

The Zemo Profile

Doctor Clark Martin, a former leader of the Calibre and a former inventor and doctor of the secret anthropomorphic installment program, is married to his wife, Meaghan Jacobs and has two children: Ramona Jesse and Timothy.

He is a secret service agent who has been serving the secret service agency by earning the hardship and rewarding the funds and grants from U.S. government agency. Sending him to Europe by studying the anthropomorphic robotic body in the installment program, he is met by another doctor Alfriends and needs help from him to make sure there is no error in a program.

Until the end of the Calibre, a doctor faces a dire consequences of his actions and learns that his own monstrous ideas destroy the powered people. He is faced by his wife, the one who wants him dead. His children wants him dead for what he did to his son and her long-term boyfriend.

When he joined the Zemo Squad, his true intentions confuse his wife so much to see why he wants U.S. government agency destroyed and made them not know his files. He is blamed mostly by the Damage Control, the ones among them readying to shoot him in his head. Somehow, he survives a gunshot in his head in which has not revealed how he survive. He is threatened by the waves of the US government agency, the ones who want him killed before anyone knew or he will expose his secret.

He creates a bodysuit for him to protect himself from powered people and agency trying to kill him. He has no other choice in an order to decide to take a justice for his wrongdoings to his dead pupils and kill himself with a new cybernetic program in his bodysuit before the Strangers Wars start.

He faces the raw power of the alien race-Strangers, a top chain of the universe. He knows he can not survive the Strangers Wars. The Zemo squads try to stop him from going to face the aliens and making sure he is not going to a space. The Strangers went after the human targets among the Zemo Squads by humiliating the Zemo squads that they can not protect humans. He is blasted by the cosmic alien ray gun. He is seen dead in a public television by shocking the Damage Control and his wife so much in knowing that he is right about the program and he is wrong not to do anything about. His feelings are filling up with a guilt like a flash flood. The Zemo: The Alpha Squad survived the worst attacks of the Strangers and rushed to a demi-transdimensional portal of Zunior. When Zunior is dead, Sweetheart and Zeia are pushed by Zazzles to the Zemo facility from a tunnel. Leaving a doctor behind all, he is revealed alive in which makes the Zemo wonder whether he is worth a key or not .

His wife wants an interrogation with him angrily and demands how he did it. She extracts a dna from him to see whether he is a human or not. It reveals that he is a human. She is shocked by it, telling him that he is the ultimate key to Earth and chosen by the agency to protect the world from dangers.

The Damage Control faces him and tells his wife to back off, telling him that he is a complete mistake that the Calibre trusted him and under a very danger of Calibre's secret plan. This secret plan is revealed that General Hoswell has to signed the paper and reached the agreement, releasing the new agency to kill him instantly.

the Earth is seized by a swarm of viruses, the secret agency survives the attacks and most of the Calibre dies in the eyes of Bans before Bans go to the Pure Future World. Bans saw a horrible events of the virus destroying and killing the Calibre.
