20200608 Simuloids, Avatars, Shades
Viktor Nonong Medrano

In the esoteric philosophical terminology of computer simulation, simuloids are characters without human control or counterpart, whilst avatars do have human control or counterpart, whilst shades are reanimations of dead humans. The avatar's human controller exists outside of the interface. The world of computer simulation may mimic our reality. As in a computer program, our reality may have bugs, or errors. The "computer programmers" of our reality may be like "gods." An avatar's outside controller may be a transdimensional being. Such is an esoteric view.