

The Demolation

What or who is the Demolation? part 1

A man blamed Zemo for a death of his wife and decided to end the new generation of the Zemo for the past's mystery agency's responsibility. It was a long time ago.

Now... things get interested.

A missing text pieces from a broken tablet mentioning the name of the Demolation.

"You must not find us. Leave it be buried. Do not risk the future for us and you. For the sake of ours."

"If you dare to cross a line and ascertain the secret. Exposing the secret with a natural curse, there will be the end of the worlders and yours."

"All die. The end of the worlders. Behold of the eyes before a flash. This must be hidden, and buried forever. This must be lost forever."

"You must not dare to touch, see, or do before you watch your place and know your place better than you think you know. You must leave it alone. Forever and forevermore."

"D...E...M...O...L...A...T...I...O...N..."

From 1979-50:: 1911 (could be right)

"The earliest bird rises every single morning. It catches a worm."

"It is the end of a life of a bird. It dies with its talons that grasp the worm."

"In a desert of Mon-Grel-Gol, there is a gigantic pack of worms. It is only a worm that a bird dies catching with its talon."

"It is a worm. It is the end of the worlders. It is not just an ordinary worm or a monster worm. It is the end of worlders. It's apocalypse."

"It can crawl the desert, it can glide in the wind, it can swim in the sea; it can do anything anywhere where no one can escape from."

"The death is everywhere. The end of the world. That is where we stop here."

A person asks another person, "What is a Mon-Grel-Gul? It is like Mongul? Mongrel? Sounds more like Mogollon or Mongolia somewhere between Asia and Middle East, don't they to you?"

- Another person asks, "Ours? We? Why do they write a text for anybody as they preferably say you not to read or touch it? What is it?"

First question comes before those question is What is the Demolation?

A person says, "Could it be a race of people or a name of a place? Demolation sounds more like nothing makes sense out of it compare to a "earliest bird". It is not unlikely a phoenix. Nor is Roc. What is a bird?

How do they know the difference between a bird and reptile?

Until we know they speak of worm, now there are three definitions of the worms. Nobody mentions something out of ordinary in 1911?

"Look at ass, mule, and snake in this tablet."

"A snake sheds its skin into a new skin. A snake has been lived here too long until it sheds. It moves and disappears."

"From ass to mule, they are different but same family. A mule has to go where it evolves from a desert to a new environment. Ass has been living in a desert too long."

Thats all we got?

No, take a look at this:

"This is ethereal. So ethereal. Everything you think of is all above the laws--ethereal. The purple thing. Not just a purple. There are more darker and lighter than purple things. Do not cross this place up there. This is a territory."

Wait... What is this?

"A man and a woman shall not marry under a law of the marriage from two places. A man should marry any woman in this place where they live and grow up. A woman should stay where she belongs forever. If that is what a curse would be like an eye."

"Two brothers fight over a woman who they fell in love and who has not made a decision which man she wants to fall for. This is the fastest three of all but two competitive big cats and one cursed antelope. A predator just preys on a prey for the betrayal of love and trust. Everything is changed for once and all."

Two bros? Big cats? Woman? Antelope?
