

"SCI is the only organization in the world which has for almost 30 years gathered, generated and shared data about solar cooking use and development. Its continued success and outreach is more important today than ever." - testimonial from a 6th SCI World Conference attendee.

Read about the 6th SCI World Conference outcomes in future editions of the SCI Digest

Save the date...

Call for Papers – Deadline 15 Feb 2017

There will be a Solar Thermal Cooking Track at the American Solar Energy Society Conference, 9-11 October 2017, Colorado University, Denver, CO USA.

Submit topics for a forum, a panel presentation, or to demonstrate a solar cooker design. Commercial and Industrial (C & I), Scalable distribution models, and other papers encouraged.

Accepted papers will be peer-reviewed and published in the ASES conference proceedings.

Submit papers by 15 February 2017 to Solar Cookers International info@solarcookers.org.

Please submit articles for the SCI Digest to info@solarcookers.org.

Consider a special gift to SCI in 2017.

Honor someone with a gift today.

US Tax ID # 68-0153141

(Not the kind of email you wish to receive? Express your preferences here)

Solar Cookers International is a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization leading global advocacy for the solar cooking sector.

To learn more, visit www.solarcookers.org

SCI Digest Editors: Ms. Julie Greene, Executive Director; Ms. Svetlana Hristova,
Outreach Associate, Solar Cookers International

Manage Subscription