Shirt with key hole cut out and short sleeves

The shirt runs a bit small, therefore, please pre-wash your fabrics.

Cut all pieces according to the piece list. Add seam allowance with exception of the neck line. Since the stretchability of knit wear varies, measure the strips generously.

Basically, you should use stretch stitches as e.g. four-thread over-edge stitch or zig zag stitch.

Pin the right fabric side of the shorter strip to the wrong side of key hole cut out of the shirt. Use a stretch stitch (e.g. a small zig zag stitch) to attach the strip to the shirt, easing the strip as you go.

Turn the strip to the right fabric side of the shirt, fold the seam allowance under and topstitch with a narrow zig zag stitch.

Close the shoulder seams, right sides together.

Pin the center of the neck line strip with the right side to the left side of the center of the back piece neck line. Attach the neck line strip to the neck line, starting at the center point, using a small zig zag stitch, easing the strip slightly when sewing.

Turn the strip over the neck line, fold the seam allowance under and pin.

Stitch with a small zig zag stitches and secure with a small zig zag bar tack at the edges of the cutout.

Cut the ties at the desired length and make knots at the ends.

Alternatively, you may also sew a button loop on one side and a button on the other side.

Finish the sleeve edges fold approx. 1 cm inside and stitch to form a casing. Insert the elastic, cinch to the desired fit and secure the ends.

Sew the sleeves according to the marks. Fold the remaining seam allowance approx. 1 cm inside and stitch.

Stitch the side seams.

Press the seam allowance towards the front part and tack it with a small triangle to the armhole.

Hem the shirt.

Your ANTONIA summer shirt is finished!

Shirt with patchwork long sleeves

The shirt runs a bit small, therefore, please pre-wash your fabrics.

Cut all pieces according to the piece list. Add seam allowance with exception of the neck line. Since the stretchability of knit wear varies, measure the strips generously.

Basically, you should use stretch stitches as e.g. four-thread over-edge stitch or zig zag stitch.

Stitch both shoulder yokes on the front part, right sides facing and close one shoulder yoke seam on the back part.

Fold the strip for the neck band lengthwise and stitch it, right sides facing, with a stretch stitch, easing gently as you go.

Fold the seam allowance towards the shirt and topstitch from the right side.

Stitch the last shoulder yoke seam and tack the seam allowance with a small triangle to the neck line.

Right sides together, stitch the sleeve parts. The lower part is a slightly exposed flounce.

Alternatively, the sleeve may be cut out in one part. To do so, cut only the slightly exposed sleeve (piece 7).

Stitch the sleeves to the body, right sides together.

Close the side and sleeve in one seam. Hem the shirt.

Your ANTONIA shirt is complete!
