“Alright, sit down! I have an announcement to make!” Every student in the class sat down as Misaki and Hana looked at the teacher.

“Oooo, an announcement! I wonder what Mr. Takashi is going to say...”

“Who knows? Might be another quiz...” Two students talked to one another in the corner as Takashi clears his throat loudly.

“AHEM!” Everybody sits up straight, looking at him with anticipation. “As I was saying...! I have an announcement for the class. While abnormal, a new late-year transfer student will be joining this class until the end of the year.”

“Transfer student?” Misaki and Hana looked at the teacher in curiosity of who the student was as the entire class mumble about it.

“You can come in now!” The door opens as a girl walks in, standing in front of the whole class. Everyone looked at the girl astonished as she silently ignores their gazes.

“So short...”

“She has pink hair! That’s so cute!”

“She looks like one of those lolis from animes...” Takashi slams the table as he glares at everybody.

“Stop with the remarks! Please introduce yourself.” The girl steps up front, bowing before everybody.

“Nice to meet you all. I’m Himura Touka. I’m half-Japanese half-English, and studied in the United Kingdom before moving to Japan.” As everybody gasped in amazement, Misaki and Hana had a face of despair on them as they looked at her.

“Oh... my... god...!” Misaki shook in fear along with Hana as Touka looked around the classroom.

“You all better be nice to her! Touka, where would you like to sit?”

“Alright, please sit down. Everybody, we’re preparing for homeroom now!” Touka walks over to the table and sits down as Misaki and Hana looked at each other worriedly.

Time Placement: 10:30am, September 2021.

“Alright, class is over! Take your short break before the next teacher arrives!” Takashi leaves the classroom as the school bell rings loudly. Touka then becomes surrounded by most of the class as they begin to ask multiple questions.

“Can you speak English?! How good are you?!”

“Your hair looks so beautiful, can I touch it?”

“Hey hey, can we be friends?” Touka silently ignored them as they continue to ask questions at her.

“...Hana.” Misaki looked at Hana worriedly.

“...Yeah?”

“...Do you think it’s her?”

“Um... Her face looks exactly the same, but her ears are normal... And it doesn’t feel like she has bad intentions. Honestly, I’m not sure?” Hana awkwardly chuckled.

“Hana, she’s a transfer student that transferred here. AND IT’S NEARLY THE END OF THE SCHOOL YEAR.” Misaki frowned as they both looked at Touka.

“What do you think we should do then?”

“...How about we just watch her for now? And also help her out a little so we can get closer to her?” Misaki suggested with a serious tone.

“Friendship manipulation? Sounds kind of bad...” Hana sadly remarked.

“It’s the witch who is friends with the same girl who took us hostage, I think manipulation is sort of a payback in this case.”

“...Alright, if you say so...” The two stood up from the table, immediately dispersing the crowd surrounding Touka.

“Alright, that’s enough questions, everyone! You can very well see she wants to be alone!”

“Yeah! Give her some privacy!” The two glared at everyone as they grumbled and went back to their seats, talking to one another. The two then looked at Touka, who in turn looks back at them.

“...” Touka silently stared at them before speaking quietly. “...Thank you.”

“No problem!” Hana smiled. “I’m Takahashi Hana! Nice to meet you!”

“Kanoko Misaki, nice to meet you too.” The two smiled at Touka as she looked at them surprised. She then slightly smiles in response.

“Nice to meet you too...”

Time Placement: 1:46pm, September 2021.

Hana looks at the textbook, she frustratingly groaned.

“This is too hardddddd!!!! I hate math...” Hana bangs her head on the table repeatedly.

“This is abnormally harder than normal...” Misaki scratched her head as she reads the textbook.

“...” Touka silently writes in the book as everybody notices. Touka continues to write multiple equations page by page, not showing a sign of stopping before she stops at the last page of the chapter in the textbook. “Done.”

“Huh?” Misaki looked at Touka as she showed her textbook on the table. The teacher approaches her and looks at the book, gasping in shock.

“T-This is...! Touka, how did you...?!” The teacher looked at Touka as she looked out the window.

“I had a tutor who taught me ahead of time.” Everybody gasped in awe as she ignored them.

Time Placement: 3:34pm, September 2021.

Location: Shigaku Gakuen High School

As the students walk out of the school, Misaki and Hana stand by the gate.

“Why do we have to follow her? It’s kind of dangerous...” Hana asked worriedly.

“This could be our chance to find out where she’s staying at so we can tell Ms. Yukio!” Misaki told Hana. Touka then soon walks out the school gate. “There she is!”

Misaki then chases her as Hana follows behind “Wait up!”

As they follow Touka through the streets, the crowd soon blocks the two’s view.

“I can’t see her!” Misaki and Hana move through the crowd, trying to find Touka as they look around.

“We lost her!”

“It’s fine... She doesn’t seem that bad.” As soon as Hana said those words, they immediately felt a hand on both their fronts before getting dragged into an alleyway. “AH!”

The two fall on the ground as they get up, seeing Touka glaring at them.

