4-Heart Cursed Ring Minimalist run: Spirit's Grave. This post will contain gameplay up through the first dungeon. There will be spoilers!

After the Maku Tree's unfortunate disappearance, I go back to the past to restore her. With this shovel, I can enter the first monster-infested area.

Maku Road complete! Not hard in the slightest; the only difference was that the stalfos and moblins took two hits. I think it's time to move on to the first dungeon.

+ Yeah ♥

After a peaceful stroll through the monster-less graveyard, I'm ready to take on level 1. I don't expect it to be too challenging, but you never know...

This is interesting. These guys (and Keese) are defeated with a single blow, even at half strength.

Miniboss went down easily. He hit me a few times, but nothing I can't handle at this point in the game. I'll need to work on staying away for later in the game, though.

Still doing well through here. Love this reference to the original game.

Right outside the boss door. No deaths so far, but I'm not counting on it throughout the entire game. Wish me luck!

He got a cheap shot on me when I picked up the pumpkin, but other than that, I did well. That's the first essence out of the way! Seven more to go, and they only get harder from here.

 Yeah!
