cuomo is in there then that's probably another victory for for the little st. James will st. James of Kratz I mean working councils I hope so I hope we can get people to work up the level of their job problem is I mean the thing to remember is that even in the Great Depression there was still massive amounts of labour militancy even with so many people out of work so you know the traditions have been lost in a lot of ways but you know the dynamic isn't inherently doomed there are strategic places where labour militancy could you know reassert working-class Prague and it wasn't like realigned politics because I mean if things get bad enough I could honestly see this whole culture war thing really bubble though it could either explode or the bubble could burst if things get bad enough and people get it at a little workplace level it could but we've got to be in the position to make it happen if those conditions are eyes it's just I hate I like coming out and talking to you guys but one thing that just really I wasn't like I always end up feeling like we're just have to come back to just how unstable and everything is and how hard it is to know what's going on and I know that that just feels so satisfying to sit with but I think we all have to sit with it well the way we're sitting with anything else we have to just sit with our or with things moving in slow motion you can kind of see where you are in relation to things closer so I guess you just got to keep your eyes peeled pay attention to stuff not arguments on Twitter hopefully but you know situations as they develop I don't know we're all just throwing spaghetti at the wall here just trying to see what sticks just trying to vibe our way through the our lives on this crazy spinning blue ball somebody wants me to tell them how to help murder and threaten oligarchs know Thank You officer I'm not going to be discussing that today I'm simply doing my twitch stream if you appreciate it if you please be on your way

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

unless you ha Felix this idea of the prisoners as the Bonaparte's well of course they have to be from Illinois our provincial boy will simply not allow the the next great dynasty not to arise from that ridiculous shard of a flatland I mean we'll see how JP JP isn't really asserting himself I mean people say it's doing okay but I'm not hearing a lot about him so you know get your ***** together what does my taking on the Flint charges being dropped I mean it's probably because they pulled strings because they've been pulling the ***** out of a bunch of strings but also because a lot of this whole thing is ***** I mean come on man we all know at some level 1:2:58 that like a lot of the Russia Gate stuff was just made up or like a game of telephone because the whole thing permanent was hinged on something that was never proven in any way that there was a direct connection between Trump at the highest at the level of the candidate and and Russia in any meaningful way but also yeah of course they put their finger on the scale I just hope we stop talking about all that ***** forever I really do I really hope we could just internalize what a failure that was I hope some of the people who like spent any time on it can maybe think for a minute of how wasted that time was everyone who is proud of the fact that they know left partes everyone who yelled at Virgil about how he was too disrespectful to the night idea of Lev partes I want them to be right now I want to find out every one of them and I want to ask them do you know who left Parnas and see how many of them 1:3:59 still remember they're probably all cheat by googling but I bet a lot of them if you said who's left Parnas to them now they wouldn't know the ***** you're talking live Parnas dies of coronavirus no one's gonna know who that was how have you avoided being misanthropic and cynical I think the best way to avoid misanthropy is to is to remember us as I've said that everyone is where they are for reasons outside of their control they have choice you know and they chose to do the things they did but the options they were presented were not theirs and so that should that's just like drain my feelings about them from with venom but if they're doing bad and they're 1:5:2 evil they should be opposed but because they're their condition is provisional that means everyone's is which means people can be better I really think that and I think the proof is in the pudding in terms of human history you know it we would have destroyed ourselves already you know think of those Russians think of like the three different Russians military officers who could have ended our life on earth during the Cold War and chose not to not even knowing really that they weren't dooming their own country to nuclear oblivion the guy who didn't fire on the blockade ships and the Cuban Missile Crisis and of course the guy who didn't sign off on a Lu clear strike when the the blips came over over the radio radar he guessed now that's probably not there and even though everything told him he should he did and those systems 1:6:5 were all designed to be failsafe they assumed that given these conditions the person

CUSHVLOG 21. LET'S HOPE THIS WORKS!

will do acts and they were designed that way and yet when that can't that moment came these guys said no and that means that at some level I think we can all say no and the task before everybody right now is to figure out where that where they can start ha all right guys that was a good time I thought had fun sorry if I was Spacey I haven't eaten yet gonna eat a little bit but I've dinner I'll talk to you guys

CushVlog 22

---

Remember Farmville Is that still a thing

05.11.20

maybe up there this hi guys I think I might go outside actually it was raining earlier but it's been very nice recently and I think it might be more it might be nice enough to go out I don't know I'd have to zip up the old T s that's right good evening 0:1:2
to everyone including those of you who are cursed to game through life let's take a walk let's see what's going on oh yeah that's nice it's very nice out this is nice I'm sorry about the twitch ads but gotta gotta support the brand always with the stripes three stripes going back to the shack jacking it up in the old shack back can I get an Opie I don't know what that means it's had some sort of a gamer reference I don't feel like I can in good conscience make any gamer references sorry I am NOT a pong well I oh I know what people mean when they say oh uh yeah I say hope I guess but it's hard to remember I don't want to fight my neighbor come on guys oh 0:3:20 man what's going on guys I don't know what happened today did anything happen I don't think things nothing happens right anymore is that the rule that we've all established that nothing really happens to the degree that it ever did nothing is ever happening as a discrete incident everything is just happening simultaneously it's not just like a big it's like a big cubic zirconia that you just look through I don't want to play stardew valley because that seems like it's just farmville and I never really liked farmville when it was on Facebook when I yeah I don't know when we're gonna have the gaming mechanism up to Epping running yet but when we do I'll certainly figure something out play some games it's gonna be hard to do those strategy games 0:4:22 because I'm just not very good at them I don't understand how the mechanisms work it's very confusing to me and something happened with Elon Musk like he's going to jail because he won't stop his factory from manufacturing cars that explode and kill people is that the idea it was that he won't stop killing people at his killing people machine factory is that it soo I told you guys he is the Epstein for billionaires he's not a real billionaire he just is a plays a role and it's as a propaganda mechanism to make you faked it like there's anything innovative or useful about the billionaire class shouldn't he take the time that they're making him close the factory to make the cars not explode and kill people I mean wouldn't that be a good thing to do with your time if you were ill on musk then try to keep the place open and kill 0:5:25 your workers yeah I don't know it's gonna go out with that guy if he goes to jail it becomes like a civil rights martyr that'd be very funny and very fitting honestly let's put him on the money who cares cuz I know he's not American what difference does it make he speaks he speaks epic that's the only language we care about in 1640 in Britain which faction of the English Civil War do you joined I mean you kind of got to pick the parliamentarians right you know like as gross as they were it as a bunch of ***** stick-in-the-muds they were of course you know what they did to Ireland and everything but I don't know can you really stick with the landed aristocracy I mean you're literally defending them like last privileges of feudalism I don't know but maybe if they'd won that would have like accelerated England into 0:6:28 I it could have accelerated England into a revolutionary situation remember because like one of the big Mis one of the big weird things about Europe is that the most advanced English the most advanced capitalist country never even had anything close to a revolution didn't even have any big demonstrations even during the the height of them in 1848 and people wonder you know what's the deal there and it's because they had a very very early like proto a revolution that was essentially a proto bourgeois revolution it was like the towns versus the countryside even before those you know divisions had really been deepened by capitalism developing and so it really was like it put them on a footing to absorb the change in the economy more more stable lis than countries that suppressed that sort of emergent energy like France so yeah maybe if the maybe if King maybe of King Charles wins then they 0:7:33 have like an English revolution that really does something other than have a weird you know ten-year interregnum where the guy's the king but not technically and also there's no Christmas but that's the thing is like if I was there I wouldn't have those thoughts you know I wouldn't understand what was happening I would largely my views would be largely dependent on where I stood in terms of like where did I grow up you know I was I was i Anglian you know townsmen was i was i like a fail son of a baron somewhere was I in Ireland that would determine where I would who I would the Scots are those the kind of cheeky guys because they get to act like they're victims of British imperialism even though they were essentially like like co-executor 0:8:36

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

's of imperialism they they like got they got bought out early you know later on they were doing the the hostile takeovers but the Act of Union was was it was just a good old-fashioned buyout it was a you know they got stock and and seats on the board and it was totally amicable and then they got they got stock and so they were as much responsible as anybody else but now they get to act like you know they were there there was victimized as the Irish or god forbid you know India ravenous the movie where Robert Carlyle plays like a Wendigo infused cannibal that's one of those

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

movies that's got a great look and a good cast but just which way does the Upper 0:9:49 Midwest go in the great American crack-up I mean they were smart they would try to get out and get annexed by Canada you know that would be like just immediately join Canada join the Commonwealth yeah then you don't have to like establish independent of political authority you could just immediately be brought under the you know the under the crown and the Canadians would of course I don't think that they would say no to that as much as they might think we're a bunch of oaths and we are but we're very similar to them and that creates a buffer zone with just rich in timber access to ports and deep waters on the much better access to the Mississippi River ya know the smart move there is to join Canada presumably Canada is still around and I think it would be come on it's Canada they're not going anywhere now Ohio is the surbhi of the Midwest Wisconsin is Croatia Michigan is Bosnia 0:10:51 and Minnesota is Montenegro and Indiana Kosovo is like I don't know like Northern Kentucky or like like Pittsburgh some of that's not tech I yeah now I think Minnesota 0:12:1 might be Slovenia I was trying to to own them by the Upper Peninsula you know what Wisconsin should reclaim it anyway no matter what happens just bulldoze that line like Isis did to the sykes-picot barrier between Syria and Iraq get it back get 27 counties in Wisconsin plus 15 counties and Upper Peninsula equals what who is the marshal Tito of the Midwest I think it's gonna be Felix I don't think we've had one yet 0:13:2 I think it's gonna be Felix I think there's gonna be an additional when the breakout happens there's additionally going to be a series of you know intense conflicts between the Midwestern states and I think Felix is going to knit them all together in one is one nation one multi-national Midwestern Federation that will either be closely allied to to the point of self-defense treaty with Canada or maybe even annexed and he could be like a like if is a regional governor-general or something of the new territory I don't know I think it's someone wants to talk about the German peasants war the German peasants war is very interesting because it's what happens when you start giving people ideas basically direct results of the massive cultural ferment caused by 0:14:5 Martin Luther's Protestant movement although funnily enough when Luther found out about it he was vehemently opposed he wrote a big denunciation of the peasants were you know for swearing their oaths and blaspheming God by you know deciding that they didn't want to be slaves of some disgusting depraved margrave's and ***** fridge prince-bishops and ***** but they got put down real hard got down put down real hard all those rebellious Lutheran princes didn't think twice about massacring their Massacre Andrew people there because but the thing is is that you know there was no putting the catch it back in the tube without like the least the establishment of Protestantism is like one of those elements that's you know causal but at some point is caused by just the intense fragmentation the the pull outward centrifugal 0:15:8

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

force of authority in Europe especially as you know the post Black Death proto capitalist economy starts growing the universal Church was gonna be put in crisis there and then the social relationships that capitalism bred were much harder for Catholicism to absorb into their social bloodstream Catholic Protestant countries took to it I think prince-bishops were appointed by whoo this is a good one if you were making a worker's party in the US what animal would it put its logo be that's a nice whimsical question we could have fun with instead of you know thinking about decay and collapse and all that uh so all right let's go first we got the big ones right Republicans that's the elephant thank you Thomas Nast and the donkey is the Democrats I believe that's from Jackson so what else what else could we have now there's the bull moose for the progressives isn't there like a new Whig party that has like a ***** Cthulhu or some twee ***** so if it's working honestly the donkey is such a good one but sadly at this point has been too spoiled by its association with the monstrous Democrats it should be an animal that represents some sort of strength collective ability and will determination I don't know I'm kind of thinking bear finally enough think of the damn bear a Bisons not bad either it's like halfway between an elephant and a donkey as opposed to like a but a buffalo is good because it's a you know it's native bears too though beaver I don't know man there's the whole double entendre you're gonna have to give people are gonna give you the big the business about that is you're gonna have to be like no shut up ants I don't think people want ant society and also ant society is kind of what we're trying to avoid here ant society is what Bezos is trying to impose on us when we're all in our little cubby holes getting our nutrient slurry and our Amazon our lootcrate deliveries to keep us from bees are better but yeah that's - ork there we go yeah that'll be the flag that flies over the Midwestern state house the Midwestern governor's the new Miss Webb Midwestern Governor General's mansion which as much as she Felix loved Chicago it can't be there because it's already too powerful it'll have to be somewhere they would have to make pick up somewhere geographically in the smack dab middle of the Midwest which depending on how it shakes out could mean Oh God Indiana oh I'm sorry I'm sorry Felix you're owned capybaras not bad everyone loves a good capybara but it is technically a rodent I don't know if people really like that idea the Budweiser Clydesdales that's from a how about the Budweiser frogs those guys were cool they drink tout when they drank beer I mean who would you want to have a beer with more than the Budweiser dilly dilly guys dilly dilly see the nooks are one of their interesting questions if there's like a if there is a real centrifugal power struggle in America between regions the nooks and honestly that's the one thing that I think would prevent it from happening honestly more than anything would be an international and the the necessity at the international level to prevent

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

our ridiculously massive nuclear arsenal from just spilling out of a orderly chain of command but I don't know I don't know enough about how they're secured do they even have missile silos anymore those all discus continued I know they don't fly those old the the b-52s anymore like the NORAD thing I know we got a lot of them on the submarines which literally means that they could be it you know under control of that captain oh boy can you imagine if a ***** nuclear sub with some q and on bozo and command of it which you'd guarantee you there's at least one of some guy with a ***** iowa ohio-class sub full of King nukes just decides that he's gonna you know commence the Great Awakening early if Biden becomes president why not let's put it on the I can't wait for more Biden Holograms I think more people need to talk about the reality of Holograms like is we don't know enough about the technological capability for computer-generated imagery to know if Biden's appearances lately are even real and I'm mostly joking but like is there any independent confirmation that he is conscious awake alive other than the something on a screen and I know that a certain you know level that's always the case in this in a spectacle society but come on man come on man he hasn't been seen in public in weeks is he a hologram I would like to see proof and I don't know if it's possible to even provide provide it to the degree that I would believe it if he showed up on my front door I probably think he was a very realistic looking animatronic because that's probably how he would act he did fall asleep while talking to Hillary but maybe that's the thing is that they've introduced the new Biden 2.0 but they can't have him all of a sudden be super on the ball super sharp because people would notice that too he needs to start off sort of at a level base line of incoherence and then slowly they make him sound more legible he's sharper and before a few weeks go by you don't even remember that he was all out to lunch you're like damn pie didn't is sharp you see breakdancing is he doing this shoot dance is he flossing my god is he Devin and he's doing all those things on top of a casket carried by the gun and I gotta say guys as much as it would be funny for them to try to put Hillary in there I think I think they're gonna try to go with Cuomo he's in the same orbit and I think everyone must realize I don't know maybe they don't maybe they don't realize that Hillary can't win maybe they don't realize that she is uh she's damaged goods cuz like at this point I can't like it occurs to me how ***** up a lot of you know your ability to just game anything out at the political level is anymore because when you're trying to evaluate rational actors right in a in a political context you know international relations whatever you assume a baseline of rationality and competence that I don't know if we can at any level so who the ***** knows because it's like well they wouldn't do that because they because of X but they might not know about X they might not have heard it or they might not believe it they might think it's but I would say that the reason because the thing

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

is they could replace Biden after the convention I'm fairly positive of it because I 0:24:41 was reminded of 1972 if any of you guys know 1972 when McArthur I'm sorry when George McGovern got the nomination it was against the party it was very much a Bernie Sanders style insurgency he was not liked by any of the main party powers especially George Meany to see the chairman of the afl-cio and the most important person single party single most important person in the Democratic establishment outside of the you know outside of government and so they tried to ***** him at the convention they tried to sneak Hubert Humphrey who didn't even run in any of the primaries through the or or oh I'm sorry who started halfway through and ran late tried to sneak Humphrey through the prime through the backdoor and they had to scramble to get the nomination and they were so focused on it that they never even really thought about who should be VP until right before they were supposed to go and accept the nomination and so they had to spend hours arguing about it 0:25:42 because nobody wanted it because the whole thing looked like a dog and apparently at one point they wanted to give Ted White they wanted to give it to Teddy Kennedy Teddy Kennedy said no then they wanted to give it to Ted White who is the mayor of Boston and Teddy Kennedy said no I'll ***** that guy I hate him and they ended up going with a guy who had been opposed significantly to McGovern in the primary in fact the guy who had coined the term acid anesthetic and abortion to describe the whole McGovern platform Terry Eagleton but he was a Catholic from Missouri and he was gonna help with those white working-class voters like Biden is supposed to have and then during the campaign almost as soon as they start campaigning it comes out that he not only had been hospitalized for mental illness but he received electroshock treatment which in 1972 is viewed very very badly that's viewed as that is someone who is unstable who can't be anywhere that anywhere near power and eventually after the McGovern campaign initially said they stood behind him and 0:26:43 they work at it they weren't going to give into the gutter politics they eventually asked him to step down he resigned and that was between the primary and that was between the convention and the general and what happened was is that the DNC met and picked a replacement whip in consultation with McGovern and it was Sargent Shriver who was like a Kennedy cousin or something and head of the Peace Corps if Biden said he dropped out because he was sick or something in in September all the DNC has to do is meet and replace him so they have the incentive the thing I'm wondering though is because they have so terrified of opening the doorway to left-wing politics right especially with the scare that Bernie put at them that I kind of wonder if they genuinely don't want to win now obviously we talked about how the Democrats don't want to win in the broad sense if they don't want to be in charge long enough to have to him put in any you know to to propose anything that 0:27:46

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

their donors aren't gonna like but they still have short-term incentives to gain power just for the patronage involved I mean there's a lot of people who want to work in the White House there's a lot of people who want who are Lobby who want to be lobbyists who can connect the White House to industries I mean there's a there those people in the DNC they have a short-term personal interest in seeing a Democrat in the White House because they can make connections they can get jobs in the administration and more importantly they can get jobs after the administration as lobbyists for seven-figure salaries which is the whole point of the thing in the first place it's to get to that point it's to get to the seven-figure lobbying job where you just have lunch with four different you know diffe guys from different awful industries and under secretaries of whatever and congressional staffers and you put it on a card and then that's your that's your date workweek and you make nine million dollars that's the whole point of the being a democratic establishment figurehead or like being anywhere in the in their hierarchy so there's a reason they would want to win 0:28:47

and with Trump presiding over the biggest you know economic crisis anyone's ever seen and in the middle of a a public health crisis that he demonstrably and obviously botched and it's like I mean obviously the 40 to 44 percent who loved Trump will never admit that he ***** this up but I think to any degree that there are voters who aren't really ideologically committed to either party deeply like in a symbolic level of emotional investment I think they're even gonna recognize that he ***** this up I mean it's hard not to look at us and look at us compared to other countries and see that there was a real mistake here people tend to blame the president especially in election years for those kind of things so they know that there's a chance so there's gonna be that short-term desire to get in there just a bit wet your beak you know just to make another notch on the agenda just to make more connections that can be used later for money but man given how bad this is gonna get I kind of wonder 0:29:49

if they're worried that if they get in the pressure from their base to actually do something is gonna be so strong they're not going to be able to pawn off enough of it on the obstreperous Republicans for not allowing us to get anything done and they maybe prefer the option of just letting trump and McConnell do everything and then just throwing their hands up because then that leaves them not vulnerable to you know pressure from the within their own base because you look at the way Pelosi has governed and I said this the other day she has just passed she has taken she has assumed there's no reason to pass anything in the house or even put things up for votes because they won't pass the Senate so we'll just wait for the Senate release to give us things we will criticize them and say they're not good enough for whatever but we'll still just vote on them and that shows that in a massive crisis like that their 0:30:50 instincts are to defer to the Republicans because they're afraid to go out on their own they're afraid to just start riffing because they don't know where you know they don't know where the boundaries are they would rather have the boundaries set for them by another party in power and with the other party in power it takes a lot of the pressure off or below for their own constituents to do something so there could be a real I mean but I think there are a lot of people within the party who say ***** it I want I want to win but I think that there's not sir there's certainly not a unified feeling among the Democrats I would guess at the highest levels about winning this thing which is gonna throw a whole other x-factor into the whole somebody wants to know if there's gonna be another silver corp with dan Bilzerian I certainly hope so but that guy is totally fake right like he didn't even he was he washed out or something of I mean I don't know I don't want to get I don't want to get sanctioned I don't want to be tactically kinetically you know interdicted with but I thought that he was sort of one of those fake seals I want to know where his money comes from I don't think it's his I think it's his family's but I wonder where it comes from I wonder also if he's related in any way to another Armenian gentleman with delusions of grandeur and mysteriously large sources of independent wealth chairman Bob Avakian I am not worried about being swatted on stream I'm not talking loud enough for the police to be called I hope not anyway and I think that I would be asked to be quiet before someone called the SWAT team unless unless there's just this growing hatred that's going to so I'm gonna ask about the Fermi paradox I think that the answer to the Fermi I think there's a certain limit on our ability to access energy that makes the sort of distance traveling impossible I think more likely is interdimensional travel just like interdimensional cable like if those aliens that people are showing on those newly declassified Navy videos and everything that I think there's a hat 50-50 chance that that is all a mark viral marketing scheme to get people excited for the next Angels and Airwaves album or their new angels and air fries series of home appliances I'd say those are more likely interdimensional objects people keep telling me to read those three body problem books I've got to do that I'm gonna pick those up soon I promise how should I talk to my PhD Lib father-in-law that hates Burnie and loves markets I don't know talk about the weather talk about like a movie that you guys watched maybe you don't talking about politics it sounds stressful find something to talk about that's you can and you gotta remember that in Phil's family debates there's a real you know ***** that's gonna prevent you from ever getting a there's a real ***** that's gonna prevent you from commiserating and really agreeing on politics and you know what Dad would ever want to admit that their kid knows more about politics ie life than they did I'm glad someone enjoyed Richard Jewell I really liked that movie and I'm hoping to do an episode with will about it soon now that it's streaming made me think about late-period Eastwood a lot differently I mean I still hate American sniper but and I thought the mule was kind of goofy but I think he's trying for something he McConnell's idea to to allow states to go bankrupt I'm assuming is just a ploy to sort of set the bidding conditions for whatever bailout the states are gonna get because that's not viable like just as a just as allowing this the government of the United States to be a a viable state this the the United States themselves are gonna have to be made solvent to some degree I mean that's literally what caused the Articles of Confederation to break down so it'll just have to be a RiRi foundation like a refoundation of the the balance sheets and the economies of the states and it end budgets but what conditions are that going to be how is that 0:37:4

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

gonna be carried out I mean we're already seeing that they're moving the right wing the guys that saved people in Hell want ice water to are already moving a little bit but you see how little they're moving they're moving in a way to establish that the conditions of eventual agreement are going to be on their terms I mean you saw the leak today about how a AEI and the Hoover Institute are planning ways for people to get stimulus checks draw from their Social Security telling people that if they want to be able to pay their rent for the next month or have food in their house they have to guarantee that they won't be able to pay the rent or have food in their house when they're in their 70s that's psychotic vile but they're setting the stage so that if it's somewhat less awful and dystopian than that then you feel relief and if it is that bad well we didn't don't say we didn't warn you you know you could have stopped us but 0:38:5 nobody did nobody stopped us we'd some it's a free country right it's got elections and yet we're still doing this we're voting for this stuff and it's passing and you're buying it at some yeah it's Rimmer it's reverse mortgage for entitlements and it's a beautiful way to cut them really and though you you undermined them in the long term potentially dramatically and what in the shortness so the in the shorts and how do you pay for it by borrowing more at a time when it's basically free well there's essentially no interest rate on American debt come on that's a small price to pay to destroy that looming Social Democratic skeleton hanging over everything Social Security yeah if someone points out yang is not gonna be able to complain about that 0:39:16 because that motherfucker's whole idea involved taking from entitlements to pay for ubi benefits or preventing people who use a certain amount of disability but you know the thing to remember is this is changing everything this is this is a heart this is a level of hardship that we are not ready for that we have never experienced that I don't know if we have the cultural I honestly don't know if we have the cultural resiliency I guess is the word I'm looking for I don't know if we have the cultural resiliency to handle the kind of stress yeah Pontypool I didn't really like that movie 0:40:18 because it was like what I wanted a zombie movie where's the zombies this is ***** but the idea of of the apocalypse becoming essentially a cause by a mind virus I think

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

is pretty accurate because it seems like we're kind of at that point like how we gonna pay for it ***** like that just purely meaning strip noises that we just reflexively spew as soon as any challenge to the world as it exists is presented like hey maybe things could be less bad for everyone I'm gonna pay for it I'm gonna pay for it just like a honk just not even being produced by your conscious mind just barked up 0:41:22 by the accumulated ideology just nesting in I have not considered doing an erotica calendar I don't think that would be good for anyone I don't think anyone we're gonna have soupy soupy brains brains like soup delicious delicious chowder uh I don't know about RBG if she's alive or not or Biden for that matter if they've perfected hologram technology they all might be gone hell maybe they all got executed as 0:42:23 part of the cue Adama Great Awakening maybe that's true I don't know it's crazy ah oh my god it's wild what's going on ah I see here's the thing I don't think that Felix and I are in disagreement because I'm saying that in the near term he's right it probably will just be more of the same but but worse but the thing is is that that will eventually the worse like the the worsening reaches a concentration level where you get an inflection point and you get a new level of worse and at some level that will be and eventually that new level of worse will be far enough away from where you were that you could look at it and say oh this is a qualitatively different sort of social arrangement and a qualitatively more brutal exploitative and doomed one I'm just saying that that is the trajectory even of the seemingly banal worse the same 0:43:24 but worse same but worse but over time that worse cranks up and we don't know what the timescale is now because we have all of these variables that are somebody wanted to know if Nixon voted for upton sinclair i highly doubt it he was a rock rib republican his entire life actually interestingly enough Jerry Voorhis who was the congressman that Nixon defeated in his first race which catapulted him to Congress when he came back from the war with his navy suit talking to the committee of a hundred and getting them to give him a check he got his start campaigning for epic being an epic organizer in campaigning and running for the state legislature as an epic candidate he lost that race but he ended up later on becoming a state Rep and 0:44:26 then becoming a congressman and was a left-wing one of those like Maury maverick type pinko congressman and Nixon went in there and just read baited the hell out of them right at the perfect moment in history and beat him which is how he also then ascended to the Senate by by red-baiting Helen Gahagan Douglas very misogynistic aliy he famously said that she was pink down to her underwear yeah it was the only way he really know how to win he couldn't really spend positive visions like Reagan it was all just pit viper I did not see Burnie today what was he being interviewed being 0:45:29 ignored again I probably just wanted to ask him about what's the sexiest Pokemon I gotta figure it's one of the ones with female human features right like big lips big

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

sexy lips or something but I don't know what any of the Pokemon look like I'm assuming none of them have like butts or cleavage or anything so so I'm just gonna assume something like that people saying jinx I don't know what that looks like I'll take your word for somebody asks about inflection points in 20th century US history that's a very good question I think I think Reagan's election in 1917 1980 is an important inflection point because yes Carter was the first neoliberal president but but Reagan's election which sort of took all of the same underpinnings that Carter had proposed that we're going to cause short-term and long-term economic pain in the middle of this country that was going to be lasts for generations he was able to repackage with a new cultural form with the aid of the Democrats that made it much much harder to push against and maybe impossible we I mean the cultural detritus the gunk built up around the idea of like the government that started with Reagan when the effects of you know the volcker shock with mass deindustrialization which with the with the undermining and fatal crippling of the labor movement the effects of this are then felt as the results of government the results of some abstract notion of like government policy and then of course social permissiveness social liberalism and so you get this goofy mixed-up order where everything gets worse and people are less likely to blame the source of it so very bad yeah like that entire 70s period starting with the gas crisis which reset it reset everything in American politics because the the free real estate of the of the system at that point which had gone from the land of the 19th century in the 20th century it was fuel like the free real estate that allowed America to become a global Empire spanning country in the 19th century was the ability of any one basically to grab at very very low cost lands by rating them from the natives who had no power to resist after a while effective power to resist anyway and in the 20th century that turd did to the fact that we had basically free energy gasoline was was was a big business but it was also wildly inexpensive and when that variable changed it changed all the whole calculus and all of a sudden there was less profit and the question became where are we gonna get the profit and the answer because there were no workers in the room was from labor as a share of profit and that's been the case ever since but with that being undertaken by Carter so the first effects start kicking in then and then solidified by somebody from a different party who is then popular because of his ability to channel cultural resentments I mean it fatally handicapped for a long time any kind of coherent left-wing opposition to the to the systemic failures of the system so that's a big one it's like from 73 to 80 that's a big one that's like that's the dial snapping I said the in ***** I said the inflection point was the regen getting elected I'm just saying is that the proximate like crisis causing moment that led to that directly was 73 was the somebody wants me to talk about enclosures that's like a big Marxist original sin moment of capitalism when they threw the commoners off the land of England which facilitated the creation of an industrial working class in urban areas who had only their labor to sell because they couldn't subsist on land anymore yeah like that's why America basically had to come into being because the social the social friction caused by those sort of decisions that allowed for the creation of industrial proletariat's they necessitated some sort of address and they couldn't be addressed through the system because it needed it needed to amass as much capital as possible I mean that was its directive so the fact that there was a whole continent for people to go to if they weren't satisfied with their spot in the new order allowed it to develop and intensify in a way that would have been inhibited by political friction if that hadn't happened so it's very hard to imagine like cap the Industrial Revolution capitalism intensifying the way it did it absent the the inputs in terms of raw materials and also the everyone's yelling at me about the inflection point I sent Reagan versus Bush Reagan versus Carter I was just trying to contextualize it ah shucks just trying Jhansi fremont baby the pathfinder do i moisturize my beard i have beard balm I actually somebody has suggested I talk about Robert Moses in an episode I really should just because that part that Neil popper ization we talked about that that lack of a social self in a social space is very much tied into the physical environment that people were born into specifically post-world War two the car based urban environment basically and then the suburbs around them but the front but that's tricky about that stuff is that of course it was directed from above it was directed for the benefit of certain corporate powers but it was also driven by a genuine desire you know people wanted cars I mean of course a lot of that is manufactured but at a certain point you can't tell people that you know we might do a movie this week this midweek I don't know Al Smith is a very interesting figure because he is a very he's a proto he's a proto new dealer like he did he basically carried out a proton a deal as governor of New York and ran as a progressive candidate in 1928 first Catholic to run for president he saw his campaign train actually passed a line of burning crosses put there by clans members in Long Island during the 1928 campaign and he was kind of a he was a mentor to both FDR and Robert Moses but he turned on FDR very bitterly once FDR sort of stepped up and stole the presidency from him in his mind and he ended up becoming a vehement opponent of the New Deal and he was trotted out by Republican business groups the kind of people that he'd fought when he was governor to to just tell people how awful the New Deal was and it was almost entirely because it's his personal sense of aggrievement just pure pettiness the man was nothing if not a bitter petty little dude just pissed off the Lyra shman for the Lower East Side a Matt oh what if we fought what if what if Atlantis rose from the Pacific and it was rich with resources and it was uninhabited what would we do oh my god aah I think that would have to be instant war right like at this point come on it would have to be instant war I mean maybe it would be proxy maybe we would will real it our way back from the nuclear exchange but there would have to be some sort of proxy conflict for that we're not good what we're gonna divide that thing up at the UN maybe not at this moment not with this leadership of world I was on Atlantis was a city and a continent I don't know it's not real as well okay somebody asks why is class consciousness emergent 0:56:6 workers but not in the Guild's the there was a sort of class consciousness in the guild system but it was purely contained within the different crafts like there was a general recognition that the crafts had a head like a position a interest against the apprentices but between each other it was all competitive it was purely contained within the the craft Antarctica and also they were not really being exploited I mean they were the ones they were the Masters so craft but yes like the the the urban crafters who came after the guilds broke up in the early month early modern and industrial era became like the forefront of opposition to the new capitalist system 0:57:8 but mostly long the same way that the guilds used to fight on like trade if the USSR was still around we'd still be going to space that's for sure I mean that's the reason main reason we don't go to space anymore beyond anything else is that what's the point if we can't if doing anything really big it takes too long and costs too much to be invested in because like what what you what president's gonna sign off on like oh you're gonna land on the moon when you know well five presidents from you how much is it gonna cost forget that is that there's no pressure from outside to do it if anything there's pressure from off-site not to do it in the form of hey people do want to go to space we can just let these rich psychos pay for it that we can just let these weird billionaires to fire their bottle rockets at each other into the Pacific Ocean man 0:58:30 if Elon Musk goes to jail that'd be so funny if he tries to flee to space do you think you could ever have had an experience that would make you conventionally religious like Abrahamic Lee you mean I don't think so because I could not the feel like my understanding of the universe has not allow it to be like particularized in that way because I'm I think I'm just too aware of the cultural like matrix that created those interpretations of you know like the great you know the great eternal moment that we are all part of blah blah blah you know it's all obviously filtered through different moments in time and I think those are just a little too bit too specific for me I mean I could see myself like going to church for a moment of peace or something but uh 0:59:31 I could not see myself really investing in a conventional religious belief somebody I believe is blowing a shofar people are and if it's that time of the year it's that time folks so I'm gonna be wrapping it up shortly get a few more questions do I think the US would be better off split into smaller countries I mean it depends right I mean I would say that if that were to happen most of those countries would probably be in

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

CUSHVLOG 22. REMEMBER FARMVILLE IS THAT STILL A THING

worse shape than they are now some of them might be in better shape it might make the rest of the world be in better shape or worse so how it shakes out I believe that 1:0:34 is a cowbell we've got a cowbell and a shofar going on people are going nuts they're loving it and they're practicing there they're practicing their gratitude that's what it is we're all practicing our gratitude here people keep recommending gene **Music playing** yes they're not stopping folks 7:30 why do you got to be different Canada 1:1:36 well you got to go on the half hour you weirdos **Music playing** someone says it sounds like Death Grips I'll take your word for it I don't know who would win in a presidential battle royale easy Lincoln I was a catch wrestler at a time when that usually involved eyeballs getting gouged out of people's faces tall rangy dude come on every other president is a befuddled round man or a did geriatric or her got Jack Kennedy racked with 500 different diseases and maladies kept alive nearly by a dr. 1:2:37 feelgood injecting him with cortisone and cortisol and vicodin every 20 minutes and he was a freaking vampire hunter let's not forget that Teddy Roosevelt that ***** big phony that now what would be funnier would be what about a fight between the living presidents okay now we're talking this is what the last thing we'll talk about before I get done living presidents too bad George HW Bush is gone because that would have been funny watching him just get punted out of that ***** wheelchair so who we got we got ninety five year-old Jimmy Carter who you gotta believe is gonna 1:3:40 get get rinsed pretty quickly uh then he got Clinton who is looking like a cadaver ever since the Enna's bypass and went vegan he's just very frail and you know that adrenochrome supplies are pretty low these days george w bush she's older now but he's still rangy he's still a jock kinda you know runs around probably got good cardio definitely better cardio than trump and then of course the oh bungler who is still very fit and a relatively young man I mean I don't even think he's 60 he says like mid-50s so you got to figure the o bungler will win but the oh bungler is at the end of the day the o bungler so I see him I see Clinton and Carter getting starts pretty quickly due to their frailness and then I see Trump sort of wandering around and I see Obama defeating Bush and hand-to-hand combat like the first blood he's ever actually had on his hands and then Trump just like without even noticing bumps 1:4:41 into a TV or something and smashes him in the head with it it doesn't even know it and survives because Trump will live forever because God delights in human evil all

Around the Horn

5.14.20

trying to get this thing to work I got all I got a frickin lens flare I feel like I'm in a damn JJ Abrams movie guys you guys know what I'm talking about freakin JJ Abrams am i right that guy he loves his lens flares so one thing he loves it's a goddamn lens flare so I have one of those it looks like I'll try them angle I don't know and I'm not doing very good job sorry guys uh didn't do a show yesterday didn't do a stream cuz I was just feeling a little drained and I didn't want to force it so I gave myself some time to just vibe something that's okay with everyone but not back and I'm ready to take on the news of the day whenever you guys want to talk about I would turn the light out but it's very dark in here it's not a lot of windows in this apartment so even with the Sun out it would be you wouldn't be able to see me if I didn't have the light on uh so the other day Matt yeah Glacia Scott had a classic epic one of his trolling moments where I said I think Trump is actually pretty smart he's smarter than people give him credit for and that many people may add and it became a big argument that it made me really feel of two minds about it because I feel like there's a lot of evidence that the man is an idiot but the very level he is wildly wildly intellectually lazy and I'm interested in applying any like intelligence he might have to anything because he assumes he already knows everything and like that's I don't know at one level at what level can you separate that from just being dumb I mean because functionally it makes you incapable of applying knowledge anyway but today he had some lines that really made people be like wow I think this determines the case once and for all these are some amazing quotes I want to read he was in Allentown today the way he said he said we have the best testing in the world because that testing B could be the test is frankly overrated maybe it is overrated but whether they start yelling we want more we want more than we do want and they say we want more when you test you have a case and when you test you find something was wrong with people if we didn't do any testing we wouldn't have a few cases we would have very few cases so people are like goddamn what the hell he is he doesn't have object permanence he doesn't realize that you're not reducing the number of people who have it you're only reducing your knowledge of

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

the people who have it so people plate that and say that's evidence that he's dumb and that's what I thought at first too but honestly I thought about it a little bit more and he's really just coming from a different premise he's coming what a lot of what happens with Trump is that he is coming from a prat one of what makes him dumb and honestly it's not so much dumb as unnecessary for him is that because he has such a unique relationship with the press and with the public he doesn't have 0:4:8 to play certain games he doesn't have to hide certain premises he doesn't have to be disingenuous he can be direct and that leads him to come at things from an angle that like the media class is baffled by and so they see this and they're like what an idiot he is but think of it this way he is coming from the realization from the knowledge from the understanding that all the people at the highest levels have and there is slowly dawning on everyone around us is that that there's nothing to be done that there's no cavalry coming they're not gonna do any kind of system to reduce the spread of this disease because it would require allowing people to live outside of market relationships that are defined in like a country that is a service economy that means that since we're not gonna change that relationship and the only way to put money back into the system is to recirculate capital in the market then we're gonna open back up we're gonna let everybody back out we have to there's no alternative because there's no there's there's no willingness or even ability at the highest levels 0:5:12 to put together the infrastructure to replace the market so we're gonna go back anyway and there's not gonna be some wholesale testing and tracing they're not gonna be quarantine anything so if we all if you understand that which Trump does and which a lot of people in the media are either lying to themselves about or are too stupid to understand then why why test people it only undermines their consumer confidence to know how many kids positive cases there are or how many people are dying from it if we have all collectively decided that we have given up what is the ***** point about maintaining some uh uh tally the number isn't going anywhere it's just gonna go to make it harder to convince people to leave their houses which you need them to do because the scary thing for a lot of for the economy people is you can reopen but it won't make people necessarily go back out to the places like Sweden has not done any orders for sheltered place or anything like that yes 0:6:15 they have a much higher rate of infection than the rest of Scandinavia but what's important to note is that they have a similar drop in people going out and retail and ***** and restaurants and bars they didn't need an order people don't want to get it so you need to get over that one way it's like toughen people up to the mass death that's gonna happen and say don't be afraid to let your body die all that stuff oh there's more to life than that mere living you know there's the Darton stock buyback provisions so that ***** Red Lobster stays in business and there's no reason to have the number so he's right he's right people need to be as ignorant as possible about what's really happening with this thing in order to get the economy back going we have to be in complete denial if anything we should stop counting all together and make it illegal to tell people who have it that would be the way to like really dive into what now what we're gonna do what's the point of having these numbers just to feel anxious about them wait we are not fixing there's no cavalry there's no fixing this no one at the top levels have the interest ability willingness there's no challenge to them from anyone else so we're going to go through with this we're going to accept the new normal of people dying from this disease in huge numbers and if that's the case knowing the number only undermines our recovery effort because I think a lot of people who are still indoors and are horrified and all these people leaving their houses I think you gotta realize something like a lot of people everyone is is dealing with stress from this change you know it's like obviously it's not like you know being in a war zone or anything it's very but you're talking about incredibly pampered people in general Americans so any kind of restriction is felt very hardly because they haven't had many so they don't they're not used to it and a bridle on it and then they have to deal with it now for a lot of liberals and leftists who pride themselves on their community mindedness and their intelligence and their ability to recognize and listen to expert opinions staying home carries with it some sense of satisfaction you know staying home even though it sucks and you can't you'd rather go out yes but I'm a good person because I'm indoors and so that is that's a little benefit you see it when people clap at 7:00 o'clock they're like yes I am you know involved in a project the conservative people and even apolitical people do not have that relationship with this ***** they're not getting that benefit they're not getting that like psychic identity boost of being like oh my god I am a good person because I'm staying indoors because they don't buy any of that stuff they don't buy the community mindedness for one they think that's frankly kind of fruity as Homer Simpson would say they don't buy what experts tell them because they assume experts are on the other side so they think they're getting scammed and rooked and conned by staying indoors and so they have to find something else and getting mad about that that's their version of you're feeling good about staying indoors but all of its coping with the fact that this whole thing was supposed to build time buy time to prepare prepare a contingency plan that maximize human lives it's the same that like that privilege saving lives and it didn't happen and it can't happen now so like Trump is being dumb because he's not playing the game the way it's supposed to be and he's he's living in a level of abstraction that just speaks his it really just speaks to his sociopathy I mean like a lot of the stuff that we think of as trumping dumb is just him not recognizing other people as having interior tea

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

you know and that's not technically the same thing but really what he's just doing is he's recognizing a deeper reality which is that this number doesn't mean anything these numbers aren't going to help we're not going to use them to save lives they're only going to make it harder for us to reassert a normality in which this death is part and parcel like car accidents or gun gun deaths or anything else and that's what's so horrifying to see people see these right-wingers going like you know there's more important things than just clinging to life like this life has to have meaning and what's so annoying is that that's a hundred percent true and it really would have been nice to have some of that sentiment floating anywhere in the cultural ether after I don't know 9/11 went a little bit perspective on 3,000 deaths might have prevented us from killing a million more but that fit you know the the emerging need for a replacement for the Soviet Union to justify like the defense Keynesian state and the American military you know global hegemony now all of a sudden we have perspective on the meaning of life when it means that caring too much about life well instead of lead us to insanely attack everybody in the world and spends trillions of dollars it'll lead us to oh no not go out to eat not go to TGI Fridays oh dear God not to go to Red Robin and get the blorch burger with extra blorp sauce and so that's what's so disgusting because they're evoking a truth they're voting a reality of this like disenchanted and spiritually dead in time this we are morbidly fixated on our physical lives and extending them because it's all we have because we don't think that there's anything else not just beyond life but even in it beyond physical pleasure and mere distraction and we need this change that we need to like Reese acryl ice life at some level I'm not talking about like reinstituting a religious you know doctrine or state theology but I mean just like creating a value to social social interaction like building social meaning that has to be part of the equation and these people are invoking that idea on the for the benefit of the Darden Restaurant Group and ***** Yum Brands and the continued viability of this just disgusting weezing it's very sad because then you have to say no lives mean something but you're still you're at the end of a your reifying that spiritual deadness you're saying no all we have is our lives and it's like we should be willing to sacrifice but for something worthwhile we should be willing to sacrifice for something for building something they're asking us to sacrifice to may sustain an unsustainable system of misery spiritual so that's why those guys are to me the most disgusting people of this entire thing are the people who want to who want to exploit everyone's like thwarted yearning to be heroes everyone's throated yearning to seek meaning through action and to say yes what that means that that feeling in your heart is take a ***** blunderbuss to the state capital until they let you back into ***** Applebee's that's not good that's just that's more your your you're cheapening life even more by saying that the material

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

mere distractions that have robbed of us are of any spiritual understanding are more important than any human could be I mean my god I can't think of a more nihilistic and monstrous piece of uh yeah and the idea that anyone who believes that they want to bring religion back to this country that they think like we've lost spiritual values and that we need to restore them and is saying die for Darden brands is died for dart and brands folks died for bharden brands Darden brands bargain brands shop until you drop it deep God remember I remember being a kid and like even as a child recognizing the over heavy-handedness of like corp of like anti consumer culture you know like Adbusters ***** and it's like the analysis that you get from that is not very strong and it doesn't really point you towards meaningful action because it gets so fixated on you know cultural stuff but goddamn it it's very hard not to see the death Drive manifested by it directly through the need to consume like we're literally willing to die in order to consume and it's like Dawn of the Dead where he's got all the zombies tottering around in the ***** mall it's like you know it's harder to roll your eyes at that like we really have reached a point where every satirical observation and exaggeration that has to come before is now just happening that's at hyperspeed just like at any moment anything you ever thought was over-the-top in some satire is going to appear before you first it's start of the dead next death race - mm get ready I did see Colorado's face and I really enjoyed the fact that when he was kind of losing it and he was reverting to the voice of his father he was 100% doing talk about Lincoln and his generals oh boy poor Lincoln he got it's just a bad he got a hit dealt a bad hand a lot of the cream of the la the cream of the officer corps were we're southerners that did not mean Lee necessarily lead us to ***** overrated I mean he looked good compared to the Oaks that he was fighting against but Lincoln gets credit for learning on the job and and giving guys promotions who deserved it I cannot spare this man he fights he sad about grants Lincoln didn't have very massive generals in fact the handsomer ones were generally the least competent that little that little pop and shea that little de Polian himself george mclellan god don't get me started there is no worse record I think among American military leaders outside of like Benedict Arnold than George McClellan how bad is it - completely botched the job the whole time undermining the president and then actually run against him on a ***** platform of prematurely ending the war that you ***** up to begin with amazing grant was not as drunk as his reputation might make you believe that is largely propaganda thanks to the Dunning school those swine who had there's a reason that you that grant is remembered for being a drunk and for being corrupt and that's because of the Dunning school and the need to slander anyone associated with reconstruction and he was one of the most effective prosecutors of reconstruction we had so he so his presidency is reduced to him being drunk and being

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

corrupt the corruption is funny because yes of course there was tons of corruption great he was the political knife and he depended on advisors and friends who had their own agendas common among the disgusting cynical pro corporate Republicans who took over after Lincoln was killed but he was that personally corrupt and more importantly the corruption during his camp during his presidency was par for the course for Victorian presidents they were all ***** crooked you want to look through the list of late nineteenth-century scandals and rings and get ***** confidence games that go into the White House they extend all the way through the ***** turn of the century until the Progressive Era ***** and then of course you start up again with like teapot dome and ***** ***** Benjamin Harrison was like cartoonishly corrupt but they remember him as a drunken as his corrupt because it served that narrative the drunk stuff was mostly really from when he was stationed in California 0:20:58 after the mexican-american war when he was basically traumatized from his combat experience and completely alone and bored and lonely and he just kind of drank and that was where his like reputation for alcoholism was most established he did not mean it drink nearly as much during the war as yeah and that's another thing to remember you about like anti-corruption campaigns is that a lot of the times they become covers for for reactionary neutralization popular involvement in politics like I guarantee everyone in New York wishes they still had Tammany Hall around maybe they could get some ***** subway services maybe we wouldn't have more 0:21:59 people dying to this ***** thing that anybody in the in the country or the world if there was somebody you could call somebody's cousin's cousin had a job somewhere that actually like connected you practically to a level of political leverage got to get rid of that we replaced it with this bloodless ***** transactional technocracy that ends up wouldn't you know it only serving people with the most money and and corporate interests you know if George Washington Plunkett honest graft baby I mean it wasn't ideal and it had its own reactionary elements to it and there were 0:23:0 socialists who always fought against Tammany Hall while I was around but it wasn't destroyed by socialism it was destroyed by good governance programs propagated by mostly urban middle class people which is how the machines and all the big cities got broken basically do-gooders who did not replace it with like citizen control they replaced it with with meritocratic influence which ends up being just graft but only from the top cutting off any grassroots connection between governing there were no Marxist organizations in the United States of any size I don't think in the Civil War largely because Marxism really wasn't a thing yet it was still you know being being 0:24:1 created what you had were like organizations that were more or less influenced by Marx personally since he was still alive so you had the International workingmen's association the first international but you know its influence was relatively weak at that point but you didn't have communist you had you had communists guys who weren't Marxists who because they firstly knew him and like most people who knew him had some sort of conflict with him like August we'll each my boy my guy the Prussian commie Marx sent on behalf of the International workingmen's association a letter to congratulate Lincoln on his re-election in 1864 they didn't correspond he gave he sent a letter back and thanks but it wasn't like they were correspondents like dear Carl you know not just like we just won the Battle of Gettysburg I'm so excited you know wasn't like that and you know it was signed by a bunch of people he's just one of them sir we congratulate the American people upon your re-election by a large majority if resistance to the slave power was the reserved watchword of your first election the triumphant work right here re-election is death to slavery from the commencement of the titanic american strife the working men of europe felt instinctively that the star-spangled banner carried their destiny the destiny of their class the contest for the territories which opened the diary PO e where was it not to decide whether the virgin soil of immense tracts should be wedded to the labor of the emigrant or prostituted by the ***** of the slave driver when an oligarchy of 300,000 slaveholders dared to inscribe for the first time in the annals of the world slavery on the banner of armed revolt when on the very spots were hardly a century ago the idea of one great democratic republic had first sprung up once the first declaration of rights of man was issued and the first impulse given to the european revolution of the 18th century when on those very spots counter-revolution with systematic thoroughness gloried and rescinding the ideas entertained by the time of the formation of the old constitution and maintain slavery to be a beneficent institution indeed the old solution of the great problem of the relation of capital to labor and cynically proclaimed property and man the cornerstone of the new edifice then the working classes of Europe understood at once even before the fantastic partisanship of the upper classes for the Confederate Gentry had given its dismal warning that the does slaveholders rebellion was to sound the toxin for a general holy crusade of property against labor and that for the men of Labor with their hopes for the future even their past conquest were at stake in that tremendous conflict on the other side of the Atlantic everywhere everywhere they bore therefore patiently the hardships imposed upon them by the cotton crisis opposed enthusiastically the pro-slavery intervention of their betters and for most parts of Europe contributed their quota of blood to the good cause well the working man the true political powers of the North allowed slavery to defile their own like well before the negro mastered and sold without his concurrence they boasted if the highest frog ative of the white skinned laborer to sell himself and choose his own master they were unable to attain the true freedom of labour or to support their European brethren in their struggle for

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

emancipation but this barrier to progress has been swept off by the red sea of civil war the worthy men of Europe feel that sure that as the American War of Independence initiated a new era of ascendancy for the middle class so the American anti-slavery war will do for the working classes they consider at an earnest of the epoch to come 0:28:6 that it fell to the lot of Abraham Lincoln the single-minded son of the working class to lead his country through the merits matchless struggle for the rescue of an insane race and the reconstruction of a social world signed on behalf of the International workingmen's association the Central Committee you got a whole bunch of guys in here including the boy himself and they got a response from Charles Francis Adams yes the son of John Quincy Adams who is the ambassador to the court of st. James aka the Great Britain during the Civil War because at that point the International metal Association was headquartered in London sir I am directed to inform you that the address of the central council of your association which was duly transmitted through delegation to the President of the United States has been received by him so far as the sentiments expressed by it are personal that are accepted by him with 0:29:8 a sincere and anxious desire that he may be able to improve himself not unworthy of the confidence which has been recently extended to him by his fellow citizens and by so many of the friends of humanity and progress throughout the world the government of the United States has a clear consciousness that its policy neither is nor could be reactionary but at the same time it adheres to the course which is adopted at the beginning of abstaining everywhere from propaganda ISM and unlawful intervention it strives to do equal and exact justice to all states and well men and it relies upon the benefits beneficial results of that effort for support at home and forest and goodwill throughout the world nations do not exactly exist for themselves alone but to promote the welfare and happiness of mankind by benevolent intercourse and example it is in this relation that the United States regard their cause in the present conflict with slavery maintaining insurgents as the cause of human nature and that they derive new encouragement to persevere from the testimony of the working men of Europe that the National attitude is favoured with their enlightened approval and earnest sympathies I have the honor to be sir 0:30:10 your obedient servant Charles Francis Adams so that was it that's the correspondence like they didn't write letters to each other but yes this they were not talking out of their ass it's actually very interesting the upper classes of Europe were of course instantly and immediately sympathetic to the South because that's where they got their ***** that's where they got their cotton that was the engine of the early Industrial Revolution more important than energy because at that point they were still using steam it ***** locally produce stuff nobody was importing it what you needed to be imported was the raw material to make the ship to actually have capital

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

formation so they love that they love so it was so cheap because of the slavery they loved it and so there was a real move in specifically France and Europe the big boys and with Russia also to recognize the Confederacy as a legitimate government which would allow them to do something like intervene on their behalf in the Civil War and the Confederates tried very hard to make that happen and they had a lot of sympathy at the upper levels of government including the prime ministers I know Louis Napoleon was dying to recognize the Confederacy hell he sent Maximilian to take over Mexico behind the United States is back which was only possible because the Civil War he didn't want that to end he didn't want the Confederacy to go away in fact if they helped them win then they would accept Maximilian's rule in Mexico as a fait accompli and it's like a quid pro quo for recognition but a working class the actual people who were suffering the most from the dearth of cotton the people in the mill towns of Manchester Liverpool Birmingham they were violently the Confederacy and we're basically united in support of the Union and there were huge demonstrations protests all throughout the Civil War in the in Britain specifically to keep those ***** toffee-nosed ***** from throwing in with the Confederacy because they recognized that you know this is about capital and labor and if they think they can enslave the blacks what the hell makes you think that it's some future point they might not find it necessary in that moment to enslave whites to which is always was the case and like the more honest could set us southern propagandists and apologist for slavery actually made that point the guy in the book cannibals all look I fits you as his name he wrote a book that basically said that in a qua even in equality in human ability is inherent and it is it doesn't actually have to do with race at all like it's it's it's gradiated through all races and all social classes and it's all based on a natural order and so there always be always gonna be bosses and workers what's the best relationship between applause and a worker it is a master/slave relationship because it implies mutual obligation a wage labor relationship is by its definition more inhumane because the boss does not have any obligation to proceed to the health livelihood and viability of their workers because they can always get new ones and he said that leads to instability it leads to the democracy falling apart because of populism and demagoguery and attempts to like redistribute because you are creating a situation where people are left to their own devices and so he said to the people who say to the northerners to say you know slavery is fine because it's it's it's black it's just it's on black skin he said no ideally it would extend to whites too because you have the same problem in the north it would only be worse if it was if you allowed blacks to not be slaves and made them work for wages but you have the same problems and with the same solution and most they didn't want to spook there nor their neighbors so they didn't say that too loudly he's one of the few who did but it was people understood it and it was one of the things that made wage labor is hostile to slavery and it was it was the out it was the app the I mean it was the fact that the Union was able to fight well enough to prevent Europe from like just throwing the dice because the North the South looks stronger militarily but also as domestic pressure that kept him from siding with the Confederacy because they recognize the class character funnily enough a guy who had sympathy for the Confederacy and kind of said they might have been on the right Bakunin something about that that liberal concept in anarchism I don't know when you have to apply it to real situations all of a sudden you get spun around sometimes I'm just saying I'm not saying I'm just saying the Macau Macau bakunin had good things to say about the Confederacy I'll see if I can find a quote I'm gonna fire well anyway he was he 0:35:22

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

he did because he saw what he saw it in terms of like coercion you know and then the North was trying to coerce the South into obedience and that that you know and of course it recognizes the reality of that after the war the south or the north did end up becoming more capitalist but that was inevitable what are the terms of the capitalism if it's a capitalism where slavery is allowed that's going to be deformed in a way the capitalism where slavery has been ruled I don't know I don't know what 0:36:40

the best books on the Civil War I'm sure I haven't read all the best ones and there's so many because it's such a heavily studied topic because it's I think where a lot of people's Americans anyways if they become historians as they become history fans they get stuck on the Civil War early so a lot of them stick around so I definitely have not read the best ones oh the books on the Civil War would be anything by Jeff Shara the hack fraud son of Michael Shara whose book whose book The Killer Angels is a Pulitzer Prize winner and a great a great young adult classic that is one of the first books I read about the civil war that really stuck with me and made me want to read more about it and his son basically pulled a Brian Herbert you know 0:37:41

Christopher Tolkien and wrote sequels to his dad's book with the same characters different points to the war but whereas Michael Shara was pretty clearly sympathetic to the Union and you know he saw the human drama and then they created trying to create sympathetic you know poor trails throughout both sides but his sympathies with the Union you know there's a big speech Josh Chamberlain gives to his man about the how about being an army say on the mission of you know setting people free and how that was unique almost in human history and then his son though writes sequels where the good guys are now the more sympathetic characters with the more righteous side are the ***** Confederates which he wrote a you wrote her awful book called Gods and Generals which was turned into generally one of the worst ***** movies I've ever seen just dreadful three hours of absolute ***** and the fact that it's like wildly pro-confederate is not even the worst part about it it's three hours long 0:38:43

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

the acting is uniformly terrible terrible in the war scenes are hilariously bad because they always end up doing his Sam abusing reenactors right because they already have their own ***** they know how to Martian formation you just film them but the thing is is most reenactors are you know like hobbyists like 45 year old Americans with like beer guts whereas the average Civil War soldier for either side was like a 19 year old who weighed about 85 pounds and seeing these like just actuaries that ***** like dicks sporting goods managers just shooting each other well like puffing and trying to get up like Mary's Heights at Fredericksburg I mean that's the thing if 0:39:50 there's no corona vaccine they might want to get that information out there earlier right because you're asking someone asks how does it agree that they need to to function and like I said that we're not allowing any alternative to the market we can only restart the economy by engaging in market transactions we're not doing enough ***** on the internet to make up the shortfall so we got to get out then that means and if there's no there's no rescue if there's no vaccine coming then what is the point of waiting why not get it over with and I know people say overwhelming hospitals and stuff but like the level of locking down you would have to do to prevent overwhelming a hospital is not viable given the restraints of the economic reality 0:40:53 we need people out we need these jobs back we need this ***** in order to keep the lights on keep things moving keep supply chains going and that only happens if you're creating shareholder value that only happens if we get used to it and knowing that there's no help yeah I wouldn't be surprised if we're seeing like the the the what will happen is we're gonna turn first-responders into troops in that there's going to be a there's going to be a campaign with a flag of a certain color that's gonna stand for nurses and doctors and or you know anyone who works in that medical field so 0:41:54 there's gonna be a flag campaign they're going to be called our troops they might even get drafted who knows and they're gonna be working in big field hospitals in like you know college football stadiums or on tender ships or decks of aircraft carriers big fields of repossessed zoos and they're just gonna pack people in there in tents what's really interesting for me is like if I know it's gonna get bad and we're gonna have a new normal that is gonna be way worse than anybody thought they were gonna experience this quickly and they're not gonna be able to funk handle it but I 0:42:56 really don't think that there's any political valence to their anger about it because I really don't think that there are enough people with a common understanding of this situation that could mobilize effectively along an axis that could provide meaningful leverage so what you're gonna have is you're gonna have something like 300 million people expressing this wildly new level of alienation this wildly new level of material scarcity time that is now devoted entirely to survival or more so the need for their entertainments to be even more immersive and energy and and and intense to make up for it the the the what kind of like civic what kind of civic myths are we gonna have to create to explain how we're living in the country that we the United States of America as we've always been given to understand it but this is how we're living that 0:43:58 dissonance is gonna have to be reconciled through mental processes that are going to build just cathedrals of because it's unorganized because it's not class-conscious just cathedrals of neurotic mania just like violent ritualistic primal belief systems Qi think is just like the first most extreme expression of a phenomenon that's going to take over the minds of huge lots of people and I don't know how I'm saying is that yeah all that psychic energy under energy is gonna have to go somewhere like you're just steam heating people who had like an expectation that what being an 0:45:1 American meant in terms of their material security comfort safety sense of worth and a lot of it is tied up in that country and then it just gets flash-fried out of existence but they still have the same mythology and they don't know why it's happening because there's no coherent understanding of the world that anyone's operating off of there's only the fragments that they can explosive torrent of information I don't know how people reckon with this I don't know what kind of new cults are gonna form I mean they wouldn't be in person because that would go against the current of of atomization internet-based but then expressed individually mass violence I don't know better turn to like 70 style of guerrilla movements not political necessarily but like or weirdly political like who knows the only way to vent it off would be something 0:46:3 like a war but war with China is just so vast and inconceivable in many ways half the rare earth metals we use to program the microchips for our rockets and stuff come from ***** you know a funny thing is is that a show that I never watched and I really should now like while we're still in quarantine is still a fluid situation is the ***** leftovers because what happens in the leftovers right 2% of the population just disappears overnight that's basically what we're doing and it's like the the reason it's such a trauma in the leftovers universe is because nobody knows where they went or why right and will know where they went they died but we won't know why we won't know why this was allowed to happen there will be no coherent Universal 0:47:6 even partially regionally hegemonic understanding for what happened and so you will have the same crisis you will have the same sort of sense of crisis spiritual and material that you saw in that show but just along a different axis not spiritual but around like what where am I what country is this how did this happen who let this happen who made this happen that's gonna be the providing thought that people are not gonna be able to change anything around them they're not gonna know how to and so they're gonna want someone to blame and that question is going to become more and more relevant and more and more powerful to them because it's the only way to flee from the reality of what's because people are staying in now honestly it 0:48:8

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

feels like everyone who's still staying in we're staying in out of some like it's neither a it's either people are either in denial to think that there is a plan or any point that staying in longer will presume pronoun will allow for better results in the long run I don't think there's any reason to believe that at this point but I think some people still do or at this point it's just purely a way to still feel like a good person because you have a set of values that attach to seeing a doctor on television tell you people are getting sick you don't want to get them sick that makes you want to do that but a bunch of other people see that same thing and they see live media telling them lies in order to hurt their president I mean you say people don't want to get sick but like I'm saying is that it's gonna happen unless you does unless you're gonna stay in like you've decided that this is your new life and you're like ***** what anyone else does I'm staying in if you do that then okay and I think for a lot of people who are immunocompromised they're gonna have to do that because it's gonna be too scary to go out but I think a lot of other people who don't have either the ability or personal Constitution to put up with that they're going to go out eventually which means they're gonna get it eventually and so yeah nobody wants it but eventually it's gonna be I can stay in but you're either gonna get driven out by the market saying you need rent you need to pay for rent you need to have a job or if you can unless you can stay in because you have the ability to get money well indoors you could cut a commute and they'll let you do it people you're not gonna have that option and it's gonna become it's gonna become like a liberal uh affectation basically it like liberals will stay indoors uh the the artists bat brat Rommel who has a really wonderful Instagram had an amazing an incredibly prescient like visual essay about a month ago already where we talked about how we're definitely leading to a thing where where this the persistence of kovat is going to create a political caste system of people who go out on purpose as a political act and people who stay in on purpose as a political act is going to read reface reshape the face of America because it means that all liberals are gonna eventually just have to go to the cut to the suburbs to the country to get any any space to avoid being completely cooped up and conservatives are gonna have to move to the city to maintain the viability of close contact with everybody I mean the way to stop this is to take control of this political system to take control of this ***** means of production to redirect in to redirect production for use in the old as Upton Sinclair would have said but there's no there's no power you know in the world that's making that happen that's pushing for that and and in the short term I don't know any way that it's gonna happen I mean the best hope for it is just the reality of people being forced to risk their lives for minimum wage we'll get enough of them to say no and then to organize along their jobs to prevent getting sick that's our best hope but the problem is with

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

so many unemployed people who are so desperate they're leveraged as employees is going to be reduced to it would have to be like sit-in strikes like 30 ***** where you actually deny the space you deny the capital and we have uh we have a militarized 0:52:15 police force now in this country that it's just looking for an excuse I don't know it's not gonna be anybody's theory that's for sure when it happens if it happens it's gonna be a brushfire like 1905 or 1917 it's it's it's gonna be people just deciding that they can't take enough because there's no plausible leadership right like what's the plausible leadership for some workers movement against this virus creating a new class system and a new and reducing human life that much further in dignity and just quality there's no one there there's no one who speaks universally enough and it's not I don't think that's anyone's fault I mean this people of mistakes made mistakes all the way along the way the Bernie campaign certainly wasn't perfect 0:53:16 but these social conditions are such that we have lost any working class conveyor belt of ideology it's just sort of spinning off I'm sorry I know this is that grill pill but the thing is this is kind of part of my grill pill is like talking like this you know like I don't have a grill yet even like this is how I deal with things and I think it's constructive because I get feedback you know I think I installed the floating shelf I 0:54:38 might start doing I have to buy one I want to get one small low because I don't have a lot of space back there so it would have to probably be one of those mini ones I don't even know if those even work but I know I can't get a think probably charcoals because I don't want to have to deal with getting a I think that's drywall I think the walls an electric grill that's interesting I don't know that seems like it might be 0:55:45 yeah I think I think what no one wants to really confront is just how we're gonna have to just like we're going to have to recalibrate our relationship to huh expecting to survive a day downward and it's you know people have lived and people live in this world already in much higher levels of that than we have and at the end of the day we'll be because we chose we chose comfort over anything and because our rulers have figured out a way to completely divorce themselves from consequences I mean you got a guy telling people at this moment hey you want you want to bailout 0:56:46 well people in Hell want ice water they're writing a bill a standalone bill to bailout lobbyists there is not a single person of either party who is a regular human voter who likes lobbyists because in their mind if there is Democrat and Republican they imagine the evil lobbyists the other ones the bad the bet the lobbying on the wrong side of their issues that they prefer so they still hate the concept they could be pretty easily rallied to the idea that they don't deserve a ***** bailout but instead it's not even an issue because both sides agree well we certainly have to have lobbyists where are we gonna get jobs after this where are we gonna get the real money that comes with governing the actual point of any of this the seven-figure job after we leave office

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

after we get primary by you know the the yodeling kid once he reaches the age of majority a smokeless Korean barbecue that's interesting how does that work without smoke sounds mysterious you know what it's funny somebody else wants to know about the end of history in the 90s you know that was obviously a joke everyone made fun of Fujiyama for it for saying we've reached the end of history by what she meant I think the forces of history had stopped moving because we'd found the ideal synthesis of this the ideal social order in terms of long term stability which is capital democracy and then eventually capital democracy would reach every country every area and we would reach a steady state social order that would basically be peaceful over time essentially materialism like dialectical materials and teleological Marxism but ending at capitalism instead of going forward to the next step and of course in the 90s there was a sense that that was the case that it was all over but the shouting really and that all the old conflicts were going to be smoothed out by the market then 9/11 happened and of course everyone and now everything that's happened since never looks like you idiot Fujiyama but honestly looking at things now looking at the way that we're prepared to deal with this looking at looking at the way that we're prepared the biggest powers though the biggest rulers are the most empowering countries all of which have robust democratic traditions of which are ostensibly Republic's with with that are ostensibly designed and exist to sustain the public happiness to sustain public health happiness and safety the whole reason you write a thing like a constitution all of them are basically to one degree or another come forward and admitted that there are since there is no alternative to neoliberal capitalism we are going to have to embrace death on a scale that we thought was not part of the deal anymore we thought the whole point of having this alienated capitalist system with lives moving so fast and so desacralized and so dead and so just devoted to distraction and amusement at the expense of death but at least we have material comforts at least you know like guys like Steve Pinker could point to a chart and say look extreme poverty is down look life expectancy is up look you know consumer spending is up people's lives are getting better we're giving that up the one thing that was supposed to justify this continued the continued existence of the system we're in the process of slowly admitting that we are giving up even that but because we can't give up the capitalism so in a sense who qiyamah was right but his framing of it was we have created a sustained endless system that will because it is so beneficial over the long run lasts forever and people's lives will only get better like Ned Beatty at the end of network but what we're finding instead is no these systems now thanks to technology most of all and because of the brutal alienating effective you know of capitalism on land geography workplace and culture most importantly and any global trade networks and the displacement of of manufacturing throughout the globe the way the the arbitrage inge of of government authorities authoritarian systems versus you know capitalist culture stuff it's now at a point where it is it cannot be removed maybe I'm not saying it is in that point because things are gonna change but it's in a situation where it can only now us it can now just say now we're managing decline the way we were managing ascent we're now managing decline but there is no alternative so history is ending history is ending but it's ending in heat death it's ending in the eventual dissolution and squandering of our resources as the center fails to hold and it splitters off into you know techno feudalist min our keys before even those fall apart so yeah people might want to end up people might end up giving Fukien a second look but he was only right in the sense that we might have reached a point where this system cannot be meaningfully and interdicted with not that it's going to lead to some universal peace but rather universal or a harmony of overwhelming and collective murder said this let's add with a song I don't usually play these anymore because they'd only gets DCC I'd I don't know what the rules are actually I haven't done that on twitch yet so I won't do it I was gonna play two dogs dead by cloud dead so if you've ever heard that song it's got a it's got that all right I'll play one saw and hopefully we'll get a warning instead of it there's this idea I know I'm supposed to have an ad blocker on this thing but I don't and half the answer for master class it's actually amazingly okay yeah but if China takes over it's just another accelerated form of hyper capitalism if China takes over it's just furthering the development of that system you really think that going back to communism you think mouths gonna come out of the caboose out of his ***** mausoleum and take back over it's just gonna be a further intensification of all the processes of of technological panopticon's and ***** hyper exploitation and and an absolute knowledge of where every person is at any given moment **Music playing** Oh glands I'm gonna I'm losing social credit flights I know I know I mean like hell president she probably should save us from ourselves from our like death Drive of consumption but that's just a resting collapse it's not building something durable because their economy is just as dependent on our wild overconsumption and hyper exploitation of Labor on peripheral regions of the world there's nothing else that the economy works there's no other fuel for their economy than that and I mean alright say they don't need us anymore to be consumers well then they need to be consumers right then they build their own consumer economy and then they just turn themselves in to us they start consuming the way that we did now I see the thing is China's gonna consume the degree to which we stop consuming so if we just like if we if we just took tap off the stave and become you know like a giant agricultural Latta fund yeah so that's okay but we can't all be consuming at the same right somebody's to be returned to dogs to be read and dogs to be dead center of a serious crash harmony of overwhelming and collective

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

CUSHVLOG 23. AROUND THE HORN

1:7:35

CushVlog 24

---

Mattz Cut-up Corner

5.15.20

oh that's better that's better than last time when I make sure this thing was time for some so I facing folks it's my version of doing the scales musicians I got to do their voice maybe babalu well I just have to do so face to get my jean the right position to issue the hottest it takes just got craving some soy I where's my damn soy ah I might 0:1:2
be getting a grill soon I've been thinking about it they're extending this extending they're probably never gonna let people out of their homes in New York here and like you know even if I wanted to ignore it wouldn't know what if there's nowhere to go because nobody else is gonna ignore it either so I'm stuck indoors so I might as well actually start grilling yeah well I want to try to do those beyond burners they're pretty good and also sausages are very good too I also have some steaks oh they're in my freezer and I want to finish before they go bad so can i grill it up I got to get like a small medium sized Weber or something we've got to use car coal that's can't be too big either because they don't have a lot yet people were seeing Bo bunglers 0:2:7 place in the Hamptons which bore Thomas on Martha's Vineyard life is a drama it's now where all the Democrats go apparently it's a little st. James north and his awful house that looks like it's made of ***** popsicle sticks his beige mansion he's got one tiny little grill grill like that's probably gonna be about the size of the one I get it my postage stamp back area this guy's got 7 million acres if he can hunt humans for sport on and he's got one tiny little ass ***** charcoal grill he doesn't even want to grill the guy has no interest in grilling it's a bad looking house and it reminds you these people have no taste that Edmund Burke you know in his defenses of the upper class his defense against the French Revolutionary grand leveling his defense 0:3:8
against the old ancient Society of orders was yes you have this wild disproportionate distribution of resources but what that means is that people at the top who are able to spend less time working are able to have more refined tastes and sensibilities are able to use that money to build beautiful things that the rest of us can enjoy so the stained-glass cathedrals and you know the works of the Renaissance and all the beautiful just hung beautiful homes and in architecture and everything that the wealthy you know indulge in all their luxury has a certain aesthetic beauty to it that

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

enlivens all of us even if we don't get to directly experience that through owning it I mean of course you can argue about that and you can talk about you know it's pretty clearly a specious argument on the behalf of a total ass kisser but I don't think if you if you brought Burke up from the dead he'd be able to say that there is any redeeming aesthetic sense any of the rich ***** we have now it's just been burned 0:4:11 out of them there's nothing left because the only reference point now is luxury there's no cult wealth is so disconnected from people from my actual culture that there's no remaining sense of of like luxury expressing any kind of aesthetic or cultural values I think a good example of this is if anyone has been to Vegas you know in the past like it's I think it's been within the last ten years so Vegas the big the big places that went up in the first generation you know we're off the mob the mob places the place is the Howard Hughes own the casino era ones that like forget about that that's old Vegas new modern Vegas started in the early 90s with a big infusion of corporate money that went into the building of a bunch of themed family-style casinos getting rid of Vegas is seamy reputation and mob affiliations and replacing it with the idea of 0:5:13 it being a place for the whole family so what kind of things did they bake what kind of building what kind of casinos did they build they built the Luxor which is a big crystal pyramid with us Fink's in front of it to recall agent Egypt xcalibur which is just a giant cheesy castle of medieval Europe they got they got jealous to the bay in the basement New York New York which is supposed to be a recreation of the hustle and bustle of Midtown and Rhenish Village and all that hilariously people put signed items and mementos in front of it after 9/11 and then steve wynn shows up in the mid 90s in the sights on this family shit's fine but we need something that's gonna be like classy to get people to spend more money because there's family vacation type places have a certain limit they get a lot of money from a lot of hot charging people's stuff but it's there's a limit to you know how much you can for example 0:6:15 how high in a restaurant a family place is going to be able to have and so he wanted some places that bespoke elegance and so he built the Bellagio in 97 which you know became famous especially in ocean the first Ocean's eleven remake and it was you Italian mazu like modern Italian architecture like the idea of this is Italy this is the continent this is this is sophistication they had an art gallery that was the first to student have an art gallery sophistication was the whole idea and then they built the Venetian which was Italy in the Renaissance with with the front that's that's the model after the Doge is Palace and then they built Paris which is supposed to be like Second Empire France these are all things that are supposed to be fancy it's 0:7:18 just the eloquent and beautiful and of course they're tacky because the recreations but at least they're referring to some type of cultural memory of value in the last 10 years like the last 10 years they built a couple of new casinos and big developments

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

there like the cosmopolitan and there are the two big ones and if you've seen these you can go and look at them online they have no theme they have no aesthetic anything they're just big glass cubes because that is the modern architectural language of of urban wealth it's hidden in giant glass buildings because of the vast amount of inequality that urban areas have you have to you have to concentrate all that wealth in a in it you know basically one giant tube and everything is sleek and it all kind of looks like a ***** iPod store but it's not referencing anything culturally it's totally self referential it's purely expressing money unadorned by any kind of accumulated culture that that money might have gone into influencing and it really shows you that the wealthy haven't reached escape velocity for the rest of us to the point where they're not even in the same world as we are in meaningful ways they're brutalisms interesting I think Brutalism I understand why people want to say Brutalism is good but I mean when you consider the constraints that went into Brutalism and how much of it was done out of necessity or to cut corners rather than any due to any real vision it becomes harder to defend in practice but I could certainly see it being good in the funniest brutalist building I when I lived there there is a giant there's a big building that was that house there design school they have a pretty well-known design school and it was actually designed by one of the professors at their design school and it's a big brutalist tower that fans out at the top no windows it looks like a giant Lego but the guy in the original design they forgot to put bathrooms in it at all there are no bathrooms in the building and they built it before they realize that and then they had to go back in and install the bathrooms and then in addition to that it was also set in his foundation poorly because it's a very hilly campus and it's now essentially Leaning and it's gonna fall over and I think if it hasn't been evacuated yet they're gonna end up evacuating the whole thing and having to destroy it so and it lasted for like 30 years so that's not a great example but I mean that's the kind of thing to happen with with Brutalism it got thrown in there haphazardly and and cheaply I mean I I don't know if anyone wants to defend Boston City Hall you can try but I have but I'm not really an architecture guy anyway I'm kind of talking out of my ass more so than usual but I do know an ugly house with I see one and the ***** I do think it's funny that the vast majority of a large colleges have brutalist libraries because they are they all experience a huge boom in in admission around the same time because of the baby boom which led to you know increased endowment and ***** like that around the same time and a need to build a new library around the same time and that was the public or that was the public architecture style and so they all look like that it's astounding how many even on campuses that have a dominant you know early modern aesthetic or something they still will have the goddamn or like bricks or something they'll still have the ***** brutalist library well art deco I mean come on what's not to love I fell in love with Art Deco watching Ghostbusters as a child my first ever encounter of it was Dana Barrett's apartment building designed by Yves oh Sh and or 0:12:27 cold riveted steel girders with poke cores of it's the same sort of telemetry tracker that nASA uses to track dead pulsars a deep-space I say we bring back two to half Timbers make every village make every town look like an absurd whimsical medieval village Oh everything's like falling towards each other no more toilets just throwing ***** out of the out of the street ice I tried to read the questions out loud or at 0:13:48 least get the look at the idea of the question out loud so that people know what it is I'm sorry if I don't well yeah getting back to the main point is that there's no redeeming aesthetic element to our current oligarchy just noting a Wyatt Koch teeth Wyatt Koch shirts and big ugly glass towers that's all we got it sucks the new dude on my own TV show I haven't read the book uh I I don't know I mean I always I'm a big fan if any of the attempt to you know put Brown John Brown on TV but or in anything but I watched the trailer and it looked intense and Ethan Hawke looked like he's doing gonna do a good job but it also looked like it was trying to be a little epic it looked like it was trying to be like funny and I could see that may be working 0:14:52 but I don't know if it will I'm gonna see it for sure I'm uh I'm withdrawing I'm withholding judgment but I'll definitely watch it even though even with the goofy the goofy feeling of the trailer when he's like thundering away it still gives the rowdy Piper movie is it good I don't know which one you refer to if you're talking about they live yes it's very good if you're talking about hell comes to Frogtown not as good favorite seafood oysters baby give me the masters a little a little sustainable non 0:15:55 conscious guilt-free delicious little seat seafood flavor balls oh I love them anyway make them okay this is an interesting someone asked what I would do for a if I was gonna do an elf reboot it's a good question I've mentioned this before how to do an Alf reboot it would have to be hard are with deep eroticism I don't know if I would have Alf having sex with a human but uh you might see his genitals I would need that that would be at a minimum swearing of course all the sweaters and a lot of gore it would be very bloody he would eat the first shot would be of him eating actually eating a cat that's all I know very first shot would be a cute little kitty cat that would he would eat like that scene in Oldboy when he eats the octopus one 0:16:57 shot no cut him just eating a cat I don't know how we would do that CGI maybe maybe it shooted on international waters or something but that would definitely be the first shot just to establish this is not your dad's elf this is a serious gritty take on what would happen if there was an alien life-form who craved house cats living in a suburban Chicago family's home but I could definitely see like out because there was an elf movie that ended up the show where they get caught he gets caught by the army and they're gonna dissect him or something I think that could work like elf is a pawn between the white hats and the black hats in the Qun on deep state war like they're nuking each other's deep underground military bunkers and trying to catch him and swap in for other stuff I think that could be pretty fun and the whole time he's just eating this oh my god what if elf was cute that would be perfect actually he's the one he's caught in a deep he's Kissin area 51 or something and he has limited internet access and all he's able to do is communicate just on this one account because that's the only way that like he's piggybacking on one of his unlike the 4chan account of one of his captors or something like he has technology that allows him to ghost his computer but he has to go where he goes so he has to go to 4chan and he ascribes what's happening and then trump and Alf decapitate the deep state and execute Hillary Clinton on live television and would I cast in the elf reboot okay that's a good question alright hopefully you can get the same guy for the voice because I feel like the voice of Alf was pretty iconic if we can't get him Giamatti seems like I mean this is obvious but also he's got that yeah he's got a honk all right kill me can't you hear Giamatti saying I kill me can you hear it can't you hear the people sing you can hear it you can hear him say I kill me then to play the dad what was this a max no Willie here's the guy's real name was max little-known fact alfe's dad on the show after the show when he was in his 60s was photographed in a crack house with no pants and it ended up getting in there and a like the National Enquirer or something Bryan Cranston great perfect welcome in the middle perfect perfect Bryan Cranston we're already there we're cooking with gas I don't even remember who played the mom because she didn't really have much of a role to play other than telling Willie to be nicer to Alf and vice-versa just playing you know just being a housekeeper you need somebody who could just be a nap how about Julianne Moore there you go she could just she could kind of like he heard a version of her character from safe and then the kid the little child I'm not gonna be ***** with you shallow bays so just get that out of your head probably one of those little ***** from it or ***** stranger things there's all there's all those Punk kids now just get one of those kids who cares the kids suck the kids only gonna be in a very a little bit and he might even die there in the gorse the movie the kid is like secondary it doesn't matter what just randomly grab someone from the cast of a stranger thing so what the kid with no teeth whatever I don't care doesn't matter he's only gonna be in two or three scenes and then he's gonna get hit by a Humvee or something when the army comes to get out that to raise the stakes that would be ideal Wow Eric Roberts is the cat has proven he could do it in the film a talking cat yes that was a hell Oh someone says they want to re-watch the 80s blob if you have not seen the 80s blob watch it one of my favorite movies wildly underrated there's

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

three really great gory remakes of classic horror films in the 80s and some of them bombed at the time some of those were successful some of them but all of them have gained an estimation the thing obviously the fly and but I feel like underestimated and underrated compared to those two but just as good as either of them I would argue is the ***** blob the blob rule some of the best practical effects gruesome brutal very unsentimental willing to kill characters you would not expect at times you wouldn't expect keeps you off of your like narrative Lee keeps you on your toes and what's really funny is that it it totally inverts the politics of the original blob because everybody took the original blob is about communism right oh there's this 0:23:17 big red thing is coming again everybody it's it's communism or you could say actually the blob is you know anti-communist hysteria if you wanted to be a smartass about it but either way that was the metaphor in this one the blob isn't even alien quote spoiler alert it's a military experiment and the military is trying to keep it alive so it could be used as a weapon so the bad guys like the military-industrial complex and fanatical Christianity basically Reagan like Reagan's America's is the bet is the bad guy in the blob remake but forget it the politics just on a pure level of craft one of the best horror films that of that decade and belongs absolutely the same conversation with those other great remakes written by man that makes me want 0:24:19 to re-watch that I watched it a few months ago I want to watch it again now it's it's never free streaming anywhere of course wait a minute someone says that if they switch between this channel and stop it means I'm insane I don't get what compared to stop of course staff is uh I mean stop has a level of enlightenment that I will never reach I'm struggling here I'm gonna earthly plane he hasn't transcended me so I don't think that's a fair comparison favorite John Carpenter movie that is always a tough one I will say that I have and I don't really like Escape from New York I'll admit that that's that's an alzheimer that I just can't enjoy the pace of it has never really worked for me and like the the score for once is a real dud for me too and it's like it's it's the least interesting Kurt Russell performance that he gave four carpenter in 0:25:20 my opinion I don't know but I really really liked the thing obviously and they live there's a darkness of course I just re-watched in the mouth of madness and it's much better than I remember it being it's a really good movie Big Trouble in Little China honestly has a soft spot for me it might honestly be that if I think about it certainly my favorite Kurt Russell performance with with carpenter and since there's such a great duo that kind of gives it an oh man ghosts on Mars whoo I shall we watch that one too you know I kind of even like vampires because it had a good James 0:26:22 Woods performance but there's a reliance on montage instead of action scenes it's kind of troubling it kind of feels like they ran out of money which they probably did I know carpenters has never had a great time getting funding for his movies which is

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

obviously awful but at the same time I don't really think that even if you gave him money now he'd really want to make a movie he seems to be actually where a person like him should be chilled at ease with their with their legacy Gaming smoking weed following pro basketball rocking out with his son sounds fun he doesn't need to make any more movies yes Jim John Carpenter is 100% Grove Hill well they when I asked them what do you think of this movie that's coming up based on your thing it's like if they're not paying me so I don't care if they paid me and then I would care what else our attitude did you have towards your old work there's nothing you can do about it 0:27:23 it'll stand the test of time on its own does anyone remember the ***** mary elizabeth winstead thing it was technically like a prequel so they were trying to like to not to be sacrilegious so look this isn't actually a sequel this is what happens to the skin and avians before the thing starts okay apparently they did practical effects by the way that whole movie and then they showed it to this executives and the executives were so weirded out by it because practical effects they don't they don't look more realistic as the thing that CGI they look different they look more they look like they take up space but they don't necessarily look more convincing what CGI shows you is that that's not the only thing that matters convincing is not the only thing that matters if it feels like it's actually present to mass weight it's in the room you will forgive anything else but these guys have been so hardwired to think that realism is what you're after but they freaked out had to reshoot it all with CGI which of 0:28:25 course now already looks like ***** but nobody remembers that nobody remembers the fog remake this ***** when they just have some ***** music video director come out and a couple people from a WB show star in it and it makes fifty million dollars and nobody ever thinks about it again the originals are still there they're still gay he still he still beloved by all people who who seek quality cinema the guy's twitter handle is master of horror for God's sake he has secured himself because master of horror is the kind of thing that only someone who really thought they were would ever put in their ***** bio that's the kind of thing that you have to be fake modest about if you're insecure or guilty he's not he's Ernest skinned stupid does hold up 0:29:27 and speaking of good effects the Ernest scared stupid effects are pretty damn good the the trolls look good and it's some of Barney's finest acting when he does all the different characters no he was really talented jim Varney I don't think I don't think Lee Carter's coming on trap Oh guys sorry probably not gonna happen I think we can let that one go hopefully did I like the new David Gordon Green Halloween movie I actually did I thought it was really good I was very surprised at how effective it was as a horror movie because I've never really been that impressed with you know Gordon Green as a stylist he was I thought he was very good at creating food but I didn't really feel like he was necessarily someone who was terribly adapted you know 0:30:30

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

pace and lighting and editing the kind of things that make a have I seen tremors have I seen tremors to even ask the question another movie that is almost flawless it has ambitions that it that is perfectly suited to achievement it is yes it is a reach not exceeding its grasp it's it's it's beautiful I've only seen a couple of the tremors sequels I saw the one the second one where they run and I saw the third one where they fly from farting they get keep getting worse man I never saw the Old West one I think I watched the first ten minutes of the fifth one on Netflix and I seen bordello 0:31:33 of blood by Dennis Miller I saw Porcello blood with Dennis Miller in the theater because at the time is as a young man I loved I loved him because his jokes had very obscure references in them and if I got them I felt smart so that's why I liked it wasn't because he was funny it's because he was flattering to me as a ***** awful nerd and so when he had that brief awful abortive acting career in the 90s I was there I was all there for dello blood not very good there's a lot of nudity in it which is nice he is pretty funny and apparently he's a huge jerk during the making of the film he wouldn't talk to anybody he basically wrote his own dialogue if any refused to promote it just was above it all the whole time but still catch the checks absolute prick as you would imagine demon Knight is much better the first the first telecrib 0:32:36 movie is much better I heard that M night Shyamalan was remaking tales for the trip for TNT I don't know if that got cancelled I hope so because the whole point of telling the Crypt was EC comedy or EC Comics which you know for for HB L meant it would had to be exploitation so it was wildly gory and filled immunity and it's if you're not gonna do that what's the point of doing Tales from the Crypt the stories aren't that clever it's like oh oh that's metros those dummies gonna kill him now it's not like this ***** I watched the new Creepshow and it was okay none of them were that great they just seem a little literal literal-minded we're good for a 0:34:24 question I'm having a hard time finding anyone I always look kind of dead oh dear that doesn't sound good I hope I look the camera looks like this image is clearer I know it wasn't so good yesterday I don't know I need to get a new phone I think someone wants to talk about the robot police state that's coming I don't really know what to say about it other than that's what the trajectory we're on we can stop it hopefully we certainly should try to with all of our fibers of being because it is it's a it's a bad outcome that we should all try to avoid but I really don't know at this point what to say I just I feel like we're still still taking in the Meg the magnitude of the our berkland drug dealers delivering I'm assuming all drug dealers everywhere 0:35:31 are delivering opinions on move a poll I'll pick that one just because I love move a bull because he thinks he's funny and the way he thinks he's funny is is actually 0:36:32 hilarious Postville is really the movie to watch I mean most of them are just too inept to be funny but when he's actually trying to be humorous they're pretty good and