“...Touka. Or is it Morgan le Fay?” Misaki gets up, glaring back as Hana gets up in a panic.

“Misaki, don’t be rude!”

“...No, she’s correct.” Touka crosses her arms as she looks at the two.

“Eh?” Hana looked at Touka in confusion as her eyes turned red, with her ears becoming pointy, showing her true identity.

“Why did I have to go into the same class as you...” Morgan sighs as Misaki holds Hana’s hand with worry.

“Why are you in our school?! What do you want?!” Misaki angrily asked.

“Calm down-“

“LIKE HELL I’LL CALM DOWN! Your friend tried to kill us for Aoi!”

“Misaki-“

“No, she’s right... I have no reason to reject your accusations since it’s slightly my fault... But I didn’t intend for her to do that. I don’t want to hurt anybody not involved in this fight.” Morgan looked at the two and bowed.

“I’m sorry.” Misaki’s anger slowly disappeared as she looked at Morgan confused.

“...You...”

“I’m in your school for personal reasons. I... want to experience how life is in the 21st century. Everybody in Japan seemed happy, along with these ‘High School’ students, and I wanted to try... So I did a bit of tricks to get myself into Shigaku Gakuen High School, but I didn’t expect the class I manipulated the staff into letting me join had both of you there.”

“...” Misaki and Hana looked at Morgan as she sighed.

“I won’t interfere with your lives. You two seem like really caring people, and I don’t want to hurt you just because you’re helping my idiotic brother. In Shigaku Gakuen, I’m Himura Touka... But outside of my life in Japan, I’m Morgan le Fay. Nothing more.” Morgan transforms back to her human appearance as she walks past the two, leaving the alleyway, only for Hana to grab her by the hand.

“Huh?” Touka turns around as Hana grabbed both her hands, looking at her with a smile.

“Even if you are a ‘witch’ posing as a high school student... Can we at least try to be friends?” Hana asked as Misaki and Touka looked at her surprised. Touka then chuckles, which then turned into a happy giggle.

“Ehehehehahaha! You’re kind of funny... You actually want to be friends with someone like me, despite what history has said about me?”

“I don’t rely on history for friendships! Hehehe!” Hana arrogantly smiled.

“...I would like to try and be friends with you too.” Misaki asked as well as Touka looked at her.

“...Alright. Fine then! But at least do me the favor of not telling anybody else about this, or they’ll question you in a bad way, alright?”

“Alrighty!” Hana happily raised her hand in agreement.

“Mhmm.” Misaki nodded.

“Alright then... I’ll be seeing you soon.” Touka then walks away into the streets, disappearing from Misaki and Hana’s view.

“So... Should we be worried now?” Misaki asked as she looked at Hana.

“Nahhhh!!! Morgan may be called bad... But I don’t think she’s that bad. She seems nice!” Hana happily replied.

“...Yeah. Yeah, she does.”

Ending Theme: Hunter or Prey by NOISEMAKER

Lyrics: AG

Composer: HIDE

Arrangement: NOISEMAKER

A girl stands on the rooftop of Shigaku Gakuen, looking at her phone.
She scrolls through the news, eventually stopping at an article.
about Morgan le Fay.

In testing been bleeding
Got a vision but my doubts' been breeding

She smiles as she turns her phone off, looking into the sky.
"Morgan le fay... She really exists!
This is the greatest day of my life! Hehehe!"

Still want it,
Frustrated
See the madness,
understate it

She rolls around on the floor
for a short moment before getting up, giving a determined smile.

Cause I got what will keep me hauling
Not stalling just cause I be crawling
Shut up and start something

"I'm going to meet her someday, no matter what!"
As the girl determinedly looked at the sky,
Touka sits in the Masked Girl's room, looking out the window
as she transforms back into Morgan le Fay and smiles.
"...Heh. Let's see how the life of Himura Touka will go!"

YEAH,
People crowd my line of sight
Where we going from here?
Barricades on left and right
Still make every stage clear

Watching lights in eager silence
Waiting for the sign

At the gunshot holding your breath
I know that you won't get what you wanted that way
At the gunshot holding your breath
Just a second that divides the hunter from the prey
At the gunshot holding your breath
But it could be your last day
At the gunshot holding your breath
Just a second that divides the hunter from the prey

Averting, disaster
Too close but I'm going faster
Keep walking, I'm hurting,
But I'll think about that after
'Cause I got what will keep me balling
Ignore the names they keep on calling
Shut up & start something

YEAH,
Got a stronger state of mind
All the options from here
Still my vision is clear

I've been a punk and a misfit
Most of the people just fake it
Shut up you're only talking

Watching lights in eager silence
Waiting for the sign

You're testing
You're bleeding
Had a vision but forgot that feeling
Still want it,
Frustrated

I know that you won't get what you wanted that way
Just a second that divides the hunter from the prey

At the gunshot holding your breath
But it could be your last day
At the gunshot holding your breath
What you gonna do? What you gonna do?
Are you the hunter or prey?
