

The Origins of the Star Daggers

On the unknown planet, there are two nations from the North and South waging a war over a girl who they like.

The secret of how they get to an Earth is to use a secret passage through a dimensional portal from the planet to the Badlands of the Earth.

Until the two nations witness the event of destructive force of two men on the rainforests of the United States of America into a desert, then they discover Zeia is a Starrian and that the girl who they fight over. They banned three out of their planet, but made a deal with three even if they reach the farther point of a destination in which they cross over a territory of the Alienation.

Alienation annihilated the unknown planet into nothing by shocking the whole universe to see what happened and feel the fear of the power of the multiplying replicates of aliens under their queen, Sha'Balla.

Zeia, Galax, and Nitro were upset about the planet being destroyed by Alienation. Zeia and Nitro were devastated to lose their first girl child on that planet.

The Star Daggers bear the witness of the dysfunctional family drama, the taste of the power of the Alienation, and the annihilation of the unknown planet.

Anite is believed dead. Then Meko has left due to a separate parents. And Ghent is kidnapped. Yogalarus remains loyalty to Zeia as she spies on Nitro when Nitro becomes a leader. Hot Rod is busy in with Zauren. Zauren follows Zeia where Zeia has departed, is busted by Zeia, becomes a spy. Viren is mysterious to them. Latic is helping them on few occasional missions.

Until now the Fiery Star Watchers come to face with the Zemo squads after the post-Strangers Wars, they ask for their missing family. They reveal that they survived the annihilation of the Alienation and escaped from the destroyed planet. They might have done something with Anite could be a possible reason how Anite ends up being a survivor to become of the Spider-Lady.

This is a reason why they exist and the whole family depart to the Pure Future World.

In the Pure Future World, the two nations are waging a war each other over the power of a star to rule the whole continent. They lose to Zeia over the both nations on their purpose, but both nations ban them out of their planet. Leaving a girl child with those who willingly took care of, her parents were exiles and they've their marriage problems that cause the children a chaos. Things turn out to be not what they thought a girl was dead and some survivors from the unknown planet.

The Star Station has been disconnected since they left the Star Station. The Space Star Station is established by the Fiery Star Watchers, the ones who has been trying to contact the Star Station until they found the Star Station empty.

The known allied alien alliance has formed the High Council of the Order of the Space Star System and asked for three to return to their court. The Fiery Star Watchers made an appearance at the court and accept their request in an order to find three.

The Sunblacers is one of these known allied alien alliance and is make known to the High Council of the Order of the Space Star System. Haley has a lot of great news to deliver to them that three are still alive but she needs a help from them to destroy the virus. Schenectady is shocked to see the High Council of the Order of the Space Star System by learning that the Zemo is in a danger and vacuums the rest of the Zemo and the Xia out of the Earth.

Amaze to see Meteorock alive, he is recovered from the Strangers Wars.