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

also what's really baffling is an interesting movie from an ideological perspective are his assault on what are his ramp I Ria's movie assault on Wall Street and then his rampage movies which over time became these like kind of Chomsky essays actually 0:37:35 someone asked if I was excited for them as streaming the Hamilton film I I mean at this point I will watch it this thing that I've talked about it was speculated about for years and helped make my career in many ways I'm not gonna not watch it I gotta find out and I want to find out how a bastard orphan child of a ***** and a Scotsman became a hero and a scholar because he was a self-starter who worked a lot harder and was a lot smarter I am watching SNL zoom and I've said this it's brutally depressing and I hope they don't do it anymore this is the end of the season I honestly hope they just cancel it if everyone's still quarantined and they're not doing live shows anymore in September they should just get just take this as a sign from 0:38:36 God because I'm not getting anything from this anymore I'm not getting any even just like hey what's what are the kids up to these days which I usually get from SNL yeah like I've said it's like if they're like terrorists suicide martyr videos like hey me and my friend are gonna make this hilarious sketch before I go and blow up myself at a ***** marketplace grim grim grim grim bring back MADtv I mean obviously now more than ever now more than ever we in a soundstage in the desert no studio audience either you do a laugh track or nothing oh god I saw the mr. show zoom thing oh I couldn't resist it I mean mr. show is such a part of my humor DNA but man it was grim everything and all this all these table read stuff all the zoom stuff 0:39:37 is really really grim and it makes everything worse because it reminds you of how quickly and frantically people will try to adapt to an unsustainable situation just because they have no all they can't think of anything else too do somebody asked about how EVOC ins in the green party if you want to vote for them go for it I don't care I mean I don't think it's gonna matter I just can't see third party presidential politics I mean that party anyway and in this context we've got with candidates like Howie Hawkins mattering like I said Jesse mature now you got another story but I 0:40:41 just it seems like if you if you if you want if you feel like it's worth it to you go for it I'm not gonna judge you but I'm just not I don't see the point feels like everyone in the Xoom based content has a gun pointed at them off-screen and the writers are all crying while writing that is a very accurate thank you strong goose shout out there that is the correct comment everyone feels coerced everyone feels on the verge of tears it's not good well what soul wants us to know why we haven't covered Tara Reid I don't know what at this point where there is more to say than what we already know the the the the depths to which the Democratic Party will go to 0:41:44 degree to which their their commitment to any any of the principles they claim to supported is was actually just a fig leaf for their coercive power over the discourse is all obvious it's not like if you sound like it's gonna bring down Biden I think people have this delusion that no if we if we bring down Biden with this they're some of us enough I'm doing anything else with Gnosticism I mean I've gone through a few stages you know of thinking about things and I've realized that at a certain level of abstraction there's really no way to get across anything I'm trying to say in a way that won't just sound to most people like insanity or something that they you know understand intellectually but give no real you know meaning to don't don't give any credence to as something that's explanatory so I'm trying to figure out sort of how to sum fuse my understandings into things that operate it at a more and a lower and more comprehensible mutually comprehensible level but I definitely still I'm thinking about the Demiurge and how the Demiurge is you and me and we all make a shadow of the world and we have to live in it and we think it's the whole thing where's just laying a very good question the question I'd never thought we would get the answer to the fact that she's apparently suing this epstein estate is absolutely mind-blowing to me holy crap I don't know I mean my assumption is that that is a paper move to keep her alive because remember that every other statement about her whereabouts has then never followed up upon or substantiate it from the fake in and out pictures to her hanging out with the billionaire in Massachusetts her supposedly being triangulated by her cell phone to a resort in Brazil and now she's somehow pursuing legal cases defamation suits and lawsuits again for the estate I mean all of those things can be done through shells and straws any account so I don't know I think it it makes me think that she was taken care of and that she hasn't been around for a while alive and nothing that has happened since then has really made me doubt that because it does seem so weird how it'll be quiet for three or four months and then there'll be some gossip thing about how oh, just lanes friends they're talking about how she wants to get back out there then nothing three months later on a triangulated cell phone places just laying in Brazil nothing three months later oh she's suing someone it's like just putting up a flare every once in a while just to keep people from wondering too much how people are really mad that Michael Hudson's has a been on the path we've why hasn't she Caleb Jacobi but on the podcast Oh God you don't think I ask myself that every day I would love to have young Caleb on I would love him to spit fire about the time he hitchhiked to New York and went to the ***** M ;M store and I found the fact that he apparently makes he makes hip hop beats influenced by the Kabbalah and the sacred geometry of the of the Torah I I would like to have Mike dunk it on again I should ask him soon I kind of want to have mine after he ends the rest the whole show I don't know we'll see maybe before he comes back from the hiatus have Elan musk on the show we have had a LAN musk on the show in the form of James Adomian I don't know

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

I don't think he I don't think you would want to go on I don't think he really wants to anybody to talk to him it wasn't like Joe Rogan is just gonna be like all cool
Wow dan aykroyd going on true and on I don't know I don't know how deep Danny 0:48:57 Ackroyd's connections go Danny Aykroyd cookie be compromised realistically I mean he claims to know a lot of stuff and he's still out there it makes you wonder if he's been compromised in some way if you might be orchestrating limited hangouts it's the same thing you gotta wonder about that Oh somebody asked me yesterday to 0:49:58 talk about the fact that now we have the name of a guy from the actual name of one of the guys from the Saudi embassy who helped the 9/11 hijackers navigate the u.s. and given money and stuff I mean it's just they forget to block out a name we knew there was a guy in the air you know there was a direct part of the Saudi government who is involved we've always known that that's that's the hilarious ***** is that it all just went out right in the open and because it's one of those things it's so vast it can't be dealt with it can kind of go out there because there's no one who's gonna do anything with it because it's too all-encompassing same thing with Epstein kind of there's no you don't really have to worry about one side of the other using it if it's out in the open because it's too all-encompassing in it it's too bipartisan in its condemnation so and it's too central to the perpetuation of the existing systems at both sides support so there's no way for them to effectively leverage it so we just 0:50:59 sort of like over time let this ***** out because there's nothing anyone can do about it I mean I remember the ***** Afghan tapes the Afghan papers which were like the Afghanistan war version of the Pentagon Papers saying basically the same thing that they lied the entire time about the Afghanistan war they lied about the metrics they lied about America's progress they lied about the viability of the government they lied about the viability of the Taliban opposition they lied about everything for the entire way that they did and it didn't matter because it's no one's gonna change any of this ***** so then what so who is there to even make anything of it other than individual citizens that they can see everyone else not doing anything about it and internalize the idea that even though this thing seems huge it must mean nothing because if it did mean something why isn't anybody doing anything I mean 0:52:4 I wouldn't be surprised with those JFK files I wouldn't be surprised at a certain point it'll be so long ago that memories will be so short and there'll be no there very little remaining emotional attachment to the 60s basically once the boomers are gone the ones who still fixate on the Kennedy assassination as soon as they're gone or most of them or they're out of positions where they're still exercising authority through the vote in any significant number you can put it out there and then people will just be like oh wow huh Wow will you look at that they'll look around and nobody's gonna do anything so huh you know it does feel like we're just getting these this series of 0:53:13

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

limited hangouts all designed to ignore us to the vast amount of ***** that's been kept from us with the implicit message that there's nothing you can do to stop us which is really why I resist conspiracy theory ***** more than anything because it's very hard not to take the message of conspiracy theory worldview to be there can be no change because their control boomer high school history teacher had them watch JFK in class that is irresponsible teaching and I'm here for it give it to me way better than whatever the hell you were are gonna have them do what just have them 0:54:15 listen to ***** we didn't start the fire that's basically all you get in 20th century usually in American history courses in high school you get a whole year to do the US history you mostly do the ***** Constitution and the founding fathers and then the rest of it is yeah you can buy the time together in the 20th century it's just they just play we didn't start the fire and then you the test is you have to Ashlin says their teacher did play we didn't start the fire and then gave them a test ***** hit I love American public what conditions would it take for the US military to seize 0:55:42 control of government basically whether at the point when the alternative would be a collapse of the government I assume it would take that much because as I said these guys are all time serving ***** fat heads they have no vision they have no real ambition beyond punk climbing through the court essentially the corporate ranks of the Pentagon they're just time servers so they're gonna take orders up until the end until if it's just roll up the tents and go home or try to maintain America as it exists as you know as it has traditionally existed with its flags and symbols under their rule then they would do it but that would have to be in there there there it would have to be at their level of perception they would have to see it that way themselves as the only thing standing between and because they're so short-sighted 0:56:43 and so uncreative I don't I think it would take very very very much to get them there so I think we would have to be in a state of very deep crisis I don't know how it would specifically look but I think the Constitution and its inability to adapt to situations of crisis and like extreme shifts in material conditions and political reality is going to be the thing that makes it happen one way or how do our imagination become so limited because we don't talk to each other anymore I hate to sound like a ***** Jimmy Stewart character but I mean we don't have a social understanding if you don't see yourself as part of a social and organ a social mechanism how can you imagine any sort of future that will feature your input in any way how can 0:57:47 you imagine future as something that is constructed by people and not something endured that's the only way we've experienced it we've felt no sense of agency or ownership over any part of our lives and so we assume that that's the inevitable and an only way that the world works that there is no way that we could assert control over our destinies like what's happening we're just shrugging our shoulders and going

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

back out because that's just what happens because these things are one way or the other natural occurrences and we can blame when you blamed the presidents and we can get mad at him but we're basically like fans of a baseball team who get really mad at the manager everybody knows everybody really knows that the manager is the most in essential member of the team you're gonna have the greatest if you have a good enough talent on a baseball team you'd have to be a really bad coach to squander it vice versa because there's not much for a manager to do as opposed to he's not drawing up plays for the most part but people still get mad at them and if the team does badly they still get fired and if the team does well they get promoted they get extended that's how we treat the presidents but we kind of know at some level that they're not in charge we just endure things we just endure it and that's why we can't imagine anything better that's why we can't imagine any other way to deal with this virus than enduring thousands and hundreds of thousands more dead and higher risk to ourselves and our loved ones every time somebody wants to know about what I said about how fascism is implausible in the short term that's what I mean if we can't imagine a social being that we're part of how can we imagine fascism fascism is the is the absolute the ideal of fascism is the sub sumption of all all those pesky liberal subjects all those fractious I atomized liberal subjects compressed with the power of the state into one mass into one corporal being that's about as far from our core perception of ourselves in relationship to each other in this society as you could imagine they have fascism has farther to go to like engage the creative you know political mind of imagination the American political imagination than almost any mindset and you pull any ideology if if that changes if if politics becomes more real if people feel like they're they can control things it's because there's been some deeper breakdown it's because there's been some drop dello devolution of authority downward where it could be reachable and in a situation like that where you have breakdown at a local level you could have very quickly you could have fascism take control but if we assume that the American state structure maintains its integrity then politics is going to become less and less relevant people are going to be less and less aware of themselves as political engage people which means the space is gonna get filled the authoritarian spaces are gonna get filled by stormtroopers and even or even troops it's gonna be felt by technology it's gonna be filled by every smart device around they can pinpoint your exact location anywhere they can listen to you almost anywhere you might be by turning on a speaker see any communication you might give the technology already is essentially being perfected in here and in China that and and automated an almost automated AI controlled drone war that does all the work that you would need the ***** SA to do or that you would need the enabling acts for or do you need to do the night of the Long Knives to bring in the hair

CUSHVLOG 24. MATTZ CUT-UP CORNER

back all right guys I'm gonna wrap it up a couple more questions tonight then I'll say good night have some dinner robots should be harnessed for the people yes like that's what I said is that the two paths the socialism or barbarism path that we're on is is it's capitalism and and uh and communism as as the states that are allowed to be possible by technology technology makes communism possible technology makes capitalism possible and and and at sufficiently advanced levels technology can make communism make socialism become communism or in the hands of capital can make can accelerate us towards total submission to machinery total al guerrillas ation where we are just we are just inputs we're like we're like bulbs in a string of Christmas lights interchangeable we are we are we are pure Skinner creatures of reward and punishment for a given amount of exertion to the degree that we're necessary so it's I mean the the the Luddite path is is back towards you know the slave empires so the technology that we have been able to to create over the of the economic complexity and stuff that shouldn't be thrown away but right now we have to confront the fact that we have very little power over it that it's almost entirely in the hands of capital and that they're going to use it in a short term to maximize their control over a increasingly untenable social space that is going to become harder and harder to govern through conventional political means as conditions deteriorate and that is something we have to deal with and I don't think you deal with it by getting rid of technology they don't think of that's work that would work you're not the ewoks but it has to be reckoned with all right guys I'm gonna say good night help you

LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

5.17.20

thing this is the biggest critter of all I am the largest critter in the jungle hello everyone didn't stream yesterday Thank You a break I don't think it's gonna be daily as much I want to make it more worth watching so I don't want to just kind of 0:1:1
keep talking for no reason I certainly feel more I feel more balanced I feel like I could be more productive now like we're creatively productive like I'm gonna try to start writing again maybe even doing some art and so I'm not going to need to wheat my my brain knife against the stone of twitch as often but I will still definitely do it like every couple days or so no question because I still enjoy it and I still think it helps me and I hope it helps other people so I'll still keep doing them but just not probably every day then I try to get some stuff more long-form written down more coherent than trying to explain things to someone to a bunch of people on the Internet yeah let's feel good about the world it's beautiful here in Brooklyn that's right folks Brooklyn New York they made me grow a beard as soon as I moved here 0:2:4
they put a gun to my head and they said you have a ***** beard or your brains will be on the pavement and then I just closed my eyes what's not so how you guys doing everybody feeling good everybody feeling good I'm not depressed I'm feeling good feeling fine I'm just not as manic as I was because favorite VP and for history probably poor Henry Wallace though got owned by the by the Democratic Party out 0:3:8
of being the president who could have prevented the Cold War according to a lot of people he was his campaign was infiltrated by actual Soviet spies which is very funny and it definitely does imply that they could have had to this prevented the Cold War but on what terms who knows it is interesting to imagine if FDR had died what he did because Truman was just pointing like not up to the task of negotiating a new global order after World War two he was absolutely not he was a ***** war healing crook basically just country retail and he had not known any of the ***** that was 0:4:13 going on in regards to the someone wants to know my opinion of alien vs. aliens I mean I'll admit it I am a Cameron boy first and foremost I prefer aliens I probably sought earlier honestly when I was a little kid I probably saw aliens before I saw alien I just and that was though that's the one that seared in my memory in the original version with the with the ***** with the motion detecting machine guns they there 0:5:14 was a famous story about how James Cameron pitched his idea to the studio by going over to a whiteboard and just dragging the word alien and then putting an ass after alien and then turning the ass into a dollar sign I don't know if that's true or not but that's basically what he did and part of my preferences of course you know the degree to which alien is overrated is the degree to which Ripley Scots awful undeserved reputation as some Titan of cinema could be further reduced because by any means necessary I say that ***** hack is a hack and sucks and he's got like one and a half good movies in his entire resume that are supposed to stand in for a I 0:6:23 wouldn't really wish what good director had done with the counselor ***** Cormac McCarthy screenplay would have been really cool to see that with a non hack Tony Scott was the was the as much as I love aliens as much as I love obviously t 2 and avatar as a theatrical experience anyway I think that Cameron's best movie is the original Terminator the Terminator Arnold is the bad guy Michael B that's the movie it's like it's basically perfect oh yeah the motion detector boop boop double pulse 0:7:26 beep beep four minutes 4-minute 4 meters 3 meters where are James bill paxton the only person in cinema history to be killed by an alien a predator and the Terminator pretty impressive all right Pete - it's true king if I of course I would go on a red letter media if I was invited those guys rule but I'm not gonna invite myself I'm not a poltroon I never did Civil War II in acting but I thought it was cool that's for sure I 0:8:27 was I was an enthusiast for the Civil War that's for sure pretty embarrassing I never had hard tack though I've people passed that they had it passed around you know to see how hard it was but I don't think I've ever actually Oh God someone read Henry Turtledove because it's me that's no good he is a very bad writer but that's what makes this books father's because you don't really have to read them you can just skim them it's basically like a big old Wikipedia article and you're just finding out 0:9:28 what happens and you're checking out the historical references like oh look Richard Nixon there's a young Richard Nixon he's uh he's sweeping the office for bugs as an army intelligence officer did it because he is he was recorded with the Watergate tapes you know what someone sometimes suggested doing a conspiracy episode about the Kennedy family that's actually a very interesting idea but I wouldn't want to talk about them I wouldn't want to really talk about any of the actual theories about the assassinations I would lay up some of those interesting features but I would rather talk about the Kennedys as a cultural concept the Kennedys as as an idea like the fact that this wet mouth little turd is gonna beat Ed Markey in Massachusetts probably with one hand one ***** limp bird wristed ***** what is it called when you can't 0:10:35 when you can't stop bleeding whenever the ***** rubber dogs had hemophilia that's it ***** hemophiliac how is he gonna be governor how is he gonna win so easily with

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

no real justification for running because this name means something to people and don't like the way the queuing on people fixate on Kennedy and on JFK jr. the way liberals think about the Kennedys they really represent something for everyone like they're the crystal which you could really look through the way that politics is like been robbed of meaning and turned into pure spectacle but then emotions get like even more deep and and and the fantasies get even richer because of how much politics is made into a spectacle and and so the Kennedys they get over the time they get more and more psychic baggage around them they become more more totems of different things to different people that's the interesting idea I might do 0:11:37 that I'll think about I still don't really know who left Parnassus I think he was a minion let I know our last podcast sure let's guys seem cool I think we should do the live reading of either casino although I'm thinking more if we're gonna do a live read it shouldn't be a more a more tightly scripted movie so I was thinking Miller's Crossing that would be pretty cool do I know of any plant nerds you know will is a 0:12:55 real plant nerd if you know what I mean will loves plants he's a big he's got a my Sunday it's nice it's very nice out my little back area that you guys have seen with a little shed it's it's coming together I'm actually gonna get a grill guys I did it I pulled the trigger on a weber uh and i'm gonna start cooking all this meat i got in the freezer i'm gonna i'm gonna put it out there on the grill it's gonna happen I also got I got charcoal got some lighter fluid that's so I might I might feel myself drilling 0:13:57 at some point if I can get one of those little holders for the phone I might drop I feel myself growing a little bit boon poquito the Max Weber grill for the slow cooking of tough I will definitely mess it up a lot of me too because I'm not really very adapt I haven't I don't have a great history I'm not a great gorilla in my life I've grilled like twice I mean I've obviously been a number of grills but I've never done it myself this is the new skill I'm trying to I'll probably want to do so I mean I have meat 0:15:5 want to get done with but I would also like to do some beyond stuff I really like to beyond stuff ooh delicious the sausages are fantastic the birds are really good but as I said they're destroying half of Borneo to get the palm oil so there's no good options yeah of course it's worse for you than regular meat it's got to be because it tastes too good but at least it saves the animals so at least you get a you get that sense of not contributing to I really enjoyed that the independent state week that 0:16:27 was really good he's he's he's operating at a very high level right oh he's his power levels have never been higher because he's never been more bored and annoyed a big president he can't blow off any steam he can't blow up any scene by having a crowd of yokels Bay at him like ***** dogs which is what he loves so instead he's just getting more and more mad and he's but he's posting so hard he's essentially become neat he's become a wildly alienated meet and so he's just posting like a madman

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

the ***** thing with the he did beautiful boat people again the thing where he says we're working or we're working on them a cure for this issue plague we got a cure it's coming it's okay folks it's okay don't worry about it we're fine all wonderful and I was yelling about Obama and he said the day that like the Obama administration 0:17:28 is becoming the worst Administration in history now humans sleep you are why I'm here one yes true - yes hitman sleeping Joe are Wyatt Trump is here but also it is funny cuz when Trump says it's becoming the worst administration ever basically what he's saying is every time something disastrous happens related to this whole coronavirus sake every time the stock market drops though they're 500 points or we have another 5,000 deaths a day or something or there's a you know some huge economic huge unemployment number he all puts he puts all of that instinctively on to Obama's tab because of not a left to him because he fundamentally doesn't feel like he has control over any process he is watching be himself be President the same way that his fans are and so everything is being done by other people and that means he could never make anything better and they could he can never actually make America great again he could never succeed because he's not actually acting 0:18:32 and at a certain level I think though people who really like him know that and they don't care because it's not about material issues to them it's a bit Salih Bignell so they just want him to be mad on their behalf for the things that they're all in agreement oh the chimney thing I've heard those are really good you're like you press the button that it all falls down I might order one of those that's actually a very good idea I didn't have one that might be a good idea smart move thank you this is 0:19:36 why I want to collaborate you know I want to I want to live my best grill life and I can't people saying Corona won't change anything I think our under estimating to stop bad things are gonna get and how big that is and how that badness is going to become a structural element of the economy and of the country in the world but they're right I think in the general sense that there isn't going to be a huge breakup right now just because as I've said I think that there's too much interest in seeing the US economy stood back on its legs and it's gonna be hard and it's not going to have to be fast but I think it's going to be no more a threat it's it's gonna be like the Great Depression which as destabilizing and traumatic and horrible as it was there was never a point where dissolution or collapse was really in the cards now things have been a little bit different maybe they could have been like maybe if people if the guys behind the business plot had taken it more seriously or you know maybe 0:20:40 FDR gets shot in Miami which is what is the basis for the counterfactual history in philip k dick span of the high castle is same thing happens as it happens in our world that FDR gets shot when Guiseppe son we're just happy Zangara shot at him and actually killed the mayor of chicago anton cermak that was after being elected but

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

before being inaugurated or early Mike early in his presidency and then you have a whole new ball game there's a bunch of things that could have happened but we didn't ever really collapse or come terribly close and and I think barring intervening of something on the on the level of that for example or a business plot then I think you're gonna see the same structures persist just at a much or attenuated level with lower life quality of life more visible misery more alienation more hostility I think 0:21:42 that's gonna cause things to be much the same but worse like I said I think crime is gonna go up I think there's gonna be political violence is going to go up but it's not going to be organized it's gonna be largely personalized but it's within the same cultural framework as well let's see the thing is is the climbing rate of profit relative to the 30s says there might be less for them to actually be able to do to stand up the US economy that's that's also true I'm not saying that this is necessarily going to persist I'm just saying I me I think the immediate moment we're gonna see a persistence of institutions but like I'm not gonna will I'm not really willing to stretch that past maybe like three or four years maybe five I'd say when I say things get 0:22:48 worse I mean like people are gonna have less money they're going to live under worse conditions they're going to have more they're gonna be working harder for and have less free time the free time they do have is going to be more pained and alienated they're gonna be more miserable the misery index is gonna go up not the thing for the festivities but the actual like sum total of American human misery is going to go up things are gonna get harder for everyone they're gonna take it out on each other which is what we do and so that's gonna compound it and make things worse because we're gonna take it out all on each other along political and racial and gender lines we'll take what is to be done that's a very good question and hopefully someone will 0:24:15 have an answer I hope to participate in finding one but right now I don't have it Japan when I'm unable to win Germany Japan couldn't want anything by themselves they were they attacked Pearl Harbor because they were already materially being pinched by the US oil embargo by the end of the war they were whereas the US was had more of anything that they'd ever had before they'd built capacity while their capacity was being totally exhausted a lot of uh not a lot of juice to squeeze 0:25:17 there and yeah they had to hatch the why didn't the Soviets invade northern Japan I mean for the same reason they pulled support from the Greek communists and and you know rolled up a curtain because at the end of the war Stalin was all about securing his his persistence and his government's persistence well could rebuild from having its industrial capacity gutted in its population decimated and so that means they weren't in an expansionist mode at all and that was one of the big crimes of the 0:26:19 Cold War was tragedies of the opening of the Cold War is that the u.s. set the terms by approaching the Soviets as as bent on expansion and as they're that making their mission then therefore containing that expansion which just started a you know a mutual a distrust that became I do think asking a saintly asking what is to be done I do think that if you do have a job and you know you know of any effort to what worker to to organize the workplace by God I mean don't do it stupidly or don't do it haphazardly and certainly don't do it for the ***** clout but aid any any somebody 0:27:24 asks do you think a luxembourgish German Communist revolution would have fared better than the USA or other socialist nations I don't see how that would not have resulted in French and British intervention on to the continent again I mean unless they were stopped by you know internal dissent which is the dream of the of the worldwide wars that France and Britain mobilized to stop the German communists but then the working classes of German of England and France exhausted from the fight not willing to fight for capitalism they've massed they spot they strike and then and then that that would have been basically the end of it that was the whole but I think the durability of bushwa institutions in Germany I don't think that the I don't think that the balance of powers there is notably any different in France or in Britain 0:28:25 to prevent the same situation of people basically hewing to reform to avoid the real terror and uncertainty of a revolution because it's like that's what it came down to with the SDP is that they had too much to lose you know the end the Communist Manifesto ends with you have nothing to lose but your chains but there are a lot of workers and party officials and party figures and members of parliament on the SDP who felt that they actually didn't have something to lose that's the been the key to stifling class consciousness one of the keys to stifling class consciousness in advanced countries ever since and it's the kind of thing that the Soviets did the Bolsheviks didn't have to deal with because there was no there was there was no durable middle class or even like compromised labour aristocracy or party apparatchiks to suborn 0:29:28 into support of bushwa institutions it was just a bunch of peasants than a small sliver of hyper exploited hyper exploited urban laborers and then basically the cops like from the Cossacks to the police to Crona - the Romanovs and their the the Finn little rim of well boo schwa people around them to service them so there was no resistance along that axis which is what happened in Germany and presumably what would have happened in Britain or in France should the left infiltrate biker and prison gangs I'm trying to imagine the left as I understand it doing that and it's very funny I mean are we talking like DSA guys DSA peered caucus guys going into the Hells Angels wearing a cut I don't know how that somebody says in the in 0:30:29 the somebody says that somebody claims that the Communists in the 20s and 30s Germany and whymark Germany didn't work with the with the SDP because they were not radical enough for them well part of that is because of the Moscow lied the the the third the third position this line that that was scrapped as soon as the

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

Nazis came to power a replace with the popular front line which said socialist booze wall parties are essentially as bad or worse than fascists because they uphold and reify and justify the capitalist system they're your biggest enemies that was part of it but that wasn't just orders for Moscow that was rooted in the fact that when the Communists tried to overthrow capitalism during the Revolutionary ferment at the end of World War one the ***** Socialists not only didn't come along the ones in government were the ones who created the fry core to put them down the ones who recruited to mobilize troops who were led by right-wing Psychopaths and had them put down the revolution and then those guys ended up being the embryo for the stormtroopers and the Nazi Party right they're created by the socialists to put down the Communists so there was there was mutual bundling and ***** up between both parties in because at some point someone needed to ***** figure out what the actual stakes were and why is the ***** up and neither of them bid and it's both their fault for that reason but it's it didn't it's not like it came out of nowhere or like it was just imposed by Moscow or that it was why am i so much so invested in US electoral 0:31:30 ism I don't understand what that means I live in the United States of America I don't get a choice on what to invest in politically I have to deal with the country as it existed with the institutions in it that exist and the way that people relate to those institutions you can ignore electoral ism or whatever the hell that even means elections if you want that's fine but you will have a incomplete and an inadequate understanding of the why was the Spanish Civil War lost its short fake friends ***** fake friends man what kind of snack when I compare Trump to well he's kind of 0:34:8 orange looking like that's the color of his skin his weird tan makes them look orange the Spray those Howard Johnson push pops you know what I'm talking about the orange push pops Doritos Doritos yeah I think a Dorito or maybe Fritos I think he looks like a frito he's a dang frito folks the president is a freaking freaking freedom he's a goddamn frito creamsicle is what I was trying to think of no not of creamsicle thank you he's a freakin frito and I mean I've had it I've had it up to here with him and his ways Hannah with his shenanigans I want to do an episode somebody's 0:35:37 asking about the Spanish Civil War I want again I want to do an episode about the Spanish Civil War just to see if I could get everyone equally mad at me that would be like all because I would want to give everybody I want to give every side some sort of critical like sympathetic rendering of their point of view and hopefully that will piss off every single faction of people who get really really wired and really really psyched about the Spanish my media blitz I don't know people ask me to go on things and I'll usually say yes not to everybody but if I don't think you're a weirdo and I don't know anything awful about you I'll probably who's the current rightful heir to the 0:36:51 Roman Empire well I would say the closest thing we have would be the Habsburg

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

line that ended the Holy Roman Empire and there's a guy who's like a Duke of Bavaria or something he is also the Pretender to the British throne from the Stuart line and therefore the Pretender to the throne of the United States so he is essentially a world Emperor so that's gotta be that guy he would he is yeah he's the Stuart pretender he's also a Habsburg so he is he is the guy right Holy Roman Emperor King of England and of its colonies Oh God Stacey Abrams man she must look so pitch she looks so pissed I gotta say she has very she has owned herself pretty badly uh in in this whole thing she has not she's done the one thing you're not supposed to do with vice-presidents specifically the rules with president vary depending on who you are you know you can look like you want to be president at some point but you can never look like you want to be vice president you can never look like you want to be vice president for a minute until they give it to you you cannot look like you want to be vice president because who the ***** would want to be white the to be vice president it is the ***** job it is as John Nance Garner said as useless as useless as a I believe you said a bucket of warm piss no one wants it it's the booby prize and when you say want it and are thirsty you look like this person has no real they have no dignity they're saying I will willingly sit there on my ass for four years doing nothing just on a chance that I might become president someday I will suck on tit for four years minimum even though it's very rare it's only happened twice you know that someone went from being to term VP to being the president only twice Martin Van Buren and George HW Bush so it's a loser position and you want to sit there pathetic but the liberal love for Stacey Abrams is fantastic and it really is perfect she is the ideal candidate for liberals because she is know she has no power she lost her race so she is just this pure element of potential she could do anything she could cure racism she could break up the banks and cure racism she could be like the mahdi of liberalism but and because there's no there's a record you can there's no stopping that thought now like they know and so you can do any amount of compromises now like you can hold your nose and vote for Joe Biden the disgusting sex criminal senile not reactionary flat-out reactionary you kids very few liberals are able to make any kind of compelling case for Biden on the merits it's all you know greater good and when they're closing their eyes and voting for Biden they're imagining Stacey Abrams and they're saying that no however awful it might feel the vote for Biden that it'll be redeemed when Stacey Abrams becomes president and rids the land of evil and there will always be somebody there to be that person and if and if Stacey Abrams becomes president and she can't get it done the way Obama didn't well you know we didn't try we didn't want it hard enough or they were too mean and we didn't beat them enough we were there were people who doubted her it's it's sort of like a Tinkerbell fit like Obama failed because people on the Left didn't believe

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

in him hard enough and so if Stacey Abrams fails it will be because the left didn't believe in him hard enough pure Tinkerbell clap for the fairy thing but yeah show some self-respect miss Abrams good going to having a photo shoot in a cape oh my god that's like when Shaun young I don't know if you guys are aware of this but Sean Young who is an actress just been in things in a while she was kind of a big star in the 90s she got she's notorious for her tempestuous and and publicly scandalous relationship with James Woods but at one point and I think stims which actually had to take out a restraining order on her or claimed a restraining order on her at one point and when they were making they were they were auditioning for Batman Returns which was gonna be huge because Batman had been gigantic but basically every actress um okay in Hollywood audition for Catwoman they all wanted to be Catwoman so Michelle Pfeiffer of course got it but everybody who has anybody wanted it and the way that Sean young showed her devotion is she showed up to the then didn't work but that's what stacy abrams feels like what running around in a cape trying to be vice president and also stacy abrams honestly it was very dumb if she thought she was gonna be the VP because in this specific instance with Biden being so old and so clearly out of touch and so clearly unable to make decisions then the VP and frail physically frail the VP is gonna be one of the people actually running things depending on who it is so there are gonna be a lot of people with model work juice in the Democratic Party that a failed gubernatorial candidate who are gonna want to buy to that Apple before they let her have it unless they've decided that they're allowing pout and divide to lose and they would prefer to allow Trump to be wholly responsible for the the response that they know it's coming to this like it at the various highest levels of the Democratic Party they got to know that nothing is gonna work they're not gonna fix anything the economy is going to crater and then struggle and people are gonna keep dying in huge numbers for the foreseeable future no matter who's president wouldn't you rather have the other party it's a real concern so some of them might have decided you know what ***** this let Biden eat ***** then we can just run fundraise off Trump for eight four years and then win or not hey we're still in charge and we haven't become we haven't fatally fractured our party because they have to have taken a little bit of a scare from Bernie I mean none of them wanted set Biden they had to fall back on Biden so clearly they had they got a scare put in there by Bernie and them governing as a right-wing party as the austerity party you know Biden as the Hunger the hunger Chancellor that's gonna make the threat from the left more serious so why not just allow all the anger to go on Trump so I have no idea whether they're trying to win or not I mean when you see them saying stuff like Latinos are not considered are not a necessary part of our coalition or whatever it makes you think maybe they because when was a little time

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

that they've won the only time the Democrats have swept into office is after prefer prolonged disillusionment with Republican rule after 12 years of Bush Reagan and a small well time recession and after eight years of Bush that led to an attempted a city being destroyed a failed war and that goddamn economic collapse there they rule not by positive argument but by comparison to a worse alternative I mean it's their only pitch during every election and so it only works when the conditions are right now that could be now - because we have another recession / depression coming but because of the fact that it's all part of this virus the blame thing is going to be more complicated it's not necessarily going to all flow to the president the way that it usually does the way that Bush's approval rating was in the 20s by the end of his term impossible now they'll never happen no matter how bad this gets the people who like Trump now will never blame him for it no matter what they cannot make that connection it is the Chinese or acephate news media they will never do that and honestly consum was if Biden did get in there and was miserable and like a Grover Cleveland second term he would be very unpopular and the left of course was excoriated but those MSNBC listeners would love him and they would blame the Republicans get a fresh cut you are aware that we're in a quarantine and I live in the quarantine capital of the world right now that's been extended into mid-june minimum we're not leaving it there's no gonna be any place to get a fresh cut sir if I want to cut him gonna have to do it myself I'd have to cut my own goddamn here and I might do that I might do it I have the Clippers I might do it so people keep telling me to shave my head but someone whose aesthetics I I trust told me by all means do not do that do not do it so now I don't know what to believe God is somebody putting one of those weird things into the chat I would never do a ponytail that's for sure top knot never yeah monks tonsure I basically have one I'm never gonna do a ponytail of any kind that's just I'm sorry guys I that's one of those things uh I was not raised that way I'll just say that I was not raised for long hair of any kind long hair and flip flops or tunes that no sides yeah I can't I've thought of myself with sides and it is too grim to contemplate hopefully it won't come to that it's falling out slowly enough that I don't think a lot of sides until I won't care anymore but for now I'm just gonna hold on to my little my little Peninsula Oh God someone's threatening to photoshop me with different haircuts I don't know if I could handle it and I afraid this the strain would be more we might do an episode on Southland Tales however has a heck of a flip flick we should honestly do a commentary track I also need to re-watch the hair advice remember be underwhelmed by it at the time but I think I need to give it another look it was on streaming services for a while and of course now I want to see it and my computer heard me say I wanted to see it and it took it off the service for me we all know that they would do that right we all know that all of our devices can hear us and they are programmed so that if you say oh I want to see that any name they hear it or if you write it down you tweet it you 0:50:57 put it on a text or an email they see it and then they go into your ***** computer and when you go to find a movie for your computer or your smart device it's not it's not free anymore you got a pot you got to rent it that's how they squeeze the juice the sweetest juice somebody asked which which purged bolshevik what they were they said that they were both pikarin to which I say Wow peasants much you want to smooch them you want to kiss the peasantry I probably I mean realistically boozing OVF come on excitable little little get better at pirating buddy I don't know 0:52:1 how to do any of that thing I cannot pirate anything I do not know how to do it I cannot do it well who doesn't want to be : ty come on died I read part of the Port Huron Statement during the somebody wants to know about Marx's abolition of the family he was essentially saying that that the hierarchy and abuse within a family is directly mirrored within by capitalism but it's actually taint of hierarchy of domestic labor two mirrors wage labor and that if you got rid of the wage labor exploitation 0:53:3 system that the that structure would no longer provide preside in the family so the family as we understand it as a hierarchical exploitative machine for prefer domestic labor would no longer persist doesn't mean people wouldn't have families I mean said wouldn't have people they loved and wanted to be monogamous with and have children with but their relationship would not be would not be dictated by the mean to extract surplus labor basically at a domestic level which is why it's always funny when people want to talk about like a Marx wanted to abolish the family like in the context of this current neoliberal barrage on all all institutions I don't was occultism 0:54:23 is associated in America and them in the Victorian era with the left as it is in Ireland that's an interesting question I'm assuming you're talking about things like the order of the Golden Dawn Yeats and all that not really because there was there was an actual working-class movement and that ***** was mostly middle-class there was a middle class social affectation so there so there's agree to which your your like your your movement is dominated by the middle class is a degree to which it's going to be dominated by middle-class mores which is what's so frustrating about all the arguments about DSA culture that have had gone on over the past four years all of them at the level of like the DSA is to or not to walk or whatever some of them even referencing the fact that a lot of it reflects the class character and the organization 0:55:24 but without any real any discussion of the fact that well if there were more if there was like an organic connection between working-class people of any kind and this organization then this wouldn't be an issue it would have solved itself because just people would find a new level of conversation and they would find a level like of exchange of communication that would squeeze out the bad faith actors and the

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

CUSHVLOG 25. LEFT BEHIND; MEGGIDO SANCTION

hysterics and none of the none of all the arguing that went on for ***** years over that actually point pointed towards the resolution of that problem other than to say well if people didn't talk like that there would be more working-class people which reverses the order of the operation and reverses it's like all that precious TSA language is more a product of the class character of the organization than the thing that created that made it that way and I think that Bernice and the Bernie Sanders campaign has shown conclusively that there is a broken that there's some sort of 0:56:25 disconnect between the broader working-class and the very idea of socialism oh the idea of socialism as like a political project and that disconnect is not and address because I don't think anybody understands how and so people end up fighting a lot more the level of culture because it's it's something they understand at least and something they could get their hands head around which is hard for something like this where all the methods of your disposal are already proved okay unable to do the thing that you wanted to do so you have to basically invent a new tool you've been a new system and that's always very hard right joe rogan like Joe Rogan's whole 0:57:28 thing about the team that is just a a meathead trying to feel his way blindly towards the L addicted describe the elephant that's the part of the elephant of like a social consciousness that he is able to grab which is of course you know as reduced and and warped as any of ours but he has no vocabulary he has no vocabulary to express it so he's making his own and that's good and it shows the instincts are there the problem is is that the translation from one set of concepts and one set of understandings to another requires a mutual good-faith movement towards one another that hasn't been initiated and I everybody is everyone is digging up you know everyone is at the 0:58:44 end of that Simpsons episode digging up and it's just because that's all you have you have a shovel you have a shovel and you'll amount of dirt in front of you it's not like you have a map to where the where the ***** thing really is you don't really you have a map to took you here and now you've got the shovel and you've got the ground someone's got to come along with a new map and convince you that it's gonna lead anywhere and no one has done that so of course people are gonna just keep digging dig up stupid all right guys I am signing off for the day this was nice I'll see you guys soon as I said maybe tomorrow maybe not but like I said two or three a week minimum from now on while I'm vibing and yes when I start grilling you guys will be the first to

Perspectives with Lionel Osbourne

5.19.20

hello oh my back hurts today oh just riding myself today that uh before long I'm going to be in some sort of hover based contraption most of the time got bad back bad hip got bad legs which some of you might know about all of which it's gonna it's gonna add up to me being a hilarious gentleman tooling about and there's some sort of device I would like it to actually hover so the year 2020 I would hope by the time I need it that it would actually hover but I'm not I'm done holding out of anything cool happening at least not sci-fi cool of course plenty of cool stuff will vernacular as in the kind of things you'd like to read about in a history how's everybody doing very nice out very nice today so that's been nice summer's gonna get hot horrible but I'm a preparing for it mentally I'm girding my loins to just bake quietly although the debug ler today hilariously the D bungler they're talking about how you know people are going to the beaches and he said don't go to the beaches now if you want to sit there with a chair or something that's ok but if it starts to look like a beach well then oh hi Lana I always could see you in the chat he said go at the beach but just not in too many of you oh how that's not a thing that's not an answer that's not that's not a solution to the issue that's that's just throwing up your hands and being oh ***** we can't stop them from going in the beach but we have to look like we care at all about transmission of this thing so we're just gonna let you decide how many people are to be the beach at which point we're just gonna send the cops in to arrest everybody I guess or drive him off with fire hoses apparently the Atlantic City beaches are completely packed and you know what I just don't know what we're waiting for anymore we've really we ***** the dog on this so bad it feels like people don't want to really accept how badly we ***** it all these people who are yelling at everyone to stay home it really does feel like they basically don't get how ***** this was but the people who are who are mad at you for going out doors I mean obviously most of those people are absolute hogs who are just so vapid that they can't imagine life without ***** fast casual eateries but the fact remains is that there's no solution to this issue there is nothing that's gonna happen other than I'm just shrugging their shoulders and sending everybody out and no amount of

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

like insisting that you're staying in is gonna change that you can stay in if you want but you're gonna be a smaller and smaller group of people who are gonna have the privilege of being able to do so everyone else is yeah people seem to not really absorb the reality of the cheeto in the White House and just the absolute threadbare nature of America's medical infrastructure I mean it the exact moment that more people need access to health care and an E in American history a concomitant result of that is that tens of millions of people lose health insurance and access to health when they need it for them for the safety of the entire country it's like a Rube Goldberg machine designed to kick you in the balls I do love that Sweden just decided to allow everyone to die and I really think it's because they're Swedish and they've been all been kind of waiting for that begging him secretly praying and now oh thank god this thing I either live which fine or I die which thank God thank God yeah they call it winning the lottery when you get the covin and die of it in in Sweden when you go when someone says hey hey how's your how's your grandpa they go yeah at the Cova and they're like oh yeah she goes yeah he made it oh that's too bad for them I'm sorry maybe next time I'm having a weird weird new Seltzer now there's a million Seltzer's these days I don't understand it's a perfect example of just this is an at this point considering them that they all taste exactly the same the the branding advantage is basically nil what the hell are you getting out of having this on well part of skin a Navy ever I don't actually know I I don't think there's I think I don't know I only did the 23andme wants for an episode we never ended up doing about genetics in the ***** and it said Northern Europe I don't know it was pretty it was pretty my track jacket someone wants to see the track jacket I can put it on it's over there people really want to see it I could alright I'll put the track jacket on in someone wants me to stop staring at you I can't I can't I'm looking at the questions guys it has it's been a bit since someone asked me to post feet that I gotta say people are lucky that I stopped getting so hammered on these because now there's basically no chance it's ever gonna happen and you should be ***** thankful because you do not want to see it I keep telling you that and you just do not you just refuse Oh God The Cider boom that was before the cider boom was the last big like alcoholic beverage craze before the Seltzer's and it's all the same thing it's it's it's a less beery alternative to beer that's about the same alcohol content as beer but that does not have that beer II taste which a lot of they think they generally considered to be women but plenty of men don't like and so cider was the answer for a while there were there were seven million signers and now I think a lot of that energy has moved to the Seltzer's I think because people realize the Seltzer is too sweet there's it's too sweet and they realize oh I'm gonna get AIDS or not I'm gonna get diabetes for this No thank you because that's something you need to get

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

stuff for people once they reach a point of realization of their mortality and that's where you go from cider which is good for like 22 year olds to Seltzer which is good for 32 but cider was with the pioneers drank much much more so than beer beer didn't show up until the German immigrants in the mid 1900s they I mean not in large numbers anyway in large mouths it was it was all ***** cider alcoholic cider and whiskey of course and so much of it just so shit-faced 19th century people were 0:10:40 insanely hammered because most of them the amount of work they did in the day was just walk behind a donkey so it didn't require a lot of hand-eye coordination and it's boring as ***** so it helped to be drunk and of course water was not very reliable or pure so having fermented was a way to guarantee that it had a certain degree of sterility it was big in a in the UK but in uh in New England anyway it was cider because it wasn't really they never really were able to establish large scale agriculture in the New England because of its relatively inhospitable soil so there wasn't really room and no England to make to brew to get the even the requisite wheat for beer whereas there were plenty of apples apple trees so boom squeeze those ***** get you know there's a reason that the three American cities most associated 0:11:53 with with beer and we're the big brewing traditions are Milwaukee Cincinnati and St. Louis form the three points of the German triangle of immigration we're in the mid nineteenth century especially after 48 that happened to up till the turn of the century German immigrants came mostly from Bavaria but other places as well right there there's Milwaukee up there here's yeah Pier one Imports closed today I mean people been talking about the death of retail for a while I mean those kind of things this is the kind of situation where you have if you have a wheezing dying creature this is the moment when you put the bullet in the head or someone puts a bullet 0:12:56 of its head or something where it just it's too much for it to bear and it's hard not to see this as a potential domino effect especially since I was seeing today that oh look at this a huge percentage of the of the retail real estate market in this country is undergirded by fraudulent mortgages that were based on false and manipulated profit statements and projections Oh No when does that ever happen before false information propping up a mortgage which are then sold and resold no I mean that's why like I said that's why oh that's my soft bank ***** bailed out - did a private sector bailout of we work was to keep the retail sector retail rental retail real estate economy afloat and now you had an undergirding we have a realization that there's 0:13:58 an under grading unviable 'ti there that was an overlook just like it was in the house in the housing sector with this massive massive collapse in demand and in or in and in profits I don't know I don't know how you come back for that quickly or easily it's gonna all get very cool very mean the good news is is that that bubble bursts hey that's a lot of unclaimed real estate that could be used to I don't know how's

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

people that would be crazy who would imagine housing people in a city where 25% of luxury apartments are ***** unsold and sit there or and and a huge chunk of the rest are not the primary residence of the or any residents at all are just used as a place to sink money that was where capital fled as as other sources of investment 0:15:0 dried up and became less profitable the safe money over the last 20 years has been urban real estate and so that's where they put all the cash and so these places are just sitting there empty there they just built this monstrous I think it's the tallest building in Manhattan now apartment Q looks like a huge Lego block it looks like the long Tetris block and I don't know how many people are supposed to ever who would ever live in there in any one moment I'm actually sleeping there besides like staff members because I'm sure it's got its own concierge service and ***** army of maintenance people but in terms of actual people who have owned those build those apartments how many you got a couple of dozen some kids hanging out like some Saudi fail son is just playing fortnight for real with like homeless people that they abducted and then put microchips in their brain so there's this insane amount 0:16:5 in every year of an area of this speculative real estate that has never been it was never even - supposed to be lived in which is monstrously terrifyingly distorting and awful in a place where there's limited space and therefore if you take a bunch of real estate off the market for any possible use by people you wildly reduce the amount of actual available of living space the city has this happened to every ***** place every every city where there have been any kind of real so those places good news is just if I could take those ***** over just crack them open and is go in and then oh look people can live here that's great I do think that if the u.s. collapsed yes 0:17:6 the middlee the Midwest which yes is sort of the Balkans of of the America I think if it ever became part of one coherent political bloc so a lot of people say what that would be like Tito's Yugoslavia I honestly think that would be optimistic for the Midwest I think holy roman empire are much more accurate yeah the Midwest would be the Holy Roman Empire that uh and then the New England and like the mid-atlantic all those scary coastal people that's oh thank you for saying I look cute 0:18:7 I the problem with the Midwest is that people are gonna come for that water there are already tried to comfort others a group the Great Lakes compact which was done because people ***** governors from Arizona and ***** were asking after Midwest with late Great Lakes water and they're not gonna not gonna not come knocking so that's gonna that would maybe force it to be more politically coherent maybe so it could be a it would be able to withstand the pressure from outside to get that water to get those pipes in there to keep Phoenix from just drying up and blowing 0:19:8 now everyone must swear to give their life to defend the Great Lakes if it comes to that not allow ***** Albuquerque ***** to get our water Venice yeah I Manhattan

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

I could definitely see being like Venice ie halfway underwater and an independent 0:20:11 a trade empire yeah you could this you could do like a heavy handed thing like a medieval retelling like a tent like retail or in medieval tale in a post collapse America New York City would be yeah New York City's the venetians Midwest is still the the Midwest would still be the Holy Roman Empire and maybe see people say well America will maintain its structure because it'll just get hollowed out that's true that 0:21:13 I think that's what would happen if there was any give left in the institution's the problem is is that it's just too ***** brittle there's no way to change anything there's no way to accommodate to change using the Constitution and of course that's been fine for the most part because people in charge want it that way they want procedural roadblocks to any kind of reform through the political process so they love that fact but in moments of significant crisis those that brittleness gets put under pressure and somebody asked what the cool zone is it's a it's a tweet from Sean Morehead who's a very good tweeter I highly recommend anyone who doesn't follow him who wants to be on Twitter if that's your bag go follow him but he said if you see a 0:22:16 30% unemployment the country lack of trust in its political institutions it will enter what historians call the cool zone as in when it's fun to read about not so fun to actually experience though because we have a thing where there is a significant crisis of actual political legitimacy in this country and the reason that it hasn't been a problem so far is because everyone is too comfortable and yeah that has been the pervading Nepenthe that's the that's the ***** opiate that's the narcotic that has always seed soothes all of America's cultural and political illnesses there is free refills free land and then free refills let's the land ran out but if the free fills if you've got if you go to Chipotle and they say one soda no refill and you get one piece of ice 0:23:17 you don't get all that you don't get as much ice as you want I mean of course this is a metaphor but I mean that's that's when those systems come under significant there it is here's the tweet if unemployment exceeds 30% and distrust of the political process becomes widespread there is a danger of the United States will enter what historians call the cool zone yes that's exactly where we're gonna be because there is no unified conception of the United States at all Magga people and lives live in different countries mentally and and of course geographically and that difference has been papered over by free refills there's no free refills then I don't know what happens and neither does anybody else and I don't think it's gonna be the form of fascism 0:24:19 or armed uprisings from the population because they don't even know how to think that way and the ones who do are mostly faking it but I do think you could see crisis at the level of states within the country or between the oh boy people keep 0:25:43 asking you what to do man if I knew how do I tell you we're gonna do an interview with the author of The Jakarta method people were talking about in the comments

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

I think this week or early next I read the book if it's very good it's a very good book I highly recommend it he sent me a copy which I I read Vincent Bevins it's a really good book about a very under discussed topic the 1965 Indonesian military coup and how its shaped Cold War responses to colonial anti-colonialism or a decolonization rather I mean I should ask him if he's related I do wonder about somebody well 0:26:49 someone's asking about John Brown and they said why can't more people be like John Brown people I mean I don't think John Brown was a maniac I do not think that he was insane I think that studying school propaganda I think that he was he was certainly a fanatic but a fanatic for the right cause is one of the most noble people that we can conceive of and one of the most necessary for any justice to ever occur on this ***** planet but he was also wildly and stridently religiously pious he was a deeply deeply religious person in a way that they don't really make anymore even I mean out of all these ***** Christians in this country don't really believe in God they don't have that they have completely D spiritual eyes Christianity I mean that that's why American Protestantism isn't promised isn't Christianity at all because at a certain point it becomes an attempt that attempt to create heaven on earth becomes literal and you've you you are now just trying to experience the 0:27:53 pleasures of eternity on this on this plane it's it's pure it's it's disgusting but so even those people the people who call themselves very religious to go to church all the time they don't really believe they don't have like the fire of God within them certainly not enough to do a thing like go to a ***** armory and steal a bunch of guns and try to go to war with the entire United States government to end slavery with a thing which if every white person in the North didn't want slavery had done they might have actually accomplished it because so few were touched with that sort of holy fire and I mean it doesn't have to be Christian obviously but there has to be some sort of belief systems some sort of transcendent belief system undergirding your convictions for it to be ever possible for your your performance of those beliefs to have full fought full force behind them the way a guy like John Brown had full commitment and and 0:28:54 and maybe his commitment is scary and it is but it's because his faith is skinned to us because it's not something we recognize it's not a way of seeing and feeling and thinking that we can see ourselves in and you can say you know no you know I want what's good for other people for purely purely material reasons whatever and sure you might we all we we're all working towards some sort of a mature through a material understanding of the world a material understanding of what makes human happiness and all that stuff but if there isn't something else behind it I just don't know how much your will ever gonna be willing to sacrifice for that belief because you're doing it for yourself at the end of the day you know you're doing it so that you can live in a world that has certain characteristics in it and the idea of sacrificing 0:29:58

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

yourself for so others could achieve it that requires a certain perspective I guess that is harder and harder to come by that agree to which you are tethered to life and it's and material existence as like the sum total of life and I don't know what that means I'm just thinking out loud here but when people talk about John Brown that's the main John Brown had gorilla mindset that's 100% true and the thing is 0:31:3 is that somebody says you need martyrs I don't think that would work either like somebody says the guy John Brown John Brown helped cause the Civil War there's no question about that I think it was Frederick Douglass who pointed out anybody who says John Brown failed at Harpers Ferry looks to the fact that a year after the guy after he was killed executed within a year of the execution of John Brown or two years the guy who sentenced him to death of the military court was in American custody and charged with treason because he'd been captured out of Confederate boat trying to get to England to negotiate the recognition of the Confederacy as God the Trent affair he was in American custody was in an American dungeon so in two years of John Brown's execution it's hard to imagine it happening without 0:32:7 that that crucible event and that that sharpening of the distinction and sharpening of the stakes at play we've had people like that now in this moment there's the guy who tried to attack that ice facility right we got shot there's the guy they're a couple they're better cut a number of people who've set themselves on fire a couple of uber drivers here in New York at least a couple here there's a guy who set himself on fire Prospect Park to but the thing is is because there is nothing behind any action there's no movement behind it there's no I there's no greater understanding being represented by it that is understood by all sides it can't have any real power the reason 0:33:9 that our that Harpers Ferry struck such a thunderbolt in the South was because of how many Northerners they knew agreed with John Brown how many Northerners had sympathy for John Brown there was there was they were all throughout the north especially in New England church bells rang in commemoration of him after he was executed a guy who was sentenced to death for treason and who had fired on American troops and they knew that the stakes were real and that they needed to break off from the United States as quickly as possible so that they could prevent the slow and Steady's usurpation of slavery by those whereas any action taken now is not taken be it on behalf of any constituency that has any form than well somebody 0:34:28 says what would a right-wing John Brown figure look like the closest thing to John Brown in the in like the last 30 years just in terms of being a religiously inspired terrorism homegrown in the United States is Operation Rescue and anti-abortion movement the guys who killed George Tiller those guys think of themselves as John Brown figures Kansas embraces John Brown largely not because of race but because they see it as they see his actions as a as the embryo of their attempts to end the

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

Holocaust of slava of abortions I love someone says Joshua Josh Stoller Matt Josh Holly and Matt Zoller will lead a national Workers Party that that could only make sense if you are on Twitter basically exclusively those guys are ***** pencil neck 0:35:30 Doris that nobody knows whatever Trump whatever form trumpism takes it's going to be in his shape which means it's going to be about just pure libidinal enjoyment not not an ideologically coherent project which fascism never is anyway it's gonna be it's gonna be one of the clowns it's gonna be one of the goofballs it's not gonna be one of these ***** these these ideological little gnomes sitting back thinking that they've squared the circle on maintaining conservative Tucker is to see Tucker could Tucker is the only one of the people that has brought up in this vein that seems 0:36:31 even mildly my only possible but honestly the thing I think of is Tucker has the Bernie Sanders problem if his long as Trump's alive and not president anymore right imagine this Trump still alive if he thinks that Carlson is in any way not on his side doesn't like him if he gets jealous of how successful Carlson is on the campaign trail he could decide to denounce him and if he denounces him it's ***** cooked if there's battle between Tucker Carlson and Donald Trump Tucker Carlson will lose it doesn't matter if he's the one who's actually got the ideology and he's actually gonna carry it forward and he's got the vision to no no no don't you see I'm really gonna implement this stuff no no no I'm the one I'm the brains you think he's gonna win if Trump gets offended by that if Trump la ifs Trump thinks that his campaign is implying he didn't do a good enough job making America great all he do is be he would have to 0:37:33 he would just have to say I don't like him and that's doubt in the end because the spectacle I would say Don Jr has a better chance to be the next Republican nominee than a guy like Josh ***** Holly and Mike Pence more than any of them not cuz not Mike Pence has juice or anything but just because for them for the Biden effect of he was just there for eight years or four years whatever it is and they just like the vibe that he brings cuz he reminds them of the guy they yeah everyone senator by the 0:38:49 weird triangular shelf I have here I don't actually know what the deal is it is Trump ye somebody says Trump doesn't have any of our pence doesn't have any of trumps energy Joe Biden doesn't have the only thing that would defeat that is if somebody was like more connected to Trump and more viable so that's why I say I think Tom Jaudon jr. would probably beat Penn suspect but the funny thing is Trump might not endorse Don jr. if he ran which would hurt us and you I got to say there might 0:40:3 not be an election in November and anyone who wants to scoff at that one look at what just happened in Georgia they just cancelled not postponed they cancelled a state Supreme Court race and then the governor Republican governor just appointed a guy for two years they just canceled the election unilaterally and I mean what if that happened especially if I mean by Neff November you could be in the beginning of what is predicted to be a second much worse wave of coronavirus that's gonna be hitting right around then you're gonna have some states that are gonna have made preparations for that by allowing for vote-by-mail like California but a lot of states their entire political architecture of power is dependent on voter suppression and making voting difficult so they're not going to give that up until it's too late and then you're gonna have a system where you can't safely vote in half the states 0:41:6 they're gonna have a plausible argument to just ***** say we're not to having the election right now and more important than that I asked you if they said that what would stop them realistically what would prevent that from happening I've thought about this I don't know if the Joint Chiefs aren't on board and like I've said those guys are absolute yes men just lunkheads or enough of them are that anyone who had any problems would probably swallow their tongue hell the ***** Democrats would probably sign off on it because to say this is what it is would break the system and they don't want to do that the same way Gore didn't really contest what happened in 2000 they would have to sign off on it because if they didn't sign off on it then that would mean that the system was irrevocably broken and they could never accept that so even if they ***** said even if Trump himself the Chito in chief that goddamned 0:42:8 life-sized cheeto the cheeto creature foodstuff put into a suit orange dust covering the white house the orange house were like even if he said we're not in the election because they know the only alternative to acquiescing is what filing a lawsuit and one way or the other suggesting to the American people that the American that the ***** system of government is gone and that they no longer in a democracy which they've their entire existence is to prevent people from realizing that they don't live in a democracy why would they change horses in midstream the entire point of the Democratic Party is to not let people realize that American democracy is non-existent so if they made the final move and just canceled the election what would be in any their interests to stop doing what they've been doing the whole time 0:43:10 BAM yeah I think that's true I don't think anybody realizes a degree to which this is all this can all go away and of course there's a lot of reasons they don't want it to mostly related to like ***** you know bond rating and things like that and how and how far America's credit can go and and the necessity of these institutions in preserving that but if you have a bad enough like real economic crisis they'll probably just throw the so yeah until the last they would say we are disappointed we are disappointed that we could not figure out a way to make the selection safe 0:44:13 we're hoping to come move forward and find a solution that it's bipartisan and that ensures fair elections for everyone and that we will have a voice in the our form of government blah blah blah and at that point you can just kick that can down the road all you want every year just postpone it every year postpone it until you look around and realize no one's and if you have something like that though depending on what party it is in charge the thing you might see you might see some secession like if Trump did that at the national level what I said goes but gavin newsom might decide that he wants to ***** make a play for it maybe with the whole ***** west 0:45:14 western seaboard may you know that that now now maybe and it Biden wins by the way at all and they gets in there or the Democrat whoever it is cuomo hillary i if they don't if there is no resolution to the significant like structural collapse of the economy right now you will see very quickly the Secession movement blow up a real one where some ***** used-car salesman the ***** hot tub dealer talk radioed underpaid who's conned his way into a governor's mansion from Texas to Georgia to Florida wherever is going to have every incentive in the world to push all social 0:46:17 unrest and anger about the state of the economy on to the federal government which will eventually create a movement of demanding conflict with that government if things kept keep getting worse and eventually they're gonna have to say actually no it's not all their fault it's actually a lot of my fault we don't know what we're doing or you have to go forward then you have to go through with what they want which would be some sort of attempt to break away from the country once again as I'm saying this is all predicated on a unrestrained economic collapse and so if this doesn't happen you don't get to be smug and say Matt was wrong yeah in the sense that that didn't that that level of economic misery didn't persist but I don't know at this point what is more likely that something's gonna come in and rescue us or that we are in for a long dark night economically speaking with a less and less 0:47:18 durable political order that has less and less communal yeah that's the other thing that might happen is even with all that going on they could just have the election with half the states not having at any kind of functional electoral infrastructure and within less a 30 percent turnout at which point you basically crossed the same sort of Rubicon of failing to huh man the vaccine guy the vaccine it just seems so perfect 0:48:22 that all that a ***** tip tip of the cap to the showrunner who came up with the idea that this season of America would end on a cliffhanger of whether or not the country would take vaccines which I mean if you seem contagion that's the whole thing they have a similar world destroying although much higher lethality rate flu type 2 thing that rips or America rips through the world disrupts everything and then is we're all saved by the vaccine because all the anti vaccine crazies like Jude Law have been proven wrong with their fake scam drugs that they only want to tell people to take because they haven't stock in the company got that movie really is hilariously prescient uh-huh and everyone's gonna take it and be fine AAA in this 0:49:24 ***** country you're telling me that you can ***** come out and say hey yeah this this disease that just showed up two years a year ago we've now got a vaccine for

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

it everyone take it now in a country where people weren't even getting their ***** MMR's and now we've got a drug the thing that people are gonna stink is filled with Jeffrey Epstein's jizz and maybe it will be who ***** knows and then you'll have the amazing cognitive dissonance of Trump telling people to take a vaccine when so many of his supporters are anti-vaxxers and he has been in the past one too but of course at this point he doesn't give a ***** about that he just wants things back up and running yes need the vaccine and like I said he's got to call it a potion or something or a tonic or or an unguent because the word vaccine is just gonna cause they're gonna freak out I mean maybe they'll end up taking it but it's gonna cause a deeper level of cognitive dissonance that's gonna require acting out even further 0:50:26 so they'll take the vaccine maybe but they're gonna be even more insane by doing so but a big chunk of them I think won't because I've already seen some people say if Trump tells me to fake a vaccine I'm not taking it I'll know they got to it and there's gonna be plenty of that I guaran-fucking-tee you Heep comes out with the vaccine there's gonna be plenty if they got to it because those are foundational beliefs not everyone of course does a lot of them love Trump more than anything those are foundational beliefs and then there are a bunch of liberal ***** anti-vaxxers let's not forget that Louis vaccination rates in the country what like Marin County California Trump telling them to take a ***** vaccine when they don't get their kids vaccinated yeah I don't think that's happening I do love that they're already warning people that this is probably gonna be a fake vaccine and that it probably won't work and it'll probably kill more people but hey we'll have it and once we have it no one has any and then you got dershowitz out that are going the government could make you 0:51:45 get vaccinated and shovel and shut needles in your arm it's like god damn what are you trying to do man are you trying to but yeah this whole plot coming to a head around the question of whether we can convince enough Americans to take the ***** vaccine to get her immunity at this point with this degree of complete paranoia and social mutual mistrust interesting times a cool zone highway to the cool zone dude 0:52:51 to do yeah I've got to say scariest this time is its it's also man can you imagine not having gotten to this point in the story can you imagine not having got to the game show host president presiding over the Black Plague part of the American story you kick yourself if you're you're up there in the imminence spirit with all time and space communing together and if you could just pop in for a second pass where your life ended and got to this part you'd be like got there ***** how did I miss this ***** like hitchens how do you think Hitchens feels right now Oh shouldn't if I can smoke so much dude shouldn't if I can't drank that much he might still be around to see 0:53:53 some cool ***** I could see him being a absolutely being ya know pre-opened guy no question he would be 100% or re-opened guy show your manly he'll show your

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

masculinity then he would get it and immediately die just absolutely die instantly he would be the only Phil celebrity to sometimes I'm like oh no I wish Bill Hicks was still here to see this but of course then I realized he that he is he's still here for us all and he's so mayor is asking about Hegel and something from the phenomenon of geology of the spirit about how the grille pill notion essay is a futile attempt to compensate for your inability to act on the world and I would say that Hegel that's that's true to the extent but that in the real situation that we face and the real attempt to negotiate a world that has so much symbolic a spectacle to it that is so removed from our day-to-day lives that I would say that it's doomed to fail if it's sterilized it's doomed to fail if it's the only thing you do but if you use it as a practice to get you back to a place where you actually can engage with the world around you because you haven't been insurance or –sold you haven't been in source 'old by the fifty thousand screens you look at everyday a thing that Heigl and Hegel could never of ***** conceived of then I think it's something useful as a as a practice to refocus attention at energy closer to you she know Christ stupids are cheat oh Christ stupid czar he's a stupid Tsar guy he's goddamn it you guys reminded me that there's a cheeto in the White House that can't believe there is a Cheeto emote we're gonna need to work with that we're gonna need to get a Cheeto emote going in the chat right now all we have is a Dorito which is not quite the same thing because his head is not triangular it's oh yes vibing this calling Trump President Tweety very good very good very good the thing is you don't have to do that you shouldn't do that you should not try to own Trump it's just the battle you can't win you kind of come in from a different angle that was the whole burning idea it was Bernie was gonna come at him from a different angle he wasn't gonna have to call him president Cheeto but now with Biden you know asserting a absolutely dead consensus on the Left what the ***** is the point of any of this so you might as well just go for the rafters and just insult the ***** out of them Nancy Pelosi starting it but of course of course she had to do it in the most the premise most bloodless Democrat way instead of saying dude you're a fatty boob a tea with them with him too I wanna look at them titties Lou TVs bouncing that shirt look at that gun no she says he's morbidly obese a clinical term a term of a doctor would use to subscribe a condition that you should really you're gonna have to do something about that just the fridge just a I finger-wagging judgmental clinical tone so he's so loved from Democrats instead of just calling him a big fat ***** instead of saying dude look at your ass your ass is like two ***** mini fridges in a ***** Joseph a bank some soup pantsuit you wear for as I have suggested to say he wears a diaper ***** you wear a diaper look at the baggy ass pants you had a diaper under there you ***** yourself or just say I saw him ***** himself his face scrunched up any what and then I smelled it and then he waddled

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

out of the room what's he gonna do deny it yes he's gonna deny it all day instead you got these Democrats you got got grandpa Simpson getting into the sassafras and going president Twitty bird over here with them with the flip-flops on the trip trap okay can't get him out of the Telegraph room and then we got Nancy Pelosi just just someone needs to someone needs to call Trump what Mickey Rourke called 1:0:16
Trump in I know he's not on that hydrochloric Queen ship but it would be so funny if he was like if he was actually taking it if he was that committed to the bit that he was taking it but also very funny if he thinks he's taking it and they're giving him placebo I think he's just lying I mean that's what he does he's like yesterday yeah it's great I love it I love it but I would love it if it would be amazing if he was ***** just getting Pez and they didn't even take they didn't even bother not to give it to him with from the dispenser he just thinks that's how it comes yes he doesn't even know he thinks he's on it oh because look at that it's done fader a.fader oh my gosh 1:1:20 but a little prescription tab on the side he thinks it's real it doesn't matter if he did die though if you really took it and he got a heart attack from it for his ***** just car battery filled with Velveeta ass heart to burst Wow that might be the funniest thing we could happen just purely funny like not even lol hellworld funny I mean seriously how funny would that be what would the riffs be like the day that Trump just ***** his heart explodes like a bratwurst in the microwave cuz he gave himself the fish cleaner drug I mean yeah I don't know if you couldn't top it for comedy it would be the funniest thing ever and yet very few people would get good jokes off about it that's the thing cuz how do you top it almost every joke would suck all the beams would be ***** all the bits would be suck all the podcast episodes trying to 1:2:22 riff on it would suck because none of them would compete to compare to the actual thing just the man and can you imagine the Liberals trying to like recalibrate their whole world now that he wasn't there they're having to reapply all their hatred on the dull as dishwater time serving gray pant pleat Mike Pence oh my goodness he is not an enemy worthy of the name Donald Trump is the ultimate liberal nemesis he 1:3:23 is their Moby Dick he represents everything that they love he represents every every element of culture that they're repulsed by everything about this country that makes them uneasy and contemptuous and nauseous Trump represents all of it in one gaudy package and they have therefore been able to invest this hatred into him that they could never even muster for George Bush and because he sought to stoke it which is one of the things George Bush was mostly oblivious to the hatred of liberals people around him loved it and made and and would tee it up more tees it up Bush was oblivious if anything he was probably a little annoyed by it he even wanted to be liked Trump through sheer fixation is able to completely invest them with intentionally 1:4:24 with ever increasing amounts of rage that they directed him and for that to just

CUSHVLOG 26. PERSPECTIVES WITH LIONEL OSBOURNE

go away like that with no judgment no cosmic judgment he wasn't defeated in an election he wasn't arrested he didn't poop his pants on pump in public and admit that the Putin is his daddy just died on the toilet it'd be funny for a minute but then the goddamn gaping halt if that would leave inside of them what would fill that what could possibly fill that Mike Pence could never ever fill it and that same Hall in the other reverse that same positively erotic Association the conservatives have with Trump that he is out stalking in them the opposite and equal delight to the liberals to have that emotion relationship just snap severed instantly with no apotheosis supposed to be directed on to ***** Mike Pence it's gonna cost it would have to cause an explosion in some way how could how could people reconcile a life with that such that big a part of their emotional landscape gone with no context not resolved into anything else just gone just imagine it I honestly think that it could cause a national nervous breakdown think about that I'll see you guys soon I don't know maybe tomorrow maybe the next but we'll have another one pretty soon trying to do two or three a weekend at least so talk to you 1:5:25

CushVlog 27

---

More like CHADlai Stevenson

5.20.20

ah there we go that took a minute took a minute but it worked now we're here we're here hello chatting it up chatting it up two days probably not gonna do tomorrow so I wanted to get one in here beautiful day the city feeling good my grill isn't here yet but when I get it I'm gonna go to town and as I said I hope you guys are the first to find out you guys will be the first to see the the setup which will be very 0:1:2 very elementary don't roast me I'm a virgin driller I don't need a maybe show you how I do it how I cook it up we'll see not yet though right now I'm in here I'm in here looking out the window trying not to get my neighborhood mad at me again although now it would be more than just him because it's it's grilling season so I got neighbors very close on every side and someone's gonna call the cops if I start if I keep hollering out there so I'll try to haul her in here keep hollering about the anoobas right here for you people and not get me in trouble with the police or anything I definitely don't need a couple of freakin Staten Island NYPD Psychopaths to show up and put me in a chokehold well thank you hell yes the Snyder cut will be released and I gotta say I mean it is absolutely a symbol of great a bankruptcy and it's a 0:2:4 symbol of just the lack imeem they're doing this because one they're out of ideas and two they literally can't make other movies right now this is just a way to to take something that they have and had no use for and now can actually get some money from I mean they're plotting the silver Ayers assignment that the economy is specifically the entertainment economy is in a crisis that it might not recover from it if it does it won't look the same but at the same time god I want to see it if it's really three and a half hours three and a half hours of superhero movies by a guy who hates superheroes specifically Superman god they'll be great it'll be fun I can't wait 2021 hope we make it guys hope you make it BAM hope we make it so that we can all be in our third quarantine and watch the ***** Snyder cut I started watching this the 0:3:12 plinky review but the thing is I didn't watch the show and I don't care I'm on Star Trek so it's like I can't actually get into this I still like those guys obviously and I like their Star Trek stuff Star Wars stuff but I'd never check II honestly podcasts might be might be one of the few things to survive I mean not necessarily the ad-supported

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

ones but just because of the overhead compared to other entertainment products it can be viable in a way that that a lot of these yeah that's the other thing as a podcast it can be done in quarantine I mean they can't shoot movies right now if they wanted to they wanted to make more money off their investments like the the sunk costs of all the debt service for the for all the maintenance of the physical plant they can't do it anybody can still be recording podcasts everyone of course that means you could get a real because we thought we hit peak podcast but that was before this now podcasting you know becomes one of the only viable entertainment sectors that could reliably produce new material people say animated movies sure but those turn the turnarounds much much slower and of course barrier for entry is much higher so we might finally get to the Andy Warhol everyone has a ***** podcast that spends 15 minutes I don't hate Chris Hedges I just think that he is uh he's exactly the kind of guy you don't want on your side in any kind of argument because he embodies all of the most off-putting elements of of left of political culture the stiff-necked Puritanism of like the Congregationalist reformers of the 19th century and like those people hat were allies but they should not be shaping arguments on behalf of the left because they're not really pitching towards those people well i by which i mean regular people how do I feel about destiny the streamer how why would you ask me that come on people what am I think of Rhys was Richard Jewell I've said this before so I won't to say too much more but I think it's fantastic I think it's amazing I feel like for all the missteps and sort of half-assed ***** that he's done in the last 20 years when he's just been banging him out and not really caring too much he maybe accidentally he ***** hit a goddamn home run just not even trying to I don't even know but where maybe he was maybe he was trying to get something with other projects that he couldn't quite put into words and this is finally the right combination of like true story point-of-view character stakes to actually stick it because Eastwood's movies and you can look back and even the really bad one this is like American sniper which is a terrible movie that has awful politics but in addition to that is a shitty fill it is a bad even as an action movie the action scenes are dog ***** because Eastwood is a corner cutting ***** of course there's CGI instead of real squibs of course first shot of the movies had blown somebody away from long distance and of course it's squib city it's the ***** CGI city even as an action film it fails but he's been trying to say something about the crisis of American masculinity which of course people then trying to articulate for decades now and I think he got he's been trying to get at essential quality of it an essential conflict of the heart of like trying to be a guy in America when the when you're in a transitional state a way for valuing the the sort of male attributes that built the society and the social structure that you were brought into but are now the material conditions are changing but of course they're

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

changing ahead of the change in the culture and that creates this space of vertigo and this is uncertainty and how do we fill it and very few movies talk about that I mean they're too anxious about the subjects they're just gonna primly like toxic masculinity or if they're you know just ***** and they're just gonna bat you know going to reaction airily just wallow in toxicity for its own sake without even reflecting on it I feel like Eastwood is actually not he's not trying to trigger the lips as funny as much as they pitch that movie Australia to villagers and as much honestly as the logline makes it look like it's supposed to treated the libs innocent man who's just trying to save the day is harassed by the fake news media academia and the FBI just like it's certain someone I know the actual movie itself is not like that the actual movie itself is an incredibly perceptive and nuanced examination of how class intersects with masculinity and whiteness of course also really good and I want to do it so I want to do a I want to do an episode with me and we'll where we just talk talk about it sound streaming now so I think soon we're gonna we're gonna watch it I don't know what we might do a commentary track but honestly I think we might just do a regular episode it'll be one of the rare ones where we're talking about a movie that's actually on argh an ironic Lee really really good and not something where you're trying to pick the the ***** out you know pick the oats out of the ***** like this is a real gem a cut gem that's it as it were since these would is a Goya's hell away right I've showered shut up I didn't see dragged across concrete because I I knew like kiss Rena has his last two movies almost like a week after they left theaters were on streaming on Amazon so I just thought I'd wait and then and then ***** should grant across concrete went to Cinemax which I don't have and now I'm honestly just it's spiked I will not pay money to see it so I'm just gonna have to wait for it to eventually because I know that the minute I ***** rent it it'll be somewhere that I could stream for free and nobody say torrent it I don't know how to do that one honestly one time I tried to torn something and my computer nearly ***** had smoke coming out of it I do not know how to do that I see that I see that wall is on you have it still that's a hell of a coup I honestly would not want to talk to Jacob wall just because I don't want to pierce the veil he's doing something that's operating at such a higher level than most other people in in comedy and it's certainly in political comedy I mean most importantly like when you consider the the wasteland that is political comedy in this country the absolute just nadir the ***** level of quality I mean my god while the comedy is so bad under Trump that people think we're funny our show is funny because compared to everything else it actually kind of is and I think that Moore's just speaks to the absolute paucity of the of the genre in this age of Trump the inability of anybody to figure an angle that is so with that the case with with comedy so ***** in politics wall is the king whoa is

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

is absolutely killing it because I don't and I can't even I mean she and II confidence the comparison but honestly it's I think an even level beyond after Andy Kaufman because I feel like Jacob wall has truly gotten to the point where he doesn't care what anyone thinks of him where he doesn't like his after his performance is either a subconscious or a conscious performance of total submission to the to the psychology of online to the psychology of Fame in the era of the internet the idea that there is no distinguishing figure there is no distinguishing characteristic between good and bad Fame good and glad notoriety good and bad press any of that that all that being a thing is all that matters being a media thing is the only thing that defines your life it is what separates you from the people who increasingly are seeing their lives not only determined by you know spiritual enemy that comes from working jobs as they don't love compromise most people Fight Club era but now actually have the wolf at their door materially Lord Lauren we're gonna see it and then one thing that is almost a sure guide ramp away from that is ***** Fame you can squeeze some juice out of almost any ***** lemon if you've got a little bit of ***** fame if you've got a little bit of notoriety you can prime the pump and I mean even if that means like I mean that's going all the way through every level of the economy from you know Tom Cruise to ***** to podcasters to to twitch streamers to people with only fans and ChatterBait notoriety is the only surefire or mostly surefire escape hatch from just the banality and and and and so the best way to secure that is to not care what the attention is like wall truly doesn't care what people think of him in a way that no no internet prankster no Andy Kaufman could ever say my every ***** black pill teenager who like makes fun of cringe would die if someone that they respected another another black pill person thought if they warn't twisted that they weren't epically ***** twisted same thing with all the outright people you don't want people to think that you're a cop and of course obviously it's on the left it's incredibly important like no matter what your performance is towards somebody noted your hostility or anything there is some things you won't say and some things you won't do because you want someone somewhere to think that you're doing a good job you don't want everyone to think you're an ***** Jacob walls stick is ensures that everyone will think that he's an idiot because right-wingers don't I mean come on like his stuff is is embarrassing no one takes it seriously it undermines the right wing but she's also too absurd for anybody and he's too good at keeping a poker face for anyone to dare suggesting he might be in on it to the degree that he shouldn't be shunned and then just like as an operator he looks like a clown because none of his ops work they all blow up in his face it's pure entertainment value he's doing it purely to entertain and that entertainment doesn't have to be connected to any feeling about him and that is pure all other entertainment there is a ego there's an ego hitching a

0:12:33

0:13:35

0:14:37

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

ride that wants to be seen a certain way by certain people it might be a very small group ***** everyone else but there's someone I want to impress someone I want to recognize what I'm trying to do who catches the wink even if it's a very slight wink they catch the wink well unlike everyone and then I'm just like I'm saying Sam hide 0:15:40 the ***** the Kaufman to everybody he does not blink and so the I just thought I wouldn't want to talk to him how am I gonna how can I possibly engage with him I don't want to assume anything about what he really believes and what he really thinks and I certainly can't credit anything he would tell me is meaning anything I mean is he just totally vapid is he a pure product of his environment because his dad is the ***** oath is that as a psycho right-wing media huckster from California an ambulance chaser - I think so and born into this life I mean maybe he is just that transparent and that's stunted that he has just totally had that worldview impressed upon him to the point that it's translucent even to himself that would be fascinating but I wouldn't know from his answers if that were the case or if he's on a fifty level irony regression that no one could possibly follow it's I just don't want to I don't 0:16:41 want to tempt fate you know I feel like Indiana Jones when they opened the Ark of the Covenant you close your ***** eyes but if anybody else wants to interview him I'll probably listen to that yeah but still I'm just curious apparently Brandon Waddell wanted him to named five hot babes that's kind of funny i won already said Oh Jack Burkman is amazing where the ***** did he get that guy the ***** the turtleneck the turtleneck sport jacket combination that it suggests the as Felix said that turtleneck suggests the neck brace that you know he's usually wearing to small claims court fly down at the Muller one the first big would fly down putting the thing of the MS oh my god I mean he looks like a 90 softcore porn actor he looks like he was in a movie with ***** Shannon Tweed like yeah I did not read the tracing angle 0:17:43 piece I saw excerpts if anyone is I mean he's blocked but brace Belden has an account where he went through it and I agree with him it's just hard not to see it all as a as as part of the score settling because you know yeah you had the rat libs and you had the and you had those class reductionists and they were all like eye on each other across the across the thoroughfare achter and that whole bernie can't pay him they were keeping their powder dry and now Bernie's gone boom the guns are back out and it's back to the exact same arguments which is what kind of made me have my moment of realizing oh my god we're right back where we started like when that whole should people do slurs in DSA thing it's like how do you not get a just sold drenching horror 0:18:44 of deja vu knowing that this is the exact same ***** argument which and no one has progressed all the Bernie campaign did was just give everybody something else to talk about for a while now if he'd won I think over time some of that friction would have resolved itself just through actual engagement with the world like Oh Bernie's

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

in charge now we actually have a project and I think some people would split off and be like no ***** this I need to maintain my my sanctity but I think a lot of people a lot of the more good faith people who are there and have to be reckoned with and are ignored by both sides would have come together but sadly it was it was abortive and now a lot of it's just thrown back up the barricades so it's very disappointing to see I will say that it's very funny the trace Michael Tracy is writing this article about how Bernie you know wasn't a merit because it was too adulterated with the ideas 0:19:45 of these radical identitarian Zahn line who he has to please there was a candidate who had the campaign that Michael Tracy wanted and he recognized that and he supported her and doggedly followed around the place that her name was ***** Tulsi Gabbard I've seen I was at the Iowa Court ***** and I saw tells again ever give her stops Beach I nearly passed out she does exactly what he talked about and flag apple pie blah blah blah that Radley Virgil asked her if she was an anti-imperialist and she said I'm pro-american and of course jaded Brooklynites rolled her eyes of that but that's exactly the kind of answer the Michael Tracy would want to a question like that and it got her nowhere and more importantly than it didn't get her door with the art with the with the voters it got her nowhere with the press and the party either she was still persona non grata she was still the craziest sod apologist she was still someone who no respectable person could engage with so that implies that if Bernie 0:20:46 was as indigestion albino party as we all us now know he had to a bend for what they did he was that indigestion then his gestures towards ***** of a patriotic piety would have ***** been rejected and the idea that there are some massive people who aren't paying attention to the media to have that shaped yeah they weren't paying attention then they stayed not paying attention they continued to not pay attention because they are broken off from the political system that's what we discovered during this campaign Bernie ***** up a lot of things but that was the fundamental juncture where it was ***** up and no amount of messaging at any minute level of the campaign strategy was gonna change that you needed to change the conveyor belt of ideology to action operating with huge chunks of the working class of this country and the ***** Sanders campaign was supposed to help jumpstart the movement but if that was supposed to kick in to create a virtuous cycle and the kicking in never 0:21:48 happened and that was and that was because if you're not paying attention you sure ***** don't notice if Bernie Sanders has a flag pin on you sure as ***** don't care that he said that he wanted to abolish ice you know if you are not registering these things at the level of political engagement so they are essentially useless to you know their information it's like ***** you deep space readings from a ***** SETI tela antenna array or something just a bunch of beeps and Boop's in it on a screen you don't know what they mean because you're not connected to it it's uh it's ideal is what it is guys it's pure fantasy because like I've said this argument is at the level of ideology and it does not engage with the material at all because it's all done online so that means that all these ideas are purely generated by this fixation on a web conversation that is not being had by the vast majority of people in this country and that there is no not enough connective tissue between whatever the interests 0:22:50 might be represented by the hive mind of Twitter or something actually impressing themselves on the part on the political process more than things that are rooted in I don't know material interest and ***** money with the entire media like the entire to put both parties it's just like the the task was monumental and they and anyone that wants to talk about campaign strategy at any level being the foundational reason because obviously things were exacerbated by bad decisions in different areas and we can talk about that and I think Tracy and Nagel pointed to one good one which was yet they clearly ***** up South Carolina just through the campaigning I don't know anything specifically but the results speak for themselves in that there was clearly some something whatever they were doing wasn't working and they didn't recognize that time and that birdie should have been campaigning the whole time he should not have waited until 2000 what mm mm 18 I think like the end of 2018 he should 0:23:57 have been sort of in the de-facto candidate the whole time now that would have still been hard because the media has to kind of go along with you on that like by giving you attention and they would not have done so so once again a lot of these ended up catching on the question of what where does where do you break these these path dependent cycles between the voters and the media and engage people who are essentially so but I'm saying those things might have exacerbated it and like I said if and like we always thought the hope was keep the anti Bernie people from uniting until it's too late and that could have worked even with the media against him with a few things with dip things going differently with a smaller Biden victory in South 0:24:58 Carolina for one not winning South Carolina that looks like that would never have happened but if they cut that margin down that could have helped that could have changed the contours of the race and then but then let's Corona hits but you really can't be predicting anything anymore because I think Bernie's still had a chance after Super Tuesday in the conditions of a regular campaign where they're about roughly equal number of Delegates you don't have the economy collapsing and the giant viral attack and Biden has to campaign regularly he has to go outside he has to be voters he has to shake hands he has to give speeches every day like this the fact that they had were left with the desperate move of going the biten by Bernie that shows that Bernie was a threat and it also left them vulnerable in a longer run but of course we never got that for reasons that I don't think anyone could point to as being politically based and certainly not based on ***** Twitter conversations legacy of 0:26:22

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

asses has some fun stuff in it and there's plenty of stories it's true stories of CIA goof ups but it's got it feels like a limited hangout because it's one of those books where its main put argument is that the CIA is too bad at his job to really be a threat that all of their worst crimes are crimes of incompetence that they then tried to cover up and that's not really true I mean there were there are a lot of genuine bumbles I mean the way that they got like 500 Eastern Europeans contract agents killed because they kept dropping them into behind the Iron Curtain while Kim Philby is in the room knowing exactly where every one of them went and that they'd never noticed for ***** years that every single guy they sent over there got so that was a genuine Bob a pig's another real bungle but that book doesn't have anything about for example you know the successful ***** it doesn't really talk as much about and 0:27:24 it doesn't really talk about MKULTRA to any serious extent or a Kaos operation that went along with COINTELPRO or Gladio and ***** like that which I know is a NATO operation but the CIA helped set all those organizations up all that post-war Project Paperclip stuff you know it all gets kind of soft soaked but there's still good information in it oh man that CIA tweak fuckin'-a Air America don't other ***** hmm like the biggest most successful drug smuggling operation of the last 40 years was carried out by that ***** Pablo Escobar or El Chapo or anybody it was the ***** Central Intelligence Agency from the Vietnam War creating a heroin Network out of nowhere there was opium in Southeast Asia but there was no industrial heroin production until the CIA showed up in the early 60s and turned the Golden Triangle into the world's headquarters for ***** heroin which they shift around on air America 0:28:27 then after the Boland amendment and they were cut off funding to the Contras they ***** so crack to their own citizens for I mean they say they saw the heroin in their own servicemen because tongues by the end of the war like a third of the ***** troops in Vietnam Ron smackle it was not provided by the CIA like my low binder binder ***** and then they sold crack to their own citizens through a ram contra and then after Afghanistan was invaded they went from almost eradicating the poppy of crops to becoming now the world ***** headquarters for heroin production or and for opium and these ***** and of course as I said Southern Air Transport which was the technical name for air America bought by les Wexner in the 90s used by L brands to ship clothing across the world Jesus ***** Christ and they're just there Davin 0:29:30 on us ***** CIA's dab it on us like the FBI they're Martin Luther King Day thing this is like the ***** snow man did mr. Pope mr. conspiracy theory I gave I guess they're just like you know what ***** it ***** it masks entirely off I think we're definitely in the masks off decades cool zone decades mask off favorite Chris Elliott 0:30:34 I really love I love again life one of my favorite shows seminal comedy influenced as a child but the actual show itself you know you remember as a kid there's bits spew

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

E is the top about a masterpiece one of the greatest episodes of sitcom television ever Eagle Hearts very good too but goddammit cap cabin boy is such a beautiful little gem 90 minutes **Music playing** my favorite ice cream is this the stretch it shellye gelato I've had a fancy boy a fancy cheap tastes it is not Jenny's that is some ***** pizza gay ice cream no thank you someone saw tremors and says it's oh man 0:31:53

I don't know my July 4th I somebody asked about this the magnet protests of the 4th of July I think everything's gonna be out and about by July 4th and honestly I'm kind of getting to the point where I think the people who are I mean obviously not the protesters those people are buffoons but people who are starting to go out I think that they honestly as much as people are yelling at them and thinking of them as either selfish which yes very selfish but stupid and ignorant I kind of think that they have a better grasp of the real dynamics of play here than people who are still a sitting at home and making sure that they don't need to go to their friends houses or something because they mean they might not recognize this but as I have said there is not going to be any cavalry coming there's not gonna be any fixing this in a way that allows us to stay inside indefinitely people are gonna have to go back out and 0:32:54

as I have said that that's gonna be the attempt to like boost the economy back up and that's why when Trump was saying that thing about how testing is bad given that mindset it's not stupid to think that because that's gonna undermine consumer confidence now somebody has said after that they've said yeah but it's not gonna work people aren't gonna come out I mean economy's still gonna be ***** and so it's still stupid well yeah that is gonna happen but the thing is the people in charge of us they are not going to deviate from the courser on this disastrous mutual ruination where you ignore the science and you you you allow the disease to run its riot run riot and try to recreate the retail economy that is those are incompatible things because people are gonna get too sick to work and people aren't gonna want to go outside they're not gonna want to go to the place because it's still dangerous out so that means that it won't work but they're not gonna do anything to change this course 0:33:55

until they see that it doesn't work and I'm not saying that in in terms of like being an acceleration assay realistically given the people in charge given the constraints given their their rewards given their knowledge and their values and an ideology every vector they will always take well we could open things back up again and they'll get normal it will open things they don't have anything else in the toolbox so they assume this will work they have to see it not work and when I say not work I mean now we have to do something else because the economy is still collapsed and people are now sicker than ever something else has to be done they will not get to that point until they see it fail so if that's the case why the hell see if somebody says it's 0:34:58 it's gonna kill it wants to kill and nobody's gonna bat an eye yes but people are still

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

gonna stay indoors to avoid getting killed they're not gonna bat an eye they're not gonna get too mad them government for letting this happen they're not gonna have a revolution but they're also not going to go to the store as much they're not gonna go to the bar as much they're not going to go to the restaurants they're not gonna spend they're not going to do this spending that has to fill the giant void that got created by demand basically drying up for three months that reality is going to persist and it's gonna have to be dealt with not in the sense of well shouldn't someone deal with this in the sense of the thing isn't gonna work anymore like the lights aren't gonna go on now I'm not saying it's gonna get to that point but I'm just going to say that has to be on the table as a possibility to get anything to change to get anything to change now what that change is yeah we could be talking about some nightmare like 0:35:59 where we well that's I've talked about this in the past where we hyper police people who are suspected or infected and let everybody else out but honestly the thing that could prevent that is just there's a reason we haven't been able to get together any kind of testing and tracing mechanism even though that would be obviously good for the economy like in the interests of capital getting trusting and tracing together would be in the unnn like not in any country there's no conflict there there's no like post you know 48 revolution in France whoosh whap conflict everybody in charge of everything once testing and tracing because it would allow Commerce and yet we don't have any that means that somewhere along the line there's too many hands out there's too much outsource machinery and infrastructure there's there's it's too threadbare of a of a of a of a of an but we can't do it like you say the South Korea did it 0:37:2 yes but South Korea has institutions that could be that can be built up and scaled up to handle this there is nothing that can be scaled anywhere because everything's been auctioned off you would have to go when what happened to the eurozone did they get rid of the eurozone today I mean that was inevitable it was an inevitable sin so late honestly it was just gonna be one more push for the Coke machine to fall over I mean it was inevitable as soon as they created the EU was doomed as soon as 0:38:3 they if as soon as a big enough crisis hit it before its political union had like solidified behind it and so since that happened that basically that was the beginning of the end there that was where the tumor was first metastasized so what happened to it what happened are they you the eurozone fund got bailed out Oh mori austerity for southern Europe that's great ah ***** does that mean Italy's gonna go ya know the idea that there's they're gonna ***** make them borrow the money to avoid their society collapsing goddamn ***** Germans man just replace the Panzer with a ***** fountain pen and now goddamn gigabyte him I read well somebody says no 0:39:31 one's gonna leave the EU because the EU serves the interests of capital that's true but there is a political legitimacy crisis in Europe just there is there is us and there are centrifugal forces operating on the EU just as there are the United States and there more intensively at you because the EU identity is much more fragile so there's going to be a conflict between like national level of governing class and the ruling the ruling you know capital accumulation in Europe and that's that's going to play itself out politically and maybe militarily who knows and that's that same pressures happening in the US the US it'll take more for the u.s. to have the same fractures but I think those pressures existed acting like they're not that they can't go anywhere I think you're all Domecq anyone who says any of that like nothing will happen after that you are assuming that we recover with a speed and and smoothness that I just don't know is not I mean I'm not saying it's definitely not gonna happen but I'm saying 50/50 I have decided as a way to like clear my head of all these questions of what's gonna happen then I'm going to follow the Chuck Klosterman role which is that everything is a 50/50 proposition either can happen or a camps that's it's binary so therefore there's a 50/50 chance of anything happening and I know that's glib and it's kind of just jackassery but I you know I think it's a good way just for your own mental health to deal with the questions of the future both big and small for who's gonna win the presidential election do you know will the United States exist in ten years and the thing is is that when those things happen they will look very clearly Oh obviously this was yes but from this vantage point it's the ***** 50/50 do you do any kind of meditation at all yes ever since my moment in my garden I have been committing to daily daily sittings I had a really good one today I'm really really I've been groping around with it you know trying to see what works for me but I found I found some really uh today was really great I'll just say that I feel I feel centered so I recommend it to anybody who who feels like they're don't have their their lives are a little too forget it just is they are finding it hard to find themselves in a presence you know like too reactive or to to wool gathering you know being in in a moment that's a good way to be in a moment to train yourself over time to be more in a moment I hate mindfulness is awful ***** because it's been like everything else colonized and turned into neoliberal mind warfare but that's true of everything including Marxism to an extent but it's still good advice the problem is is that it just it doesn't you don't know what it means because it's just a word you have to actually like build up an understanding of it over time that's why it's hard to communicate this kind of stuff to oh man Wisconsin supper clubs whoo grand tradition very that leftover from Prohibition they released they were prohibition-era speakeasies it sort of evolved into restaurants their heyday was post-war era of course like it wasn't everything in America there are these CD well they work CD but they were they're very dark great darks will fill the cigarette smoke a huge curved dark leather banquettes almost no direct lighting very very dark and everything is just a

