

About a third of men in this world are circumcised. I was surprised to learn some years ago that the majority of men in Europe and Latin America are uncircumcised. In my birthplace the Philippines, most men are circumcised, as it has been a practice since ancient times. Most Arabs, Americans, Africans, Koreans, Pacific Islanders, Jews, and Australian Aborigines are circumcised. I feel the Chinese are not penis-conscious at all in that they don't think much about circumcision. In fact, what I know about Chinese, unlike Japanese, is that they more adore the vagina.

The subspecies of the human species are generally the Caucasoids, the Mongoloids, the Negroids, and the Australoids. Controversially, there may be three black variants: the Negroids, the Capoids, and the Australoids. There may be two variants of the Mongoloids: the Paleo-Mongoloids and the Neo-Mongoloids. There may be two variants of the Caucasoids: the Mediterraneans and the Nordics. East Indians are mixed Caucasoid and Australoid. Mexicans are mixed Caucasoid and Paleo-Mongoloid (Amerindian). Filipinos are mixed Paleo-Mongoloid, Neo-Mongoloid, and Caucasoid. Austronesians aka Southern Mongoloids aka Malayo-Polynesians are Paleo-Mongoloids with some infusion of Australoid.

Using dessert metaphors, I think some people in the Philippines are more like mais kon yelo, whilst some are more like halo-halo, whilst some are more like plain ube.

