The Fiery Star Watch

The Fiery Star Watch currently appears to reach the Earth in an order of a search of a legendary Captain Zeia Garrison of the Star Jagers. They try to find her and let her know that they are still alive.

The North Star of the Nation and the South Star of the Nation wage a war against each other over a girl who they want at same time. A planet is annihilated by Alienation. A blast from a past presents in a current event of what's happening to them is nothing more than Fiery Star Watch, a missing girl child, and a mystery lady joins the Star Jagers at the Star Station.

The abandoned Star Station is found by the Fiery Star Watch, the ones who has been trying to contact two female and two males who they knew from their encounters. They discover the existence of the whole team--The Star Jagers. They rebuild the old Star Station into a new Space Star Station, connecting to their place a far away in a case if there are more remaining survivors on their place.

They finally met Spider Lady by asking for Zeia and learnt that Zeia was dead at this moment. Unaware of that Zeia is still alive, they can not believe their eyes to see a missing child nothing more than Spider-Lady.

They decide to find a list of the Star Jagers and want to find the North Star and the South Star first.

Viren meets Spider-Lady right after they has left the facility and is asked by Spider-Lady about the Fiery Star Watch. She asks Spider-Lady who are they as Spider-Lady says they are looking for Zeia and wanting the Zemo to know that they arrive at the Star Station. Viren is shocked by this, realizing that her friends may be alive after a destroyed planet and trying to find them.

Viren rushes to her husband and son as she says, "Our people are alive and here!! They are from your nation and your brother's nation! They found our station! They met Spider-Lady at the facility right here on the Earth!

The Zemo Squads and Squaderon's fate remains unknown whether they remain active or not.

Pure Future World appears as it has been building long since a young girl appeared in the pages of the Xiamen and this happenstance appears in the story arc of the Trizen Event for making it clear that a connection between Hot Pink, Jodie, and the Future Man is made in these stories in its major plot to the mystery unknown place in which reveals to be Future Man's homeworld. Most of these members on the team with Jodie reveal most of them leave the Zemo squads and squadron for themselves to meet their fate to the Pure Future World.

O.U.W.O. removes the name of the team--Zemo and is formed. Nobody knows who the O.U.W.O. is.