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

giant overpriced hunk of meat whoa people are bellowing tonight is it a full moon
I don't go outside anymore I said earlier I don't want my neighbors get mad at me I get too excitable sometimes I've been working out lately but problem is I can't 0:44:44 really modulate myself oh right at seven o'clock that's why everyone's going crazy I totally forgot no man fish fry is that is that is the inlet that's Third Coast ***** that's the that's the Catholic the Catholic Midwestern Heartland Friday fish fry baby have I had crawfish oh god yeah they're not really worth the work honestly but I remember one time I was in New Orleans and I had a giant huge just cartoonishly heaping pile of catfish I've eaten of crayfish and just work through them my fingers got like bright red it was fun uh you know what I'm not honoring the boaters cuz 0:45:45 ***** the boaters that's right I said it I am ***** letting down the beautiful boaters you know why because the beautiful boaters let us now if you guys know anything about that horrific ***** dam rupture in Michigan that's gonna maybe I don't know poison half the state because the ***** giant doubt chemical plants about to get ***** flooded is a private dam when this ***** owned he refused to do repairs on it that were required or I guess suggested I guess the rules don't apply anymore at all I just I don't understand it at no point was he just like coerced by the state into ***** maintaining this thing anyway and he wouldn't pay for it because a bunch of ***** disgusting boat sheds who live on the lake and benefit from this artificial lake that was created for a recreation that they that they pay for it and they say no you're making money off it you pay for it like all of you pigs should be paying for this and instead they ***** flooded the goddamn town gonna give everybody ***** 0:46:46 Legionnaires disease and goddamn microcephaly and it is an exact historical echo of the Johnstown Flood in late in robber baron era Pennsylvania it was a private ***** Johnson there was a damn near Johnstown Pennsylvania that was used to create an artificial lake for the ***** Carnegie's and their ***** friends to dick around waving the ***** straw boaters on I'm ***** pontoon boats playing banjos or whatever the ***** else and they just let it go to ***** and none of them would pay to repair it and the ***** thing exploded and killed the entire town and nobody got in trouble at all it's good to know that we've progressed so yeah but those boaters are two just disgustingly Pig selfish to conceive of any version of a public good and that they can all ***** off I used to ***** respect devoted boaters and now I don't know anymore I don't know if I could respect these boaters if they don't have any kind of Civic 0:47:48 understanding it's sad - this boats are cool but the kind of things that need to go in you hear it go on in your life to make you get a boat in this country basically yeah if it was Dunkirk none of those beautiful boaters would cross the channel to 0:49:10 save their troops they would watch TV and they would complain that nobody else is doing it not one of them would think to go ***** hitch up their own ***** boat and

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

ride into the the somebody wants to know about declining birth rates I mean that's a consequence of ease of life of us of comfort so soft that'll that dumb mean about the hard times making soft people or whatever the ***** soft by the way things 0:50:11 it's a it's a byproduct of of alien material an alienation giving way to to spiritual alienation just like there's a there's a sweet spot where people want to have a couple of kids and that keeps you know birth rates going and but you get to a point and you're either too comfortable to really even conceive of a future and you've totally focused on your personal pleasure so why would you need other people around from the future or what happens in countries like the US as opposed to more you know advanced countries without with higher standards of living is that everybody ***** is so terrified of losing their middle-class status that they can't have a kid but if you don't have any more of that fear of falling you'll have many more kids the fact you have to have kids it's you it's about finding a sweet spot of like assimilation and 0:51:12 technology and and and I mean it's not gonna be a problem anybody's gonna have in the future I don't think unless of course plastics have really done the number which is of course the scarier idea which is that it's not just you know a social phenomenon or not just not only a social phenomenon it's the result of the ***** plastic that we are all ingesting every second of our lives even before we're born and they get like gets into our ***** endocrine system and very well could be just decimating sperm counts and ***** like that and making it making us all literally literally infertile like we could be going into children of men territory children and then one of my favorite movies but it looks like we might beat that to the punch like right now it looks like yeah yeah birthday plastic thing we get that but we're probably gonna do something else some something involving climate change and probably this virus 0:52:13 this virus looks like something interesting we could probably work with that but ya know it's good to have in the hip pocket you know down the road if we make it through this good to know that we've got the impending mass sterilization caused by by I'm the presence of ***** petroleum products ***** petroleum products the goddamn dinosaurs the ***** dinosaurs goddamn dinosaur is extinct at our asses those dumb ***** with the little arms they extincted us without even trying can you believe it those ***** and we make so much fun of them for just feeling those morons had no idea big rock was gonna come and kill him it's like yeah they couldn't have they were ***** you know they were animals you are an advanced species you know you're doing and you keep doing it anyway you are much stupider than dinosaurs and they killed your ass without even being alive apparently dinosaurs are natural 0:53:20 gas not oil but guess what we're also my favorite dinosaur as a kid was probably the Triceratops because they're at the Milwaukee Public Museum which you go to when you were a kid in Wisconsin Milwaukee was the pick the field trip location well that

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

front for me anyway we went to the Milwaukee yes Museum public as iam we have a big thing it's like a dark chamber into the chamber there's this plastic t-rex that he's eating the Triceratops it's on its side and it's got like the guts in his mouth I don't know why I mean I guess I a fight with the Triceratops which probably is a great but 0:54:22 what do you do brontosaurus is what do I think of the parallel universe discovered 0:55:25 by NASA I'm just sitting over here we alike yeah no no uh certainly nothing that I do not that I not anticipate so all coming together all systems are coming into focus but yes parallel dimensions parallel realities those exist there's no question about that just the only question is whether they're accessible this indicates that they're accessible which is who if we can actually access that then we're living in rick and morty world and that would be pretty epic if we have the rick and morty time portal world or the dimensional portal world we get some dimensional cable up in here I'd appreciate that I'm sure it's not true because I don't know anything about science but I'm going to choose to believe it's true because it helps reify a worldview and attitude that I think is beneficial for me in the long term so I am just going to just 0:56:26 choose to believe that that's true that they've discovered parallel dimensions and that one day I will get to go to the America where they never ***** cancelled ***** Firefly and there's 15 seasons of Firefly for me to watch oh that would be so great zip over there get the mind disks and of course a mind disc player don't want to just have one without the other thank you I am having a pretty good dad feeling good 0:57:28
oh man if we got to live in sliders that would really redeem a lot of the shitty stuff it's like yes yes I'm sorry everything's sucked but you get to go to all these different universes check out the version of you that that actually knew how to dump it that could here's the version of you that could dunk a basketball live and get to check out that guy's life for a while how wicked Maddie I wish I would love to be with a scientist of that renowned and what does the ideal slider burger ah you know what I've had fancy ones I've had ones on little plates and at elegant openings and events I've had them at reclaimed-wood fancy gastro pubs with beer flights available White 0:58:31
Castle baby that's right White Castle oh god damn that's good ***** now you got me craving not that hungry thankfully I won't have to get it but one of these days I'm gonna have to get it now thanks to you guys you put it in my head ***** oh those greasy little guys just pop them in two bites no one bite bang oh they're so good when I get a culvert as I get the butter burger I mean nothing's as good as that butter burger because the butter burger is so much better than other fast food hamburgers where I was like they have a really good chicken sandwich and they also have a pork tenderloin sandwich which you will not not find at most other fast-food restaurants but the burg is so much better than other birds it's when do I have my 0:59:42 new grill hopefully next week so just crossed all right I'm gonna sign off in a minute

CUSHVLOG 27. MORE LIKE CHADLAI STEVENSON

here so a couple questions then I'm gonna go make my dinner which will not be like acyl gotta remind myself no White Castle it's gonna be a regular car charcoal I don't want to ***** with a grill with a propane tank I also don't really have room but I did get thank you the one got the person who recommended the the stove type thing the stovetop the stovepipe starter I got one of those thank you now I'm gonna be set I might have to get what kind of apron would go well maybe a Brewers I will I 1:0:44 will stream I will stream I swear it as God is my witness I shall stream my grillings when I begin them when I commenced the grillings my first vote for my virgin grill voyage before I do anything bigger will be with you guys how about that

Olympus is Triggered

05.22.20

there we go excellent yay all right we are all we are bravo for launch here guys ladies everyone hello uh so today I'm gonna start with a couple of topics that might check you talking with you guys see what you guys want to talk about but I'm gonna start off going off as it were on a few topics few things have occurred last couple days that uh you know I want to talk about a little bit just as a as an exercise in education for 0:1:1 you and me and we can like talk our way through these things that have happened help us make sense of the world with them and of course we're going to start with the story that everyone's talking about you know obviously that's pretty hilarious when you consider where we are on the knife's edge of the collapse of capitalism as we know it public health crisis likes which we've never experienced in the modern era but nothing to do about any of that what we can do is have a lot of fun at the expense of once again everyone's favorite lace-curtain buffoon Joe Biden Joseph Robinette Biden who today on The Breakfast Club wet hands as the kids say and claim that if you don't if you vote if you don't vote for Joe Biden then you ain't black which ma just the most perfect morsel of any oh God yeah it's perfect bite not so much because 0:2:4 he said it you know he's Joe Biden of course he's gonna say something like that the whole point of Joe Biden's candidacy is that it represents the same way trump does like the end state of it's part of the party that he represents in this moment of crisis like the relationship between the Republican Party in its base is such that by now they have Trump a perfect reflection of what they want a perfect embodiment of everything out of a president he's that he is a peevish incurious bitter bitter even though God blessed angry even though I'm incredibly fortunate he is who they were he we represents he is a perfect representation of the party because the party is now in a position in a situation where it has got this transparent relationship between 0:3:5 its its base and it's in its political structure the Democrats are the reverse of course because they would have to be and they have created a situation where nobody gets what they want out of their out of the candidate how there is no sense of like visceral juice off so you don't get any ***** of the old the old juice they like black people got what Obama was president or that women were supposed to get when Hillary

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

won the PA the Republican old Republicans to get with Trump this sense of I am validated by the president this is saying the Democrats now are saying no no one gets that because we're left with him because in order to maintain the structure in order to maintain our interests and in order to deny that there's anything like class or or you know political or or access to capital having to do with political power and we're not going to challenge the existing parameters of that and really we have nothing to offer you was what we used to offer you was at least you know nothing's changing in the posts in the neoliberal era nothing's changing but you can get represented you can get some fun just like Republicans nothing's changing but our guys you're gonna get they're gonna trigger the libs more and they're gonna be more oh fish they're gonna be more like you they both got that offer but now the Democrats were forced to pick someone because they couldn't get anyone else no one else had established the position where they were credible the way Obama was to embody some you know segments of their coalition they got a guy who maintained loyalty to enough Democrats because of their Marie of him associated with Obama so it's like a contact high it's already a second-order thing it's tough it's smoking the resin it's it's a desperation move and now they have to try to sell that to a general election electorate which is not nearly the same thing and that means that their only move since they cannot offer the thing that their party is traditionally offered they have this this old mommy who represents no one who represents the worst in the party from an ideological perspective whose record is everything that these people claim to care about that his record on all accesses of of intersectional oppression he's bad so what the hell are you supposed to say it what are you supposed to think you're supposed to say and think Trump is worse therefore you are morally obligated to vote for Biden now that was always the the gun to the head of every Democratic voter right but there was always something else too there was some positive part there was some some joy to be had in the Democratic tent some sense that you were representing a a more progressive social vision gone now that's out the window with with Biden it's purely and only an appeal to negative emotions about Trump there is nothing else and because Biden is the transparent embodiment of his party's relationship to their base because of his dementia and his lack of filter he is when challenged pushed back to the only real argument he has I'm not Trump go vote for Trump if you don't like me he was saying that ***** during primaries when people had other options and now he's saying in the general because that's the only I only uh appeal they have and of course nobody wants to hear that because it really does show you the degree to which they have you completely over a barrel if you accept their premise that is if you accept the premise that Trump that the Republican winning is always the worst outcome and and that there's like no context at which a

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

Republican winning in the short term could lead to anything good it's all one disaster after another until somehow we interrupt that by electing a Democrat and so you know and like wiping the slate clean I don't know how that's supposed to work but that's that's their whole that's their claim of how this ***** goes down is you've got a Republican and we're all terrified of them and you are you are required to vote for them and but that means is that you can make no claims on them there is no pressing them forward there is no being an activist there is no seeing anything better done because you have no leverage like Zerlina Maxwell the other day said truck Biden has to nominate a black woman as VP and a million people asked her I don't think she responded what if he doesn't what if he doesn't for the melina because there's no answer there's no response someone actually said I'll be unhappy I'll vote for Trump Biden but I'll do it angrily you the degree to which you have to acknowledge so you don't have a choice is agree to which you feel powerless in this and that's bad enough for voters it's even worse for these ***** opinion colonists and thought leaders and political operatives who are supposed to give the impression and intent of themselves as having political influence and power like the whole point that the reason they're in politics is not supposed to be for personal advancement right there are Democrats they're good people their politics to help but they know but they can't say I'm voting for Mike because he's better the Trump and there's nothing that could happen that could change that emphasizing that only only undermine only makes everyone ask the question that Bob's did in office space what is it you do here what are you for you have this the party and the candidate will do what they want you have no place in this all you are doing is to justify what they do after they say it and if everyone sees that as your role as just this propagandist you lose a lot of credibility or at least they're afraid you they will and so they hate it and so cut things like this today is so juicy because they all freaked out now they all have to spaz and figure out some sort of justification for why this isn't on its face awful and of course they can put the one thing they could say is it's not gonna matter and the thing is yes that's true that's the hilarious part of all this is that the the truth undergirding even the harsher truth undergirding the harsh truths of they're hot the fact that they're hostages to Biden is the fact that they don't have any influence in any way even if it wasn't by the whole class of people they're squawking are purely ornamental they're talking to each other and trying to convince us that they have some reason for the perks that they have assume some reason they have a checkmark they have some net value-add and they do not but they immediately and instinctively what something like this comes up get the need to express their actual use I'm actually useful to this process and I'll Express you why and that requires them to then get the ***** knots to try to explain why what Biden said is okay why is that fine I mean my god this as my friend

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

Dan Kay said does that mean that the diamond and silk aren't black and Rachel Dolezal is are we at that level you want to make those you want to eat you want a strip race of all of all a non you want a strip race of everything except just total social signifiers go for it but to just say that out loud in violation of so many carefully constructed towers of ***** that these people have spent years making so that you don't notice hey maybe this is ***** maybe all this intersectionality is just getting us more awful Republicans and awful Democrats and nothing is getting better maybe there's no intersecting at all maybe it's just parallel roads that lead to the ***** ***** gutter maybe we should do something about this no no don't you see no no race is a delicate dance and it needs to be acknowledged at every level and we need to intersect it with all these other things and then you got a guy like Biden saying you had black people hit look look up look black vote for me or else your honky 0:11:19 destroys their entire thing it destroys everything they've done because they have to defend it they have to defend it and how do they defend it there's a bunch of different ways one guy we're gonna go through a few tweets here in response to this because I think it's just all of it is so ***** instructive this isn't a big guy but I just wanted to point this out for like the older boomer II Biden supporter like the real bloomers as opposed to the younger people who are you know they're all on that on the arm they're all just democratic flak operatives one way or the other but this guy is like he speaks sort of for the for the older white boomers who like Bertie because they hate Biden's or they hate they hate they hate Trump because of his uncouthness the fact that he that he violates all their norms and expectations of what government 0:12:21 should be but look what ears has done look what the ears have done this guy look at what all those years of beholding the monster of Trump this is really the Nietzsche this guy is warning this is the Nietzschean warning you know few fights must is risks becoming one if you stare into the abyss to do long the abyss stares back so this guy says Chris Jackson is his name and he was a blue check ***** and I think like a trump or flyer and he says this I've said it before and I'll say it again Joe Biden is gonna be Joe Biden regardless of what you think and personally that's why I like it he is real he's authentic and he's gonna he's gone through far too much in his life to give a ***** with blue checks say about him on Twitter okay that is just - a word what people say to defend Trump I mean identical that's exactly how people talk about Trump when the the Clorox thing every time you've said something racist like the ***** countries they're saying he's being honest Trump's honest and he's a 0:13:23 real man okay and you can't accept that and I think what these guys saw over the time is that they kept yelling that's not fair at Trump he just kept ignoring all the rules and they realized they want to do it too that's where their joy is gonna come from not ideological of course get out of here they don't care about any of that not

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

but now instead of like getting pleasure from denying themselves those those sweets those sweet indulgences of politics they can just Gorge and they're gonna go to town at least and then and at some point all these old white ***** aggrieved idiots are gonna realize that they really have nothing separating them they're all the same class they'll have the same broad interests they are the same reactionary social view of younger people basically at some point they're gonna realize what's let's just ***** fuse around one character one candidate and then of course my favorite Hannah Jones 0:14:27 pellets surprise winner for her work with the 16:19 project which I've talked about out here about how that is the whole premise of that thing for what I understand is baloney reading this certainly makes me think my my instinct on that is correct and that all those people who fled to defend it from guys like James McPherson what just because Ben Shapiro said it was bad that meant it had to have been good just absolute tribalistic reflexive miss none of it having anything to do with some real questions at hand very disappointing every time you see it you hate to see it so Hannah Hannah Jones who worked on the 16:19 project and as a Democrat a proud Democrat says there is a difference between being politically black and being racially black I'm not defending anyone but we all know this and should stop pretending that we don't someone replies what does this mean she said if you don't know it ain't 0:15:29 for you which that is how politics works generally as you make a political claim and then when people ask you for more information you say it's not my job to educate you and so she the person replies I'm not the only one that asks I'm also a black person to which she replied yes I'm capable to sue your avatar and I will repeat if you don't understand the difference between being born slash designated race and having taking up a particular set of racial politics I am NOT going to educate you here so obviously like I said this just destroys all this carefully crafted years of talking about how like race is this fundamental aspect of American life right like this this ***** is like like the Tanana see Coates say you know the brand the 1969 teen project to the idea that racism is a scarring brand across America that is so inextricably fused with capitalism that it can't be unbroken from it and that therefore you know basically racism is as defeatable as capitalism which if capitalism isn't defeatable 0:16:30 because of the racism I guess you just have to live with it but maybe you can reduce the racial part the capitalism you can't really do anything about so obviously that's part of it but so that all goes out the window all that goes out the window that thing that they spent all this years if she want a Pulitzer Prize writing about out the window it's going now this invalidates the entire thing because if race and politics are that broke it breakable apart then race is not the indelible daily mute scarring and punishing and traumatizing element that drives all white and black people apart and means that they can never really come together and that therefore racism can never really be overcome just like capitalism can't only mitigate it destroys gone blue pull blew it over in one second why not to make sure that Biden gets reelected 0:17:32 or it gets elected it's not gonna matter nothing she says it's gonna matter at the level of a ***** candidacy this laid out this far for the election no it's the preserve hearse place pace in the hierarchy because people are gonna say you like this Biden guy you also are supposed to be a racism expert what do you think what he said you can't say he is I condemn him because you can't not vote for him oops so all you can do is say it actually wasn't bad and so the first thing that comes to hand mind regardless of how it conflicts with everything else she believes and everything else she's ever written but first thing that comes to mind just to save your ass a little bit and then she ended up deleting it so it didn't even work the wicked flee when none pursue a—the it's really funny but they did all that they destroyed their 0:18:33 entire project their entire tempted like reifying neoliberalism isn't as in is inextricably linked and metaphysically connected to racism meaning you cannot address class in any way because that's not addressing race because class means people other than the effective racial group therefore by definition you cannot talk about class or race at the same time it can only be race or class and so destroyed the whole thing I mean it's goddamn beyond everything ed Tom from one second reprieve from judgment that didn't even work it's it's pretty stunning it's crazy world they gotta sell tickets hell I'd buy one and then there's my favorite doctor Jason Johnson the faux birdy 0:19:34 bros another ***** hack idiot who goes on medicine bc just to say that bernie wasn't intersectional enough for whatever the ***** says just a thought how about we listen to the entire joe biden interview with Charlamagne tha God before we start roasting him a white man telling a black man who isn't racist is black isn't excusable but what led to that exchange and why biden was triggered matters as well well then it is excusable right because if it's inexcusable that nothing can mitigate that that's what inexcusable means that there's no situation could mitigate the fact of the inexcusable is if Biden's triggering the idea of Biden being triggered obviously hilarious couldn't affect that so it's excusable you're excusing it in fact you are excusing it by bringing it up because it's not like this is this is like a piece of the shattered cuneiform found in the ***** the plains of Nineveh or something it's a goddamn interview that 0:20:35 happened ***** five minutes before he said that you could look at the tape so that means I didn't say anything was a killing blow I mean nothing's gonna change in any of these or for any of these people that's not part of this this is all just about making sense of things in my head so that I don't go crazy and hopefully having other people like tell me mate to the degree or which I'm not now that it's changing anything it's literally not gonna change any of their views the reviews are determined by reasonable dialogue that are determined by social hierarchy and then to me the

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

need to maintain it that's not something you can argue against so what's the point it's just me talking to myself literally so all of them all these people have spent years 0:21:38 and years and years cultivating their expertise to us the great unwashed as speakers on all issues of social trauma and justice along racial lines along gender lines have decided in the last three months that none of it matters that it's all ***** they don't believe a word of it because they are in a relationship with the Democratic Party where their fortunes and it it's are inextricably linked and their interests are fused at the level of its its class project it means it furthering Halla gawky that's what the Democratic Party is for and they have decided that their role is to be courtiers of that and and if that's the extent they're lashed to the mast and they're going down with the ship and all it's left for them to do is reassure each other that no we're 0:22:40 not all sellout morons no no we're principled smart people and here's the proof and along those lines another thing happened just a few days ago on the Twitter's on the twittering machine that speaks to this exact same phenomenon I'm talking about the whole gia tolentino thing about her parents being human traffickers uh not gonna talk really that much about the case it's not her fault what her parents are did now the fact that she wrote about her parents in part of her memoir that's about herself and her you know her struggle with America's systems of oppression she painted them as hardscrabble immigrants not as human traffickers even though they did the human trafficking already at that point that's an admission so huge that it's a lie basically I'm sorry so then that's why when this comes up again she feels the need to backfill and explain their behavior because she she had the moment where she could have said my parents were human traffickers and she could have dealt with it but 0:23:41 it would have made it harder for her to ingratiate herself to her memoir audience and to the people who read her ***** articles in The New Yorker so she just to skip all that awful awkward stuff that painful stuff that it's so painful to write about and so that's it it's like people said why did she even say anything she has to she already staked her reputation on her virtue and the virtue she inherited from her family that's what happens when you make your your career as a as a as a writer about you as a person you're ***** you cannot have a recent view of it you can't you know take the jaundiced eye because you've already decided that you're gonna take a cheat code instead of engaging at the level of prose or insight you're going to do pure personal ingratiate and that means your parents can't be human traffickers because then it's like wait a minute aren't you just another snot-nosed rich kid of privilege 0:24:43 and exploitation who's now what probably got her parents paying for her loft in New York so that she can play Carrie Bradshaw why should I listen to you but anyway the thing that was most interesting and most baffling and horrifying to watch it's just shameful was not her whole thing attempting to defend her parents it was the

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

instantaneous and overwhelming flood of fellow writers at every level of media not just the general media but left media as well essentially everybody on the current affairs masthead got into the back got into the puddle puddle of reassurance to her that it's okay it's so bad that you all even had to write this oh the person whose entire career is writing about her life it has to write about her parents criminality wow I can't believe the nerve how dare anyone asked this of someone when that's their entire ***** value-add it's a goddamn media figure and but they weren't doing this for her of course most of them don't know her I mean some of them do it's a very tight Club it's very chummy but most of them don't know her personally what they know about her though is that one she's one of them meaning she's a media person and that means two things to that me that means she's a media person which means one she could do something for them in their careers at some point if they're if they have if they have enough fun bada nosh on Twitter maybe there's a DM hey you know could you show an editor this so at that level just to maintain friendly relations and like score good person points with a person who they could later use the other being that hey I want to make sure everyone has my back when it turns out when everyone finds out that ah my parents were slave owners because they all have family that are slave owners because they only get to write like that because they're all ***** rich kids there are a few art of course they're exceptions but the meritocracy broke along ago and it became a system for reproducing the meritocratic the the risk they turned the meritocratic positions that people established in in the earlier 20th century and turned them now into aristocratic signatures and so all these people are just rich people's kids - right in the body to each other and so they know that people find just like the slave guy how many people came out of the woodwork when that guy's paper about yeah my family owned a slave then I have a slave eventually I decided to pay a minimum wage I felt kind of bad about it oh now I'm gonna die so you can't drag me how many people came out of the woodwork to say this is more complicated than it looks really why well you know with my family okay nevermind you're another global oligarch just cuz you're not from the United States just cuz you're a different race doesn't mean you're not part of a global 1% of willful knowledgeable exploiters and arbitrage errs of human misery and just the fact that like oh I I dealt with anti ancient racism in school or whatever it's like yeah that sucks but you still are in a position wildly exalted beyond the average American and not because you were you know what with all that racism and I'm still pretty popular wow that must mean I'm really talented no no no the millions and millions of dollars of your wealthy ***** parasite family helped but you can't mention that none of them want to mention that because they're all almost all of them are part of it and the ones who aren't part of it they need those jobs so they're not gonna stop kissing

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

ass so that means everyone has an India has a a in the front of their mind motive to kiss her ass to tell her it's okay and the wit and just like with the Biden thing the lengths people went to destroy any pretense that they actually believed any of the socialist ***** that they've been mouthing for the last four years because it's trendy online every defense that they mustered of her as one that's been mustered against criminal scum ***** in every ***** walk of life how a number of people who said 0:28:49 well it couldn't have been that bad because they were they pled down and didn't serve any jail time yeah because they were ***** rich haven't you don't you people talk about how all the time about how rich people have different justice you don't think that might be more operative to these millionaire's getting a ***** slap on the wrist I mean otherwise how do you explain it because the explanation is oh they were targeted by the racist ice and bush administration class not just classic racism until the case couldn't sustain itself anymore ah darn it really they didn't plea down to a better deal like every other rich scumbag does when they get caught because they have good lawyers you wouldn't accept that answer in it for a second in anybody else and that was Michael Tracy's family you wouldn't accept that you wouldn't say you know the police are the ones who said that so what our laws you only extend that benefit to somebody who you think can help you in some way down the line and that means you didn't believe in any of this stuff you never believed in it for a 0:29:50 second it was an instrument it was a tool for your social advancement and people been talking about that and it's been like this this running argument on Twitter about like you know how much can you test for trust people and like I've said on this place I've said that like there's a reason that everybody Wizard resorts to bad faith and that they're in the Twitter such an undirected Oh space and one of the big ones is there are these people everywhere there are tons of them not everyone but how the hell are you supposed to tell how can you tell and so that uncertainty drives everyone crazy and they decide to rely on shibboleths so that's what ends up happening because everyone is suspicious the only people you can trust are the people who mouthed the right words to you the people who know the passwords but of course if you know the passwords you can say anything if it doesn't matter you don't have to believe anything if you know the passwords then and that's what we 0:30:51 have with people all these ***** of what are the passwords they're not hard and now they're just using them to walk everywhere they want and that's why people treat the place with such distrust and why you can't have an argument there so I would say first horrifying as this all is and as much as it probably makes you want to go on the internet and scream into the void and no one knows me I literally am screaming into the void about it there's really good not gonna be any benefit there because none of the stuff I've explained just now none of those incentives change by

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

you owning somebody it's it's it's big baked in it's fixed there's no changing it but now all these people I will just say this who find themselves now just in this position of having to defend Joe Biden as his brain like slowly rolls the clock back and he just thinks that he's in the Senate cloakroom with Strom Thurmond and Jesse Helms all the time and they start doing mammy jokes to one another and and he's doing it in public on a ***** microphone and you have to defend it that's what race first politics will get you that's what any that's what any non class political agenda will get you because you cannot build a coalition that can take over you can only assert a limited amount of influence within the context of a greater coalition and if Capitol is leading that coalition you're never gonna get anything other than scraps and that's where we find ourselves everybody who has very reasonable reasonable and non-fat faith arguments for why Republicans are worse for their lives why Republican governance is more painful and exploitative and durable for people of certain economic groups it is it is harder but the thing is it's so much it's so bad with Democrats that the marginal benefit you're reaping is not anywhere near worth the amount of leverage you're giving up so what you're keeping at bay is only this much worse than the reality you're gonna have and we know that from Obama black wealth eventual basically disappeared I'll accumulate a black wealth over the last four years a huge chunk of it disappeared after 2008 and never came back that's because of Obama's Wall Street bailout and his entire approach to the housing crisis which was to have it all followed on the on the shoulders of homeowners that meant hugely disproportionate number of relatively recent homeowners African American homeowners wiped out and never came back that so what are you avoiding by hat by by clinging to the Democrats it's only in your head it's a fantasy of what could have been worse but what is is so terrible and it will only get worse because there you have no leverage watch.watch Biden talk and watch you unable to do anything watch him pick clove char for VP which I think he's gonna do because he's unless this freaks him out we'll see how long the backlash to this is but if enough people are gonna defend him to defend their own status hierarchy and their own credibility then if they might decide it's not a big enough thing to worry about because what they are really worried about are those numbers in the Upper Midwest they're terrified of those numbers in the Upper Midwest and if they think Lubbock R will do better for them there then any black VP or P VP VP of any other color than white they're gonna pick her and then they're gonna say what so drill that's that's the gist of what I'm saying here as you can see it's a bunch of ***** we have no control over any of it no matter what Biden says no matter what Trump says it's still basically a coin flip because the great mass of voters are not moved by any of this stuff but we're just we're just the ***** we're the little little birds cleaning the teeth of the crocodile that's

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

us and hoping not to get bitten hoping we can get our ***** bodies out over the way when he gets hungry but guess what eventually yet you're a little slow and then you get eaten too but if you have a class first politics you can actually build a coalition that can assert real leverage and demands and pry things away from capital and even challenge capital it cannot be done enough because what is what is your intersection of interests because if you have an intersection of oppression that's that's explanatory I think that's a useful useful rubric to explain oppression but then what do you what's your intersectional praxis what's your intersectional interest point to mobilize around I mean for the most part the one that's the most prevalent the most the one that reflects most the oppressions we're talking about is class because racial oppression is felt by degrees and those degrees are pretty much tracked very very strongly all right so those are a few things I wanted to get off my chest wanted to get off I want to stop talking about it got my gears all grinded up but I have want to get these ideas out just so that I understand them and I have one other thing that I wanted to say this is Matt's movie corner and then maybe we'll take some questions so I finally after ***** webson months and I said this a couple days ago someone asked if I'd seen drag bike I dragged across concrete no because I was doing this waiting game to see what it was available on some streaming service to see for free I was actually about to give up last night and ***** just click on the thing and watch it even though and pay for it it was it had it would have come to HBO which I have so i didn't have to pay actually for it so I watched dragged across country before last night and I gotta say I think it's his best film I've liked all three of the Craig Saylor films I really and I really liked brawlin selling out cell block 99 I think I might even like this one more Mike D'Angelo the critic said that sailor is kind of trying to be the modern day Don Siegel and I think that is precisely correct that is his game like if you asked him who he's trying to be even if he didn't know the real answer is he's trying to be Don Siegel just muscular you know beaten potatoes American reactionary exploitative exploitation ***** you know like the white male it you know unleashed in a world that never made or it doesn't get to make anymore you know smashing against the confines of society and doing so in the most violent way possible so I think he really pulls it off in that movie and a lot of people got mad at it because it's his most explicitly political yet because he made the first movie bow tomahawk and some people muttered a little bit because it has like these beastial Native American tribes people cannibals as the bad guys and you know he makes pains to distinguish them from other Native American tribes but people sort of whisper a little bit I don't know man that's a little problematic then he made brawlin sell at 99 which has Vince Vaughn going to war with the cartels and has a lot of racially coded language and it has kind of a you know a magnet flare to it even though it's all very subtle oh this one he just lets it out he has scenes where the cops are literally just sitting around going damn cell phone cameras won't allow us to do our jobs thanks to the damn media and they're like yes true and he's got these little vignettes that are just like they might as well they could be short films directed by if TP USA had any talent behind it and but it's all shot in like the house style of sort of post post-millennial like prestige programming and it really made me realize that of all the people who tried to resurrect the exploitation genre in the 21st century and try to do exploitation movies like postmodern exploitation movies he is the one who gets them the most one I think because he is a reactionary and what he gets the thing that is that most of these people who do neo exploitation don't get which is that exploitation films are inherently to one degree or another reactionary specifically vigilantism ***** or I mean cop ***** is ***** its reactionary anything that's about somebody getting fed up and doing an insane amount of violence on people outside the law is reactionary in that it it credits like violence as a solution rather than any kind of socially cooperative endeavor towards the resolution of conflict that's not terrible and doesn't mean it's a terrible but it's unwatchable I mean people think that now because we bound up our politics in our art so much that we can't get them straight and we're all anxiety riddled about it all the time but it says it's it's a it's a reactionary genre and therefore the best people to make it our reactionaries and the way that he like threads in the right-wing stuff and those in the movie which is also by the way filled with incredibly good deeply felt like social observation and commentary and texture because it's not vapid it's not it's not dogmatic that stuff is in there because you can one of the big problems with trying to make a neo exploitation movie is that you can't shock people the way you could with exploitation films because people have seen everything we're all desensitized violence doesn't do anything - doesn't move the needle how do you make violence move the needle anymore and Sayla realizes it has to be in contrast to something the violence has to come as a contrast to the other things in the movies that didn't used to be the case because the movie was a contrast to everything else but now everything is movie so the it has the contrast has to come inside the film itself and so the contrast of this of this stage sort of Paul Haggis II vibe with just explicit reactionary content it shocks you a little bit it jars you just the way that like the the very quiet measured tone of all of his movies makes their explosions of extreme violence shocking and jarring it actually does jolt you the way that these guys anybody making like ironic exploitation movies doesn't really get around they don't really grasp the needle of it and that is why even though I would not actually want her to do this because no one should got no one with talent should go near Marvel it's just a giant machine that sucks talent it leaves it's just correct uncreated dead-eyed husks in its wake because

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

they see God like it's like the ***** hot lighthouse they go to Disney and they see the frozen head of Walt Disney in a vault and it's throbbing and it has like black eyes and they stare into Disney's black eyes and they come out a husk because they've seen into the heart of the dream machine and they know that it is actually the ***** mind of Satan so I would not wanted to actually do this because it would destroy him like it's gonna destroy everybody who does two ***** with Marvel film wise but he is the only person I could think of who could possibly make something good out of the Punisher right now because if anybody saw the Marvel that the Netflix Marvel Show with Joe Barron Thal which is ***** one of the big reasons is CGI blood which 0:43:7 is of course out of here and something I know that Zeller would never allow by the way they didn't just do CGI blood on that show they did CGI muzzle flashes on the guns which is just the ***** lowest level of chintzy ***** why am I even watching this I know Saylor wouldn't do that but what but the other thing that made that thing bad and unwatchable is that it spoke they tried to make ***** Punisher woke because they have this thing that has a context the Punisher as a context of like coming out of the reactionary ferment of the 70s the same thing they gave us death wish Dirty Harry and all this other stuff because of the hot huge dried violent crime racially and the huge rise of racial anxiety and racial friction he pops out and and there is no way to make you can make him the villain I guess if you wanted to be woke you cannot make him the protagonist the traditional protagonists of something and make him woke because vigilantism like that is reactionary inherently going 0:44:8 outside the bounds of law to use violence against someone you individually not as some sort of some like revolutionary process of changing the mode of production or it's a social order but as an individual that's I'm sorry that's reactionary he is Frank castles are reactionary and just because you ***** give him what Blackwater and proud boys to kill that doesn't change that fact and but the guys that make these shows are all good liberals and so they're very nervous is very anxious about that so they work backwards I guarantee you when they said we're doing Punisher and they're only doing Punisher for money none of them under and Punisher out of inspiration they wouldn't do Punisher nobody would it's a ***** comic book they're adults they wouldn't do any of this ***** if they wanted to they're doing it because it's where the money is and the money says this is the thing people like so we want you to make more of them this is the thing that came out of this specific cultural moment this is the thing that this is the thing that stands in for a load of male 0:45:10 anxiety and a certain hinge point in American history an expression of like nihilistic violence to over social conflict what are you gonna do with it oh well okay well that we can't make it back because that that would be bad and people would wash it and then they would want to be like him it's like they want to be like him anyway idiots

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

you made him blow congratulations did it stop ***** fascist Nazi cops from putting the ***** Punishers thing on their on their on their vehicles to stop serial killing psychopath Chris Kyle from putting it on his ***** flak jacket he's not Bo the fact that they've appropriated his symbol shows that you're the one appropriating him you're appropriating him by making him whoa he can't be you either you have to deal with that back you want to make him the villain that's like one choice or you have to take him as he is and they're not comfortable with that and so they have to reverse engineer sailor would take Frank Castle as he as he was and that would be I 0:46:11 would make for viewing that would make people go oh my god it would be like oh that's a bad idea but unless you're accepting the tip of your worldview and you're willing to put that on record then you watch something and then you do it or you believe what it says discreetly not socially but discreetly like obviously we're all we are all nothing but like the ik ruins of our media consumption but not that's the accrue ins honest on an individual level you cannot be you cannot be moved into action by any one piece of media which is the thing that nobody can get their head around no all media has to be good all the time because then we will all we will all be watching it at the same time we'll all get the same message and the Care Bear stare will just burst out of our chests and we will all live in harmony forever and the thing is that's the only thing they have is as a model for social change because if you do not class politics like this like if you say America is indelibly racist and therefore 0:47:13 we can't change capitalism then all you can do is like Hector people and make art and do posts until there's so many art and so many posts that everyone just at one moment everyone from the irredeemable or enough people I guess they would say not but like to 51% we'll all just snap in to undo mutual understanding that's their only that's their only hope so like I so yeah I really like dragged across concrete late this poet post a punish mal is honestly on a roll great performances I haven't seen all of it but blood father was really good and he was really good at this hacks are Ridge has some of the best ***** just grody ass violence I've seen in a movie in a long time and if he does make a use the one a director who if he actually does remake the Wild Bunch I'll allow it because he's the one guy who kind of gets Peck and paws 0:48:15 like psycho religious ecstatic communion with film violence because I think for most other purveyors of film violence it's either wrote or sublimated misogyny or a joke and it is not any of those things for Mel Gibson it is expiation it is salvation which it was for Peckinpah so thumbs up for dragged across concrete and yeah if you're gonna make an exploitation movie and you're a left winger you can you just have to leave it at the door you know you just have to take it as it comes instead of trying to I'm trying to actually when I was in high school I read a biography of Sam Peckinpah you can tell this was before the internet that I would never imagine now reading a

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

biography of Sam Peckinpah but I did because there was nothing to I was trying 0:49:16 I'm trying to check to see if Peckinpah was Catholic can't remember I don't think he was he's like no his family was like Western pioneers so I don't think so but he certainly had that Catholic fixation on a blood the so yeah if you you you could be a left-wing egg maker of exploitation movies and somebody says the purge the purge movies are actually an interesting case because their premise is such that like that 0:50:18 they do have a actual left-wing text which is also possible like the text of anything can be any politics you want it to be it's the subtext I'm talking about I'm talking about it's it's uh it's it's heart and that's why the third one that's why uh Election Day is so weak at the end because they go live they go live at the end because they can't handle the the implications of the genre they're working it and also they use ***** CGI and for me you're not doing you're not making exploitation unless you're using squids I know that CGI is cheaper now so therefore squibs are actually the luxury Cadillac a list thing but I'm sorry you can find somewhere else to cut you can always find something else to cut if they could put squids and surviving edge weapons you can find the budget for squids in your movie they did squid some ***** haha we are looking to do that script reading actually I should bring up Network 0:51:48
I don't know they might not want to do Network but I would like to do Network maybe they think that now I would I think they would find that they would think that would be too too self-centered of me although you know he's not the main character really it's William Holden could definitely see but we are probably gonna do Miller's Crossing if we can get everybody on board I think I think we've we were trying to figure out like the Terms of Service whether that would be a copyright infringement but apparently if you just do it and don't like leave it up there's not any weird way that's gonna get brought down so we're gonna try to do that guess which character I I'm not playing a Leo either now I think how can the Coen brothers 0:53:1 make incredible insightful films and then be lives because art and politics aren't like there's political insurance and there's artistic truth and like that artistic truth is like a prism of all truths and any piece of art is only able to get like one or two refracted rays right of the prism and maybe it might get a little bit of political truth in there but it's mostly gonna be personal it's mostly going to be experiential and aesthetic and it's and it's gonna be abstract and then you have to build from that you have to actually build a personality and like a ***** spiritual sense of yourself that you 0:54:2 can then build politics on top of you can't just have it imported to you directly like ***** a firmware update from the every movie you watch these things have lives of their own might be like what we're all trying to meet my god it's just nice when you consider how collaborative film is a genre how many how many minds how many efforts how many decisions are made the idea that any of this stuff has there's any

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

coordinating anything you need to grab you just have to be open and this thing is you might not find any and that's fine too but you have to be open to the magic basically the the moments of grace the sublimity of any piece of art because the it's not necessarily going to be resonating on frequencies of the political but there are other frequencies of truths and beauty that exists and that can be expressed by almost anyone in any place Rudy roll Rudolf Wolff Rudolf work Wurlitzer yes I didn't notice from Cincinnati yeah all what is alright this is an interesting question this cuz it's so weird what is the governance ownership of chapo LLC anything is socialist in its structure well I don't know what that means what I mean we all own it equally so I guess that is so that's like owner-operated or like worker operated because we're also that what the thing is is that we're not we're not workers but we're also not capitalists we're craftsmen we are we are this cottage industry craftsman of a bygone era like that is that is people want to know like what's the podcaster Miche at least like the the ones who do self like direct distribution like us as opposed to ones that have an ad network or something it's it's it's would you like my layers I like I'm a I'm a Cooper basically we're all like word Cooper's and you come into our shop and you buy our barrels or not but we made the barrels and then we get the money for the barrels that's it we're not socialists because it's not it's a pre-modern form of uh it's it's it's a it's a it's a remnant I mean over time it'll go away like all don's capitalist social relationships will go away but it still exists in in fragmentary form I have seen upstream color that guy's wild he just did an interview where he said I basically can't do movies anymore I'm sick of ***** trying to make money get money off of them to make them which really should remind you I mean how can any of these things that you get that make that spent when you see filmmakers of genuine talent just give up because of how hard it is to raise money for things that have like an actual vision behind it how little does must people care about and like a basic artistic like sense of ownership sense of care how little must everyone care when they're making ***** you know Avengers how little must everyone care in order to put up with the demands of that much the requirements of that degree of investment you would have to just turn your actual artistic investment into the face you know a little ***** Colonel so how could the thing coming from that why is stephen king's twits tweets Oh dog ***** I think because he's an old guy trying to tweet more than anything it's not a form that uh that's that's that he came into it's a form for people with a completely different social experience we didn't lie old people in general are I mean and the thing I don't understand about the people who cling so hard to the idea that politics must be expressed in art and it has to on a moral level like if you push them why does it have to be this way first it might be something about how well you know it hurts it hurts people of this groups to see

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

things that aren't sensitive to them but at the base it's know people see this bad stuff and then they have the bad thoughts and if enough of them see the good stuff they'll have the good thoughts and I don't understand how you can have the 2016 election happen and not realize that that cannot be true or if it's true it's true to such a way fractional degree that all the pressure in the world in that direction is not going to move anything because the entire culture was arrayed against Trump every cultural output was against Trump I might do a Spanish Civil War episode we'll see it's good like I said my hope my goal would be to get everyone mad at me uh hunter 1:0:57 on October is one of those great man that was a real stretch in the late 80s early 90s of just some perfect action movies really it's not I don't want to I sound old but that ***** I'll say if they don't make them like that anymore just perfect little propulsive thrillers the same time is like die hard and uh stuff predator good check it out on frantic time Crimson Tide's also good I think hunt for Crimson Tide also better than 99% of Ridley Scott's films so I want to get another another map strike one for Tony Scott what's happening on my own on what we did which is a delightful little chapter I might read one quick chapter to end tonight I don't know I got to see if I my next 1:1:59 chapter will be the town-ho's story someone that someone had the that one was very weak I think it's cuz it's kind of it's really overcast today and kind of gloomy I think a lot of people are outside oh wait a minute never mind sometimes it'll go it'll get her out a little bit and then I think they get a little embarrassed that they stopped and then they'll all kind of dare each other to go back up I will read Ulysses I'm just not I'm gonna read I'm getting I'm trying to go through the 20th scent I'm trying to like go through levels of like semantic facility yeah I feel I feel very comfortable with Moby Dick I'm gonna go to gravity's rainbow which I've always felt harder a harder time getting I went through a major kurt vonnegut phase when I was in college I 1:3:16 read like not all of them but a good chunk Galapagos is really good breakfast of champions also very very good but I like most people the first one of his I'm the bread was slaughterhouse-five in high school and it's one of those books that does a thing to certain people not everybody but you if you're in the right frame of mind and if you have the right demographic background probably it hits you it's different and it really does make you start thinking differently someone wants me to read the leash or I these Oh somebody wants me to talk about the Demiurge alright I'll see if 1:4:43
I can find this thing and then I'll talk a little bit about the Demiurge so it's in the Gnostic Christians were early Christian sect they believed that the material world was essentially created by an evil spirit that intervened between God and eternity to create a false version of the world that we all live in in material bodies created for the purpose of keeping us from each other and from God most importantly and that it was our duty in life to try to transcend that category through concentration of will and faith and spirit gnosis as it's called to understand that higher truth and 1:5:44

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

I think that that's a useful metaphor for the way that we all live in a reality that is really constructed by an evil demon that evil Dean being demon that evil demon being the collective historical weight of all humans who came before us the history of all dead generations weighing on the minds of the living we live in structures that we are born into that we did not have any hand in creating and those those structures are deformed like our expect our meet our expectations of things our ideology that we operate under our expectations of other people our reward systems are deformed they are there they're bent away from harmony with nature harmony with other people harmony with God they are bent towards rudeness and and hatred and and exploitation domination fear misery because of the intervening because of the failures 1:6:46 of generations of people to see the world as it really is because of all of the all of the things that they have to deal with that others have placed on them so that's the Demiurge and thing is is that we can we can transcend it we can we can we can bring the Tim The Crooked Timber of reality closer to it to an even keel but it just takes a lot of ***** time and a lot of faith and and a lot of will and those things are all sapped by the culture we live in the demo is basically directing us away from the holy and towards towards selfishness but all but selfishness is at the end of the day self-defeating because we can have nothing without each other ah my favorite chapter 1:8:24 I'm not sure yet which one I really like the most but let's do the leash or here it is oh yes this is very good well it's so short that's so perfect it's like three four perfect five perfect paragraphs some chapters back one Bulkington was spoken of at all new new landed mariner encountered a new bedford at the end when on that shimmering winter's night the Pequod thrust her vindictive boughs into the cold malicious waves who should I see standing in her helm but Bulkington I looked with sympathetic on fearfulness upon the man who in midwinter just landed from a for years dangerous voyage could sow unrest ting Li push off again for still another to patch to astern the land seems scorching to his feet wonderful as things are ever the unmentionable deep memories yield no epitaphs this six-inch chapter is the stone 'less grave of Bulkington let me only say that it fared with him as with the storm-tossed ship that miserably 1:9:26 drives along the leeward land the port would fain give succor the port is pitiful in the port is safety comfort hearthstone supper warm blankets friends all of its kind to our mortalities but in that gale the port the land is that ships dyrus jeopardy she must fly all hospitality one touch of land though it but graze the keel would make her shudder through and through with all her might she crowds all sail off shore and once in so doing fights against the very winds that fain would blow her homeward seeks ah flashed seas landlessness again for refuges sake for lauren lee rushing into peril her only friend her bitterest foe ye know ye now Bulkington glimpses do ye

CUSHVLOG 28. OLYMPUS IS TRIGGERED

seem to see if that's mortally intolerable truth that all deep earnest thinking is but the intrepid effort of the soul to keep the open independence of her sea while the wildest winds of heaven and earth conspire to cast her on the treacherous slavish shores but as in landlessness alone resides the highest truth shoreless this indefinite is God so better is it to perish in that howling infinite then being gloriously dashed the Lee even if that were safety for worm-like that oh who would crave and crawl to land terror of the terrible is all this agony so vain take heart take heart out bulking ttan barely grimly demigod up from the spray of the ocean perishing straight up leaps aye apotheosis that's actually a good chapter to read right after talking about Gnosticism because I feel like that if you want to understand like what I mean by like the Demiurge achill nature of reality this thing if the glimpse all deep earnest thinking prayer meditation communion with our understanding of the infinite which that's God in any language is but the intrepid effort of the soul to keep the open independence of her see while the wildest winds of slave of heaven and earth conspire to cast her on the treacherous slavish Shore because we have to live in this world and living in this world distracts us and pulls us away from our understanding of our mutual interdependence and in fact our mutual identical miss and it pulls us off of that beam and that that is and then we make a world that is demonic and we make that world and all collectively we are the Demiurge so will you are the Demiurge I am the Demiurge the Slayer is greater and smaller extents we're all building a world that makes it hard for people who are living in it to find God whatever that means to find transcendence from this seeming prison of isolation and confusion and loneliness and fear this do doomed to die doomed to eternal night without ever alright guys I'll talk to you soon

To Build a Fire

5.26.20

hey guys I'm out here guess what guess I got it we're building it baby we're putting 0:1:1 this mofo together not gonna cook it tonight I don't know if I'm gonna get to do it this weekend I was trying to I was thinking Thursday but uh sadly I think it's gonna rain and if it does I'll probably have to postpone till next week but next time I have freedom I've got my chimney somebody told me to get so I got that and I've got got some Kingsford got some Kings food for cats gonna do it up first though we got to put it together so we gotta find when we do hickies we gotta put on these things I like to think that the charcoal is still made by secretive artisans who go out into the forest and chop down trees and burn them into coals secretly plotting to 0:2:2 overthrow the kingdom of the two sicilies anybody get that reference anybody gets that reference congratulations to you you went the all right guys here we go brain like whoa jack I don't know if that's good or not is he stupid he could also be very smart though right rogue jack or is whoa Jack always dumb because the thing is is that like so there's the brain lit whoa Jack where will Jack's stupid and that's considered earnest right that's that's sort of considered to be him I always think of the brainy whoa - as sarcastic the brainy watch actors are never earnest you never earnestly employ the brainy well Jack but you do employ only earnestly the dummy dummy dummy spa brain limo Jack making me think that Jack is inherently dumb 0:3:13 no this is not gonna take that long it's it's I looked at the direction that's actually pretty straightforward and not just not that complicated I mean look what I just did no I did the first step already done already done look how good I am one of the things that motivated me to actually I got this thing over the weekend and what really motivated me today to build it I was kind of like do I really want to do it I don't know if I'm gonna have time to grill even before next week it was seeing the discourse today by being a fool that I am and I don't know I mean I kind of have the excuse that it's part of my livelihood hilariously enough but going online and seeing that we're having the same arguments exactly the same arguments that everyone was having before Bernie and then nothing has changed at all not even another you could change you could just repost all your old posts and the same people would

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

reply with the same posts why why would you do that what you can't be because 0:4:16 you think it's gonna change anything the fact that you're still doing it proves you know nothing will change so why are you doing it you'd ask yourself that question well I put these guys in these guys these directions are very helpful they tell you how to do it and then how not to do it and that's actually good for people like me I tend to have bad instincts with putting things together and I end up going like no no this is right and then now it's a disaster there okay you got to do the whole wall first life does come with an instruction all right I got the arms got the arms ready please don't 0:5:50 yell at me just because I don't know how to buy buy okay buddy don't go judging my my grill purchases I'm I people need to remember I'm a grill novice I've been to many a grill but I've never been the grill master I'm elect I'm a late capitalist baby man and as a result I have an Arrested Development now I'm trying to correct it by 0:6:52 reclaiming my male heritage that's right me and bronze ain't pervert are gonna get a podcast together those are that's irony in case anyone was wondering oh shoot did I do it wrong no I did right and we're gonna know this sucks about the big green egg
- that thing seems way too fancy it does so much stuff well it's just I don't **Music playing** I'm gonna do it yes max weber grill one of my one of my favorite nerd 0:8:7 tweets that did the max weber grill for the slow cooking of hard meats i do want to do corn but sadly my grocery store does alright okay I think this is working I need corn this is New York if the corn desert I know if I were to go home there'd be corn everywhere but sadly would do maybe baked potatoes right potato summit in the 0:9:10 foil fish would be really nice used to do that when I was a kid fish in the foil with the lemon very good all right next what do we do after we snap these puppies at all right now we got this triangular thing here here we go do the delicate dance of connecting this I would I would like to try to smoke something I know that's a little ambitious but I'd like to try rub Mayo before you wrap him up I bet that is good then you can do a ello days afterwards oh okay I got it I got it this thing not doing this isn't 0:10:16 going well I'm being proved to be a silly boy in my in fairness to me I am trying to do it and talk I don't want to leave so much dead air so I'm not not as focused as I 0:11:18 would oh that's like okay oh I get it now I get I did wrong yes I'm faster you have a point man all right now we're cookin all right now look I'm teasing this out all right 0:12:27 I might cook something I might cook something I don't think I have enough time I might I don't know I I have this available to cook right now or some Nathan's Hot Dogs it's a thing I forgot to take the steak out of the fridge so I freezer so I can't cook it today that's the problem all I got is Holly got us some hot dogs but what am I gonna do just I'm here by myself right now am I gonna eat a bunch of hotdogs and then just we go one man was gonna start with one steak and I was gonna be 0:13:28 like banging put a steak on the grill eat it myself like a guy in a p-wave idiot or

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

like a red pill man going his own way I own people with my carnivorous lifestyle but I miscalculated I forgot to unfollow them my mistake I have so now I'm stuck I'm sorry I just can't bring myself to do that so I think it'll come it'll happen there will be great there will be grill streaming besides think of it as sort of like the way that those dang Hollywood studios will draw things out at the end you know how they had to make to Hunger Games Movies out of one book getting as much grill content as I can out of here I am on that grind you guys saw the tweets you guys saw all the the political economy of Chapo takes that that displayed our reactionary goal to the world I gotta say it is pretty funny having people have the exact same arguments that got resolved along the exact same axis when people basically just got bored and stopped talking about it I mean has anyone do you ever noticed that but that's the only way these things ever end is that people just get bored doesn't that make you think it doesn't they all of the talking isn't but I gotta say there is I wouldn't say that we ever encouraged this but the simple fact is like the charge that were the tempos are grifters or whatever that means never really made sense because it's not like we were saying hey give us money and we're gonna elect somebody to a high office or hey give us money and we're gonna like start a new like some new paradigm for something it was hey give us money you can listen to an episode of us talking and that was always the deal and we explicitly said that was the deal and we said from the first episode like the thing we were most worried about was giving people the idea that you can do politics through consumption of media and we said don't do that but the thing is we've talked enough about how and I've talked a lot in these streams about how there is no such thing as political action outside of the internet for most people they can't conceive of it they don't have anything in their lives that feels even vaguely political and so they're going to make that assumption even if they're not even conscious of it they can say oh yeah I know it's not real I know it's I know that this is about politics but it is it is because what else is politics it's not like there's a lot of practice in your daily daily life that you can look at and say that was a political act most people are living their lives they're trying to keep a food ahead of trying to either find a job if they can't or or you know keep their head above water they're not really eight and they wouldn't know what to do if they wanted to and even the ones who do want to find themselves alienated from everything and so they seek the only community they can find at the click of a button which is online because in their lives it's too difficult the questions are too hard but the fear of rejection and the fear of getting a alienating people is too high and also the return is so low what are you gonna do talk to everybody in your life about politics and then all they all just stop talking to you the internet is there you're gonna find it and then going there is going to define your own conception of your political identity and

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

so even though we said it's not politics to listen to the show and even though I'm sure most people who who listen to the show agree with that in principle I think for all of us that myself included there's an element of self-deception there just because there's no alternative you know and and that is why when like the Bernie campaign Hovind of you is like a real nationwide moment that could potentially have no shifted 0:17:40 the understanding the understanding of basic you know political reality by more and more working-class people it was it was worth doing and our our role with our role related to the campaign was because we think this is a good thing we want to tell people to do it but it's not politics until they do it you know there has to be that that alchemy that decision to get off the couch and listening to podcasts can help you determine what that is by exposing you to things like hey here's this candidate here's this campaign here's this thing you could do and then you can follow that up that provides the context and that provides you with motivation to get up but the act itself is the real political act the attempt to impress your will on the world it's not being impressed on the world on the Internet we collectively impress the world on the internet but our individual contributions are basically non-existent all of our all of our meaning comes from our actions and so we benefited from that delusion 0:18:45 and we suffer from that delusion so but I I will say and of course if their people don't want to believe this they won't it was never an intentional it was never an attempt to mislead there was never an attempt where we were saying ha these idiots don't think this is politics we knew it wasn't politics we never thought it was we knew that what we were doing was creating these Frenchness a friendship simulator basically for this new group of you know underemployed millennial mostly at the time people who were wildly alienated from the political world because of it's failure to live up to their expectations of it and who went online so well I really don't think that any of those 0:19:47 criticisms are right because those people who believe them are at a fundamental level captured by this fantasy in a way that even pointing it out infuriates emblem they need us to be political because they need podcasts to be political they need posts to be political they need that or else their identities it will be undermined I mean the person who is saying you know why are you I wish left us posted harder about defending North Korea than they do about defending Chappell Chapas it's like well okay what if they did why would that make you happy what what about that would make you happy and make the world better for you even just individually because you can't be delusional enough to think it would mean that anything would change that any of those regimes oh look they're able to cooperate against the hegemon more effectively thanks to those posts you don't really think that what you think is those posts about chip will make me mad and the post about North Korea make me happy I would like to see the papac by it's like to see more happy posts please 0:20:48

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

I would like to see more posts that validate me that's that's what everyone wants but that's just what you're looking for you're looking for for identity formation and invalidation I've got to get a hammer and a I'm back here we go now I got to put on these little doohickeys to keep the Bentley garage yeah the Beltway garage has been closed with that who knows what the future will we now have we have wheels we got some wheels on this bad boy this guy oh no anyway this is well looks like now there we go the kettle the kettle itself 22-inch er the classic here will be feasts and delights of the senses and the saw alright next we put this plate guy yeah I get that we asked to check your questionnaire to get people to hand see because I know you can't see me while I'm getting in this but I'm an honest ly kind of honest honestly kind of happy cuz they suck what why is it bad yeah there's this hubcap thing I gotta hook it out at the bottom here I might have to get a little awkward well that's the thing is I think they're kind of mad that I'm not grilling today but I guess that the spirit moved me and it was a little too and it was didn't have time to get my steaks thawed and also I want I might make a nice marinara sauce tonight though might do that kind of been feeling like I went home wha I mean that is a good point actually if I wanted to be up my ass here and let's do it let's get up my own ass for a minute oh the reason I should show the reason it's good that I'm streaming building the grill before I even think of grilling on the stream is that you can't skip steps some of the key things that's why you end up on the internet all day thinking you're doing politics because you look for a place that will be emotionally route validating without stopping to realize how far you abstracted yourself away from your actual day-to-day life so you can't just eat the hot dog or the steak until you have built the grill put it in the dank coals lit up the dang coals heat it up the dang coals it's all necessary and the act of doing it impregnates it all with more meaning building a grill makes you appreciate the grill more what is happening to my brain that's a good question I've been asking myself that same thing and I don't know people have opinions that's for sure people got a lot of opinions I don't really know yet the jury is out in my opinion I guess that is my only opinion is that the jury is out **Music playing** I'm gonna do the I'm gonna do the pie plate later it's not that important now you got your classic now you got your classic setup here your classic American all-american setup yeah I want to do corn I would like to do peppers I've actually found it like those blistered peppers are really good and they'd be really good on a grill well somebody says don't do beer can chicken I don't know I don't know I have some other thing is I have a question snakes in my freezer I got to get through before I think of doing anything else I got those a bag bad boys cooked I also have some pork shoulder that like I said my dream would be to to smoke that one but I know that's work that's more ambitious I'm gonna need a little more time to be sure that

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

I can pull that one off and then they got to keep things branded very clever but I 0:29:2 also would love to do the beyond sausages because I've been eating more of those Felix is basically kind of guilting me into it because I don't really at this point even have you can't even have much of a flavor objection because those things are damn good and I think they'd be good in the drill so I'd also like to do some sauce holy SH and those are patties are good too oh man lamb kabobs that sounds fantastic oh how am i learning in the stakes I think I'll probably do it the marination man ate that bad boy all right now I'll go through both probably do this maybe overnight a 0:30:6 couple hours I I mean they're really good so I don't I'm not wob stirs I have done I did a grilled lobster tail it was phenomenal that's a I mean honestly the fact that Hank Hill will used was it was a propane salesman you could kind of look at it as an interesting case in ideological formation you know because Upton Sinclair had a famous quote where he said no no man can understand something if his paycheck depends on him not understanding it and so if you're Hank Hill II you know I don't know how he got into the propane game but if he didn't come at it from love if he came out it out of necessity over time he would convince himself that propane was better even though in his heart his his ***** Texas heart he knows that's not 0:31:7 he knows that it's all coals so he's literally like lobotomizing himself to to reduce the cognitive dissonance of alienating his labor on behalf of an inferior meat grilling method he is that he is a sham his his unmanned and all of his masculine virtue signaling is just a hollow pathetic attempt to Dannette to reclaim agency over a life that is essentially as a serf in on the properties of mr. Strickland **Music playing** I mean the main thing is is that it's not I don't have anywhere near the space back here for a girl for a ***** all right now it's time to screw the handle guy to the 0:32:12 grill grill yeah and the funny thing is is I know that those like beyond burgers and ***** they're probably just as deadly but at least I'm not hurting other animals just me and I so you get through you get through certain levels of enlightenment 0:33:14 like there's one level of enlightenment where it's like oh my pleasure doesn't have to come at the expense of these animals then there's another level where oh I can get something that's similar but it's still killing and then you get to the point where you say it doesn't matter that it's killing me at least it's not killing them and then you get to the point where you'll realize I don't actually have to eat this salty thing to enjoy to enjoy my life that I can I can find pleasure in all experiences if I apply myself to them of the right mindset all right so I got this guy on here yeah there's a little wingnut guy little wingnut I gotta find my little wingnut now I don't mean 0:34:15 ben shapiro boom drop the mike mike has been dropped now I'll probably like move through the ranks of the animal kingdom just like Felix has away from bigger will bigger more expressively faced more sympathetic animals like it'll be hard for me to

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

ever really care about chickens the way that the chickens are exploited of course yes but like the Platonic the kind of the idea of a chicken getting killed in general never giving up my oyster so I'm never giving up my little did I not get that peace or am i forget to bring it out screw I can't do it I hope I didn't lose it somewhere very huh I hope I didn't lose the screw this is not Wilson's once again not rebounding to my benefit as a he-man yes yes I am a Wisconsinite but love oysters but I am a coastal Wisconsin I remember the call of open ocean is is deeply part of me as my being as anybody who grows up next to the next to either of the great oceans in the world because because Lake Michigan and the Great Lakes are inland oceans in the sense of you stand before them and they have the enormity of the sea you can't see across them they contain they consume in fact I might read from Moby Dick on this point oh yes I will read from the man himself on the in describing a character known as steelkilt he refers to him as a lake man Ishmael is talking to some Spaniards in Peru about the experiences of a ship where there was a mutiny one of the mutineers the mutineer leaders named steelkilt a lakeman from buffalo and they asked him what those words mean and he says on the eastern shore of our Lake Erie Don but I crave your courtesy maybe you shall soon hear further about now gentlemen and square sail Briggs and three-masted ships well nigh as large and stout as any that ever sailed out of your old kalau too far far manila this Lake man in the landlocked heart of our America had yet been nurtured by all those agrarian freebooting impressions popularly connected with the open ocean for in their inner flowing aggregate those five freshmen those grand freshwater seas of ours Erie and Ontario Huron and Superior in Michigan possess an ocean-like expansiveness with many of the ocean's noblest traits with many of its rimmed varieties of races and of climes they contain round archipelagos of romantic isles even as the polynesian waters due in large part are shored by two great contrasting nations as the Atlantic is they furnish long maritime approaches to our numerous territorial colonies from the east dotted all around their banks here and there are frowned upon by batteries and by the goat Lake craggy guns of Lac des Mackinac they are her the fleet thunderings of naval victories and intervals they yield their beaches to wild barbarians whose red painted faces flash from out their paltry wigwams four leagues and leagues are flanked by ancient and uninjured forests where the gaunt pine stands like serried lines of kings and gothic genealogies those same woods Harbor wild Africa beasts of prey and silken creatures whose exported furs give robes to tartar emperors they mirror the paved capitals of Buffalo and Cleveland as well as Winnebago villages they float alike the full rigged merchant ship the armed cruiser of the state the steamer and the beach canoe they're swept by Borean and dismasting blasts as direful as any that lashed the salted wave they know what shipwrecks are for out of sight of land however inland

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

that they have drowned beautiful of many a midnight ship with all its shrieking crew thus gentlemen though an Inlander steelkilt was wild ocean born and wild ocean nurtured as much as an audacious Mariner as any and for and etho in his infancy he may have laid him down on the lone Nantucket beached to noose at his maternal sea though an afterlife he had long followed our austere Atlantic and here can template it it is was he quite as vengeful and full of social quarrel as the backwoods seaman fresh from the latitudes of Buckhorn handled bowie knives it was this Nantucket or a man with some good-hearted traits and this lakeman a mariner who though a sort of devil indeed might yet be inflexible firmness only tempered by that common decency of human recognition which is the meanest slaves right thus treated this steelkilt has long been retained harmless and docile at all events he had proved so far thus but Radney a doomed and made mad and steelkilt Edmund Fitzgerald exactly know the Third Coast I remember I did it I said I tweeted something about coastal Wisconsin the other day and people freaked out and I honestly do feel like there is something cultural different about living by water and obviously it's you know it starts with the fact that people have to go buy water because you need water to live and to get things from one place to another absent an absence mechanical power but there's something I mean what's how it's it's weird like it's the only part of the non it's really the only part of the country the coast that routinely voted Democratic even though it's it's demographics are pretty much the same as the rest of the seething mass of square state reactionaries I'll take your word I'm still trying to figure out what nuts yeah Jill Jill pair is great I know it's from Buffalo and the funny thing is it's the same accent to Rochester Buffalo those people have the flat nasal vowels of the Upper Midwest from Michigan across to coastal Wisconsin and then you get in you get past the coast and it turns into the Fargo accent which is real and is associated with the inland Squarehead Scandinavians who make up and that's the thing I mean obviously these terms are all arbitrary but the Midwest even though I have a pretty strong opinion about what I think the definition of the Midwest is I think a strong argument can be made that there are different different Midwest sand and that state you know straight like Indiana to me is less similar to Wisconsin then you know northern New and that is why Ohio is such a weird one and honestly it's why it's the most Midwestern state Ohio is the art is D Midwestern state and it is because the northern tier is is that it's on the water it has even the same even the same settler group the the Western Reserve in northern Ohio was settled by the same Congregationalist experience from New England who settled Wisconsin and Michigan and then the southern half was settled by butternut southerners from Virginia and Tennessee in Kentucky and that is the Midwest you know because Indiana is much more butternut than that Ohio is then you got Illinois which is

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

basically entirely butternut except for Chicago but then like Wisconsin is not really butternut at all and that's why I think it was reliably more democratic because these things have residences that echo through history or at least ahead of contributing role anyway so Ohio has everything whereas not all the other Midwestern states have almost that perfect balance of the things that shape the Midwest the the the first migration like settler migration patterns before you know subsequent cuz obviously then you get the Germans you have the Germans and you get the German triangle between st. Louis Cincinnati and Milwaukee that's the but that's all laid on top of the first generations who set the like cultural firmament that then got built up the pot butternuts are were the name for settlers and recent emigrate and who had moved to the Northwest Territories of Ohio and Illinois and Indiana from Virginia might move because everybody just kept moving kind of straight across once this once the Northwest Passage Northwest Territory opened up to settlement after the Revolution because we were mostly fighting for the right to keep expanding past the Appalachians which the British said no to because they didn't want to pay for it so everybody once they started moving they moved basically straight west so New Englanders settled northern the northern chair for Scott of the Midwest and the Tidewater and and like border south more there's border southerners did the lower tier of the Midwest because like you got a state like Wisconsin which is almost entirely which is all which is pure New England Congregational then you got a state like Michigan and Missouri which is some people consider the Midwest and in some definitions I guess you could say that's arguable but that's all butternut but what they have in common is then that overlaying of German immigration from the mid 1800s and that German immigration by the way is the only reason Missouri did not join the Confederacy because once the secession started the German citizens of st. Louis essentially which was the only major city of any size in the in the in the in the in the state immediately mobilized militia forces that were able to drive the pro-confederate a political faction out of out of the cities and they then allowed the Union to like march in those anyway I could talk all day about the Midwest the Germans hated the slave power because they saw it as as they saw it as class domination they saw this rich dominating poor and just because the it was black people today it would be white people if things were different which as I've discussed on the show at the very high levels of planter's society is what they thought they thought why are you having these dumb Irish immigrants running around your cities and paying them you know pennies to live in tenements and working in factories when you could just keep them keep them in a humane conditions under control and but but like the overlay of race and and and the fact that so many people were directly or indirectly related to slavery as an institution in the south chain made that impossible to see but the

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

Germans showed up and they didn't have any of that they didn't have any investment in slavery as an institution they didn't have the ideological the ideological structures that grown up around slavery so they just saw it as exploitation as another element of 0:48:5
of workers not just some of them thought of it as workers against against capital but a lot of them were thinking about ***** the way that Prussia just marched back into the Rhineland in' and and in poveri a- and snuffed out all the attempts to to create a unified germany instead he had these ***** does Lutheran psychos and Prussia ruling Catholic Rhineland and nobody was happy about that but they saw the same they saw the same pattern folk yes because because and the Irish were the opposite because the Irish were assimilating into the United States which means that they 0:49:11 were lower on the labor pool lower lower lower on the labor and social totem pole and had more interest in maintaining a racial distinction to keep them on the right yeah I'm talking about Carl Schurz little sure said it was kind of got shitty after the war but of course the king of this is my boy August Willick somebody told me that they were writing in August village biography which was a project a long time ago I wanted to do but I was stymied by German and frock tour and then I started doing the podcast and I was like I'll just talk about him all the time that's the way less work but if he does it I hope I hope it comes out I would love to read it it's funny 0:50:36
I've tried learning dude III had a German my entire collegiate life I just I can't I mean maybe now would be different maybe I would take a different approach trip I think my elasticity is ***** I just don't have a brain for it it's similar with math I think that there's ***** in my brain where there just got some bad wiring in some places are another related to symbolic orders and like abstraction and stuff because you could do very good abstract reasoning but not along not if it's outside of the the terms of English language if it's not English language my understanding of what the symbols mean just kind of goes away I can't hold them in my head long enough to move them around and that's true of math and foreign languages I really don't know why it is I mean part of it is not as lazy but it also was very very difficult seemed harder for me oh man the Garibaldi and the Civil War thing is fun I mean it's not 0:51:40 as real as people like to think it is it's the deal that's not like Garibaldi was almost Union General what happened is somebody offered on behalf of the of the America but not authorized by Lincoln is the thing offered him a general ship and and he said I'll do it if you say that and slavery and then Lincoln said no and honestly it was probably more of just a way to get out of a thing that he didn't want to do anyway I mean he had never in the first place but the thing is is that the war that Garibaldi would have fought is a war that the United States couldn't have authorized in 1861 because it would have been a Revolutionary War and the American and the American position from Lincoln to from Lincoln debt everyone signing up to fight to everyone on the homefront for the most part except for radicals was relatively was not revolutionary all because Garibaldi would have done the things he would have taken the the contraband strategy of you know Fremont and Butler and and turned 0:52:43 it into a kind of I mean he was sort of a pow he would have turned it into an army like a like he would have like I talked about with the idea of Toussaint rolling through the underbelly of the deep south out of French Louisiana and just collecting troops as he moved obviously that has logistical problems but it also has benefits but it would making ending slavery the central goal of the war from day one and entrusting arming and in the authorizing the idea of arming and training ex-slaves immediately it's one of those deals where the conditions the actual material conditions without a lot of it but it is a cool idea to think about certainly go Felix I don't think is vegan 0:53:44

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

yet but he's pretty close by worry though is that he basically just eats replacement meat instead of meat and like you guys have said that stuff has got a lot of sodium what working sounds really good I've always thought that would be fun but it I'm I'm very physically disinclined in a way that I think especially I don't want well I consider my best practical skill ooh that's a toughy I really I'm pretty good driver 0:54:45
I guess I am pretty good driver some some disagree but I know I'm correct I have tried pottery I think I would have to to go into it into a with a very open mind and I think I could do that now I've been trying to draw a little more as the thing cuz I used to draw a lot as a kid before I got horny basically and used to draw Civil War battle scenes big ones like three or four pieces of paper like a cyclorama at Gettysburg I've looked at them as an adult I'm not terrible I can't draw hands like no one could draw ***** hands if I could be a correspondent for any war what would 0:56:0 it be well it's got to be the Spanish Civil right come on Madrid dodging the bombings with Hemingway and Gellhorn and ***** John toss Paso and oh yes the hundred years war that is a good one mostly because it's most see it's very few battles you 0:57:1 know you got your Agincourt and watches and shut but it's mostly seizures and then just going out and burning down a village just doing gregor clegane in the trident ***** chevy Shaye's hey we're gonna do some war what is that just gonna stab some peasants and burn a bunch of wheat and then you'd have I think one of the most interesting things about the Hundred Years War the jacker a where peasants like you keep getting your ass kicked and we keep creating Stamper that's for these ***** British ***** what are you doing like what is this what does this whole aristocracy thing doing you guys are supposed to be badasses you know I like Knightly Knightly Authority it comes from military prowess like that's that's who got that's who the that's who the second estate is and so they had a huge peasant revolt massacred the ***** out of a bunch of fat Lords for getting they'll keep forgetting them killed and 0:58:2 then they they just got their asses kicked no no respect for Henry the eighth he was a button masher or I'm sorry Henry the fifth Henry the fifth was a ***** button masher he just hit he's hit Welsh longbowman over and over again like I wouldn't respect him as a it's like he's like the guy who plays a street fighter it just does a Honda and just does the hand the whole time I'm talking about me because I am a bad video game player and a button masher so yeah if you're as good at war as I am at video games you I love Mothman in fact what I would do something about moth Nana specifically the book the Mothman Prophecies which is so good and weird and 0:59:8 it still amazes me the movie that they made out of that piece of ***** amazes me a terrible movie John keel is like an all-time weirdo come on like an Americans like classic and they had Richard Gere play him as just this sleepwalking douche just like all the different theories I would like the thing about Mothman is it's not just Mothman the Mothman stuff was happening at the same time as an insane bunch of weird-ass alien stuff and not just Close Encounters you know of the second kindly people having long conversations with aliens people going out into space and coming back or at least claiming to have people getting visited by men in black it's like it's just it's a prism of all of that jet age of paranoia in a small West Virginia town which then had a yes I would like to do some more about bossman the alternative 1:0:13 dimension theory of aliens that's the only theory that makes sense I doubt that any civilization would get to a level of advancement allowing for actual interstellar travel through space by itself but it possible to imagine one getting to a point where it could like interpose at its own will direction through the quantum space and then into another area because obviously we're gonna multiverse yes that's infinite it's exploding it's coming out of everything yeah there's there's multi it's it's it is a Rick and Morty annoyingly is basically right no time travel just dimensional travel that is 1:1:17 what actually would be but then the thing is that could technically be time oh I'm sorry they have I'm talking about space travel both of them but either space travel or time travel would be essentially dimensional travel not actually going through time from one timeline to another or space from one place to another I don't think either one of those are possible through any kind of technological advancement but going through either because if I go through the quantum space and find another parallel dimension that started a little later or a little earlier then you're at a different point in time and if it's similar to my world in almost every other respect it's for all intents and purposes I'm going back in time but what this means and this is very important is that time travel cannot work like it does in Back to the Future or looper or anything where if you do something to yourself in the future after you come back it does something to you like where the guy's hand gets cut off and then 1:2:18 his arc is kid version arm gets cut off and his on gets cut off or when they fade out like in Back to the Future nope every time you go back you are creating a new

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

reality there but the one you came from is the same nothing has changed you cannot change the future by going back in the past not for the people who experienced it only for different people in a different dimension so there is no so that resolves the whole grandfather paradox thing you create a new world where that person didn't exist you go there you're not there and you can hang out there you so you if you if they ever develop time travel it can just be really for entertainment purposes only you can't change anything you don't even need Timecop because it's impossible it'll 1:3:19 it might ***** up other dimensions but the one you're in nothing will have changed the clapping should be beginning shortly yeah exactly you're not traveling through time you're going to a different dimension that happens on a different time scale but is otherwise the same so it has the same people and this is the same historical development of humanity I'll hear it a little bit it's quiet this is the quietest it's been that I've noticed I think people are sick of it you know what it is I think people are sick of it hear this not clamping anymore sort of the live version of wanting to go to Lake of the Ozarks or Red Lobster or something it signals that even they are running 1:4:20 out of that sense of self-worth that comes from denying we're not going to be able to ignore the second wave but I think we're going to try to be normal through it and that's going to be very weird because I really don't think they're gonna do another shelter-in-place I don't think they can muster the will for one but people are still not gonna go out as much because they're still gonna be afraid of getting it so that's a weird limbo and I don't know how viable how long you can last yeah everyone's 1:5:49 rollin I think the antibody test might help if that becomes more widely available and they're ramping up actual testing for this thing itself so who knows I don't is there this name everybody is there some sort of mean making fun making it pretending that I'm a weeb is this happening people keep making weeb references here I don't know and I and but now I'm actually my guess is that's I bet that honestly I think 1:6:52 most of that ***** UFO stuff is ***** the fact that it's it's part of this like this it's wrapped up in a TV show I mean come there will Nino demmed convention in July so I'm not going because it does not gonna exist because it is not going to be in the interests of the party the party is the Democratic Party's interests are not served by having a convention because it will look like things are normal and their whole deal is gonna be mister not normal made everything not normal we have to stay home can't have a convention not to mention the fact that they have an actual split the party a little bit they don't want to exacerbating Trump the other hand has to have one because if even the Republicans are staying home that undermines the entire thing that he's been saying for the past four months but at the same time how how 1:7:54 much are these ritual people willing to just to risk their lives because these people are a little you know they're I think a little less cool a drinky but I don't know I think maybe that generation is gone maybe they're all who they were all kool-aid all the time and they are all gonna just run into the law of death and if they do that I will be there I will I will go to the Charlotte Convention if it happens for sure no like how do you beat that how do you how do you how do you not go to like the plague convention how do you not go to the orange rapist game show man the Chito himself presiding over obeying arena filled with carbuncle er jackals all coughing in each other's faces and some sort of weird death ritual well outside the economy is in ruins and they're stacking bodies and ***** refrigerated trucks that's ***** that is Bosh and not the show on Amazon and I gotta see it eat I'm probably not gonna die I think I don't know I mean if I've had it by then maybe I'll do it if I haven't had a pair then maybe I won't but I don't know I'm kind of getting to the point where I kind of think everyone's gonna get it oh I will definitely be well well well Tinka church to go to that rest assured Biden might refuse to see that's the thing as a Biden I refuse to debate Trump especially if he's up in now that would be very funny for a Democrat to do that because that's the kind of ***** that they finish fetishize and love so would be very hard to justify it in a way that didn't just reveal oh his brain doesn't work and he doesn't want to talk but if it's in the set necessary they'll figure out a way they always do they always buckle but the main reason it won't happen whether one of them's gonna say no or there's gonna be some third wave that a second wave thing that just knocks the whole thing off the front pages and we just have military rule and one way or another we're not we're not lucky enough to have that debate a world where Trump and Biden are the nominees is not a world where you get to alright guys I'm sorry this is mostly done the only other thing I don't have the only day I haven't done is screw the handle on but that'll take two minutes when I get this bolt and if I can't I'll go buy one so that's step one the grill is basically ready it will be fully prepared fully functional it'll be a fully armed and operational Death Star in time sometime I think next week I do have a chimney thank you for whoever first suggested the chimney I made sure to get one I'm all set I'm gonna start grilling I'm hoping to do a steak test steak next

CUSHVLOG 29. TO BUILD A FIRE

1:8:55

1:9:57

1:10:59

So... THAT happened.

