

20210702 Model of Mongoloids

Viktor Nonong Medrano

The corn cob pieces and the Asian pear are my model of Mongoloids: Sundadont, Sinodont, and Super-Sinodont (respectively, Southern Mongoloid, Northern Mongoloid, and Amerindian). I may have all three of these

Mongoloid variants in my genealogy. Sundadont is from Filipino. Sinodont is from Chinese. And Super-Sinodont is maybe from Mexican Amerindian, like the Nahuatl (Aztec). (I have also Caucasoid and tidbits of other human subspecies, which anciently may include Negroid and Australoid. In my anthropological model, there are four human subspecies, Mongoloid, Caucasoid, Negroid, and Australoid, each with their own variants. Nonhuman genes are possible in my genealogy.)
