They had been fighting all the times until whoever won the battle and earned the title of the greatest and deadliest warrior tribe. No one knew who won and what warrior tribe survived.

After the end, the Trizen started entering into a mystery unknown later reveals to be a future phenomenal. A soul of Miami is too strong to resist the cursed, evil spirit of Omen while Omen possessed her with a headband with a letter "O" on it. She finally risks her life to leave and separate from an Omen spirit and rather die if they divide two from one. She steals the telepathic mind of Omen by tracing her missing sister during the war. She sees the piles of lying dead warriors and finds a very slight of an active, unconscious mind of Dina Jenners. She starts speaking the name of her sister, Dina. Dina can hear a loud voice from telepathy, then wake up seeing the telepathic-spiritual bond of Miami, hear her voice, then gets up, and runs while following the trials of voice from that place where warriors died to an unknown place she follows her sister.

After the end of the Trizen event, Dina found her sister and returned to Michy's destroyed homeworld as she brought the Michy warrior tribe last warrior, Alessandra with her to her sister's hidden place.

After that, Dina thought all the warriors die and she earned the title yet. She learns that there are more warrior tribes existing after the end of the warriors war.