06.02.20

and we're back I know it's been a long time since I wrapped it you guys as Jim and Carrie used to say but uh ***** has been going down as you know and honestly the main reason they didn't haven't really been streaming is because I didn't want to say anything that everyone else was saying or that was misinformation or that was speculation I didn't want to add noise because it seemed like there was a ***** ton of noise because I mean we've talked about how this quarantine was slowly being unraveling as people realized that no help was coming and that the nothing was undergirding anything anymore that we really are that we're really there on our own that there's nobody coming and how that situation was do that was sustained due to the fact that we were all apart we were all segregated by employment and race and quarantine and didn't and no one knew what to do and no one knew what to rally around and in that moment as I mean the reason that quarantine czar we're already talking about being wrapped up even before this I said Cuomo last a week ago was announcing that they were gonna start unraveling the quarantine in early June here in New York without you know any compensation from the loss of life or income or the failure of to the fit the complete failure to do anything about this so people already wanted out and in and we're coming to the realization that they were going to be coming out and that all of that time indoors had been for nothing all it was was the time for you to wait around and lose your and have nothing nothing does for anybody and for a hundred thousand people to die without anyone really even noticing or saying anything about it and so on that ***** video of that pig just sitting on the guy's ***** neck for eight minutes and staring into the camera I mean I understand why they thought they could get away with that you know like a lot of people kyun on types of ***** are obsessed with the idea that there was some sort of false flag that the guy is the Ben Bailey from Cash Cab or something because it seems so it is so outrageous even compared to your other police shooting videos because of the the the cold-bloodedness of it the complete a complete lack of any humanity in it the not even emotion just impassive almost Borg look on the ***** guy's face and that's why people assume a lot of people assume this had to be some sort of scam that said to be some sort of provocation but I mean look at where we were look at what we've been putting up until that point hell me you know like I said the US Senator telling people who are out of a job which is what 40% of the population at this point almost that hey ***** people in Hell me nice one or two ***** good luck and that impassive look that just willingness to be filmed murdering someone it comes from the same realization that's filtered throughout every level of control of the society that like we're broken we're broken people and there's really nothing we're gonna do about it and maybe two months into the Brett maybe two months into the quarantine that would have been true but we got to a point where people got to a point where it just it wasn't it wasn't gonna do it anymore they weren't gonna be able to put up with it anymore because that sweet suspension that most Americans even poor ones are in in America where you have this massive police apparatus designed to keep people cowed but you also have some thin layer of material and creature comforts and also the in hope that you could potentially improve your situation through striving right over the ***** all of that is gone all that's left that the the the the carrot coronavirus destroyed the carrot is all those left is the stick and in this and right in your face and the thing about that is is that the stick loses a lot of its coercive power if people don't think that there's anything to lose and that's where we are now and so people people ***** did something and I think one of the big reasons that it's that the protests spread so quickly outside of Minneapolis after that first night of love fighting was seeing that you could do a thing like burn a ***** police station but you could actually do it something that had never really been dead before and so now people are doing it all over the country and the question a lot of people are and you've seen at least I've certainly seen this paralysis this this everyone wasn't in stasis and now everything is moving we talked about how that that's how it works you get you get into a fixed position something intercedes it breaks open the consensus and those things are fluid again in a different way and like we were in a bubble we were in this quarantine bubble that popped and it was gonna pop at some point and this is what was gonna pop it and this is what popped it now what's gonna happen next is a real question and no one knows and I feel like one of the big reasons that some trying to makes I'm trying to be clear here it's very difficult because obviously this is a fluid and and dynamic and and incredibly dramatic I don't wanna get on my hobby horse about the internet but like looking at people trying to make sense of this thing online really reminds you that you can't make sense of anything online it's not designed to do that and it can't do that because so you have the protests at a mill course along with those you have burning of buildings and cars and and looting and and immediately that becomes a moral question that people have to adjudicate or feel that they must adjudicate

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

because that's how we've been trained to understand politics as observing situations and then informing opinions about them and so the question becomes who's doing this looting is it is it anarchists is it anetha is it the cops is it ray Jones provocateur is it regular people who are frustrated is it good or bad because if it's good then we should help or there maybe we should be involved if it's bad then we should shut it but that is an irrelevant question I would say the answer to the question of who's doing it all those different options yes I mean we've already seen video of cops smashing windows themselves and smashed cups piling up bricks cops clearly think that allowing things to get burned allowing things to get smashed last night in Manhattan Soho in the Midtown got smashed up and all those awful stores got looted with cops blocks away in giant pie joint groups clearly that's because they wanted it to happen because they think that if these protests are are destructive enough that America's middle class propriety will overwhelm any sense of any sense of injustice any sense of anger at the failure of the status quo to provide for anybody and not even prevent them from joining because they probably weren't gonna join anyway most people aren't going to join rather they're gonna look the other way or even oh be okay when the live ammo comes out or the the mass arrests start as in like filling stadiums and ***** with people like that's clearly the the the hope of the police and what sustains that hope is the fact that so many people want more than anything to be right before they do anything because the internet gives us with a fantasy that we can know what the right thing to do is in any situation that we can have enough information about the dynamics of a fluid situation like a nationwide spontaneous outburst of protests that we could determine oh these people are doing it for X it can only result in this therefore I should either involve myself or sit it out which is why you see a lot of people on the first night saying this is the revolution this is happening we will take over obviously that's delusional but they need to tell themselves that this is it to motivate them to do it now the other hand you have the people saying oh what are you doing don't you know corporations actually love riots they think it's cool who gives a ***** what they think it's branding it's PR they're not involved unless you think target has like shooters out there doing their own looting it's just ask covering because at this point it is just a series of protests that don't have any connected demands or organization as because we don't have a left of this country we don't have a movement opposed to capitalism at any level all we have our discrete people who whose alienation they process in discrete ways and it's and so black people because they are a separate group within America and are treated as such and live as such have any more acute understanding of that alienation that will lead them to take step take a stand collectively in a way that is much harder for any other groups to pull off but that's that doesn't mean that whatever this is can't

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

become something more than it is and the thing that's gonna make that happen is people have to ***** just make the choice to except that they can't know that you can't know where anything is gonna lead you want to be able to say to yourself by doing enough post reading okay this is all adventurism there's no politics to this I'll stay home then okay congratulations enough people do that then you've ensured that that's what's gonna happen because and but especially for white people there is this Court this uh this crisis of what is my place in this what is my place in this contest do i I don't want to crowd out black voices or whatever the hell and that's why you have this cockamamie blackout thing today but one of the reasons that people 0:12:27 that there is that divide and that that this this protests happened along racial lines before they happen along any more abstract class line is because of the segregation of American life and the only way to change that is through action the only way to build the connections the word that gets thrown around around a lot here solidarity to create organs of deliberation decision-making and coordination that are going to be necessary to push back against whatever is coming next that's gonna be built in the streets it's going to be built in the process of doing things it might not be but if it but it can be and it's only will there so I think more than anything people need 0:13:29 to give up any idea that they can outsmart this thing that they can figure it out but they could have a take on it that is all-encompassing and so that only leaves your your need your morale and and just for your own so personal preservation because what we're staring down right now is a is the complete collapse of any social order other than pure coercion the the Terminator face be revealing itself completely and the only thing being left the the carrot completely going away for everybody so that is your thought as someone who is more removed and and and protected for the worst deprivation of this collapse than people in the streets that's not gonna last the profits are still going away they're still eating the seed corn they're still selling the ***** popper well copper wiring and stripping the pipes it's only gonna get worse but the budgets for cops are only gonna get bigger because it's the only public 0:14:30 service that they need until of course they could privatize that completely but for now that's not on the table and if we're going to defer going to stop them from doing this essentially the only way to do that is to build collaborative organizational power against it which does not exist and cannot be built by the internet cannot be built by posting cannot be built by hashtagging cannot be built by Instagram post it can only be built by experience it can only build by because right now guys more than anything I'm ***** scared I'm scared for what they're gonna do because they 100% think that if enough windows get smashed then they could ***** roll tanks in the streets and people by and large will allow it to happen and the the 0:16:2 only way that's not gonna happen its if we don't let it happen and of course that doesn't mean anything now and it can't mean anything now because we're not in this situation we're not responding but every day that people stay out there it's another day the power can be built I'm not gonna say I think there's gonna be enough I really don't but that doesn't change the math at all because winning and being right or being right at some acting means something because only through action 0:17:4

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

can we find purpose and more importantly only through action can we find effective counter action effective attempts to stop them from doing what they want to do and you're already seeing that you're already seeing the possibilities that emerge in these situations and with the thing that they need is bodies the thing they need because at some point if there's enough people you find out that maybe that negotiating position that seemed completely impassable it's not quite as fixed as it seemed because at all 0:18:7 because it depended on an assumed passivity among the population that is that can be disrupted and changed change the the the change the power dynamic change the degree of of leverage I mean obviously the next step the step that would genuinely help prevent the kind of crack down and reassertion of like a new order of pure coercive of urban essentially open-air surveillance and coercion would be some sort of labor disruption as in obviously strikes but also the disruption of the ability to continue functioning this is before the economy to function now of course it's hard to 0:19:15 get any more specific than that one because things are still happening at least these formations are still in the process of being formed but but you can see the big formed they ***** took over a hotel in Minneapolis and they turn it into a homeless shelter and yes of course with the with with the owners allowing them to do it but that still speaks to a degree of coordination outside of official channels that looked impossible just a couple of weeks ago and that makes you wonder what could be possible but it's hard to say anything more specifically one as I said because it's still fluid but two because there's going to be a hell of a comeback crackdown coming and the fact that so many people have their entire lives online and have their entire political views online and their entire political actions online is going to be helpful to them in 0:20:17 that respect so I don't advocate anything specific because every situation is different every protest is different the composition of every group of people who is are in a given situation is different the response of the police officers is not always identical the responsible bystander gerson and the unengaged is different what I do know is that the only way to prevent this from just being another another milestone on the road towards of collapse not of the states or the state's ability to to control life but rather our ability to live in any way with any dignity with with it with any control of 0:21:18 our own existence the only way to stop that that from happening is to prevent them from putting a cap on it the way that they want to and that means first foremost and only right now on at this point being out there if you can and supporting if you can

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

in any ways and in the way that you can and the internet is good to the degree that it helps you coordinate actions and tell you where to go and what and what people need but it sure ***** is not going to tell you what's happening it's not going to tell you who the good guys and the bad guys are it's not going to tell you the morality of anything it's not going to tell you what what tactics are going to be the most effective or revolutionary and which ones are actually you know those are really neoliberal no one knows so I would say to anyone this includes me that as scary as it is it's also very exciting and you know a new world is being born but just what kind is is what kind of world it is is one that that nobody knows and I mean the trajectory has been pretty bad so it makes sense to assume it's gonna just get worse but if you don't want it to be you at least have to know to be able to tell yourself and to tell your loved and so someone on Twitter the other day said uh said how does this fit with the grill pill and it's it really does it really does echo the idea that you've got to go out I mean you got to do something near you and if you're anywhere near a protest that's a thing near you that's a ***** thing near you now the problem is is that this is basically an because of the way that that cities have been racially segregated and the way capital has been shifted throughout urban areas so yeah you have these these city centers that are now surrounded by by reactionary suburbs which is a reversing of the dynamic that persisted in say France where which is France is essentially the country where the model of the the revolutionary spontaneous riot that becomes a that coalescence into an actual the revolutionary movement was essentially born and then the reverse is true there the middle of the city is where all the swells lived in the suburbs were over all the workers lived the red belts around Paris and that's been reverse the United States but the thing that also has happened is that those same urban centers because of specifically because of gentrification they're also the places where all the all of rich people's money is stuck in real estate so there is still vulnerability there there still is there's a lot of money in these cities there's a lot of of investment and that is a point of leverage that can be exploited once again I don't know how I have no idea I just know that that they're gonna that that the option of just the option that happened after 1968 which is essentially just a strategic retreat for of state resources and white populations from cities and then just malign neglect coupled with a massive you know police investment that's harder now I mean my god how my god half in Manhattan in the 80s half of half of the buildings in like south of Houston were ***** empty they were really were squatting squatters warehouses there's very little actual money on the table in those places now I mean all those buildings that got smashed up and Soho those things are all filled with empty apartments that all have billions of dollars sunk in them from the global elites to park their money so that's the consist significant difference and that's means that

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

it's gonna be much harder for for them to just do a strategic retreat which would require a retaking and re-establishment of law and order but so far that has not happened but like yeah like the cops just let all that hat looting happen yesterday because they want to terrify all the Upper West and North Side people who run the town the people who really have the money and the people who really call the shots not ***** Bill DeBlasio the walther than the Wall Street people they want them to sign off even if they might have urban liberal sensibilities but that's only possible if 0:27:29 if the people who are under that threat are a small enough group and if they're if they're alone enough if they don't have enough support but yeah I don't know what's gonna happen I just know that everybody's got a responsibility to to to do what they can because this is what we got the same way that the Bernie campaign was was what was happening and was the shot and was was the process was that was the movement this is that and it might not it might not be organized enough for some it might not have enough concrete goals and I do think those are things that are wildly necessary but like I said they're not gonna be built by scolding like it's gonna be built by cooperation and by participation with I will say though that um that I am 0:28:32 surprised by how resistant people are to being cowed by the by the moralizing that usually accompanies any kind of property damage and that is provoked intentionally by the police for that reason because there's less to lose and because we've seen our institutions completely fail us at every ***** level so what the hell a bank an intact bank window speaks to a a sense that you have a you know you have a a functioning order right and that it's one that you can participate it but if that order doesn't 0:29:37 if that order ceases to hold any real imagined imaginative power of if it ceases to stand for anything good if it ceases to if it ceases like everything in the country right now ceases to provide then what do you give a ***** if it gets broken what are you getting a ***** and I think that's what people are kind of realizing is that the horror they might have once had for this stuff is dissolving in the fact in the face of the system's complete callousness and incompetence the overwhelming callousness and incompetence that speaks that is a yute is now felt more and more keenly by more people than any time in in my life we're not and people see that it's the cops really 0:30:38 more than anything because for every video of some smashed windows there's a video of a cop pointing a ***** bazooka at someone's face or taking someone's eyeball out with a point-blank shot from a rubber bullet everywhere because it sure ***** hard to talk about bad apples when every police force every metropolitan major police force in this country is simultaneously rioting but I don't have a lot of illusions that what's ever going to come out of this is going to be some sort of permanent change I think the best hope is that it builds like I said structures that can move forward from here 0:31:40 like people love to compare ***** to revolutions of the past people love to compare

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

***** to revolutions of the past and in fact you've got entire political tendencies that are essentially revolve around recreating of the 1917 October Revolution but I would say that the thing right now that that this historically reminds me the most of is 1905 in Russia because the Russian Revolution of 1905 caught everyone by surprise including every reform movement every Socialist Party every radical none of them were involved in the leadership of them none of them had anything to do with the planning because it basically was no planning but over time systems emerged the concept of the Soviet was and that's what this feels like now that but it certainly 0:32:45 means that these structures that emerge from 1905 could emerge here because you had a government in in Czarist Russia that was that lost all legitimacy due to its incompetence lost its ability to project itself as a provider of security or safety bred anything got their asses kicked in in Japan and and I can't think of a time that more reflects this current moment just in terms of the the general dawning sense that this government in this system is at base function incapable of doing what it is supposed 0:33:47 to do at least what we all are told it's supposed to do and we all convinced ourselves as what is actually supposed to be done it's supposed to be doing so I don't have any kind of real health that this is going to be the revolution whatever that even would mean but if there is going to be any coherent and effective counter mobilization against this slide towards bare face techno authoritarianism it's because you know if you want to compare to 1905 and then assume 1917 whatever that moment happens is going to come a lot faster than then 15 years later that was also on the knife 0:34:50 edge and very well takeover and so that's still certainly in the cars but and I think this is important there's nothing about the protests themselves in any sense that is going to make it inevitable what's gonna make it inevitable is the declining rate of profit and the collapse of of civic institutions the sniffing by the way it's not because I'm on cocaine I have Haller geez thank you very much and it's a little damp today and that tends to make them worse ragweed maybe that's what's is it maybe and the scariest these cops are I mean they also are just fat suburban i'ts at the end of 0:35:51 the day I mean there's only so much work they really want to do you know I mean they don't have dreams of countenance panic Dominion they have dreams of wealth you know adding another and that's the thing about Americans is that you know we don't we're not really built we're not gritty we're not our you as much as we fetishize that stuff the reason we do that is because we know we're all soft pudding boys and girls we know that I mean we know we buy trucks to drive around with and we never take them even off of a ***** highway we never take them anywhere other than a Starbucks I mean we do that for a reason we do that to Jessica I believe these guys stack up these ***** hockey pads and and guns so that they can act and feel 0:36:53 like they're tough but no but they aren't and then what that mean what toughness

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

is essentially is the willingness to sacrifice yourself a lack of concern at the end of the day for your physical well-being their physical harm and and your your material surroundings and that does not exist anywhere that's and the thing that builds that sense is having less to lose but hopefully another thing that can make you believe that is having more to gain not for yourself though and I think that's a thing that has hamstrung politics in this country as the world has become disaccharides and as we have become more and more consciously and unconsciously devoted to to a pleasure as an end to itself is that you're probably not going to live to see anything good in this world none of us no one listening to this no one watching this no matter what happens is out there with this protest is likely to see anything like a significant revolutionary change in their lifetime but that doesn't mean you don't try because the people who come after you the people and and that is something that has to be rediscovered and so the feeling like you haven't have anything to lose might get you out in the street but I think what's gonna get you keep you in the street is the dawning realization that there is something to gain but if you focus on it for in then here now and that's what it seems to me so many people who like saying this is a good change anything look at this the corporations are saying they like it that is based on an assumption that whatever you choose to do you have to believe not only is it going to be successful in the short term it is going to bring about some sort of significant revolutionary change for you and if that's the standard nothing will meet it nothing will meet that standard because that's not how it works sometimes it works sometimes you're there holy ***** but that steel falls but you can't assume that anything you do it's like those guys who spent an entire lifetime building a cathedral but by the time they're dead all all that's up is like one flying buttress they still did it it's it's the medieval cathedral and you got to think of it that way we all have to think of ourselves as coming together to build something that's not gonna be that we're not gonna be able to live in so we're a build like Moses wasn't able to go to the promised land you're not gonna be able to live in the and the thing that happens and the thing that will build that is detaching yourself from pleasure as an end to itself which was the greatest and most I guess inevitable byproduct of capital hyper accumulation is that it it disenchant the world and replaces enchantment with with stuff and if all you have a stuff then the only thing that matters is stuff I'm not talking about you have to live in a ***** you know in a shed and will lie on a bed of rusty nails like cherish em skis what is to be done protagonist saying that you cannot operate politically from the assumption that you will live to see the promised land and a lot of people if they the weighing action and the sense of control over their lives versus the danger of doing that that's the deciding factor is oh well that's not going to it's probably not gonna work anyway I know that's in the my past I know that that's the thing that has kept me indoors it's probably not gonna live work anyway but nothing is probably gonna work until all of a sudden oh ***** it is and it just the thing that makes the difference is people keeping pushing people not going home people people making a leap of faith like so as again as has been here before 0:42:23 my advice is log on to the degree that it helps you know how to log off and what to do when you log off but I just I found myself this weekend just getting staring into the goddamn Palantir just and and feeling like the ***** mercury poisoning entering my bloodstream the paralysis said it the analysis paralysis of wait a minute what is going on who's a lot who's doing the looting let's go who's who wants this to happen we're the provocateurs and if you get stuck at that level then we all know what's gonna happen but the thing that's gonna prevent that is it's a lot easier to make that leap when there's less to comfort you when there's less material stuff to 0:43:26 to indulge to imagine and the fact that everybody's been indoors for three months and so much of their their life that used to give them pleasure and just diversion is no longer there that's but yeah the cops are loading up bricks the cops are smashing things the cops are allowing looting to happen because they want a blank check and of course no matter how much they have it ha every ***** scumbag on TV is gonna give it to them when it Khan comes and this NBC will give it to him CNN I'll give it to him all these Democratic governors and mayor's who are aghast Trump are gonna carry it out and the only thing is gonna so as scary as it seems 0:44:37 and I am genuinely scared of what's coming with the ***** cop with the military mobilization ***** drones and and I mean I would not be surprised if there was it's not a concerted effort to start rounding up ringleaders especially now with an tyfa being called a terrorist organization but if we lay down for it then we're gonna lay down for everything I mean yes so there will be there's probably gonna be some 0:46:0 sort of Marshall honestly the fact that today is a primary day is very funny to me and the fact the idea of any of this being resolved through elections is very funny so much so that I'm becoming more and more convinced that we might not even and I do like the fact that you're already seeing demands come out of this which 0:47:5 speaks to the the the effect the heat the community-building effect of this kind of thing because you know uh last Thursday it was it was smashy smashy but we're already seeing significant formation around the idea of reducing police police force size and budgets which is a hugely which would be huge because the reason they do that ***** is that for fun or aesthetics and it's not even really because the cops have politicians over a barrel it's because that is how you keep these ***** property values so high it's it's how you maintain order in these cities that have been slowly and steadily stripped of all non social networks and social functions and safety net 0:48:6 so saying way fewer cops and hey how about this wait if you were guns on cops that is a genuine challenge because to accommodate that you would have to put a ***** ton more money into making cities function as social spaces that doesn't involve coercion and incarceration that doesn't put the problem in jail and provide revenue streams for private prisons and ***** and that is not in the cards as that's not on the on the but it is hard to imagine this happening in any other context than a three month quarantine and I mean I talked down here on the other streams about the slow steady dawning realization that all of this quarantine wasn't for anything 0:49:7 but a lot of people especially in cities especially good liberal people in cities who believe in science and have this sense of a public good that involves not getting old people sick with a potential virus they stayed home even though nothing was being done to make that quarantine mean anything this gave people the excuse that they needed to go outside this is this was a thing that superseded the virtue inherent in staying indoors this was finally a way to get outside without feeling guilty about it and that you could look at that cynically or you can say now they're in the streets and now they could make a new choice what's the what's the moral thing now what is the community-minded thing now that the cops are out there cracking skulls and shooting people with but yeah I mean if you want to keep on that 1917 405 ***** 0:50:28 I guess Biden would be like this stupid right the the mod the moderate PM who comes in and oversees you know a bunch of executions and imprisonments but but also acknowledges you know the importance of transition to democratic I will be up going out to a protest as soon as this I was out last night I'd been out I'm not going to talk about what I'm doing for a number of reasons I'm in New York City 0:51:29 for one of them and these cops are legitimately Psychopaths and I'm not going to be posting about it I'm sorry I'm not going to be validating anyone else's opinion of me by by by trying to prove that I'm a good person but I will be going to a protest after this but beyond that I'm not gonna be broadcasting anything so if you want to audit my my behavior for virtue that's up to you I'm not going to provide you I'm probably I will I will level with people that I'm probably not going to pick too many fights with cops because I am disabled as it were but we'll see I will say though that 0:52:40 Joe Biden telling the cops to shoot people in the leg is perfect liberalism and more proof that we have reached the the end point of both political parties trumpet by and represent the terminal the terminal decrepitude of the two major parties and they're there in their own ways their own different ways that are determined by their different social bases they are revealing their utter impotence in the face of processes that are completely beyond the control of any political faction or even the political class at I think police unions the day with police unions is I think you limit what 0:53:48 they can like organize around you know like two big things that police unions love to organize around are preventing oversight and resisting residency requirements to

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

things that make it much easier to have a police force of suburban maniacs who kill with impunity unions should be able to do something Oh someone points out there's actually one more perfectly emblematic liberal response to this even more perfect than Biden saying shoot people in the leg and that is a fact that former President Barack Obama wrote a medium post the format of people apologizing for getting me to has now been used by Barack Obama to tell people to chill out amazing impetus reveling in impetus I mean Trump Trump is infinite little bad they had to shoot up there to fire a bunch of people it's ***** Anglican clergy members so that they could have him waived the Bible in front of a ***** church and the S David Roth point out that leaked audio of him talking to the governors he sounded like a pissed-off guy calling in to Mike franceska show about the Giants like that's why fixating on Trump as always is the chimera and a fail is a failure of analysis because he is as much and in the sea as the rest of these people Layton their response to Corona was determined by the nature of the American economy he was not determined by any ideology and the response to this as you see unified police unified forces democratic governors Republican governors democratic government mayors almost fell across determined by the niju reassert power the authority in these cities none of that is determined at the political level but if you're sitting up if you're sitting sidelines for this and you're waiting for something better I guess I think that's what people are saying you know like a lot of the people who were poopoo the Sanders campaign and are now in the streets they were waiting for something better and a lot of the people who like Bernie and now are skeptical of of the protests they're also waiting for something better and in both cases the answer is this is what we have this is what's happening this is the movement this is where things are fluid this is where opposition is an organization is being mounted and so if you want things to change if you want to assert any control over the world then you must do it through what you use in front of you if you wait for the perfect perfectly class-based political movement to appear it's that's not that will never happen and all you will have to keep yourself comfortable as things get worse and worse and worse is your own sense that you're smarter than everybody else and that's cold ***** comfort let me tell you but the thing that's really most striking is the absolute collapse in institutional legitimacy we've talked about that and we talked about how Trump is a symbol of it now that but this is the most stunning example of it is the fact that the the playbook of everyone getting horrified at some looting and then deciding to condemn it didn't happen this time because more and more people have lost all investment in any of these institutions political or otherwise and that's the first and most necessary step for anything to get better because if if you are invested in these institutions they will at the end now the scary thing is is that the only institution in American life that has not lost

CUSHVLOG 30. SO...THAT HAPPENED.

all of its legitimacy is the military yeah ooh and that is why the other person you got to look out for if we're talking early 20th century Russia comparisons of course this is all facile and meaningless where this is a completely different situation but if you want to have fun with it if you're looking for who's Trotsky you're looking for who's Lenin emerging out of this 1905 moment and you know and moving into the future you got to wonder who's who's carnal love who are Denikin who's Kolchak because the military is the only institution with any kind of bipartisan legitimacy in this country because so many people's family members are part of it and because it has been able to maintain a non political stance relative to the political process 1:0:3 and almost no other institution has been able to do that everything else has been politicized and of course obviously the military is political but it is not perceived by enough very many people relative to other institutions as political and that is why if things get worse and if this becomes a prolonged struggle and that prolonged struggle is happening in the context of a prolonged economic crisis oh and by the way a continued pandemic that will continue to kill people at now probably much higher rates and the military might be the only thing that can unify people or at least enough people to reestablish and that's a scary thought every thought is scary 1:1:5 right now but none of that obviates there to anyone's moral strategic imperative to grab with both hands the world in front of them and try to shape it for the better I hope everybody stay safe I hope everybody find something that they could do that can make them feel like they're contributing and I hope that fear over tide will turn into something else maybe maybe hope we'll see all right guys I'm gonna be going see how the flippity-flop I think I'll be doing more of these in the future I think we might be going back to daily daily streams but we'll

CushVlog 31

---

Much Too Think

06.04.20

accident host mode we are out of host on ladies and gentlemen we are go for launch we are in this zone we are all all right we're here we're here folks yeah I'm thinking we're back yeah yeah hi folks we're back we're back in Brooklyn it's nice 0:1:16 so far although they say it's gonna storm like crazy again today I don't know if that's gonna happen though people are still out though god bless them I was out yesterday we'll see what happens how's everyone's doing how is everyone feeling percentages where are you at what is your marbling are you are you dread marbled with excitement or are you excitement marbled with dread shout off fifty/fifty I think that's the reasonable thing honestly just because as I have said everything is up at the damn air I mean there should be you should always have more dread just because 0:2:20 the trajectory as it is and power differentials as they are and the culture as it is and the neoliberal subjects that we are the likelihood is that things will end in some sort of reaction and reestablishment of the salves quo but the hope really should be of how how much has been built what kind of structures or even just consciousness is built by by the events and that is still way up at the air that's the thing that people really need to get their head around is just how early this is they have not done anything to stop this the only thing because people are trying to find a way to be outdoors again that doesn't feel selfish and also a way to assert humanity in the face of what looks like a thoroughly dehumanizing non I know I tell everyone to stay off 0:3:25 the internet but I of course can't I'm latched to the wheel and lash the mast so I got to go on there I got a look at this stuff and it gets me all I guess be bummed because I see the things that everyone sees that make you feel despondent and you see the brands you see that the woke brands talking about how they love our lives and how they respect a black culture regardless of how much how many how much slave produce is involved in their their company's bottom line you've got DeRay and obama out there trying to create some sort of touchy-feely compromise for everybody and you've got things like those white people at the protest literally bowing down before black people to ask them to forgive them for racism all of it is wildly wildly cringe and so i don't blame anybody for feeling that cringe because you know given

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

the situation we're dealing with the given the the the the in real-time collapse of the 0:4:27 entire economic political and a lot of people wish that we had something else wish that we had a different movement wish we had a movement that was more that was more specifically economically oriented and to that I have a joke it's an old joke that I'm sure a lot of you have heard and it's a physicist and engineer and an economist are stranded on a desert island and the only thing they have to eat is a washed-up can of corn that they found on the beach but they don't have any can openers I mean ***** I ***** it up they don't have anything open it and the physicist says let's put it in the fire and see if it bursts and they go no they'll burn all the kernels and the engineer says no well we'll get a piece of wire trying to pry it open then the economy 0:5:30 said economist says all right so assume we have a can opener that's the joke joke is that economists demand perfect conditions even though the world doesn't work that way and trying to figure out your politics on the Internet has a similar effect of being an economist does which is to fixate you on theoretical concepts that don't relate to reality and the fact is is that if you sit around waiting for that perfect class first movement to emerge it's not going to it sure ***** isn't going to merge off the internet it's not going to emerge from people battering their arguments down to perfect razor sharpness and then using them in battle upon the planes of discourse and then enough people are going to come around to your point of view and everyone decides simultaneously to act on this new idea that is I hate to say it a liberal way of thinking about how change happens you go to war with the army you have as 0:6:33 Donald Rumsfeld said and the army we have right now is an army that was roused from slumber by the grotesque and public violence of police specifically violence of police against blacks minorities because lack of informing minority communities are systematically disadvantaged by capitalism need to be and as such need to be more policed need to be more control and that means that that alienation that we all feel towards the system is more disenchantment from political and economic authority then there are more broadly throughout the culture because there's other things that people have to grasp onto there are other ideas there's the flag there's there's there's the political party system all of which give people a sense of some sort of control over this stuff that it's much harder to feel when your only real interaction with 0:7:36 the state is through its most violent stupid evil ***** agents and so in a country of neoliberal atomized subjects that was always going to be the most likely place for sparks to fly but it doesn't mean that it has to stay that way and I think that's what people who get locked into the internet analysis machine miss is that there is nothing that says that this has this movement this this uprising whatever you want to call it has to maintain narrowly focused on issues of police police misconduct or that a police reform agenda can't be the leading wedge of a new movement that is

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

broadly challenging to capitalism one of the and I think some of the proof of that is that we have already gone in the span of a week from the vacuous anarchists demand to abolish policing of a Polish police which is meaningless in an occur in a capitalist system you that is that there's no more perfect definition of putting the cart before the horse than that one that is that that's that's the kind of thing that withers away as a state loses its coercive class character you don't do that first because you still have a capitalist economy and you have a but now you're already seeing that turned that that sort of adventurist anarchist slogan being refined into an idea around ideas around defunding and disarming police which is an actual concrete agenda that would have actual concrete effects many of which are going to would be challenging to capitalism significantly so because you know the managing these these public spaces managing these these urban centers that are now the only place where America's elite and the world elite can can sink money in safe investments that's all depend on police power and the degree to which austerity has ravaged the budgets of municipalities and cities and made it harder and harder for people on the margins to survive that money has not just gone away that money has gone to the police it has been a tidal shift of resources from from social services to police you've got police taking up over half the budgets of a lot of the big cities in this country even if like a city like Los Angeles has wildly fewer cops per capita than New York does about half as many and it's still it still takes over 50% of the municipal budget a significant reduction in the number of number of police number armed police and the amount of money spent on policing by definition is gonna be a read tidal shift back towards towards or it can be anyway if it's directed that way toward social services because unless you're cutting taxes while you're cutting unless you're cutting municipal taxes while you're cutting police budgets and no one is calling for that they better not be then that money is gonna go somewhere and it can go to somewhere actually ***** productive that actually creates community durability viability and autonomy and an ability to to to create more importantly than anything creates a sense that the political process has meaning in people's lives the idea that they could actually get something from the state get something from their City instead of just getting a ***** gun to their head instead of just getting told to move along instead of just being policed that it matters like actually something to be there's a positive element to the state project that they that people can participate in and the concerns about policing turning into a private concern that is a real issue you know I mean there's these you can't fire all these guys and just expect them to just you know go work at McDonald's or something especially well there are gonna be rich people willing to pay them to be their private police but for now anyway private police do not have an authority to exercise violence at the level that public police do that the public servants do and that's not something that we that will just change that's something that has to be changed and presumably a political political project of a political movement that is effective at the level of reducing policing would also prevent some new system of being being imposed whereby private police have now the authority to exercise deadly force that publicly state none of this is of course determined none of this will happen one way or the other all of it is determined by us collectively how we respond how we act and how we organize ourselves in the face of repression we're already seeing now a shift in the level of authoritarianism that is now being accepted I mean obviously you had Trump threatening to call him the cops calling the military before kind of backing down on that but today a judge in New York state ruled that the NYPD can hold anybody that they hold that they that they arrest at a protest no matter what it was for they could hold them for more than 24 hours which is a violation of habeas corpus and that's so that they can get people off the streets that they could Ketel enough people in jails to to prevent them from continuing to exhaust the cops which is what they're doing right now so we're already seeing the forces start to be marshaled and the question is going to be how we respond and I don't know how but I just know that there's a that we have a worth there is a mass disenchantment the fact that the fact that a police station got burned in in Minneapolis last Thursday night and that would did was not responded to nationwide by some collective gasp some collective freakout that we are gone too far it instead helped ignite nationwide protests that says something I think and now we don't know what it is yet but there's there's something in the air as they used to say the likelihood is that as the quarantine is lifted as people are able to go outside certainly as public accommodations open up the degree to which people are willing to put time and effort into something like protesting is going to go down and there's going to be a subsequent lack of a reduction in in a number and size and intensity of protests but you can't discount what responses are going to come from the overreaction of the police and of the state which is also happening there's a dang cheeto in the white house and my mind honestly my greatest hope here is that is that the segregation of American life that makes working-class activism so difficult and may have meant working-class mobilization so difficult the fact that there is this genuine stratification not just by class but specifically by race in this country that that stratification creates this entire complex of anxieties and neuroses around race that are then played out in public that this could actually that this process that this this protest wave could help break that down do it agree to to make the possibility of to make people feel on both sides of the divide that there is cooperation possible that there is a common interest that police that the police are really there to ***** at the end of the day control us all and that our awareness of their coercive and

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

authoritarian power over us is uneven than often depended that dependent upon race but more than anything dependent upon class life by what neighborhood you live in by what the police assume of you when they come and it's harder and it's harder and is that why everybody was posting David Dee's cartoons today did he die did the ***** chemtrails finally get him was the chemtrails there was a GMO corn I gotta say everybody who was talking about like Oh Biden's done for him because Biden's a stiff and it's gonna be 2016 all over again I mean that might have had honestly think Trump might have got reelected if the appeared emic hadn't happened but at this point the real problem for Trump is that he is too stupid not to realize that when a thing like for example a bunch of mass protests against police brutality breakout that it is in his interest to appear a impartial mediator and to not appear to be on this one side or the other because that means people who are not fully committed to that side are more likely to blame him specifically so that means there's probably going to be plenty of suburban white people who are horrified by what they're seeing and are dropping their monocles while they watch their TVs at at rioting who nevertheless see Trump as responsible which is all his fault or largely his fault because at the end of the day he is just a dumbass I mean sure he's smarter than you know the average political reporter but he still does not have I guess it's the self-control he doesn't have the discipline to hold his ***** water ever because as he imagines himself as the president that means he is the embodiment of the state and that means any protest against state overreach that or about people like supporting him like the like reopened protests were he and his only reaction is to is to fully defend himself and justify himself and do ***** like send pepper spray out against peaceful profesh first so he can wave a Bible around so the no matter what a horrible ***** comes in the next four months or whatever until the election five months six months eight months I don't I literally don't know when is it twelve months from now is it a year from now where am I who is it I'm smelling toast no matter what happens it's all gonna continue to stick to him it's gonna it's like a big sticky chocolate covered baby rolling down a hill that was just mowed and he just keeps getting the freshly cut lawn clippings all over and of course he's not going to acknowledge the results but I don't think it's gonna matter I think the the stuff with espera and Matt especially proves that those of us who sort of assumed that there is not really any any real buy-in at the top levels of the military with Trump specifically like Trump personally is is I think I think that's been borne out I think that if Trump will probably say the election doesn't really isn't legitimate if he loses but that only means anything if if he has anyone with guns to support that claim and I think we're seeing now that you know barring some wild intervention that's not going to be the case because these guys like I've said are pretty unimaginative

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

bureaucrats which means that they like most bureaucrats most people at high levels of the media in politics they have this childish belief an investment in the political process as it exists which means that they don't see Biden as a existential threat that they they have not drunk the kool-aid whereby Biden represents some sort of communist attempt to take over America he's just another he's just another member 0:21:4 of the team he's another he's another professional political operative in the political classes job it is to manage the American Empire and he's surrounded by the people who have shown in the past their willingness the bility to go along with the program and so that means there's gonna be no taste at the top levels to go to the mattresses for Trump they'll just say okay okay Donnie and then they'll they'll tell him to leave and because he's a big fat baby who more than anything is afraid of being humiliated he's not gonna even put up a fight he'll walk out they'll call his bluff and he'll leave now what his supporters do is another thing but my god we're already seeing how ***** weak these people are these people have ***** every one of them as may ar-15 and where are they doing now what are they doing with it they're not even going to the cities to try to ***** do the Boogaloo for the most part they're posting about how if someone comes to my neighborhood I'm gonna shoot him okay what if they don't what do they don't come to your neighborhood what are you gonna do you're 0:22:5 gonna complain you're gonna whine about it there's a video of a protest going past a bunch of suburban crackers with guns and they couldn't even make eye contact let alone even yell anything even though they had ***** machine guns in there I know they're not machine guns assault rifles in their hands so they don't have it they're too soft so there might be some isolated violence but there's not gonna be some sort of significant put resistance now if Biden gets in there and the economy continues to be in the traitor and coronavirus continues spasmodically and and civil unrest continues now you might see at the state level like sabre-rattling at the level of you know maybe a secessionist movement but honestly that would probably just be some governor trying to be president in 2024 trying to put down a marker to be the guy to run against Bible because everyone's too soft and more than anything they're just not imaginative enough at the end of the day they're just ***** hogs but as 0:23:11 that as must be pointed out predictions are very silly to make at this point because all of these conditions that obtain right now that lead to that outcome they might not obtain two days from that they're sure should probably not going to maintain a month from that and so who the ***** knows it's gonna be wild baby these are the most interesting times you could really anybody has seen in a bit but the the thing without the army guy is coming forward to sign up for the first time push back against Trump I obviously it's absurd to say that their job is any different than the cops job their job is to do in the rest of the world with the cops job is to do on

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

America's streets which is maintain the rule of American Capital and world capital 0:24:16 but the job has those jobs create different cultures around them like for one thing the actual military is much more diverse than America's police forces and beyond that the fact that they do this outside the fact that they do this in Iraq and Afghanistan it creates around it a ideological cocoon whereby the justification for doing that justification for lighting up a car full of people of civilians and Baghdad or Kabul is to defend the home front as to defend a certain idea of America that is abstract because they don't have to deal with it whereas cops who more and more have taken that Imperial mindset and applied it to the country this country they don't really have that they don't have that buffer zone that justifies their actions their buffer zone is much more likely it's not protecting America against the world is protecting their 0:25:18 suburb against the city the bad city that they work in and that leads because it's closer to the bone and because that that sense of threat is closer it means that their willingness to countenance authoritarianism and suspension of democratic processes is greater whereas the army guys the military people sort of have a noblesse of leisure about it now of course if crisis gets hard enough they'll throw out the window that's all goes out the window if the crisis becomes deep enough but if it maintain some if it's some political crisis it's merely at the level of politics as in between Trump and Brighton between Democrats and Republicans there is no constituency to back Trump because it's the same thing to them generally for the most part now for the cops that's like if there's if there's a military coup it would be if there's a crisis 0:26:20 for the election say like if there's a if the election happens and it's truly disputed on both ends and there's no accepted winner it's there's not going to be a coup on behalf of either candidate it would be sort of a Thailand style deal where military comes in to to adjudicate this political squabble because we in America genuinely think in both on both parties that the military is a non political entity and that means that they have a credibility to do that that would be higher than on behalf of one party or the other like if you had a military coup if you have a like if you got 40% unemployment two million dead streets still combat zones between protesters or oh my god maybe even insurrectionary forces at that point who even knows and the police and there's an election that has a none conclusive result I would say that 0:27:22 a plurality of Democrats and Republicans would would be relieved by a military takeover but only if it was on behalf of the military and on behalf of the United States and not on behalf of one of the political I haven't done a Q ;A for a while if you so yeah I'm done I'm done with I'm not gonna try to prognosticate anymore today that's the limit of the amount of predictions I'm willing to do because like I 0:28:24 said the conditions that are going to determine events are not predictable I've got a I got to put on my knee and Malcolm in Jurassic Park hat here never repeat and

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

vastly affect the Pelosi will not lose come on she represents one of the richest districts in the country could she be like I stood as House Speaker the house may be but but 0:29:27 the real the real moment that we know that this this phenomenon happening right now will have genuine lasting impact is when it starts affecting labor when people start coordinating work stoppages and denial of capital intensive spaces that that's gonna be the big shift and that's happened before I mean 68 is the obvious example but the thing that's on our side compared to 68 is that is that our political party the left political party in America is so attenuated and so removed from any kind of legitimacy for anyone besides you know sort of the most neutered suburbanite that their ability to sort of negotiate out of a revolutionary situation the way that the 0:30:29
Communist Party did in France is going to be also attenuated but not necessarily it could I am very excited about Reagan land I cannot wait to read it I really if I I kind of say it's a bummer that Pearlstein doesn't like me but because I still think he's the greatest story and even if he's at the people are freaking out about Blackwater in DC but there's a lot people don't realize how many armed federal agents there are like **** forest rangers Bureau of Prisons US Marshals ATF Treasury the Department of State has a security service like there there's armed guys I mean almost every 0:31:31 one of those agencies that they could put a uniform on and throw on their I'm not saying that doesn't mean that they I'm not saying that they aren't Blackwater I'm just saying that absence of insignia does not inherently mean that they are well yeah there's **** postal the thought of writing a book people to ask him ass about a book and I got a say my big problem was writing a book is the printed word really does feel dead you know feel like **** he gone Spangler Brent is dead it just feels like everything is moving so fast now that the idea of like sitting down to write something that then people are gonna what read on their Kindle or buying a bookstore it just it feels a little 20th century but that doesn't see the thing I know the reason I'm 0:32:49 not that freaked out about Tom cotton is that I really think the thing that electric Trump and the thing that has bound the Republican voter base to him is not any policy it's not anything to do with specific even really even political ideas let alone policy it is a style it is an effect and it is a mastery of politics as a spectacle and all these guys that people talk about as the heirs to Trump they are trying to piece together like out of the chicken guts of his public statements and **** and policies a coherent political ideology but that's not what get people in the door you know now that might change you know I mean if crisis conditions persist people might get even Republicans you might get much more fixated specific agendas but but if 0:33:50 that doesn't happen once again we're in the land of if then because of how fluid everything is it's not gonna be some **** dork it's not gonna be some Harvard nerd with a giraffe neck it's not gonna be some wine swilling **** from Missouri you guys know that Josh Hawley is known for his wine collection and it's his on a philia the Yale that this guy is trying to be like like lonesome Rhodes for the 21st century and the ***** George Wallace 2.0 and he's a wine swilling ***** fancy lad who went to Yale he's not gonna it's not gonna pop people talk about Crenshaw but honestly Crenshaw is more media savvy than those guys but he is media savvy in the old way he's media savvy in the way that appeals to the media Trump does the opposite Trump makes the media pissed and that's what appeals to people because they hate the media and I honestly don't see anybody on the Republican bench in office who fits any of those criteria like I said if it's gonna be somebody in the political arena my guess would be it would be some red state governor who like starts trying to threaten another sport Sumter and does like a like a 1860 style brinksmanship with the federal government over you know health care mandates or you know federal spending or remittance of taxes or weapons enforcement or drug enforcement and then that is what builds the supports are around him is his status as the guy that people can rally around against the hate of Democrats and party power way more so than anybody in the Senate what oh did you see you hear that stem-winder on c-span that Holly put on about like about outsourcing gives a I mean I put down jr. as a possibility before any of these ***** you know like Don jr. is sort of like the that's the false Demetri showing up disorganizing left-wing ideas in rural towns to where that organizing is worth it organizing is more worth any organizing is worth more than ***** you know not in a in a unconsidered way not not sort of not flaunting not without consideration I mean it needs to be around specific issues and the more that it can be specifically around class honestly one thing I would really like to see is if people do live in relatively downscale communities of that are more white than aren't that don't have a lot of I don't think it should be that hard to connect the treatment of cops by black people to the treatment of poor whites because cops kill a ton of white people every year but those deaths are felt at the level of race because there is not an alienation there's not a conscious alienation between white people the United States as a political project whether it is for black people it stands in for oppression that is felt and the the echoes of are still present every day white people don't have that but they are still oppressed and still shot and still abused the hell out of by cops to the degree that they the cops can get away with it and that largely has to do with their inability to fight back their lack of a rich dad or the lack or the fact that they got counted found in a town where the cops expect people to they don't respect people and are willing to assert any violence against them so if you have poor white relatives or you're you you live in a poor white community you're poor white yourself you don't have I don't think you should have to do a lot of convincing to make people not like cops and to think that instead of this being

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

one more case of racial guilt from rich white people went to college trying to make themselves feel better this is a recognition of that the cops are there to beat people and see a lot of poor white people probably do deeply love cops but not all of them you're not gonna get all of any group 19:05 baby and the thing about 1905 is that it ended in defeat for everyone everything got rolled back it was only meaningful in retrospect and that is the thing I think the code that paralyzes people more than anything is that they don't want to risk their lives they don't want to spend their time and money and energy and emotion around things that are gonna fail because then what was the point but it was doing it that was the point it was always doing it that was the point the the journey to sound like a ***** Hallmark card is the destination in the sense that it's not only where you get the purpose and meaning it's **Music playing** I people abolished police thing I understand the argument of wanting to have a maximal position because you're negotiating but it's really a question of who you're talking to I guess because you do kind of lose credibility when as soon as you're challenged you admit that you don't actually want to abolish cops because then people wonder well what are you like maybe you look fat less as the thing that's the danger with the abolish cops thing is because anybody nobody really thinks that nobody realistically thinks in the near-term without some sort of collapse and recreation of the American system and even then down the because like Camden Camden New York exactly like what Camden New Jersey what Kanda did they did not abolish the police but they did fire their entire police force and replace them with people who did not get do not want to be psychopathic murderers they wanted to help them that actually wanted to help people and guess what crime went down police files went out in Camden has not had a riot and Kennedy's never had much demonstrations so that's a model but it's not abolition but I think people want to feel that they're part of a revolution because once again they want to feel like they're gonna win and so saying something like abolish the police feels feels radical and challenging in a way that means that their effort to get that is his revolution and that makes them revolutionaries and I understand that you need that individually personally maybe to motivate yourself but that's different than it is an actual because you get to ***** you can't do things like get take down cops guns from that seems such a huge ***** move it's that it and it would be so dramatic and it and more importantly it would require to work so much more investment an architecture of social and community organization and a safety net like the cops you can when you drop them when you cut out the safety net and everyone falls into the pit of hell that creates social problems that have to be dealt with at the state level what policing and prisons do is mean that you can just write a check every year and forget about it you don't have to intervene in the economy in any way you don't have to regulate

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

the markets in any way the thing will be taken care of by the application of those much police force as it's necessary to maintain property values if they don't have that ability they can't throw everybody in jail and they can't intimidate everybody with guns ***** maybe you actually have to invest some money into maintaining communities so that they don't ***** become they get the situation where people are radically alienated from the community from the sense of morality and willing to do anything to survive or just not even caring about your ***** moral concepts because what have they ever gained that because and I think that's the thing that people who shy away from concrete demands miss is that a demand is not ever by itself it always has things that are invented within it and assumptions and necessities around it that spiral out from it and a reduced reduced disarm police force that is essentially a social work workers well that's gonna require either a shit-ton more social workers or a shit-ton more social services for people who need social workers either way you have changed the distribution of resources in the country you've empowered genuinely as in given people more control over their lives and what jobs they can do and what jobs they can seek and what what what lives to pursue at the low end though at the lowest the most economically disadvantaged parts of society instead of just shoveling more money at cops and ignoring the problem because that's the only way that we have convinced ourselves that that the state can function because if you think you can just do that one thing and it's not gonna have knock-on effects then you don't understand how these things work and you have because prop frankly probably because you've been arguing online too much you idealize and isolate all ideas and all policies as opposed to seeing I kind of like it I don't like the way of wings out in the back my hair someone said my hair looks nice thank you I do like that I still have a little coiffure although it's going away but by the by but like the way that it does this after a certain time I don't know why my hair like curls out I get these little guys here in the back and I can look silly yeah I'm I've been sittin it like Nicholson in the shining levels of hair loss for a few years now and I'm crossing my fingers that I can hold on for a while because I mean he looks good in that movie ***** everyone he's the come the helicopters are out I will say the helicopters I've seen in manna and Brooklyn and are not nearly as low as I will not be doing anything to my hair I will not be shaving it and I will not be applying any sort of chemical or drug today here I stand I can do no other I'm just getting a little kind of weather away part of my broader my broader plan to come to terms with my finitude with my own my own insignificance my own my I don't even know what you Glacius is saying I don't care at this point I have stopped caring completely about all op-ed writers all journalists really of any kind all commentators all podcasters everyone is squawking from the sidelines everyone is justifying their own inaction or justifying

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

the state's actions either way pay no mind list to the degree that I don't have to 0:47:34 but I don't have to talk about another show and I try not to think too much about
I have an embarrassment kink don't you have to be embarrassed for it to be yeah Matt Matt Iglesias yeah I'm sorry if I did not make that clear someone was asking about Madi Glacius I don't care I don't care what that egg-headed ***** the only thing I care about naina Glacia says is that when people say we look alike which thankfully since he's shaky he took the coward's way out when he went bald and he 0:48:35 shaved his head unlike me so now we don't look anywhere near like but we don't even have the same head shape I have a nice broad ***** middle European has a square head and he's got a perfect oval they're answer just saying strategy of tension in Italy I the thing the thing that I think is different about that whole deal is that the strategy of tension was part of a decade's long program to keep the Communist Party out of power in Italy there is no similar threat now and before the Floyd murder there was no real even looming threat of a left-wing organization of any kind along any axis so unless you're thinking that there's some some like scheme to justify a 0:49:36 crackdown then I don't see the point although honestly I am very skeptical of all that because the nature of this thing is that it doesn't need excuses for anything when a necessity emerges we have so foreclosed other possibilities that we do it like look what happened with the kovat oh ***** our service economy our service based economy has been destroyed because we also stay indoors what do we do well we could redirect economic resources outside of markets not even a possibility not no one in any level of power would even think it and more importantly very few people on the ground would consider it either so that means there's no need to justify doing that and that means if the next crisis comes along and the next brutally horrible inhumane practice like the one that has already left a hundred thousand people dead is probably gonna lead to millions dead in this country within a year that was signed off on without 0:50:39 anybody even arguing it even in the August new york times this is why oh my god jerk me off for eternity with the new york times the rope but we need the robust the marketplace of ideas was anybody in the New York Times suggesting hey maybe we don't have to go maybe we maybe we can suspend the economy for a minute maybe we can experiment with with not commodifying everything every moment of the day since we can't create we literally can't create economic activity right now no didn't appear anywhere which means when the next things comes on says well now we have to sterilize the whole the homeless or something it'll be framed as a necessity because we've already foreclosed alternative so you don't need to push it along you don't need to create a crisis to justify something every crisis justifies the response because the alternative has been destroyed both practically Vincent Bevins talked to this talk very well about this the way the Cold War existed to destroy alternatives 0:51:41

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

to capitalism and ideologically growing out of that reality so that's why unless I see like concrete evidence I don't buy any of this ***** about about provocation now individual provocation individual cases like cops breaking windows cops cops burning their own vehicles yeah for sure because they think okay that'll justify it but that's in the context of a protest that's already occurring that's not creating it and even then it's small-time it's some ***** hot dog Nick ***** they could go smash the window then I'm gonna get to waterboard somebody pay no mind idiot am I worried about the protests being co-opted yeah of course and a lot of people are pointing to derail Obama to co-opting it and all these awful brands tweeting their support as proof that it's not a threat but all that proves is that they're ***** scared and they feel the need to protect themselves they feel the need to protect themselves 0:52:43 from anything that might come from us because the other way around the idea of like well because these brands are saying this is good that means it's not a threat to them that necessitates them having some kinda greed of control as opposed to them responding to a new situation and trying to cover their asses because they don't know what's gonna happen and they want to stay clean they want to make sure that nobody's pissed at them and of course they're gonna do that but it doesn't mean it's it's only gonna be as effective as we let it that that strategy of co-optation and and reduction and moving away from radical asipi moving away specifically from economic concerns that'll work that a degree that we allow so assuming ahead 0:53:45 of time that it's not going to fail assuming ahead of time that it's all been co-opted assuming a Halle founded oh all it did was they took they gave the cops like net guns and now you know half of them are black water that might happen but it's and frankly even if it does in that happening we could still create durable institutions that have an ability down the line and further points of conflict and further points of crisis of asserting a new unified opposition like the potential is there in every moment the potential is there in every moment and that is what is lost online because you're not in a moment you're in a realm of ideas and in a realm of ideas you can create a perfect model of what's gonna happen based on what's happening in front of you well because of X Y ; Z then Q R and X are gonna happen but that forgets that between those two points in time a bunch more things are gonna happen that you can't predict that aren't in your model and they're gonna change the conditions so 0:54:48 that's why all this stuff get only gets worked out in the streets and everybody trying to ***** gamified ahead of time to protect themselves so that they don't get their hopes up so they don't look like they're they care too much they don't get cringy is on a fool's errand they're deluding themselves really more than anything because time is the element that's missing from all internet ***** Tom political are given time defense happening over time events happening changing conditions creating

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

new events that were not predicted by the original set of conditions that then create new conditions that then at every point moving you further and further away from the model that you created of events that was frozen and fixed and not moving and that is the dialectical process because that is part of that one of them big dialectical pressures is between time and Matt obviously ideas and matter but also time in space things not only in themselves but things through time things change through time by entropy and by chaotic interposition of other objects that damn and I'm the LaGuardia flight path but this has been more robust than yeah like the degree to which people can find out that they have that they can depend on one another and that they that like their armored nests and their isolation and their misery can be alleviate alleviated and that by helping other people they find that they have helped themselves and vice versa and that those connections what they do is they create they create an incentive to maintain connection and then over time and Trust which is the basis for all organizing along all up the reason that they say everything has to be a market relationship the reason that libertarians and the Liberals have insisted that all relationships mostly market-based it's because the assumption is that all of us are isolated from one another inherently and completely but that is a that's an imposition that that they that is not the condition of humanity that is the condition of humanity in the specific matrix of late capitalism that we live in now that makes it hard to break away and it means that a lot of that means that your attempts to resist it are going to be contained within a neoliberal framework because that's what you grew up with and that's all you've known but a bunch of people together doing that at the same time like I said changes conditions greater the pressure the greater the conditions are shifted and that gives breathing space and that gives moments where you can refine oh I am NOT a monad we're not almost isolated in fact that's an insane idea my sense of self and worth cannot it's not self generated by by by posting my way to an identity it's by finding myself in a context of other actual people and giving and taking in equal measure and then getting back as you give and finding that it is a virtuous cycle of engagement where you gain trust and you gain affection and you gain purpose and you gain the ability to organize and strategize because you don't have to get through all those baffles those layers of who is this person what were they from what's their agenda here are they a neoliberal are they is they are not see are they are they woke all that all that happens is because that that that that veil exists because we only know each other virtually and overtime you will figure out oh this person's for real this person's full of ***** then you just stop dealing with that person and you deal with the people who aren't full of ***** all right wrapping up here guys got a I mean the PERT someone is two disagreeing with me about predicting the future buddy I'm not gonna stop I always end up ***** I always in

CUSHVLOG 31. MUCH TOO THINK

saying I'm not gonna predict things and then somebody asked me a question and I go off with a ***** tangent I read a Harry Turtledove novel I trust me I know that it's impossible not to do it and then it helps you think but it only helps you think that the degree that you can reel it in and maintain maintain a a real clear-eyed sense of the the I will be grilling soon soon it's gonna be storming I guess the next couple of nights I would have grilled tonight but yeah cuz like I came out and it was nice and sunny and it's already getting they say it's gonna storm all night there's a tropical depression coming so when the tropical depression is over though the grill is set I'm gonna do it I've got everything I've got a steak I'm gonna throw that puppy on there so I promise that next nice day when I know it's not gonna rain there will be grow stream and I guarantee you it'll be anti-climactic because after all this talk and all this meaning it'll just be an ***** cooking a steak on a grill probably badly realistically it probably won't be very good I've never done it before I'll probably ask for advice from the more experienced grillers in the chat and maybe that maybe we can crowd crowd we can crowd coordinate our way to all right I'm probably gonna sign off here in one minute very done I got to go eat get some food and get indoors cuz it's definitely it's a grill it's it's a it's a it's a Weber it says it's the oh it's the big all right guys I will notice though since the protest started the clapping has stopped and it really does tell you something about how people wanted to feel useful people wanted to feel like they were doing something good while they were just Altaf eyeing and now there's something else to do and that's need that needs this impotent need goes away it really does show that a degree to which we fixate and gravitate towards empty gestures to alleviate a sense of powerlessness but the only thing that alleviates powerlessness is seizing or claim attempting moving towards taking power or at least challenging existing power formalized ritualized actions we'll never do it and that's why nobody's clapping right now because they've been out there at least a lot of them I know I've seen them coming going to Barclays because I live very close to the basically the epicenter so I've been out there a couple nights and there are there's people are like flowing like a river so no more clapping in your house now we're clapping in the streets and that's much better because the cops doesn't give a ***** if you clap in your house but they will ***** kick your face in if that you clap too much in the streets alright folks stay frosty

Looking Backward

06.05.20

ah ah there we are ah hello everyone roll and roll and roll and roll and what we're a roll and roll and roll and roll one day limp Biskit will answer for 911 I hope I'm in the cosmic plane if not on this one eventually there will be some reckoning for the irresponsible role they had and calling down the cosmic forces that led to 9/11 and then the war Iraq and the war on terror hey guys it's a very rainy today it's the tropical depression or whatever today is the day it finally happened it's been very annoying cuz I never know how to plan my stuff and what to do and because I'm always waiting for the rain to come in it has not come and now it's finally happening it's raining but this weekend is gonna be nice they say which is bad news for the NYPD we'll be out there don't know where yet but we will see but I want to keep doing the streams and when it gets nice again as I promised girls stream incoming but right now it's literally raining at the moment and I was thinking since this feels for me anyway like a moment that service to spend many time in this moment of tumultuous shifts not inside it's raining time to do what I like to do best which is look backward so I was figuring instead of commenting on what's happening right now and it anyway specifically look we're starting off with some sort of dissertation on the events of the day of the week I was thinking that maybe we could talk in history historical parallels moments moments that rhyme as George Lucas would say moments that people want to talk about so I'm gonna start sort of by asking anybody on the stream anybody in the comment section and wants to drop a question what questions do they have and I'll see if I could answer them or at least talk through them and around them about historical moments that that they let's see what I got I won't be able to talk about all these of course because that's not I don't know that much about that much 1848 it's the first one someone says in 1848 is a good one to start with because 1848 was a very similar situation in that it was the unplanned spontaneous explosion of a long simmering resentment and dissatisfaction around a very sudden and dramatic shift in material conditions in two ways one you had the rise of industrial capitalism which was driving people to ***** miserable conditions and cities and also even more importantly because at this point there's still work that

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

many industrial capital workers there weren't that many laborers yet as a percentage of the population in cities they created competition and conflict with the dwindling and under siege artisan class and then so you had this shift in the mode of production and the way people work very similar to the way it was sort of the first rung on the ladder of of coercive rearrangement of working conditions because before the mid-1800s there was so much land in common that there was always a ability to all else failed subsist on the land which gave you bargaining power in any specific job 0:4:11 that was greater than the ability of the of the boss to get you to work for them if they weren't paying you enough you could say ***** off and grow Terps of course enclosure acts all that we all know that was gone by the a by the mid eighteen hundreds so people were being forced into labor arrangements and wage relationships and that the artisan class the the individual self-employed manufacturer which was sort of a legacy of feudalism it was still a prevalent employment in cities but it was very precarious is the thing and there were a lot of very poor artisans late there were the poor artisans drove the French Revolution there were still plenty of poor artisans and cities throughout Europe in 1848 but then even the rich artisans were were in conflict with the state over the shift towards free markets away from industrial from local protectionism and the dropping of tariffs that made home crafts less less competitive 0:5:13 in the market and so there was this pressure on people to behave to to to work in different ways to be more coerced into labor to have less control over their own working lives parenthetically people always like to talk about well what because so much of our understanding of politics because of neoliberalism and capitalist ideology shaping our responses even our alienation from it we tend to go to standpoint a lot when we talk about ideas and so obviously people want to talk about podcasters on the Left what are you you're not working class especially if you're making a decent amount of money from it and it's like no not podcaster suspect specifically anyway US podcasters like us who work who get money from directly from their listeners were artisans we are we are those like the guy making making like stockings in this house like that's us it's it's it's a pre capitalist mode of production and that's still 0:6:19 embedded so even now that's still embedded within capitalism because nothing is totalizing but anyway there was this push away from that self that degree of alien of control over one's work but even if you weren't making money even if you were poor you saw a control of your own working conditions which is means you were less alienated than somebody who had to work in a factory at the direction of somebody else but you were being pushed in that direction people are being pushed in that direction so you just the way now after that has been totalized after wage labor became totalized under capitalism eventually though the deal broke down where the initial deal of okay you'll work for me and that'll be it and you I will be your

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

employer and we a direct relationship employer employee and then after the rise of rigging that's okay and maybe you'll have a labor union or something or you'll be a manager and you'll have more control of your life well after the seventies crisis after the terminal decline of capitalism after it became harder and harder to bring profits out of old business models all of a sudden they wanted you to not work directly for anyone they wanted people to all be contractors being hired for specific jobs that require that involves and suggests no extended relationship no duty between the two or only one one duty in one way you you owe your employer your surplus labor and that's it your labor power that's it that's all you other and they don't owe you anything at least in in the American sort of labor capitalist treaty for the the day top that happened after World War two and that persisted and was never let down by labor by the way it was only let down by capital slowly and behind their backs there was a relationship there is an implied responsibility of an employer but that cost money and now they're kind of squeezed that out of the economy every job basically made since the economic collapse of 2008 has been some sort of short time part-time or gig job that's almost all of them not even exaggerating that you can look it up that you are literally reproducing one type of employment with another that is even more alienated and more threat there and more precarious than the one before it which is the same pressure that was operating in 1848 but at the same time you have that instead of it just being that like if that is a company economic growth that serves smooth smooth it away because it pains you back it's like yeah yeah you're more alienated now but you also make more money and there's more stuff to buy and there's a general rise and you know living standards and Happiness and you kind of be buoyed up and it's okay that you're being alienated more from control of your workplace or control of your labor hours but in 1848 there had been a continent-wide agricultural crisis the potato famine that people remember from Ireland did not just affect Ireland it affect the entire it affected the entire continent of Europe and it essentially decimated peasant ability to to live all throughout the continent but in addition to that they were all it was also severely cold harsh summers because this was the tail end of the Little Ice Age and they and there was huge failures of crops all throughout the staple crop fields of Europe which of course caused in the cities massive Rises and costs of everything specifically foodstuffs then that meant that poor people couldn't eat and wealthier people were spending more of their money on food everybody was pissed off so you're gaining you're losing control of your workplace and you're not even getting any money for it you're betting paid money that is worth less because you have to spend more of it on the food that you could you have to eat no matter what that's an inelastic good and now what do we see now we see this exact same slow motion and serf rien surfman t' going along with the collapse of the economy literally all those gig jobs not even existing anymore and so what happens a spark lights off a explosion of resentment that is seen by others and it's spread Strava cockman now of course you wouldn't have to guess where the more revolutions of 1848 started they had to start in the place that was continental Europe's first revolutionary crucible I mean this is this is why history is so great you know like if you read about the French Revolution I mean you say okay so that happened and then there was a continent-wide reaction and then Louis got the Bourbons got reinstalled and then you could ask that person all right then 1848 later on if they didn't know anything about Europeans who you know in 1848 things pop off again where do you think it started where did it start last time France the most populous country a country that was not developing economically with the insane speed of the UK and that did not have the UK's imperial resources to fall neither 0:11:25 am i feeling all the worst effects of change and very little of the benefits boom and annaroo in a tradition of of successful revolutionary action you've got to go out the streets more likely to go on the streets if it you know it's worked I mean that's I think why so many people are paralyzed now and so many people want to go to the computer to find a reason not to go out and not to support not even to even not even support the demonstrations because you don't to be disappointed and you look at that you going oh like look at the record of these things they don't work so this isn't gonna work either but of course that depends on how many people are involved and how people respond to change to the conditions and the reactions of the state and things like that so in France well the reasons revolutions kept working one of the reasons they were so effective one of the reasons the way they were able to Rio for the Bourbons after they were installed and then overthrow the early artists was 0:12:26 because they knew going out worked and so they went out more and they were more likely to do it and more likely to stay out and so everybody in Europe saw the flames rise in Paris and what do you know everywhere people were pissed because it was a spontaneous route for a volt that had no coordination that was essentially carried out by the same act the same class of people everywhere but everywhere but distinctly separated meant that there was no unified purpose behind it so in France the main art demands were for the overthrow of of the orally honest and the installation of a republic and then the right to work for industrial workers which included artisans who were not being engaged for labour and in depressed economy in the German 0:13:28 cities it was those things but more importantly than any of them the thing that they thought was necessary to get any of them a journal a unified German state now we might look back on that and say you know what you guys really you actually need to look back on your math someone ***** up big time because you know God love him everybody thought that was a good idea at the time even Marx but looking back ooh unifying Germans turns out not to be a great idea there's a little too much blood and thunder in that line I don't know I think it's something about the language the language has this sort of I don't know there's a there's a mystic bloody mindedness to German it's almost compound words they should be separated is all I'm saying the like the bishoprics and stuff and the Prince touches those that was again elected type II you know margrave's and land graves and ***** that was a better scenario unifying that but anyway they thought that they thought the only way we're gonna get anything is if we get rid of this patchwork of stupid ***** 0:14:30

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

fiefdom with you know individual royal families and duchies and and Archbishop's all of whom were reactionary all of whom had commanded greater or lesser degrees of absolutist control over their populations unite under one enlightened constitutional monarch and the thing is is they weren't wrong in seeing that as a worthwhile goal the same way that the United States now in a similar situation is wildly hindered by wildly hindered by federalism wildly hit them because I mean I we don't have to say worry about the unified cuz we're already there and we're already doing you know we're already doing a terrible job but like there it's clear at this point that the states aren't helping anything so and by the way I'm not being a linguistic determinism is 0:15:32

or idealism languages are the way they are because of the surroundings the actual environment that the people who develop the languages existed in so they are an imprint from a specific physical moment in space and time so that's what they're carrying with it the language is just a marker and a reinforcer of it and over time it gains power we as the original conditions are less and less there to reinforce they reinforce on their own but they said they they have an effect okay there nothing is a simple base superstructure these ideas are not as simple as they appear because they are also at a certain point they become reinforcing feedback loops that require one another and that if one wasn't there it wouldn't have operate the same way but anyway you need aliy they wanted Italian unification in the US in the in the Austrian Empire those sort of the rump remnant of the Holy Roman Empire that wasn't totally 0:16:33 severed by Napoleon they the individual nationalities wanted their own God and they wanted their own places the Hungarians wanted their own country the the Bohemians wanted their own country and so all of these revolts happened without really any coordination they forced the hands of their governments they were there was an initial capitulation and then eventually reactionary forces just waited for one thing for the urban middle class to sell out the workers which they did very quickly because they weren't as interested in a social revolution they wanted just political reforms to reflect the Enlightenment values that had become pervading in the middle classes and then once the working class has sort of been demobilized by disillusionment and 0:17:34

all that was left were essentially the students and some of the wealthier artisans they

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

rolled them up and so there's plenty of reason to see parallels between 1980 and 48 and now the same spontaneity the same lack of a coherent organizing principle but I think there are also significant differences and one of them is that nationalism at least the way that it affected those conflicts is no longer relevant and in this era I think the closest thing you could say would hold the place for nationalism as in a thing that is within the movement of a movement that is that is potentially a conflict point is race and but the good the good news is is that all of these different revolts that happen in Europe their geographic location discretely is what reproduced their separation you know you had the Czechs in Prague you had the Hungarians and Budapest you know you had the Romans and the Italians in Rome and Florence and stuff and so that they were separated literally by geography and so coordination was rendered impossible as and because those real goals were also either sometimes we're in conflict with one another or were totally irrelevant to one another like for example the Hungarians wanted a independent Hungarian state but there is also an overwhelming demand for Hungarian to be the the presiding language of Hungary but the problem is Hungary was also multinational and there are a bunch of Croat sand and Serbs in the territory of Hungary Moldovans who didn't want to ***** speak Hungarian and so that created a civil war within the was in the war itself but in this case that that racial divide is reproduced inside every city and inside every movement which means that if it's going to be resolved it can be resolved at the actual point of contact which is a very good sign yes the chrome apps are actually the ones who rolled up the Hungarian Revolution ban yellow cheek I saw a statue of him and when I was in Croatia a five-star pimp if ever there was one because it's because if that is why class is so important and that's why economic issues are important if anyone wants to win because think about the crow hats right the crow hats were also subjects of the austria austrian empire they want there wasn't it there was crashing nationalism there was a sense of Croatian identity but also they were part they were under the subsequent heel of the Hungarians so when the Hungarians say we want to be independent of Austria we want an independent Hungarian speaking country what is their appeal to the crow hats to get them to instead of taking the orders of the of the emperor and crushing them uniting with them what do they give a ***** in fact that's directly in conflict with their desires there has to be something that can commonly unify everyone who is in a position of oppression to push together and that requires empathy but it also requires self-interest because they should not and don't have to be at odds they can and must in fact be together self-interest and and altruism need to be unified one of the big problems with the fact that so much of the left is wealthy and operates from a sense of morality is that for wealthier people the reverse is true in fact they don't feel that they are operating politically

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

unless they are operating selflessly their morals require self-abnegation to operate 0:21:44 because they have money because they're not oppressed and so to the degree that they run things this is degree to which they're not going to be necessarily interested in alleviating anything not only one at the material level because they benefit from the arrangement but two from the psychic level that they develop they they derive their sense of good conscience from the fact that they are that they give their money for people who don't have it and that they vote for people who will take money from them for people who don't have it or whatever or they care about issues that affect other people that's and that is I mean you can have people like that following the train as the as the lower push will always will but they can't be in charge so that is why if we have any hope right now it is that this movement coalescence around 0:22:47 issues of radical redistribution and I really do feel like I don't agree with anyone who says that oh this has a key idea Paulo over it therefore it can't work that's idealism that's that's what happens when you spend all your time online everything exists is these frictionless categories that never interact and they're totally polarized because you're engaging exclusively in an anti dialectical polarizing diet dialogue with one another that you say oh it's got the icky stuff on it it's therefore if you can't be good that is that is the delusional idealism of online argumentation if these things will be resolved they will be resolved on the ground and as much as anything else the challenge is the pervading order I mean are you gonna tell me that ***** policing is not a significant part of the global capitalist order and yes of course the danger exists the a danger of course exists that this all ends with the police being defunded and it just means that Bezos builds Robocop or something or that there's a black water of the streets obviously that's a ***** possibility but that was going 0:23:49 to happen anyway we're on the slide for that this might accelerate it but it's also the only thing that can interrupt the constant the prospect that could interrupt the the inexorable movement towards that inevitability you're not saying anything by saying oh a bad thing could happen because of this no ***** bad things are basically all that happened the question is do you look at the thing in front of you the thing that actually emerged from these actual conditions as opposed to something you imagine might can emerge in conditions that aren't real they're in your head then I don't know what if I could tell you because that's the only thing that's gonna stop this that's the only thing that's gonna interdict this Avalanche and if if it does end with defunded police but funded ***** Blackwater of the security agents well then then we ***** up somewhere and then we could correct the ***** up in the future that's 0:24:50 always what it is the idea that there is some victory you can have that is untainted and complete that's insane that that's literally uh that's millenarianism that's that's that's eschatological utopian madness and it's only possible because you're thinking

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

of these things as discrete battles you're thinking of everything is a discrete event that is unconnected to reality because that's how you can think about something you have to disentangle it from its context right or else you can't look at it otherwise it's embedded but in real life everything is embedded and so you can't know until you find out so you have to find out sorry but you have to there's no way you can reason yourself into saying that I'm gonna stay behind the computer because if you are you're looking for a reason to stay behind the computer and that means that you don't actually care about politics you care about being on the computer and talking about politics is one of the things that so ask yourself that look yourself in the mirror 0:25:57 and say do I really care about any of this political stuff or do I really like basically because I don't know what else to do with my time I don't have a thing that I can invest in that will die if any promise will give me back any psychic pleasure this is the thing I know makes me feel good and I know that like politics is like one of it like I just eating it you from a big internet stew every day and it's different seasonings and so like the salt and pepper are politics and video games and the ***** the the garlic is is pornography well this actually the broth is pornography who are we kidding and essentially I like I like this I like this delicious pozole or whatever it is and and and one of the things that gives a taste is the emotional zing I get from arguing about 0:26:58 politics and if that wasn't there the soup wouldn't taste is good I wouldn't want to eat as much of it and since I don't have anything else to eat then I want my soup to taste as good as possible and that might be that's a lot of people and the thing is that's okay I don't blame anyone for that I am NOT trying to make having political opinions the sum total of someone's morality that is what the internet tells you to do I don't judge anyone for that I don't judge anyone for trying to cope with this world however they can but don't ***** think that you're doing politics at the end of the day you're seasoning your goddamn soup and if you're okay with that that's okay but don't lie to yourself because it'll only make it harder for you you'll only be more miserable but maybe you're not maybe you like being miserable maybe you're a sicko and of course this applies to everybody everyone's eating the soup when they're on the Internet just a question of how much time are you spending eating the soup I of course love eating the soup that's the reason I love politics because it's the delicious 0:27:59 zing because it gives me a sense of purpose and and I virtue and identity and and and discernment but I also know that it is not a meal it's a fantasy meal to get way too involved with the metaphor so the question is how real is it to you and it will be to a degree commitment is to by degree but there are also those inflection points and if you have decided I'm going to ignore condemn or mock from a position of superiority and superior knowledge this uprising or whatever it is then you have made that choice you have the Internet is the the that's your entire foodstuff is that

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

***** is the chunky soup of the Internet and that you really love those you love that politics you love them well you get that in there oh you get that politics in there in that gumbo Oh Mon Ami oh ma after you right now you like my gumbo that's fine 0:29:1
but if I put that politics in that gumbo oh my lord Oh Mon Ami you gonna slap your mama cause she fall for Tromp alright so that was 1917 I believe they meant a function of revolutionary success or the weakness of the regime I think it's pretty clear that the Russian Revolution succeeded because the fact that Russia was not a modern state like the creation of a modern economy doesn't only create alienation the way Marx saw it it also creates accommodation and in co-optation within a system over time and I think that's nothing again are estimated just because he was 0:30:2
not allowed to see it carry out it's one of those things where you can't even say he was wrong you can just say he lived at a place in time and then he wasn't alive anymore that's not a criticism it's just an observation but Russia even though it had the appearances and a lot of the capacity of a modern state in its real self was not it was a medieval it was a medieval society that had had the 20th century drop in a slap in the form of the Eastern Front and that meant that it was much easier to overcome resistance because resistance was essentially just coming from a inbred ***** royal family and a small layer of civil servants and everybody else was either a small number of workers and then a bunch of disinterested - alienated peasantry that's not that's not that doesn't describe any contemporary culture any somebody 0:31:12 asked about the Iranian Revolution that waning revolution is always a really good warning call for the left because it is often forgotten but that was originally a popular uprising that involved a lot of leadership from the urban left-wing the Communist Party and like radical students and that over time they slowly were removed from power isolated and then eventually massacred by the Islamists headed by LeMay so keep your head on a swivel ah the Easter Rising the Easter Rising is a lot like John Brown's raid in that it's a good reminder for people who fixate on the efficacy of action now you don't want to do things that might backfire worse but I think a lot of people talk themselves into thinking that they support things they oppose things 0:32:13 because they think the backlash will be worse than doing nothing but a lot of it boils down to they don't want to risk their lives for something that's not going to succeed or doesn't have a chance to succeed and I think both John Brown's raid and the Issa rising were conceived by men who did not expect them to work they did not in both I mean Patrick Pearse said as much he said that what is required was a blood sacrifice I mean of course he said that he was a Catholic mystic psycho whistled on his way to the exit to the firing squad but they accept but they were also a recognition is that only some sort of dramatic interaction with the status quo was going to shake the the the stalemate open and break out of an unsustainably of

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

a morally unsustainable situation and they were both right they all died but they were they were all right because within ten years of both of those acts there was a free Ireland although obviously it was still part of the Commonwealth but it was on its way to being free the Queen wasn't on the money more and slavery was abolished and so those actions which it would have required to lose true delusion to think would have succeeded John Brown going into the woods to successfully roll up an entire revolutionary battalion that would I guess America the northerners would just decide to like jump in halfway through and help him out or that that the that the the seizure of the post office and ***** estate Stephen's Green was going to kick the Brits out of Ireland after five hundred years but what they were gonna do is they were gonna they were gonna change things and honestly the guy who I respect the most obviously for doing that was Connolly because Patrick Pearse was he was born wanting to die he was a Catholic psycho he was a blood he was like the worst kind of lay of of like Mel Gibson's style mortification fetishist the kind of the kind of Catholic for whom life is discussed as a vile and should be scorned and fled from us so of course he whistled to the ***** firing squad Connolly was a ***** communist Connolly Denis he was going to heaven kindly didn't think he'd be hit sitting at the right hand of God strumming on a ***** harp but he knew that his people could be that he knew he couldn't stand to just live an entire life watching as ***** England just squeeze the life out of his entire country he would not have been happy to see what happened after after the Civil War though I'll tell you that man place just turned into a ***** whoo this is a bummer did entering the nuclear age of mass destruction in 1945 create a permit technological steady-state that human determination may never be able to overcome I wouldn't say if that's true it wouldn't just be the nuclear bomb I would say would be the nuclear bomb the combustion engine and the Internet together might have done that but here's the thing it might have done that but we can't know it has any more than we know we live in a simulation right because it won't it could only be validated in retrospectively we can't know so just like with the that's the question of if we're in a simulation you have to act as though you aren't because it's the only option so you have to act as though we can overcome technology we have to act that way even if we can just like we have to act like we aren't the matrix even if we are because there is no alternative and that isn't even being yeah exactly nobody's the quids a cataract the internet makes people think that they are because it gives that illusion of total total information because if you if you really in interrogated people they would admit sure I know that I don't really know anything I just know what the internet tells me but you nobody acts that way people do not act like that people act like they have been able to glean enough of the real the real terrain of reality to to grasp like the nettle of truth and see backwards and forwards through the prism of

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

history you can't you can't do it none of you can and if people say they can they are literal frauds they are ***** charlatans but that doesn't mean you can't act you have to act but that has to be that only comes from reacting with the world it cannot be which casts through the internet it cannot be reasoned with so many people online 0:37:29 basically played both sides of a chess match and then say ok this is what's gonna happen no you have to play the opponent on the action in an actual match you can't assume what their moves are gonna be and that's how people act on when they talk like if somebody says oh it's just gonna end with rubble cops everywhere they have played the chess match ahead and have decided how everyone's gonna move they might trust that that's true but you're a sucker if sundae's saying marx did what I'm talking about yeah Marx is one of the most one of the singular geniuses in human history he's a top time Brent all-time brain you're not I'm not you can't assume you 0:38:30 are he could do that because because he had the commitment to it then because he got enough reinforcement from the world around him to make him think he was on doing all that ***** on the Internet you're not struggling the way he did to do it you don't have ***** you don't have to stay up in your little your little Garret with with a ***** lamp on covered in pustules you haven't eaten in a week you got to write another letter two ***** angles from the sendee of 20 pounds hunched over no you're in your gaming chair with an air conditioning on and you're ***** cruising the web and you're not even doing the work are you in the ***** uh are you in are you in the British Library poring over the blue books of parliamentary inquiry no you're ***** freeze that you're looking at posts I've read 10,000 posts that doesn't make you marks and it's not just because he was smarter than you it's because he was willing to suffer he was willing to do things that weren't fun to get there you're only doing fun things you're eating candy for dinner we're all eating candy for dinner 0:39:32 on here did you if you could do this if the meager outcome of your posts and your ideas about politics could sustain you in a ***** in an attic without air conditioning and writing for ten hours at a time under lamp light or whatever then okay I would like to see what you've written but if you're doing it in the comfort of a life that it's otherwise so alienated it's the only way you can even find because marks did not do what we did because he did not have a computer he did not have any air conditioning you don't have a checking account I mean you didn't have a credit card these things mean things are different like the conditions of life changed the thoughts changed that the the vocabulary so direct comparison across time is impossible and 0:40:33 of course the the to cloak is your on the internet right now and it's like you got me I'm scared I'm just one guy I have to measure my commitment against my designer to maintain my comfort and I'm probably and I definitely wanting I'm wanting of where I would want to be ideally as we all are but I have to actually look at it I can't I can't go in here I can't dive in here to try to escape from that feeling because to quote the Bible the wicked flee would none pursue it you're gonna chase yourself across the internet to try to escape from that feeling and eventually you're gonna have to act in order to deal with it or you're gonna have to further delusion all right 0:41:43 so anybody else to another am i man I try not to be mad anymore actually you know when I get mad like this I'm really not talking to anybody on the Internet I'm really yelling it past me I'm yelling up the me who wasted a lot of time trying to do all the things I'm describing and just gotten felt worse and worse over time so that's why I'm like oh god you ***** idiot you were such a ***** idiot that's really what it comes down to so I'm not really mad at anybody but me but the thing is I have to forgive myself and everyone has to forgive themselves too because if you're 0:42:44 too filled with self-loathing you can't you can't do anything I am NOT a finished Civil War buff I didn't know such a thing existed I wonder if they I don't think of my Satori moment is wearing off I think it's being Mexicans Pearlstein I've said Pearlstein doesn't like me he just doesn't like the show because we're rude to his friends I mean that's been and he's like he is constitutionally a liberal he has a lot of faith in America's political institutions which is honest because he is a political historian like he doesn't really do he doesn't really do material analysis like when he talked he talks about Nixon and it's almost entirely in the context of Watergate and 0:43:46 stuff and very little about Bretton Woods system breaking down and and you know in his book about Reagan and not a lot about not a lot about Volcker and stuff it's all kind of just seasoning so he has a lot more faith in like political processes determining outcomes so that you know and that means that he's really good at writing about him because he does the work and he's got the nuanced understanding and and he's done the research so their volleys they're very fun to read and they they'll teach you a lot about how public politics functions but not really integrated into like a broader material analysis and that's fine that's how most people are most people are only gonna get a partial partial description of any historical process I mean my god of course so they're very useful to that end but I think that because of that he doesn't like our rudeness and he also he's a guy who gets published in a lot of the magazines whose writers we have made fun of and who get mad at us and have blocked us on 0:44:49 Twitter and probably have complained to him at parties about us and he probably was like oh like why are these people so truculent so that's too bad Veon Zapata man that was something Mexican Revolution there's actually a book by that name being spotted by a Frank by Frank O'Neill I think it's mean the revolutionary dynamics of the 60s failed due to their class character more than anything I mean it was a middle class uprising of middle class students people who literally didn't even have jobs yet people weren't even integrated they hadn't even been got pop bought off with like

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

professional jobs or whatever at that point they were exogenously the economy so that's bad I mean the problem now is is that there's a similar exhaustion II here just because there's less necessary work being done as we now see I mean you can if you can have 20 30 % of the population stopped working overnight and things just keep moving then that does undermine the ability to to strike capitalism at vulnerable points she caused it to potentially stop functioning ah abolition of police unions okay now that's interesting because yeah I think a police abolition I do think is kind of childish I understand why people feel the need to to have it as a as a it's a totem but realistically it's obviously not the beginning of any real demands police unions are different but at the same time it's difficult to say everyone in America should get you know collective bargaining except one group of people like I said on the show before I think maybe radically limiting what unions can negotiate on would be good like I said not allowing them to to resist something like residency requirement or civilian oversight or taking their ***** guns away I still know community-based policing is man I still all this stuff when he it ends up like boiling down to either its cat music like banging pots and pans in front of somebody's front room for littering or or I don't know what I think you we have not yet reestablished enough of a communal relationship with each other to allow that kind of thing to do anything other than eventually be alienated and abrogated two specific groups of people and then you're back to having the cops you have to recreate a social fabric for anything like that to work it emerges from a new social fabric it isn't it isn't it doesn't create one out of whole cloth I would say it doesn't cover my shooting negotiation where broadly because a lot of those things aren't things that other unions care about like the postal workers union don't care about getting able to carry guns or whether or not there's civilian that there's some sort of oversight for them were there for that for if they did something fireable it's just what they would do for fire ability is different programs like Cohen tell pearl and MKULTRA never ended what are they doing now that's something I've thought a lot about and it's scary to consider I don't know I mean that's the big what if like what if this all cuz we talked about this on queueing on me and well there was an article in the Atlantic by the woman who when she was a teenager believed in Illuminati stuff and now doesn't and she has this paragraph where she acknowledges yeah there were things like MKULTRA and whatever but but the thing is she never talks about what happened at the end of any of those they get found out years later nobody ever gets put in jail no none of the agencies to carry them out stop being funded nobody gets more accountable so why would anything change we get this mantasy of like the fact that it was discovered ten years after it happened through a limited hangout means that that it was stopped I don't know I like thinking about that because that's another one where if they really did

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

perfect-perfect the gumbo then we're all dancing to their puppet tune and we ceased to be to even have a delusion of independence or even our free will was compromised beyond beyond reckoning beyond saving but same thing with everything else you 0:50:5
have to assume you can only operate from the assumption that's not true and every point it's like yeah this sucks it sucks not knowing but it's the not knowing that makes you act it's it's the not knowing that that pushes you through the doorway because you have to make a leap of faith that's that's where human consciousness do I actually believe in free will free will is absolute in the subjective sense you are free completely but your actions are completely and fully determined it's just that that doesn't matter because you don't know how you can't see everything that is leading you to your decision you can only sense even vaguely a few of the almost 0:51:10 infinite specific and specific and events and encounters and and influences that led you to make a decision you can only your only vaguely aware of a handful so that means that that ignorant is the degree to which you operate from freewill because you don't know why you're doing what you're doing you don't know why you're doing what you're doing so you have to so you you can't use that as the way to do the next thing because you are ignorant of too much of it that doesn't matter but that also doesn't change the fact that outside of you subjectively as if your entire actions charted with a full understanding of the influences of what any of them know they were a hundred percent completely determined no free will at all but none of that means anything it has no influence on the subjective reality of free will it's both the the girl in the Taco Bell that the girl in the ll old El Paso commercial so why not both girl is one of the great sages of human history because both basically 0:52:16 all of the binary questions that have the deviled philosophy throughout history the answer to all of them is both the only question I mean the fact that you the fact that your body starts doing things before you even feel the fact that your body starts having starts doing things before you're even aware you're making a decision which is true means yeah of course free will isn't true but you don't notice that you're not there for that seven second second delay you're floating on the top of that decision-making pile you're you know you're hissing it with the steam out of the vents and you have to make sense of it you have to make sense of what you're doing you have to retroactively Lee makes some sort of justification for it and that is where morality 0:53:18 comes in that's where all of our moral physical psychic and emotional somebody says sterner I forget who it is but somebody once said to me that they think that it's very funny that sterner was so hated by Marx and famously Marx wrote more words condemning sterner than sterner ever published himself but butts Turner's 0:54:19 description of humanity is is man at the end of the process that Marx sketches out man at that point is Stern errs man it's just that in under capitalism we cannot be

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

that and we have to get out of it and that means we can't act like that either because it's not in accordance why do we hate North Carolina so much I don't hate North Carolina it's a weird question I mean anything we've ever said against the South has been a joke because people from the South keep bugging us to tour there although less lately ah although I honestly at this point I would love to tour anywhere I would love to tour I would go to the Antarctic MacMurray Research Station and I would definitely like to tour Canada Trac jakub's over there I'm not wearing it everyday now I've got a little too self-conscious about it so I don't know if I the only way I could wear it earnestly as sometimes I'm not wearing it it's warm now and that's the other thing I will say that somebody mentions all the Confederate statues that have been pulled down I do think that I was always a little disappointed by those protests that were fixated on removing the statues because that is literally a symbolic issue and more importantly none of the map very few of them actually succeeded at removing any of the statute but now with a broader a more challenging critique that actually hits it significant structures like police interactions with urban areas those ***** things are going down we're getting pulled up like mushrooms like what how about this how about we get our ways and it's like ***** we didn't even say anything about the Confederate stashes of course allowing that to be satisfactory is wrong but it's amazing the kind of symbolic bonuses and side effects you'll get as knock-on effects of a broader and more challenging and debt Jubilee obviously I said Michael Brooks said it on his show that I was on on Tuesday and I agree completely wholehearted we need a jubilee all across the board debt obviously all kinds and then even the psychic debt of the internet although all the dead weight of our old opinions you know just so that we could shrug them off and of course oh they were gonna be liars and not banks who fraudulently get acknowledged again no no that guy's bad though these people are bad they don't deserve Redemption okay though you they get their Jubilee you give them the Jubilee if they're still bad and they still acted bad faith then you can condemn someone from a position of understanding not through not by everyone just fighting the ghost of each other someone said my beard is lame and they wanted to believe I mean lame is weird it's mostly from laziness but sure fine see there you go absolved everybody used to said anything bad in the past I was all of them but that makes the responsibility going forward to to honor people's faith in you for giving you the benefit of the doubt and then if you don't at that point you will be right you can be righteously rejected alright this will be my last question someone says do you feel like people are focusing too much on the term grill pilled rather than actually what being sent on these streams I mean to the degree that anyone is focusing on it as a as one it called - it's not caring about anything that's happening around them or as a meme then yeah I mean that's inevitable though I mean I can't sweat it too much I can only say what I can say and hope that some of it filters through the ***** that the giant baffles of ***** that separate everybody from everybody else online alright guys I'm gonna go but there will be a gril stream soon first a nice day you're gonna do it I'm very excited bye bye

CUSHVLOG 32. LOOKING BACKWARD

Triumph of the Grill

06.08.20

hey guys you guys watching it's here it's here it's happening it's really happening this is real life this isn't a dream you know that's right guys what is it oh yeah that's 0:1:6 right it's time we're grilling tonight so the deal is I'm gonna just do a little test I just put some burgers till I get the ***** off of the grill so got a steak here I've got eight a yummy looking guy I know meat is murder and uh we need to eat less beef but damn it well it's they're gonna have a little bit more oh so you know trigger warning for participating in the bovine Holocaust I agree but I'm weak I'm a weak man anyway so we're gonna get these coals good in this chimney which by the way somebody recommended on here that I get a chimney so I don't have to mess with lighter fluid very thank very very thankful this thing is honestly idiot proof which 0:2:9 is great because I'm an idiot so you just dump the clothes in here you life some newspaper underneath it and it just gets them all cooked up and then you dump them out and they're ready so what I'm gonna do is I'm gonna be I'm going to be what do you call it going to be preparing a steak after the fashion of my good friend and America's favorite Italian American comedian Mike Racine one of the best chefs I know him and will are really kind of the two best cooks I know and he gave me this this way to cook a nice piece of beef where you of reverse sear so I'm gonna do indirect heat for about 10 minutes get it nice and kind of gray and then boom put it right on the fire for however it what doing the Viva see here out here in this place 0:3:13 we're doing the reverse see here get up out of my face thank you yeah we're doing good we're doing good guys trying to have a way to put this thing around so I don't have to hold it actually you know what I got a UH I got a thing I'm gonna get little help hold on get it back sorry feels a little Blair which right there I'm sure that was 0:4:36 kind of traumatic so sorry about that guys I got a little so what do you guys what's up what do you gotta say guys I'm not gonna really take any questions about the protest movement and everything because I just recorded a one-on-one me and Chris for Chapel this week where I kind of tried to make sense of everything I've been putting together in my head and on here for the last week or so into something kind of synthetic and a unified field so I really kind of spent on the topic and in fact now I feel really kind of relieved because I feel like I finally expressed what I've been trying 0:5:37 to get at and I hope I hope people like it I'm sure it'll be divisive I hope it is I hope some people get passed because if they didn't then I didn't really express myself all enough but I feel good about it so anything else you guys want to oh man Oh laughs alms assassination I mean isn't has it there been like a kind of a revert a slow-motion drip by drip limited hang out about South African intelligence ship over the last decades like they let slip the stuff about killing Ruth first and then they let slip the stuff about beating Biko to death and let slip the stuff about the germ warfare and the nuclear weapons plans but it all kind of just went over by the by the way the same way that CIA over time limited hang out there stuff you know and considering what they were up to in the 80s I mean that entire regime was going through a complete nervous breakdown because they were so under so much pressure and and they were so terrified of losing that they went absolutely ham they they had bad 0:6:39 torture camps in the middle of the the veldt where they had they were barbecuing people they assassinated people all over the world poison people that there's there's accusations in a cold case Hammarskjold documentary about the assassination of members role in the Congo parenthetically that there's like a South African front intelligence company like a front medical company created by the South African Secret Service to none of that stuff would surprise me the assassinator poem would have been totally in their wheelhouse of what they were up to bad guy cuz Paul really what Paul really was the the the point man for global apartheid divestment he's one of the guys who organized what otherwise would have been a much more difficult task of getting everybody on board you know because otherwise South Africa you 0:7:40 could have leveraged different sides against each other you know triangulated oh I ain't had chargrilled oysters and I am feeling I'm just thinking about though Oh Mon Ami you get those in there like you get them trouble would stop oh you pulled a boner in there you crotch a bra delicious stuff ma'am ooh I want to get some char grilled oysters out there I think that might be a that might be one if I can get a hold of salt if I can get a hold of some fresh oysters I think there's a purveyor around here might get some oysters get up Hef do you like backpack full of them break them up in myself put some butter you get that garlic Bordeaux you put on there and then you just bought it on that file you get that cool fire going here you just cared oh you put that board you cook that boar out down there ship because oysters you get really are never as good as the ones in restaurants because they get you know they get fried 0:8:41 a place because that's where it's the mark-up is highest so it has to have a certain quality level that you don't necessarily have to have if you're getting a wholesale so wholesale oysters are not gonna be as tasty raw I mean there were always three is one of the best most perfect foods in the world but only if it's fresh only if it's the right

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

kind rolling right ton of you seasoned otherwise they're still great fry them up oh my god oh my god fry was too old a po-boy with therefore I what's the end oh oh oh oh slap your mama but the chargrilled oysters are also phenomenal I had them in New Orleans we kill em little em'ly you pull over gone there you you know all I could do even with a Oh child I still put them horseradish on there you know I'm gonna spring 0:9:43 that horseradish in there even with that boy I put that horseradish I like that ten ooh that tangy horseradish it really opens it up I gotta say Cajun food is probably the best American food way I mean what's its competition I mean Southern cuisine is great very heavy though the barbecue is its own weird nerd fiefdom that honestly is kind of alienating because of how sectarian it is it's like all right get over it though brisket pulled pork shoulder sort it out I don't care it's all fine just what's in front of me I'll eat it settle down like what else like New England like lobsters really good but you know they do better seafood in the goal even though the oysters aren't is good which is why they are usually better at New Orleans if you get a mic rider or char-broil because the Gulf oysters are not as good as the ones that the North Atlantic or or especially especially the West Coast Washington you might be losing weight I don't know I think I've kind of looked like I've looked eating less during 0:10:55 quarantine so I think let's sorry sorry about that all right where's my all right here we go alright alright so now put yeah and then we cover it so now we can set and 0:12:15 forget that one for a bit until it's time for the reverse here it's not hot enough some people are saying all right I'll get some more he told me 10 that's how when I put out put it on he told me I'll leave it on longer - I'll leave it on longer - I need you 0:14:38 guys to help me so thank you for that advice like I said this is this is literally my first time doing anything more complicated than a than a hammer so thank you guys I hope you enjoyed the view of my butt **Applause** medium-rare is usually what I get it's really high-quality meat I might go I might go let me go rare I don't know usually medium rare though seems like that's the ideal way the Colden path it's all about finding the middle path and everything that is that is the righteous path but it's the the fourfold path and that's medium-rare baby mwah I had a Easter's in Portland they were great I think my best port oyster experience so it's probably 0:15:39 Seattle does Washington those Puget Sound's boy boys or I think maybe the best boys I already salted it I rubbed up the steak the steaks all rubbed up thank you somebody asked me about Buddhism was that I didn't I saw so I thought someone asked me about Buddhism if they want to Oh No messages are being deleted is there a mob war because the mob going are the mods going to war oh that reminds me um I'm gonna leave this in longer than I would have if I had more hotter coals to begin 0:16:41 with but could you guys sorry you said a 15-minute timer yeah give me a 15-minute timer so I'll know to check actually no I'd like to check in like five I don't have a

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

watch this is Mike and my computer's over there so if you give me a five minutes I think there is an internal chronometer yeah Buddhism is great it did change my life too it's good stuff it's the closest anybody's got it's the closest to the route that anyone's ever got all the way because you know no one is ever has all information in any kind it's impossible so it's only it's only a shadow of who could be but it's the deepest to the root closest to the root really that guy knocked it out of the park old sin hearts of Gautama real yeah real Ted Williams type producer theologically just one of the one of the absolute conversation for greatest of I've not been to a temple because I haven't been really able to rededicate myself until like I have this moment while walking in quarantine so I haven't been anywhere like I haven't even been able to integrate the idea of being outside into my idea of my my day-to-day life I mean it's my routine has been so prescribed now it doesn't even occur to me to do the kind of things that would have just like everything feels gone everything everything feels very far because did the idea of going anywhere navigating physical space like oh where do I gonna do take a Kluber what am I gonna to what what am I gonna do take take take the train like these are all recipes for Corona Corona Vail maybe to a population Corona feel you I mean never mind pop well welcome to Corona Ville population you somebody is going ham in the chat apparently getting put into time out they have time out how old are you people are you all babies are you are you the age of those ***** kids that that Felix used to kill in fortnight I will be really pissed if you guys are those little babies if you little bottoms need to be spanked that is very disappointing to me I thought I was engaging in some sort of you know quasi Socratic dialogue with an audience of adult peers not not knaves and infants ah I've been pranked pranked by I mean obviously when we talk about the way that modern uh post modernity infantilizes first world's subjects such as us it's fair to say that yes you are all babies emotionally intellectually as am i we are all we all have third grade emotional and intellectual reading levels because that's how they like to keep us as little perpetual budding pubescence who need to satisfy every new eruption within them with a purchase the ideal consumer this is like the HMDA that the consumption machinery of a ***** young person is like it's like adrenaline that you get like a hummingbird burst because your personality is so unformed you're so anxious that you're so vulnerable socially that purchasing becomes the anchor for identity and you grow out of that or you did you used to grow out of that but as the stimulation increases your ability to prolong that that awful agony continue increases and this the capitalistic reward system incorporates that into its profit projections and all of a sudden you have elongated adolescents for everyone under the age of 50 because we've never ended that state of post-pubescent anxiety because I'll tell you guys everybody asked me to recommend books I am a fraud I don't read the books

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

I'm all grabbing words things like an infant I'm grabbing towards these ideas and then people say oh that's an that and I'm like I bet it is that makes sense I feel more like this stuff is drawn from the ether than from any kind of accumulated rational understanding of the world that I've absorbed it's very hard to explain though all right five minutes let me **Music playing** it's not really it doesn't look like it's 0:21:57 getting much cooking it still has to cook catch more with these holes so I'm not really gonna start looking at it until the coals get more we might not even it might might I might run out of phone battery before this thing is done I have to accept that but I want to make if it doesn't work I'll just stick to Nathan's Famous hot dogs and oysters which I think I'll be able to do relatively easily just get a big flame you gotta make sure that it's kissing flame and then just watch those babies just soak up that Bordeaux on I mean not the young Sergio Leone I guess thank you I don't really know what he looks like he's certainly a talented director he had so many wonderful films what is best Balkan nation Serbia number one number one sitter via no I mean 0:23:0 I'm from Wisconsin right so I have a I have a bulk in I have a I honestly do it for as far as an American can because I'm from the American Balkans I have a Balkan sense of of state identity so I have to go with the bulk of state that Wisconsin is and we talked about this the other day and we came up with some stuff and I think thinking on it I think the true answer is Serbia it all starts with Serbia is Ohio that cannot be defeated I think Croatia is Michigan then and I'm so Slovenia is the best baltic country because I am from the Slovenia of the the problem is what mmm ***** the problem I have is Minnesota has a really good claim for being the most lavinia of 0:24:1 the balkans - that's my problem Matt Illinois Illinois is not Slovenia Minnesota could be Slovenia I mean obviously I like the idea of Slovenia being Wisconsin because then you got the scissor connection which is cute but I think Minnesota might have a better claim on being Slovenia than Wisconsin does and then I don't know what Wisconsin is it's not Montenegro for sure it's not Bosnia I think Indiana is Bosnia but it's not maybe it's not even in the Balkans maybe it's like maybe Wisconsin this uh maybe Wisconsin's Bulgaria or something maybe it's Bulgaria Oh Romania that's it Wisconsin's Romania nope nope you know what switch it and it's perfect 0:25:6 Wisconsin Slovenia ***** Minnesota is Romania drop Mike that's done we did it guys that's I will not hear a discussion this is 100% correct I know it's not bulken but we're talking to the region because there aren't there isn't it there aren't enough perfect analogs because the upper tier is different than the rest of the Midwest and it has to be reflected in that it's got to still be Slovak as a thing that's why I can't be Greece oh ***** Romania isn't Slovak god dammit this is Tarek this is really difficult well that's the thing is that Wisconsin is literally checkol shod the Czech Republic I mean if you want to talk about direct come you know that bohemian

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

those Bohemians moved to Wisconsin so it is literally in terms of the population that he came from Bohemia which is now the Czech Republic or Czech yeah so if you want to go with that and like allow yourself to stay Slovak and move out of the Balkans proper then Wisconsin can be Czech Republic and then that leaves Slovenia to be Minnesota it's all very complicated and made up is the thing and stupid and a waste of time but at least it's not hurting anybody yeah I realized Romania wasn't Slovak I bungled that they got literally Romania a Romance language i bungle it I'm a bundler I have sinned I've seen before the masses looks like good going hard tonight last night I was out and just bumped into a giant I just stood out on folk on you know what this is going well it's uh he warned me about this it's like it's not a very it's not appetizing it's like kind of grayish brown like but that's that's the layer you want it to be when you throw it on for the sear so I think we're on track here if I get it on the other side the way I got it on that side and I can get it hot enough in the I don't know what the internal temperature is I know I don't have a don't have a thermometer my friend I'm doing beef because beef is like the lowest risk that I'm gonna die beef is generally the least likely to give me a ***** bug or something that's why I'm picking a nice USDA prime piece of beef so that I can air because I don't want to get too vibed out on this the whole point of this is to be chilling right to be like applying oneself to an object but not to the point of internal stress and if I can right now like if I was without you guys if you weren't on here I would have one but this is too many things for me to enjoy at any level any of them if I hadn't if I had a thermometer to this mix it just throws off the equilibrium so I can't do it I understand your concern and I'm trying to maintain that Zen posture that balance of all of all forces and I that means you have to know what to drop you have to know what you can lose and in this case because I'm gambling that a nice piece of this is really good - this is like mail-order ***** is is not gonna have a parasite in it I'm willing to roll the dice in order to have a good time and to maintain the chill and Grille attitude because a large part of it is that old cliché accepting the thing you know the ability to change the things I can change accept the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference I mean that is a cliché but like David Foster Wallace was 100% was correct when he said all those clichés that they use in like drug rehab and ***** they are true and they do have profound meaning the problem is is that if you only learn them from the outside they're totally tinny and hollow and cliché you have to learn them from the inside you have to actually go through your life experience to the point where you get enough understanding of something that it ends up being translated down to a little pocket version of that idea and all of a sudden that cliché has meaning and helps you move forward in your life positively I'm not saying any of it is good I know that 12-step is a scam and that Alcoholics

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

Anonymous is it's just a Christian cult I'm just saying that those cliché phrases have meaning if you build it up got the copter snorting the copters keep stirring the sauce keep stirring the **Music playing** why did you do that Karen Karen why did you do that we needed that money they **Music playing** we're really giving me really really good once y'all compass I always have to stand for Goodfellas there's too much about it that I don't deeply expect to okay someone's saying a isn't a Christian cult I'm just saying what I've heard I have no idea I'm saying I have no investing in these things being affected just that the be there is an observation we made that really profound life-changing truths Barban all when expressed that's all I'm saying the real ship moves you off of your can and sets you on a new course you it when it comes out of you it comes out in in flat cliches because if everyone else understood it the way you did they would all be like that everyone has different levels of understanding in different vocabularies and they clang off of one another and so you just say the thing that's most easily transmittable which because the other person has not experienced what you did to get to where you are it sounds like a cliché it sounds meaningless because they have to do the work to get around into it and make those words mean something **Music playing** I don't think it's gonna be bad I don't think it's gonna be great or anything but I think it might be okay so you know this was I mean my best ones are not gonna be on here you know like when I'm really like it look the whole one of the chief grill Hill philosophies is don't do two things at once only do one thing at a time so I'm already violating key grill pills Scripture by doing this but I felt like we all deserved it after all this talk and all these journeys together on all these youtubes and all these comment sections just a nice communal thing so for one time really I feel like this will be fun but my best grilling is gonna be when I have the undivided it's just me and the grill me and the grill and the fire and the quietude or the conviviality of a friendly friendly eventual combats that day ever comes I think it's coming soon I think I think the I think the containment seal on the quarantine has snapped I think people are gonna be back out pretty quickly in fact you could almost argue that ***** okay you guys want to get really galaxy brained insane I want to put a catastrophe on this right now okay this is insane this is like total speculation I actually kind of feel sad saying and that's saying it doesn't feel like it kind of is irresponsible to put this in the world sort of Roku's oscilloscope style Basilisk however you say it but it also I can't get it out of my head now that I'm thinking about it so we've talked about how the sewer economy is broken right because of coated and there's no other way to recapitalize the American economy the other than the consumer sector because I thought we have left we've stripped out all the other in stress structure and sold it off and and and out sourced it so you can pour all the money into this hole but there's no bottom to it so it's never

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

gonna start piling up and be useful and so something has to be done to change this dynamic because you can open doors we've talked about this you can open it back up that's only gonna confess some people to go back outside mainly people who are ideologically resistant to the idea that there is even a virus ie conservatives people who lose their own ecosystem of knowledge their own epistemic tree that say no this isn't even real I want to put my hair down I want to eat the cheesy dip and fit person funky beats so they break containment first because that's barely anything is ready there's still a big mass and people not even liberals but like regular normal people polecat was messing with my train of thought that completely the ***** helicopter just destroyed my side of the train of thought you guys got to tell me where I oh okay yeah now I'm at thank you so so you can't get people who believe in the virus to go back shopping because they think they might get sick because they believe in science they follow the regular mainstream epistemic trees they're like yeah I'm not gonna go on hurt myself so even if you open up they're still not gonna go out you need to break the seal you need to break the enchantment of the scientific consensus around kovat you can't do it piecemeal because you don't have time so what if you create through a domestic patio type situation a provocation designed to stoke a series of escalating Civic disturbances that essentially give a lot of these urban liberals a moral justification for stepping outside and back into the consumer economy so that now when they open up everybody's out there and you can restart the engine I'm not saying that it's true I literally just made it up but tell me but that's one of those like matrix questions where even if it's true you still have to act the same way because you can't know you know how can you know how can you know it's no way to be truly unless somebody drops a big bag of documents and even then it would probably get absorbed into the question of oh is that a false flag is that fake is that a deep faith is that a Russian op is that is that is that is that a government spook op trying to tell us it's the government's booked out how do you get around that you know so you got I'm not saying it'll work either by the way you might the damage might be too deep but that's I think a possible outcome this is everybody's finally they open up again they're like hey I was willing to risk it to go outside to walk around and get a protest for ***** hours how much more now that I've already broken the seal of containment I've already violated that sense that good no because the thing is all of that was sustained by this terrier around Koga the idea that everyone will die of it this will kill everyone even if you look at kovat it will kill you you think it's 1% it could actually be 15% it could be a hundred and fifteen percent it had to be that the stakes had to be that high to keep you indoors to keep you a good person for risking it so going outside means well I value these issues I value police brutality I value the police state I value fighting back against these tyrannies and racism I believe in those values more than I'm afraid of this spreading this virus so that means that you have to tamp down in your head how much you fear the virus so from now on you're not as scared of the virus which means you're more likely to way going out to a bar wouldn't it be nice to go to a bar oh my god oh my god sit down restaurant maybe okay go to a karaoke night because that and now the theaters been shrunk to size nothing's changed in the science you didn't find out oh it actually doesn't kill you no it still kills people still killing people it's going fewer people because of shelter-in-place and now it's going up again because of a relaxation of shelter-in-place but this is literally the process I was talking about where we get used to hundreds of thousands of people dying this is how we end up gaining complicity in it this is how at the end of this we look back and say holy ***** 700,000 people died and we were all kind of okay with it because we all felt like at some point we weighed the risks and said it was worth it whether it was because we wanted to go to Fuddruckers we wanted to end racism one is a more lofty and mayor and Meritus goal but they are still both shrinking your sphere of your fear of the disease and also the degree to which you think of it as deadly the degree to which you're going to notice the number of people who die from it because you're gonna start to because she went outside you made that choice so when the bodies start piling up you've been uh you've been now before you weren't when we were all locked in waiting for the government we weren't we were we were good people we were good people who were following orders well for the best of everybody because that's what science told us and we know science doesn't care about political beliefs but now that we're out and we've decided to it was worth the risk and he said if people die we're gonna measure it against that and we're gonna be like we made that choice because we thought it was worth it but now we are we are inculcated not work we all have blood on our hands now it's like it's like murder in the Orient Express we all did the murder oh damn spot and there's nothing no way out of that mass now and now they normalized the death of maybe a million people who knows on me because now we're all feeling complicit in it in some way I'm trying outside the sphere now I'm gonna try to see it try to see it know it's not not long I'm at my ass this flat I'm a white boy I'm a thin ass flat I'm a flat ass pfl all right I have a surrender at any plan for this thing to be great than to be right off the bat perfect hit but I think I will be able to make it tasty it'll probably be a solid B but managing expectations between the screen and the grilling for maximum personal enjoyment so I set my sights low now if it's better than that I'm delighted and if it isn't I'm not disappointed as much I can just enjoy the ride to worry about it spilling advice from yours truly - thou art as I said I'm sure that it is fully cooked in even if it's a little not steak is one of them these dangerous I do have a loan slow project I actually would I saw somebody pointed out how to do the

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

snake method to smoke with the 22 kettle 22 inch kettle and I have a big hunk of pork shoulder that is in my freezer and I was thinking that I could put that baby in the smoker well you know I know you got to put the tray of water in there next to it you just put it in there for like 12 hours or something I could definitely see myself doing that that sounds a lot of fun yeah because I looked at I look it's amazing how all this stuff is I was I was a little intimidated by the charcoal because you know I'm not naturally gifted in these kind of things and was worried it'll be a little hard to manage and you know maintain temperatures and things like that but there's a lot of it's a lot of idiot proofing in these I mean they're saying asymptomatic people think about that they're saying asymptomatic people aren't aren't contagious now 0:45:2 remember how that was orthodoxy that was one of the big things that people yelled at each other to convince themselves that it was good to stay in that it's you could have it you could have it it'd still be giving it to people you stupid that was the justification for for condemning others and for for feeling better about your your shitty decision to say inside which sucks but now I mean if it from the beginning you could honestly say I don't feel sick I'm probably not gonna get anybody else sick and people couldn't say that's not true it would have been much much harder to can force this entire this entire thing this is what you can't do conspiracy theory stuff because it's way too easy to create these things out of whole cloth so I just made up that thing about restarting the economy right well I could connect it even further back they also did the Cova thing as a as a false flag that's like I guess not as not 0:46:5 as made up but like as an engineered a virus but then also in addition to that false flagged up in the point of like hyping the crisis and juking the the science at the top levels to create a consensus around this is being super terrifying because there was a super big crackdown coming in capitalism like the the American economy was at the end of its elasticity it was gonna snap and things where everything was wildly overpriced and maybe this I thought was this you could just you could short the ***** market like you could do a a class-wide like global 1% shorting of the market well you get as liquid as possible and then ***** just drop the whole thing to the goddamn guard floor and then build it back up with you know that faucet of public money the global cash pile and then you have repurchased at essentially pennies on 0:47:10 the dollar and the thing is that's very compelling and persuasive narrative Lee and and if you really think it's too elegant what you end up doing is you start looking for ways to justify that and then you get that so you get that that that bias towards confirmation that people have confirmation bias and before you know it you've you've transcended reality but the thing is there's also a world where that was a hundred percent true everything I just said is how it happened we don't know if it's this world though and we can't assume it is because it's proof unprovable all we at the stake

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

is not a shoe I don't have a very honestly pros and rillettes I think you guys might 0:48:11 eat throw on this while I eat steak it's look I just flipped it it looked good I think another three or four minutes on the side I think it's gonna be good and even if it isn't there'll be a nice crispy exterior that'll be worth the tongue among them I got that I mean going to **Music playing** I'm gonna roll the dice a bit off the alright 0:49:22 guys I know this is a very men going their own way dang just a piece of steak on a plate but like I said trying to manage the number of balls I'm gonna competently be able to toss and a side was gonna be way beyond my paygrade so we'll take a look at this guy that's my boy t-bone Saddle Creek I believe Saddle River or something like that sound off in the comments if you think it looks good and me on dudes isn't really good I have yeah look at it oh I got a nice goal I'm with you guys here how good am I gonna do this when I'm be able to focus look at this guy mm mm ah oh 0:52:3 boy that's delicious and the beauty of these Weber's is now I just let the burp coals burn down a little bit then I put the top on you took those events and it seals it in its self so elegant so interesting and I was able to put it together in like minutes hmm no ketchup on steak her name's is good horseradish really probably my favorite 0:53:6 I wish I had horseradish in this damn house they don't have any at my grocery store I don't know why but um no no ketchup ketchup is um ketchup is too much of its own star you know honestly I think that's it people think ketchup is too fat is not fancy enough but it really is this is ketchup it's too much of a scene stealer because it is so richly delicious it's such a perfect Toonami and it's still like resident it draws attention away from what should otherwise be the focus on the star of the show that's why you put on something like a burger which is not nearly as you know mm man I killed this I can't believe I killed this I thought this was gonna be a disaster I never did the reverse here before like I said it might be a little at some points but I'm rolling the dice because you only live once and you only grow once oh my god is you 0:54:9 only grow wait a minute that's not even a that isn't even anything never once never mind I'm distracted man this is so good I realized that as I sit here you know in my decadent backyard with my my boudoir compliments backyard grilling and fine steaks my full David Brooks Ian embodiment as an American white male American 0:55:12 consumer of middle age but I should say one thing about class then I said on the last somebody said that when I I talked about how I think chapo and other people I cost to podcast where we charge directly to the consumer I would be technically not not workers under capitalism not not petty bourgeois are you really even and certainly not capitalist they are artisans a preeminent capitalist form that's still embedded unevenly and eventually will be done away with I mean look look at you guys see how Spotify is trying to buy up all the big podcasts they bought Joe Rogan they bought last podcasts on the left they're gonna try to do what George Hearst did to the ***** gold claims of Deadwood and roll it up under one big thing and then the artisans will be gone just like what happened in the woollen trades and and in the 0:56:13 in the 1840s in Europe well we're still there for now we're still embedded in it for now at this point and the thing is somebody said that that's trying to like absolve us of our class position because it doesn't address how much money we make the thing is income is independent of class that has a correlation but that correlation does not begin at the level of class it is it's like it's super structural it's the income is super structurally related to class class position is one's personal relationship to the means of production the labor sells its time and labor his labor time capital is buys it small blue Schwaab is like a small hole you know cell self exploit s' as well 0:57:15 as exploits the labor of others all that stuff they all make more and less money but that's independent but it correlates highly with being a capitalist because that's the thing you get you can extract the profits out of the system you extract the surplus if you're on the top of the exchange of course you're gonna you're gonna have more and more importantly that's so like if I'm if I'm an artisan I am NOT part of capital I'm not a capitalist as long as all the money I'm getting for my artisan work I spend on myself then I just put through my hands I don't buy anything I don't hold anything I don't buy land I don't become a rent here I don't buy stock I don't invest myself in the economy I don't do that I am I am NOT even if I'm making millions of dollars I am not part of capitalism I am an embedded relic I am an artisan but that's not what happens the more money you have eventually you buy things with it that's what it does so you buy land you buy lauranmatt more land than you need you get 0:58:16 passive rents from that land you buy stock now you're an owner in a company that purchases the labor power of others now you're embedded in capitalism so you are to some extent invested in capitalism's for maintenance but that's independent of your role as an artisan it all flows out of them income of being an artisan if you're a poor artisan you I think this has been a great stream guys good talk good bats I think we've got somewhere with some of this stuff and the stake in this world I realized by the way today we recorded an episode where we talked about the protests and everything well it's the first time we've actually directly like talked about the streams 0:59:17 and I wonder how many people listen to the show don't even know about these I hope there's an influx of viewers because I really feel like I'm getting at something here and I like the feedback penny buzu a person does not have a fully extractive relationship to the market like a capitalist does he is but he also exploits capital which puts him in a balanced position between the two major classes which is why the way that the petty-bourgeois goes depends on who has the balance of horses on their side they tip towards the winning hand that's what happened that's what's traditionally happened that's certainly what happened in the like the idea that we 1:0:21

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

CUSHVLOG 33. TRIUMPH OF THE GRILL

personally drove away the Warren voters by being mean to them this wildly idiotic and undiluted I'm afraid they were as soon as Biden's hand was strengthened by the the DNC Obama intervention and the entire suburban white Democratic electorate the the six-figure plus management types make up the backbone of the party decided on mass on Biden it was all over but the fighting about the shouting the Warren East is were tipping to the no longer being nice to them or Mena all right guys I'm gonna finish up the steak I think and log off soon I think it's been like an hour right I'm feeling really good doc I'm feeling like I'm entering new levels about I'm unlocking new levels here the introduction of the actual grill the imitation like this is even in 1:1:23 miniature when talking about the imminent is a ssin of the grilling concept from a what do you call it a metaphor to a direct physical intervention in my life that's right the material manifestation in front of me something that I interact with with my senses not just virtually my senses that I feel touch build up feel invested in to the degree that I right and now this space feels different like this place with the grill is a different place than it was without a grill I want to do different things with it it changes my life it expands my social circle I'm gonna have more people over here with this drill once people start doing that which it's not going to be long then I would have without because why do I want to sit back here just like a bunch mutts when we have the drift so I know it's a very facile exact example but I really do think that that a lot of this stuff is fractal and it like you know a small example does 1:2:24 shine a greater light and and if you look close enough you can see the connections so I'm gonna finish up this blue delicious t-bone right now and then I'm gonna go in oh no I'm gonna do yeah finished Moby Dick I think the book that whale is nuts a hab though he's I like to cut of his jib as they say goodbye

Sumer Time

6.12.20

I just said he was a lid Trying to be a descriptive not Not pejorative Are all filled in Your cultural context And that's why Trying to communicate My difficulty is trying to translate across Different Different symbolic orders people have different Words that mean People By one person Translate Ideas very hard We're lucky we're able to do it at all So I have grilled sent the grilling of the steak And I'm planning on going after the stream today Just want to focus but I got a Thang Pretty cool Very satisfying And delicious Easier than it looks Father and Uncle sort of happiness you know Masculine abilities Child appeared almost magical And then When you grow up essay As a stuntman child you never really pursue them Partially cuz you feel like you have to earn And then eventually do do them any like this isn't that hard I build a fire in a building fire not hard Grilling with charcoal not hard But I do want to get more ambitious I want some seafood And I really want to do I want to smoke something I want to smoke a big thing I found out about the snake method with the What does pues of coals without you got to put a tray of water in there I think I got it I got a plan for oysters Gunsmoke that Smoke on that wound Pig The smoke that loud Pig Allowed long Pig Brisket is so hot I had so few brisk Professionally cook I don't think I'm going to have a lot of But I mean It's cheap so I can give it a shot Yeah see that's the thing I got to figure there's got to be a lot as they say hello Steep learning curve Cuz I'm a lady You can keep Experiment What's going on guys What if you want to talk about Pretty pretty Relax today No particular agenda is nothing How big is grinding my Gears of Peter Griffith with Scion the Family Guy everyone's favorite show I knew someone was going to ask Really really Powerful Descriptive teaching colleges for exactly how We serve band conditions If this absolute Thing that you look at It's happening in front of you Sarah when rock climbing total knowledge of everything Right Because everything is stupid Fingertip obviously we can do anything Pretty well to make it certainly we will we know everything well enough that f***** opinions How many people rap so much of themselves on opinions about foreign policy and things happening countries they've never been to Because of Express their access to information I'm so the chance of

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

happen Cross the country most the people commenting about it one way or the other or not there So I have heard Everything that everyone has heard that it's like a Will power Bastion of of Communalize living Glorified Park Infrastructure added Collectively That it's a mad maxian hellscape SoundCloud rapping dictators like a v s naipaul story I'm of course certain that most the information I'm getting about it is not Correct or is motivated in some way or another by the people who were offering it certainly all the stuff about how scary and dangerous Tristan amplifying that The stream comes out the stream of information about jazz comes out Perspective on things like anarchism versus Communism or no Reform Judaism versus Revolution or electoral isn't versus direct action or people who have Different strands of leftist infighting They're going to come to the Chaz with their predetermined Time or the first green shoots of Avo Revolutionary tradition Rihanna work in Paris, Mia And They're operating off of the exact same information on face And they're doing the same thing Without knowing it which is Every piece of evidence that they see that counter Man's their idea of what the chance is is subject to rigorous brutal Street Who said this Where does What was the motivation I wish I was not a cop what's going on What you already wanted to think about You I mean I'm sure you'll give it If you're trying to be a serious and Getting your takes perfectly sharpened You're not going to get anywhere near The scrutiny But you gave The information that was against what you thought about Chad And so that means that You have People Fighting over Chaz on the internet Literally Fighting over to Caricature Puppet version Something that's been discussed Chad over And of course that's always the case But to see it happened right in front of us and to see Results of the conventional wisdoms Immediately coalesce And how's the same informational stream Is tailored To one or the other It doesn't give you a lot of Hope for the internet I'm balance better for social organizing Because Serious always owe you can get information to people Air filter It's been controlled by Privatized corporate interests if it's directed towards Prophet Acculturated away from being able to True from false information So I would say I don't know enough what's going on I don't want them nauगत National Guard I don't think that it is a any kind of real commune I don't I mean apparently they're not actually occupy any buildings And they don't have Independent access to things like electricity Sewage and stuff like that and if you don't have that ability You don't you're not really independent in any way for You are so pure there sexually the sufferance of the state would be withdrawn at any moment I mean that's not That violates any definite meaningful definition of Independence If you give me rescinded at any time Unilateral Then you don't really People actually claiming it They're just there Hopefully pointing out that this is One more unprecedented thing in a year of unprecedented things Which means that the old assumptions about what's

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

possible Are not holding And it would be foolish to hold onto in fact given how fluid everything is and I agree with that It's just that that doesn't necessarily Arkin only deposit Direction If it can make a mean unprecedented in every direction Yeah that's That's very good picture of the of the farm they have Like and it does look like the Matt Damon potato Poop Farm. Inside the whole thing In the Martian The question of self-analysis in Enchanting yourself towards a goal Is it this is more complicated You can say People need to believe in order to act and that's a hundred percent sure you have to believe Now part of that is motivated by Self-assertive love Universal love That allows for your personal body to be sacrificed for the greater good Since we're not really spiritual culture much more of it is I want to do good In the world Make things better Things get better And that's a completely different animal And that is much less less harder G22 How few options for changed seem to be effective or even within grasp that means the people Have less motivation to to to push forward I have to be to grieve self-delusion We have to Alderwood ourselves a little bit Or else nothing can change my definition If you lose yourself too much if your Deliberative process Putting all the effort towards the wrong thing It's very difficult and I don't have an answer Did you do what you balance Your investment in one thing with with your at least awareness of others This person has apologized for making fun of my drilling relative to starve us I wasn't annoyed you put us in direct competition instantly As soon as you're comparing grilling You have lost your now back in the marketplace so how am I going to defeat this guy well there's only so much You're no longer trying to satisfy yourself You no longer trying to Kratom Try to be somebody else Competition Escalated to the market Until you've completely cap cut yourself off from why you did in the first place Everyone looks like this to themselves relative to others Shouldn't put any heat behind it She just be something that you can hang out like that guys better than me of this Or do I not care that much As opposed to being wounded Angry Guilt is a terrible terrible thing to I'll Behavior Because for one thing it can be seated with something short of actually changing Because it can be extinguished through Ritualised Getting on Sarah Paulson being like Yo I take responsibility I feel a little cleanse after that you don't think they feel like they've done some rosaries Like you're washed away In fact Since they're so little positive you know spirituality in people Like you've done something to absolve guilt First of all people have to feel like they're doing anything more Mechanical transactions in the marketplace Is there wasn't racism That would make it That would be terrible for How could they How could they hold themselves above the math wife so they're economically Superior. Same f***** and going Social darwinists Social darwinists Social darwinists Pennsylvania Their knowledge of their guilt The reason Tennessee Coast so popular among white liberals Because he actually tells them Nothing can

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

ever really get better because racism is so deeply ingrained in America is it's like in the DNA DeCamp There's no there's nothing I hold onto There's no there's no Archimedean lever If your if your if your granite top granite counter table ass White person Who is aware that he lives in a wildly 8 Unequal society and a viola viola Global Marketplace And Society Somehow on the top of this thing through it ThruLok and family physician and whiteness What what what what reason does he have to have those nice granite countertops in so many people talk He deserves those kind of granite countertops Because he recognizes that he doesn't actually deserve Entitlement Because why are things bad because of me because of my granite counter table not because of the relentless Vampiric demand of capital that I am a f***** pair Personal virtue The manors of the that's what it's always been and Beyond specific technical skills It's not working Current contacts is anti-racist Value system is anti-racist It's a personal virtue it was that they rose up from the depths of white ignorance Conquer the racism Poor people poor people are being held down Racist white people Racist They can't they keep stopping us from doing good stuff because they just hate Healthcare or even any kind of countertops Look at that now I have now I have literally laundered my Kilt About these granite countertops To the effect of change nothing Network Which I think you did Anybody anybody They thought we're leaving Destruction Was probably I was being pretty face when he was going to intervene actually As an act that have the UN intervene as an actual Disinterested intermediary in a post-colonial Conflict Imagine The theory about the anti-apartheid Economic boycott Which Was what they recognized Existential threat To apartheid Father cough with pastry cream I'm sorry It's supposed to be the most bass thing but really it shows that you just gave up on the f***** homework halfway through Capitalism As a Mode of production Structures social relationships no no no no no Goose Use everybody is a puppet Which one is more plausible Which one is more Which one corresponds to the Beloved Western rational traditions and empirical Traditions that they Evil band of f***** Wizards Did you hear that our social relationships are determined entirely Bye The productive forces in an economic Structures of the society we live in Which iron turn entirely detect determined by the Actual environment that we find ourselves in the material conditions AMC resources Tiagra This is easier to understand because because Has August It's when your kids are Capital gets too hard towards the end of this f***** math and you say Yeah yeah yeah yeah I need to run up the flagpole here in like that hard just so that you can Harder and bigger than normal Coughlin How to start a Ulysses that I finished I'm going to reread lemeridien next because But with the same sort of like the symbolic order flipped to land Ambiano Moby Dick Year to take place the same year around the same After just finishing What happened to the Jake's at the end spoiler alert I think that's the final it's his His resistance to what set represents being finally defeated Well it's I mean I'm probably going to read a number once before I get to Ulysses so maybe I'll wait I'll wait around till next year then get it I should read Gatos I've never I never have I don't have one I have a beard It's moist out enough that it's self cleaning When I forget to do the beard balm Take a while Finally coming in I don't know how it works Unifying or gamifying learning language that sounds cool I've never done it I've decided that I'm just going to go all in on English Cuz my brain can't really divide Literally I have very bad math skills I've read it All the time I never would have been able to finish it otherwise but It's I think it's Very good And I feel like If people Nowadays every all artists directly reflect the current moment You know which is pretty It's a pretty shallow way to read literature not a very useful one and Also Creatively very very dull and static Cuz you already know I mean you're aware of the world around you sing it reflected in writing Is not very interesting Tell you something about All the time I need a butcher Universal conditions because what Most things that are explicitly supposed to be off now are books that are more Timeless they get The game residence retroactively this is all the way to save it What are the best things I've ever read Mid-90s Things to talk about in there at the time we're still They were all Current but they were they were not they were hard to hear Radio station Supposed to just the Thundering they are now But he was biting on that frequency and sell so instead of trying to beef up now Are making now which means Getting residents over time as the predictive power Is increased So I think it's good I have to say Inspire me want to do more for the seafood Cuz I think that'd be really fun but those occupy look See somebody do something good should give you It's about the motivation though Or for an application for the greater good of a sudden Cooperation without even having to say anything Because you're not accumulating negative feelings towards one another and you're not entering Noah entering into a destructive Waste of resources I'm definitely going to watch Like the first time since quarantine drop anything I'm streaming Yes looking forward to I like play more Can you play it on here I don't know I don't know but I don't know how to do I figure out a way to go to the office Maybe someday Maybe some quiplash I might suggest in my chapped lips Twitch stream setup Fym guys Chelsea rivalry is a better motivator than guilt Emotional competition You have to be self-motivated Give me the ties through action They reinforce each other I think the upside is don't f***** it's not necessary to try to And like other people's goal other people's motives for anything because how can you ever know You'll never know All you can even come close to proc maybe not even then completely is wrong So focused on that ask yourself why you're doing what you're doing That's it that's all you can ever do Everyone assumes each other's motivation And as a way to

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

contextualizar argument Which means you're not really an argument there Engaging in a process of Evaluating A person Like I said it leaves you on totally at the mercy of people who can speak the right words Who can who can mount the shovel s Which means you're Even though you're you have to be wildly paranoid of everyone you end up being the most credulous roof How many people who wanted to dunk on the chest thing Instantly shared everything they saw no matter where it came from what the hell About account been created Tampered with Or Emerge from 4chan or something Everybody Because it comes it's it's it's going through the right shoot What is walking the path Esoteric but if basically comes down to You recognize truth that all Human acts are predestined and predetermined by What came before them There's no such thing as free will in reality Like I have said many times Free Will is inextricably linked to Consciousness so everyone has free will because of free will But From outside Every person's Conditions route its entirety It's not just everything that has happened in the past Because the more Conscious of The more you are aware of The inevitability of the next ACT which is Just another way of saying deciding what to do next So if you are If you develop Consciousness through Make a spiritual practice Meditation Psychedelics Buddhist ritual And get to get closer You are you're making an effort towards getting to a state where you are Aware and conscious of As many emotional and physical antecedents to your decision to the moment you're living As possible which means Easy for you to discern. The path that you should be taking I'm real But you can see it At least the direction it might be headed You are present and conscience in the moment And that is recognizing the path and then That reduces the Emotional feedback the emotional negative the fear The fear and anxiety of of uncertainty that deforms our choices and pushes us Towards towards what is essentially it will still be in But you still have to make the choices and if you can see sort of a direction in front of you even vague You make better choices And I'll make it easier for you to not react to your next choice burden by emotional baggage Which is the real thing that sucks is up is that we are not operating newly each moment What it is Very negative And which we wrap feelings around Beyond those there were not even 95% That fact We have a subconscious association between Ark Our experiences and our emotions The we are not aware of And oppresses US forward Unconsciously Responding to what's happening emotional And we have to Emotional power in the moment The power of emotion in the moment Tudor arch your hand Unemotional Did I resisted Buddhism for a long time because I love the people I love this Things in the universe I can't imagine living in a World Without Love All emotions are still fully self in an inaccessible Not Drivers of your behavior You are not driven at least you're driven lasts Do I have a New York I mean As long as I have the right Environment around me it was specifically people That's all I

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

really care about File Delaware where I think the best best human The Methodist human ecosystem Exist Pittsburgh Milwaukee Bucks Pittsburgh Charming How do I do really like Open Water I am a coastal boy I'm an inland Coastal boy those river is still really do it for me Pacific Ocean There's a there's something about the Pacific It's a Ruff Bell City which is one of those subsections Venn diagram Rust Belt has so much to feature of the cultural identity of the Upper Midwest it's like a it's like a cousin Copters around again today We have two copies out When I see you I mean everyone's the joke everyone is made of a touch with Jake is that obviously no but he's not losing any Miata video of trees free book sharing Services because no one reason s*** and I want inflammation Basically frontman for some sort of Lars Ulrich Ian anti Napster More popular writers who don't want to get dragged for Filth The power of human delusion there's a real chance to check when they take stuff Standing between him and my career in The letters of the word of literature is The Fray You might really think that once they can't do this anymore I'm going to feed a stuck its role in and I don't know what is But you'll get to quit it and that's how people have it out That it allows us to reality of their situation they will take it Pretty much all at once again Bile is that the internet tells you at every point there is an escape hatch there is a The way out of this conundrum material can you find yourself in if we work through they could be a Kik Applying to a higher level of traction on the internet wing and that is That's the that's what traps assault and it's amazing how many people can view them Materials can see that every element of the internet is designed to give you hints Navigation to alleviate boredom every every the satisfaction of your life by keeping you on the internet Pornography for your last video games for your for your unengaged intellect Why the hell but in every point it's only there to do some further to maintain your Investment in the internet as the market left one and it says a consumer platform Why would politics be any different why would the why would that it is not Reinforce the same structures that is designed to reinforce for every other human dissatisfaction I think it's because people think they could Mark the machine and you can do it once in awhile but it's a house always wins type situation Because you're on there so much there's no way you can keep up your garden long enough to not eventually get swept up I'm doing Pretty good guys thanks thanks for asking I hope you guys are all doing well today it was muggy and raining out today but it's nice as Chris Oh my God Virgil and I have become a says we need a bandage after it's version of the internet I talked about that Yes he's okay in fact we're worth worth hot But this I just had to just reminded me of a very good idea that we had together and it was People can't handle the internet come to the conclusion You creep by creating a mentat for Bennett Jesuit High class of people whose job it is Who are selected for the purpose of absorbing the internet and then They could be trusted to translated to the rest of us through more You know right it Oral tradition new art Class of interpreting instead of the material world interpreting the internet for people so that they don't All lose their mind and I think both version I agree that we can both YouTube we both must It is our destiny to be members of this class but that there needs to be a real screening process And we need to orient ourselves around happiness differently to Acknowledge that yes technically you were losing freedom but not being able to go the internet But you are gaining weight a lifetime Human connection for gaming Especially because instead of instead of sporting out all of your animal Table Unutilized human potential Could you call that a sense of Freedom we don't allow people to sell themselves into slavery nor should we Do not allow people to make a free choice to to destroy all of the could make them into a better person Complete were spiritually attacked person Tell if they can alleviate from Moment The Suffering of being a human by constructing a Metal version of humanity a puppet that they can manipulate across cyberspace The Picture of Dorian Gray style shriveling up there Shriveling up but there's Good stuff on there and it's very good for me and and owning and Very fast prescription list Forum Communications but you have to have a certain Handle it Mostly can't It's Your Ship cannot beat everyone that's going to say anybody And we should not allow it My favorite building Good question I don't think I have one cuz I'm not really an architecture guy I don't have a lot of knowledge Brutalism like art deco I really like the Chrysler Building in New York And also the Brooklyn Historical Society is like I'm going to have to He's now that I'm feeling more more but I'm going to watch this one just to see if I didn't start speaking tongues halfway through it Oh man When you think about what they did what they did to Madison Madison Square Garden Penn Station to Penn Station Just like Penn Station is like an experiment in human spiritual how much will you take Just squeezed into is a test to see people live in a Habitrail How long can they exist as characters from Metropolis before they just start chewing on each other Like rats cornered in a f***** edge up in the sewer pipe Very bad place very bad very bad juju there no thank you Union Station Ice there's a lot there still some really nice train stations in this country Downtown train station Philadelphia Union Station in DC We were just at the one in Boston that was not bad but Penn Station is absolute Garbage dump I have talked about the police about previous PVC tubes Obviously that's everyone's Tad airport should be hard at this as well Trump really ordered the Army to kill everybody and I said no I don't know if it's that dramatic but there was clearly pushed back On an organizational level for the military against Trump when he attempted to call Which tells me definitively really and I already thought this was true Absolutely Trump cannot do any kind of suspend the Constitution Crackdown not have the election

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

The people who would have to carry out those orders won't do it and It's not cuz they are it's because they have no investment in Trump Trump is just some guy who's passing through the Republican party has Necessary ties to the Pentagon And the perpetuation of that system the duopoly is much more useful to them then what Norm's in governance For Trump Threaten them in the least I got is going to give him more money and let him more people What would be the percentage for them to do it now if you have some sort of like Prices of around and watch like saying we have a 20 mm Pepsi look at Absentee balloting even in the middle of the pan and have 12 hour late Because it's affecting and those results are called instantly Mobilizing You guys are about to stop Within the poll And then maybe couple years down lifelike all right you guys is everybody cool down Have enough of these necessary like institutional barriers to Military rule in that. Gone away can have another election As as as as what they imagine themselves to be and what we all imagined But once again What actually is and how people perceive it have nothing to do with each other It is how they perceive it actually Dictates how they respond politically The people the vast majority of Americans have faith in the military Because they serve you what is non-partisan That is why it's the only bipartisan least supported Institution That doesn't just mean those people it means the people who make up the military they're wrong Of this Buchwald class dictatorship They actually think that I political False consciousness Operate Everybody Because nobody People are only aware of how do you spell economy Or the mode of production or capitalism or class Wonder translated into things like political party into things like nation state I've said before that are most likely outcome of an application of democracy Some sort of officers coup along along the lines of Thailand Or or or Neutralize Is not Material It is political Like This whole second Civil War thing is going to be fought in the minds of the people imagine it would be flat between The population Government policy And more enduring structures of the state Like the military Equestrian Before I Say I Do Excuse me It did not create the modern nation-state system Post facto justification for later Figures you're redpilled on the Treaty of Westphalia Accelerationism again I don't know what it means Because Unless you're Talking about things like voting for Trump or something This is confusion about material about about About Base superstructure Observing that the only way the things are going to get better is if Cultural and political Deadlock That's just a recognition of the conditions were that we're in crisis of capitalism is in crisis The line is going down is that accelerationism I don't even know what That are meant to Because it doesn't seem like we're describing the same phenomena Accelerationism Identical to two Analysis At the current moment Just describing what the conditions are I guess that's why I don't get Actors Black Panther I 100% think that those are people who are trying to get clout For the gram I don't think Why the hell would you hire real actors Devon looks like Ben Bailey from Cash Cab Television to become even more famous as a different guy Even without changing his face Doesn't make any f***** set Why would you Why would you pick somebody who can under you know actor wear brand ambassador If the point of it Is troll I guess then Fair on you but it's the point of it is to actually Exert influence on I mean Is there anything that would midi mediate against People Taking this moment to Booster brand Is there anything in our culture that would Now they're only currents in the ocean that would Basically ensure that that would happen Is Flo from Progressive I mean I'm not guaranteeing anything All right guys One more question and then I'm going to I'm going to start grilling over here I know this isn't a question but I do agree Floyd from Progressive Flo from Progressive not Floyd Flo from Progressive has been able to get it for the last 40 years that she's been on television Caveman can get it The pig on the jet ski Get it You know what I don't know I don't really care and more importantly What is the what's the point what's the question about the value Just like the conspiracy theories Conspiracy theorizing is attempting to create a narrative around the world Doesn't make sense right because we don't have enough information Fill in the blanks And then that reflects Operating at the class As a stealth class dictatorship That is reflected in the conspiracy Conspiracy of the moon landing is basically we're too stupid to have done that It's like with the it's just a it's a less racist version of Ancient Aliens Apocalypse God dammit I'd rather think we can f***** do something like that Cuz I don't know how the hell we're going to do anything else matters if you can't do that All right I'm going Syfy happy grillings Happy dance Happy chilling to all a good-night

CUSHVLOG 34. SUMER TIME

Zoomer Biohacked Operator Cyberturtles

06.15.20

very how I'm out we're here we're starting there it is hello folks find a Donald Pavan ladies and gentlemen about me miss you how you guys doing beautiful day today it was very uh kind of overcast earlier but it's nice now so having a good how are you good time how's everyone doing there was something I think happened on Saturday I think it was a tweet by it was a it was a interview with Joe Biden I think he talked to Trevor Noah and it was so just striking to me when it when it happened 0:1:1 and what he said that I felt I need to talk about this but I also needed to grill so I ended up grilling instead but I feel like it's two days later and I feel like I still need to talk about it so what's his nuts Oh Trevor Noah right he was on The Daily Show and he's now doing his whole police reform stick right hey guys I'm as left-wing as you are now I want to do any of the stuff you say but I want to say I want to do it in a way that will get you to stop yelling and vote for me and stop scaring suburban white people and so mr. crime bill having to reinvent himself says we need less prison we need less jail time and more mandatory rehab mandatory rehab we need to stop building prisons and start building rehab centers now I hope 0:2:2 that's pretty obvious what the problem is there right you've essentially just taken the same building with the same functions and the same staff and just change the name of it I mean the parity of liberalism right just hey would you like a less a less oppressive net would you like a less of a bummer of name for this would you like a more soothing more euphemized name for this thing that is gonna be exactly the same because obviously the question is why the hell these people need to go to rehab why can't like it why do we have to treat this as a it is a place where the state intercedes with with the ability to like put people behind bars imprison people it doesn't matter if you're there to dry out or if you're there to be punished at the end of the day you're being held by the state and there's a reason that prisons were originally called penitentiaries because the premise was you were supposed to spend 0:3:3 your time your mandatory time in prison being penitent thinking about your sins and and I'm just trying to get absolution from them through repentance penitence the penitent man shall pass now rehabilitation centers it's the exact same model it's just desacralized and modernized and liberalized because we don't believe it's sin anymore but we shares how believe in disease and addiction but it's a it plays the same social role sin and addiction are personalized X excuses for behavior that is on aggregate the result of the exploitative and alienating motor production and political economy that they're living under that's what it is you have a social phenomenon that you treat as an individual failing what believe in God it was it was sin it was inherent commands inherent tendency to fall towards sin now that we don't believe 0:4:5 in sin we just believe in optimal and set awful outcomes it's an addiction it's it's an illness that we can treat but how do we treat it the exact same way getting people off the streets getting people behind bars dominating them in the whole endeavor in the cliched Foucault Ian sense of dominating their bio power and that really shows how in the current mode of crisis capitalism there is no room for Less prisons there's no room for less police they're not going to do it because the system is only going to create more and more social dislocation more and more alienation more and more discontent as the wheels come off of this ***** thing which means the need to control that through brutal Authority is going to become it more and more important so they're gonna be just throwing everybody in jail for mandatory rehab if that's what it takes but the same fundamental reality is the exact same is is a society trying to defend itself against the implications of its own exploitative economic structures 0:5:6 by personalizing and pathologizing social phenomena under whatever name they want to call it but both of them are efforts to deal with the fact that the system will not allow itself to not have this at its disposal because a violent crime is one of those things that is an inexorable and inevitable byproduct of social alienation under capitalism can't go away so it has to be dealt with and you can't cede the state's authority over violence because that's what allows a functioning market system to operate its security as the first principle I'm not gonna people aren't give a trade stuff unless they can be sure they're going to be able to keep the proceeds and I can get ripped off that's that's the basis so that's the kind of stuff when they say that it tells you that this is that there there is no reforming it and that is that's both sides 0:6:9 of the observation that you know abolishing the police of abolishing prisons are you know worth pursuing because they're radical and they're now radical in the sense that they're not compatible with capitalism it's just a question of whether using that as the fulcrum is what's going to get you capitalism's defeat I don't think so but it's certainly an undigested ball demand and it'll be it's it's instructive to see what the what the offer what the counteroffer is caused by de is essentially his role there essentially as a middleman between this big group of people who are disabled were alienated and pissed off about the status quo and capital he is the middleman he says I'll talk to these people and then they come to an agreement so whatever heard

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

his terms are going to be the minimal terms at least of capital so I think that's why people are worried all of us about the the protests because because there are some things that are easier to accommodate than others by capitalism it's easier to do something like switch the police from public to you know change prisons to rehab centers do something subtle that has the appearance of change that will only further reinforce capital's authoritarian control and the thing is the thing with that though is yeah of course that's a danger there's always a danger you still have to pursue every avenue that is in front of you and those are the avenues in front of us right now but that is the fear you know it's not totally it's not totally bad faith it's not totally justice attempt to to invalidate the the protests or to give oneself an excuse to not participate that is a real fear that's a real danger because you know there is an open question how much pressure is going to be applied before it starts to gutter out and how sophisticated the the attempt to co-opt and and recuperate the the the issue of police brutality and over policing at but yes it's very funny hearing hearing pied and be like mandatory rehab okay so you gotta go what is that they mean that means there's a guy with a gun comes to your house he puts on handcuffs so you can't go away and then he makes you go into a building where you have to stay until you're done being rehabilitated there's bars on the windows you can't go home like the prospect of hey how about people just do drugs and if they need help there you make it very very easy for them to get it like free and highly available and you allow people every point of contact possible with social services that could ameliorate their addiction how about that is that an idea sure but it's an idea that would require this massive public investment that the thin margins and the terminal people are asking about Matt Taibbi and I'm this is not a Bajoran you can claim it as if you want but part of the grill pill for me is I mean I'm obviously on Twitter less than I used to be I post less than I used to I spent less time on my timeline than I've ever done and part of that is that I there I I refuse to follow certain stories if I know I have to like make sure what's going on in a broad sense that I could talk about it on the show and hear but there's stuff that I just on principle refuse to pursue and anything involving media like meta arguments I don't care for not interesting to me irrelevant to me deck chair rearranging on the first order you're talking about Canaries in the coal mine but they're in their death throes banging their heads against the cage walls and each other accusing each other of being the reason that they're so I can only claim that you know I think Matt's a pretty damn good reporter and a couple thing and the premise that there is a hysterical self-reinforcing ideology among the media class is unimpeachably true and anybody who's trying to pick a nitpick it without confronting the actual charge I think is giving away the game it's just that the thing is is that they would admit it you put them under truth the truth truth eliezer most of these media people admit yeah of course there is but the next phrase is it's a good hide line it's a good consensus I love Big Brother so I don't care that there is a very stifling hyped by consensus that is enforced on social media by members of the actual media people who can get fired basically the people who are have decided to make 0:11:21 that place their break room and it's true it exists but they don't want to even give that away because they haven't because they haven't proven to their interlocutors or the I'm looker that their priors are correct so they can't just say yeah but it's good but that's what they mean and a lot of they are yelling at ie bein trying to nitpick specific points it seems to me to be about avoiding that question like just say you you just say it's good don't act like it doesn't exist don't act like everybody in this media class whenever any issue comes up especially along very tense racial gender lines that you don't know instinctively what would get you in trouble if you said it and therefore even if you think it you wouldn't put it down see they can't say that because in their the fiction the fiction of their their world nobody ever who is good has those thoughts no but they don't even think wrong thoughts it's not a question of enforcement they've fully assimilated it and of course they have because they're 0:12:23 all insisting it to each other they're all out the ***** Mexican standoff none of them can admit that they're not it because if they admit that the hey maybe sometimes I don't think this stuff and maybe I don't say this because of that they're out they broke the circle they're done for that's obviously true that's like but the thing is you can't talk about it because obviously nobody inside will say it because they're outside if they do and they can't they don't listen to anybody outside because they can point to X Y or Z surrounding and distracting facts or bad associations to nullify the criticism that's why it's an anti D electrical nightmare space and where you can't learn anything there because all anyone is doing is preserving their place within a hierarchy and it's the most fraught and it's the most hysterical and it's the most absurd of the media because they're literally have their jobs on the line it's not just personal clout or like it is for a lot of us so of course it's like it's frenzy I mean like 0:13:24 David Graeber in debt talks about what other things that made the country stand or so cruel so notably cruel in colonization and conquest of Latin America is that they were all basically debt peons of the crown or some ***** merchant house or group of nobles they were all wildly in debt and even though they were all noblemen and it was just this galling horror to be just hounded across the continent by this ***** debt and that's the same way with these media people they're more vicious and ferocious because their lives depend on it the lives they want anyway if they and this is what I mean by a Shibboleth like they have to believe that everyone truly believes everything they say because the only way you can judge anyone is what they say because there's total bad faith assume do you assume everyone is out to get you

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

or a Nazi or whatever unless they say the right words that means the words have to mean something that means you can't just say the words that not meaning them 0:14:25 because that breaks the whole thing apart it destroys the fantasy it destroys the the like the ideological justification for its reinforcement psychic psychologically and so when someone says that well the good news is they would only say it if they don't if they're not fully in the group right they would only say it if they've already been exorcised a little bit because then they don't have that to fear which means of course they'd say that and so every response is just some version to get a load of this guy and you wonder well why would you even just say lol or this sucks why would you do that so that other people can say yeah to and you can remind them that you're on the right side and they can all remind each other in the comments like that's why everybody brings up these people they hate so that they can reinforce to the group that they're not that as wide as poisonous and absolutely enervating place to talk 0:15:28 to anyone and you shouldn't do it you should hang out with your friends twitter is for hanging out with your buddies and your friends I understand that Klout is the difference between life and death for many people now you know I understand that the difference between your GoFundMe succeeding and you getting chemotherapy and you're not getting it and you ***** dying on the job is whether or not you have enough clout to get a GoFundMe so it's life and death even for people who don't work in media but for people who work in media it's even more so I've yet to seen anybody arguing like Nathan Robinson who it's like it's actually good I mean he came the closest I guess to any of these people to have to just say it's actually good to have a stifling conformity of thought like that even though you're not enforcing it power that's the thing they think it's good because like any you know and it's true that like a communist or socialist state would have a reinforcing hegemonic cultural like 0:16:29 standard that would be enforced through informal and formal channels and through manners and things like that of course it would exist but we don't live in that ***** country we don't live in that society this ***** is just pounding into a base of pure hyper exploitation that's only getting worse that's that's that's that's the that's the firmament that your culture is banging on - so you're not prying at the bricks you're reinforcing them you're stamping them in even tighter - use a like all you're doing is alienating people from the idea that there could be an objective truth like you don't think people notice this ***** the way the Trump gets like treated by the meat you think there's nothing that the media has responsible for the reason that nobody like nobody who voted for Trump believes that kovat is even a real thing even though it's killed a hundred thousand people I mean obviously these are things that you're not always contributing to and they're gonna exist anyway but you make them worse they've made them worse on purpose because they needed to signal it to 0:17:31

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

each other that they were good people because of the the crisis the American I'm a great American identity but yeah because but the thing is because the people who hate the media and say it's ***** up or all right wingers oh well I guess we're actually good even though the ***** media is one of the most easily analyzed categories of the cultural matrix when it comes to like Marxism like like that's what we need people talk about the pace in the superstructure like the media is one of the absolute prime movers of creating a hegemonic ideology that means a capitalist ideology that means that the media is capitalist that there is no objective center that they're operating out of and so that there's this weird defensiveness towards the press that comes when it's attacked by the right and it's like I get that to an extent you know because they are attacking them for saying things that are true you know or sometimes but a lot of it is like they're mad at things that are true where's the Pope you should be mad at them for all the things that are false but I think you end up in the long run doing more damage to the cause of breaking through these ideological blinders and then you know spreading socialism by a lying with the awful media against everybody say no the media sucks it try to like reframe how it sucks because you can't get there from here you can't go down and get get us we mean if the Sanders campaign didn't help prove that I don't but because we're in the media we have some media people also are literally in like their jobs are abstracted to the plain of pure representation like their job is to represent what happened so it's very easy for them to see the world as representation but it's not experience that way for most people who don't have that lifestyle you who actually work or even people who don't work but just don't spend all their time online and you have to get to those people some way I still don't know what way it is but the share shift doesn't involve taking the side of the ***** media when if the media is right you're wrong you know that like the way they frame things if the media is really an arbiter of reality with any kind of trustable guidelines that way then you are wrong because the world that they tell is not the world where you see but I'm having the mint chocolate Soylent but had it like a head start like three times it's not good I'm always trying sometimes I'll try a new one just to see if it's different but I'll have the same kind of yeah there's an aftertaste it's no bueno not for me but hey dad we don't have to have dinner maybe I like a hard-boiled egg rather a soft-boiled egg I do you like those more you got to get somebody said the stock market is detached from the economy I don't know maybe it's replaced the economy in some way you know the entire economy is is is I do hope that this Supreme Court decision today doesn't do what I think it's designed to do honestly which is reassure colicky liberals that the Supreme Court is a salvageable institution and I think that's John Roberts's job and I think every relatively liberal decision that Roberts issues is part of a strategic give-and-take where they give a little bit and almost always on social issues if you'll notice very rarely on shape things like voting rights or corporate governance of regulation at all so all the stuff that protects like the vital organs of capitalism and and the maintaining political power of capitalism through the Voting Rights stuff they're willing to give up anything else really within reason because they don't want to become so politicized that even the center of gravity on the Left moves so far that even regular Democrats have to essentially promise to pack the court or abolish it or something because they are vulnerable to that you know it would not be difficult to render the Supreme Court obsolete expanding the court does only requires two-thirds of I believe two-thirds of the Senate and you might say oh that they'll never get that but hey if things get bad enough and they get their ***** together as a party they could you know it's not impossible and they want to make sure it never happens they want to be sure that when they're a lever a liberal government gets back in and starts doing things like trying to do Medicare for all they cut it off they stop that that invasion of state oversight and state management into the economy and that only happens because they tampered people they tempered people's frustration with the court as an institution with the strategic handoff of certain things because it's not really the skin off of the ass of any corporate power that that they've extended title the Civil Rights Act that way and as everybody has pointed out as long as you have at will employment every state allows you to fire people for being gay you just have to be not a bunch of enough of an idiot to leave a paper trail or evidence that you that that's why you did it so that could be indicated in court because otherwise there's no case if you just say you're fired they can't do anything but now you how many how many articles are we gonna get about Wow Roberts and Gorsuch surprised again what are we seeing a moderation on the court which gives more leeway to every ***** liberal who wants to say no no the Supreme Court is a vital part of our institutional framework of checks and balances and remember Earl Warren he was cool I say make the Supreme Court the size of major league baseball and instead of deciding things they just play baseball games and then like they can assign winners and losers to the cases based on who won the game it doesn't matter it's not connected to anything what are you even why are you here how did you get here now judicial review like half the ***** in the Constitution presumes a nonpartisan nature that democratic governance is basically incapable of ever producing because you never have totally unified class interests in a country that styles itself a democracy even within the capital class it's absurd because there are different industries with different desires there's a city in the country the gentry and the Indian and the early merchants they're always there I mean my god these guys came from England England I already had a civil war which even if they might have remembered at this being above religion

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

was really driven by the growing economic conflict between the urban centers the 0:25:42 merchants trade based urban centers of England dominated by the Puritans and the landed gentry of like post feudal land holders who were the Tories the Cavaliers because Protestantism corresponds with degree of economic complexity in Europe and then in the United States because your Protestant isn't needed to be able to fit into your pocketbook it had to be small enough to fit in the pocketbook and that means it had to be like based on very few simple concepts and that made it hostile to things like icons things like cathedrals things like pure ecclesiastical bureaucracy you needed to be sit around a table with your stupid bowl cut because the rest of your body and mind the Langer and the can the godly presence of all the religions of the 0:26:45 medieval religion a medieval Christianity there's no place you have you're moving too fast you've got too much to do you've got too much energy to devote to the material world and reproducing wealth so you your religion has to fit into a little lobe in your brain one book one chair one outfit yes it was also started due to the colonization of Ireland as it was a classic over at crisis of overextension the same way the French Revolution was because remember so the fret of the English Civil War started when the King needed money to fight Ireland after the I'll or Irish revolt France had to call the Estates General because of all the money he'd spent fighting England and in the American Revolution in both cases it was an attempt to extend or maintain imperial expansion producing a crisis between the two classes of actual 0:27:53 like tax like sources of Taxation the land what is this I was saying something I've ramp gate I mean for me the ramp is never the thing with Trump the ramp is very funny but the thing to me the Trump to give away from me to Trump which he also did during that speech is this when he has to he asked to use two hands to drink 0:28:55 because you should never need two hands to drink it's really easy looking and it is a sign of neurological degeneration because the gears are starting to slip and it takes too much like neural dexterity like hand-eye coordination and microtransactions to guide a liquid in your mouth without fearing like a failure and you need it hand you need a hand so something's wrong something's wrong with Trump II but that's been true for a while I just don't think you might have mad cow disease honestly the guy eats a lot of beef and it's not like he stopped in the late 90s when there was the Parkins there were that Parkinson's when there was the mad cow outbreak and he loves going to Scotland which is basically just a giant island made out tertiary 0:30:1 syphilis is funny I love the idea that his doctor knew he had syphilis but he knew he didn't like hearing bad things about himself so he never got around to telling him just cuz Oh God cuz or he told him he didn't believe him no no way there's no way I have the best blood there's no way I've got some lists it's gross it's disgusting I would have syphilis yeah I can't believe that too because how many times can you

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

tell it but it'll just eventually you just got to give up especially since he probably didn't pay you it's like ***** this guy he didn't even pay for the trip for the ***** blood test he can ***** have his brain turn into a melting snow cone Syria is a great movie one of the better Iraq war era movies I would put up there at the top really good actually I mean it gets I know it got criticized for being too kind of 70s hard on a sleeve lefty and that it's too simplifying but and yeah like the story of you know the good westernizing Sheik who gets blown up by a drone because he wants to sell oil to China or something it's a little too just so but it gets at the reality of America's role in the region much better than anything I can imagine it's it starts in the right place and that it function it's like Washington is the is the fulcrum here everything moves along that axis because it has become the strategic and like tactical battle space as they like to talk of it where you know because America's economy is promised on petrol dollars therefore control strategically and tactically of little significant oil production places is essentially it is national security when they say that they're not lying at least the state as so the oil is still cheap Iselle cheaper than milk I think get yourself some oil get yourself a nice frosty mug of oil down at the old citko - two bits two what happened to a palma game you just you watch Obama gate ain't going away folks no people are fighting about the Marquis de Lafayette in my men she's uh gosh the men she's I can't handle all know Obama gate was just it was just spy gate that was the same thing it was the idea that Obama had spied on Trump Watergate style by having the FBI look into I think Michael Floyd and Paul Manafort that's the premise and the thing is if well you could say it's like Watergate but the real difference is forget all that other ***** it's that one you had a divided government where the president was a different party from Congress and to the ***** was on tape saying let's obstruct Young Justice and not in a I'm gonna make a quid pro quo over the airway in a I'm going to give these guys a suitcase of a million dollars and illegally raised slush fund campaign money and you got to do wonder what had happened if you just ***** destroy the tapes they probably would have kicked him out because back then people will still believed in all that ***** it's kind of adorable when you look back at Watergate and you look back the way it was portrayed and media and the way it was talked about it was pretty wild there were people who supported Nixon all the way though Ronald Reagan was primed among them he was one of the most prominent Republicans who never turned on because famously the thing that made Nixon decide finally to resign was Barry Goldwater coming to the White House and saying it's over sir but Reagan never ***** lost lost faith God Hillary Dorson eliot engel is so good she's just she can't not be the worst she can't not do the worst and be the worst did every moment of her life it's I don't know if she's trolling at this point if she knows what she's doing it's kind of impressive she's she's an a have like figure and we are at this point the Whale and she's trying to that's actually brings me to something I wanted to do so I finish Moby Dick again and it is great it's better than its reputation it is not a classic it is a vibrant brilliant piece of work one of the most deal like spiritually of theological II interesting and I think evocative books I've ever read and I do want to read blood meridian next just to feel that it's like the BLT the cold side of the hot side the desert side of the and the water side but I wanted to read here the last my favorite chapter of the book which is the last chapter before they spot Moby Dick and you decide in the go for the chasing and it's Starbuck is talking to a hab and he almost convinces him to give up the chase the symphony it was a clear steel blue day the firmaments of air and sea were hardly separable and that in that all-pervading Azure only the pensive air was transparently pure and soft with a woman's look and the robust and man-like sea heave with long strong lingering swells as Samson's chest in his sleep hither and thither on high glided the snow-white wings of small unspecial birds these were the gentle thoughts of the feminine air but to and fro and the deeps far down in the bottomless blue rushed mighty leviathans swordfish and sharks and these were the strong troubled murderous thinking's of the masculine sea but though thus contrast II was in the contrast was only in shades and shadows without those two seemed one it was only the sex as it were that distinguished them aloft like a royal czar and King the Sun seemed giving this gentle air to this bold and rolling sea even as bride to groom and at the girdling line of the horizon a soft and tremulous ant motion more seen here at the equator denoted the fond throbbing thrust the loving alarms with we'll horny I think we can all agree tied up and twisted oh dear gnarled and nodded with wrinkles haggardly firm and unyielding his eyes glowing like coals that still glowed in the ashes of ruin unn tottering Ahab stood forth the clearness of the moon lifting his splintered helmet of a brow the fair girls forehead of heaven Oh a mortal infancy and an infancy of the azure an innocence II have put up sorry Oh a mortal infancy and innocency of the observe invisible wing of creatures at frolic all round a sweet childhood of hair and sky how oblivious were ye of old Ahab's clothes coiled Colima clothes coiled whoa but some of I seen little myrrh Miriam and Martha laughing I D elves heedlessly gamble around their old sire sporting with the circle of singing locks which grew on the Marge Marge of slowly crossing the deck from the scuttle they have leaned over the side and watched how his shadow in the salt in the water sank and sank to his gaze and more and more that he strove to pierce the profundity but the lovely aromas in that enchanted air did it last seemed to dispel for a moment the cantankerous thing as soul that glad happy air that winsome sky did it last stroke and caress him the stepmother world so long cool forbidding now through affectionate arms round his stubborn neck and did seem to joyously sob over

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

him as if over one that however wilful and erring she could yet find it in her heart to save at the bless from beneath his slouched hat a have dropped a tear to the ski into the sea nor did all of the Pacific contain such wealth is that one we drop Starbuck saw the old man saw him how he heavily leaned over the side and he seemed to hear his own true heart the measureless sobbing that stole out of the center of the serenity around careful not to touch him or be noticed by him he yet drew near to him and stood there mayhaps turned Starbuck sir Oh Starbuck it is a mild mild 0:39:44 wind at a mild looking sky on such a day very much such a sweetness as this I struck my first whale a boy harpooner eighteen forty forty forty years ago ago forty years of continual whaling 40 years of privation and peril and storm time forty years on the piddle to see for forty years as a hab forsaken the peaceful land for forty years to make war on the horrors of the deep I in yes Starbucks out of those forty years I have not spent three ashore what I think of this life I have led the desolation of solitude it has been the mist masoned walled town of a captain's exclusiveness which admits but small entrance to any sympathy for the green country without a weariness heaviness Guinea coast slavery of solitary command when I think of all this only half suspected that's so keenly known to me before and how for 40 years I have fed upon dry salted fair fit emblem of the dried nourishment of my soul when the poorest Landsman has had fresh fruit to his daily hand and broken the world's fresh bread to my moldy crusts away whole oceans for that young woman-girl wife I went in past fifty and 0:40:47 sailed for Cape Horn the next day leaving but one dent in my marriage pillow wife wife rather a widow with her husband alive i widowed that poor girl when i married or Starbuck and then the this madness the frenzy the boiling blood and the smoking brow with which for a thousand lowerings old Ahab has furiously foaming Li chased his prey more a demon than a man I I what 40 years fool fool o fool his old a have been by this strife of the chase why wherein palsy the arms of the or and the iron of the Lance how the richer or better as they have now behold old Starbuck it is not hard that with this weary load I pair one poor leg should have been snatched out from under me here brush this old hair aside binds me it blinds me that I seem to weep locks oh great never grow but from one out of ashes but do I look very old so very very old Starbuck I feel deathly fate bowed and humped and so I were 0:41:49
Adam staggering beneath the piled century since paradise God God God cracked my heart stave my brain mockery mockery bitter biting mockery gray hairs have I lived enough joy to wear ye and seem and feel the sand tolerably old clothes stand close to me Starbuck let me look into a human eye it is better than to gaze into sea or sky better than to gaze upon God by the green land by the brights hearthstone this is the magic glass man I see my wife and my child in night I know no stay on board and on board no or not what I do when branded Ahab gives chase to Moby Dick that hazard shall not be 9 no no not with their away home I see in that I owe my captain my captain noble soul grant bold heart after all why should anyone give chase to that hated fish away with me let us fly these deadly waters let us home wife and child 0:42:50 to our Starbucks wife a child of his brotherly sisterly play fellow youth even as nine Sarah the wife and child of thy loving longing paternal old age away let us away this instant let us alter the course how cheerily how hilariously oh my captain would be blow Wow on our way to see all that non tucking again I think sirrah they have such smiled blue days even as this in man tuck it they have they have I have seen them some summer days of the morning about this time yes it is his new nap now the boy vivaciously wakes sits up in bed and his mother tells him of me of cannibal old man how I bored how I abhorred upon the deep but will yet come back to dance him again which is my Mary my Mary herself she promised that my boy every morning should be carried to the hill to carry the first glimpse of his father sail yes yes no more it is done we head for Nantucket come my captain's studying out the course and led us away see see the police face from the window the police hand on the hill 0:43:52 but I have glanced was averted like a blighted fruit tree he shook and cast his lasts endured Apple to the soil what is it what nameless inscrutable unearthly thing is it what cozening hidden lord and master and the cruel remorseless Emperor commands me that against all natural Lovings and longings I so keep pushing and crowding and jamming myself and all the time recklessly making me ready to do what in my own proper natural heart I Durst not so much as there is a hab a hab is it I God or who that lifts this arm but if the great Sun moved not of himself but it is an errand boy in heaven nor one single star can resolve that by some invisible power how then can this one small heart beat this one small brain think thoughts unless God does that beating does that thinking does that living in that I by heaven man we are turned round and round in this world like Yanis went like wandering endless by heaven man we are turned round and round in this world like yonder wind less and fate is the 0:44:53 hand spike and all the time lo that smiling sky that was unsounded seed look see on albacore who puts him in who puts it into him - who was to do when that judge himself is dragged to the bar I'm sorry look see on albacore who put it into him to chase and Fang that flying fish where do murderers go man whose to doom when the judge himself is dragged to the bar but it is a mild mild wind in a mild looking sky the air smells now as if blue from a far-off meadow they have been awake making hay somewhere under the slope of the Andes Starbuck and the mowers are sleeping among the new moon pay sleeping i toil we must me way we all sleep at last in the field sleep I and rust a bits cut green green grass as last year sighs flung down and left in the Hat cuffs swaths Starbuck but Blanche to a corpses hue with despair the 0:45:54 mate had stolen away a hub cross the deck to gaze over on the other side but stared

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

at to reflected fixed eyes in the water there fidella was motionless Lee leaning over the same rail a hab needed to grill at the end of the day a hab needed to chill and to grill that was what he needed he needed to turn that whale bone leg into some sort of snap open grilling contraption and have himself a good time on the deck of the Pequod have himself a hoot and a half with a jug maybe that's what I do I already kind of have the Ahab situation that I have a leg that is completely numb so it feels the way that a ABS like would feel like it's it's it's tingling because of my spinal injury so I have the phantom pain but it's just there's a leg there which is better I must say because I can use it but yeah I have that I never decided to go kill a giant majestic whale over it weirdo but I can't say it definitely affected my life in a lot of ways kind of limited me for a long time and traumatized me in ways I wasn't able to recognize at the time but that's what life is for to work that ***** out I want to do yoga but like I said I'm kind of disabled I mean like a disabled yoga I might start doing that something I guess yeah what would mean what my white whale be I guess the Democratic Party maybe from hell's heart I stab at thee for hates sake I Spit my last breath at thee I mean I'm trying to get rid of vengeance as a as a motivator but they are certainly an institution that needs to be destroyed Democrat Oda Linda s no question I mean yes capitalism but you know it's like bin Laden talks about with the near and the far enemy the Democrats that are actually within striking distance in of course that might not stay the same I mean we honestly could be in a freefall in which case party politics is gonna take a backseat to anything else pretty quickly but some people I don't know like I've I have no idea we really are in a you know in a in a wonderland of black swans black swans are ***** all over everybody it's the burbs with just black swans we're definitely in the cool zone there's no question about that like one of the big things that's gonna that's the big I honestly think the biggest x-factor that nobody's really talking about because it's too terrifying is how bad is uncontrolled kovat gonna be because it's hitting we're gonna be hitting uncontrolled levels because nobody's gonna be able to get everybody back indoors again and does that cause so much sickness does that overburden the medical system so much that critical infrastructure can't be maintained that's the question that I think is and we're not gonna know that for a couple months and that is why August is going to probably be the most important month maybe in American history because that's what all the money that has been going out goes away all the federal cash that's also when I think fictions go back into effect and it will be when the the first wave of fully developed nation wide almost freely transmitted Corona is going to be hitting the economy that's going to be a spicy spicy meatball and I have no idea what the answer is because those variables are still two up in the air I don't know enough about the epidemiology for one thing but it's I am fairly confident though that one

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

the money side anyway that they will end up extending unemployment insurance and ***** like that because I mean the fact that minuchin said they're not going to do it they're not gonna say it they're gonna say they're not gonna do it until the moment they do it they're gonna say we're not gonna do it until a minute before they ***** put in into the Senate because they want it to never be seen as something people can take for granted they never wanted to be seen as a new entitlement so it has to be an emergency outlay and the only way to emphasize the emergency nature and 0:51:4 the fact that you're doing it on your own terms and not being demanded of it you're not giving in to Anam and you're doing it because you've decided to do it because look it was gonna pass you didn't you didn't make us do this we did it on our terms because it was necessary that means it's not gonna be there again if we don't think that's necessary it's ah we so I think that's still going to happen because if it doesn't that's more hassle than it's worth I mean at that point you have to really do believe George Soros is trying to bring about an actual collapse of the America America for some weird protocols reason if there is anything like a capitalist class with a self-interest that it can execute it will it would not want that to happen and it would have the means most importantly to prevent it in the form of big cash payments but the X Factor then like I said is what if everybody's too sick to spend the money or work in the see the cruelty and the point thing to me I think that that can be a 0:52:14 misleading catchphrase I think it has certain applicability to Republican policy and rhetoric because that has the benefit of appealing to their base in the political realm but the cruelty is not the point of capitalism profit is the motive pride of capitalist cruelty is the inevitable main byproduct of profit but it is not what it is seeking it's the effect not and of course that makes capitalist crueler and crueler and crueler because you have to be cruel to execute that kind of monstrosity but you're just you're serving the logic of the system because capitalism inevitably the the capitalist 0:53:17 singularity is which is the one in which all humanity is subverted to machine logic all humans reduced to machine organisms of GI geo of stimulus response with no species being left and you got to say though if humans were that then there wouldn't no be there would be no more cruelty at all the end state would have no cruelty because machines aren't I mean our machines can you be cruel to a machine you can't so the very final end state of techno capitalism if it ever were to comment before the system collapse it would be cruelty free it would be like a cage free farm fresh egg or a free-range chicken because you can't be cruel to machinery that's what we'd be at the final end state of capitalism no more capable of being being hurt than a yeah 0:54:23 I think that's Nick land and I think that's a classic example of deluding yourself to try to cope like you see the trajectory and you say actually it's good instead of this has to not be what we end up with and we have to do anything we can to stop it no matter how cringe it is or how dissatisfied it makes us as we watch reality we turn into hyper reality in I really don't think it's I don't I think I think saying that it's cruel on purpose is reversing the order of operation all the ideological formation is around the things that are required of the system its justifying a system that you're maintaining so yeah capitalism hurts poor people warm it hurts people of color more it hurts vulnerable communities more here's some digitus communities more that's because those are the people who are because of their position in the economy that is their role to play and a carrot is aligned it's reproduced by culture but like the sum total of misery and exploitation is is the byproduct of the machinery and that means that people operate the machinery over time grow cruel grow and are selected to be people who find those people disgusting and under them so that they're happy carrying this stuff out instead of sad but it's got to get carried out either way see what yes like capitalism the allure of it is all the psychic benefit oh you get to push around little guys and you get to do all this stuff but that's just about how it that's how it recruits people to do its bidding it's it's it's a pheromone mist for sociopaths the way that like there's that parasite that gets into the brain of the mouse to make it not afraid of the cat this machine is the thing moving the machine is doing it it just needs people to ***** actually carry it out and those people then have certain values that make what they do okay to themselves and then that creates cultural super structures that justify so what you're describing that pleasure that cruelty that is a big part of capitalist practice that is the end and so that's when you have to ask things like will they bail us out before the entire economy collapses in all the mutton all the fantasy numbers on the boards all those fake numbers and those servers that is the sum total of wealth on this country mean nothing like somebody tripped over a ***** cord and the power went out and all that went away do you think they want that they're not that liquid yet I think they're in the process of trying to get to fully quiddity honestly and you can argue like my whole conspiracy about this account this whole koba thing and then the the short the George Floyd protest is a like it controlled opted to short sell the economy and get liquid so you'd be able to have long term investment in a like a post-crisis world but they're not that liquid yet the money's still all made up it's still still on Ledger's it's gotta get turned into real infrastructure and they haven't done it yet to my knowledge unless there's like unless there's way more space colonization than they say or there's a Hollow Earth or something I don't think they're there yet so they're gonna want to keep the numbers meaning something even though it'll make fewer people suffer that's not the point the point is keeping the numbers to mean something well Hollow Earth is least acknowledges that the world is round so it has that over Flat Earth Oh Thurlow weed is awesome there no Thurlow weed as a base it's sort of like a

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

Karl Rove type figure he was a roving political operative one of those guys in early America who looked around the village said I don't want to ***** stand behind a donkey my whole life I'm gonna make it to the big city and see what I could make it myself you know because basically anybody who could read one book that wasn't the Bible would be able to get a job and if it was the Bible you could get a job as a preacher like Abraham Lincoln read a book became a lawyer they're loyal through a little weed ran out and said hey everyone here is an insane fanatic in upstate New York which was true the burned-over district they called it it was the heart of the Second Great Awakening and the house of the home of the Mormon where Joseph Smith found the plates homo Mormonism and he found it in the fertile soil it was ferment of like anxiety with the shifting economy of the the new merchants I'll State and that's why he helped found the anti-masonic party and helped run it to Congress they actually had a bunch of congressmen which is pretty impressive I'm just a just a platform of not liking Masons but then they got folded into the Whigs first to know nothingness and then that wakes and Thurlow weed ended up becoming like the Mormonism is fascinating I would like to talk more vulgar isms I appreciate it because it's one of the it's the obviously it's the one religion that acknowledged the need to Americanize Christianity and it was the first to do that but then it was that happened to the second in the 20th century with like evangelicalism I created a new that Americanized Christianity - that's a two-step process but of course because the Mormons broke off earlier they're better that's why I Felix is very very correct that Mormons are who heave Angelico's think they are they think we're a good Christian we're a good Christian family with good values it's reflecting and we're blessed by God it's like you have a house with like 15 mortgages on it a a online porn addiction that has seen you go to the hospital of dick abrasions like three children all addicted to different drugs they steal out of your cupboard and a job you know selling used jet skis - like military officers whereas the Mormons are all living in five million square foot homes with 15 children and jobs the guy has a job is a like a marketing guy like the company that takes the swear words out of movies and all the wives all have multi-level marketing schemes where they get together their child finished basements and sell each other that's that's the dream that's what the evangelists think they are and they're just a bunch of Scientology ISM is like a 20th century attempt to take that same need for an American religion and to adapt it to the time and the time their being the the the post-nuclear moment where God really did die like God God obviously was on the table for a while but I think it was World War two to really put the bullet his head especially in the United States and and that nuclear era created this like whole does god-sized hole that he could fill and it would have needed I mean it's called Scientology for a reason because that was an era where faith was being directed at supersonic speed almost from from God and from the spiritual realm to the technological where where all the faith now rested in science so another world class hustler another another true pimp of the spiritual hustle my man Elrond all 1:3:51 right guys I'm gonna go gonna try to do more this week maybe once a week or not try to do another one tomorrow

CUSHVLOG 35. ZOOMER BIOHACKED OPERATOR CYBERTURTLES

Nermal is a Cop

06.16.20

oh man did you guys see all those chips on my face that's embarrassing oh well i was 0:1:6 now i got to get the chips out i got to have a basic standard of hygiene here or else i'm gonna start spiraling can't have that they are the classic ridged sour cream and onion chips y'all like that that's one of the most classic combinations you can have yes virgil's back virgil's back on the show so no more asking me about it ever again food crab chips are good too but they my bowdangle does not have crab chips uh 0:2:19 someone asked about the portuguese carnation revolution which is very fascinating uh story because it's i think to my knowledge anyway it is the only um certainly in europe unless of course you count the bolshevik revolution talking to you robert service so that's an interesting thing because uh so it was in the 70s it was uh the tail end of the era known as the estado novo which is the corporatist authoritarian government that had seized power in portugal before world war that was headed not 0:3:20 by a member of the military but by a damn nerd by a college professor professor salazar and professor salazar ruled over this quas this harmonious sleepy uh coastal country with a steady firm hand later he was joined by francisco franco who sort of ran a similar deal in spain over that exact same time same time period now uh when franco died in spain what happened was his chosen successor juan carlos the the uh heir to the throne that had been vacated when the monarchy had been overthrown before the popular but he didn't want to do he didn't want to keep doing fascism 0:4:21 he said it sucked and he was helped by the fact that etta had blown up the bosque separatists had blown up uh the the general who was supposed to be the guiding hand after franco died they set off a giant bomb under his car and the car went over the top of a church they called him spain's first astronaut but anyway the upshot is is that juan carlos didn't want to do any more authoritarianism and so he started to transition to democracy and at one point in the early 80s there was an attempted coup by the military to bring back the dictatorship uh and they seized parliament and read a pronounciation pronunciamento about how and did it all in the name of the king of course uh and he went on the radio and denounced them and the whole thing fell apart but anyway in spain uh or in portugal uh salazar like franco died after a long illness but hilariously with salazar he went into a coma after a stroke they assumed 0:5:22 he was dead and just moved on with the continuity of government and then um when you know it salazar came back to consciousness uh and they kind of pretended that he was in charge until he died while not actually letting him control anything but they actually because of that because they had the that little interregnum to make sure uh the estadon almost attempted to keep going after the death of salazar but their big problem was they were unlike spain it meshed in some very long a bloody and expensive colonial wars in the portugal's colonies they had portugal had had a significant before world war ii kept it after the war because they were non-belligerent uh and gave it up piecemeal as they could as they were forced to basically uh in 1961 0:6:25 they actually uh they lost their little weird nugget of east of western india when uh when india just invaded them and essentially dared them to do anything about it and they really couldn't so they just kind of complained about it but they went away but they were fighting these colonial wars in angola and mozambique in southern africa east and west coast uh and it was going poorly like all those bush wars went in the 60s and 70s and usually what happened is that the mother country decided this isn't cost efficient effective anymore and just gave up the french indochina and algeria the brits in kenya and malaysia and that was the model but they were holding on tight because they didn't they had they had not transitioned to democracy they still were this military dictatorship that therefore didn't have the kind of uh popular 0:7:26 vulnerability to to changes in you know the the mood of the people that uh one of those other governments does i mean obviously that's not the final say in what governments choose to do but public opinion is a real thing because you can only massage the you you can attenuate democracy to the extent that you can maintain a facade of its uh of its existence so if everybody is against the war in your democracy you've got a problem then you have to rectify it some way less of a problem in a dictatorship so they kept fighting into the 70s uh and eventually a bunch of mid-level officers decided that this was ***** they've been reading some marxist theory and they got it in their head that they were gonna uh decapitate the state and uh they did it they they coordinated uh strategic takeovers of all the main power and media headquarters and all that stuff went on the radio and said we're in charge now uh and that was basically it it was almost bloodlust and one of the first things they did then is cut loose the colonies almost immediately um but the reason that i have 0:8:27 been mentioning it lately and that uh uh but anyway no i wanna so they were like it was a kind of like cuba in that it was a left wing of a military movement this from within the mill this was a military uh uh movement from within the military as opposed to in a in a rebel military the way castro was but it was so inside the military that's like junior officers corps of radicalized uh uh leftists came together but they were varied in their ideologies some of them were hardcore communists and others of them were more social democrats or whatever and so when they took power there was an immediate crisis of like what kind of government were they going to impose and eventually as you kind of assumed was going to happen in the context of where they were and when and like their vulnerability to other countries and ***** and like the world markets uh and portugal's economy in general being relatively uh poor uh they they they hewed away from any kind of state takeover and managed to move 0:9:28 towards democracy and you know there are some leaders there were some leaders of the movement who years later said they regretted ever even doing it because it was a waste of time and it just uh gave people fantasies that the regime held but the reason i've been mentioning it i mean if you imagine a near future where america's critical infrastructure is put under unsustainable strain and democratic norms and niceties are suspended in some way to some degree than the only people really realistically in a position to organize any kind of uh military movement like that would be necessary because politics has been replaced by force you know the the facade of politics has 0:10:30 been revealed has been dropped revealing just the armature of force which means you need to have force you need to have actual force uh and the only people are going to be in position to do that uh on the left would be people in the military because they in terms of having training at literal physical proximity to power structures there's nobody close certainly nobody in the political class and it's not like there's enough of a robust labor movement to to but the problem there of course is that the service academies where all of the big all of the officers come from are these absolute fat headed uh mediocrities these these ***** cows who just got selected by what the 0:11:31 system is designed to select the most mediocre yes man who will just do his part to maintain this ridiculous edifice this world bestriding military colossus that just exists to provide this perverse keynesian pump on the economy without giving anybody anything they could use ah like that's all it is it's just a giant make work program it doesn't matter if they can win a war the wars aren't to be won anymore wars are just to have where's there to keep on the back burner to slow and slow like you're cooking brisket so in that case you don't need it what do you need you don't need napoleon you don't need you don't need ***** a ulysses s grant you don't need some humble son of the soil who fights his way across the country rising with the ranks and showing his his absolute mastery of the moment until his talents are revealed 0:12:32 why you're not trying to take richmond you're just trying to get the bills banned you're just trying to get bechtel and ***** raytheon they're ***** uh vague to get the money from the saudis keep the whole petro dollar blood wheel turning it doesn't matter if you're good at it because nobody's paying attention so that means those guys are not going to really be in any position to even on their own behalf ***** class

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

solidarity seize power that's where the hope is maybe junior it's always junior officers like the the the military coups that you saw in like egypt and libya uh and and uh portugal the free or were free officers movements of young junior officers like colonels and stuff and i always respected gaddafi he seized power when he was a colonel and he was 29 amazing and then he ruled for over 30 years and he never gave so the 0:13:36 hope is there's maybe some people yeah our military i mean like the the i think the enlisted people are generally pretty good they're let to the left of uh i mean they're way to the left of like cops for example uh they're actually relatively diverse as a group of people uh you know they gave more money to bernie sanders than any other candidate in donations in 2020 it's not monolithic i mean there's obviously psychotic death culture within it because it's a psychotic death cult but there's also a huge civilian more civilian-facing infrastructure of it of people who do not seek out horror but because it really is one of the very few significant uh sustainable nationalized 0:14:37 jobs programs that provide any kind of economic uh mobility for people below like middle class like in this country if you're any if you're if you're working poor there's basically no chance you will have generational transition out of that state uh even the middle class like that's the hyperdrive and it almost never happens and one of the few things that can provide any of that is the military because they hire everywhere regardless of whether or not the mill closed so there is i mean the bolsheviks were the spine of the bolshevik revolution but you know everyone's so split up that even in a crisis everyone's probably going to do what's easiest which is to follow orders so the question is who can plausibly be in a position to give those orders and i honestly 0:15:38 don't think it's going to be some sort of blood and soil thing i think it would be more like a pakistan like you go to the px to get your groceries every week you know like there's mandatory service and ***** and uh like you gotta do corvae labor you know like build ditches or something for covent bodies but then they also like run the economy and like like actually uh own capital which is true of the militaries in egypt and pakistan they're actually huge uh investors in like industrial capacity and real estate uh and whole industries i think there's like a flower monopoly i think by the egyptian military or the pakistani so that that and then that would be distributed 0:16:40 sort of uh through the veins of its actual military members and then down through their families and stuff and then like create an economy based around that like like like uh like camp uh obviously i mean i've been very critical of china i don't think it's i think it's a puzzle one dictatorship just like the united states is hashtag real talk but uh i'm not a psychotic shot and a hater i realize that in the long run china and the united states will have to merge at the political and economic level like like one currency type ***** like that's going to happen it's just going to question of what the terms are going to be so it's i have no problem uh so yeah i got to go with china

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

over uh over india on that one although they're probably fighting over like somebody who had like a coffee mug ring stain on a map and now they both think that happens 0:17:41 all the time the chinese they actually had a war in the 60s they went to war china and india for brief period uh i don't think it's going to escalate critical support for the nba mlb players the the owners are disgusting cast of vampires these dis human pigs who just are so so besotted with their own sense of entitlement that they've decided that they'd rather not play baseball than play it on terms that aren't their total mastery and domination of of the talents of people who are far better than them in every respect people who actually contribute to this to the game people want to see as opposed to sitting tick-like on top of it sucking ***** blood from it we haven't 0:18:42 moved we the society has evolved beyond the need for mlb owners and they need to get the ***** out of the game nationalizing sports is uh that's a no-brainer and it's not like it'd be difficult oh you got it you would have to you would probably have to do like a salary cap but remember this is not so that the other half goes to uh that's that's not a salary cap because it's not going into the pockets of the owners you can think of it as a tax you can think of it as a wealth tax which you should be willing to pay right in a just society so you'd have to have a salary cap but then you just have everybody you just have like a board of directors who hires a hires management and then they do do what every other team does which is basically what the packers do okay somebody wants me to do the rest of uh europe with the uh america because 0:19:51 i said the midwest is the balkans app we've already established that appalachia is the caucuses uh all right this is interesting and then of course like everything west texas can be germany how about that texas is is germany because it's the size of all 0:20:55 these other regions and it has as many parts of it within itself because like there's pride like uh like east texas is like bavaria and then like west texas is like prussia so yeah germany is uh germany is texas the north the whole northeast is ***** france and maybe a little spain uh italy is the south the step is the is the west and then scandinavia is the west coast the northeast is france and then new england is england obviously so i'm talking like pennsylvania uh to like through new york that's france and then new england is england that makes perfect sense eight ancient rivals new 0:21:58 york yankees red sox that's nothing on uh on uh on the hundred years war ***** battle agent court i'll take that any day over uh over uh game seven of the 2003 alds florida is turkey and greece like depending on yeah think of the mediterranean as the caribbean or caribbean is the mediterranean so uh the south is italy and then florida is past the aegean the mid-atlantic that is the low countries that's benelux delmarva 0:23:0 made with hope delmarva is benelux yes new orleans is venice correct very good see hawaii is like uh malta or something and what is the vatican graceland baby new england is old england and the british isles so it's also ireland the whole thing because 0:24:2

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

it's not that the thing is is that england and ireland as much as people they may hate each other or whatever it's basically the same countries i'm sorry it's the same pasty skin it's the same hunched over beaten down feeling both countries have the same exhausted sense of being passed by uh the same innervating weather the same sort of dreariness of the soul and like kind of uh i mean ireland they're much more cheerful 0:25:3 the people are nicer but the vibe is very similar uh it's just like there's some parts of uh of new england that are nicer than so that's why as much as you want boston to be ireland i'm sorry boston's too miserable to be ireland boston's got to be england that's how badly you irish ***** up you turned ireland into england when you moved here because boston is like ***** uh is is one of those bumper ass uh english cities where everybody just and if none of this makes sense remember it's all absurd and ridiculous and means nothing but as i've also said it's not hurt nobody uh oh i'm 0:26:23 just staring at this i'm getting transfixed i'm sure this is always very riveting when i do this but sorry i'm just wow good stuff oh god somebody asked what kind of board games uh virgil made us uh has ever made us play i think i talked about this uh on the show but i'm not sure when we went to net roots nation in philadelphia last year there was a at this in the swag merch area which was way inferior to the one at cpac they had this video these like activist board games board games were supposed 0:27:26 to teach you how to be a better activist one of those called like it was weird i don't really remember how it went but it was you were fighting so that was the that's the one name he also in iowa last year made us play or earlier this year made us play the uh game of thrones trivial pursuit i think so ah i'm hoping to stream some games 0:28:28 soon i would play white frailty the board uh somebody asked let me try uh i gotta make a sad admission here somebody asked how many criterion collection dvds i own for one thing i'm not really that kind of guy i appreciate fine films sometimes but i mostly watch ***** but even if i didn't i don't own any dvds anymore it's just i moved too much it's too seductive to just have everything in the cloud even though i know i don't really own anything anything can be taken from me at any moment and that's scary but it's a price you pay i'm probably gonna just cut off all 0:29:30 media and just uh evaluate what's going on in the world through augury watching where the chickens feed and when the crows thing secret honor is the greatest movie about nixon ever made with the best dixon in it phillips uh phillip baker hall one of the greats but he doesn't even really do an impression and they don't give him any makeup or anything he just plays the volcanic wounded animal gremlins two should 0:30:31 be criteria release absolutely masterpiece yeah i am getting today has been very bad for allergies i uh it's been it's it's it's been getting worse this week yeah everyone who hasn't seen gremlins i didn't see never really here that movie is amazing because it kind of came out while pizzagate was still something that was uh idiots like me

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

thought was mostly a joke but it seems chillingly plausible now i'll say that **Music 0:31:32 playing** hearing chimes like i don't wish it was an ice cream guy oh that's a great question i had never thought of that because i've given up hope that it'll ever happen who would be the ideal director for an american tabloid film very good question let's think about this that movie has been dangled in front of me forever i remember like in the 90s it was uh tom hanks was going to produce a mini series for hbo it never happened even after la confidential it's a bummer because that's my favorite one of his books it's the first one i've read i'm a big fan of all of his stuff but nothing's ever topped the experience of reading american tabloid for the first time it was one of 0:32:34 the most important books i've ever read in terms of shaping my aesthetic oh my my historical interests uh my politics uh uh my uh you know my approach to narrative a lot of things it was like what i thought you could do in a in a novel uh and so i would love to see a movie version of it even if it would be bastardized because allie confidential is a really good movie but it still isn't a patch on the book um and i but the best part is i think i can understand why they did what they had to do with l.a confidential because the plot of l.a confidential is absurdly complicated i mean it's that's part of the point but it's also just the idea of putting even a fraction of it on screen not realistic with american tabloid i think you could really do it you can really tell that story in a way that wouldn't compromise the story arcs because the big problem with uh uh the big problem with l.a confidential is the way it just ends 0:33:35 in a big stupid shootout that just cuts the gordian knot of all the plot strings and i don't think you'd have to do that with american tabloid and so i've often thought about casting it like who should be in it but i hadn't really thought of who would direct it i think let's think of the obvious choices first the first name that comes to mind the but i don't think that would be ideal he gets elroy's obsessiveness i don't know maybe it would be maybe maybe i'm thinking too hard maybe it's just fincher maybe fincher is the one because the thing is i guess it's because i don't really like fincher that much he's not i don't like it as much as a lot of people do but i have to say that for this material he's kind of ideal but let's keep thinking uh the cohen brothers no no no no no not the koch brothers uh elroy doesn't really have a sense of 0:34:36 humor as the thing and i don't think they could ever really pull that off that's one of elroy's strengths is that he never winks he has full full ***** like fixated north star intensity on telling the stories he has no time for frivolity some of his short stories are funny on purpose but uh the novels are not funny and that's not that's good if they wouldn't be as good if they were and i can't see the code brothers not doing it like uh no country for all we it's got two double beds we don't give out that information about and of course one of the funniest bits in cone brothers history in the famous coin toss scene with the gas station guy goes uh who else paul thomas anderson 0:35:38

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

someone said he doesn't really do plot and an american tabloid movie would have to be very plot heavy it would have to get in its character stuff at the edges and that's not really what paired what pta does so i don't think i don't think that would be a good good one zack snyder that's kind of funny i don't know uh soderbergh is an interesting choice okay soderbergh is interesting because he can do like genre ***** like easily you know i mean he's he's he did one of the all-time great elmore leonard adaptations and uh out of sight i think he could he could vibe with elroy he's also got the chili thing uh so he's definitely on the list michael mann yeah i don't know i think he might be like he might be hostile to the plot stuff but it's just too plotty because he's his movies really don't move in that kind of linear way i mean the heat is almost three hours craig zoller oh man ooh now that's an interesting one craig zoller i don't know if he could pull up well now he didn't tomahawk see he could definitely pull off uh yeah all right he's definitely on dan gilroy is a good idea too town girl is good andrew dominic not bad this is some good ideas here not tarantino not eastwood uh i just finished lodge 49 uh i really liked it and i thought the last the end was great but god damn it i really wanted another season now that i'm done i'm really kind of annoyed because as much as they don't need another season because the show is able to you know leave you with a sense of satisfaction no matter what because it's you know it's it's it's it understands itself as a cyclical story even though it might get another addition to it but still man i i really like those characters and i would like to hang out with them some more for another season or so but people people are too dumb there wasn't enough prestige ***** in it for people to watch it there wasn't enough uh dumbass indulgent like ooh this is all very serious and rigorous and this is real this is cinema while you're looking at your phone the whole time every one of these ***** shows is designed to be watchable you're watched looking at your phone god damn it how about some coffee uh so there's cheeto in the white house i'm stuffed up this is not good what is the most effective allergy medicine it's not the one i took today that's for sure i thought it would have ***** worked these damn bowdangle uh sawdust yeah how you guys always make fun of jesus how do you know he's just not allergic huh it's not necessarily tooting on that yayo you might just have some dang red weed i am not buying the ps5 no what would i do with it i don't i don't game i chant gabe shan't be happening i have i we have a we have a gaming pc for me to work on if we ever figure out how to ***** stream from our office i'll play crusader kings or something there or roll a ball around in the katamari demasi game and stream some of that but i champion gaming on a console i shan't be gaming upon a council you can't make me do it oh man i usually the thing is i usually don't take medicine i usually because it usually just hits in the morning and then i'm fine and so i just got to ride it out is having kids immoral

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

no of course not it's it shows that you actually believe that you can that there's a future it makes there's nothing wrong with egoism is just an observation of the self as it exists but you aren't yourself as you exist you're oh you're out you are all yourselves together at the same time and how do you manage that that's the only question that matters how do you manage all those other isolated singular egos how do you manage them because that's uh virgil wants to do a good beltway garage suit but i gotta know i gotta say i don't know what i'm gonna talk about because i have completely checked out on the presidential race i mean i do not care i mean obviously it's not hard for that to be the case because everything that's happening seems very irrelevant but i have genuinely fully grill pilled all my way through by any of my concern and personal i don't really know what's going on it looks like mine's gonna win but i mean i don't give a ***** honestly booker in kentucky is interesting it would be nice to see him get the nomination because it's obviously very unlikely that mcconnell will lose but if things fall correctly this could be an unprecedented landslide election i mean you're seeing certain signs of enthusiasm on the anti-trump side and a huge shift among democratic voters the potential to see a return among black voters to 2016 voting uh or 2012 uh voting participation amounts which if that all happened you could see a real genuine landslide it wouldn't necessarily extend that far down the ballot because obviously a lot of it will be about trump specifically rather than the republican party but mitch mcconnell is a very hated individual he could very well get some of that uh backsplash and you want it honestly won't really matter who he's running against so you in terms of you know because they're gonna win either way get somebody there who might be slightly better than the other one and booker looks a lot better than amy liberated up alberta baby wigs it build the pipe build the damn pipe where are we going to build the pipe when are we going to get serious in ottawa and start building the damn pipe **Music playing** i am patio man jesuit patio mall and this is my patio land and i am the god who surveils it all is under my domain from the ikea folding chair to the weber 22 22-inch is michael jackson truly canceled he's dead that's exactly that's as cancelled as there is no cancellation that transcends death i'm afraid somebody asked he keeps asking about oliver stone's nixon which is an okay movie it's pretty uh it's got a lot of great performances though although one of them is not really anthony hopkins i don't think he's very good i'm not gonna lie and not just because he didn't have a good uh handle on an american accent which he absolutely does not he sounds ***** welsh always same way connery always sounds scottish **Music playing** but a lot of the other performances are great they really nailed the casting james woods as haldeman i mean um who should correct the chris daughter movie me baby me no i i will be directing the uh the stephen paddock movie uh daughter harmony corinne could do a good job soderbergh actually i think if you read dorner's insane um manifesto where he shouts out like hillary clinton joe scarborough gianna michaels that talks about 0:48:37 like uh todd phillips thank you for the hangover films and it's sad that i'm not gonna get to see the hangover three i think it's gonna be wonderful when you complete the trilogy sir before he goes out to kill a bunch of cops and go down in a blaze of glory when they set fire to the building he's in that's like that's it's like a normie just purely snapping and the informant does a good job of safeties would be good for a daughter movie oh yeah michael b jordan is gor as uh as daughter okay even though i look like i'd actually like to see the hughes brothers come out of retirement 0:49:38 to do a dorner movie what was the last movie they made dead presidents is so so yeah the hughes brothers give them movie i don't think john carpenter wants to okay somebody asked about dems i bet because i started talking about causality and you know how all action is predetermined and totally protested and unchanging but you 0:50:41 still have free will because you are not aware of the degree to which that is true uh and so you'll say oh that's on that show so i started to watch it and i gotta say man i cannot take alex garland ***** i cannot handle this super ponderous just overly pretentious crisp frosty thing that he does it just rubs me the wrong way i don't get more pulled in by it i get more alienated by it and then i find myself looking at my phone and then i'm like i told myself i wasn't going to do this anymore so that who play the tsarnaevs uh well felix will play a amalgam of both i don't have the rhoda that's that that's one of the only things that isn't sneezing is one of the only things 0:51:42 that i was not a huge annihilation fan either time to air it all out british sci-fi guys and me don't really go too well together i guess you'd say him and uh ridley scott can go jump up my butt 28 days later is okay but he didn't direct it it would have been worse if he honestly i know people love dreadnought with dread is a uh cult classic and i certainly have to see the appeal i watched it like two weeks after i saw the raid and i just like this is this made me wish i was watching the rain guy fighting his way 0:52:43 through one building it's just i know it's not fair to compare them but i couldn't get it out of my head and so i can't really judge also i want a little bit i'm sorry i want a little bit of build world building can i get a little bit of world building the whole concept is that it's the near f it's some cyber future where all the the entire world has been sandblasted and the only places left are these little antarctic mega cities and then crime is so rampant overpopulation is so out of control that they've gotten rid of having even a complete a an actual legal system one man judge jury and executioner and in the movie that don't really come into it at all because they get locked into the thing the whole time like the design of like those modular uh uh housing complexes was cool but you know give me a little bit of the actual what's it like in there what's the deal it's it's it's supposed to be a far future dystopia i'd 0:53:44

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

CUSHVLOG 36. NERMAL IS A COP

like a little bit more of that now the stallone version ***** up because they did the bad thing where you go to see a movie about a guy who's got who's got a job and then half of the movie is them not doing that job because they are been framed for something i hate that you you want to see the guy be the thing you don't want to see him not be the thing it's judge red not prisoner dread but anyway at least you got more of a sense of like what what the society was like i mean it was dumb like the council of judges ***** very stupid but i want a little bit of that i want a little pequito moss of that portfolio so that's why i can't even really get behind dread even though many people love it spilling all the tea right now spilling the tea all over the place i seen csa uh the confederate states of america movie it's not great uh it's very 0:54:50 low budget is one of the big problems with it but it's got some interesting ideas and all i uh and also i don't think it's really plausible that the confederate states would have taken over and imposed slavery in the entire united states uh it would have been more like in the hairy turtledove books where they become regional superpower rivals and end up fighting in both world wars against each other all right guys one more question i think that i'm going to split thank you guys for talking was a good 0:56:2 time somebody asks how to stop behavior loops uh it's hard it's impossible to tell someone because they have to find out for themselves what works but the principle of all of them is slow down i know it's way easier to say than to do but when you learn why for the inside it'll i don't have an eddie pot i should get all right guys somebody asked me if uh somebody gave me the advice to get a gun uh huh yeah 0:57:7 that's hilarious

CushVlog 37

---

Uncles Without Borders

06.18.20

that was fast it's usually not that fast i make sure this is working i gotta watch this playstation commercial first there we are there's me there's me on the line me online who to thunk it me online sounds too complicated hello uh that day's okay 0:1:1 i guess it was kind of muggy and overcast earlier but then the sun came out which was nice i'd spend the evening out here now that yes i'm going to teach you how to log off while you're on the computer and while i'm on the computer and while we're on well where well we are all on the computer lol at the end of the day everybody just loves being on the computer and who is to blame them information stimulation 0:2:3 all reachable at the touch of your fingers all you have to do is hit your finger you can get picked up and taken on the information superhighway by digital ed kemper who will cut your head off and put it in the trunk of his car when he shout out to the homie maddie gatz who uh is apparently doubling down on the idea that his that he has an adopted cuban uh son which is pretty funny and you know what if it's all true sure i would believe that too why am i going to disbelieve anything could happen in this world i mean yes it doesn't seem likely it seems more likely that some sort of weird perverted deal especially given gats's background but you know 0:3:4 what wouldn't it be weirder if it was true and isn't the best understanding of this current moment that the weirder the truer so maybe he's 100 right and he did adopt a cuban boy who he has now raised who was also part of the house page program and who he referred to only previously as his helper i do kind of like the idea that that he did have this son who he kept separate from politics you know for maybe for virtuous reasons you don't want especially since he's an unmarried man people would raise eyebrows he was like no i'm going to save my beautiful young nephew son hector from this nester from the slings and arrows of the outraged internet mobs and the sleuths and the investigative journalists and the fake news media and then all it takes is one bad clip where he gets owned for not having a non-white child uh 0:4:7 to go like actually no i do and here he is uh either way it's funny you you you win no matter what even if it's as stated and nothing he's saying is not true it's still hilarious this is my son and partner hw playing field that's funny my son and helper

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

prosperous little business no i would hope i would like to see uh maddie gatz could be the president i could see that happening i i definitely have more faith than any of those weird mutant congressmen than any of these nerd senators who are supposed to be synthesizing trumpism into a coherent ideology like anyone in america gives a nestor and pollux yes they're going to be in uh face-off too uh china india is pretty 0:5:8
pretty pretty pretty wacky huh hand-to-hand combat on a giant uh gorge people falling in like it like ***** temple of doom hitting each other with like metal studded rebar or something wild einstein famously said that i don't know what world war iii will be fought what weapons world war three will be fought with but i know that world war four will be fought with sticks and stones it turns out nope world war iii also sticks and stones awesome i would love that you know because obviously the conveyor belt for uh economic growth in both india and china has broken so their 0:6:11 hope of like allaying a social conflict through economic expansion is over so why not just have a giant ***** brawl why not just do a gangster new york style showdown with like a million guys on each side and see who wins you'd kill fewer civilians and it'd be well india has announced that soldiers died i mean china is always close fist close-chested with information so who knows how many chinese guys died i wouldn't be surprised it was only the chinese military is a little bit more formidable than the indian generally but uh making indians mad at china instead of muslims is probably 0:7:12 good for their domestic muslim population although you think that they could bond over their similar treatment like hey you guys put yours in camps and we lynch ours come on why what is our what what what are we but i don't think it'll amount to anything i mean the fact that it's literally hand-to-hand combat indicates that there's some awareness of the the risk of escalation and that nobody's nobody's tipping over into it so remember when the indian pakistan were going to go to war like a year ago this stuff's not going to happen until it happens uh and when but no man knows the hour of it wasn't a year ago all time has stopped to mean anything we're just 0:8:16 in this is an interesting question at what age did you become yourself hmm i don't know if anyone has ever themselves i don't know if a self i mean a self isn't a real thing obviously the self is an illusion uh coping with the exist the the fact of your accumulated memories or whatever and experiences all that ***** in your head that you you imagine that that's itself but it isn't really i guess the question is like when did i become self-directed as opposed to just just going with the flow i don't know if i ever have i mean i'm trying to get there but i'm not sure if i'm i would say that the 0:9:36 grill pill uh attitude towards death is that death is not black it's it's not blackness it's not like the end of sopranos it's it's it's not a light turning off it's light going on it's it's re-communing with the entirety of existence of which you are inextricably bound and which you are a part of but which you falsely think that you're separated from for the back now virgil should be back um i think i think he's he's back now i 0:10:40 mean obviously it's probationary because we haven't talked to him in a while so but he was good on the show on monday so i would love to do another lively solitude i love a good uh i love a good drawing room uh romance somebody got mad at me for saying that ohio is serbia because they were insisting that ohio is germany and they have one strong piece of evidence in their favor and that is that germany and ohio are 0:11:42 both weird in that they tend to they avoid the tendency to have one very large city and then a bunch of smaller ones and that they have a bunch of medium-sized cities and no one big one which is the way which is also true of germany which contrasts it with the rest of western europe uh but i'm sorry uh you can't get at that balkan animosity without uh matt have i ever taken have you ever taken psychedelics uh i've been i don't think i've done dmt somebody gave me something that they said 0:12:43 was tmc but i don't think it was i've had ego death before but not through dmt and i'll tell you that's something having your having your consciousness dissolve having your awareness of your corporeal form be uh completely removed and then slowly reconstituting yourself at like an atomic level you feel like dr manhattan uh only at the end of it you don't have a giant blue penis which honestly if you're not going to now i know you don't need to have drugs for ego death obviously but it certainly makes it easier for a western subject to do that because the type of focus and presence of mind necessary to transcend you know the moment that you're in is i'm trying to 0:13:51 meditate yeah i'm i'm not really getting any better at it uh just in terms of you know being able to kind of clear space if i had but i want to do more i would like to like do with other people you know in some way but right now i just still feel like i'm stuck in this weird limbo where it's like the the quarantine seal has been broken but the illness certainly isn't gone and people are still aware of it and public gatherings are weird i don't know this whole moment just feels so odd so singularly weird also i did 0:14:53 see that trump owned uh owned uh juan guadito by calling him the beta o'rourke of venezuela which honestly i think we might have done at some point he might be a the tracksuit is uh is still there but it's warmer now i wear the tracksuit because it was the spring and it was chilly but now it's it's it's warm i always got to keep minimal layers during anything after mid-may due to ah the beautiful venezuelan generals he loved them too much i don't want to go and kill those i do like that bolton wrote this whole book to try to discredit trump as a idiot uh deleton she's not serious about 0:15:54 foreign policy but all that's coming out of it that anyone cares about is his hilarious just dumb ass anecdotes where he's getting horny for one guido's wife or something which is as it should be because his laziness and lack of vision on foreign policy is one of his blessings one of the few things that are good about him relative to the average the ellen john thing was very funny you can imagine him trying to score with

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

like tiffany amber thiessen in the early yeah brazil is brazil is or brazil is the america of latin america brazil is the america of latin america uh france is the is the america of europe i'm still not sure the american of asia is no no no no uh brits people say 0:16:55 it should be the brits should be the america of the uk and they are fat and stupid like we are but they don't have that messianic nationalism that we have they lost that after world war ii we the french have a vision of themselves and a vision of their country that is very similar to ours in terms of its india is probably the united states of asia yeah but it breaks down there because you've got you know it's the difference between the the clone it's development different like development levels and stuff are italy is like us but like us in the future italy is future america after it's completely 0:18:5 broken down and all of the residual uh uh all the residuals uh civic religious stuff is just been completely obliterated and it's pure gangsterism and we're certainly on that trajectory it won't be long but i think there's still a few more oh man the masks 0:19:7
thing and uh the mask ***** is so amazing i mean when you see the way that that got turned into a culture war instantly uh it really does tell you that there is no chance for this polity called the united states to solve any problem i mean unless unless you really do believe there's some sort of demographic destiny and you know all the old people dying and and the younger people being less tribalistic and tv adult but i don't know if that's if there's any reason real reason to believe that uh but it certainly indicates that there's absolutely no there's no solving anything because because people can't agree on even what the problem is and i'm not even talking about it in abstract terms in terms of like a concrete crisis moment so now you've got mandated hamas in california but then the governor of uh oklahoma i guess is 0:20:8 telling cup cities that they won't get uh state money to combat coronavirus if they mandate masks so it's it's fun it's like the five obstructions with federal government with uh with but i think it's because uh i mean why would we have any kind of every force in our cultures is towards towards not just atomization socially but atomization epistemically atomization of point of view whatever one of those one of those corn states corn and fossil fuels nebraska there you go the one that's uh the one that's governed by one of the guys who owns the cubs but my idea that like china the 0:21:17 united states are going to come together into some sort of weird political union it's it's premised on the notion that there is a there is a enduring global marketplace i guess at a global economy and a global elite because if that's the case and and maintain a global capitalist system if that's the place you're going to have to start finding more and more points of efficiency to to focus on in order to make up the loss of profit from the general decline of the rate and that's going to mean replacing the competitive state framework between two big chunks two big huge economies the world's two biggest economies that essentially work interdependently one another in practice but are politically separated that creates a whole bunch of inefficiencies that over time are going to become less viable if they want to maintain a capitalism so there's going to have to be some sort of free trade uh framework between the two 0:22:18 countries and that can only work where in a situation where there's been a some sort of political um modus of enemy the only alternative to that would be some sort of war between the united states and china which is not impossible i guess but uh seems to be much less likely the big thing that just concerns me is not even about china it's just i mean we're gonna see half a million dead from covid within a year right i think that's pretty assumed now and that just doesn't happen you know like you don't just forget about it you might even think you forget about it you might stop talking about it but the reality of that many deaths doesn't go away and the need for someone to pay for it doesn't go away either and if there isn't some sort of conflict with an outside force that we could blame this on china being the number one culprit and i don't think there will be then we're all gonna take it out on each i think the 0:23:28 way that you become unblackpilled is to one detach yourself from the certainty your certainty of how things are going to end because you don't know nobody knows sir ***** nobody on the internet knows i don't know no man knows the hour of the day and the reality of that is freeing uh and of course the other part is finding things in your life to try to build around as opposed to trying to wish cast into the future about uh about what politics is gonna look like in five because there's no way to know and all all fixating on a doom outcome does is give you permission not even to stop thinking about it that's the worst part about the whole black pill thing if black people meant oh yeah i'm just gonna stop talking thinking about politics and just like live my life that would probably be more that would be better for people 0:24:29 than what they do which is that they organize their life around this sort of doom concept that they're not doing anything about like how many blackfield people are preppers how many blackfield people are significantly trying to figure out a way to you know have a to survive some sort of coming up apocalypse or have made the choice that oh things go to hell i'm just gonna kill myself i don't think most of them do i think what they do is they use it as a as an ad hoc justification for anything uh but what that usually ends up being is self-indulgence in a self-destructive way i think having a kid honestly people ask about having kids i think having a kid is a good uh antidote to the to to blackpilling because you have someone you have to be there for and you have someone you have to imagine a future for and you know people have had children in every condition possible in this world now and in the past 0:25:30 and assuming that you can't bring someone into this world is is once again assuming a degree of foresight that is foolhardy you you can't know things out that closely you you can't have any kind and even if it happens the idea that there's going to be

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

some sudden apocalyptic culling of human life seems very unlikely of all of all the scenarios that seems like the least likely we want and so in the meantime you have to live and denying yourself essential parts of life to prevent some future calamity from happening will only ensure that your life is stunted has there ever been a realistic uh oh this is a good one actually this this i can say something i'd want to think for a while uh has there ever been a realistic and satisfying solution to nepotism 0:26:31 this is something that bakunin said pukunen suggested and i'm always with marks over bakunin in their conflicts mostly because marx was speaking from the mid 19th century and bakunin being from russia was speaking from like the 16th century but but kunin's insight that inheritance is one of the foundational pillars of exploitation under capitalism is absolutely true and if you can't if you couldn't abolish capitalism which i think you could uh the only way you could make it work in any way like it's supposed to in any of the schemes and theories of of pro-capitalist ideologues is if you abolish inheritance completely in every way like you cannot transfer any money or property or capital of any kind to your kids or anybody you don't get to pick you die it 0:27:32 all goes to the state all property and the funny thing is you can't really argue against that on any kind of liberty grounds because you have free liberty to make as much money as you want uh once you're dead the idea that you get to carry out or that the state should carry out orders on behalf of a dead guy regarding like the disposal of huge so if you wanted to get rid of nepotism uh without abolishing capitalism a good first step would be just making it impossible for people to inherit wouldn't that lead to people spending all their money before they died okay what's wrong with 0:28:33 that builds the economy what you don't have is you don't have generational wealth being transferred you don't have people able to rest on their parents pile of money to be able to uh explore creative endeavors like that's why all the holly everyone in hollywood now when any kind of position of creative prominence is somebody's kid because the only people who can afford the risk of attempting to do an artistic life are people who have backup who have a and if you didn't have that then maybe it would be less reproducing exactly it would be basically legislating the veil of ignorance and 0:29:35 if you're going to do you know liberal capitalism you need to do something like that to even come close to approximating the way that this system is supposed to work the way that the the relationship between an employer and employee is supposed to be an equal uh negotiation which of course is a hilarious fraud because of the existing debt ledgers everyone carries around with them but they are passed on from generation to generation they would have to be wiped eternally wiped **Music playing** why 0:30:38 do the british people get mad when their celebs dodge taxes and we don't well the important thing to remember is it doesn't change anything that they get how hot are the venezuelan generals i haven't actually taken a look i haven't taken a look at any of the handsome venezuelan generals i'm going all right i'm going to see some oh and by the way the other thing that goes with all of that money being taken to death is that there are uh instead of inheritance there is a ***** safety net so 0:31:39 the idea that oh uh you know somebody who is in the prime of urban years dies their family is left without anything no it just wouldn't be provided by this this cl essentially clan style of of resource hoarding it would be administered by an agreed upon framework all right uh does anybody know any uh venezuelan generals i could look up because all right i'm going to the wikipedia page for the venezuelan generals all right uh it looks like the guy in charge is vladimir pedrino lopez can i take a look at him you know he's not that bad looking uh he kind of he's got the silver panther uh sort of a george clooney thing and like a less attractive clooney he's okay i don't think he's handsome as our generals i'll tell i'll tell you that i think our generals 0:32:40 are much more attractive all right and then there's admiral remigo ceballo so let's check him out or sebeo rather uh yeah he's all right i mean i gotta say i've seen more handsome generals not gonna lie i've seen hamster generals they're no joe seastack i'll say that but then again the admirals always were i'm gonna get yelled at now for saying that the venezuelan generals aren't that hot i'm betraying critical solidarity with the venezuelan bolivarian revolution by not saying that their generals are the 0:33:41 i don't know why amber mentioned the uh in wisconsin you know what uh what native american tribes live there by uh what casinos are there because there's the monotony casino in milwaukee there's ho chum casino even though half most of the town names are native native words you don't learn a lot about them people keep 0:34:43 asking when bind is going to announce his vp pick but they generally don't do it historically until right before the convention so it'll be a while if they if they i've never been to foxwoods no i've been to the monotonomy casino in uh kamala i think i think i think kamal is a safe choice so that's probably who they're going to go with because they're looking at those polls and they feel like they got this thing in the bag so they're going to do the lowest risk maneuver they can't and they and a 0:35:44 presidential campaign vetted uh senator is a good one even though nobody likes her she doesn't excite anybody just like him tim kaine they figure they don't need that and honestly they might be right i mean the way things are looking now i really don't see barring a complete collapse by biden and like physical and mental which i think they're gonna keep him zapped up on enough anticoagulants and uh giving him like ground-up rhino horn and adrenochrome and and donkey tranquilizers that he will make it through although i do kind of think that he will not debate trump i'm i still kind of have a i have a feeling that there's no way we get the trump biden race that we all want or the trump buying debate that we all want so i was for a while thinking that trump wouldn't debate biden but i think he will because hey sleepy joe would be great to own him biden i think has a real danger about what if he has like a pants 0:36:45 ***** moment what if he has a a real wool gathering like stockdale and 92 thing where he just kind of clips out that could genuinely risk him so maybe they figure out a way to say we're not debating trump we're not going to platform this fascist like think about that if biden said in september we're not going to debate because we don't want to platform this uh this fascist monster how would the how would the media respond to that they would say he's right because how can you argue after having spent four years making that argument about platforming how do you say that he's wrong especially if you're rooting for him you don't he would get he would get off he would get a media reprieve for being the first pres presidential candidate since i think nixon to refuse to debate all i know is there's no way we get it there's no way we get a great debate like that either they switch him out somehow because he's he's literally dying or or he cancels them i just can't imagine i guess oh god there's 0:37:47 one more even worse option one more even more depressing option and honestly now i'm thinking it's more even likely than that is that they do debate and it sucks they have a debate and it's just boring they both read for the prompters they hit their cues none of them go off on tangents none of them start really riffing on corn pop or hanging out with cheryl teagues at the model cafe and it's it's just another political uh debate that would be the uh and that would be the grimace possible outcome and that's why that's why i think it's probably gonna happen more likely than anything and that's why we're not gonna get the the sun's debate as much as that would be amazing trump don jr versus hunter that would be that would be truly transcendent maybe in four years when don jr runs for president and then maybe because we know 0:38:49 biden's only going to do one term maybe he annoys his son as a successor like he wanted to do with bo maybe he just says ***** it he's 82 years old he just learns it up and goes here we're giving it to we're giving all that ***** to uh we're giving the patrimony to hunter that would be great that would be wonderful we would love to see it i don't think they're going to do i don't think the the election will be postponed i just don't think that it will be have popular legitimacy and people say well that happened in 2002 but in 2000 we were at the end of the 90s boom the tech bubble hadn't even burst yet there were no conditions for anybody to do anything other than kind of mutter vaguely that that was ***** if that happened now in the middle of what will still be happening which will be pandemics and civil unrest i don't 0:39:51 know what happens but there is a chance everyone's just too tired but everyone's too tired to give a ***** about an election because their concerns have transcended the theater of politics and politics has become fused with their is george saunders a liberal probably i think so yeah i think most writers are most artists are the ones who aren't nazis it's fine very good though what happens yeah what happens if turnout

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

is less than 50 which i think could very well happen uh nothing although virgil we'll be talking in an episode soon about this virgil is very convinced that there's going to be like a big surge in turnout uh in november sort of constitutionally liberal or left or anti-republican who kind of tuned out in 2016 are going to ***** like make voting this time a priority uh and you know maybe i have no idea i have i've given up prognostication on we'll probably talk more about the senate because the senate is pretty interesting and i think it would be pretty pretty funny if biden won in a landslide got back the senate and then did nothing in the middle of a in the middle of a great depression level economic collapse like extended unemployment for an extra six weeks or something and that's it other than that he's the hunger chancellor i'm glad booker is doing what better than mcgrath and i hope he beats her but mostly just so that if the unlikely event that you have some sort of massive wave election an unprecedented big surge which once let's say like i said is not unheard of and not impossible that mcconnell could lose and in that situation you want a better person than mcgrath certainly to be the people keep saying they're not going to extend anything past july but i really don't think they're going to let that happen in an election year because at the end of the day these people are politicians and the money is free money right there's no real extending unemployment extending the checks it's not really another than like in in a vague sense of offending uh uh uh sort of uh in offending like the mores of the the the manners of washington and their weird fixation on deficits and stuff uh it's not actually gonna cause any real conflicts and it's going to be what the business community is to want because you need to have ***** consumer base to have in a consumer economy so people need money and you can just print more there's no inflation right now so the idea that they're just going to say no we're not going to extend anything at the end of july and we're going to precipitate after we've already seen this massive wave of of civil unrest now just doesn't seem i don't understand what would stop it from happening and the only thing people have been able to tell me is well they want to make some sort of evil cruel point no they want to get reelected and their their bosses want to make money and that's going to depend on they're still being in united states which might not happen if you stop paying people in july with a covid once again out of control what they're going to do though is they're going to wait until the very last minute to do it they're not going to do it until until it's the midnight up so that it's on their terms anyway maybe i'm wrong on that but i just don't see what would be the the material intercession that would prevent them from just cutting more checks to keep i mean they still want to get reelected yeah exactly july 31st at 11 58 they'll like put through more checks because they don't want anybody to get used to it the world is both incredibly boring and incredibly exciting absolutely because

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

we're in a moment of deep crisis and we recognize the crisis and we're all in awe 0:45:13 of seeing verities that we've taken for granted our entire lives crumbled before our eyes but the lived experience of that is looking at a ***** screen for most people their base will yell at them they love money everyone loves money the base doesn't give a ***** no one gives a ***** on their right wing no one gives a ***** at all about the deficit no actual conservatives except for a few cranks certainly nobody nobody in government and very few people who vote actually care about deficits and the only people who actually care about deficits are democrats because the way 0:46:14 you know what people believe in is how they act and democrats in power cut cut budgets republicans in power spend because republicans don't really believe in devas the deficits that are bad or to be avoided or have any kind of long-term bad effect on the economy and i think the reason for that is that republicans also believe in this country more as in they believe in the endurance of american military and political influence and economic and industrial and all that they believe that america will never not be the first among equals of world powers and as long as that's the case there really is no danger of some sort of uh debt crisis in america because who's going to call it in on behalf of whom as long as america is the dollar denomination for uh the dollar's nomination for the world energy economy and as long as the us 0:47:15 military is the guarantor of market stability everywhere in the world there's gonna be absolutely nobody to tell us we can't borrow money anymore because if we need it then that means this country needs it to stay up to stay open and they need the country to stay open and they and republicans believe that deeply you know as part of the armature of their ideology that america is this enduring internal creature uh they lie and say otherwise because you know that they they want to game it to their advantage and they want to use it as an excuse to not fund social programs and to maintain wealth disparities democrats on the other hand i think are more skeptical of america's enduring role in the world and they think there is a there is a situation where these deaths could get called in and so you should be wary about running what's going to happen when massive hurricanes start destroying the 0:48:27 east coast in a few months is that how do you say something like that with total confidence no wonder you people are ***** black-pilled you've all convinced yourself if things are gonna happen like ***** meteorology are you ***** kidding me i mean obviously climatology is like a science but like who the ***** knows what kind of ***** hurricane season we're going to have you're just like yes the entire east coast is going to be destroyed by hurricanes in three months you're just telling this stuff to yourself so you can like get off on it or something or excuse why you're ordering taco bell for the okay the forecast is an above average hurricane season all right how does that correspond to east coast destroyed by hurricanes i just think that that's 0:49:29

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

very indicative of the general black pill concept you you extrapolate wildly from current conditions without knowing what future conditions are going to enter how future conditions because things are never the thing the moment you're imagining is going to have things in it that you can't can you cannot predict by definition because it's the future all those things are here now and they're going to determine it but nobody knows because nobody has perfect knowledge maybe someday you'll have an algorithm that will tell you every every element that goes in every decision you'll have a perfect model of the universe you'll have mintaculous and you can make a million dollars in the stock market every minute and uh and you can you can become you could have the oculus and fernum from 13 ghosts and just see the facts in the future and exist if i had five minutes with trump alone what would i do with him 0:50:31 i'd probably make out with him he would freak out it'd be hilarious and i could get freaking cheeto dust in the worst job i ever had was one i had briefly i worked for a company that would contract to do inventory for real real uh retail stores they would set up a thing where there's a like bar codes on all the products and you 0:51:32 would have to run all of them on a barcode reader and then it would tell you how many of xyz products they have in stock it was really bad for my bad back i have a pretty like a herniated disc that's like the size of a ***** uh catcher's mitt and it really really did the number on my back i had to quit actually because it was regis yes it was regis that was it yep oh man barcode satanism was so cool that the movie naked talks about that david thulis has a whole thing where he talks about the the the barcode thing i don't know the whole the whole revelation seems so cute now that was that was literally a millennial movement like the whole left behind 0:52:33 evangelical notion does anybody believe that anymore do even evangelicals believe that anymore best job i've ever had well what do you i'm sure they still believe that stuff evangelicals but it certainly doesn't seem like it has as much of a i honestly don't even think trump would contest the election i mean did you see that tweet where he said or that interview where he said they asked him what if he loses and he says oh you know probably goes through something else he doesn't like being president i mean that's clear if he has an out i think he would take it his question 0:53:34 is whether his supporters would accept it and at that level the question isn't really like his supporters is an aggregate group because they're mostly lazy suburbanites i mean like are there any state governors who are going to kind of try to take a mantle of denying the uh the legitimacy of the election because these guys can control uh national guards and stuff that would okay see all right someone says i'm not sure 0:54:35 about extended unemployment i think it's philosophical no philosophical esophageal they want to make money all the ideology stuff is is trellis it's all it's all uh it's trellis it's ivy it's it's decorative you can't make money if there's no we're already seeing an

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

uptick in the unemployment now even after the bounce back uh and the degree to which spending is completely correlating to uh access to this federal money means that it's absence especially in a time when you've lifted uh protections for renters and stuff like that i just don't see this percentage in it i guess is my saying i think anybody who's talking about these things ideologically and says oh this goes against x y or z principle is principles uh yeah see that's the thing as somebody points out is that restaurants that we're opening are now closing again not because of any organic stay-at-home order but because everyone's getting sick and even even the even the psychic rupture of the of the quarantine mindset where would i like to live in if not here i i've said before but i think pittsburgh would be cool northern wisconsin my my home state is mind i do not hate the south it all became a joke because southerners got too demanding about us coming there is that then we decided to troll them it is too warm for me i will say that the south is too humid for me to be humidity is my nemesis in life the pacific northwest is nice but there's that fault line kind of freaks florida is one of those states where i honestly cannot believe anyone even ever goes to their own volition absolutely baffling me just the air dense and thick slabs of of condensed hot water that you're just kind of swimming through t-shirt shops palm trees everything that was naturally beautiful just bulldozed under to create subdivisions for dying uh old people grim grim no thank you palmetto bugs flying cockroaches no thank you check please matt gatz no thank you rick scott good lord you guys have ***** elected skeletor to that governor and yurts are cool i've i've gone to i've rented a yurt a couple times and i gotta say the yurt is a good is a good those mongols knew what they were doing so it's a good way to it's a good way to chill now okay they might set they might reduce the amount of money they give people i wouldn't be surprised at all if they did that and then see if it's enough and if it isn't throw some more but i can see them definitely like tacking back on the amount that they give uh but it they're still gonna have to be another there's gonna have to be another tranche i have not eaten an olive garden in a very long time olive garden is really actually terrible i'll stand for a number of the of chain family restaurants and darden group restaurants texas roadhouse isn't bad out bakes red lobster is pretty good i mean especially if you're not close to the coast it's not bad chili's fine applebee's okay but olive garden is dreadful the only good thing at olive garden are like the ***** calamari and the breadsticks that's it the idea of eating an entire plate like an entree at olive garden genuinely nauseated like that's one of those situations where i would have to be paid to go there because yeah i could have apps at olive garden but i am not sitting before a plate of their pasta oh god this portions are so big oh boy i'm getting nauseous just thinking about it i haven't even eaten well if the economy is in an unstoppable death spiral then what are you doing in your house i guess and that's the question i should ask myself i'm cooking a little bit i'm grilling certainly perkins is definitely better than denny's but i'm going to admit even as a midwesterner waffle house is better than either waffle house is by far the best do you think the thing is they got the gravy you know and you can get it on the 1:1:50 hashbrowns any way you want poor bill oakley i would love to talk to him again but he's been having to just like eat food that people quarantine what see this is what i think is most likely to happen right here what if things just sort of plateau and even 1:2:52 the perpetual weirdness is absorbed into malaise that's what's going to happen until it can't happen anymore and that's when i talk about that's why you can't be black-pilled or anything because we are clearly in a critical decline phase of the american experiment there's no question about that but those decline phases can last a very long time and they can end very abruptly or they can sort of be soothed out like the cycles of modern historical empires that have lost their their preeminence like the dutch and the british the spanish they did not involve a wholesale like uh collapse of the polity that they um originated in you know but they um but they also were not the point of a global market which the united states is for the first time but i i i all 1:3:55 you can do is is is look after the moment look at what's around you uh i said this on the jackman uh stay-at-home thing i did yesterday with amber about the internet but i wanted to run this guy buy you guys political activism the act of like trying to create a new political world in this country trying it's like building a ship right everybody comes together and through the trial and error of doing it and with some with some uh blueprints you build a damn ship you trim the you trim the keel you you learn how to stand up the masts uh and at the end of it you have a boat that 1:4:56 could go on the water and maybe get you somewhere and what the internet does is the internet tells you that it's teaching you how to build a ship there you spend all that time on the internet thinking you're learning how to build a ship but what you're not that's not what you're doing what you're actually doing is you're building a ship in a bottle you're building a perfect little boat little glass guy totally intact it's not like you learn how to you know how to uh do one job to make a boat you learn how to make an entire bow entire ship you're not just learning like the one job you need to cooperatively learn to get a boat in the water you're you're making an entire one but it's it's a little tiny model and when it's time to go out into the world you don't have a skill that can be applied to the task of building a ship you have this ship in a bottle everybody comes out of their houses and they're all there with their ships and bottles and what the hell do you do with those and that's it's just 1:5:59 it's the it's the sacrifice of temporal context that makes it's so hard to even know what's going on in the world when you're trying to construct uh a world out of the detritus of the internet is that you are you are idealizing you're creating ideal forms

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

CUSHVLOG 37. UNCLES WITHOUT BORDERS

even if you don't know you're doing it and i've certainly done it and continue to do it because there's not a lot of alternatives and then you try to use those to navigate the world around you but and that's why as scary as the world is the demand still exists to engage with it because you can't outsmart it as much as the internet makes you think you can't **Music playing** i'll ask once answer one question before i go 1:7:0 what kind of crazy new deal public works project would you like to see the obvious answer is trains and that's a good one uh but i don't know maybe zeppelin's would be even more fun zeppelin's charging stations and zeppelin paths all the way across the country a stately and refined way of travel through the skies zero emissions and it's less uh infrastructurally intensive than building railroads would be flippity-flop

Assassination of Mayor McCheese Under Direction of The Grimace

6.22.20

Ah Hi guys. Okay, the vast of night. I couldn't find out if I was on Twitch because I was checking, because I had to show me a commercial because I'm not a twitch member. So I still see the commercials. So apparently there's some movie called The vast of night. Well said it wasn't very good, but I'll probably see it at some point. Anything with anything that's coming out new to streaming that has anything close to Hollywood production values. I am just absolutely cabinet for this point. Just anything. That's why I know that Christopher Nolan is dying to get tenant tenant in theaters and have everybody see it on you know, a fucking IMAX with 40 glasses or whatever the fuck. But if they just put that shit on Amazon, like your computer for 20 bucks, it would make a billion dollars in one day. Yeah, that's the thing. I love going to the movies, but I can't see it happening anytime soon. I might see 10. And I don't know if they do bring that out in theaters, maybe I will go fuck it. wear the mask, whatever. Do this social distancing in theaters, although Honestly, I don't know how viable any of these concepts are. You're literally like by limiting entry into places like restaurants and movie theaters, you're limiting revenue in an environment in which they're still having to pay price, rent, and pay overhead that were factor that factor in that level of revenue limitation. Ah, all right. So let's talk about the fireworks thing for a minute. So yeah, I obviously heard a lot of fireworks this last couple of weeks, I saw somebody lighting off pretty impressive ones just in front of me on the street a few nights ago. It hasn't been too intense late at night in my neighborhood. So I don't know what others experience are. But I haven't seen cops set them off or anything. I saw some neighborhood people setting them off one time, but who knows where they got them? I mean, obviously, there's like a whole range of conspiracy theories, right? There's a whole bunch of different you got, you can go from just, you know, cops are looking the other way while people are selling them more out than they used to. And they're not responding to calls so people can light them off longer to the cops are literally supplying them and carrying it out as some sort of some sort of Fourth of July Gladio type operation. I think is usually the case. Bear in mind, I have no idea. I don't have any more information than any of you people have. So probably in the middle somewhere. I mean, the cops are definitely allowing it to happen before pre any previous time that they would not have been allowed to have that many fucking that long of a firework so without a cop showing up. So minimally, the cops have decided to show their show their worth to the to the city by not picking it by not breaking up fireworks displays. And a lot of people say, Well, that doesn't figure into how many there are or how big and expensive they are, how who could afford them and things like that. And how are they getting them all when that doesn't happen every year? Well, I mean, that if you can get a little Freakonomics on it and say, well, because the cops aren't, because like, say X number of people in a given year are going to buy fireworks illegally to fit off set off in the city. And there's always something but they're limited by the fact that they know they're never going to be able to like more than one or two at a time. So there's no point of buying that many. So the demand is relatively static and low. Now, with the cops essentially giving a tacit green light to that you can go hog wild, you can empty out your barrel. Then maybe you want to buy more of them and then that increases demand as as, as it's worth more, to bring more in and In that case, all it takes is the cops just turning a blind eye and all of a sudden, boom, it's fireworks time, thanks to the fact that it's the beginning of summer, people have been cooped up for months. There's nothing else still open. That's like the least invention intervention scenario. Most intervention scenarios we said, that's like, yeah, the cops are the ones actually doing it intentionally a psychological warfare. And as I said, I don't know that I don't know which one is which, but I will say that the question I have, and the reason it's hard for me to care too much one way or the other is besides the fact that it seems like, there's no way for me to know is what are you gonna do about it? If it is? What if it is a conspiracy? What if the cops are doing doing it? What are you gonna do about it? What are you gonna do about it? And the real answer is now Well, no, you're gonna go online, and you gonna say the cops are doing this? It's like, okay, does that change the fact that's happening every night? Does it change the fact that that gets a freaking you out a little bit making you wonder, making you doubt yourself, when he doubt your cause. Because you live in a city and you don't want fireworks going off in your windows. And maybe that means the cops should be around because if they're not, I don't know if I can really live in a city anymore, and I should do like it. And that anxiety has to be like put away and that it's put away in in arguing that it has to be some sort of conspiracy theory. Because that you weigh sublimates, your anxiety, it's sublimates. The very fact that like, there is a there's an absolute tenuousness to everyone's belief system, right? Like people think,

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

oh, we need to get everyone to believe X, Y, or Z. And then we could win. Now, you need to have a depth of belief, their belief has to be thick, their belief has to have the thickness to when it encounters resistance, and, and there has to be a sacrifice of personal gain or comfort, in order to advance it, you have to be willing to push through. Well, I I'd say that a lot of the people who have political beliefs right now, and, and, and to the point that they even carry them around is like a signal part of their identity and their sense of virtue. They've never really been tested. They have in the sense that they've never had to put like, weigh their political beliefs against something else that they really wanted. And, like, there's this giddy rush of look at what we're getting in the streets. But a lot of the people in the streets, their commitment to this cause whatever you they even imagined it to be, and not everybody is imagining it's the same thing is essentially free for them. Going out, when you work quarantine is actually all positive, you get to go for exercise, you get to feel like you're a good person, you get to be outdoors without feeling guilty about being outdoors, which is what stops you from going out doing other stuff. It's all win. But what if the fireworks don't stop, you know, and the cops make it clear that they're not around to stop them, they're not going to stop. And all of a sudden, maybe we need cops around maybe police are useful. And it's like, that's the point when abolish the police becomes privatized? You know, that's the point where to find the police means some cosmetic cosmetic trimming of the budget. And then people people who would have said, I'll never settle for that a million years. They've they're settling for it. Why? Because their beliefs have been tested a little bit. And it turns out that their maximalist commitments didn't actually account for having to be sacrificed for Ah, and I think that the whole fireworks thing is part of anxiety attack about that very fear that a lot of people have, like what's going to happen? And it's, and it's a real one. And the fact is, we don't know what we're doing and no one knows what they're doing. And that leads everyone, of course, to start creating narratives, to justify everything, and to to soothe all disquiet. But a long way of saying I have no idea what's happening with Bioware. But it's certainly having whatever the desired effect is, or we'll see, I guess, right. We will see, we shall see how effective it is and how people react to it. And that's again, I don't know. I think a lot of the anxiety comes around the, the, the buried and never spoken of, but, but undeniable fact that whatever we want to call the left in America has no organizational being. Right? It there's no umbrella organizations, there's no real leaders even certainly not leaders who have any influence beyond their ability to persuade, as opposed to give orders to a hierarchy of command. Absent that. I mean, my hope is and the only hope we have is that conditions will bring those organizations and that coordination into being. But we're at the stage now

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

where it hasn't happened yet. And there's a lot of anxiety around that. Because people are like, What's going to happen? And more importantly, how do I know what anyone else is going to do when it happens? How can I be comfortable? How can I be confident that whoever was with me at that last March, or wherever the hell or whoever follows me on Twitter is going to be there when it comes to the showdown. And the thing is, without it without a hierarchy, without people you know, and organizations that reach out branching Li to each other to know we're gonna be here and know who we are. There's no way of feeling that way. And that, and that's why you have like this very weird, pointless kind of argument. This investment, this investment in this argument about, like, for example, is rioting or looting good or bad, right? And it's entirely framed by everyone who argues about it as an individual choice, like, should I individually choose the person? Who is should I individually judge the person who is living? Should I think that they're doing a bad thing? Should I think that they're good or bad person? And that's the only, that's the only plane of argument. And when Nathan Robinson wrote that article about how the guy getting canned for linking to a piece of research about saying that riots in the 60s, increased support for republican positions. And he said, that's good, because that was bad research. And it's bad research. because it assumes that it's the writers fault if people don't like riots, and it's not the systems that create them. And that is a completely beside the point. Because there is an empirical question that has nothing to do with the individual virtue of the person who does something about its effectiveness. And the thing about that question is that's unanswerable because there is no coordination. There's no mechanism to if you know, it's good or bad, do anything about it, all you can do is blame, or, or justify the people who do. And so a question of are riots helpful becomes the only thing that matters is the question of its virtue. And like, and therefore, because you're not considering the racism that created it, you and you're condemning the people who did it. Now, there's a second question. They can all everyone who writes everyone who loops can be doing it in what I would imagine a virtuous manner. And I complete I believe that I don't have any moral objections deluded. But I could still be in an objective sense, it could still be counterproductive. I'm not saying it is. But I think it could be. And it's a separate question. But it's, we don't even think of it we doesn't even consider come to our minds, because it's beside the point. Because even if it was, we couldn't stop it anyway. Or make it happen if it was good. Because there's no mechanisms for ordering anyone to do anything. There's no organization. And that is the terror at the heart of all of this that no one can confront. And all of this stuff all this like weird moralizing, conversation and argumentation and conspiracy theory shit. It's all dancing around the hole in the center, which is the lack of any direction. I don't think anything happened to Nathan Robinson, I honestly feel like he caught he tripped early to a little hole in the Deathstar of internet com, internet conversation discourse, which is that if you write a lot of words, it is highly unlikely that every any everyone will, or even most people will read them all right, because nobody reads anything that they click to on the internet, especially if it's long. They will probably read a little bit of it. And then what they will do is they will take from it not even your argument but the fact that you sure did put a lot of work into it. And that's a hell of a lot more than anyone else on the internet can say because they're all just doing two character reply tweets and emojis and shit anybody you can write anything more than like 10,000 words, in this moment of like, ultra fried attention spans is basically a like fucking Mozart and Einstein had a baby, like sitting down and writing something that long I couldn't read that and they don't. And so if you can write a lot of words and make them like coherent enough that they don't just notice that the last the last, you know, 50 or Like lorem ipsum, as long as it has internal consistency like it, it reaches, it passes the test of like the Chomsky universal grammar, you know, people think you're a fucking serious, serious intellectual guy. And it worked. I mean, he also had the costume. He had the performance of the accent. He really he armored himself with every Shibboleth of sophistication that we as like downwardly culturally, mobile, half wildly Philistine Americans hate each other, like as friends but still have like a, like a terrified, odd respect for because we feel the lack of culture within Americans. People really need only my hat anymore. Got you people are so fucking fickle. Jesus Christ. All right, I'll take the hat off. Now, how you feeling about this? How's that? Huh? Oh, guy, little belt gentlemen there. Why don't I just create an organization? I know. I really should. Problem is any organization that's going to be an effective basis for mobilizing in this country is going to be around the workplace. And I sadly am about as disconnected from the working classes you can be like in the sense that I am not even of that class. Not a capitalist as I said, an artisan, a pre modern artisan, but what it means is I don't really have a lot of organic connections. I gotta say it's, it's, it's nice. I need a fence. I have one. I have a fence. I think it's at our office. It's pretty baller. It's a it's like from the Syriac lodge of the Shriners. I love that the Shriners are just these cute guys. We ride around a little motorcycles and dedicate wings to children's hospitals. They're the public. They're the charity arm of the Freemasons. You people are aware of that, right? So they're doing high level Moloch worship while writing and then riding around in little cars and wearing a little fezzes now here's the hippos here. Hey, guys. Well Hippo, buddy. Let's get busy. I didn't wear if I didn't wear a fez on an election livestream. Yeah, they're good hats. They're nice. masonry is mostly charitable work. Hmm. Yeah. Well, I guess it depends on what you consider charity actually acts because executing john f kennedy in the ritual of the killing of the king, a reenactment of a 33rd degree Masonic, mystic ritual, we actually prevented the earth from being swallowed by a giant space succubus, so it was technically charity when we kill them. Live lacz 49 pill I am. I don't know if I've recommended that show on here yet but watch 49 it's actually really good. It's it is on it was on AMC and so it's got like the prestige appearances but it is defiantly not a prestige show. And the way is to count and that's why it got canceled after two seasons, but it's really good. And it uh, it vibes with like everything I've been saying to kind of uncanny degree. I'm the guy, the guy whose books are the inspiration for the book was I think, Jake Garvin. Or he wrote a really good book of short stories that I just finished called middlemen. That is really, really fantastic. And the show is really good too. I really wish they got one more season. It's it ends nicely and it ends It's okay, as long as it is but I really wish it got one more season. Jim Gavin, that's it. If I could get One historical figure on the podcast, who would it be? That's a very interesting question. Huh? See, the problem with historical figures is you get if they're too far back, you bring them up to your moment. And you can't ask them a question because they're screaming and stare and yelling at the computer asking what what this demon haunted contraption is, you know, they can't have too much culture shock and time shot, they're not going to be able to even tell you anything even remotely helpful. They're going to spend most of the time just being amazed that cars exist. But yeah, like somebody from it would have to be like mid mid 20th century at the latest if you wanted them to be helpful, if you wanted them to have any insight, as opposed to just wanting to laugh at like Shakespeare just crying and staring at a zoom microphone. Somebody asked about Infinite Jest and about what Wallace gets right or wrong about the nature of entertainment, I would say that he gets he understands that the entertainment exists as a way to deal with loneliness. And I think that that is a central penetrating insight. And it's why his book, which was written in the mid 90s, is the one one is one piece of, of contemporary fiction, that feels incredibly, incredibly prescient, and, and of the moment, because he saw that technology was going to give or take our ability to entertain ourselves our ability to to assuage loneliness to a unprecedented degree. And that's where we are now. Like everything in there, the mind obliterating force of the entertainment has already consumed us. Like the number of people who, including myself, have allowed their lives to be derailed significantly, by the pursuit of entertainment. The only thing that I guess he didn't necessarily anticipate was that it because it's shallow. And because it is a over time, it loses its potency, and you need more of it, that it would become more interactive, you know, because it's not just like everyone's watching TV that has destroyed our ability to connect to one another or function. or movies, it's because we're on the computer, and that has a that has a that takes it to another level. And that is because entertainment, like TV movies, it assuages loneliness by giving us a simulation of people around us for the time we're watching it, a simulated social reality that we can be a part of, but it is flat. And so the effect over time, loses its potency. What the internet does is it gives you an even more richly textured and more immersive sense of social reality. But like anything else, because it's a simulation, it loses power over time. And that's the thing that has to be remembered Above all, and that's why you have to spend more time on it. And you have to give more emotional investment to the time you spend on it. To make up for the fact that the mere act of being on the computer and engaging in those simulated social realities, loses its ability to assuage the real human need for though stage stationary bicycle for the mind. That's pretty good, except when you're on a stationary bike, you're actually getting exercise. Alright, I'm being recommended the book of the man without qualities, which I've heard of but never read. I will check it out. Do I know anything about Charles Harrelson? You mean Charles V. Harrelson, Woody Harrelson, his dad, the guy who was in prison, a death row I think for exit for the contract murder of a federal judge and is widely by some anyway considered to be a prime suspect in the Kennedy assassination. I mean as soon as you meet I would love I would love to rip few bong, bong toks with Woody Harrelson and talk about his dad, but that probably isn't a good vibe for him. It probably brings up bad feelings, but I gotta say, if it was my dad, I would be like, way into it. I How could you not be? How could you not like people get like, people get hung up on their genealogy if they just come from a bunch of dumb potato humpers in Ireland who never did anything interesting. If my fucking father might have killed Kennedy, I would really want to investigate the hell out of it. But maybe he does and keeps it quiet. And if so then respect to him on that. I don't think there are more humans under Antarctica. That's ridiculous. All he says is apparently his dad and him are on good terms. Did he ever ask his dad if he killed Kennedy, though? Because if they were on good terms, and he like he was gonna die in jail anyway. You think maybe he would have asked he would have answered? You know. I do not think Trump likes being president anymore. I think Trump's entire life because he's fleeing from himself. He's fleeing from his, his wounded heart that has never healed. That he has been flitting from thing to thing in his life that he think he's even admitted this in interviews. His favorite song is is that all there is because he does a thing and it's wonderful if he asked himself is that other is and then he moves on to the next thing. And everyone who says Why did he run for president, he could have just had it. He could have had his mistresses and he could have had his, his his TV show and everything. It's like, Yeah, he was fucking miserable. He's been miserable

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

every moment of his life. He is he is in more pain, psychic pain than I could imagine every moment of his life. It's just a brutal nightmare of misery he used his center is nothing but self loathing and anxiety. He ran for President. I mean, partially to screw Obama for saying he was an idiot, but also just as something else to do. And for a while it made him feel better. Seeing all those crowds and all those rooms hooting and hollering at him, and then beating Hillary, he was scared because he wasn't ready for it. But at the same time, high, everyone said he couldn't do it. They said it was impossible. They said I could do it. And then I lied, folks. They never seen anything like it. They saw huge blow out. He was a landslide. He loved it. He loved it. But it all it's all Evanescence. I was vanity. it all falls through your fucking hands like saying. And now he's left at the end of it. And now because he can't do his rallies anymore. And the what he did wasn't even that well attended and was obviously poorly attended. And he probably was happy for about five minutes. And then he wasn't anymore. There was a picture taken of him coming off the Marine One back to the White House. That is the best photograph of Donald Trump I have ever seen. He's got his he's got his tie undone. He's got his hat, his magga hat crumpled in one hand, his scarf like a gut sort of like days stare. Looks as shitty as possible. Best of all, there's a fucking ring of makeup, orange makeup on the inside of his collar. The Cheeto dust is at work. It's fantastic picture. So yeah, so not being president. Maybe that will make him happy. being president and work maybe not being president will work. So I really don't i don't think he's gonna I don't think he's going to and he couldn't admit to himself that that's true. And I don't think that he's gonna like throw it or anything. But I do think that there will be beneath everything else relief. If he if and I think is more likely when he loses because I gotta say, guys, I know everyone's like don't count out all Donnie. Everyone's been traumatized by him owning everybody for three years. But at some point reality intervenes, you know, and I he's, he is really in fucking trouble. Unless he decides to in the very late, late period right before the election to be Donnie Donnie moneybags to do the helicopter drop that they have not done so far, even though it would have really helped us approval. Unless they do some late late inning huge injection of money into the economy. He cannot win. Like, as in there's no path. Like there's zero chance 20% unemployment. He's not gonna win any of those Midwestern states. He's not gonna win. Michigan is not gonna win Pennsylvania. He's not gonna win Wisconsin. It's not going to happen. Because that swing where people were like, let's try them out and see what happens. They have and we see it in the results from from congressional races in the interim, they have decided that didn't work out too well. And there's nobody else like his base there is it's the same people as ever. But it's, it's not enough, it was never enough, his base was never enough to win. It was his base plus people who are disinterested enough to not vote, who are generally democrats or two, if they're generally democrats switch to Republican, and that was all a function of Hillary, and Hillary being such a uniquely unlikely character, such a perfect avatar for what people thought of as their miseration. Whereas now like, Biden, to the degree to which he represents anything is a period the Obama years which seem even for, I think, non Democrats, to be a period of relative calm competence. That what they would like to return to, and there's nothing Trump can do to change that. Except giving everybody money because he personalizes every issue about himself, which means the big fear people have that Oh, all the riots are gonna turn people into reactionaries? No, they're associated with Trump. Like, even if they're not, even if they're not woke, even if they don't believe all the stuff about prison abolition. And abolishing the police that your Twitter feed does. They still are like Trump is making this worse. Trump makes it worse. And Biden because like the idea that he's gonna be Mr. antifa. That can't stick. He's 90 year old white dude. And he has explicitly disavowed all the anti fat stuff. So he can't get ahead of any issue because he's the face of every issue, whatever issue is bad. The question of whether or not Trump Trump was facing Biden, and Corona had not hit. And the recession hadn't happened, which honestly is a big if because it looks like the recession might have actually technically started before Corona hit. Then I think he would have a better and he might lose, but I would make him the favorite. At this point, I bet the ripples will probably reflect that. But you he's getting his ass dominated in a way that Hillary never did. Not even close. Right now, if the polls if the polls the polls within a matter of 1% margin of error, if all those states that right now have him with with Biden within like a mark outside the margin of error have a lead outside the margin of error. If those hold, he rots, he wins every state Obama won in 2012 2008, at least. And the fundamentals are gonna only get worse, more people dead from Corona. And now we recognize like all those people didn't show up to the rally and teleca even if they weren't scared away by antiva, they probably do believe that the virus is real. And honestly, the degree to which people believe the virus is a real threat is the degree to which they have to recognize his his responsibility for a lot of the reason we fought the dog so badly. So yeah, I would say that a party a significant intervention, an October surprise to end October surprises, I think that he's cooked. See, Sonny says remember what Paul said Hillary was going to crush him. She never led like she never let him in aggregate you can put points, a few outlier polls if you want. She never let him in aggregate from this far out the way that Biden is. And she's still let's not forget this, she won the popular vote by a significant margin. And only lost in the three states she couldn't lose by a combined 70,000 votes. So that's like literally a coin flip

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

basically, in terms of outcome. So it's not like he beat Hillary running away with it. He barely went one and basically a fluke. Which is another thing people forget. Because it is funny to imagine, talk about how she got her ass kicked. But uh, I'm not talking about general. I'm not talking about national elections Anyway, I'm talking about state polls. And yeah, yeah, like there were some national polls that had Hillary up by like 10 or 12, or whatever. But state polling is pretty consistent. Now the whole thing with the fucking mail in ballots, that's going to be a huge, huge contention point. And that's why I can say now no matter what, the other side, whoever it is, is not going to accept the outcome of this election. The question is, what formations will exist to channel that feeling into actual resistance? I mean, we're in a crisis of political legitimacy and happened since 2000. Pretty much. You could argue, maybe since the Clinton Clinton impeachment. I don't know maybe Bork, who knows. But anyway, we've been in a long term slow crisis. legitimacy that is now reaching unsustainable. speed. That means that every election, I was going to ratchet it up, and probably significantly more than previously. And I think this election is going to be a ratchet point of just generalized risk rejection of, of the authority that that has emerged from the proper channels. But I would say this, I think that's actually good news for the left, and one of the few bright spots we have. Because I've been thinking about electoralism lately. And the big argument against doing electoral politics from your your anarchists, who tank us, whatever, have you whatever you want any anti electoral leftist, is that you can't change the system from within they won't let you. It exists to perpetuate capitalism, they're not going to allow you to just take it over. And the thing is, that's basically correct. Yeah. I don't think anyone at the at the level of like, detail thinks that that wouldn't happen. The problem is in America, just saying that doesn't change the fact that the vast majority of Americans who have political identities, don't agree with that, or aren't radical enough for that to care, because the degree to which they want to change things can be accommodated in their mind by elections, because they're not as radical as you. And they never will be. Because you cannot do it through persuasion. And that is the fantasy that the the the newspaper handing out leftist used to use to satisfy myself with, and now that they're online, they can delude themselves even more. Now, with a click of a finger, I can mean I can meme on 1000s of people. Yeah, you can meme on 1000s of people, they're just gonna see it as some more bullshit on the internet. It has no impact. None of this stuff impacts very little of it anyway. What causes impact is things like the person being in a, in a position materially to be accommodating to those messages. I'm talking, of course, I'm only talking about the half of people who do vote. The assumption that the other half who don't are all politically engaged, though, I don't agree with I think they have made a ideological

CUSHVLOG 38. ASSASSINATION OF MAYOR MCCHEESE UNDER DIRECTION OF THE GRIMACE

decision that voting doesn't apply to them. But I think they extend that to politics in general. If you disagree, you can, but I doesn't seem to me to track frankly. So most people, though, they're like, Oh, yeah, no, they won't allow revolution through elections. But I don't really care about a revolution, I would like to be at healthcare something. And the task for the non electoral list is to get that person on board with revolution, right? To get them past that point of just wanting a little bit of crumbs or masters table and wanting the whole thing. What do you do? Well, the non electoral strategy is to just yell at them until they change their mind. I mean, if I don't know what else, if there's others to it, something, tell me. But that is the argument. It's like, well, you post you posted, remind people that they're wrong, and eventually enough of them will see that and they'll agree with you. I mean, you could try that. But it's like trying to empty a fucking bucket, it's trying to empty, it's trying to bail out your boat with a straw. It's just it's not, it's not cost or time effective. Now, what you need before, you can realistically believe that you're going to get a a before you could even come close to getting a critical mass of people for revolutionary change, to endorse revolutionary change, as in confronting the state to the point of violence and then willing to take the consequences for that. To get there, before you can get there, you need a critical mass of people who have rejected the authority of the states. And what that what you have to get is you get that you have to get enough people to realize for themselves, not because you yelled at that them, that the system won't accommodate their demands. And the way you do that, is you present the system with an electoral outcome that it cannot metabolize. And when it can't metabolize that outcome, it rejects it. And that reduces legitimacy among the people you need to have legitimately real, legitimate legitimacy reduced for. And that means that they're more willing to listen to more confrontational strategies and act those confrontational strategies, because the first option is off the table in their mind, because now they know, it doesn't matter. Now, they know they saw it, they didn't get yelled at them online. They saw it, they saw somebody that they wanted to win win. And then they saw that when nullified

Transcribed by <https://otter.ai>

More like Statue of Puberty

06.23.20

oh I hate these ad brakes I gotta wait forever to find out if I'm actually on the thing stream or not there's got to be a better way oh wait a minute I didn't click on it idiot now it's the commercial there I am there's me hello I'm on TV on the Internet 0:1:3
how's everybody doing everybody feeling good feeling good whoo all right uh what's up beautiful day here beautiful day not too hot the backyard grilling zone is got a nice cool breeze running through it you got the sink back here all the trees it's very nice but I do think I should get some more plants back here if I sign up if I keep this place for another year I'll definitely get the trees or get plans for next next spring it's chill zone and it grows off its true so I was thinking about continuing on something I was talking about yesterday talked about statues because apparently that's what the protests are now about getting rid of statues whether it's good to do that I think if anybody saw the stream yesterday they'd know where I would they imagine where I would probably be on that and they're correct this is another example of people dealing with or refusing to deal with the lack of a structure the lack of any kind of meaningful deliberative body that can create policy and then implement it through people who are dedicated to a cause it's all we really have is a bunch of people who are sick of ***** then are doing what they think will it expresses their their their sickness of said ***** but the problem comes and this is the exact same thing that happened with occupy is that because you don't have deliberative processes and you don't have discipline within a movement people kind of gravitate towards certain things as actions as goals that substitute for the greater goal that is not really pursuable without a structure like you need a structure to really pursue the kind of huge radical changes to policing that are being demanded right now and we don't have that so people point to people gravitate towards things in front of them that have a concrete meaning that occupy that meant eventually the Occupy movement became about staying in the part it was it was specifically we're gonna stay here nothing more dramatic than that which meant that when when they decided to break it up that was pretty much the end of it and now we're in a similar situation at least it looks like we'll see like I said everything is 0:2:4 0:3:6

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

changing nothing is is fixed but the momentary conditions our that knocking over statues feels really good and so people wanna knock over statues and God bless them go for it you know as a team-building exercise what could be figuring out how to pull some stupid chintzy Confederate factory-made hollow ***** Easter bunny ass 0:4:10 piece of shits sculpture down that's what funniest thing about all these all those daughters of the arrival of the American Revolution Confederate monuments that are up there they're all absolute ***** they're hollow they cost like five bucks they're mass-produced it was all part of a propaganda campaign at the time at the turn of the century they're not art in any meaningful sense so people are knocking them over and they're having fun and people like hey let's knock over in Columbus let's knock over the founding fathers let's knock over a US Grant which I mean I get what today I wouldn't do that I wouldn't knock over I wouldn't knock over a grant statue but I can't really blame anybody for doing whatever they want because like I said all we're doing is determining the moral morality of the action because the question of whether it's an effective or meaningful thing is beside the point because we couldn't stop them if we wanted to nobody can stop anybody from doing anything because nobody is ordering anyone to do anything because there's no structure the hope of 0:5:13 this Bernice campaign in my mind the big hope was to give structure to the the burgeoning alienation with with capitalism as it's being practiced in this country and sadly it did not have last long enough and then it ran headlong into the social isolation of Kovan to do that and now people are once again trying to re reimagine a practice without without a movement and without coordination coordination is the most important part coordination is what takes the numbers the raw numbers and makes them effective coordination was what makes it possible for you to do thing like shut down the ports like they did last week in San Francisco but that's because that's a ***** Union and it's a radical Union one of the most radical unions in the country still yeah the dockworkers there Gus halls old union communist party hotbed throughout the 20th century now we the rest of the country doesn't have that and 0:6:15 so something like pulling down a statue feels like it's it's it's doing something but it's not really I mean you could pull down statues as part of celebration of a new power of taking put coming in and changing you know the the cultural matrix the cultural value system but pulling down the statues doesn't make that happen it's a result of the fact that we've totally confused the symbolic illness and the material realms and we really do think because we operate almost exclusively in our lives at the symbolic level that ***** with the symbolic order will somehow filter down to change the material conditions and it don't work that way changes changes that appear that that occur purely at the symbolic and cultural level will be recuperated always by the material conditions if they don't change so that's why it's always a 0:7:18

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

bummer to see something like okay now we're all going to talk about statues and who should pull down and who should go up I'm actually with Matt Bruenig and the idea that there shouldn't really be statues of individuals that's kind of messed up really I mean you're turning this person into a god I mean that's what they did isn't they've been a statue of like Caesar or ***** Titus or something they were that was part of the beautification of the Emperor's the only humans the only humans that should have statues are fictional characters like Robocop and the Fonz or local heroes like some guy who like assembled a really big ball of twine or you know save some babies for a from a from a well or something I mean my god you know do you really think humans make history individually what are you 12 we are all merely able to operate in the narrow confines given to us by our place and time and births the idea 0:8:22 that any the people individuals make history no they make that individuals make history but not as they please this mark set and but anyway so I don't really care about the statutes either way I don't care if we get rid of every statue David Roth is pointing out they're not even good to look at their base they're almost always the most boring part of any public public art installation abstract statues tend to be much more interesting than ones of specific people but the degree to which the moment becomes about defending or condemning the removal of statues is the degree to which people have given up on changing the actual conditions and turned them into a fight over symbols a culture war is it worth and I could very well see a world where by November the entirety of this moment of unrest and revolt has been boiled down to a yes/no question about like should we get rid of Mount Rushmore or but 0:9:23 it doesn't have to be that way things can change things are always changing I'm just saying right now it's not a good development that I'm not personally terribly thrilled with it and it's it certainly doesn't speak to strength it speaks to confusion and and powerlessness but that is the defining characteristic of Americans so it makes sense I will say that the re-litigating the Civil War and what caused it I'm always up for that because that's one where it's like really a slam dunk like there's no way to argue with it if there's only the only way you can make it arguable is if you decide to pull some sort of rhetorical trick and change definitions or something the sectional crisis in 0:10:25 America that led to the Civil War was caused by a very one thing above all else that on the continent of the United States the land the ritual a black soil that allowed for mass cultivation of staple cash crops not staple crops cash crops like tobacco and cotton was largely confined to the southern states and the thing about cash crops is in a context like America right where you've cleared out the native inhabitants and you have this huge tracts of free real estate as tim the only way that you can get that you can create an economy of scale there that will make growing something like cotton or tobacco that profitable is if you have basically free or low or incredibly 0:11:28

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

low cost labor and the problem with that from colonial like a of the perspective of of the comp of the colonizers was even if they wanted to use colonizers to do that they couldn't abundance that kind of abundance in real estate as it were there's no way in hell that you could pay people enough to do the work because it sucks it's ***** terrible the reason that they were able to put all those rips into the dark satanic Mills is that they did closed all the free pasture lands before that they people had no condition they had nowhere to go all the land was owned they had nothing to do but work in the factories in a colony no no colonists could ever be made to work picking cotton at a price that would make picking that cotton worth picking worth worth creating a profit for the investor for the person who the aristocrat who owned the land because they could just leave they could just go get they'd say ***** you I'll go over the village I'll go over the thing and I'll just I'll live in the fitnah in the Hills I'll grow corn and I'll make whiskey just like they did in the north just like the small colonists in the north and in Appalachia the person who's doing that that work has to have no choice they have to have nowhere to go so hey if their skin brands them as part of a class that is unfree labor then they don't have any options they have to work for whatever they have to work for for on the terms of their owner as it were because they've been pulled out of there they're where they're from the first generation slaves that no no English language total disorientation across the land and then put into a place where there's nowhere to go because if you're there people know you're not supposed to be and that's the thing that they could never have done to any colonists and that's why indentured servitude kind of went away over time because they say ***** you and that's where it all started from like everyone West Side West like oh it was a tariff said whatever it's like well yeah but why did the South not want Terrace because they were an export economy because they were exporting cotton like the fillet that was it because they it was a class it was a classic a Latta fundus situation where you had these these decadent plantation owners with no interest in seeing development they didn't care about roads and schools and any of that ***** they wanted profits for them and that meant low tap tariffs so that they could so that they could pay as little as possible for imports in the north they have industry because they didn't have those huge swathes of bottom land that could be turned into slave plantations people had to work as the yeoman farmers the flinty New England farmers so-called flinty because New England soil is basically rocks so everything that comes out of it all the conflicts all the conflicts that you can point to and say wasn't slavery was X it wasn't slavery was Y they all emanate from that structural material reality then assess the necessity of slave labor to make plantation agriculture viable over time that changes is the mechanics change or whatever but at the in the early stages when you screech the structures that then become reapered

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

self-reproducing social orders which the South created very quickly that wasn't the case and so that means that during the Civil War the Union was the progressive side I mean if you're talking about good guys or bad guys that's dumb because that doesn't really apply historically that's not really a thing for the most part and in terms of like grants sweep like individuals can behave virtuously but but for the most part states don't they operate from self what they perceive as self-interest and so you have different self-interest between the northern and sort of political class the hegemonic political class of North in the southern political class hegemonic political class this office remember there are tons of white Southerners who didn't want to break away and in fact fought the Confederacy and resisted it being drafted and and in the case of western Virginia literally seceded from it and those places coincidentally where the places where plantation agriculture was least prevalent because it was too hilly was too rocky wherever there were mountains in the south eastern Carolina's of the western carolinas eastern tennessee kentucky western virginia northern met northern hmm even in the deep deep south there were huge pockets of resistance to the confederacy in northern ie but the America was the progress of the United States the union was the progressive force and I think like there's there is this sort of like too clever by half leftist moves sometimes to say a lot of this actually you see with like black radicalism and stuff that doesn't want to give the white man any credit which hey I understand not want to give white people any credit for anything but where it says oh the north was actually just trying to clamp down and impose like its industrial capitalist hell economy on the rest of the country and the thing is is that that didn't really exist yet in 1860 it was still in it's in it was still proto I mean the vast majority of America of the cotton that was made in the south went to Europe went to England specifically because that's where the industrialization hurt started earliest and that's where it was most intense that's where the the capacity for turning raw cotton into finished linen whatever was was most advanced the u.s. didn't become an industrial economy really until after the Civil War for the same reason that the British did the war is a capitalist is a war tends to in the modern context accumulate capital in such a way to to to boost all of the the present but the present conditions the present progressive moves towards industrialization not like if you have a process of industrialization it is radically accelerated by war by the strike by the state investment in industry that comes with fighting a war we were made into an industrial capitalist society by the Civil War the same way that the Napoleonic Wars are what made England into the paramount industrial power of the 19th century but nobody knew that at the time guys like Lincoln weren't fighting for industrial hegemony they were fighting for the Whig ideal which was the small holding farmer in equal competition with are in an equal position with all other strata of society

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

with when it comes to rights and abilities and in an equal position with anyone who would hire him because you could get land and of course this is all based on expert for exportation of Native American land it's all based on the the the and that is the foundational difference between the United States and and the European countries were always comparing ourselves to the cultural all the cultural distinctions come from the reality of a continents worth of land that has been decided is free because the people who are on it aren't really people as they as Tim Robinson would say on they so I think usually they're not really supposed to be here it's ok that's what that's what makes America what it isn't the Whig idea was like I said if you get rid of slavery and then white man is not competing with slaves and this became eventually the hegemonic belief of of white northerners generally including Democrats which is what led to the Democratic Party breaking up in 1860 is that they would not accept a southern candidate they would the northern Democrats would not accept the the southern half of the party dictating their candidate which before they would have been fine with but by 1860 the the sectional crisis and specifically the border war in Kansas had really changed that and and white people white men in the north we're becoming more and more aware of the idea that they were in competition in some way with slavery as a economic institution and so they they were like no we don't want that the Whig idea that Lincoln ended up taking to the White House was you get rid of slavery and every every man will have the freedom to either engage in profitable work for an employer or if they don't like those conditions they can ***** off and be a yeoman farmer because hey look what we just did with Homestead Act I mean that the Homestead Act was America's land reform agenda the kind of thing that would have been impossible in in any European country without a war and and the thing that led to most of the right-wing coos in Latin America in the night in the 20th century was land reform we were able to do it because the people we were export braiding land from weren't existing stakeholders like United Fruit or whatever in Central America in the 50s they were Native American tribes weren't part of what we consider to be the polity and so they could be pushed aside and that gave this that opened these huge expanses and that created this this notion that hey we can have like an egalitarian the the Jeffersonian model made real but of course over the course of the war to defend that you create this industrial behemoth that pretty much that in the decades after the Civil War swallows everything and then I think what a lot of people do is they look backwards through that lens and say this was inevitable and everyone at the time I knew they were doing this and neither of I don't I hope nobody was thinking that out I'm saying that like slaves couldn't resist their enslavement of course they did but it was sure it was it was a categorically different thing to try to withhold labor as an enslaved person with with your with your color branding your position as one as a slave then a colonist who's like hired who would hypothetically be hired to pick cotton and then could literally just walk off whenever he wanted to if he wasn't getting enough money to make it worthwhile to do and there was no and there was no way that could have worked because the thing about those those large-scale cash crop industries is that the actual work was awful I mean cotton wasn't even the worst of sugar was honestly one of the most nightmarish existences possible being a slave at a sugar plantation there's not enough money you could pay a free person to make them do that especially in a condition where they could of material abundance where they could find their I saw this travel stimulus thing god that's so funny just trip here's here's a tax credit to go on a vacation well I do think a Democrat would have come up with that one oh it's so good and of course it's not even a free money it's a goddamn tax credit which means you have to have four grand that you don't that you cannot see until next year in your tax return wild as we know the four kovin will have something like half of Americans don't have $500 to go through an emergency situation and yet know they're gonna do it so that everybody who is four grand to sit to not be in their bank account for a year or more and to go on vacation when the goddamn virus is still everywhere when it's going like wildfire through all of the red states as anyone could have predicted the whole time we were sitting sitting tight here in New York and all the ***** rubes were yuk-yuk in the reply was just wait and now the boom could have predicted except everyone that's what's happening so you're saying hey you guys go into the heart of a plague outbreak or come from one to a place that doesn't have one one way or another make sure to mix it up make sure to mix it up you could just give people the money you could keep into the money which would stimulate local economies and that would even if echt places that have a tourist based economy because people still live there and they still have to live you know buy things but it's harder because they don't have income well your place the income how about that with actual money oh dear okay can you imagine can you but mcsally's cooked she's gonna go down as like an all-time loser losing losing and elected to a seat losing it then get up pointing to a different seat and then oh yeah Scott run Scott Brown won election mcsalley was just appointed I do like the idea of giving people four grand that they can only spend on a vacation I mean that would be dumb - you should just keep people money without strings attached you should always just be keep as long as we're in this hell world of Hell economy and you know as long as as long as we're just at the level of demanding you know redistribution rather than of money rather than power for the love of God just give people money strings attached but the idea of giving them people four grand but they have to take a vacation I would love to just see what people did with it people

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

who'd never taken a vacation before they're not gonna let that because it's like you either use it or you don't get it so it's like whoo you know ***** it let's do it and people who've never taken like never gotten on an airplane before or whatever are people who would never think to travel are now doing it where would you go I mean 0:26:56 yeah like it would be like a Brewster's Millions situation and that would be awesome I mean if we're gonna have we're gonna be wacky have fun let's go all the way like the tax the tax incentive thing is awful cuz yes just it's just the same rich ***** will go on vacation anyway only now they get to do it for free make people spend the money on a vacation real money like give it to them in a form of like a out of like a debit card that's only accepted at certain places like it's only accepted by Airlines you know the same way like a whit card is limited you can't buy hot food or whatever can only buy airline tickets and hotels and like restaurants in I do love the idea of somebody taking 4 grand to go like just themselves 4 grand to go to Wisconsin Dells and just live like an absolute maniac at the Dells like just tipping tipping tipping the kid at 0:27:59
the Tommy Bartlett thrill world when you come in demanding backstage access at Noah's Ark to see where they but I think that's that mean that and that would be such a perfect emblematic moment like the country is clearly teetering on the edge of some sort of significant I don't want to say collapse because that does sound alarmist and institutions like these often are more resilient than you think they are the like I've often supported out the world economy still needs America to be the employer of last of the consumer of last resort but it we're still clearly in a freefall away from even the meager status the meagerly satisfying and in fact mostly miserable status quo that we were slowly coming acclimatized to even that's going away and in the meantime just have everybody go on vacation go in a state subsidized vacation like 0:29:2 like Russian factory workers going to the ***** Black Sea I'm like a package deal with everyone else on their shift yeah that'd be funny take for granted Cuba then just like give it to the government China has been building counter hegemony has it because it doesn't really seem to me that right now China is basically just at a joined hegemony I mean they have there's still like geopolitical rivalry between the United States and and the US or the United Sates of China but it seems to me that it's mainly over who gets to be in charge of the hegemony which is different than 0:30:5 like the I wouldn't I want to find like the shittiest tourist spot in America a place where no one would ever go like oh you know what'd be funny go to ***** go to the goddamn corn palace and swall south or wall drug that's it go to wall drug in South Dakota one of the stupidest chintzy it's ***** awful lame tourist attractions in the entire country if anyone doesn't know what I'm talking about it's actually a genius of marketing so they're in South Dakota there's one I forget which one but there's a highway that runs along like the southern track of it that if you're going

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

cross-country is usually I was going I was driving cross I was driving halfway across Irish I'm from Wisconsin to Washington State and the way to do that fastest is you 0:31:6 just cut through a highway that just goes all the way straight across southern the south quarter of South Dakota it is the most the most desolate empty stretch of road I have ever encountered in the country and I've driven cross-country several times I've been through Kansas I've been through a lot of very empty up into the high desert nothing is as desolate feeling as it is genuinely like empty you know just fields fields no animals even feel snow cops I didn't see a cop on the highway the whole time I got ***** pulled over five minutes after I got in Wyoming though so your drive is incredibly featureless and so on the way when you're going east to west there are a bunch of billboards I I don't know like every 50 miles or hundred miles or so say 0:32:8 coming up exit whatever wall drug wall drug and you just see them as you're driving it's the only thing you see is wall truck exit up coming and you by the time you go through enough of South Dakota you've been broken down mentally so much by the monotony that you've built up while drunk in your head as some sort of paradise so of course we stopped at waldron even though we didn't have to their whole thing was free ice water now we go there and it's just a giant drug store that's like old timey western themed and has like you know the walkways the thoroughfare walkways with you know the wood and it's got the overhang it's like an old-timey like a Western set only it's just a giant drug store with like a bunch a shit-ton of a souvenirs for like the 0:33:9 Black Hills and ***** and ***** like oh look it's it's refrigerator magnets shaped like all the states and then there's a couple of animatronics sort of like a country Bear Jamboree only they do not go on you gotta like press a button and I was in there for maybe 10 minutes and we got out that's like that's ***** so lame I hate it I want to take my four thousand dollar check from Donald Trump and go to wall drugged just like give it to them and say can I stay here can I just like sleep here in wall drug for four grand and like just take out a wheel wheelbarrow full of stuff they probably but no the pimp move I've never driven through its sense but the pimp move and this is I think what really distinguishes the alpha mindset from the beta and I was a beta at the time if you drive through South Dakota for the first time you've not been to 0:34:10 wall drive you drive through South Dakota you take that whole area then you don't stop that's the Alpha that's the Chad posture I did I was the Virgin I learned my lesson but sadly I could never prove it because now I know and you often see bumper stickers because they sell bumper stickers say while drunk oh then people get them and put them on their car I think because they have such a deep association now between wild drug and their trip because they spent like a solid day just staring at billboards instead of all drug and they feel like they're now in some way their trip and wall drug are the same and they've never left wall drug they go into the bathroom

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

of wall drug and there's an attendant there going you've always been here you've always been with wall drug yeah I stayed at a I stayed at a motel in kodoku South Dakota which is by wild coincidence and I didn't even realize this until years later 0:35:12 that's also where where Michael Clarke Duncan's character has to get picked up by the FBI during the gather the crew montage in Armageddon anyway state of motel there it was one motel in an inner sand on an off-ramp no town it wasn't part of you know where you see like 15 best westerns and La Quinta is or whatever and there's a McDonald's and ***** friendlies in a chuckle ***** just off-ramp sinned basically like a ***** cinderblock low-slung Motel and that's it and they had a screen it had a glass sliding door and it smelled like someone had died in it not been murdered but yeah South Dakota Black Hills are nice Mount Rushmore Lane not just because it's a bunch of presidents on sacred Indian land although that is disgusting it is 0:36:14 also chintzy and shitty stuff like Rock Rushmore really does is the wart like because Mount Rushmore was a huge project of the time I mean obviously it took years it was a massive undertaking it gathered America's imaginations this is an interesting fact going Gutzon Borglum the non-american who designed Mount Rushmore when he was in the United States he became very very taken with southern culture as it were and he helped us he designed Stone Mountain there which is another edging on the side of a bluff of a bunch of lead Davis and Jackson and he joined the KKK but anyway this is like a symbol of American culture right like like when the anglo-saxon weirdo types like with women when the deck went when the Western architecture type guys show their pictures of Don Draper and they're like what we what we used 0:37:15 to have like their idea of culture ***** like Mount Rushmore and it ***** sucks it's lame it's really small and it's it's just it's faces on a mountain I mean other than like the kind of ghoulish you know Alan Moore style like evil ritual magic of putting that on the land of the sacred land of a people who'd been massacred by the people on those ***** on that like there's a dark Majesty to that there's like an evil there's kind of an armbar mark Frye feeling to it that sort of curdled curdled sarcasm and cynicism that's at the heart of authoritarianism the and I literally love to see some tanks well you know what I would like to see if somebody's gonna destroy Mount Rushmore and someone's gonna destroy Stone Mountain I would love it but if it's 0:38:17 like some corporate PR move you know like coca-cola presents Stone Mountain and they just like put Donald Glover there next to them to balance it out or something an outcast that will suck what would be awesome is if those things got destroyed with some good old-fashioned tanker house role in some Abrams tanks set up the shop and just blow them up like that old newsreel shot of that out well that big swastika I think in Nuremberg getting blown up by a cannon you know why that would be cool because if you've got tanks that means you have control of the state

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

and you are instituting a new rule at the material level and you're blowing up those old monuments to a dead Society because you are building a new one that is the iconoclasm that I'm would love to see and and the the current one just feels like a very honestly kind of sad substitution yeah all got strafing run of a-10 warthogs with the ***** rook ***** but you need to get the tanks first so next time you imagine me I really want to get rid of that statue it's like you really want to get rid of it if you really want to get rid of it you'll do it from a position of authority so that your your you are enshrining a new order a new just order you're not painting over the mossad of a rotten old order which is all we're trying to do see that's why I don't like that like that that's always been the thing that's annoyed me or I guess not even ignore me Hume used me about the content of word tanki either as something that people use as a term of abuse or is something that people solve described with were the tanks what tanks are you referring to there's no tanks 1956 the so they were talking about Soviet tanks rolling into her Budapest new tanks are you talking about now I mean some people would say like Assad or maybe like the Chinese or something like that and I guess like that's an argument I don't buy it but it's an argument but unless you have that belief that like no it's the PRC that's an actual like socialist counter hegemony with billionaires that's doing actual colonialism but never mind they're all secret communists if you want to believe that that's fine at least there's a tank in your mind that exists in the world world that somebody could drive somewhere for anyone else it's like there's no tanks you're assuming a tank so that means that you're like operating from the assumption of a party in power ie the Communist Party of the Soviet Union controlling a state and a geo geo strategic sphere of influence and managing it like in the game Twilight Struggle your ideology is from the position of maintaining that position that is not the current position of the left in this country or the West or anywhere I would argue except for blue maybe maybe you can argue Cuba and I think I mean they have power within their own country but it's so constrained by us you know but they were able to kick the ***** South Africans out of Namibia so maybe I'll say can't Cuba but like they can't really it's there aren't unrealistic they're at Bastion but they cannot be a counter hegemon cuz they're so small they're too tiny well guys their tanks aren't gonna be able to roll up on our tanks for example we have to take over the tanks we got to get on the tearing down statues somebody's asking tearing down statues is something I would say it can be something if it does what the what's the person writing suggested which is give people a sense of possibility changing to give them a sense that things can be different but if it's just a sense of that once again we're not anywhere it has to arise it has to that feeling that feeling if things are possible has to be channeled into some sort of container something that imply that that where decisions can be where a class of at where a plan of action where an actual strategy can be deliberated agreed to and then carried out that has to exist that has to be made so pulling down statues gets people thinking this is worth enough time and energy and investment into into making those structures but then it's useful if it says hey we pull down these statues 0:43:38 maybe that means we can pull down these other bigger statues hey we pull down the statute of these Confederates maybe that means we can pull down the statues of these unions our generals because they were racist too and they killed a lot of Indians as well and and America is bad and then maybe we can pull down you know and then you got Shawn King saying hey let's also start destroying Shawn King is not right by the way if you think Shawn penis Shawn King is right you were either a ***** or you are like him a cop I'm sorry sorry nope I mean you can argue why that's 0:44:43 theoretically right all day but once again you are building the world's stupidest and most pointless ship in the world's most fragile bottle you're in the real world what is what is advanced how would you go about doing that and what would be advanced by doing it you answer me someone in here who thinks that's a good idea answer me one of the thing is is that people justify that these weird libidinal indulgences by saying yeah but they deserve it and I got it wrote Sean Penn here deserves not got nothing to do with it nobody deserves anything none of us have free will to each other like I said we all have free will our selves because we are ignorant of what is making us do what we're doing but from outside of ourselves looking at everyone else no one else has free will because we can determine why they're doing what they're 0:45:44 doing so getting mad at everybody in talking about deserve and vengeance on a personal level just reifies this all as a culture war because where else can you fight out these sort of battles about about points of etiquette essentially social etiquette you can say that they're important than they are but they boil down to ways of acting in public which is etiquette how do you adjudicate that at any level other than the cultural that's the only place you'll ever be able to negotiate those those those arguments and they won't filter down because anything the challenge is from the from the culture gets ***** recuperated until it can't by cus of overspill that comes because because people channel it people create a collective will out of out of a class consciousness and affect change by confronting capital by denying it the 0:46:45 ability to extract profit and requiring it to change the conditions in which capitalism operates to either the point but the thing that people shouldn't do and then I see too many people do is just decide to write everything off because of these facts as though we don't live in a highly mediated society as though this isn't always the hardest problem isn't always going to be to read socialize people who have been D socialized by their entire lives and that this is exactly how things would be be challenged like the rejoinder about the protest that is always most baffling to me as

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

when people say look look at all these corporations that like it and look at all these brands and celebrities and famous rich people who are co-opting it that's like they're trying to recuperate it that's what capitalism they might succeed but pointing out that God and that's the other thing it's like someone says maybe this makes people feel like you know things are possible but look where the movement is happening like now we've literally gone to another level of abstraction away from actual statues in real physical space to now television shows and not even new ones doing a Cultural Revolution about 20-year old programs that ain't good that's not progress that is more flight from the lack of accountability you factor not none of us are accountable to each other because we've not we have not invested any any symbols or people or institutions with authority over us which we're gonna have to do at some point we're all going to have to if if you've left coalesce isn't anything meaningful this country at some point we are all going to have to submit in that we are going to have to give up some control over our lives some control over of what we do some control over when we do it some control over ourselves to someone else in the form of a organization that will have central discipline because that's the only way you get to do kinky you you can apply force it's through coordination otherwise it just uh no directed force is is destroyed in piecemeal only unified coordinated force can push through you guys never see you guys ever see finding dory my most moving scenes in Finnish cinema history in my opinion it's when towards the end when dory and the Albert Brooks are swimming in a big sea of dumbass fish that are just all going lip-lip and they get caught in a ***** one of those big ol industrial fishing nets and they're getting pulled up and they're all gonna get Oh God we're gonna get turned into fish sticks and all the fish are swimming crazily wildly and against the the net but by their own instinct and then Dory and Albert Brooks get them to stop freaking out and they go in one direction they all swim down at this in this appointment in the same way and the ***** net breaks off of the ***** rope that is that is the labor movement that is the left that's the modern left and when it succeeds anyway and that's the goal that's the entire thing Finding Nemo whatever if you're not pushing in the same direction it's just gonna get it's just your your individual effort will see and that's the thing we can't communicate to each other but the thing is we are I really think a big part of it is it's not just it isn't just that we're all isolated physically and that we don't have like we don't have hegemonic institutions of communication that we can like invest enough belief into to credit what they're saying so that we can build like a ideology that or a building class consciousness like simultaneously by listening the same thing because not enough of us are listening to the same thing with the same amount of credulity that is a problem but I'd say another problem is that we have been too turned into such individuals we we fetishize our individual desires so much we have been had it rained into us so much that freedom is our ability to indulge our desires like that's why you see a lot of people correctly say capitalism isn't freedom because you are forced to work you know and and you'd be freer if you had more vacation and you had more control of your workplace also that's true but it only begs the question of what freedom means and the unexamined answer is what I want to do but of course you don't want to do it you want to do Navas want to do what we want to do we don't we do what we have been and that means 0:52:57 that we bound up with our notion of the casaya t we want a lot of things that are coping mechanisms for the society we have things that wouldn't be necessary in a new society we're building and that we can let go of in the immediate moment if we're reorienting ourselves around a project an actual project that we wanted to see executed we can kind of let drop those things but nobody wants to drop it nobody wants to drop it because we don't have anything that we really believe in enough to invest that much faith into to give up something that till this point has really been helping us just helping us live with the horror of the world around us not realizing that if we drop that the work will fill the hole the submission will be the freedom because you will feel fulfilled you will feel the sort of satisfaction that what the other 0:53:58 thing you used to fetishize only gave you a fate a very faint echo of but you have to have faith to make the first jump and nobody believes in anything the problem we all live with it's Norman Rockwell said the name that's the name of his mom that's the name of his famous painting of the was her name the girl who the desegregated I think the New Orleans School District I'm actually favorite kind of french fried I have yet to encounter in a French fry that's better than the McDonald's french 0:54:59 fry I consider that sui generis and a piping-hot McDonald's french fry is genuinely delicious Rubi Bridget's that's the right name one of the most chaotic things about amber is that she likes like room-temperature McDonald's french fries which is blows my mind the hot ones and I know yeah I probably had better like individually but just as a category my experience with them as better than my experience with any other discrete category of fry I do kind of like the string the shoe strings I like them shoe string II I like the crispy I don't like the thick I don't like steak fries I don't like aware it's got like the Pappy potatoey flavor in the middle I crisp I never get fries at 0:56:5 Popeye's because I don't like the fact because I only get the because Popeyes why would you get anything as aside but the mashed potatoes man he ready for tryouts what of his fit whatever the few moments he had fun in his presidency handsome handsome handsome quarterback hamburger party the truck when he got to ride the truck when they put him on the aircraft carrier and he wore the uniform and when he gave the medal to the hero dog those were those were moments that were nice but the thing is he hasn't thought about him since they happened he was happy for a second and then he was thinking about how unfair Greta Van Susteren was to him that's and then it's gone so like he doesn't even remember those days I love Culver 0:57:8 Culver is a great Wisconsin excellence right there butter burgers you know it Oh put the fries in the mashed potatoes okay now you're getting interesting get an extra side all right I might do it I definitely pity trunk-trucks miserable I mean you should you should have like some sort of you should try to extend empathy to every human being because every single person is only where they are through the happenstance of their life what who what and when they encountered people in places and things and because their their response to those that might seem to be self generated was really just a reaction that is soaked that is that was bubbled up in the subconscious that has never even thought of that was beyond thought so even though it's totally determined with but within the psyche it's completely invisible and mysterious so nobody's nobody's where they are for any malevolence within them I mean the 0:58:12 malevolence builds over time the level of cistern thwarts but it's all in the in the in the context of where and when they they existed so yeah I emphasize with Hitler I empathize with everybody a little bit but the thing is because no one because within Hitler if you're imagine you're Hitler you imagine you're Trump you don't know you don't know how determined you are you can choose to break out of that you can choose war to turn towards good turn towards the truth work turns towards universal humanity turned towards an awareness of like what is what is to be good what the good represents as in like the the fundamental union of all beings the fundamental oneness of all the universe you can turn towards that at any minute and if you don't you ***** up and so you should be sanctioned and stopped from doing bad things 0:59:14 and punished maybe you learn and if you don't at least you've been kept away from other people but it doesn't mean that you have to hate personally it doesn't mean that you have to deny someone anyone the benefit of trying to extend your mind into theirs with their experience and try to piece it together I mean Trump's very easy to piece together his dad his parents were monsters because his parents were essentially the the father and mother from the people under the stairs anybody seen that movie Shh the ***** suit blown away bone holes in the walls just complete Psychopaths who treated their children with monstrous abusive disdain the oh and he had a brother he had an older brother Fred jr. who who could not take it who couldn't take the pressure and because he was honestly I think a better person than Trump in that he responded better to the traumas of his birth and his business his 1:0:15 childhood left the family ended up becoming a pilot died of alcoholism but that was because he couldn't take what they had done to him whereas Donald just became like the whipped dog and now his entire life has been trying to get this fantasy monster this this ghoulish and if anyone has seen a picture of Fred Trump he is an actual walk

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

CUSHVLOG 39. MORE LIKE STATUE OF PUBERTY

living ski was a living skeleton to tell him he's good which will never happen and so he's been miserable every he's never been happy that sucks the thought of that somebody who can never have a moment who can never just exist for a second and not be beset by demons by by by insecurities by loathing and fear of others awful 1:1:16 yeah and French Trump's father did the same to him awful ***** crypto Nazi mother ***** the worst of the the the German authoritarian Prussian lineage those ***** impressions man those Sandy stiff-necked ***** Bavarians just want a party Bavaria just want to wear leather shorts and drink comically large Stein's of beer Russians want to take alright guys I'm done for today this is a good one Hitler was a Bavarian he was Austrian he didn't start in Munich yes but he never the Nazis never got the majority of the vote in Bavaria or any of the Catholic parts of Germany because of the center party which was explicitly Catholic he ran up all of his big margins and 1:2:17 Protestant parts of Germany anyway we'll talk more about that maybe in a different episode because it's very fascinating the like the electoral map of why Mr Germany very interesting Wow

Troll 2 II - It's Animated This Time

06.28.20

well if you'll notice I'm at a new angle it's because our producer Chris finally brought over his telescopic articulated phone holder so now we can do kind of more face to face as opposed to the weird downward angle let's sort of peel if we POV porn angle 0:1:4 I was using but what this really means is that now it'll be much easier for me to do another grilling stream because the first time the reason I kind of decided I don't want to do this anymore because it was too hard to pay attention to where the camera was keep it up and what's going on in the grill but and yeah I drop it all the time too so now I've got the fence over here I'm gonna post it up on the fence I get a nice bird's-eye view of my head and the grill and we can just go through a whole will do a little grill and chill so I'm so I was doing what I usually do not alone and I was thinking about the monitor and the Merrimack for those of you who don't know what that was it was the most famous naval battle of the Civil War which doesn't have a lot of great naval battles in it mostly running blockade running a like fleets running 0:2:5 through like fort systems like New Orleans or Mobile damn the torpedoes full steam ahead there wasn't a lot of you know like broadside on broadside because the Union had such overwhelming naval superiority so what that meant was technological what work around force multipliers to make up for the fact that they had so fewer ships so many fewer ships and so they did very innovative things like they built a ***** submarine the CSS Hunley which was designed to be able to scho under water to a blockade ship attached a naval mine and then leave and blow up the ship and they tried it and they successfully blew up and sank a Union blockade ship but at the cost 0:3:8 of the entire boat crew so if those guys had had the if those Confederates had had the faith of like an Isis recruit they might have actually been able to keep doing that if they've been able to found 12 guys ready to turn the crank and blow up in exchange for what I mean it was a good trade one it was like 12 guys in a little metal turd blew up a ship and brought down what like 300 Yankee sailors and completely took out of commission a ship of line and so the other thing they did is they experimented with putting metal iron on the sides of the ships so that the damn cannons would stop just staving in the planks of the wood and sinking the ships and what that led them to

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

do was they when they seized I believe it was Newport News in Virginia there was a 0:4:10 u.s. ship that was abandoned by the by the naval it was abandoned by the US Navy as the the Confederacy came closer and it was called the USS Merrimack and what they did is they covered it with slanting ironclad iron cladding that was designed to be able to absorb the blow of a artillery piece and then hopefully have it ricochet offered so the thing when it was a water a boat looked like just sort of a trapezoid with guns poking out of it there was you couldn't really were no crew members it was all under behind and of course this time US Navy ships and Confederate Navy ships all Navy ships kind of looked vaguely like Master and Commander open deck wooden sides and wouldn't keel or whatever and folk Souls and such and gunnels all that's wood and then the masts and you know the cannons underneath the deck this is 0:5:13 totally unlike that and so it rolled up it steamed up to the mouth of the James River in Hampton Roads Virginia where observing the blockade of the southern ports and southern water lists keep them from getting selling cotton in the Europe and getting supplies and money and stuff from Europe or anywhere else the ship rose up looking like this weird metal block floating in the water couldn't even see the crew it didn't even look like it was being manned by people and remember this is a time when you know there wasn't a lot people didn't interact with the mechanical reality very often there was there was obviously there were obviously trains but train travel was still relatively rare people mostly traveled by shanks mare or by horse so this ship 0:6:15 rolls up and starts shooting at him blowing holes into these boats and they fire back but everything just glances off of them and they sink a ship and they they disabled another one on the shoal on the another one while trying to escape runs aground on a sandbar they're out of ammo they're gonna come back the next day fish are off sews imagine your crew on that boat her on that ship waiting a sitting duck to get annihilated by this monstrosity this thing that cut looks like it's coming out of a different world and then the next morning can you imagine trying to sleep the light comes up on Hampton Road and there's the Merrimack but then in between you and the Merrimack is this weird little floating teardrop plant-like thing this metal I 0:7:18 almost shaped with a little a little metal box on top of that much smaller than the metal box and much lower and closer to the waterline just poking out like the hump of a of a killer of a humpback whale or something and so now you gotta be thinking well what the ***** is this where'd this thing come from I mean you've already seen the Merrimack obviously the doors of perception are opening a little bit here now where more things are possible on this earth then you said thought maybe but now this thing what the ***** it didn't even look like a boat that everyone caught the the classic description was she's boxed out a raft and of course modern readers you see that and I go what the ***** is a cheese box well cheese used to come in

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

boxes okay they didn't have plastic packaging for things and you weren't just gonna have like you're not gonna just take cheese off the floor like off a shelf hold in your hand so there came in a little box and add a little one little kid poop poking out a little slip and I'm sure you're holding your breath and then it moves out to meet the Merrimack and then it starts shooting at it and they spend the day just blasting cannon shells off of one another in a way in a way that no no contemporary wooden worship would be able to take and at the end of it there was an explosion in the in this in the gunsight of the of the monitor and it had to withdraw but Merrimack was out of ***** ammo anyway and it had to withdraw and they saved the boat they saved that the they saved the Union blockade ship that had been run aground and I just think about that sometimes I think about witnessing that either on one of the other ships in the in the Hampton Roads or from the land because there were people there somebody I'm on Twitter said it must have been something like seeing a kaiju fight like I do battle and like there had to have had substantive it had to have felt otherworldly it had to have felt like there had to have been some notion of anyone involved in that moment that something he was shifting that they were and I think about how like those moments have been so hyper normalized that now we don't even notice them you know like we tweet weep anyone who's alive now has seen something on the psychically disorienting level of watching the Merrimack in the monitor of trade blows and Hampton Roads every couple of years probably but there's just so damn many but yeah because I think it's hard to find another moment that disorienting because I mean you are already in a civil war for God's sake so that's so the ground was clearly unstable beneath your feet but they have that kind of thing burst in the middle of it somebody I saw a picture painting that someone Japanese like silk artisan or like the silk or the silk screens or whatever they did like to commemorate historical events and I saw one of of the black of Matthew Perry's black fleet oh that by force open Tokyo to Western trade in the 1860s and the it's it's it's a Japanese style of wood print or whatever and it's got the Japanese looking guys with the kimonos and the samurai swords looking out onto the water and then just a big black trapezoid looking thing no people no no it's like you see this this rolling hill and these these flowingly robed figures and the ocean was the undulating tide and then these brutal angles and this unnatural black it's kind of felt like that I guess what I what I think about that is I just sort of I guess I envy being in a position where those sort of things aren't already predigested you know what I mean like I feel like as insane as everything has been in the 21st century and they've just been getting more insane by like that by exponentially almost none of them really except maybe nine eleven have felt in the moment like they were uprooting anything this gets to what Felix says the idea that everything keeps getting worse

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

everything's the work everything's the same but it's getting worse everything's shitty but just getting slowly worse even though it's the same what he's describing is that sense of having everything assimilated instantly by our our our awareness of the hyper moment that we're living in our consciousness of the the flow of the slipperiness of reality is such that things can't really throw us that way because we were instantly assimilating them into our understanding of how the world works these things just become instantly part of our understanding in fact we instantly as soon as we hear about them our brain goes overboard to convince ourself well of course this is going to happen and anyone who is surprised by it Wow what's wrong with you you didn't see this coming well I guess some people and I just like the idea of just being able to stand there on a sand dune and just watch something that has happened on earth and know that you're the first guess at this point you wouldn't want to get that feeling because it would have to be such a tremendous break that you and this is the thing I keep thinking about with the internet like I think I set out here a while ago you know we all just assumed MKULTRA stopped because they got bored with it or the results were inconclusive it just they ran out of experiments and they were never able to do a repeatable thing to create anything that could be useful out of it and that's just what we assumed because you know all the information we ever found out about MKULTRA was on the CIA's terms the initial the initial the majority of the documents were destroyed we only know about MKULTRA because documents in an auxiliary warehouse were uncocks identity under later I mean that doesn't inspire a lot of confidence that we can really say for sure we know what the progress of and what the findings of MKULTRA were and when you think about things like the Manson murders and and Tom O'Neill's book which is really really interesting and offers some tantalizing connections with the MKULTRA and the Manson murders and also litter and among the things he finds among the things he found was a letter from doctor jolly West who was like the ***** he is the Forrest Gump of MKULTRA and that he's there for all's like the nastiest ***** and what I like he he's it's he's human die him and he he answered directly to dr. Sidney Gottlieb who was the chief necromancer at the CIA and he's and at one point and this is after a very odd mysterious child murder had occurred at the army base where West was stationed and which he participated in interviewing the suspect who claims to not have no memory of committing the murder but who ended up confessing after to Jack Ruby in his jail cell and after he talked to West he was never coherent again in any other interviews but he wrote a letter to Sidney Gottlieb the Tom O'Neill found where he expressly says I have discovered a way to make people do things that they wouldn't otherwise do he says it and then when you realize it and then when you find out that he was also occupying real estate at the haight-ashbury free clinic where Manson well

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

Manson was there in San Francisco in the summer of love and where he was seen and where he took members of the family on a daily basis I mean it's circumstantial 0:16:34 but it's something it's something worth thinking about and the thing that makes me think about is what did MKULTRA turn into and you know you want to get you want to get baroque and you want to get high modernist you could say oh they're like pumping it into the water supply or chemtrails and we're all getting like a synthetic we're all getting like a propaganda dose of broadcast media that is then we're made more receptive to by a perfect a perfect recipe of psychopharmacological ingredients that long research and MKULTRA laboratories and field experiments like Manson like Frank Olson like maybe Jonestown like that city that town in France in the early 60s that is suspected to have been dosed entirely an entire town in France has for years been assumed to have been dosed by acid by unknown people and now recently there's a new CIA document on earth where they talked about field experiments I 0:17:38 mean they did those failed controlled experiments like midnight climax where they had sex workers dosed their clients and filmed what happened and tried for tried to like pump it in aerosolized into a party this is this is like with it with a significant statistically significant sample size of people and like that's why I think that that's a good an explanation for as any for things like the Mothman like when you look at the wild multiplicity of things that people in and around Point Pleasant West Virginia said they saw in 18 since 1966 and 67 it's not impossible to imagine that that was some sort of experiment and this time not just giving the mass and see what happens but giving them acid and then giving them a specific stimulus and seeing how they responded to it see if there was any sort of group cohesion around certain explanations like if they became susceptible to certain entreaties so you get 0:18:40 a CIA guy with a ***** like a hell it could be a helicopter or a frogman suit and you you give the town enough to LSD and then you see what happens but yeah so if you want to go high modernist you'd say that look I would say you want to get digital with it you want to get you want to get 21st century if the ***** Internet is that is the acid of the current MKULTRA variant if there is one the exam it's it's not like you have to pull the strings too hard to find the connection I mean the entire internet was a DARPA project it was a Defense Department pursuit I mean yes we get a lot of stuff courtesy of military military in fact most stuff we got in terms of big technological breakthroughs through intensive military investment that gets I don't 0:19:41 think we can assume that that's the only reason that that the internet was pursued like Oh accidentally created the Internet we just wanted to send missile plans to each other it's just when you see what the Internet has done in terms of creating an entire new plane of existence I don't think it's too much to say a new plane for human existence a new place a new dimension for humans to place their anima to place their

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

human essence to put their spirit their emotions their soul their ideologies there's your souls their Geist their new mana where they want to cram it and they can put it there I mean it's it's it has the same ability to to shape behavior and manners of thought 0:20:44 as a new religion but more because it's not section sectarian it's ecumenical it's truly Catholic and that it it is perceived as a platform framework like it's just it's just a thing for you to have fun on as opposed to a fully realized social space determined by capitalism and by the state that watch guards capitalism in which we're allowed to play out our desires which are of course totally shaped by the market and and where we can we can substitute human action and human communication and human organization now of course that doesn't mean that people should absolutely shun the Internet I mean acid which the CIA essentially introduced to the United States in 0:21:47 order to see how it could help to make people tractable and and you could argue that the acid influence on the American counterculture was negative in that it moved it alienated people away from the sort of militant solidarity that you would mean for an effective a political movement in favor of individualized like soul-searching but it also had I think positive effects I know personally in my life it has and so you take the good with the bad but I don't think it's anything to anything necessarily too far to just keep in mind that these structures are allowed to exist the way they are for a reason and when you have a straight line up like the demilitarization undergirding the internet it's it's its existence as an outgrowth of the military Keynesian state 0:22:51 I think that's a good reminder you know that's a good way to keep yourself from logging too much on its to know like this is the enemies domain yep you are and there's a total chance that like the forces they're unleashing here beyond they the ones that they can control and that's certainly true of ass like if I was if I if I wanted to do it not just a thing about the Mothman the whole eye point was that there were no be no explanation there would be interlocking narratives that would conflict with one another and reinforce one another none of which would be would be privileged or validated but one of the ones would be yeah it starts as the CIA dosing this town but 0:23:57 then their their their collective will to believe essentially creates a real Mothman like a Tulpa a psychic manifestation of this town of essentially of the Cold War because pleasant was built next to an underground munitions lab that was one of the big post-war or early twentieth-century employers in the area they made dynamite for the military the awareness of global brinkmanship and nuclear a nuclear war and sort of the doom cycle of military buildup they don't have that they're all tweaking of that at some psychic level even if they weren't aware of it and then they get dosed by acid by their own government to protect them from the Russians and give them a boogeyman what if they made it real but it's actually the manifestation of the very state that they owe their prosperity to the dark side the unspoken the shadow 0:25:1

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

figure of the virtuous yeoman Republic that we thought we lived in or that we think we live in consciously or at least back then they did probably in West Virginia who knows see if someone says well Hugh become real the same way I mean Hugh you can already argue the cue has been made real I'm of the opinion that the first cue post was probably a joke by an irony person and then the initial batch of proofs were by some hustlin right-wing forum dweller who figured out that they could make money from the back end by interpreting cue I mean there's there was apparently a video of one of these people accidentally logging on to cue using the cue name back when they were still putting cute proofs out and then they quickly realized they were on camera and turn it off and that seems very plausible but think most of the stuff that we now think of as cue cannon was not in any of the proofs like the stuff about JFK jr. that's all none of that is is cubed that's that's a cue Splinter that's that's that's Gnostic and now you've got cue members of cue cue believers are gonna be in Congress in the next session imagine they become an actual faction and they get and there's some member of like the intelligence community who wants enough of their miranne power that he feels safe to come out could be a whistleblower and go in front of Congress and claim to be Q and and denounced the deep state at that point can you say that he isn't I'm trying to think of some of the other good hue Gnostic Gospels things that were pulled out of someone's ass and then everyone decided were I think the thing that all the ***** about Tom Hanks I think is not from Q because I don't think he's dropped of proof anyone I hear but they're still out there and it's totally self propelling now they're not even responding to the initial signal anymore like once the firm that's the difference between the difference between occult the real difference between occult and religion is that the fact the profit The Fountainhead either the deity or the the representative of the day of the or the wise man who founded it is still alive it's a cult he's dead and this thing's still around then it's a religion if it survives beyond the the the immediate charisma of its founder then it's durable enough to be a religion and I'd say because it's been so long since Q is actually posted at this point given the speed of internet he's effectively dead and Q still around so that means it's because these people are all now operating off of their own stuff like the Bible has been written now they're doing new stuff now they're doing commentaries now that writing their own versions of City of God the Summa Theologica the writing they're writing their own Vulgate they're writing their own their own Dead Sea Scrolls because at the end of the day what Q does is accused provides a psychic balm to the cognitive dissonance of living in a country that you love deeply and that it treats you like ***** and it sucks that is awful and it's terrible and bad and the thing is everybody's got to deal with that in some way the healthy way is to say it maybe this country isn't that great maybe it isn't being run

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

from my interests not for the interests of some global cabal but but by the interests 0:29:12 of but if you have certain ideological matrix that thought will never occur to you and so you have to do mental gymnastics to imagine some some American Mahdi showing up to right all the wrongs and put all of the evil people away and validate your your suffering your imagined suffering because most these people are not really suffering but the less you suffer the more slights hurt because it's all you feel so they're miserable they're in deep agony because of the country's failure to comport with their vision of it and they fill in the gap with cure like all the things that you see are all the public evil is mirrored by secret good which is of course the opposite of what really any kind of public good is mirrored by a deeper and more mature 0:30:14 more systematically a more and so yeah there's their new king all the underground pedophile pet layers and yeah one day they will emerge to judge the righteous and the guilty and if your name was written in the book of QED you shall have eternal life I mean it's just it's just like you could argue that it's like the third that's like a Great Awakening type sight it's like the third great awake it's it's like you could you could cite starting like maybe in the 70s at the beginning of the moral majority you could all you could track this whole revivification of political Protestantism don't like decrease AK relized cuz that's the thing like none of these people really believe in God they have no spiritual dimension to their life in they're entirely material Matar 0:31:18 and their vision of God it is is there is is Trump their vision of heaven is the villages or Sugarland Texas it's creating the material comfort to live now that's actually the pursuit of get heaven and and you could call this like the third Great Awakening but like it's a it's a deeper it's a deeper sleep really but it is a ravine implication of a new form of Protestantism that has shaken all of its spiritual fetters and become a total worship of the self and of the selfs material reward and material satisfaction it's it's no I'll I mean I'm sure they'd be mad if I told them they don't believe in God they think that heaven is like their ***** backyard barbecue and that only makes 0:32:19 sense if you do not have a spiritual dimension as in you do not imagine if you do not if you cannot extend like your imagination to a plane beyond this one that's the only way any notions of heat heaven or the sublime or God or oneness or unity or anything makes sense is if there is another dimension of perception and they don't have that so it's not it's not it's not a religion it's not a spiritual pursuit and the thing is is that that's it's evangelical Christianity but it's basically truth most Christians like most Catholics later like that now most everybody is because the secularization doesn't just affect your secular institutions that affects religious institutions as well 0:33:21 if you're substituting at every level material convenience and pleasure for any kind of social good then what room is there for I mean we have defined we have defined life as this is the accumulation of individual physical and emotional pleasure you could say that's not true but that's well that is how we have defined life liberty and the pursuit of happiness all that all that abstract ***** that could mean anything really given the different social context in this specific social context has come down to us now as as it must be the consumer of last resort for God's sakes of course this 0:34:23 is our ideology this country exists to consume that is the war'll of America in the world system is to consume be at the end of the line and eat the ***** leftovers and so that's why we have instead of having work worker control at because it is it's genuinely true Americans have a have more wealth and Americans make more money than Europeans do by a significant amount and they get instead the big long vacations you know and health care and you could say well it's not we didn't choose this and it's it's complicated but at a certain level because we're still all living this way and we're still all we're not in revolts we've accepted the logic of it at some level because we act it out even if we don't like it we acted out we accept the logic that it is consumption is the sum total of human pursuit no no spirituality can survive that nope no kind of spirituality can survive a world where and that is why socialism is 0:35:29 is dead and why it's everyone's just breaking their ***** arms trying to get some ***** mutt volts into the cadaver because socialism imagines as a baseline a social order where values other than consumption have been brought in where they have been where consumption is balanced and Americans have a very hard time even conceiving of that because they only see it as losing what they have because the gains are theoretical and their social and their intangible so people don't want to give it up and that's why as I said the other the last stream I think it was there's this tendency of people on the left to insist I got to bring my ball I got to bring my my whatever my personal system for sucker and and and pain alleviation is my 0:36:30 opiate which usually ends up being some sort of consumer desire because that's the country we live in I need to bring that along with me no deal but we're trying to build something where that wouldn't be necessary yeah but I don't know that I don't want I don't know I it's part of my identity now and if I if I give it up then I'm not going to be in charge of making the new world and and people like me are gonna be discriminated against even though we're defining we're talking about something that by definition wouldn't exist so people wouldn't be oppressed because it would not be it we need to go back to Hegel that is correct I gotta say guys the guy knew what he was I mean he's you know you down it's like it is really Marx and Hegel I 0:37:33 mean in practical political terms political economic terms Marx is where you start Hegel is it's more abstract but like if if if Marx turned Hegel on its head well then by definition Hegel is the other side it's the it's the feet or whatever the fun that's one thing and two sides of it they're both true and his description of the of the of this his notion of humanity as a being coming into consciousness of itself as a species

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

the way that a mind comes into consciousness of itself as an individual I think that's the only way to understand it's the only way to put give meaning to it to all this dialectical clockwork way we can describe it's the only way to impart real meaning to it to have it mean anything more than just the bare description of its of the facts 0:38:35 of it bring back the Prussian Empire god no I see that so that's why he started to try to talk politics in its life okay see now this is where Mark Karl takes over because no the highest the highest development of human relations considering that they they they they had a chance to take over the world there for a bit and they really kind of didn't ya know like I said the other night ***** of the Prussians the Prussians are ***** ***** and speaking of Walter Shai -dl and his his idea of you know Europe 0:39:37 being kind of separate in development than the rest of the world due to its lack of proximity to to horse archery in the step and that's shaping the cultures Germany is another good example the Prussians or the descended the depression-era sacristy anyway the Yonkers of Prussia were the descendants of the Teutonic Knights who settled that region in the the northern crusade against the the old the old bolts the the last pagan remnant and the continental Europe west of the Urals I guess and so it was like a military aristocracy like and and they descended along those lines whereas the party Germans of Varia kind of nestled in the middle there near Switzerland not bothering anybody naughty didn't even really have to worry about the Ottomans 0:40:38 Austria had to worry about the Ottomans and that's why those guys have such huge sticks up their assets in Berlin but in like that Ryan area it's just giant tasks of course demeanor and all of the encased meats you can the Hohenzollern though that's one of the better I like the hole in cylinders a lot I also like the the ruling house of Bavaria that ruled way longer than the Hapsburgs the whittles box it's a somebody's mad about me saying that they settled Baltic well there's a lot of Lutheran German aristocrats in Lithuania how'd they get there yes yes battle of lice Alexander Nevsky 0:41:39 but come on they the electoral makeup of Weimar Germany even though Nazism started in Bavaria that was never there heartland of their electoral power because all the German parts of all the Catholic parts of Germany the most popular party was the center party which was an explicit cap Catholic party that attempted to do its own sort of Third Way Catholic thing of like being critical like capitalism but still being traditional and all that it was it was the lower middle classes and and farmers 0:42:46 with smallholding peasantry our beloved sack of sauerkraut yes the pmc did were the were the were the party I always are the party of fascism that's why I wanted I'm glad that was brought up though because I wanted to say something about fascism there's been obviously very heated debate over the last few years about like what counts as fascism and specifically what counts about us what counts as fascism about the current moment right it's Trump a fascist or the proud voice fascist are the cops

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

fascist is what does it mean does it just mean Essaouira right-wing authoritarianism 0:43:48 or is it more specific it's too specific then it just becomes a historical descriptor that has no contemporary meaning at all and then of course there's a practical argument which is well if you've got this the if all of your democratic niceties have been destroyed and you are now a being directly suborned to capitalism's jackie Foote isn't that doesn't it not matter what you want to call it doesn't that mean that's fascism if we to think of fascism is like the ultimate abrogation of civil society and I would say that that's it's worth pointing out the distinctions and choosing out the meaning for one reason and that is that regardless of what people are operating from in their head when they imagine fascism the description of it that they're operating from when they're imagining a response to it indicates that they're thinking about it specifically in the context of its the basic simplified narrative or basic simplified 0:44:53 model of the Nazis and fashion the rise of to power fascism was you had an embattled discredited existing border representing a specific national bourgeois collection of capitalists and then you have a rising and radical and militant left organizing in and outside of the democratic processes that existed and then fascism filled the gap protected the order the state and the class interests that the state represented from this mass with its own mass movement different composition more middle-class more rural but similarly mobilized similarly able to fight in the streets to control and dominate the political zones and they were brought to power by those embattled 0:45:58 old powers as a way to protect them but the very mobilization and effectiveness of fascism at combining socialism this ability to and and mechanisms for mobilizing worker or mobilizing people workers like in socialism transferred over to you know small shop owners or whoever students but then also with the support and aid of the richest people in the society which those left-wing certainly didn't have but that put him in a position where they were able to essentially absorb the state because they were more at that point the party became more powerful than the state that had summoned it to its protection and so it absorbed it and brought it to its own ends that is not possible in the current moment that can happen because Americans 0:47:1 and specifically conservative Americans right-wingers the people who you would add the MIT through the petty-bourgeois specifically of right-wingers the people most likely to make up a social basis for fascism are simply to demobilized to ever fill the gap that way I mean yes the left isn't a scarier or organized as it used to be but it's certainly getting militants in a way that's making it harder to conduct business and meat but what's happening in the streets what happened in the streets this summer if we were in the moment of incipient fascism that people like to imagine and the people especially who specifically say that Trump himself symbolizes some sort of rampant fascist movement they would be the street would be filled with

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

paramilitaries fighting back and what has actually happened you have some pathetic like three dorks of Hawaiian shirts standing around not making I can't Tai Chi eye contact with anybody getting like a couple shots for tick-tock and then going home a couple of insane guys who just come out of their cars to start shooting people but 0:48:3 this is the country of Lutton of lone wolves shooters we love doing that fun don't we folks no organized counter opposition really in the streets anyway from the citizenry it's been the cops and that's just it is that we can see from the composition of forces that that right-wing mobilized politically politically aware base doesn't exist they've been demobilized they've been essentially intentionally demobilized as part of that worship of material comfort I mean if you love America more than anything then you love consumption those two things are that's one is the expression of the other and so you are you've been immobilized by your own pursuit of pleasure and I don't know if this isn't theoretical look they're not out in the streets there was a march through some suburb and a bunch of them stood by the side of the road looking downward and a lot of people are saying they come here and they can't I thought 0:49:5 comes here but they're not gonna leave because not only is it because their pleasure pleasure didn't they're also they don't know they don't communicate with each other they don't have any kind of squad structures you know they don't have any durable social bonds everything's on the computer now that doesn't mean that we are not in a moment where there might be a crisis where democratic institutions can no longer protect that jook gooey nougat Center of capital from the people what's gonna fill that gap is the existing and more technologically intensive than it was in the 30s security state in the form of the cops and the military and why that matters is it means the terrain of fight is different it means first and foremost that anti-fascism as an ideological project is less important than then proactive workplace and labor 0:50:6 organizer along along the axis of labor exploitation and the redress of grievances and democratization of workplace and increase of access to because my god if we're coming to that crisis point the only thing that's gonna stop the tanks rolling from the streets is if there's too many people out there got a couple more minutes here gonna anyone has any questions it's getting had I got some Christmas tree lights up 0:51:8
here has anybody heard any more about the ***** uh about the about that yellow King ***** in Milwaukee because the day it happened everyone was like they just uncovered a police run pedophile ring in this house and the cops like helped smuggle a bunch of guys out of there and there's been no follow up at all and that's weird because you know even if the police are trying to cover this up and even if the local media doesn't want to cover it I would still imagine that the same people who were freaking out and tweeting about it two to three days ago have followed up and that there's some sort of someone pulling on these threads so that makes me think that we have reached the point where a escape velocity where we're never gonna find out anything anymore because it takes too long to follow up because we're moving too fast because everything is the next day or maybe the initial claims are being backed up and instead of people correcting them they're just kind of not saying anything I don't know which one's true but I would like to know either way I'm very well any for example it was claimed that those two kids got those things rescued two kids from the house where are the kids that seems like something someone should know that doesn't require the ***** journal sentinel' the Journal Sentinel Pulitzer prize-winning investigative unit to figure out the committee a mass shooter is pretty crazy I honestly think it's more likely that he just snapped from being a narc which is a classic thing that happens where being in two place being two people at once makes your brain break but I mean I guess I could imagine I just I'm always skeptical on mass shooter ***** cuz I don't buy the motive I Canada already ask gun control and we have never enacted gun control thanks to thanks to mass shootings and the idea of like oh we need to keep oh they need to keep doing that to keep us off our toes and to keep us disoriented and scared of one another I mean I honestly think it's a little naive to imagine they would have to go through with that we got we have more guns than people in this country as it is do we really like the formula the formula on the dominant on the chalkboard for a culture that would produce mass shooters it checks out you know there's no like extra space that we now if you people have an idea that like no the the mass shooting is like a cover for something else okay but I would need to have an idea of what the other thing is because I just can't buy oh yeah we're gonna shoot a bunch of people or pretend to shoot a bunch of people so people can tweet about gun control for a couple days everything's already everything's moving so fast it is it is so like horrifyingly to stabilizing how can you distinguish between the seeded events and the real ones and I guess the question then becomes what difference I mean I'd certainly think that uh the botched stings are responsible for a lot of ***** Boston bombing first amongst those my patio is fine let me alone I could I could see the idea of like the gun lobby doing it to get people to bond more guns but that's that's like that's like Oh hallmark invented Valentine's Day level of analysis oh boy oh boy oh boy I got

CUSHVLOG 40. TROLL 2 II - IT'S ANIMATED THIS TIME

Demiurge Overkill

06.30.20

hello hey guys I'm apparently last the last stream I did with was the first with my set up here and some people said it was too soft they couldn't really hear it so I'm putting the thing closer to my face which might be disturbing to some viewers but 0:1:1 it's necessary for you to hear everything trying to minimize seeing like transformer box over there which is not really very aesthetically pleasing I honestly should maybe I should turn around thinking about it the background to be much nicer is it low audio again or any gas lighting me am I being gas lit or can you hear me I asked the tracks that the tracksuit will be back tracksuit Leave Act when the conditions change is it quiet I don't know how to turn it up more I only have I keep turning the thing on but then it doesn't go all the way I'm an old man I don't understand these things oh are you people giving me the business I'm trying I'm trying to talk to you people and you're leaving me here oh now I don't know I don't know anymore and 0:2:3 here I was I was gonna talk about the Demiurge we got to talk some more about the Demiurge but now I don't know if you guys can even hear me ***** bad faith actors that's right why is the mic muffled I don't all right I move what does that mean you're just a little quiet I don't even know what that means oh no I don't know what to do now I'm trapped is there like a volume control in thing here all I can do is mute the microphone all right let's talk to my urge I reason a lot of talk about the different urges it was something I said yesterday or last time we last dream about 0:3:5 how people's religious convictions are losing their spiritual basis even without them knowing it over the years and how American Christians essentially worship material wealth they they worship money and in the United States but the United States is an avatar for material wealth that's the thing that gets the man and you know that those are made those are choices but they're also not choices if you know what I mean their responses to conditions that are omnipresent and difficult to deal with and that reminds me of the Demiurge and the bad energy was a notion of the early Gnostic Christians those sect of Christians who looked around the world they saw after hearing the teachings of Christ and having them accepting them in their heart 0:4:6 the idea Universal love brotherhood abolition of poverty strife through cooperation

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

and and love they looked around in the world that they lived in and lo and behold it was not a world where they could live those values you can't live like a follower of Christ in the world that they found themselves in the world is filled with despair or err scarcity terror despair and other people who are hostile to you and your people and what is to be done God says turn the other cheek but it's easy for God Jesus says turn the other cheek sure as hell it is easy for them to say for him to say he's the son of God he gets struck him down it goes to heaven any knows it we aren't we don't have that kind of luxury where our lives are fragile and our knowledge of what is in store 0:5:7 for us is non-existent so we have to we have this instinctive value to our lives and we have an instinctive appreciation and value to the things we see around us that turns into greed that turns into lust that turns us away from thinking about God makes us in pockets a world incompatible with the beliefs that we hold it's impossible to be a Christian the way that the way the early Christians thought of it it's impossible to be a Christian in the world that they found them says it and so the question arises why would God create a world where you couldn't live in accordance with as well and the answer that the Gnostics came up with is God didn't God created a spiritual in the universe in which we are in one we are we are spiritual beings who will inevitably reunite with him in the in the through the frictionless realm of spirit and we will be commune with God than something intervened something called they called the Demiurge this evil demon this malevolent God who trapped us in material 0:6:10 forms trapped our godly spirits in material forms and the world we think is real is an illusion created by the de marriage and that expect to them explain how we could live in a world so removed for a world that could be that would reflect God's desire for humans and God's love and all that and the thing about the haze is that it's essentially correct in that we do not live in the real world at a real world we live in a constructed realm material and ideological that is false that is imagined that is an illusion impressed upon reality but instead of being created by a demon it's created by all of us it's created by every human in live before us and every living every living human who in acts the systems that they find themselves in not 0:7:13 through anyone's fault but due to the fact that we are bound by our conditions but so we live in a demo original reality shaped by the deforming reality of drumroll please exploitation of now capitalism of hierarchy of some hoarding at the expense of others hoarding pleasure boarding material wealth hoarding power that flows from that and the thing is is that the Demiurge achill the the the Gnostics sought to break through right which is what all of us can seek individually and I think what the what what what the Gnostics sought is the same thing that Buddhist seek is the same thing that rule that ecstatic and mystic Christians and Moslems seek that sense of oneness 0:8:14 and community and communion with God which is another way of saying with the

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

universe it is a perception of one's unit of the unity it's a perception of of communion with all other living in living beings and then the entire universe which is all you this is all God is and that's all we imagine all that's all God is right is everything and it is a sense of being part of everything as opposed to being separated that's what all religious ecstasy seeks that's what all trans that's all all of those moments are transcendence and there are different ways to try to cultivate that in the self but the world around us intervenes it makes it very difficult for us to achieve those moments because we spend ourselves our lives trying to survive and dealing and also dealing with our attachment to the world around us the desire and greed that 0:9:16 come from navigating world of and that but so there is an individual search for for communion and transcendence but then there is this there is as the species comes into awareness of itself as a species which is the human progression the dialectical progression where which were in the process of unless it's interrupted by systemic collapse due to an imbalance of the forces which could very well happen and it has happened before it will probably happen many more times in the future until one time it doesn't and we achieve a sustainable process by which the the pain and the exploitation of the world is through coordination and through the democratization 0:10:17 of power as equally as possible spread evenly throughout the human population the human speed of species and that gives every individual within the species the freedom to come to those sort of moments of transcendence and their understanding of themselves in the world as part of so we're all in a war everyone on the left is in this blind hacking war with the Demiurge to try to break the power of this this evil god the the nightmare of the dead generations that Marx talked so that's what I 0:11:21 think of the demo yeah my energy is capitalism but it's not just capitalism it's every accumulated institution and institutional thought mental mechanism of sorting and separation they're not evil I mean that but the problem is is just to think of them that way you also have to remove you have to remove your the concept of agency for mothers to divorce the idea that you are fighting against like evil people and accept that people are essentially ensorcelled to one degree or another by this world and that you can only blame someone left or to a limited degree for the degree to which they've been insult ensorcelled because we all have the abilities to cope and abilities to process reality that are shaped by but that means that for yourself you 0:12:24 have to fully embrace your your responsibility because the degree to which you are aware of things this is a degree to which you are responsible for trying to change them to try to push like one thing that's really interesting is like we look at the way that the Trump administration and the various governor's bungled the kovat response which they absolutely did but if we think about it if we accept some of the 0:13:28 data from like if we're not gonna go Alex Berenson and we accept some of the data

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

from places like Hong Kong that have dense populations right they're much closer to the initial outbreak of Cobra than us with six deaths so far and their claim is because everybody wears a mask already almost and so when they said everybody wear a mask everyone just did implying if that's true we have to imply that we don't know for sure but if we imply that but that's true if we accept that that's true rather than that means that the most Mahut gist mistake there occurred was not something Trump did it wasn't his idiot thing his baby brain no ***** object permanence thing about oh well if we don't count the numbers they won't go up and people won't get worried about it it's that they told people and then wasn't Trump who said this not to wear a mask and the first couple of weeks and the reason they said that because because our supply chains are so attenuated and so vulnerable to Chinese inter uh 0:14:30 to problems in China disrupting them and of course that was the epicenter that we didn't have enough mass for everybody are we afraid we wouldn't have them that mass for everybody and the thinking was in a moment when they were worried about a huge explosion in hospitalizations that the most important people to get the masks were first responders were medical personnel and therefore you couldn't have regular people just rushing out and getting them and so they said what's gonna be best is tell people not to wear masks it's not gonna help anyway in fact you're taking it from someone so it would have helped well now we look back and it looks like that might have been about the worst thing they could have said especially since how the ***** do you tell everyone now to wear a mask when you said don't wear a mask before I mean all those rubes spazzing out and being filmed having conniption fits and and Trader Joe's as traders Joe across the country they are of course change baby of 0:15:31 human human babies like we make him here in America just giant soggy babies but if they yell why was it open ahh why shouldn't we a war mask and now do we wear a mask what do you say and the answer is because we didn't have the ***** capacity we didn't have the masks and we didn't have the social we couldn't even ensure that the social the universality of like social investment to have any confidence that if they had said wear a mask and we could have had them enough numbers people would have because who the hell you I don't what I'm saying is is that this stuff was not determined by individual discrete decisions as soon as Kovan hit and hit in a context where we have been socially atomized had all universal epistemology is demolished by accelerating culture and media and a decimated manufacturing base which literally would not allow us to manufacture something as simple as a ***** piece of cloth 0:16:32 on a string in sufficient numbers to ensure that you didn't have a have shortages and hospitals that was all those conditions existed when kovat arrived so anyone making a decision in the context of kovat is and that is what that's the Demiurge like even if you wanted to behave even if you wanted to do the best thing you could

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

even if you wanted to listen to the better angel of your nature you couldn't because it's not on the agenda and if you decide to make the the principle decision to like resign or something as an individual somebody also just do it instead that's why the only thing that can break that power is a simultaneous coordinated movement like in Finding Nemo not finding dory Finding Nemo when they're all pushing against the fish net that's the only thing they can overcome those natural restraints metier 0:17:33 it like obviously the ones in here are head the ideological blinders we have but also the ***** the actual constraints material constraints that govern every every ***** decision like when we talk about the presidents we talk about the powers of the presidency we talk about president in terms of discrete decisions that they make and that's the sum total of their presidency and their work there's a president so that we can rank them on the ***** lists but their choices are in real in reality confined right here this is this is the actual relative to the possible in the position of being president United States the realistic ones is in ones that this person in this time would do or could do is right here and that's the story though we tell is is this as though it were it were a gigantic ideological and personal ethical clash when in reality the real story the story that we should all focus on to contextualize human behavior 0:18:34 and institutions and the power of institutions and then need to take them on is here I can't even do it it's not I can't even just imagine my hands are still going that's the story it's on this is where they could act and this is where they're allowed to act and it's like nobody wants to think that way because assigning more moral choices to historical figures is part of the the pageant in the romance of history and the thing that makes us interested in it it's a narrative about people and we get invested them as characters and if you are hyper aware while you're investing in a character that their decisions are attenuated and that their freedom of choice is limited then it robs them of that that character building heroic element that is what gives us I would not 0:19:39 like to self-immolate quite yet I'm still feeling like I've got some stuff to think it out before I do that what's to be taken from Syed ketubah huh uh well I mean to a degree he was correct I mean we kind of laugh at it when we when we hear the story of how he was freaked out by a sock hop in nineteen like fifty four something as an exchange student and came home and became a radical Wahhabist like chill out dude but I 0:20:41 mean it wasn't the sock hop it was what the sock hop represented and if we look at America if we look at the American equivalent in 2020 of a sock hop pre Kovan I think ketubah would probably be like I was correct now we might say yeah but you were wrong to not think this is cool and it's like well okay but there's a lot of people around the world who don't take that view on how culture changes and they have to be accommodated in some way and the thing is they can be it happens it's not it's not impossible like look at Scandinavia I mean obviously people thought hey talked about the Nordics I'm not talking about them as like a model of perfection of just a model of phenomena in this instance that it's not like 19th century Swedes were we're all you know like poly and Pan they were ***** dour Lutheran's now they're like whatever there go along to get along there come as you are that's because the the mant the the the cultural shift was managed in a material way to minimize the stress of change to culture and that and if there isn't enough of that there isn't enough lubricant material lubricant of social change you get sparks and friction like crazy and that's where we've been for 40 years as sparks flying off the ***** railing because we're hyper accelerating social progressiveness to make up for the increased they increased a miseration and and the decreased aperture of possible ameliorative policies on the people are trying to correct me about agnostic to talk about how the platonic forms predate them but it's like yeah but I'm talking about in terms of their conception of it related to the Christian God which don't rule doesn't do I have any thoughts about the UK Labour Party under Kier star mer for one thing how the name sounds like a 90s porn star pierced armor and what do I think of him and his party I'm just glad I don't live I'm not I don't have to care about pedo Island anymore I mean we might have blown our shot we might have but England the UK absolutely did below there's done they're finished to quote to quote the great DeNiro in Copley and holding half of a pastrami sandwich I never gave you enough napkins at this place you had a chance to be a cop and you blew it you blew it UK blew it they have their chance and now I mean maybe we can maybe something will come along from outside of there to rescue them but who I would have a very hard time I mean I know you still got to go on you know like like Vladimir and Estragon regardless of whether there's no more hope but I guess it's just like there might be hope but the time frame is so long that as an outside observer I kind of gave up the privilege of not having to care people actually live there they have to still care and they have to help move the thing along and accelerate the progress towards the next opportunity but from outside of it where I can't really help it's just a bummer I'd rather not I mean it does amuse me how brutally and publicly star mer is able to purge his opponents within the party he's doing night of the Long Knives ***** over there that Corbett never even came close to trying and of course you know you can use that as a criticism of Corbett and I think Corbett clearly could have gone harder but you have to remember that the media is there to cheer on star mer as he is doing this which means it's that much more easy to get away with it whereas if Corbin had really gone I mean they took the degree that they did like deselect they the meet the media went crazy just cried bloody murder like it was the ***** great purges all over again because he toffee-nosed ***** s- weren't being allowed to stand for their ***** constituency and um Briggs upon ***** pedophile cream

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

clawed upon Barnstormer so if he'd gone harder they would have cried even harder and they probably wouldn't have been able to but they could have they could have cut a lot more fat than they did so you if you want to talk about what went wrong with them item I in my opinion that's does like foundational error and of course it's impossible to know how far would have gone too far and would have caused more blowback than would have been worth it because there's always that inflection point I just I don't know but I suspect that it come nearly close enough they could have come a lot closer to the line and if they had they could have gotten a lot of benefits from it because we know for a fact that they were sabotaging him from the inside during those both candidate both campaigns people at the top levels of the party were sabotaging whereas timer has nobody's had time to even do anything wow they were still disoriented he just matzevot bath party congress 1979 I have in my hand a list of traitors that's one thing that bums me out most about burning out winning the nomination is said if you'd won the nomination he probably would have been able to take over as the the hot top level of the bureaucracy of the party and just I believe he would have been a lot more ruthless than Corbin because I think that the I think that the the libs the the donut people are a hundred percent right and one thing they say about Bernie which is they say he hates the Democratic Party and wants to destroy it and the thing is that's why I like Bernie and that's the number one reason that I thought he was worth supporting above all policy questions is that his orientation towards the Democratic Party was correct and that's the necessary precondition for any useful engagement with the electoral process is knowing where the Democrats are relative to you and what they represent now now he's with Biden whatever because he knows the moments over he's just trying to MIT he's trying to do the same harm mitigation that every individual voter is doing because he now has as much influence on what happens as we do because the shot was taken and it missed I just think that if you've gotten in charge there that he would have clean house and also I think it's easier to clean house in the Democrats just because it's not a real party it doesn't have a mass membership so it's it's much more house of cards and you could probably swap it pretty easily with just a minimum of like grassroots effort but you'd have to have control the top to do that because otherwise as we saw into in post elections with Bernie they rigged the game to degree the thing get away with its wife that's why once you if you can burst through that and get on top then you can make it easier for everybody it's charging horse but it didn't happen que sera sera you just win some and you lose most that really shouldn't be that should be the thing it shouldn't it for people to really get a sense of what's life's like when something happens bad you don't have when some lose most just making it even less it's supposed to make you feel better right like que sera sera okay

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

whatever something happens something doesn't happen just to remind yourself that this is the base line the base line is failure so there shouldn't be some huge trauma to find yourself there that's where you always are you were born in the dark nor did buy it first time I saw a candidate with a primary I was already to demand and by then it meant nothing to be hey what a bein smoked weed huh huh huh huh imagine 0:29:22 it would have been smoke weed he used that thing to chew like the thing I will I will smoke you up Batman then you have my permission to chew there you go oh well thank you so much said I'm a hoot I love being a hoot one of the best things you can call somebody in my opinion kimete sinner gordon r AP come down I am interested 0:30:32 to see what the former chapo trapa subreddit people do to call their new one because like everyone knows what happened with our subreddit it started off as about our show but then as all the other left subreddits imploded out of infighting which is inevitable in all political subreddits because that's the nature of niche politics is that it implodes and they kept having these refugees and they ended up all pooling under the banner of our net of our show because it was the closest thing to just like an uncharged signifier that was left and then it became filled with like the whole dregs of the reddit left and it are showing barely any connection to it anymore and and we would get mad at it and people say hey don't they realize it doesn't have anything to do with the podcast which is - my answer was yeah that's why we don't like it and the end and it was not even that we wanted them to stop it was that I would have preferred among all options they just take our ***** name off of it I don't want to be 0:31:35 responsible for the awful ***** of it the ***** cringe posts just the worst means the worst trihard ***** and because this is the nature of the Internet and the nature of people who are political in this country because the person who is online doing posts about politics and reddit is likely to be relatively white college educated and therefore liberal like socially because acculturated to the manners of social nicety inculcated by college let's say that and that means that they're going to find in the predatory me-first neoliberal marketplace the entrepreneurial marketplace of online discourse the markers of that are emotionally charged and and a capable of being utilized are the gender and identity once they're there they're their cheat codes essentially - 0:32:37 emotional response which is what you're looking for when you're trying to craft takes and you're trying to build a identity online for people to appreciate to give you value to give you an identity in a sense that you're doing something by being online either for yourself or for the cause but we're both bound up in you being perceived as being a good leftist and so that stuff is going to be what the arguments call us around and the incentive structure is going to be to create a cocoon of a cocoon of sort of groupthink a totalized worldview around race and gender topics that then creates an inevitable antithesis in the form of the class first Strasser right reductionist who will then battle with the consensus sharpening both into more powerful compact identity 0:33:39 formations that give people even more emotional connection and validation from being online and doing politics and that is a sterile doom cycle that will dominate any online space inevitably that created the Chapo trap house read it as being this weird this weird place of like hysterical it was like an attempt to demand fidelity to like classical class first class only Marxism like Marxist class and material analysis but then on top of it insisting upon total adherence to every discrete identity argument and the thing is is that sometimes those things to come into conflict and you have to make priorities and it's a give-and-take but like I said the conditions of the internet mean it's only ever going to be give that's only going to be the possible answer for every discrete one of these issues which means that it'll always defeat the primacy 0:34:41 of the class material position and so that's what and then so that like chapo Chapas inevitably throws off stupid Paul as it's a antithesis right and you'll notice it's like a negative dialectic which is what Adorno called culture because it throws things backwards it takes what once unified and strips it in the process of applying the market to it like doing ***** us fission splitting the ***** atoms of culture and like social order because you have chapo as the show which like a culture rate has totally absorbed social liberalism for the room and I think it should but then applied social liberalism to the greater question of of socialism and of a social liberation and I think the show has always struggled to be that but then if the creates an online culture and 0:35:42 then it creates its own secondary being which is the flattening of that and because of the flattening influences of identity politics on internet spaces to them of course it creates this thesis out of that I would have to say out of a synthesis this thesis of hysterical identity and then boom creates an antithesis of stupid fall it literally is it splits things it splits social orders it's negative Dulli dialectical which is the Prower that's why in that thing if everything I've described by the way is online there's our show exists completely online and then both of those things being subreddits are obviously even more online more symbolic so if you're in that land if you're in that neoliberal order of the online digital identity political ideological matrix you will create that negative dialectic which is why you've got to grill for the love of Pete 0:36:45 start grilling get busy grilling or get busy drying apply politics to the things closest and most understandable to you least abstract as as concrete as possible and I know there's obviously the oh you're doing this on an iPhone style irony of me giving this impassioned plea on an Internet ***** twitch website which is just designed to turn your brain into a put your brain in a Cuisinart just like all this stuff fragment everything into into an unassailable mutant chunks that are no longer of the same thing even though they once were just shattering and and burning the ashes but I'm trying to figure out what to do with the rest of my ***** life and I only know one way to think my way towards that right now given my situation and it's this so until 0:37:47 that changes this is a zhun abstract as I can get and no throws I throw some drilling in there to of course and also trying to write more reading a lot more oh God reading so much more and that's a big part reading it's like your brain your spirit like it's the health bar you just dude dude it's like being in a video game if you're if there was like a game that assimilated like all health you know health wasn't just physical it was also spiritually and like remove the Cartesian duality there but gave you like food fuel for both and you're in a video game you now you get like a turkey leg for your bodily health but a book that's your like mind sharpening it and it's still obviously that's still an abstract level but it's a level of abstraction much closer to life and push closer to the speed of right right now I am reading I'm I'm halfway through a Walter 0:38:49 Shai Dalls book escape from Rome which I cannot recommend enough if I had to recommend one book for people to start reading before they really wanted to get into historical materialism I would I would recommend this book like if you'd read Marx the stuff and you wanted to start applying it to history I even though shuttle I don't think as a Marxist this book it is the most dialectically minded piece of like world historical literature I've ever read and I'm reading it very very slowly because just the having it still be a thing I read it's like it's stimulating my thoughts about history and like he the overall thesis is he is explaining why the West ie Europe had such technological explosive growth in the 19th century the divergence away from 0:39:51 the mean of like global technological society and along the way he's describing it over the course of you know human history basically at least since the fall of Rome and at some times he makes arguments that are that demand a like a material explanation for a phenomenon like in this instance the the geela the geographic reality of like the where the step is is determinative everything else lies on top of that you can't get below that but in a different level at a different time in his narrative in the narrative of human social evolution like the question of why Europe was able to colonize the rest of the world and not vice versa or were anybody else conquering and exploring the new world he says the determining factor here is institutional not geographical but 0:40:52 that's because the question is never is it institutions or is it geography or whatever it's never is it one or the other it's which one is it now in this specific instance and that is the way that all history should be approached and so little of it is processed I like when I think of the way that history is taught it's like this this series of discrete decisions that are made by people totally unmoor to the to Y just just this this absolutely sterile single causality well I mean it makes it basically impossible if you don't really apply yourself to the study of history and why would you if it was that boring and sterile it leaves you essentially unable to think about the past in any way that's illuminating of the presence you can't use it to make sense of the world

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

because it does not comport to the complexity of the world around you it leaves you 0:41:54 with a thin brittle bronze Lance that'll just snap at the first contact with iron or steel or whatever Steel's I mean the very fact that we like talk about presidents even on the left like he's a good president he's a bad president actually there are no good presidents or here's my top ten list of presidents I do that all the time too and the thing is you can do that it is within the discreet apertures of choice that presidents have you can pick the ones who did a better and a worse job with the freedom they had absolutely but we think of it the way you would you were about ranking that with the same sort of drama that you think about ranking a best baseball players of all time but it's much more like ranking the best umpires of all time you could do it there are better or some Pires objectively but it's a very it would be a very boring dull deterministic action because of how constrained their choices are whereas 0:42:56 ranking the best baseball players you're talking about the entire wild-caught quaza causally open knee near randomised possibility of all opportunities for every at-bat near-infinite there's a near infinite the number of things that could happen when you ***** a hit hit get into the the number of ways that a at-bat can end are so varied it's mind-blowing it's my body but every choice by an umpire is or fair foul but that's the reality of the of the options of the choices the presidents have they're fully determined I mean we're all fully determined by circumstances but they're more obviously through our ability to study the historical record that leads to decisions 0:43:57 we can see how constrained they are much more than individuals without power like we're all fully determined in why we why we why what we're gonna do but it's such a it's such a it's such a the decisions are so personal that delving into the depths of the causality like the deep stuff you know things in the subconscious that happened years and years ago that nobody even were not knew at the time including the birth especially the person who's thinking about that means that determining the next determining their you know their choices are their degree of fixedness is very difficult for a president that that cut the monumental size of the choices the president gets to make you could almost fully map why and you can like squeeze the amount of agency out of it like the percentage out of a hundred agency out of it and I guarantee you it's like in the single digits oh this is good I think this has been a fun one I hope I haven't been making sense I'm feeling like I'm getting a little more this one's been 0:44:59 a little bit more conceptual because I know I've been sort of grinding down closer to the pavement since the first couple batch of post-enlightenment streams but now I feel like I'm I'm coming to popping up again like the top of the the front wheels popping off that pave it a little bit and just want to make sure gonna get some feedback here all right good really good yeah now I'm feeling very on the beam right now have been last couple days after a little bit of a I've not been doing acid by the way this idea that I'm like constantly hi yes I smoke weed but I've always I've been a tumor for a while and of course you know plenty of people are are relatively 0:46:0 common weed smokers I don't smoke as much weed as a lot of people I know will know but no I have not been like dosing myself I try to I try to not overuse this stuff because I want to be using it for a long time like therapeutically so I don't want to fry my circuits prematurely but I'll probably do it again soon it's been a but like it's a cliché to say that oh man took a trip and like you know I know everything it's like no one knows anything and that's what you learn you learn you don't know anything but if you can attach that to a greater a greater confidence in your understanding of the consequences of that reality of the profound ignorance that we all live in I keep 0:47:10 hearing people talk about this Alan Watts character and what I've looked at has been interesting he seems to be a dude operating on a good wavelength I'd like to I'd like to somebody asked your best 30 rock moments and I'm just gonna say not the best really but I would just want to stick up for the live episodes one of which has now been removed from Netflix because of the half-assed blackface they did it in in the scene with Jon Hamm which was very funny at the time because you could tell like the evolution of social order like in not in the in 90 in 1999 as people found out recently and freaked out about Jimmy Fallon did full blackface to play Chris Rock dark blackface now 30 rock and I think like 2010 what they did is they did like Cork 0:48:11 like a little bit of cork which I think there's like a vaudeville tradition there so that's like not totally half as a given but clearly they understood that they could not go all the way they couldn't do like an Al Jolson face and now ten years later they retro actively removing so you can see how like the attitude changes over time and you could say that's good you know good good that we're not doing that and I'd say I think it probably is good but I do think that what you if you accept that if you accept that progression and you're happy about it it means you have to let it go it means you can't keep dragging up the old stuff there has to be a truth guerrilla conciliation committee there has to be a Truth and Reconciliation committee because because if there's not if there's only blame and never ever forgiveness what is it gonna be the incentive for anyone to go along with your social order why would anyone say I'm going to accept a new premise of like the wrongness of blackface or or you know 0:49:13 the wrongness of these slurs or the need for inclusivity in the business or whatever when the thing I said before this moment years before is going to condemn me in the new reality why would I sign on you need people to sign on to the new social contract that you're grilling and you're essentially telling people that unless they are pure of heart and some Calvinistic freak show away which only these psychos even think they are and a lot of them are a lot of them get ***** canceled themselves if somebody digs it up but they're deluded themselves into thinking they're gonna be on the winning end of that end of that coin flip so why would you ever do that so what you mean this is like if we want to celebrate the fact that now no one wants to do blackface you have to let it go you have to let it go it means the old ones I have you need if you need to wipe the slate we need a jubilee and if people will if anyone who says no to that deal and anyone says I will not trade my ability to be vindictive towards somebody for actual social progress well then they don't want social progress they want to have the weapon they want to beat people with it it's like why would I want to disarm why would I want to give up my guns it's like the social sjw version of second amendment ***** like you'll disarm me and then you will take me over you'll take my cancel culture when you pry it from and like I said like this doesn't apply the stuff that happens now because you're building the new order right now you need to have enforceable social norms and society needs to be able to enforce them and people complaining online is a pro as a form of that but it Mike it cannot be retro actively applied there has to be an understanding that people can change without that you won't get nowhere and it's because you don't want to get anywhere so ask yourself anybody you resist what I'm saying any one of you here system gets mad ask yourself why do you think you need that and I think the most the best answer the one that's like least incriminating and therefore the one I'm gonna choose to believe is the most most motivating or the most people because I do assume good faith in most people not everybody is an evil double agent it's that I'm worried about losing out in the new order I'm a little worried that at some point things are gonna go bad and then and it and there's gonna be a big setback and I'm not gonna have I'm not gonna be able to defend myself and I think to the degree that that's the concern it just speaks to a lack of lack of faith in the project a lack of faith and your ability to win and to that I have to say that's a cure Guardian leap of faith that you have to take to truly in good faith engage with the movement and if you can't do that then you are not part of it and you know what if people can look inside themselves and answer that question I think it could be illuminating and I think a lot of people realize you know what I can lay down this burden and give myself over this cause cuz it's worth it and I'm ready to take the risk I think a lot of people would make that choice and if they made that conscious choice their approach to everything would change and they would realize I don't care if we ***** cancel people for ***** that's five years old or five months old even I think a lot of people would make that choice but they don't even know that they're there they're choosing not to do that they don't even know they have the option because it's all happening below the level of consciousness so I'd say we're all gonna like if there's gonna be a coming together and I doubt there will be cuz everything's still online and online pushes us apart and polarizes us there's any hope that we overcome that

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

it'll be people coming together around ideas that are mutually agreeable and and 0:53:19 enforceable and I would say that one of them is statute of limitations on cancellations six months maybe four months we could have to argue it could be a negotiation let it be a negotiation so that people feel that they're contributing to the final decision and have investment in it and then agree problem is there's no one to make this deal because no one is representing anyone it's just a bunch of individuals navigating this entrepreneurial neoliberal web space to create identities until there's a polarization around things like class to coordinate meta coordinate and make these kind of deals there's no hope and that's why you have to hope for material intervention to break up the online anti dialectic and maybe that will happen I'm still holding out hope but it's not happening now and that's why my big advice to people in the moment right now I feel the thing that feels most true is log-off does it agree that you can 0:54:20 but don't just sit around don't just game don't just jack off don't just get high apply yourself to something with your whole heart and intention and if you focus hard enough on the world around you you can find something it doesn't have to be political the political comes later after you've satisfied the deeper urge that your political life is only a cover for it's only a bullet hole and it's only a band-aid on a political wound it's what you have you have a spiritual ache and you're trying to cover it with politics but that politics has to come out of spiritual understanding not cover for spiritual emptiness because then it will so fill that hole at the spiritual level by applying yourself to the world around you in a way that is satisfying to the stew and keeps you in the moment and makes you perceptive of your moment and then you will find a place to put your politics that will merge from that organically oh that's a good one I feel like this is a good one I might recommend this one to 0:55:24 people of course I could also have already cancelled myself I don't even know I can't find I haven't look I mean this is my phone nobody's texted me so I think I'm all right but I could someone could have already cancelled me for this ***** stream I'm not sure a few times I felt like I was like riding on a higher frequency it kind of might not have I don't know gotten conceptually low enough to get to a point of good faith common understanding we'll see if I'm canceled shoot you coward you are only cancelling a man tweet you cowards you are only haha drama can't my friend 0:56:27 who is clearly watching the stream has just texted me to say the night I canceled that's a fun spoof John thank you shout out to Java time that's this thing there is no you couldn't make that deal because there's no one to make a deal because no one's coordinating any of this which is why the arguments about the efficacy or lief ethics of cancer ***** are so beside the point because it will just occur its title it's not willed by individuals which means no Matt there's no number of ***** op-eds you could read or ***** medium posts or podcasts you could listen to to get

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

everybody to change their minds about it because every one of those articles feeds the cycle people read that but they don't read it in a vacuum they read it through the lens of their existing ideology and their existing underlying interests self interests or perceived self interests and that means that it will only generate its own antithesis 0:57:29 everything every article like every every own on a subreddit every podcast that speaks the truth every ***** like trolling article and provocation against the PC police as satisfying as they are and as useful to build morale on your side as they are they only speed the cycle because it's the other side needs things like that to wheat their stone and identity against they have to have the Chum to be themselves so of course they they serve a purpose they're part of the ecosystem and so no no speeches no posts are going to change this situation it cannot happen it's an anti dialect it's it's it's locked so every because like every argument about whether this is good or bad 0:58:36 what every arguing about what council culture is or whether it's good or bad is just part of the fishtank of eddie's and swirls that creates counterculture culture cancel culture its constituent 'iv of it every argument of bow council culture is constitutive of cancel culture there is no out it is all one thing because it is that argument that creates the sides and defines the sides and that's what makes cancelling inevitable and spontaneous which means no one can stop it or start it which means arguing about whether it's good or bad is meaningless it's like asking if a storm is good or bad it might have good or bad effects but the thing itself has no moral it has no 0:59:42 moral dimension it might do a good or pain like a that that storm blew out that forest fire that's a good storm hey that storm destroyed our own town that's a bad storm it was the effects that are good or bad the thing itself has no moral dimension but that's what we're all doing we're ascribing a moral dimension to something that is so there we go that was fun I might have to watch this later to go through some stuff to make sure I didn't make a make some sort of confusion that I'd have to explain and follow up on but for now feeling pretty good about it maybe I'll take a question or two you yeah I don't want to go off on a rant here oh the name of the book I'm recommending escape from Rome by Walter shadle he has another book that I'm gonna read after this one now because I'm a huge fan where he talks about 1:0:45 the history of wealth inequality and he argues pretty persuasively because I've read his argument in other forms of being quoted and like interpreted that the things that ever have successfully really brought down the wealth just huge wealth disparities in a culture are Wars and massive plagues massive population loss through either warfare and capital instruction through warfare or or viruses and plagues and of course civil collapse so the attempt the quit great leveller that's it yeah and that's another one where it's hard to argue and I think the real question isn't whether that's going to happen again it's how what the conditions of that that collapse are

CUSHVLOG 41. DEMIURGE OVERKILL

because you know it doesn't have to be population declining and dying it can be capital being destroyed but capital can be destroyed productively like there could be like a distribution of capital can like destroy concentrated capital well like creating a more efficient social system or a economic engine out of the remainders ah yeah oh man yeah the David Harvey thing is pretty annoying because he when he says we can't just let it really does show the how people really haven't thought through anything beyond like the romantic the romantic personal attachment to revolution there's very very little it's kind of a nauseating and a small amount of of thought put into what you actually would do to seize power or do with it and I understand you don't to put the cart before the horse but being so instinctively repulsed towards the idea of managing a move away from capitalism that doesn't destroy the lives of millions of ***** people that isn't massively deadly and awful like maybe maybe be easier to build a humane society through the existing humane institutions that are interwoven within contradictorily within liberal capitalism instead of starting from ***** scratch in the Hobbesian war of all against all do you not understand how that is one is more preferable to the other just a pure moral perspective but also in terms of expediting the process of communism criminy like everything every every level of capitalist development you destroying a collapse that has to get built back up you know right you need a certain amount of concentrated capital to create the technological inputs to alleviate enough need for human inputs to allow for socialism Thursday isn't there is a but it is specifically I don't think has been ever devised but there is a tipping point of technological development that is necessary to socialize production non hierarchically so if you destroy capitalism and it just collapses and it collapses that capacity and destroys that capacity it has to be rebuilt and it was only ever built through capitalism that attempts to do it through communism have been were less effective it was because they were in competition with capitalism but they also had access to the capital which they wouldn't in this Constituent situation oh ***** it's raining again guys well this is a good one I'll talk to you guys soon see you on the flippity-flop

Demiurge to Demimurge

07.02.20

see if anybody comes over here it's been a long time since I've done one of these I apologize but got kicked off of the twitch page I have to be reacted and I wanted to set up my laptop for that because I'm sick of the audio issues happening with my goddamn phone I'm not gonna be getting a new phone anytime soon because it's a hassle so I'm gonna figure out with the help of our trusted producer Chris how to set up a direct thing from my laptop so until I got that setup I was gonna decide I still wanted to do a chat and so decided to do it back here on Instagram I didn't get kicked off it just I think what happened is I was like trying to get on and someone else from the FYM crew went on and it knocked me off and I have to like do the two-factor and Chris our producers moving right now and I just don't want to have to deal with it so instead I figured I would just do good old-fashioned Instagram for now but we will we will be back on twitch soon I promise let me say that when it comes to jizz lane I was just **Music playing** because my theory of the case made juice I couldn't imagine a world where just max was alive and anything I thought I understood about the Epstein case makes sense so if she's still alive that means that there is perhaps a factional infighting going on something like the white hat black hat queueing on concept only the difference is it's all black ass there's no white hats there's no good guys it's just scumbag criminals that's all we have our awful awful pieces of ***** and oh good lord did it happen again what am I supposed to do I can't I can't I I turned it up I turned up the volume I you guys need to stop doing this because it really throws me off because I can't know how I sound so like you can't just mess with me and think I'm having a good time you're having a good time I don't know what I sound like I don't want to waste it talking in a way that people can't understand because I want these also to go on YouTube and I can't do any of that if I don't know and I can't trust it any of you people aren't giving me the business or that you're not audio files which are the weirdest mutants on earth and people who make it impossible for anyone to make anything that have sound because they just say ah this isn't flat or whatever the hell bunch of Neil Young's I take this out for does it just immediately ruin it cuz I hate

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

having the headphone in is it okay is this still okay is it okay now can you hear me cuz I'd really rather not have the thing in my ear so just lame being alive and in fact apparently under FBI surveillance for almost a year I mean I don't know man I don't know what the hell I'm supposed to make out of that ha unless she's being protected by some other faction of intelligence or the elite who want to see some 0:4:9 some percentage of the Epstein Network exposed not the whole thing of course but some chunk of it and his lanes gonna do that the fact that she's apparently being her case is being prosecuted by the like the public affairs division of the of the New York Attorney General of Justice Department office and implies that they're going after some public officials maybe maybe this is an October Surprise to own the Clintons like by Trump and bar or maybe it's a counter Trump insurgency within the Justice Department who are pissed about their guy getting fired for no reason or I guess because he was like looking into prosecuting Giuliani and deciding to mess with Trump I don't know I would be surprised if she died not because obvious like there would be above killing her or like there'd be some worry oh this is too far because we 0:5:10 know now there's no too far just that it would have happened already that was my assumption I thought she was dead the second Epstein died and apparently she was been hanging around and doing after the whole time I don't know how to process that so I'm gonna have to do a big old big little shrug so right now I'm just gonna sit back and see and wait and find out what happened I'd be very surprised if there's any sort of large-scale investigation some sort of it could be that they brought her out to do the opposite of what I'm saying and brought her out to exonerate people like say Prince Andrew like maybe this is all a British thing maybe they kept her alive in case some part of the epstein accusations didn't go away so that she could be brought in to exonerate somebody who was under the under the lamp like Prince Andrew possible I have no idea doing the shrug I hang my ass off about his lights 0:6:14
I have no idea but there certainly is like there are factions within the ruling elite always even within things like the intelligence community and some sort of internet scene battle always was something that made sense about Epstein because I mean Epstein thought he was gonna get away with it until the day before the day he died which makes you think that he felt that he was still protected even in prison when of course he wasn't who was protecting him were they only pretending to protect him where were they actually trying to use him for something and then somebody got in there and gave him the old the old fake suicide I don't know I feel like I know more and feel less confident about things as time goes on so but that's all I have to say about just laying for now I talked a little bit more on the episode we recorded today but I actually wanted to talk about something else to start with something that I talked about last I tried to talk about yesterday but stupid twitch stream 0:7:16

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

one worth because I did something bad yesterday I went on Twitter and I engaged which I actually very rarely do because that's not where Twitter is fourth where's for having fun with your friends but something he just hit me wrong and I felt the need to engage and of course it was waste of time in the sense that nothing was advanced no one learned anything but I do feel like I learned something or at least I learned like I can explain something a little better than I thought beforehand and what it was was Chris Hayes tweeted something about how my mom never let me watch the Dukes of Hazzard because she thought that the flag was racist gay mom and it just hit me wrong it was not grilled peeled to respond I agree but I'm not a I will fail every day trying to D you know a a mature person because none of us are you know 0:8:17 and there are too many there's so many seductions and I tried to impart my lives but like I said I feel like this was instructive anyway so I look on it as even though it was a mistake hey turn that mistake into a miracle and obviously I'm already kind of annoyed I've been annoyed with Chris Hayes for a long time specifically the way that he spent the early months of Corona just freaking out about Trump's and adequacy of a response while not saying a word about about Joe Biden and the Democratic Party insisting on carrying out primaries that got people killed definitively doesn't say I'm worried about it just heroes in our way because he's but anyway that tweet was just so nauseating to me because it like what was the point of it like what does he really I think he's saying there other than my mom is one of the good ones like is he saying my mom is a good white is that what he's saying so I just asked him 0:9:18 not challenging him not insulting him I just said do you really think that you would be more racist if you'd watched deuce of Hazzard growing up in what he grew up in New York City he went to a magnet High School with immortal technique at DS s and Mero you really think if you'd seen the General Lee 30 minutes a week you'd be more racist and so I just asked him he never responded but instead G here everyone's favorite internet pennant the man one of the people who have been one of those people who are trapped in the cave of online discourse the kind of people who if you did the the Plato allegory thing and went up and saw the real light and came in and tried to get him away from the fire they would punch and kick you because it's to them that's the only world they live in is the Internet and she is hilarious ask question to me was I asked him if he was smelling smelling toast it was baffling 0:10:20 to me but it started this whole tedious argument that I did not participate in for the most part and ignored about the role of cultural reproduction in maintaining a systemic racial oppression and keeps half of a point was that Marxist tradition black Marxist tradition has plenty to talk about the way the culture reinforces racism and it really struck me like how online discourse maybe I'll discuss but certainly the kind I'm familiar with online really isn't possible because I of course no one reasonable

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

he called me a Glidden Iowa's I said no one reasonable doesn't agree that culture reinforces racial discrimination of course it does culture is where people live that's the level that people live at of course that's what does it and so yeah things like you know the Confederate flag or or racial tropes or whatever they reinforce racial ideas but then people act on that's true but right now in this moment right I'll let's talk 0:11:24 about like Dukes of Hazzard yes sir now it's a context of this cultural this sort of mini cultural revolution right that we're doing right now getting rid of episodes that have blackface from old shows renaming things pulling down statues and there is a current of thought that I think is long that says that because these things are doing because these things are happening because there's because there's this corporate attempt to to come to nullify and neutralize the protest movement by doing things like hey we're taking the name off and hey we're getting rid of this episode hey this actor is not good at this white actor it's not good to do this black character you want that that is proof that the entire movement is some sort of like neoliberal plot which I mean if you unless you want to pork George Soros in there that doesn't make because you're ignoring the fact that culture production expect the culture 0:12:27 that is created by corporations which is basically all the ones we know that exists to try to co-opt and neutralize all the social movements that's what they do this is an attempt and the fact that they're doing it only means they feel they have to which is an indication that there is a potential for power right that's why there's an attempt to mollify because there is a potential for power well the question is how is that potential going to be filled the corporate answer from above is what if we get rid of these bad episodes of TV what if we take our names off this thing what if we cleanse the cultural palette so you don't see things that remind you of racial discrimination racial hierarchy how about that and people individually the people who are in in line with this protest movement and who do things like support it materially through money and participation specifically in protest and the continual civil disobedience 0:13:29 what is going to mollify them what is gonna make them say we've got something is it gonna be this stuff or is it going to be a significant redistribution of wealth but it's been unjustly malapportioned towards white people over here the history of America and through a disparity that is reproduced by capitalism over time which of those are we going to confront it's gonna be very difficult to get to material conditions because we don't have deliberative bodies we don't have an organization and I said this a million times it's still true something might emerge but it hasn't yet that makes it hard to focus on material conditions it's much easier to just choose to accept or not accept things passively like the removal of an episode of a television show or the knick changing of the name of something and in my opinion it is vitally important to resist that to say that is not going to do it that is enough and anybody who is this moment 0:14:32

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

arguing the trivially true but irrelevant point that well you know cultural stuff does reproduce racism sure but we're not talking about what reproduces racism right now we're talking about what makes it happen like the actual motivator the actual thing that generates racial discrimination generates racial disparity in experience of being an American and it is the resources it is the failure to include black people in the the treasure the festival of wealth in the post-war era and now because our systems are not redistributed the redistribute of upward that has only been reproduced over time now the culture is getting less racist right because because of the 60s and because of the change in cultural perception and more important most importantly the change of the way the culture is taught to us through things like television and education 0:15:34 specifically college where post-war everybody went to college essentially got a a social etiquette class that's what that's what college is really about College the edge you can be interested mate unless it's technical and there isn't even that much technical stuff in a technical degree what you're really learning is manners how to comport yourself among the blue joie and that is what gets you into the booze was a little piece of paper says I am someone who has these values and those values have gone left now the reason for that is because conditions have only gotten worse conditions are only wanting worse and there's a bunch of liberals who tend to have a disproportionate control of cultural levers who don't like that fact it makes them feel bad it makes them sad but of course they're not gonna change anything they're liberals right liberals mean you can't really change anything oh I'll pay a little bit more tax but I'm not gonna rip up the foundations of this lake Katz's because it's fundamentally 0:16:36 capitalism you wouldn't you would hate to do the kind of redistribution that would be required it would be just you would have to abolish the ruling class to redistribute they don't want that to be done they are the ruling class what they want us to feel less bad about how it's still bad to be black in this country so they want the culture to be more a gala tere they want it to be more racial anti-racist anti-red not even colored by the anti-racist effects but it has happened we've not less racist while the conditions have only gotten worse so all these people who say this isn't nothing this is a real this is a real game we should really be pursuing this the culture has gotten so much less racist in the last four years and yet conditions relax in this country 0:17:38 have stultified and in Pat since the since the 2008 crisis gotten worse over time so we know that because what happens is you mow the lawn right you get rid of racial symbol racist symbolism and culture you reduce racist ideas and it works too people are more open-minded in America than they used to be they are more accepting of other races genders and stuff like that in broad opinion polls broadly it's true but if you don't change the conditions in a country where you think you are participating in a democracy and you're participating in a just fool that just order why is there

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

this disparity still how do you explain and for the ruling class who reproduces this culture there's never going to be interested in the material explanation because that will undermine their position it becomes a question then of and liberals can say oh there is still material conditions that are different and there is still real but they don't have a prescription for it so it's impotent if you're not a liberal the answer is obvious they they can't do any better they're inferior because why else would they I live in a just country I have a live in a democracy I live in a country where every government is pursuing what is we broadly considered to be the good why would this patisserie still exist and so what you create is this ball of racial white racial anxiety frailty if you will or fragility that is expressed through either guilt or hatred some combination of both but here's the beauty part it's a combination of both and everyone so the most anti racist white people person his ball of guilt is marbled through with hate and even the most racist white person his his ball of guilt or his ball of hate is marbled through with guilt - to some degree everyone is this and here's the thing those are both negative of feelings and emotions you don't like feeling either of them now Robyn D'Angelo has this sick perverted ***** pinhead from Hellraiser purification of pain theory that you should be holding anxiety and guilt in your head at all times when you're dealing with a right person and if that's good well you know some people like getting their car back with car batteries attached to their nipples most people don't most people are gonna end up lead subconsciously black people because they don't want to feel guilty and then the racist who hates more he doesn't want any black people as it rises his hatred and that that phenomenon will exist as long as a disparity in material conditions exist you could mow the lawn but it'll grow back me but if you abolish the disparity which is possible which is honestly if you socialize an economy the size of America is trivially possible not immediately but over time and and at a rate that would have enough of an obvious socially tangible speed that it would facilitate further it would become self self-perpetuating over time and that is possible with a socialist approach to government with the abolition of the ruling class the abolition of property as it's understood in Marxism the abolition of hoarded wealth the social reproduction use value you would not get rid of racism you will get rid of racial disparity the majority of racial disparity the experience of being blackness country would persist in being less fun being alienated or alienating than being wanted because there's going to be lingering feelings because that bet because the culture comes afterwards the culture always comes afterwards it's the super structure so it will take time to for those thoughts for that to diffuse but it will and guess what all those Confederate flags will come down all those statues will come down because nobody's gonna want to keep them up anymore we're not enough people are but what G is insisting on and what Hays is insisting on is no

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

no let's get people used to the idea that this cultural change is sufficient when we know it isn't you mow that lawn and the ***** grass is gonna grow again because you haven't done anything about the material disparity you might make it easier for some small segment of black people to go farther than they would have because maybe maybe we have increased affirmative action as part of this or make more a diverse greater diversity in Hollywood right that means there's a lot of more black people getting getting high paid media jobs that and then that money filters into the community maybe and so that's why anybody who's making that point right now is doing the work not only of the ruling class that's trying to co-opt and neutralize this 0:22:48 movement but also all of those class first reductionist stupid pop people that you all hate right the people that the G hears of the world hate more than anyone way more than Trump people the stupid class first reductionist hate them so much well guess what you're doing their work for them by giving them a living example of you settling for cultural change at the expense of momentum towards material change and you validated their argument so you're doing the work of all of the malefactors both in your little hothouse of Internet commentary and I and thought sucks that it exists to the highest levels of the cultural wing of our ruling capitalist so that is as 0:23:56 they say that on that and then there was one other thing I wanted to say yesterday that I couldn't I wanted to get it out over with here and that is that I wanted to follow up a little bit on the Demiurge that we talked about the other day about what the Demiurge is in Gnostic Christianity and how it relates to the material world we live in I said that the crisis the the spiritual crisis that provokes Gnosticism in the in the in the Gnostic is the inability to live as a Christian in the world he finds himself in because of the Demiurge shaping it in a way that binds us to conditions material conditions that pull us away from God mainly greed and paying our greed and that which puts us over others and dominion over others and then the pain of being oppressed both of which are not good for spiritual pursuit and you have a guy who told everyone leave this linen common and and because what is wealth it is meaningless what is physical pleasure it is meaningless but physical pleasure and wealth are all this world worships how is that how are you supposed to live in that 0:24:57 world how are you supposed to live in that world the information was an evil demon came in and created this thing trapped us it's our job to fight through it beautiful Miriam it makes us look at the adventure hero we're the ***** guy from pitfall but what I didn't really get into is that so I was I said that that is our condition as humans that we live in a denial reality we are actually all human beings that's part of the same species being that could and should be at working as one consciousness with the same singularity of purpose as an individual consciousness that is a class and then a species coming into itself consciousness of itself that's the fact should be

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

the goal of all human endeavor and instead the world is split into fractious groups that are all delusionally believing that they're at war with each other when they're actually serving the interests of an even smaller group vampires of demons who are draining them of their lifeblood well they struggle through lives of ignorance and pain where they never feel the touch of the divine but the question I didn't really answer is well what is the Demiurge now I said we are the ones who created it but what is the what is the demo energico reality so the spiritual world the world where we could be operating consciously is one of material abundance is the one of a environment that by definition can be lived in a state of homeostatic harmony with any species on it if that you persist and we could we could be a homeostatic Li enmeshed in not it like a stupid like not even it not in a dumb and cap way or no not an cap and I'll go primitive this way the dumbass anarchical primitive Sargon oh we just need to get back to the hunter-gatherer effect no because the reason you know that you know the reason I know that because we are here now and we started there and we got here which means it doesn't work you're basically saying let's try again no no no he's work through the steps like if we if we were able to harness technology to bring us in harmony with our ***** natural surroundings we would be able to live the sort of life that they imagined those those been those noble savages did but with clean water high load low blow infant mortality rates low to non-existent infant mortality rates basically life less terrified and therefore life more connected to others a life more more more conscious we can have it but struggling there is almost impossible because we find ourselves bound in a physical space that's been defined for us like this land is here I'm on the western edge of Long Island right that's real land and like the things that the wood that build this house the bricks that was all part of the land that was all part of the flora that's all real when it's here again this export paraded play land a piece of lie clapping ah lanai hey I think Indian land in this building that is owned by a holding company in Florida in which I rent the I rent something give them money give those people money for the for the right to live in their house without getting shot basically that is the demo ethical reality like the regime of private property in the commodity fetishism that we are locked in that's as much of it as a that's as much of a tomb as the Gnostic concept of our bodies being tools for our spirit we are we are as are our collective spirit our collective guys are humans consciousness this is trapped in in the in the dead flesh of capitalism as the godly spirit that the Gnostics imagined was in all humans was trapped in the dead flesh and there's another cool concept from Gnosticism that I use that I think is useful and that is our comms or our Chon's I never really know how to pronounce the CH there but our chance I'll go with that word demonic entities that were essentially the handmaidens the minions the bureaucrats the mid-level bureaucrats the paper pushers of the deniers

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

of the head even be it did his will and shape but they kept spirits from from pushing through where they're basically with Lakha moles to smack everyone down before they could get to God that's looking at their for and they also form together there's seven of them I think and they deform together one big evil demon so it's like a ***** Voltron and I feel like that is another concept that has an analogue in the material world the material lake capitalist world we find ourselves and that is that's there's some people in this world who have so fully assimilated the values of the perverse and anti human values that are part and parcel of this Demiurge achill reality so fully that they aren't able to intuit its will and do its bidding those of course are the people of power in this world Bohemian Grove types the high lease like because of whether they're mostly the fact that they're so born so close to power to begin with that they have access to it at an intimate level but then also through the systematic stripping away through nature and nurture and learn behavior of conscious of a basic human love of the of the agape spirit of the of the universal loving kindness that is instinctive among all human beings severing those in pursuit of a dead of worship of death of a worship of and those people are have the function of demons they're functionally demons so that's another thing where Alex Jones not totally off Labine and his concept of our rulers as demons is is poetically like Krampus a ***** hour job but I would say that like if the archons like if you put on they live glasses and the instead of people you saw demons like big demons with looking giant table pieces huge wings but they were figure though like the higher up they were and arconi in ranks Trump wouldn't be that big of a demon compared to them some of the other people who have found that office and people in power right now like I think Seth minuchin is probably a bigger demon than Trump that is a umbrella it's not a KKK man yucky yuck yuck yeah see I'm always been very I've always been very conflicted about the usefulness of conspiracy theory and left organizing and left thought because it is instinctively the way people think is how you fill in the gaps how you fill in the gaps in your in your in the in the information you have which for all of us is very very small amount compared to what's actually happening in the world facilitated by how we're able to fill in gaps those things occur later narrative that makes sense to us and with so we end up throwing ***** we here for the internet mostly from culture and TV and stuff and throwing it back out there and the thing is because but the funny thing is is that because the culture life is as I have said it comes from the economic base right it's it's not generative it is generated guess what if you're filling in the gaps of your knowledge with narrative and conspiracy theory it's gonna reflect a lot of true ***** because culture is reflected truly in our or like our ideology is truly projected in our culture it's just reflected so that all the bad qualities are turned into good qualities like if we can sexually we context culture contextualizes the reality

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

of our physical horror and reorients it to reflect back to us in Reverse where all the bad stuff that is really felt by us is turned into theoretical cultural super structural good stuff and then we live at the level of that stuff too and that's what we use to make ourselves okay with the bad stuff to rationalize that stuff so that we continue maintaining fidelity to the system that is how it means that's how it does ideological oppression on people that's how it keeps people pliant that's how it manufactures can sing it creates a culture where it acknowledges all the horrors of your life but it puts them through a symbolic narrative lens that flips and makes the bad things good but then he was getting it back in the form of conspiracy theory it's been slipped again it's reapplied to the real world and it flips back so there is usefulness to it the problem is is that you're not everyone assimilates to culture the same way and that's the main problem with this mechanistic argument about how oh if we reduce this cultural element like the defender flag or non black judges on lawn order it will make people do this you can't predict what people will do with information they get from culture it's different with every person even if it's not a different response the depth of the response it's different everyone like a favor friend it's a cultural finger and that is why there's always something stupid about the argument whether culture makes people do things in the scent in the 80s it was a remember guys in the 90s some of you are too young but in the 90s it was about violence and it was about doesn't does consuming violet entertainment make you violent and the left response was no that's silly that's that's ridiculous now it's does the culture make you racist and the left argument is of course it does in both cases the answer to that is yes in the proximate case like John Hinckley jr. could be said accurately to have shot look to a shot Reagan because he watched taxi driver like that is that is illegible sequence of actions that has a surface plausibility to it the guy had been no idea who Jodie Foster was until he saw that movie and seeing her in relationship to the heroism of DeNiro makes him snap two and two together and then that turns into because of other old information of taxi driver I'm gonna shoot the president now the thing is though from that is only describing the mere action action that's the mechanism you can't draw from that from any specific thing like that a general theory of what to do like actually how to practically deal with that fact because it's too individualized like it's not worth it to ban taxi driver to stop someone from shooting the president because he's probably the only guy on earth who would have had that response because he was already set up to snap the answer to this stuff is that culture gives someone an excuse it's given them a little final push but the thing is you can never know what to set it off it's um it's completely unpredictable from one person to another it's stochastic so you can't use blanket condemnation you can't use big flesh especially ones that seriously undermine free speech and alienate people

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

from the government that you represent you're trying to have popular support for these measures and I'm sorry a mare in America especially calls for censorship make some people mad even if they're not trying to defend racism that is a social cost and then you have a social cost of that thing not being able to be artistically pursued which is a loss for all of us to stop what maybe one or two guys wanting to try to shoot the president it's not worth it you have to change the civil conditions you have to get changed the material conditions to minimize the number of people who are gonna snap the number of people who are gonna do anything from commit a murder to act out on racial beliefs you want someone who's gonna be racist you want them to have the racism it like a three you can live in a culture where there's still a lot of racism but it tops out three that's a better situation objectively than one where tops out into five or six and that's where culture can and so this whole argument about oh these things have negative effects it's all assumed because you're talking about an individual moment but you're applying it to an entire group of people and it can't work it's too flimsy that's why you have to always be oriented when it comes to prescriptions to the material and this is where this is the demeaning 'fl distinction I'm talking about this is the real meaningful distinction I'm talking about you can say that it is correct like when Jeep says cultural racism reinforces material felt racism you can say that and be correct but that is at the level of description describing a situation it is not prescription saying what to do about it but every all of those distinctions are lost online and the debate is flattened and they both become dimensions of the same question and they're not it has to be separated and so my mind is because of that don't even argue about any of the food here don't argue about these things don't waste breath on either defending or condemning flag cancel culture statue cancellations or or the role of low capital in the protests don't even argue about it because I said as I said the other day even you arguing about it contributes to the cycle because it gives someone to something to argue against just focus on the material conditions and the thing is everyone's having this fun argument about the descriptive question and you want to be part of the fun party you can hear them on the other side of the fence your neighbors they're having a great barbecue over there you yelling at each other they're having the time of their lives forming friendships and hatreds that are gonna last forever you're over here scribbling away in the blue books like the ***** marks in the in the British Museum they're over there playing ***** noon softball I'm in volleyball both whatever so I understand the lore of it but it just contributes to the it just contributes to it Grill has in stay grounded and and most of all take what you know to be true about the material roots of racism and the need to attack it materially if you're gonna do anything about it and apply it to your actual life how about that and you can say I don't know how well then wait move forward one foot in front of the other until a movement of a 0:41:23 direction makes sense but don't panic and try to skip steps by formulating online by expressing yourself online emotionally and getting your sense of a purpose-built build there because guess what it will lure you in like narcissus is reflection if you don't have an answer keep grilling you don't have an answer keep doing whatever is in your life that you feel good about doing that you feel like you're constructing something and then there will be an intersection with the question of the political and then you so that is what I say to everybody who's getting all hot and bothered about any of this stuff like if you're protesting if you're out there keep doing it if you're organizing keep doing it if you're not yet then apply the complete and that that rubric of like what satisfies me and what am I good at and actually apply it to 0:42:24 the question oh that felt good got a lot off my chest there been cuz I was already yesterday to go and that is I don't like coughing on the thing that's why I take the grow your own food if you can is good advice for anybody becoming self-sufficient in any way you can it's probably not a bad idea and you know what makes it easier to be self-sufficient having other people cooperating I know it's hard because pandemic 0:43:27 that has made every current of alienation in this culture exact exacerbating that's a bummer man I know I I I remembered with Instagram you only get an hour I don't know how long I'm gone everybody has a clock so I know that it gets too wound up in there like another thing it's gonna cut me off I prefer on Twitch how are you can go as well the time we got guys everyone got anyone got time ten minutes left so they've been 50 okay all right well then I'll just maybe ask a couple answer the question of the statue is helping helping give people momentum as I've said it's only 0:44:29 if the momentum is towards something useful if pushing down what a small statute makes you get it in your head that now we can push down a bigger statue and it just becomes a question of bigger symbols you'll never get anywhere but that's a question of how individual protest movements that are not organized respond and that's why it's not a question of description it's not a prescriptive question for me I can't I can't apply a prescriptive lens to it because it's not being organized I can't contribute to its organization so I can only describe it let's say this is happening and look for something that is description that is prescriptive and that can motivate me that's that's that's what I have to wait for that's what we all have to wait for I hope Aaron Rodgers retires as a packer I mean they ruin a they cost they absolutely cost him at least two Super Bowls in my opinion that hack fraud absolute clown Mike McCarthy one of them well the most dreadful probably my most hated packer 0:45:34 quarter but quarter a Packers coach of all times just an absolute worm man just a sniveling little turd risk-averse Philistine he didn't realize the ***** gift en firma the glorious arm of this man God a game at the Seahawks with Seahawks playoff game

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

when they ***** punted or feet went four field goals at fourth and with within like I think the 10 yard line poor thing within the 10 yard line they went 4 field goals twice in the opening half and losing my field or goo that Husky looks I don't want to get ablest here but he just looked like he was a fat middle schooler he looked like a HUS a guy in a kid Oshkosh pegasi like wandered away like like an extra big kid you know like it's like he got an early hit of hormones and it's like sixth grade and he's like like 0:46:35 Annie Reed looked in the punch packing kick video he did just stumbles away from a field trip wearing his overalls and just picks up a mic and a clipboard yeah so they wasted years of his prime with with that oh and now it's like a poison relationship he's been fighting him I could definitely think the thing is I think especially if you get one this is what happened was far you get towards the end it's like give me one more and they'll do anything to get the one more but that's all they care about and it's a question it's honestly it comes down to growth like if you're a real adult if you're if you're at a lighten being you stop playing football as soon honestly as it's financially viable because it's dangerous but if you do get a spiritual pleasure and it makes you a better person to be a football player and it's gonna be harder to be one without it and you know that play until you reach some sort of equilibrium these guys getting into their 40s demanding to keep playing it's because they're chasing 0:47:36 something they're trying to fill a hole that can't be filled like that last one's gonna make them feel good for a week and they're gonna be they're gonna have to retire and then they're not gonna know who they are that's why the guys will walk away from the game we're the ones I respect the most Barry Sanders without a ring without even sniffing ring thanks to them Packers killing them and basically every playoff game pretty hilarious they're a guy whose career was completely wasted and but he was like I don't want to do this anymore I'm gonna move to London to hang out with my dog ador amazing Bo Jackson he was cut down in his prime but then he didn't like spiral he just like well that was fun now I'm done with it I'm gonna make my own arrowheads and bohon possible Ricky Williams they said weed or football and he thought about it he said weed I'd rather like open a head shop then get my skull caved in so it turns out how mature riders is if he walks away then I will respect him 0:48:39 more I will say that and if he feels the need to like try to sign on with like oh god like though trying to think of who they might go for where he might like desperately let the packers or not I'm sorry uh the Vikings again the Bears I don't even know who he could go but co2 is like a as at the quarterback position is actually kind of I don't know but if he does that it feels like he's had some growing up to do he had some maturing to do he has some inward looking to do to realize the limits of pleasure like that that's how you know that Tom Brady is a broken Holloman the fact that this guy has seven Super Bowls and he's gonna go to Tampa Bay he has a sickness he has a sickness of the soul that will carry him to death unless he realizes the hollowness of his pursuit all right guys it's been a good one I think I hope I can get onto the YouTube page within a few days so catch you guys on the flappity flap doodle go pack you 0:49:41

CUSHVLOG 42. DEMIURGE TO DEMIMURGE

NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

07.07.20

okay Here I am here we go I'm trying this for the first time I've got a mic see it got a microphone it's connected to my computer can you guys hear me this is all I'm asking for all I really want to know is can you hear me because I got a mic so that I don't have to worry about what I was doing before sounds good fantastic that thing was bugging the hell out of me and now I don't have to worry about it alright great guys so I want to start today with a quote from a Washington Post 0:1:4 article from earlier last week I think or last weekend or so White House officials also hope Americans will grow numb to the escalating death toll and learn to accept tens of thousands of new cases a day according to three people familiar with the White House's thinking who requested anonymity to reveal internal deliberations Americans will quote live with the virus being a threat in the words of one of those those people a senior administration official now I don't want to be the type of say I told you so but I ***** told you so when in April when they shut the door on the first Florentine I said there is no way that this ends of anything other than a social in Norment to death at a higher level because we do not have the social capacity either technologically through supply chains or just the connection to one another the social bond necessary for a scientist to say there's a virus and for more than 50% 0:2:8 of the adult population to say okay I believe you and not say who are you working for George Soros and then I'm going to spit in your face if you tell me not to go to the traders Joe with the ***** without a mascot those things basically mean that there's no way we were going to do anything other than shrug our shoulders after we got bored sitting inside go out and give it to each other and then shout our shoulders again and the only reason they didn't do it then because think about it if they did it then they'd said suck it up then we wouldn't have ever had the huge collapse right we wouldn't have to be digging our way out of this hole in the first place all those small businesses would still be open and there were some real you know some real jihadists for capitalism like lieutenant governor of Texas dan Patrick who said that

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

explicitly but we needed to be needed to come to the conclusion ourselves because at that point in our in our social order in America social order that many people dying 0:3:9 of a virus was not acceptable because it was in a vacuum of course we don't want half a million people dying of a virus but now we know what the alternative to a half a million people dying the viruses staying at home getting really bored not being able to do anything your job lose it leaving then I guess you gotta just accept all of that now of course as we've said that was necessary you know we could have created some sort of emergency command economy to paid people to stay home and maintain at the safest way possible our supply chains but of course we didn't have the capacity or the inclination of our ruling class to do that and so instead we got what we all knew we were gonna get a new level of death that we accept in this country a new threat that you accept like how in the 19th century nobody's afraid they were gonna kick down a car crash because they didn't know what a car was now kills 50,000 people a year pedestrians and a bicyclist gets splattered on the regular and it's it's 0:4:11 accepted you don't want it to happen to you but it probably won't and it's the price you pay to live in it in this free society now permanent lung scarring and a dead grandmother are the price you pay for a free society so we're finally here just took us having to be inside get bored have nothing happen in the end during the time we were indoors to make it worthwhile to do so and then either because we're cranky babies or because we decided we wanted to protest police injustice we decided at some level that it was worth the risk to go outside and as soon as that happened we all are now blaming each other but what that means is we're except Blayne and that is the ideal and necessary condition for the people in charge that we're all blending each other which we 100% are and so every viral video of some ***** being a psychopath and a maul and those people should be ***** like tranquilized by the bear patrol and put 0:5:13 in cages a hundred percent but the social ritual of the condemnation event that's just us expressing our powerlessness and our willing our desire to blame each other because we're in front of one another and and the people in charge are too far away to yell that yeah I cut my own hair today I just use the buzzer I did not go the full full number one yet I might later but right now it's good enough good enough for still but basically being at home all the time yes I got their advance copy of Reagan land and very excited nine hundred pages just on the on the 74 to 80 and apparently it's the last one because it's about the rise to power of conservatism and that culminates with Reagan and 80 at that point his story it's a different story so I can't wait to finish it I haven't really started it but thinking about Reagan specifically 0:6:17 really does make me think of why it made me it reminded me of how insane everyone is right like what I was talking about people will lick lick windows and spit on each other and throw things like do things that any other generation of Americans would

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

consider signs of deep mental disorder and people are doing them to get clout from conservatives the kind of people who used to value a certain public decorum I mean these are the people who like to talk about how you know in the old days men used to wear hats and now they're cheering as some psychotic baboon does a ***** spear tackle of a display of masks and target that's not dignified behavior but it is inherent to the Pope it's it's the only response we have to the moment we're in and Reagan is a big reason for that and the reason I think that I think that this book is huge it's by far the longest book Pearlstein is written and talking about a period that usually 0:7:20 under discussed when you talk about the the tumultuous rise of conservatism I mean people think about it in terms of either Nixon or Reagan ruling not Nixon not not that in a regnum mr. Carter but it's the most important period that hinge point that is that is the the transition point to the late capitalist a curve cannibal lifeboat economy we've been living on ever since when we just when the ruling class decided that they were going to basically deal with the crisis of stagflation and the crisis of the 70s the crisis of oil and energy shocks and and and increased demand for real wage growth among a powerful working class was to break the power of the working class it was explicitly put in those terms Paul Volcker Carter's appointed treasurer secretary said the standard of living the American worker will have to go down and 0:8:22 it has been slowly and steadily for 40 years because now with that with the engine of the industrial economy clipped and America being just this this this theme pig-like we're in the global economy we are like one of those State Fair pigs that they just stuff with corn all day so that it can win in a blue ribbon for being the ***** fattest south west of the Mississippi that's us on the supply chains we're just fed sure I thought I said you fed sheriff I said Treasury secretary I was wrong I've spent chair wolfing when he was appointed by Carter wolfing down just it's only a matter of time forever it's all gonna keep sinking especially if Americans keep having to keep having to spend with no commensurate rise in income but with a high debt an increasing 0:9:23 debt that can never get repaid that's that's where the bubbles come in and asset bubbles have been the only driver of the American economy since then which is why we've had so much more instability it's much more like the Gilded Age that way every 20 years like a punctuated shock and it's why it it's why life gets worse as a material level for people over the years now that crisis started in the 70s and it was apparent to everyone that the earth was opening up and as much as Carr and Carter deserved every boramy gotten deserved lose because from his position as the ruler of the president which means he has a different set of stakeholders than he would be even as a Democratic member of Congress or a Democratic governor being president puts you into a deeper measurement with the very highest levels of capital and therefore it decreases any leverage on you from the party that you supposedly represent and under that conditions Carter pursued austerity vigorously and the thing is is that 0:10:24 that was dealing with reality but not in a way that anybody wanted to imagine not the way anybody wanted to see not only anybody wanted to believe they lived in this is America they didn't want to believe they lived in a country that had that was intentionally reducing its sights it's its ambitions my god now of course the other thing that could have been done is overthrowing capitalism and polishing profit and socializing production and all of a sudden a lot of these problems would have gone away in fact permanently but there was nobody at the table with anywhere like that on the agenda it was entirely co-opted labor and capital at that table so since that was off the table as an austerity like real austerity for the human for the American population which has been ongoing for 40 years real austerity was going to happen no matter what both parties for the next 40 years until it's till Kingdom Come until the collapse until whatever there was no gonna be in there's no interrupting it because 0:11:27 now it was off the table as a political question because both parties agreed on it and once both parties agree on something it no longer has political valence and so the question of austerity is no longer a political question because who's gonna bring it up the only people who can bring it up profitably and meaningfully are the two parties so that's off the agenda there will be nothing but austerity so the political question comes what is our relationship to austerity how do we deal with that process culturally the reality of lower standards of living for American workers now Carter with his malaise speech famously attempted to recognize this moment and bridge that gap with public morality and as much as you can say ***** Carter for being the spearhead of neoliberalism you could say if you wanted to be generous you could say there really was no alternative because the working class working-class power although it was high it was very very high was not high enough to overcome the hegemonic influence of the bourgeois class dictatorship that American democracy is 0:12:29 so there was no even if he'd wanted to the support wouldn't have been there to make it happen so say he's stuck if I stared he really is intractable now because of the political reality of the moment and you know what you could make an argument it was then the question becomes how do we process it and Carter was correct you process it by reassessing and redefining people's values because you could have a decent society still with a lower standard of living if there was a greater degree of social pleasure and identity and I guess you want to you put a word around it spirituality like there is you exchange some like the Soviet Union like nobody ever Khrushchev wanted the Soviets to like you know outpace America's American production of consumer goods but that 0:13:31 was misguided because the whole idea of communism was you don't mean all that ***** cuz you have social solidarity and so Carter's whole notion of public sacrifice coming to terms with what we've done in Vietnam coming to terms with what our

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

consumption Society had brought was an attempt to injected a moral dimension back into American life that would have replaced some of that worded material gain that Americans are going to be able to access less and less over time if if a morality is reintroduced into public life if if meaning meaning I guess is the word I'm really looking for if meaning is rejected into public life then reduced as long as you're not talking about reducing to penury if you're talking about you know one car instead of two houses that are smaller honestly that would be good for everybody people would be happier you know left Oh economically ecologically damaging fashion and that is 0:14:34 what Crimean ISM is supposed to create that's the goal is to create a society that it's like that like a lot of those questions of how do you get everybody all the stuff under communism are answered by nobody's gonna need all that stuff because it's they're not compensating for a hole in their spirit because there is a social being of social morality so Carter was the problem was is too far out of the the the the Carter might have been well-meaning but that's technical liberal idealism like there is no there is no element of our economy that's going to distribute morality that's going to distribute meaning into our social interactions all it's going to do is what capitalism always does destroy the meaning of social interactions everything solid melts into air and that means everything that is meaningful off of a ledger book everything that has meaning that cannot be quantified by dollars he's dissolved in the asset of capitalists in marketplace interactions and so it was a forlorn childish quixotic hope by Carter and people obviously said ***** off and what did Reagan do Reagan wrote in and 0:15:39 said here's how we're gonna square this I'm not going to acknowledge that stared is real you're just going to feel it half you slowly and not realize the source what I'm gonna do is I'm gonna say ***** public morality America is about getting yours and go get yours morning in America let's get that bread because it's the greatest country that's ever been and there and all the ***** that you're terrified of that horrible traumatic 60s and 70s you experienced that was just that was just liberals going out getting out of hand and now we're gonna bring him back in America is in tip-top shape like that giant heart attack you suffered that was not because of your diet that was because you got scared by a hippie yeah you got infarcted let's go on full steam ahead and that's where we've been sense every political issue except for Bernie of course running who has run for president for either party for both parties since 1980 has been running at that same level of knowing that they will be a forcing 0:16:41 austerity because there is an alternative but in maintaining a cultural fantasy of endless consumption as patriotism well you can see how there's going to be a point where crisis hits and we're in the middle of it where the fantasy can no longer be sustained by the felt reality like that we're no longer the frogs in the in the slowly boiling water who don't know the temperature's going up we ***** know it we're

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

feeling scalded but the vast majority of politically minded Americans anyway people who process this stuff through a political lens have spent their entire adult lives and that is everyone almost marinating in a unstinting ideological consensus that America is perfect and america america's institutions are perfect at america's values 0:17:43 ie consumption as self-expression are or are the sum total of morality and for a lot of these Yahoo's Christian morality but they could no longer be carried out you can't live that way because everything's getting worse you can't even go to the ***** bar and so what happens well the same way that those early Gnostic Christians decided that because they couldn't live as Christians in this world then this world must not have been created by God but by an evil subsequent Demiurge achill God our new materialist Christians reactionary Christians who have this as their built-in mindset like beyond ideology like the heuristic they view everything through they see a world now where America as it is in their head and as it has been propagated through culture to them is so at at odds with the world they see around them that it can't be 0:18:44 the real America it's a denier jury at America it's controlled by an evil elite within the country within all these structures so within the Republicans there are elite within the Democrats there are elite and every level elite and these elite form that is the new Demiurge that's what that's the deep state that qa9 rails against that's the that's the Jewish conspiracy that outright Peppe types are talking about and it's an it's a necessary it's it's an inevitable necessary psychic compensation for living in a world that can no longer comport with your image of the world and that I'll start it because Reagan decided to make that bet and it paid off politically and now it's the only game in now and it's helped make everybody insane because the conditions have only deteriorated and we have not spent a moment reckoning with that because we're all living in cloud cuckoo-land looking at the flames on the side of the cave trapped in the and they're not the only ones I mean it's amazing and fun to watch 0:19:54 them you know try to square the country they're living in with someone in their head and the reality of living in this country this shitty piece of ***** country that can't even stop a ***** virus that like the Italians were able to handle the ***** Italians and of course they're breaking the knives but every everyone is because the the the technology the social and material technology exists now to allow everyone to indulge completely in their particular psychotic justification for the reality a compensatory narrative I guess I would say that's what it is like the internet I'm talking specifically about the Internet yes allows you to indulge in a in a exculpatory narrative around 0:20:55 everything that makes you feel powerless and terrified and miserable in their real life and I think one of the ones that's really dominant online naughty not among psycho right-wingers but among people who consider themselves liberals now and leftists is this goddamn question of ***** culture cancel god damn culture cancel

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

and such of course there was that letter today by those guys whatever the hell I don't care didn't read it don't have any interest don't have an interest in any of it just to say that it is not canceled culture it's the internet culture what you're describing every element of this that people describe because it's like an the blind man and the elephant there's 50 million things people mean when they say it and none of them are metal and that's half the problem is that no one is operating off of the same definition but every single one of these things emanates from the incentive structure of the entrepreneurial social engage on social media social media specifically because 0:21:58 this is all in with social media right even in the people who are in regular media this is all about how their work is received and reach trans through social media which is what keeps them employed or not so it's all social media and the incentives there as I've talked about are all towards building up individual identity that is separate from a group identity but also maintaining your position within that by patrolling the borders of acceptable thought everyone does it its inherent all these questions about like are you enforcing are you enforcing acceptable opinions of course you are that's everyone is doing that that's what it is because it's all it's all virtual it's entirely defined by our opinions and so we're slicing the world around us up and we're slicing up the people around us and of course it's infected with paranoia and of course people are always denouncing one another and of course the people are self 0:22:59 censoring that's that's subculture like a table at a lunch room and so people talking about it this council culture are missing the toys entirely this is just the Internet and when you see things like the ***** letter saying like we need more free speech and people saying we need less free speech the who are they adorably addressing this to like who is the letter to the Secretary General of canceled culture the king of auntie Fah the thing about this the terrifying thing is the thing that people want to ignore as much as the cue psychos want to ignore the fact that the country they live in has decided that it will only continue operating off of the blood of the exploited worker such as them they don't want to deal with that reality these people don't want to deal with the reality that all these questions about the morality and veracity and usefulness of canceled culture just like with statute is destroying and riots is 0:24:00 impotent and meaningless because even if you came to a conclusion there's nothing you can do for the input the information because there's no one directing it we are all operating spontaneously and without coordination this is I keep banging on this because this is the foundational an elementary fact of the American left is that is not organized and there is a fantasy of organization that you see because things you go on the internet and all those ones and zeros they coalesce into recognizable shapes and here's a shape over there it looks like the left but it only looks like the left because it's online and cancel culture wanting to patrol the bounds of discourse that's what

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

everyone is going to be personally incentivized to do and nothing can change that incentive no one can order them to not want to do that because they're not in a chain of command they don't have a cadre org or even a membership or discipline they're all operating independently and by independent motives and those motives 0:25:1 will always be to find out the interloper cut them from the herd and then get credit for pointing it out getting a little badge for finding the black sheep and pulling them out of the herd that's that's that that incentive structure is transcendent it's out it's basically randomized in the sense that there's no on and off switch and that's what arguing about like is it good or bad who cares no one can make it happen one way or the other you're just coping like if you say actually it's good it's cope you're coping you don't want to deal with the the terrifying randomness of it so you say actually this is good you're riding on the back of a tiger and you're like actually this is fun I completely control this operation because who wants to think that it's totally random but it is and that's why one of the big arguments of people who are Pro cancel culture whatever that means is they'll say first it's good the people are held to account but also it no one's ever been cancelled which are contradictory because 0:26:4 if no if it doesn't hold people to account what's the point you know anyone who's emphasizing and a lot of people do this how no one's ever really cancelled well then it's a waste of time and you should stop doing it but you can't stop doing it because you didn't start it's just happening so that's why a question that on its face is beside the point becomes central because it's the only question you can answer even though it doesn't but everybody wants to believe that there's someone directing this thing there's someone behind the curtain and there isn't that's what's real terrifying truth and so people say well what do I do that and I think it's you try to disengage I simply broken ***** record on this but at the end of the day there's only a few tenants that I'm trying to follow and everything else kind of spools around them like cotton candy coming out for that out of the machine and one of them is love the ***** off because 0:27:12 your your your at the end of the day all the arguments you're doing about castle culture both in your head and online it's as useful as the people arguing about what date JFK jr. is going to emerge from the middle of the ***** of the National the reflecting pool at the National Mall and hang all the traders it's dancing on the head of the pin theological ***** because it's all compensatory cope for the fact that the world is going down the ***** drain and there are no countervailing I just dropped like 200 list viewers in like two minutes man do people get us was that to real or to insane somebody says these streams are theological ***** I agree I agree they are but 0:28:13 I am NOT claiming that they have political value this is just this is a commentary on a situation happening I know that it seems like a huge cop-out and it kind of is but at the same time it's rhetorically necessary because how else do i position

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

myself between the phenomena and the need to discuss the phenomena especially given the fact that it's all in the same medium I think like for me it comes down to Twitter is for having fun with your friends and whenever I see a post by someone that isn't having fun with your friends or we're having fun with your friends has turned into controlling who then you're not using it correctly and if that leaves you if that leaves you politically sorted and feeling like oh I feel I feel like I'm not doing enough about all the things out there and that means you need to find something in your immediate vicinity that has political meaning to you and I can't tell you that because I'm not you and I'm not in your position and that is where the unit because there are universal principles but then there are particular principles and I can only speak to Universal ones because particular realities are individual and aren't defined by the material circumstances which I don't have access to information about I mean you get the Twitter and Internet as information carrying device is what people always come back to when you say it's actually good right they say I find out about so many actions and stuff on Twitter and if that was ever ex trickable that would be true but you cannot pull that part of it out and say it's good because all of the good implicit in it is an information transferring thing our marble with the bat and then so you will still have to balance the two you can never pull the good out separately and I think I think the balance is too bad that's me I don't think it's something you could prove one way or the other I'm just saying where am I my instincts say no and I I mean last I said I don't even know I'm not an Internet guy really hilariously I don't even know how to stream move I don't know how to ***** pirate movies I've never done it successfully see if there is no way to power to influence the world no there is there is it just isn't online and if that is - and here's the thing on first glance that looks like an unbridgeable gap because the world around us feels so vast and unsuitable compared to the frictionless realm online but I'm telling you people I swear to god if you don't give yourself the out of online if you close the door behind you if you burn your ships like Cortez in Mexico and you insist yourself upon moving forward then you will get there and that's where the grill pill thing comes in like somebody was talking what's apparently there's an urban dictionary definition of grill pill that says like logging off from politics and not caring and indulging in bushwa vacations it's not it but it's processed like that by people for whom non political non-political or a non online unmediated political identity is inconceivable and so it's like they can't see it like not truly but kind of racist Lee and and I guess it's it's like urban legend at this point the thing with the Indians who couldn't see that see the ships coming in like they couldn't see scorsese ships because they couldn't process them like that's not true but I think for a lot of online people the equivalent is true and that they have instant they've already in their head ruled out political action off of

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

wine and so when you say log off and do something else their mind immediately fails in the gap and says oh you mean stop caring about politics no I mean force yourself to keep looking around you until you hit something don't give up and and convince yourself actually online is more effective I'm reaching ah man I would love to go on Rogan we tried to get Felix on Rogan a while ago and I still think Felix would do great on Rogan because they have the mm mm mm a thing in common but now I think I would like to go to I think we could I think we could have a I think me and Joe could have a profitable discussion around egodeath like start from there I think I think everyone would be good at Rogen but I just think that a Felix certainly has the best the best cultural affinity with Rogen a lot of inside jokes that they could make that I would have no idea about thank you that I trim this myself today yeah this is every four months I go from polygamist compound guy I trim it down to associate professor of Kanye studies at Evergreen State or whatever I would love to see Virgil on Opie and Anthony or they're I've experienced ego deaths I definitely ah that's interesting question someone asked about the assertion that marks that mark says a lot as a limited view of dialectics to Hegel because Marx believed that contradictions would be completely over come by communism and it would end contradiction sort of almost like a millennia a what millennia way whereas Hegel would say it would communism would have its own contradictions I do think communism would have its own contradictions but I feel like they would in the end resolve towards something I can't even really picture but it would be universal enlightenment I guess I would call it a moment whereby every human consciousness is simultaneously attuned to full awareness of their of its cosmic unity an actual literal communion of the human race so I think I don't know I don't know if that cuz there's kind of a technicality because I think you could argue like for Marx he didn't think that far ahead maybe but because he couldn't he didn't have maybe the imagination to imagine what truly like a Kim Stanley Robinson style universe expanding human Empire operated along like a centrally planned communistic economic model would look like and I think the end point of that I mean our contradictions resolving towards spiritual simultaneous spiritual ascension and at that point you've you've transcended space and time so there's no more next there's no more linearity there's no more and the ban and it would be these it would be a spiritual version of the of the universal paradise that Marx envisioned at the end of communism and you could argue there would be the next step from yeah see that's the thing like the limitations of March someone says marks didn't have quantum theory you know marks didn't have relativity so there are holes like there are limits to his ability to like fill an entire cosmology with his limited human perception of the world around it and like that if you want to talk to postmarks like that's that's where you integrate other thinking into Marxism by adding that element and it really it just makes everything it helps everything click into a larger understanding and you realize that individual terms like Marxism or Buddhism or dialectical materialism are insufficient because there's so much other stuff grafted onto them that it's a ship of theseus problem eventually you have a new thing but there's no word for it but it is it is a synthesis synthesis of things that are true at different times and places and at different levels of abstraction that stick together and you snap if you snapped dialectic materialism it's Marx understood it onto modern conceptions of don't want to get too wild here and I sure as ***** don't want to bring out the white board again I know that that was a mistake from the very early days of the streams but let me just say it's a very I'm so glad they have the microphone this is great this is a great I got to stand now and I got the microphone this is God I'm trying not to ever become a youtube guy but I'm slowly getting all of the appearances of a YouTube guy no I'm not gonna bring back the whiteboard come on I don't want to scare off newbies and I want somebody who's tried to log into their first stream and see me slamming at a whiteboard like Glenn yeah that's the thing twitch is better than you - but my stuff ends up on YouTube anyway and I think more people watch it there so I wasn't that does that technically make me a YouTube guy oh boy oh boy I consider myself a podcaster first and foremost that is my that is my if I if this if we had medieval mate naming conventions and I had a large brood they would be called the podcasts for the podcasters the Matthew podcaster would be my last name and then I would hand my my podcasting shop down to my son Matthias Corvinus podcaster I guess poster two but I never really thought but posting a sort of a it's it's it's a it's a subsidiary like a lawyer is a lawyer even if they don't ever go into a lot into court even if they mostly drop briefs and stuff you wouldn't call them technically a writer right you call them a lawyer writer isn't like a subsidiary skillset I think posting is like a base skillset that you can build a profession on to build a artisanal confession on a profession on to me and my guild of podcasters hanging out in the beer hall getting into waiting outside for the Cooper's to come out and kicking them all in the pantaloons ooh ***** marry kill Nehru Lumumba and Sekar know Wow well Sukarno was wildly horny so you got to ***** him right obviously I got a I got a Mary Neru for the jackets very very cool and I mean I guess I gotta kill a Mamba call me the Belgians cuz I gotta kill the mama just cuz you know his his record is free it's a it's a lot of he's like Len Bias Lumumba sort of like the Len Bias of left-wing revolutionary leaders that he had maybe a little more potential and then he didn't really ever get to see it mostly spent that time kind of like frantically negotiating trying to negotiate his way around the Katanga crisis not really elegantly and that's not his fault obviously but and he was probably had no way of winning against the combined might of the old European powers and the new

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

American hegemon but I don't know he didn't he never fulfilled his potential let's say that Chrisman I had less Thompson gotta erawan is totally lit erawan it's like if Trump I don't know I sort of like Trump and George W Bush had a baby because he has george w bush's cheap piety as a big political prop way more than trump does even though evangelicals love him he doesn't really speak that language culturally only sort of with a great degree of backhanded condescension people love this stuff don't you look at your Bible look at your little Bible you love it everyone takes it seriously so they're gonna ***** turn the Hagia Sophia into a goddamn mosque again apparently one of the greatest tourist attractions in the world this gorgeous Byzantine Cathedral with all these amazing mosaic frescoes of the weird creepy adult looking Byzantine jesus' that they used to have in all their art I'd have to cover all that ***** up because he can't have any images in a mosque and then you won't be able to like go up into the middle of the top part and suck and it's like why would you even do that it's it's the way it's what our W Bush would be doing right now if he was good operating under similar economic conditions like if the culture was still in its 2004 era like 50/50 combo because now it's like 60/40 now they've lost the culture war and that's why they don't fight that terrain anymore 2004 it was like 50/50 and you could counter mobilize and and use it to win and that's what they did in 2004 if those those cultural conditions had coincided with a deeper crisis in the economy Bush would have done the kind of ***** that aired Awad is doing but for Christians so there you go and that makes sense because everyone spans the time period he combines both those guys in one cuz he is one guy I don't think there is gonna be an upcoming baseball season I don't think they're gonna do it I think a lot of this stuff is all gonna end up falling apart a lot of these assumes the openings you're gonna kind of collapse we're not gonna have a big return to a lockout but it's just gonna be staggered and uncoordinated and and chaotic and all and all that will happen is we will socially inure ourselves to more death than so and personal risk of bodily harm every time we left the house and more death of our family members and more just the social cost of knowing that human life work is less than we thought it was worse and that's why I think people are saying that like these stories about high higher crime rates since the black lives matter protest started are the cops lying to try to make it scary for people that's probably true but I think people need to get ready for the reality that crime is gonna go up crime is absolutely gonna go up in the near future because we're talking about a prolonged I'm Laura fying economic crisis on top of which you have a institutional legitimacy crisis which makes people less likely to respect the law in the first place oh and then that time of that well I lost my train of thought goddamn it you'll have the the material crisis of the collapse you'll have the institutional crisis of nobody believing in any authority that they don't decide to believe in there's one more but I can't I'm gonna go up that's what I meant to say crime is gonna go up and people need to get ready for that because it's just a sign that society is ***** falling apart we have to acknowledge that there's going to be costs to further economic immiseration if there wasn't then why was it bad it's bad because it have bad social impact but I think part of it is gonna be on top of all those other things I said life is just gonna feel cheaper because we're making it cheaper that has a psychic cost and yeah the answer to that would be a war somebody says why can't we do a war well that would work except who do we realistically fight we don't even I don't think we have the capacity right now I think anything too small would be beside the point because we're already at war everywhere any kind of medium sized intervention isn't going to move the needle either economically or culturally because we're already a war everywhere it'll have to be big but who are the places we could credibly have a big war with that would not potentially kick our asses Ron is always the number one but Iran I think everyone at the top who isn't completely delusional knows would kick her ass they'd kick her ass anymore and the thing is even if we were able to hold the place any war where we had with anybody sub China sighs it's going to be a war of endless occupation like Iraq which we hated and didn't win and we'll know that in Afghanistan it's it's just oh we're gonna have another one of those and that doesn't solve your problem what solves your problem is an Iraq war one knockout punch but that's nothing that you could do that would have that effect Namie a political potential military engagement that could have the effect of Venezuela yeah that would go well yeah millions of loyal shav ista people in the throughout in the in the vast majority of working-class areas all throughout the the dense urban areas and internal ***** jungle canopy that have held rebel or armies for generations that's just South American Vietnam no there's not Iran that's a wrap that's Iraq too but worse and higher casualties because Iran is a much bigger country with a much bigger military than Iran was and a more social support for the government like a rock at the end of the day was a classic dictatorship where the thing that held it together was force there was very little social adherence to baathism as such or Saddam as a person Iran is different there's social investment at the grassroots in that system that will ***** fight look what they did to her Iraq so you're guaranteed something worse than Iraq so you got Vietnam to in Venezuela you've got a rock to only worse in like it's like tea to like more higher stakes higher higher budget more explosions more death although there were more dead in the first trend terminator so and then of course China's off the ***** grid that's not a possibility they make have to ***** it that we are interred we are totally interdependent economies at this point that's why I say if everything doesn't fall apart global capitalism if it continues will be under the auspices of some sort of joint sino American Union so ya know China it's either a war that neither one of us would win because it would destroy the economy of the other that we depend on either for stuff or to buy stuff which doesn't work it'll be some sort of hostile or either hostile corporate takeover or a mutual merger and it'll be whose conditions on whose side who's negotiating it is gonna what it's gonna come down to but that's pretty far in the future and I mean that's why I'm just saying is that China war is impossible basically I think China was impossible Russia war I think China honestly wouldn't allow it maybe but even if they did what's the percentage they're like how would you do that especially since they have nukes and they have a lot of them there more than us the nukes are real it see it's all brushfire Wars it's all going to be brushfire Wars again until we take everything to space and then have space Wars or we do like an robot Jack's and all war is replaced by countries putting their money together to create giant mech suits that fight fist fight and then the winner they win the dispute and honestly I think we should do that Mexico would be terrible Mexico we already we've invaded Mexico before we and it was incredibly frustrating I think it would only be more so so yeah I gotta say it's all headaches it's all headaches there's no there's no knockout punches there's just downside and and one of the things one of the few real blessings of Trump is that he's hardwired with only two or three sort of big gazel instinctual political ideas that he just flails against the reality with he has nothing more complicated than that and one of them is that you don't want to lose a war because he saw it happen with Bush and so we're like one of the two or three actual signal understandings of politics he has like they're like down power lines skittering across the road that sometimes connect with something one of them is don't lose a war now there is no war on the agenda that looks winnable which is why he has been resistant to the Bolton's call for some sort of global war conflict I mean wouldn't all right I'm trying to think of what a Russian war would even look like like going to Ukraine send sending actual armed aid to the Ukrainian government if that happened would there be like proud boys like the three percenters and stuff would they go over there like the blue legion from spain during World War two because there's already the Nazis in Ukraine there's you know the as all guys so then you could hit like a union to come together or they could go to Russia grab that oil turn it all into an oil and then you could have all of the lefties who want to fight or itch in for battle they could go and join the Russian army and then they could pretend that they were the ***** like joining the Bolsheviks during the Civil War and they're fighting like the whites and everyone could have fun pretending that they were fighting out American politics in a foreign country because they can't have any influence on them here because there's no actual social influence on the political process on any meaningful questions at this point so

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

everyone is just working out their ***** at the oh man if we could get a naval war going if we if we laying in the Bering Strait old-fashioned Jew russo-japanese war style broadside somebody crossing the T that'd be fun get C stack out there get him out of retirement revving him up to Admiral like to a full Admiral or bird admiral or whatever they call it Archduke Admiral Admiral crunch what's the top Admiral 0:56:29 Rear Admiral obviously has to be the least Admiral right because it's in the rear Commodore is war with the Saudis that's cute that would never happen there there's we're essentially part of the same refused at like the economic and even political level there's a fusion has happened between Saudi Arabia and Israel and the United States where you can't even really call them separate they have independent interests that are sometimes in conflict but they're almost always unanimity of interests and looks 0:57:33 like the Saudis buying our our weapons so much is as anyone who saw network now is when Ned Beatty talks about the Saudi purchase of the the company they work for he goes the Saudis have took billions of dollars out of this country and now they must bring it back because Evan flow tidal gravity and that's true we put a we're dumping ***** cash into the Middle East in the form of purchases of oil that ***** money also has to be recirculated and the form of them buying with our money our ***** weapons and sending them back to us the modern-day triangle Yemen is just Iraq too but even less even more worthless because you don't even have any kind of real dramatic escalation it would just be more the same yeah no I think I agree with people who say that external war is less likely than some sort of internal 0:58:34 conflict because right now Americans are really really focused on hating each other to a point where I don't think any foreign enemy would have a unifying enough effect the way that they brought the Civil War halves of America together by the spanish-american war I don't think there's anything they could do that now and the only thing that's gonna satisfy it is a genuine conflict at Jenni and it's gonna happen I think a Biden cut I in my opinion Biden winning and presiding as a Grover Cleveland style hunger Chancellor style president ineffectual Hoover asked president of a second Great Depression you're gonna see regional movements of resistance to Washington oh all the horror of this prolonged political up this palanca knee being explained by that Demiurge by saying America is still great it has been captured by 0:59:35 an evil wizard an evil spirit the Demiurge the george sora whoever you want to call a Biden Obama whatever you wanted personify him is and then your governor is now the real president and I'm not talking that I'm not saying that sense is really going to come to a head I'm going to say that there got absolutely going to be politicians who are going to be psychotic and/or ambitious enough to see the play and cultivate it to the point of actually declaring some sort of conflict with America probably not but definitely to ride it to national prominence and to replace Trump as the next head

CUSHVLOG 43. NOW I HAVE AN EXTERNAL MICROPHONE HO HO HO

head piece of America's social reaction so I think you'd see more lone wolf political attacks from people like assassination attempts shootings of Democratic Democratic campaign offices or symbols of the regime help maybe TV movie movie theaters that are showing pedo films or something and then you're definitely going to see some sort of state-based resistance neo Amy own Elif ocation movement and there's gonna be somebody trying to get to be next president as being the calhoun of that movement but that kind of brinksmanship can go beyond your ability to control it and you might end up getting conflict that you didn't mean you just wanted to escalate things to your political advantage within the American system and in so doing you accidentally broke it but then even if it's broken hey you get the bigger half you win like rather than reign in Hell than serve in heaven rather than to be the Grand Chancellor of the great American Cheesecake Factory Republic that being governor of Georgia in the lame old United States especially as America collapses into the ineffectual torpor in the face of persistent economic stagnation and but I'm not saying that's going to happen or anything of that is that because there can always be intervening events I might not even win and then all but all bets are off it might not be by that could change things a little bit depending he could die at any point my god he's a million years old and now it looks like everyone's gonna end up getting covered although it still hasn't killed any overtly evil people yet I must say molten arrow has had it seven times and so kind of thing that we can make you believe like maybe you do live in a demo today be there is an evil interceding force that's pretending you from ascending because my god this horrible disease wrapping it through the world and it's all the consequence of our most feckless and sociopathic leaders and all of them are protected in a righteous cocoon from vengeance the Vengeance of the earth from the mask of the Red Death it's like if the mask of the Red Death happened and the only people who died were in the servants quarters and in the little town filled with peasants at the end of the moat and everybody who was all in their finery up in the and the ballroom got to just dance forever that's what they've created now that's why it's hard not sometimes not to feel like maybe there is a Demiurge who's got a Dem I urge to merge and to reward all human evil whenever they see it alright guys I think this is good I'm gonna do more of these now that I have music or I'm sorry a microphone that actually works because it's been really frustrating not knowing that people can hear me so now that I feel more confident there'll be more of these including I'm hoping soon to do another guerrilla stream that looks like it's gonna rain all week so I might not be able to do it this week but well there's a nice sunny day I might bust a grille out and I don't know put some

The Muppets Take Ayahuasca

07.11.20

every time no man knoweth the day or the hour regardless of the time of day all right looks like we're good my microphone working everybody i sound good turn that mic up oh it is balmy indeed it is a the air is thick the air is juicy just got finished with that uh tropical storm remnant so i will probably be sweating during the course of this video i hope it's not too traumatic for people because i know i do a lot of it uh today i wanted to talk sort of about a big picture thing not i'm not really trying to derive any practical uh advice from it i guess i'm not trying to like turn it into a action item i'm just trying to like talk through something just as like a general theory for exactly why the ***** the left whatever you want to call that in america is so uh ***** on all sides and i think it boils down to faith not religious faith necessarily although that's part of it in a in a different way but the sense that no one has faith and i don't think that's anyone's fault i want to make that clear everything i'm going to say goes for everyone i can think of including myself so i'm not pointing any fingers at anyone trying to just for myself and hopefully for anybody listening who wants to tell me what they think uh their response this is my thought about it uh is that because of the collapse of the institutional left which is what we're living in like i would say that technically we don't have a left in this country because we do not have the structure of one and without the structure of something in a political sense you don't really have it opinions takes even organizations as long as they're not coordinating and as long as uh people are operating without any sort of as i've talked about disciplinary or coordinating mechanism in their lives to direct their energies there is no real structure and that's a legacy of 40 years of intentional neoliberal politics and and uh the spectaclization and the the the atomization we've talked about all this like why it's happened is not a question or why is our mystery the reality is is that because there's no structure everyone now who is a moment where it was living through a moment of unprecedented i would say crisis in america in terms of its long-term viability as a ***** project and the individual viability of any one person who isn't already wealthy to even survive i mean my god literally now they're talking about sending everybody back to school in september to just

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

give everybody ***** more disease as the numbers keep going up as we're probably 0:4:10 going to be talking about half a million dead by the end of the year and the reality of that being absolutely in the same moment and in the same reality as a world where there's no left and where the attempt to build one out of the bernie sanders campaign failed completely uh it's a horrifying thing and i think the way that it shapes the discourse because that's all anyone really talks about when they talk about the left is people talking because there's nothing else to really do other than protest which people have been doing but which as time has gone on the protests have grown more less confrontational and they've gotten off the front pages i saw a tweet by someone who said none of these protests are getting attention now because they're not violent 0:5:11 anymore there's not an uh there's not escalation there's not rioting and that's and that's why now it's being why why the why the protests are now kind of being processed and ignored taking seriously liberal admonitions against violent rioting as as counterproductive and i can see why people would think that because we're online all the time but i think a more more compelling materialistic explanation is that the cops kicked everyone's ***** ass the cox kicked the ***** out of everybody started throwing people in jail people started getting run over at protests and i think a lot of people as the as passions cooled a little bit as they do over time you know ***** second law of thermodynamics and as that initial rush of like from being out of cooped up in the houses out into the street petered out it was not met with a 0:6:12 corresponding rise in organizational capacity that could allow a continued escalation with of conflict with the state to be sustained like there's no way to keep fighting the state meet uh productively all you're gonna do is end up getting beat up and go to jail for no reason i mean other than to express your personal horror at the situation but you can you you're doing it without any hope that it's going to build that's going to develop it's going to mean anything and people want their sacrifice to mean something and who wouldn't everyone does and without that possibility of sacrifice meaning something fewer people are willing to risk are willing to sacrifice and that's totally understandable and reasonable that's way that's that's what else are and that that tide pulling back is because of the lack of organizational capacity so that's like 0:7:15 the actual material reason that people don't have faith in the project because their efforts cannot be put to use but what that means the reality of that the reality of that general sense of hopelessness even among people who are suffering wildly and are wildly radicalized is that when we try to do politics in a mindset of hopelessness not a conscious mindset mind you i think a a deeper awareness of futility uh it means that we instinctively filter politics not through the lens of effectiveness of action uh because there is a like the fundamental leftist uh project of recognizing the common 0:8:16 good the idea that we all share an interest in replacing capitalism with a system

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

that common interest is abstract whereas our specific concrete desires are real to us they're realer anyway we feel them more they're there every moment we don't have to conjure them they're there and so if we're committed to politics committed to being political but we've kind of already ruled out uh efficacy as the main thing to be focused on we are going to then go to personal pleasure as the thing to focus on and once again that's not unpredictable or something you can really blame people for because effective political action one no one really knows what it is and two 0:9:19 whatever it is it's probably going to be in some respect boring or uh tedious or hard and why would you want to do something that is tedious or difficult if it's not going to accomplish anything on the other hand you could approach politics libidinally as a as a zone of a personal identity formation as a way to gain social prestige and as a way to satisfy your emotional rage i mean like so much so many people are so ***** pissed and have every right to be and who privileged their ability to express that anger on someone somewhere and i think that's a lot of the cancer culture desire it's like don't take away my ability to yell at famous people who are ***** because 0:10:21 i'm mad at them and why shouldn't i be and there's no response to that because yeah of course they suck and and your life sucks and their life is great and they're whining about getting canceled of course you want to yell at them now the thing is though that's not going to accomplish anything and as i've said like the one-two justification for cancel culture is one um you know it's people it's response it's people getting uh it's it's it's speech having uh consequences but also no one ever gets canceled well that means there are no consequences and that means it's just for personal satisfaction of the person doing the doing the owning and that's what the whole the whole box the whole the the skinner box of of internet politics it's just a libidinal sink it's it's it's politics is personal pleasure and i think that that is not the fault of the pmc or uh woke capital or anything it is the inevitable result of living in a world without hope 0:11:25 you can recognize the horror of the world around you and recognize the bad guys but if you don't really think that there's anything that you can do to have any hope of changing it then you're gonna look for other things to make your life more bearable because it's getting more and it's that lack of it's that lack of uh any real belief in in progress i think that's at the root of every dysfunction that gets teased out at every level i mean there are people my god who have decided that they're going to create some sort of post-marxist theory that rep that redefines class and says classes are not about a relationship to a means of production it's about i i guess a cultural affect or having gone to college that's what real class is now because those those people are the ones who direct the culture the discord and you've got people willing 0:12:28 to just throw a key marxist concept out of the window so that they can stay online so that because they can fight the pmc online they can joust with the pmc online they can drag them and so they've decided that actually these are the real rulers of the world this is the real ruling class because they're the ones who i can actually yell at they're the ones that i can have an effect on and that's because there is no effective action that anyone feels like they can take so they're going to take the action that is most satisfying so one level of the lack of faith is just the fact that nobody has any real investment in a project that they think is gonna make anything better but there's a deeper problem too and this one is is uh i think another one that's endemic to post-modern capitalist culture writ large nothing having to do with politics or uh it's that we in the west i would say broadly and more and more over the world as capitalism conquers as capitalism becomes the only language of meaning uh have been conditioned to in the absence of god because god is dead nietzsche is right about that 19th century boom blown away done for like obviously people still believe in god but there's doubt now that didn't used to be there at least more of it and it leaves it it's essentially we killed god but we left the devil because now it's hard for anyone it's a struggle for anyone to invest supernatural uh to invest real belief in a supernatural future if they have gone if they have a basic understanding of science you know uh it's harder and harder you can do it but it's harder it's a struggle it's more of a struggle than it used to be uh and like that was inevitable you know like we built these gods in ignorance and now we're less ignorant and they don't make sense anymore like that's supposed to happen but the problem is is that when you abolish the infinite as as if you abolish like a realm of infinite where a spiritual realm where you can then you have two choices you can either realize that the self is actually not any different than anything else in the universe and it's essentially an illusion and that it can be overcome or you worship the self as god you redefine god as your own sense perception identity and desires and wouldn't you know it that is actually what we ended up building out of the rubble of the old religious traditions because what other engine does capitalism have other than personal and so now we have a genuine conflict within every person in america at least who is trying to build a left political praxis in that their commitment to a general well-being is in direct conflict with their individual desires and of course they're going to privilege their individual desires the only thing there's only two things that can make that equation flip one is if you do like annihilate your ego which is very difficult i haven't done it that's for ***** sure it's a it's a it's a it's a process uh and and a lot of people most people are never even going to come to the point of realizing that that should even be a goal of their lives uh and the other is finding something to believe in as a project as in believe in its efficacy and effectiveness or at the very least to believe in your individual uh that you are individually playing a role and i think those things are intertwined and i think that the moment is demanding a new left organization a new left structure

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

and also honestly a new spiritual understanding like the like the the personal ego satisfaction that is built that is encoded in the dna of uh of our social order like 0:17:37 stripped of everything life liberty pursuit of happiness all those things are defined by personal ego satisfaction through the market but that has to be that's that's that's exhaust i mean we're seeing it exhausted in front of us i mean what what are all those videos of people freaking out melting down about having to wear a mask what was all the people wait uh protesting about not being able to go to chili's it's our our about the bounds of our lives have gotten smaller and smaller and smaller our our zone of actual autonomy is getting smaller and smaller all we have are our desires which are mediated and which are essentially handed to us by a culture and if we can't satisfy those desires then we don't have freedom we don't have individuality we aren't the beings that we thought we were and being able to be that has become harder and harder to do and trying to do it is turning into ***** suicide it is now literally suicidal to try to assert yourself in the marketplace the way that we've been 0:18:38 taught is the sum total of human so we've reached a point where this these things are no longer tenable at any level like the economy is obviously basically uh uh examined and the there's a virus that is physically preventing people at least some people people who are not deluded enough to just ignore the reality from engaging in those self-building activities of satisfaction and in the left we have seen among leftists i guess i should say since i don't think the left is real we have seen a this this uh libidinal indulgence replacing any kind of group project everyone is in it to satisfy their pleasure and they could and a lot of people will say no i want everything to be better i want i want things to be better what are you talking about pleasure but one of those things that creates pleasure is being seen as good by others imagining oneself 0:19:39 to be good better than the system that they're in imagining oneself not to be an exploiter and most importantly imagining oneself to be being seen by others as good and so that structures the discourse too it becomes like i've talked about it becomes an entrepreneurial war of all against all to be the best person because that's all we can seek but i think because we're at a moment of crisis and because the conditions are changing every second i really think that both those problems are going to uh be addressed not by me not by any project that's currently existing certainly not by anybody posting online about it uh i think that that the the insufficiency of the current models will essentially require a darwinian sense uh a change in approach 0:20:40 both spiritually and personally uh and and organizationally what that's going to look like i don't know and the real question whether it's too late uh to be affected and those are two questions the answer to which i don't know but like i said this is not prescriptive this is just me trying to talk through like what it seems to me to be the root of a lot of the the um the uh pathologies uh that seem to be metastasizing

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

and all i could do is just hope like we all have to do that that the un untenability of the moment will push us towards building some new moral system where where where that ego gratification is uh is subsumed uh into a understanding that the real 0:21:44 that there is real meaning in struggle real meaning and most importantly that you get enough people who think that way all of a sudden you've got an now i'm not saying it's going to happen magically and it's not going to happen spiritually it's going to be a response to eruptions in the material conditions uh but i do think that it's inevitable like i said the thing i don't know is whether it's going to be enough ugh i gotta say that the people who want to like redefine class to be not 0:22:50 about material conditions in relationship to means of production that is honestly it's tragic because you can see where it comes from it comes from being terminally frustrated with the awful bad faith maelstrom of of discourse and of the the there is sort of a reifying and um and disciplining function within you know from the media to to like a generalized population of mostly college educated people online uh that that establishes like a standard of behavior and or more importantly a standard of outlook and a standard of opinions uh and then punishes people who just who disagree with them and a lot of those opinions end up insisting upon the primacy of 0:23:52 focusing on non-material conditions on saying no we can't do any socialism until we fight racism as though those are inextricable as though as though there's a way to fight racism that does not uh if those are ways to fight racism alone that will not leave the structures that recreate racial sep racial disparities that's just going to recreate itself and that's very frustrating to see and i get why people get mad at it but not only by doing that not only are you of course committing heresy against marx but like i mean who cares at the end of the day you know conditions changed she died a long time ago we have to acknowledge things are different and i think that there is some sort there is some um insight in pointing out that that there is essentially at this point a massive divide broadly between among white people college-educated ones and non-college educated ones on questions of culture and both sides suffer are suffering from economic precarity like they're like the argument that the pmc whatever is downwardly mobile is true but that because of the difference in their 0:24:53 conditioning their response to precarity is different the response to college educated whites is to clean harder to wokeness as a way to fill that sense of anxiety with the at least the satisfaction of being being good and then there is a there can be an opposite response non-educa college-educated ways as conditions get worse two cling on to cultural explanations the other way cultural demonization the other way and that that is like a mutual reinforcing process and that's bad it's very bad and it needs to be overcome but it cannot be overcome online because uh it's not true to say the internet isn't real life because obviously people learn how to behave from

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

watching other people online and then they take it offline and then that impacts the way that they relate to people in the real world it impacts what activism they do it impacts the way that they approach their lives it's real but it is an after effect it is epiphenomenon it is it is um epiphenomenal it is superstructure and what that means more than anything is that you can't change it there you can't change it at the level of discourse there's no amount of posting zero amount of posting that can change anything because while it reinforces existing structures it is not generative and so by redefining class to be about whether you went to college and determining that that means that oh good i get to stay online all day to argue with these people well you've seeded the field and like i said i understand why because there's no other alternative and that feels good even if it feels bad it feels good you know like everybody gets mad getting mad that's the flip side of being happy uh there's a book about college football rivalries and i think it's called to hate like this is to be happy forever i think is the name of it and i can't think of a better name for a and the other thing the other problem with that i mean for one thing you're doomed you've neutered yourself you've decided i'm going to stay staring at the wall with the flickering flames in the cave because it's it's more recognizable to me it's not scary and it has a reward system in place that i know how to gain um the other problem is if you dismiss uh the means of production as the an orientation towards the means of production as as the thing that that determines class well that means that cultural concepts like nation and race and ethnicity and religion these things that are understood properly as generated by capitalism become independent and become real and i don't see any way that there is a unified working-class movement that operates under those assumptions that those things are real that those things are more real anyway than in relationship to the means of production not do it i'm not sweating i'm sweating uh oh that reminds me the so like i said i don't know what the future is gonna hold i i do think that there is i mean inevitably going to be some formation that arises to to resist what's happening just because you know people people get that up there's no guarantee it's going to be effective like i said and there's no guarantee that the uh the most hopeful combination of that is going to be the most dominant because there's plenty of reaction and there's plenty of ego driven displays to be done and those are still going to happen you know uh it's a question of getting into a but i think that i mean to sound boring about it it's going to be at the workplace it's going to be at the level of the workplace and specifically i think you've got a real possibility here in this coming school year with the police with with the with the trump administration insisting to reopen schools because you cannot reopen the economy and have people but you have these the significant pushback from teachers and uh you know we've seen teacher militancy is is relatively high compared to other sectors of the economy

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

so that could be something another thing i think could be very is very potentially uh fruitful is uh the big box retail economies that's it because one uh that's the closest thing in our service driven economy to a shop floor anymore right like obviously there's still manufacturing done in this country but it is largely a service economy and retail big boxes are the closest thing to to a shop floor in the sense that you've got a huge number of people who work near one another uh which is very much not the case in most other service industry uh environments and also they're crucial nodes in the distribution network they're they're they're critical to our just-in-time delivery process so they fit a lot of the potential um um oh and i would add to that obvious obviously amazon fulfillment centers i mean they're not technically retail but they are part of the service industry and they also have that factory element that shop floor element and you're seeing militancy at all those places and if there is any kind of coordination at that level then i think you might have the seeds for something that could become a genuine point of uh escalating conflict with the existing order uh and that's why i think if you work at a big box store you should obviously not get fired by for talking about unions but you should be aware you should keep your head up you should have your antenna pinged about the possibilities for labor organizing there uh if you don't have a job and you need one and they're hiring i mean that's a place where you could actually work i mean obviously work sucks and nobody wants to do it but if you need to you could do it in a place where politics could also be part of your daily life in your in your in your employment which most people don't have and those are the kind of things that clarify the stakes that raise awareness of the possibility of effective action and most importantly so there are there are existing nodes of potential resistance uh but they're not where we think they are they're sure ***** not having anything to do with cancel culture uh and until the uh i mean until the police reform or abolition movement has a organizational backbone to it it's not going to be there either i've seen a lot of people insist that that the protests have been affected because public opinion is changing but what good what use is public opinion if nobody has anything to do with their views like especially i mean for one thing when you say uh you know x number of people are now in favor of what police abolition or whatever you want to call it i doubt that you could get those people in a room and have them agree upon what they mean by those terms for one thing and secondly even if they did uh they wouldn't have anything to do is that the hope they're going i mean i'm not saying that those that the movement should stop or anything or that people should if there's if there's a protest not go to one i mean i'm still going but there has to be an awareness that organizational capacity has to be the the priority because absent that it all just it's just a cup of water getting poured out onto a ***** concrete it's just it's energy wasted there there are

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

concessions being made you know bought by different municipal police departments and that's good but it's also a moment to stop and think well who's still in charge 0:35:20 you know and who's and if if if the people in charge are mollifying you if the people in charge feel like they have diffused detention with with their uh reforms then they're just going to end up uh being recaptured by the systems of coercion and the thing is like some cities are doing stuff like seattle apparently is saying they're going to cut a bunch of their cops but i mean you have to it's weird how people simultaneously will you know be be say we're demanding radical action we're we're insisting on abolition not reform blah blah and and because we understand we're dealing with you know capital exploitation system that needs to be overthrown but it's still the same it's 0:36:21 still the same politicians in charge who are doing this they haven't changed they're they're responding to pressure now but the nature of pressure is that unless it's organized to be systemic it goes away momentum dissipates it's like i've amazon's saying we're not going to sell uh facial recognition software to the cops for one year i mean you could say the same thing about a lot of these uh budgets cuts and reforms unless unless the actual structure of incentives for the political order changes or the actual political order itself is overthrown these the all these reforms will then be will have their holes filled with with more coercion and more exploitation because that's all the i love to fill my reform holes it's great uh the wayfarer thing uh is very funny 0:37:25 because it just shows in my opinion just the the the destabilizing nature of online i mean this thing started on tick tock right with teenagers and they saw some kids 0:38:26 saw like look these are really expensive and look they have the names of this and they just went oh they're shipping them in these containers now that's insane that's insane thing to even think for a second i mean it could happen but there are so many levels of analysis you would have to do to make that the most likely outcome like you know so many different uh you'd have to use occam's rate you'd have to use ***** use occam's razor until it was a ***** nub to get to yeah no they're shipping people in uh very expensive cupboards named after the people the kids who are in them but the instantaneous the instantaneousness of twitter means that that those are or the internet in general means that those questions are never asked there is just a thing that's happening now and then you respond to the thing that's happening you don't have time to think about it and more importantly you have no way to investigate it because how are you supposed to trust anything how are you supposed to trust 0:39:27 what anyone is saying about anything uh and so you it basically comes down to are you psychically in a position to absorb the thing in front of you are you positioned culturally to when a a conspiracy is presented to you to just say okay that's true and if you are that's the end you're done i don't know what the deal is with the wafer thing i mean maybe it is what they say it is it's just like i said i would need a hell

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

of a lot i need to go through a hell of a lot of theories and disprove those before i got to that one and the one i keep seeing is people saying it's just algorithmic uh it's it's an algorithmic website and i think there's something to that that's i think that's also part of all those weird remember those weird uh uh videos that were on youtube for kids of like peppa pig getting her teeth pulled out or something and everyone's freaking out about how it's like some sort of cult programming operation and maybe part of it is but a lot of it is is those things are all made by computers 0:40:28 and most the views are computers the most the bots are watching videos made by algorithms and humans are literally getting squeezed out of the internet and we're just watching computers interact with each other watching machine learning take place in front of us and of course that's terrifying and alienating and it also leads us to project human shapes and structures and narratives to things like looking at a because the thing about like because think about all the the things being named after uh people who've been abducted first of all why would you like you wouldn't do that you wouldn't do that i mean it's just basic opsec you wouldn't do that secondly apparently that that those names and ***** are just because they're scraping the internet for ***** terms to put on things they're just scraping and so hey wait a minute here's the girl who got abducted and here's a name for her that must be mean 0:41:30 she's in there first glance that makes sense but it's it's just as much uh that process of of of in putting on a human skin to a essentially random uh arrangement of of information uh that'll that happens all the time and it's only gonna happen more and more and more as we are observing less and less and less actual human content i do like that apparently one of the q people actually bought one of the cabinets which i i really i really can't wait to find out what happens there i i hope i mean i'm sure they will keep people in the loop what else why else would you do it if not for posts but i really want to know what happens if there's a kid in there well i will admit i was wrong in other someone says in other words we're going to go insane i mean 0:42:32 going to go that's actually you could say that that's uh optimistic to say we're going to go because i think a case could be made that functionally we no longer relate to the real world which would make us by some definitions when you consider the degree to which we we live in an abstracted symbolic order compared to the amount of time we spent wrangling with the real that you could say oh not the real with the capital are not the lacanian real like material reality the kind that has been the dot the domain of humans since the beginning of human existence and now we are living purely or largely at a symbolic abstraction level where we glide between ideas effortlessly and frictionlessly and are never forced to apply the the the the um the 0:43:33 lathe of like material reality to them other people's opinions uh just time and space as constraints that we're able to do unconstrained uh association between symbols

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

and symbolic orders and we do that more than we do anything else i mean maybe that that's just and that's another thing honestly though i think that's another thing that's pushing us to the point of unsustainability of this another thing that's making this continue this may this this current uh order of of radical ego satisfaction in a fully simulated reality in which material conditions are collapsing in front of us it's just not sustainable and uh obviously you could say that forever and then die having never seen the moment of friction break happen and that could happen this thing could leap on for who knows how long but it won't limp on forever and i think the way to go through a day and not get too depressed and too hopeless is to know that we'll get there eventually at some point and if we don't how are you gonna ever know how are any of us ever gonna know none of us are gonna see socialism so let me but we still have to live our lives and that's where destroying that ego part because i think a lot of the thing that makes people so miserable about politics is that that horror of knowing they're never going to probably ever see anything you'd be better they're never going to experience things being better they're never going to actually get to live the life of a post-capitalist uh subject and that is a bummer uh but at the same time it's irrelevant because you still hit you're still here we're all still here and we have to live every day and i think the degree to which we live it for each other and not live it for a personal gratification is the degree that we can total ego death yeah we gotta do that we gotta we gotta do it but the thing is you can't tell people to do it and that's why like all the trad cats and people think we just need to like reinforce christianity as as as a hegemonic uh uh spirituality or something are absurd that's it that it's putting the toothpaste back in the tube it's going to have to be a new thing it's going to have to synthesize the concepts of pluralism and science and all of the all of the lived realities that permeate our relationships to one another you cannot you you turn this into a some sort of matthew walter catholic theocracy people are going to be ***** miserable even the catholics i mean my god the catholics the countries in europe for example that had the most hegemonic catholicism the ones where they didn't have a bunch of immigrants showing up and messing things up they didn't have um they didn't have hollywood triple parentheses using their cultural marxism on people uh then none of them believe in god ireland until like 20 years ago ireland was a theocratic plantation it was a priest ruled bog and now none of those ***** people believe in god you cannot impose it it has to rise organically for people coming to an awareness and then seeing that awareness reaffirmed in their because the market is is the market is is its tendrils are everywhere and it's the thing that guarantees that your your precious little trad cath concept will be overwhelmed unless you abolish uh the market relationship and guess what you cannot do that from a sectarian perspective catholic sectarians aren't going to overthrow capitalism

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

white nationalists aren't going to overthrow capitalism because you need the you need the people numbers are the only thing capital has everything else they have our ***** brains in the form of our value system they have the information networks they have they have the capital they have they have the military they have the police all we have are numbers and any movement that says we're going to get there by radically proscribing through morality or skin color or ethnicity is doomed because you will eventually have to make it make a devil's bargain with capitalism i do 0:48:59 think they should nationalize passive income absolutely national our uh nationalized passive income and also uh this is one thing i agree with the beauty thing is you could actually do like a judo flip on libertarians of course it won't matter because they don't really believe what they say they believe but if you wanted to just win an argument with libertarian you could point out that all the things they say about about the market relationship the equal relationship that exists between an employer and employee how it's it's it's a fair uh it's a fair negotiation between selling labor power buying it all their perceptions only exist without concentrated wealth and debt more than anything determining the power structure within those negotiations the only way to prevent that is to mow the lawn every generation every every new uh group of people you do not get your dad's ***** money or your mom's money no debt and no wealth accumulated you can accumulate i mean obviously there's a 0:50:2 difference between reform and abolishing capitalism but uh if you even wanted to make capitalism even vaguely use theoretical function you would have to abolish those things and the fact that that's uh that's absurd the fact that those things that would actually make capitalism work are essentially not viable getting rid of passive income yeah that'll work they're gonna stop that uh getting rid of inheritance the fact that those are non-negotiable overthrown someone says uh if you're gonna be buddhist 0:51:5 doesn't that mean ***** it no it doesn't because if you aren't living for yourself you're living for other people you're living you're living you're living loving kindness for all and in my mind anyway that means creating the conditions for everyone to reach that point and you cannot if you are deprived if you lived a deprived existence you will probably it'll be very difficult for you especially in a western context to ever even occur to you to uh to abolish the ego or desire because you've never had it fulfilled and you spend your life seeking and craving and and striving and being thwarted and then building your personality around your inability to have your desires fulfilled and then of course they're the people the rich people who get their desires filled and when they do that drives that they're miserable as well that drives them to a different sort of misery it's obviously more bearable but it is it's the same 0:52:7 spiritual deadness and the only way that any of that is going to be overcome is if you make so that rich people aren't able to get everything they want and poor people are able to get enough to ***** uh what books am i reading i've got um i just got an advanced copy of reagan land the fourth rick pearlstein book which i'm very excited 0:53:8 about i'm 100 pages in uh it's very good uh and it's basically he's clearly setting up it's about the the carter administration uh and i think that that is i'm excited because that's such an under studied era and under talked about era i think because carter really was the guy who codified the uh bipartisan neoliberal consensus before reagan reagan was just the kind of the capstone on it and one thing i think is really interesting is that pearlstein talks in the early parts of the book about how uh you know carter came into office he won the election closer than people thought it was going to be but he came in with a with a comfortable super majority in the house and senate uh and almost immediately ran into ground because the conservative movement which a lot of people a lot of liberals thought was dead after uh ford lost and after reagan was defeated at the convention before that uh were able to rally 0:54:10 resistance to carter along the axis of social issues uh gay marriage or uh gay rights and uh and the era and things like that and what i think is so funny is that you look you read that and you you read these these guys who use those social discontents to power and none of that stuff has stopped none of the things that they fought for none of the social change that they wanted to prevent has stopped it kept going uh because reagan never really gave a ***** about it and none of the none of the actual um functionaries of government really care about social issues because that's not what their job is their job is to maintain capital flows and capital capitalist control and more importantly they don't have power to change that those are all cultural responses to change in material conditions which is why fixating on culture from 0:55:11 either end of it is futile because it doesn't reach down it comes up from but anyway i'm looking forward to it's been a while since i've read any science fiction i'm thinking of finally reading gene wolfe a lot of people have been recommending gene wolfe to me and i've never read him before so i might check it out after i finish nixon land or reagan land rather it's also true of democrats it's true both parties they don't really care i mean it democrats get to get credit or blame for the fact that that uh social 0:56:13 liberalism keeps uh accelerating but it's not because of them it's not because of the republicans uh it's it's because of the social uh the social base it's atomization social base and the thing is that part of that is good because the the the traditionalism of the pre-seventies era was too stultifying and it had to be rearranged and it still needs to be rearranged and that's why i can't accept any notion of traditionalism as some sort of uh uh banner because it's sorry it's un-dialectical like the these these relationships have changed and we have to deal with the fact that they're the pro the thing is though is that that doesn't mean that you create litmus tests and you say if you're not if you're if you're not fully on board with the entire gamut of social change as we believe it uh to mean right at this moment and by the way it'll be different in two weeks and if you aren't up on that difference then you're ***** then 0:57:15 too uh if it's not this running tally of uh if you haven't like passed the gauntlet of wokeness then you're not in the club i don't think that that's the answer and the thing is i don't think most people care about that that much that uh people of good faith anyway uh i think there's a boogeyman built up like how many people are obsessed with like keeping tucker carlson out of the left who the ***** is actually saying he should be in the left is there anyone actually talking about that and more importantly even if they were who gives a ***** because there is no like the idea of alliance with like the populist right there is no populist right either there's just like there's no left there's no anybody there's just people and and you're talking about leaders guys who have tv shows or politicians they don't speak for anyone they're not connected to any kind of uh organization that can that can bring people in you can only say maybe the people who they like will like me now and it's just it's it's it's coke and pepsi ***** it's branding because there's no structure yeah people don't care about this stuff it's all hot house fantasy because people want to fight they want to slay demons uh online either are they either uh are the awoken the woke peace uh pmc uh propagandists or the the the strasserites and and it's fun doing that it's slippingly satisfying but it doesn't do anything because these people don't represent anyone and that's why i think that whatever's coming is going to have to come with a radical break because of how exhausted and um uh stalemated everything is at the yeah that's right look at me drinking spicy i like spicy mustard i also like brown 0:59:27 mustard on them on a brat honestly the i like the thick grain mustard best of all stone ground that's the stuff really ooh the american tabloid movie dream casting that's tough somebody said joe berenthal could be pete bondurant i think i could i don't know everyone seems like a pipsqueak now all actors are like they're just little they're little guys i don't buy any of them as do i realize that 90 of what i'm saying 1:0:40 applies to france it applies to every western every country to some extent because it's all part of the market but but more intensely in places where capitalism has been uh been hegemonic longer so us most of all because we're the lead we're the or the bleeding edge of it uh but also of course uh and of course uh france more than any most other people in uh europe because as i said france is the you know it's ass heinz ketchup wow we got the trolls out in force today someone bad-mouthing heinz 1:1:42

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

ketchup finding out there are people who don't like heinz ketchup that's a shocker but you know what taste is subjective and it doesn't really matter so everyone can enjoy their inferior france is like the u.s and someone asks is it because they think people love them honestly yeah that's a big part of it it's the thing that i think is american about france is just the the the uh the nauseating self-regard of their

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

culture which i think that's why we're not the uk even though we're anglophone because the british are self-loathing and we are not uh and the same thing with the french they love themselves and they love their country and they think that they they think they invented democracy we think we did uh both of us think that's like 1:2:44 we can look around now and act like that's anything to ***** celebrate yeah they are nationalists in a very similar way that we are even of course ours is much more violent and that's that's the frontier baby that's the that's that free real estate that's that's the settler colonial part all right this is the last thing i'm going to say before i wrap up someone's asking about and this is the this is the sa scary thing is that somebody asks do i think that you know as things get worse revolution's gonna be inevitable and i gotta say not at all because there's i think a faith that a lot of people have and i think that undergirds a lot of assumptions and i i feel this way sometimes too and i kind of catch myself that as things get worse people are going to come to some sort of realization about the system they live under but i don't think there's any 1:3:45 reason to assume that that's going to happen absent the social conditions that like the marxist conception of class consciousness arising is that people compare notes like peop people in a factory are in a working class neighborhood they have a they have a common experience of exploitation that they can discuss they have a social relationship to one another that leads them to a realization we all are siloed off in our individual mind units uh with our personally curated feeds and algorithmically generated content that give us individualized responses to our lives including its their conditions and their immiserations and that leads us to a lot of bad conclusions like they're shipping children in the mail in giant cabinets and when things get worse there's no guarantee that uh that we're going to change that heuristic we're only probably going to double down on it because nothing's intervening with us to make us not think that this is the way things are that our explanation for reality is not 1:4:46 the correct one that's that social dimension that makes that happen and that's why i'm saying the hope is into things like teacher strike or big box retail i think is a real big one amazon headquarters because to this day nothing has replaced and in fact everything is only displaced and made worse the the radicalizing empowering positive feedback loop of of the workplace as center of social uh conflict and radicalization and i know that that sucks because people are all working temp jobs where they don't even see a co-worker all day or they're working from home or they don't have a job at all and that's a huge huge percentage of the population and the question is well what about me uh and that's a hard one to answer the hope is that enough of those people enough people who don't have uh that they can see people who do 1:5:48 and get the and take the right uh lessons from that take uh and that's that's where the dice get rolled that's where that's where we enter the multiverse and uh we find out which which timeline we're in and i don't know i don't know kind of got this truck going but all we can do in the meantime is keep our powder dry so dry up your powder everybody

CUSHVLOG 44. THE MUPPETS TAKE AYAHUASCA

Vibes at Midnight

07.14.20

*Music playing** I think I'm going I'm still waiting to confirm there I am anybody on ok we got some folks it looks like hi everybody I already lost a little guy a little what do you call it the dampener I think it's in the other room but hopefully it'll still sound ok I just need a little confirmation from the gang that I'm sound alright and then we can get going how's everybody doing today beautiful day here in Brooklyn sun's out guns out it's nice like 80 thank you to everyone who's been saying that I look weirdly thin lately it's nice but I'll take it wherever I get it and I cut my own hair I used the shaver I shaved my face Irish shaved my beard down and I realized that when I just let it go - like Marxian lengths that it adds like 15 pounds to my head like I do look like the Zardo Scott head coming in just waiting for guns and food bars to come shooting out of my mouth the penis is evil the gun is good but then when I click trim it down a little bit it's like oh my face actually it's like it's narrowed by a good third so I think I'm gonna try to not let it get that wild again especially since I'm doing so much streaming now and there's just my face there's just thought there's now there's hundreds of hours of me on YouTube with and then of course you throw the hat on and it's easier to obscure the rapidly well thanks thank you for everyone and I'll try to keep that in mind I'll try to keep myself a little more narrowly headed to than I was well someone's saying my last stream was good thank you I get a little worried when I get abstract you know talking about the need to infuse meaning in public space through ritual and like a renewed religious traditions I know that that's kind of out there and I get worried about losing my ability to translate down to a more general understanding level but I'm still gonna try goddamn it even if it just ends up being dismissed by most everyone is gibberish it's all I it's it's what makes sense to me right now and that's all I can talk about I can't I can't be false I can't be fall for this long in front of the camera like for me I really find that uh this whole set up is like a truth it's like in a tear it's like Errol Morris is antara Tron or something we're just knowing that there's this audience out there this Benthamite panoptic on and while I'm trying to like reason things out it kind of squeezes all of the artifice away because I can't maintain it it becomes too difficult to keep the lie straight and

CUSHVLOG 45. VIBES AT MIDNIGHT

I end up having to just I have to just come clean just so that I can keep talking and fill the ***** space with words so that's why I've really really enjoyed this and I think that honestly doing these has been really important to do my personal spiritual evolution to get to get real with it so thank you for anyone who is still finding any meaning out of these because that's what makes me feel like it's still worth doing and not totally so today I wanted to talk about something that's a little more maybe a little more grounded a little more historical because I've been reading Reagan and I got an advance copy through my media connections of the new Rick Pearlstein book that covers the Carter Administration I've talked about it a bit before on I'm here and it's it's very good I just finished nineteen it's it's divided in years and I just finished 1977 and Oh may have I'm I got my hands I'm rubbing them together but already there's been a lot of great stuff and what's really cool about Pearlstein is it I think more than anyone he understands the the real dialectical dynamic even if he isn't really a dialectician and he's like more he has a liberal Sensibility and you know his narrative is evolutionary without you know being fully three-dimensional but he he definitely gets that there is like a conflict driving the emergence of like the Republican Party as we understand it like we got here through a process it's like not it's it's true to say like oh these are the same Republicans they've always been but that's also obscures the fact that over the years they've changed it's like a ship of theseus thing they fused and shifted and it's the same people pursuing the same political goals to see that's the important thing is that the the base the real base of power of the Republican Party America's capitalist class has not changed what's changed to spend the culture that changes within the economy have produced that requires the Republican Party which is a political institution and has to reflect some sort of will of the people in some way to be legitimate as a political institution in a putative democracy so they have to reflect the frustrations and an alienation of their voters as neoliberalism immiseration I'm talking of course about you know from the middle class and lower Republican voters including upper middle class because people point out Oh a lot of these Trump voters they don't have they're not economically insecure they have a lot of money but the thing is is it's not necessarily even your actual immiseration it's the fear of immiseration the fear of falling as bear Barbara Ehrenreich said apparently the the rich people who like Trump the most are the ones in congressional districts but are still you know like segregative so like white poverty you know places in like Appalachia in the Midwest that have been hammered by the industrialization and they still are doing well so you can't say that they're miserable but their neighbors are doing poorly and their kids they know are gonna do worse than that so there's anxiety even if there is an actual immiseration so the conditions on the ground for everybody who hasn't been at the very top of the distribution of income in this country over the last 40 years have been ***** you either you have lost it significantly and materially or you fear losing it both of which create alienation 0:8:15 from America being the the the the project of America and that alienation has to go somewhere and the job of the Republican Party is to keep it reactionary to keep it fixated on cultural demons cultural spirits brought up by the conjuring wand of the manufacturing of consent immigrants minorities communists whatever the abortion providers call cultural Marxists and that's been because things have gotten worse and the Republican Party has to reflect that what pro scene gets is that that reality that reality of of a widening gap between the the commitment to the project of America between the people who run the Republican Party and the people who vote for the Republican Party has led to a cultural shift within the Republican Party towards 0:9:17 the sort of blood and soil anti-intellectual tub-thumping populism of Trump but it's not just culture changing significantly it was resolving a conflict in the Republican Party between the internationalist wing which is Wall Street which was embodied by Eisenhower or beating Taft at the 52 convention and then and then and then Rockefeller Nelson Rockefeller being the avatar of that you Wall Street Wall Street republicanism that saw its interest aligned along a international line because they were the capitalists who had the most information right because you can ever say that the ruling class rules by their own interests for their own interests they rule for the perception of their own interests and usually those are very close because they have a lot of information in power and that gives them the tendrils to recognize the 0:10:18 terrain more than uh Schmucks who don't have that kind of coordinated intelligence gathering capability so they have the most information which means that they can control the situation more but it's not total there's a gap the dunning-kruger thing that's inside every institution in person and but they were closer to knowing with the score they were closer after World War two looking at the global war global economy and the right and the Soviet Union and say this is going to be this is not going to be a military conflict this is we are going to win by Doc creating a new dominant economic model that will be hegemonic we will replace the patchwork exploitative system extractive system of European colonialism and we were replaced it with a world system of raw raw production extraction of the third world leading to consumption in the first that's what we're gonna build and that requires standing up the economies of all our former enemies and infusing them with capital and eventually helping them 0:11:21 establish their own competitive industrial economies to compete with us because they needed to be strong because otherwise they would be defeated they saw that vision but there were other Americans who ended up getting represented by Goldwater and then Reagan often thought of it's the Sun Belt Cowboys who won who won the battle for the soul of the Republican Party those guys were local manufacturers mostly the

CUSHVLOG 45. VIBES AT MIDNIGHT

CUSHVLOG 45. VIBES AT MIDNIGHT

you're talking about a regional powerhouse he mentions the Allen Bradley company in Milwaukee a perfect example it's a local like Industrial Supply Company that is also one of the premier funders of race science are Charles Murray got a ton of money from them they have their own think tank that trying to prove the racial superiority of white people and they've spent millions of dollars over the years on the kind of direct mail grassroots stimulation that led to the creation of that that movement Robert Welch the founder of the John Birch Society was a small local candy manufacturer in Massachusetts the Knott's Berry family who ended up who had who now have a theme park in Orange County and were like one of the one of the four families that basically monopolized agriculture cash crop agriculture in California in the 20th century another reactionary funder and and font and that spoke to that middle class who didn't have that they didn't have the interests they weren't they were being exploited by Wall Street they didn't have interest in common Wall Street and so they were actually their real interests were opposed to the broad category of capital but they didn't know that but they because they couldn't see the one in front of them because of the ideology that they had they couldn't see the near exploiter but they could see the far one and they hated them and so the near exploiter these these new right guys who ended up becoming you know from young Americans for freedom and from the Goldwater campaign and then to Reagan who provided the other poll the poll that said we don't need this international ***** we should we don't need to accommodate and what that also meant is we don't have to accommodate to culture shift which is why Wall Street liberalism was more socially liberal because it knew the larger game was capitalism versus communism they knew that that was the real stakes because they were international in their outlook and that meant that when there's discontent along racial lines you have to deal something about it or you will undermine yourself against your enemy the nearsightedness the nearsighted small producers didn't know if they think we're unable to essentially to perceive that level they couldn't even see that dimension of reality because they're too focused on their own piggish local consumption and they said no we confront the Soviet Union and we destroy anyone who tries to undermine our culture and that became the real argument and by the time Pearlstein stalking when Reagan is goes from being chipped close almost getting Ford's nomination in 76 and then getting he's describing the moment when that bipartisan neo liberal consensus slams down right when oh the broader like political economy economic questions that used to be the domain of the political parties are no longer gonna be on the political table because neither one of us are gonna mention them neither party can now talk about stuff like deindustrialization you know trade debt or trade deficits because to be a world reserve currency in the post Bretton Woods system you have to be

CUSHVLOG 45. VIBES AT MIDNIGHT

a consumer and not a producer industrially be that it doesn't work the other way we have to have a trade deficit and a big one to float the dollar as because that's what floats that's what makes the dollar circulate that's what's that's the that's the capillary action of the vascular system of the world economy where the dollar is the reserve currency we have to have run a trade deficit which means we have to dia industrialized and neither party will argue about that and they didn't for years so it became so what filled the void was culture and thought culture filled the void completely and then you have more secure white people the white people who are less touched personally by the by the immiseration caused by deindustrialization they they have essentially the luxury to pursue social liberalism and claim that social liberalism will will solve the the misery of our lives because they can't name the real cause anymore nobody can name the thing nobody can name the thing we can only pretend to have a cultural response to it that could make the difference it's all snake oil the thing is some people are aware they're smelling snake oil and some people don't know they're selling snake oil that's the real difference that was the fight in the Republican Party the internationalist knew they were selling snake oil the local producers thought it was real stuff that it really cures your ails that's the best the difference within these parties because the the real question can't be answered because to keep this thing this this ***** global thing coming and most importantly keep this thing flowing with us in the driver's seat because that mmt ***** that's technically true right now it's just describing events as long as the dollar as a reserve currency because we need to build the ***** military because we're the cops we're we're the head of the octopus and we need to have where we direct the military arm the police arm so we have to have be able to run huge deficits and we also have to have a population that can buy things because we're the consumer of last resort so we have to we can't do it we can't stop spending or or tax it or I mean we can't stop spending money on the military and we can't stop with spending money directly or indirectly through quantitative easing and through government programs putting money into people's hands so that and credit into people's hands so that they can keep buying credit being the important thing like the it's all just credit to keep the system going and so social liberals I have the have the the cultural position and social position and due to their wealth due to their their holding onto that fragment of work middle of middle-class wealth that we're still hanging on to that's slowly shrinking this iceberg of post-war wealth that went to the middle the white middle class mainly and is now slowly shrinking and people still holding on to some and the people holding on to more are the Liberals and so they have the they because because they have institutions like colleges that sort of launder their continued exist at the top their continued role in exploiting right like their exploiters

CUSHVLOG 45. VIBES AT MIDNIGHT

and they know it and you go to college to sort of soothe yourself of feeling bad about 0:18:42 it and that leaves you coming out of the end liberal socially you don't go to college here on the bottom if you're being exploited well then you don't have really a lot of guilt to sue in the first place and then you don't go through the process and so you are more likely to blame cultural elements especially if there's a party that exists to convince you that there are cultural explanations for this and that blame other people for things because you're trying to blame somebody for your for why you're mad the liberal isn't trying to blame anybody liberal is trying to assuage guilt those are the two poles of motivation for politics liberal wants does not feel guilty the conservative wants to blame somebody and so the Republicans are there to have scapegoats at a cultural level for them to go to and that's why they gravitate towards 0:19:43 their liberals want they want to feel virtuous and therefore going for the underdog makes them feel better and it makes them feel like they deserve their wealth now and what happened with the Republican Party is Pearlstein points out is that as economics fell away as the thing you could actually talk about when you're running for anything and got filled with culture that meant that the party itself filled with people who cared about culture because the people who care about culture they're producing people who don't have that old understanding they don't understand that these things are just to write to rile up the rubes they don't understand that this is supposed to be rhetoric because they're learning they're sleeping the same culture
